A Webb Air Force Base pilot-instructor and his student were killed instantly late Thursday afternoon in the crash of a T-33 jet trainer.

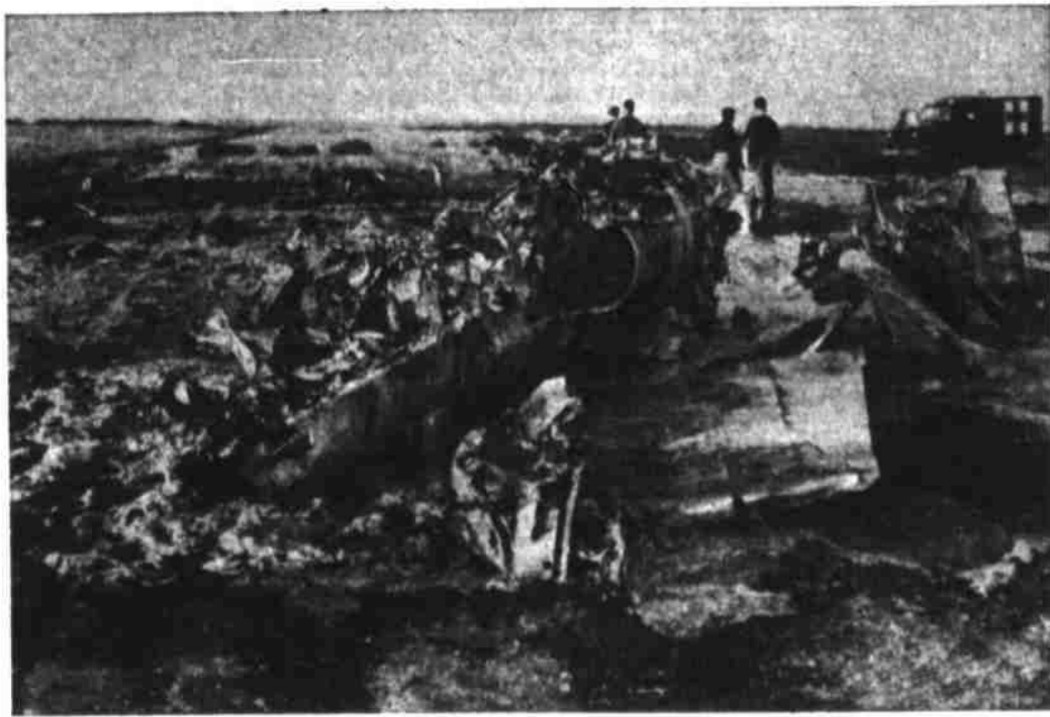

The accident occurred near the center of the airfield, after the pilot had attempted to drop his wing-tip fuel tanks before landing. One of the jettisonable fuel tanks apparently was swept into the tail section by the slipstream, tearing the rudder off the airplane.

Webb Air Force Base officials identified the pilot as 2nd Lt. Childress C. Clift, 27, of Knoxville, Tenn.

The student was Aviation Cadet R. Kincaid, 22, of Clanton, Ohio. Lt. Clift was a Pacific Theater Marine Corps veteran of World War II. He entered the USAF flight training program in January, 1950, and was commissioned a second lieutenant the following year at Williams Air Force Base, Arizona. He had been at Webb AFB since May.

Lt. Clift's sister, Miss Billie Clift, lives at 214 Lenland Ave., Knoxville. The lieutenant, who was single, lived in Big Spring at 1610 Benton.

Kincaid was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leamon Kincaid, 642 Exeter Ave., SW, Canton. He was a graduate of Canton public schools, and had attended Cincinnati University. Prior to entering the military service in May 1951, he had been employed as a draftsman by the Timken Roller Bearing Co., Canton.

Jet Crash Fatal To Two Airmen

Two Webb Air Force Base airmen were killed Thursday afternoon when their T-33 jet trainer smashed on the base adjacent to one of the runways. The accident apparently resulted when one of the wing tip tanks was swept into the tail section by the slipstream, tearing the rudder off the plane.

Some Mine Area Violence Noted As Coal Industry Plans Appeal

By ROWLAND EVANS JR. WASHINGTON (AP)—The soft coal industry today was reported framing an appeal to President Truman and Economic Stabilizer Roger Putnam to approve the $1.90 weekly wage hike won by John L. Lewis.

The nationwide soft coal strike, now in its fifth day, followed a Wage Stabilization Board ruling last Saturday that only $1.50 of the negotiated increase could be paid on grounds that any more would "damage" the stabilization program.

The report that an appeal is under study came from an official who has been in close touch with all phases of the case but who asked not to be identified.

A substantial portion of the struck industry was described as just as eager as Lewis to settle on the full wage increase and get production going again. An appeal to the President and Putnam, it was felt, would at least serve to remove the deadlocked situation from dead center.

An air of uneasiness prevailed in some mine areas. Violence flared in Ohio, Virginia, and West Virginia yesterday.

At Zanesville, O., a non-union mine owner was forced from his car at gun point and slugged. His mine superintendent was fired on twice, and his equipment set afire after he fled.

Gunfire was exchanged between seven miners of a non-union operation at Oakwood, Va., and an unidentified group that attacked their cabin. No one was hurt. It was the second time this week that gun play occurred in the area.

Dynamite blasts wrecked one steel railroad bridge and severely damaged another belonging to a struck coal company near Widen, W. Va. Earlier this week train crewmen reported they were fired on.

Efforts to find a way out of the wage boost dilemma also were being made by David L. Cole, new chief of the Federal Mediation Service, Cole, Lewis and Harry M.

Moses, president of the Bituminous Coal Operators Association, conferred privately late yesterday afternoon. Precisely what they discussed was not learned but it looked like the first attempt by a government official to find some solution to the deadlock.

Industry lawyers have spent the last few days in close scrutiny of the Defense Production Act, which contains the authority for price and wage controls. They were described as convinced that either Putnam, the overall administrator of the stabilization program, or the President could override the WSB. An appeal to the WSB itself would also be possible but the industry apparently saw little chance that the board would overrule its own decision.

The industry was described as not too hopeful that an appeal would be successful. Putnam has already praised the WSB, headed by Harvard Law Prof. Archibald Cox, as "very courageous" in making its cutback decision. But Truman has not said a word, either about the WSB ruling or the strike.

The WSB has never been overruled in the past but, at the end of last summer's steel strike, the White House approved an increase in the price of steel nearly twice as high as that authorized by then Price Stabilizer Ellis Arnold.

Stevenson said the GOP Senate campaign in Maryland in 1950—in which Democratic Millard Tydings was defeated by Republican John Marshall Butler—was run by "captivating politicians led by elements from the political underworld, including an unscrupulous and power-hungry Chicago newspaper publisher."

Truman and other Democrats have assailed the part played in the Maryland campaign by the Washington Times-Herald and the Chicago Tribune, both published by Col. Robert R. McCormick. Neither the newspapers nor McCormick was mentioned in Truman's talk yesterday.

McCormick's aides said he may comment on the statement today.

Right-Of-Way Acquired For Cut-Off Road

The last right-of-way deed for the cutoff road between Highways 80 and 87 was received today. County Judge Walter Grice said that contracts for construction would be let soon by the state.

The deed was sent to the Commissioners Court by the T&P Railway. It was the last deed needed to complete the right-of-way. Commissioners have negotiated for deeds over a year's time.

Judge Grice stated that the road couldn't be topped until next April or May due to the weather. However, other construction could commence, he said.

A total of $30,000 was spent on the right-of-way. The State will take over the building project now that the right-of-way is obtained.

Judge Grice stated that the right-of-way for the lateral road between Vealmor and Highway 87 has not yet been cleared.

Truman Again Takes A Crack At Newspapers

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 (AP)—President Truman sat on the sidelines of the presidential campaign today, but it was only a lull before he storms out again Sunday.

Truman returned from his latest swing in behalf of Democratic Presidential Nominee Adlai Stevenson last night to make a rear platform talk at Washington's Union Station.

Amid cheers from the crowd, estimated by Police Inspector R. C. Pierce at 2,000, Truman took a crack at the nation's newspapers.

"They're against us a hundred per cent and they're trying to make everything we do appear wrong," he said. "I'm not licked yet and I'm not through till the fourth day of November."

Truman used some of the strongest language of the campaign at Cumberland, Md., last night. He said Republican Nominee Dwight Eisenhower's bid for the presidency is one of lies, slander and fear.

The president added: "Sen. (Joseph R.) McCarthy (of Wisconsin), who was the ringleader in the back street campaign in Maryland in 1950, has been welcomed as colleague on the campaign train of the Republican candidate for president.

"And the Republican candidate for vice-president (Sen. Richard M. Nixon of California) is engaged in nothing less than a false campaign of personal slander and innuendo against the honored and respected public servant who heads the Democratic ticket."

Truman said the GOP Senate campaign in Maryland in 1950—in which Democratic Millard Tydings was defeated by Republican John Marshall Butler—was run by "captivating politicians led by elements from the political underworld, including an unscrupulous and power-hungry Chicago newspaper publisher."

Truman and other Democrats have assailed the part played in the Maryland campaign by the Washington Times-Herald and the Chicago Tribune, both published by Col. Robert R. McCormick. Neither the newspapers nor McCormick was mentioned in Truman's talk yesterday.

Mrs. W. C. Blankenship, right, receives a Community Chest "Leader's Award" for outstanding work in the current Chest campaign. Presenting the award is Mrs. Dan Krausse, who with her husband is director of the residential phase of the campaign. Mrs. Blankenship is a residential zone captain. Trophies also were presented to Maj. Risden Wall and Adolph Swartz. Campaign Chairman Elmo Wasson said several other drive leaders have earned the awards which will be presented later. Officials and workers are pushing for a speedy finish for the campaign which is about $8,000 short of its $49,952 goal.

Violent Hurricane Hits Cuba Province

HAVANA, Cuba, Oct. 24 (AP)—A violent hurricane struck the Cuban coastal city of Cayo del Este off Las Villas Province today. The midland coastal region braced for the main blow expected this afternoon.

The Cuban National Observatory said the hurricane winds of between 115 and 125 miles an hour would hit between Cienfuegos and Tunas de Zaza, on the midland's south coast, shortly after noon.

The observatory said Havana, capital city of Cuba with population of almost one million, was no longer in danger of getting the full brunt of the hurricane. Citizens of Havana had made frantic preparations during the night to meet the blow.

Chief storm forecaster Grady Norton called the hurricane a "bumdinger." Lt. Wilfred Moehle of Chicago, aerologist aboard a Navy hurricane hunter plane that flew into the eye of the storm, reported the rain was the most violent he had ever encountered.

The Cuban National Observatory said the three Cuban provinces of Havana, Matanzas and Las Villas were in the greatest potential danger, but added that the storm might extend as far east as Camaguey Province.

Radio stations announced that the University of Havana stadium would be open to storm refugees if they are forced to leave their homes. The noise of hammering filled the night as store and home owners boarded up windows.

The Weather Bureau warned of dangerous winds in the Florida Straits and over the Western Bahamas. Owners of small craft from Miami southward were urged to remain in port.

Military establishments in Florida began taking preliminary precautions. The Coast Guard alerted its units south from St. Petersburg on the Gulf coast and from West Palm

ROKs Give Up 'Rat-Hunt' On Sniper Ridge

By STAN CARTER SEOUL, Oct. 24 (AP)—American troops late today stormed the last Red-held knob on barren Triangle Hill. They were stopped 85 yards from the top of Pike's Peak when the Chinese Reds unleashed a hail of mortar and small arms fire.

AP Correspondent Milo Farnett said the U. S. Seventh Division soldiers were pinned down by machine gun fire, mines, direct trajectory and mortar fire, hand grenades and small arms fire.

The GIs still were trying to push forward at sunset. On nearby Sniper Ridge, bone-weary South Koreans gave up their "rat-hunt" for Chinese in a maze of underground passageways on the hill's northern tip.

Lt. Gen. Chun Il Kwon, commander of the ROK Second Division, said, "Those Chinamen never stop digging. We have to dig them out ourselves like hunting rats."

U. S. observers said the bitter Red resistance probably came from a fresh Chinese regiment which took shell-pocked position from a cut up unit.

The South Koreans withdrew at dark with the Chinese still holding out. Twenty miles to the west, South Koreans and Chinese hugged opposite slopes of Iron Horse Mountain while thunderous artillery barrages from both sides churned the crest into a deadly no-man's-land.

Then the Chinese swarmed over the top and pushed the ROKs further down the southern slope. Fighting broke out at other scattered points across two-thirds of the 155-mile battline.

On Sniper, South Korean Second Division infantrymen went after the holed-up Reds with grenades, bayonets and small bundles of explosives. The Chinese fought back from a network of caves and tunnels in a desperate gamble to retain their last hold on Sniper's northern tip.

Artillery mortar and rifle fire on Iron Horse Mountain was intense. An Allied officer said it was certain death to raise your head. In a pre-dawn battle on the Western Front, Allied infantrymen knocked Chinese Communists off an outpost near Little Gibraltar. The U. N. soldiers withdrew from the position yesterday and Reds swarmed to the top. At 3 a. m. the

Whitney Named To State Post

Big Spring City Manager Herbert W. Whitney has been appointed as a member of the Municipal Retirement System Board of Trustees by Gov. Allan Shivers today.

He was named to fill the unexpired term of a former Big Spring city manager, Boyd J. McDaniel, who has resigned his position on the board.

Whitney succeeded McDaniel as Big Spring city manager when McDaniel accepted a similar position at Abilene in 1947. McDaniel has since resigned as Abilene city manager to enter the contracting business.

The term on the Retirement System Board extends to Dec. 31. See IKE, Page 4, Col. 7

US Urges Action To Get Freedom Of Information

By TOM HOGE UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Oct. 24 (AP)—The United States today urged the United Nations to get better information by concrete action rather than fine sounding treaties.

U. S. Delegate Charles A. Sprague told the humanitarian and cultural committee he thought the U. N.'s fruitless efforts during the past six years to achieve international agreement on a freedom of information convention, should prove that the writing of such documents serves small purpose at this time.

"Something far more basic than the writing of legal language must take place before we can go forward profitably with the drafting of treaties," he said.

As an alternative, Sprague offered three suggestions for furthering the freedom cause:

1. Give the people of the free world a clearer picture of what is going on in their neighbor nations so they may better understand the differences between peoples and acquire more tolerance.

2. Prepare recommendations on how to speed the spread of news to all lands including those hampered by censorship or lack of education facilities.

3. Organize seminars to bring editors and publishers of various lands together for round table discussions of problems surrounding the free flow of news.

"It is vitally important," Sprague said, "that the domestic news media of . . . all countries do grow and become strong and independent. I say this not only because I believe it to be essential to a healthy, democratic national life, but because it is in the interest of my own country."

The foreign policy of the United States toward each nation and towards the United Nations depends in the final analysis upon the information that the people of the United States have about other countries, whether they understand their problems and our common problems.

"Those of you who are familiar with newspaper and radio operations know how a strong domestic press can contribute to that understanding."

Drop Is Reported In Cost-Of-Living Index

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 (AP)—The government today reported a drop in the cost of living for the first time in six months.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics announced that its index—the measuring rod for the government—declined two-tenths of one per cent between Aug. 15 and Sept. 15.

There had been a steady climb for the previous six months. The BLS attributed the drop to lower prices for food, down one per cent in the month.

The decline in food prices was offset in part by increases for all other major groups of living cost items. The price of clothing went up six-tenths of one per cent. BLS pegged the new index at 190.8 per cent of the 1935-1939 base period, down from the August record high of 191.1.

Today's index measures the retail price of food, shelter, clothing, medical care and scores of other goods and services bought by moderate income urban families on Sept. 15. It takes BLS a month to gather price data and compute the index. The latest report showed that living costs have advanced 12.1 per cent since Korea and 5 per cent since wage and price controls were imposed January, 1951. The old series index was 191.4 per cent of the base period. BLS publishes two indexes each month. The new series, or official figure, takes into account new spending habits of the American people.

More than 50,000 production workers whose wages are tied to the cost of living may get a penny increase despite the expected drop in today's index.

Contracts which contain cost-of-living, or escalator, clauses are usually adjusted every three months. The index of three months ago, measuring prices on June 15, was more than one full point below the August figure and the slight dip due today was not likely to offset that increase.

Neither the million-plus auto workers nor the railroad workers are affected by today's index.

269 New Casualties WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense Department today identified 269 Korean War casualties in a new list that reported 71 killed, 181 wounded, nine missing in action and eight injured.

Adlai Rips Ike On Campaign Tactics

By DON WHITEHEAD ENROUTE WITH STEVENSON —Gov. Adlai Stevenson's impassioned accusation that Dwight D. Eisenhower is deliberately conducting a "sly and ugly campaign" against him opened a bitter new phase today in the stretch drive for the presidency.

It looked like a savage and bare-knuckle fight was the inevitable ending for this hard-fought battle.

The Democratic candidate ripped into Eisenhower last night in Cleveland with a speech in which he defended the character testimony he gave for Alger Hiss, convicted of perjury after denying he gave State Department secrets to a Russian spy ring.

And Stevenson attacked his GOP opponent and John Foster Dulles—Republican foreign affairs adviser—as being even more vulnerable to criticism than he in the Hiss case.

It was known that Stevenson and his advisers regarded the speech as one of the most vital of the entire campaign—and one which possibly could make or break Stevenson on the issue of communism.

In his combination of defense and attack, Stevenson voiced his conviction he expects to be the target for a smear campaign in the next few days—and that he considers Eisenhower responsible.

He did not use the word "smear" in his address but he left no doubt of his meaning when he spoke to a wildly cheering crowd in the Cleveland Arena.

His speech was televised to the nation by NBC in a last-minute arrangement. It was later broadcast by recording over the CBS and Mutual radio networks.

With this speech behind him—the most emotional in all his campaigning—Stevenson set out early this morning by train for a sweep through politically potent New York State with its big chunk of 45 electoral votes.

His schedule called for 14 speeches in 14 hours—the most intense barnstorming drive of his entire campaign.

The towns and cities to be visited were Niagara Falls, Rochester, Canandaigua, Geneva, Seneca, Auburn, Syracuse, Rome, Utica, Little Falls, Amsterdam, Schenectady, Albany and Troy.

In part, Stevenson's speech last night was in anticipation of a national television speech which Sen. Joseph McCarthy is ready to see STEVENSON, Page 4, Col. 5

Another 171 ballots have been mailed to persons desiring to vote, Porter said. Absentee balloting closes Oct. 31.

Traffic Lights To Be Changed To Original Timing On Saturday

Traffic lights will be changed to their old timing and change sequence Saturday night and early Sunday, city officials announced this morning.

Electrician Roy Rogan will alter the signal pattern during a period of little traffic. Commissioners decided last Tuesday that the traffic signal system should be changed to the former timing and change cycle after a 30-day trial of new timing that was supposed to speed the flow of downtown traffic.

Window-shopping drivers and slow trucks stymied the effort, officials believe.

Ike Slams Back At HST Administration

By JAMES DEVLIN ABOARD EISENHOWER SPECIAL —Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower moved his campaign into Michigan today after a slashing attack last night in Buffalo, N. Y., charging the Truman administration with Tom Pendergast-type bossism.

Before his 18-car special train left Upstate New York for the Midwest, the Republican presidential nominee accused the administration of bigotry of the kind once raised against Democrat Alfred E. Smith.

Eisenhower was greeted in Buffalo Memorial Auditorium by howling cheers from an audience estimated by Edward P. Hartnett Jr., auditorium director, at 15,000 persons, including 2,000 standees. Gov. Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic candidate for President, drew about 13,000 when he spoke in the same auditorium the night before.

Hartnett said the auditorium was filled an hour and a half before Eisenhower spoke and thousands were turned away.

The crowd in the auditorium thundered its welcome for 31-2 minutes after Eisenhower, smiling, stepped to the rostrum. The crowd quieted only when he raised his hands in a plea for silence.

But it broke out frequently with cheers and the ringing of cowbells. See IKE, Page 4, Col. 7

Kane's 'Bride Of Fortune' Reviewed By Mrs. Cowper

"Bride of Fortune" by Harnett T. Kane, a fictional biography of the life of Rena Howell Davis, wife of Jefferson Davis, president of the Confederacy, was reviewed Thursday afternoon by Mrs. R.

B. G. Cowper for the Thursday Review Club.

Born in Natchez, Rena Howell was the daughter of a not too successful cotton planter. She was educated at a female college in Kentucky and by a retired judge.

When she was only 17 Rena Howell met Jeff Davis, a man in his early 30s, when she went to spend Christmas holidays at the plantation of his brother, Joe Davis. Jeff was still grieving over the death of his first wife, Knott Taylor, daughter of Zachary Taylor, who died of yellow fever shortly after their marriage.

A year later they were married. The story carries them through service in the Mexican War, his election to the Senate, his work as a member of the President's Cabinet, his election as president of the Confederacy, his imprisonment after the Civil War and finally, his release. It was then, when they returned home, that Rena realized it was she who would have to assume the burdens of their new life, for Jeff was an old and broken man.

Mrs. Jack Y. Smith, who introduced Mrs. Cowper, announced that Mrs. Clyde Angel would give the next review Nov. 7.

Hotel Greeters To Meet Saturday

It has been announced that the Hotel Greeters Group, Charter 56, will meet at 7 p.m. Saturday in the Cactus Hotel, San Angelo. Otis Stewart, manager, will be host for the occasion and Rufus Moore will be co-host.

This will be the first time the group has met in San Angelo. All members are urged to attend.

Three were initiated when the Eagles Auxiliary met Thursday evening in the Eagles Lodge. New members are Cleo Byers, Chrissie Watkins and Katherine Thames. Twelve attended.

Council To Present Prominent Lecturer

A prominent lecturer and worker with the United Nations, Mrs. William Dingsus of Lubbock, will be guest speaker at several special programs planned for Sunday and Monday by the United Council of Church Women.

The Council is sponsoring Mrs. Dingsus' presentation in observance of United Nations Week. Now UN chairman for the Texas Council of Church Women and appointed by Gov. Allan Shivers as a member of the Texas Citizens Committee for United Nations Day, Mrs. Dingsus taught foreign languages in Texas Tech until 1946 and is listed in "Who's Who In Education."

She has travelled in Europe, Mexico and Hawaii and for many years served on the state board of the Texas division of the AAUW. For the last few years she has devoted her time and abilities to the UN.

She was an observer at San Francisco and was asked to attend a conference in New York last February to consider plans for bringing the UN to the local

Committee Will Submit Suggestions To Student Council

A committee, composed of Darlene Sneed, Lou Ann Nall and Bobby Read, has been appointed by the Student Council of Howard County Junior College to make suggestions and plans for re-decoration of the school cafeteria.

Included are the installation of a shuffleboard and pool table, murals around the bottom of the walls, taking out partitions, curtaining and painting the rooms. The suggestions will be presented to the council at their meeting Saturday. The aim of the students is to develop the cafeteria into a student center where an air of informality and relaxation will prevail.

P-TA Circus Date Changed

Date for the Junior High P-TA circus has been changed to Nov. 14, according to Mrs. C. W. Mahoney, who is directing the show.

Originally set for Nov. 7, the date was changed to avoid conflict with the presentation here of the opera "Carmen" on the earlier date.

Performers in the circus will be pupils from the school. The P-TA unit is staging the show to raise funds for its year's project, which is the purchase of a movie projector and sound equipment for the school.

FDR'S Son Speaks Out For General

LOS ANGELES (AP)—John Roosevelt, the late President's son who says America needs Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower "to lead us out of the wilderness," carries his Democratic crusade to Texas today.

FDR's youngest son told meetings here and in San Francisco that he believes Eisenhower is the best qualified to give the nation strong leadership.

"My father chose Gen. Eisenhower for that task because he recognized his rare talents, not only as a commander but as a statesman," Roosevelt said here. "Time and experience have proven how right the choice. It is an honor for me to uphold his judgment publicly."

Roosevelt's visit drew caustic remarks from his sister Anna and brother James, both supporters of Gov. Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic nominee.

"I always felt he was a rather intelligent guy," said Anna. "I don't see how he could fall for the old Republican line."

Pointing to other Republicans in the family, Teddy Roosevelt for one, James cracked: "I guess each generation is entitled to one throw-back."

TEXAS POLITICS

Rayburn, Connally Blast At Shivers

By CLAYTON HICKERSON
Associated Press Staff

The 1952 presidential sweepstakes, breezing into the home stretch, kept the heat on Texas today as it seemed more and more probable the state's 24 electoral votes could mean national victory.

Two veteran party men—Senator Tom Connally and Speaker Sam Rayburn—roared back at those who taunted their Democratic Party and pointed to "20 years of progress."

Bolling Democrats—like Gov. Allan Shivers and Atty. Gen. Price Daniel—joined the Republican drive to put Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in the White House and kept up a running battle with the loyal party members.

It was a no-quarter, neck-and-neck fight to the finish.

While Shivers called Adlai Stevenson's Democratic campaign one of "confusion, intimidation, personal abuse and muckraking," rip-roaring old Tom Connally labelled the governor and attorney general "political Siamese twins" heading for political suicide.

"They're Democrats when it is convention to get themselves elected and Republicans when they want to elect someone else," Connally told a cheering audience of Dallas Democratic women.

"The two men in the state who are doing more to defeat the Texas tideland," Rayburn said, "are Shivers and Daniel." And his Beaumont crowd of 1,700 who attended a Stevenson-Sparkman rally cheered.

And said Shivers in a statewide radio address:

"The real danger is that another four years of this (Truman) administration would so weaken the free institutions of this country that the only alternatives would be state socialism or totalitarianism."

While the three state political leaders swung round-house blows at one another, there were these other developments:

1. John Roosevelt, youngest son of former President Franklin D. Roosevelt, made a whistle-stop tour of East Texas in an effort to get East Texans to vote for Republican Dwight D. Eisenhower.

2. Russell Long, son of the Louisiana Kingfish, made a speech in Texarkana in behalf of the Stevenson-Sparkman Democratic ticket.

3. Seven speakers for the Stevenson ticket were ready to fan out over Texas Saturday in a last-minute rush for Democratic votes.

Rayburn will speak at Sulphur Springs before a Northeast Texas Democratic rally. Agriculture Commissioner John C. White will speak at Terrell. William McCraw, former attorney general, will address a meeting at Harlingen. District Judge Sarah Hughes, Dallas, will speak at Vernon. Joe Bailey Humphreys, Dallas lawyer, will speak at Wortham. Teague, Fairfield and Mexia. G. Ray Lee, Dallas, will speak at Grandbury. And Ralph Yarborough, Austin, will speak at Franklin, Bremond, Calvert and Hearne.

4. A scheduled address by Mrs. Perle Mesta, U. S. Ambassador to Luxembourg, set Oct. 26 at San Antonio was canceled without explanation.

Six Violent Deaths Over State In Day

By The Associated Press

At least six persons died Thursday in a flurry of violence in Texas, three in shootings, two in a plane crash and one in an automobile accident. Four of the dead were armed forces members.

Jet Helicopter Makes Flight

CULVER CITY, Calif. (AP)—Howard Hughes' jet helicopter, built for the Air Force, made its first public flight yesterday.

Hughes watched it perform from his automobile, parked in a bean field near Los Angeles International Airport. The 20-ton 'copter, the biggest ever built darted sideways and backward and at no time during the test were its wheels more than 40 feet from the runway.

It was not the first test for the experimental craft. These have been going on for weeks. The craft, known as the XH17, is the forerunner of powerful cargo-carrying helicopters that will deliver such stuff as bridge sections, trucks and extremely heavy arms.

Hughes declined to pose with the craft, saying: "I had very little to do with this ship. These are the men who designed it and flew it. I don't want to take the bows."

Nevertheless, the flight was delayed for 40 minutes. Hughes was late arriving, and, as one official explained: "They don't turn a wrench around here without Hughes' ok."

Drug Costs Could Be Lowered By Doctors

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

CLEVELAND (AP)—Medical bills could be cut if doctors prescribed fewer trademarked or proprietary drugs, says a study reported today to the American Public Health Association.

Cheaper, identical drugs, not trademarked, often are available, it says.

This study of doctors' prescriptions was made by Dr. Frank F. Furstenberg, Matthew Taback, Harry Goldberg, and Dr. J. Willard Davis of the Baltimore city medical care program.

The Baltimore program gives medical care to indigent persons, who are assigned to clinics for diagnosis. The clinic report usually goes to neighborhood doctors—chosen by the patient—who direct the treatments. Prescriptions are written on a specially-designed form, honored by all local pharmacies and paid for by the CARE program.

Drug prescriptions for one year in 1950-51 cost $150,000 or 30 percent of the entire expenses of the program.

The study of prescriptions said $9,000 in tax funds would have been saved if doctors had prescribed officially-accepted drugs which are not trademarked, but have identical properties.

Over 55 per cent of prescriptions were for proprietary drugs, and 37 per cent were for drugs not accepted by any official medical or health agencies.

"It is noteworthy that 24 per cent of simple aspirin compounds were written with a trademarked name or for a preparation not accepted by any official authority."

"The prescribing of traditional cough medications... has been all but forgotten and they have been replaced by a multitude of higher priced proprietary cough mixtures."

Drug costs, either in welfare programs or for patients paying their own way, "is a major problem of modern medicine" and was a problem before antibiotics were discovered, the study says.

Long Time Together

J. B. Thomas, president of Texas Electric Service, congratulates A. C. McClendon, center, and Hugh Duncan, right, as new members of the TESCO Quarter Century Club. McClendon and Duncan brought to six the number of men in the Big Spring district with 25 years or more service with the company. The ceremony highlighted the annual employees meeting Thursday night.

Minister Says Red Conspiracy Threatens To Engulf The U. S.

A world-wide conspiracy of Communism threatens to engulf the United States, Dr. James W. Fifield, minister of the First Congregational Church in Los Angeles, declared here Thursday evening. Dr. Fifield, active in anti-Communist work for years, warned that the threat was real, that "there's no saving the nation in Washington or Austin," but solely on an individual basis. "We have got to develop a tidal wave of spiritual and moral resurgence," he asserted. "Everyone can do something and each in his own way must do something."

At the meeting of the Texas Electric Service Company's Quarter Century Club, two Big Spring employees were recognized for 25 years of service. J. B. Thomas, Fort Worth, president, said that security of the company rested upon the fidelity and ability of the veteran workers. The old timers, however, have to be increasingly sharper to stay ahead of the youngsters, he reminded.

Honored at the meeting in the Settles ballroom were Hugh Duncan and A. C. McClendon. Each received a watch from Thomas as a memento of the occasion. Highlights of growth were touched briefly by Thomas. During the past year TESCO has added two generators, one for 80,000 KW at Fort Worth and another of 44,000 KW at Morgan Creek. An additional 200 employees were added during the year. Since 1948 TESCO has quadrupled its capacity. Today it has $60,000 invested per each employe in order to serve the area.

Dr. Fifield said that a people could no more violate moral laws than one could violate natural laws, because both were made by God. "The audit has caught up with us in America," he asserted. "It is imperative we understand the nature of this earth-wide threat of Communism, this anti-God, paganistic, murderous threat which has a time table that it has so far kept."

Two years ago there were half a billion people under Soviet influence, he said; today there are nearly 900,000,000 and in two years there will be 1,200,000,000 subject to Russian domination. He charged that China had been abandoned to Communism, that the United States had financed Communism's spread in Poland and other countries; that the U. N. had

FDR'S Son Is Thinking For Himself; Set To Back Ike

DALLAS, Oct. 24 (AP)—John Roosevelt is thinking of himself and following his conscience in supporting Dwight D. Eisenhower for the presidency, he said here today. "Father always taught us to do what we thought was right and that's what I'm doing," the son of the late Franklin D. Roosevelt told reporters.

He stopped at Love Field en route to Tyler, Palestine, Marshall, and Lufkin on a one-day air tour of East Texas, plugging for the Republican candidate for president. The Roosevelt family split between Eisenhower and Stevenson has touched off many an argument, he said.

"Mother and I both live at Hyde Park and we've spent considerable time trying to persuade each other. So far we've arrived at no change," Roosevelt laughed. Eleanor Roosevelt is for Stevenson, John and Elliott, who formerly lived in Texas, are on the Eisenhower bandwagon.

Roosevelt was met at Dallas by Claud Gilmer of Rocksprings, chairman of the Texas Democrats for Eisenhower, and Wallace Savage of Dallas, chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee. Savage is the man who made Eisenhower an "honorary Texas Democrat" when the Republican candidate spoke in Dallas.

Dr. T. V. Neal of San Antonio, who will introduce Roosevelt in his swing across Texas, also joined the party at Love Field. He is a

AMENDMENT IS UP

Texas Seeks More Rural Area Medics

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second of two stories analyzing the proposed constitutional amendments to be voted on Nov. 4.
By MAC ROY RASOR
AUSTIN, Oct. 24 (AP)—Sharing the Texas ballot along with Adlai and Ike Nov. 4 will be the country doctor.

Doc is involved in the second of two proposed constitutional amendments Texas voters must accept or reject at the general election. The proposal is designed to encourage more young doctors to practice in rural areas. To do this, the Legislature could provide for state grants, loans or scholarships to help them to get their medical education in exchange for their promise to practice in a rural area for some specified period of time.

A new section would be added to the State Constitution to accomplish this. It would read: "The Legislature shall create a state medical education board to be composed of not more than six members whose qualifications, duties and terms of office shall be prescribed by law. The Legislature shall also establish a state medical education fund and make adequate appropriations therefor to be used by the state medical education board to provide grants, loans or scholarships to students desiring to study medicine and agreeing to practice in the rural areas of this state, upon such terms and conditions as shall be prescribed by law. The term 'rural areas' as used in this section shall be defined by law."

Big argument for this amendment is the lure of the big cities for doctors of the present and future. Proponents contend that the modern trend toward specialization and the ease of city life are bringing extinction to the tribe of old-fashioned country doctors who once braved all the rigors of the wide open spaces to bring your new baby into the world, set your broken arm or give you a pill for your green-apple cramps.

Friends of the plan say country folks are finding it harder and harder to get medical attention. They think this plan will eventually solve the problem in Texas as a similar one is reportedly doing in Mississippi.

Opponents have some arguments, too. Many of the medical profession frown on it as "class legislation." If you subsidize medical education, why not school teachers and lawyers and a dozen or so others? Opponents say there are more practical ways to get doctors to rural areas, such as the community providing treatment facilities attractive to a doctor.

Rep. Jack Bryan of Buffalo sponsored the proposal in the Legislature. You'll find the plan listed on your ballot this way for your vote: "For (against) the constitutional amendment providing for the establishment of a state medical education fund from which grants, loans or scholarships may be made to students desiring to study medicine."

Plans for handling local details of the Blood Collection program slated in Big Spring November 17 through 20 will be discussed at next week's meeting of the Howard-Glasscock Red Cross chapter. This session will be held at the Red Cross office Tuesday, October 28, at 7:30, and Chapter Chairman Doug Orme is urging full attendance.

With casualties mounting in Korea, the demand for blood for plasma continues at an increased pace, and citizens of this area will be asked to make their contribution when the Bloodmobile is here in November. The collecting station will be in the basement of the First Presbyterian Church, as it was last February, when the Big Spring area responded to an appeal for blood for the fighting forces.

Directing committees will be set up to handle the new program, at next Tuesday night's meeting.

Mrs. V. D. Wood of Texarkana is visiting Mrs. G. A. Brown and other friends here.

Miss Mattie Leatherwood has returned to her home here after spending several days in Mineral Wells taking the baths.

Neil Brown is visiting friends in Pionesta and other points in Pennsylvania.

Demos From 4 States Meeting At Texarkana

TEXARKANA, Ark., Oct. 24 (AP)—Democrats from four states met here today for a day-long rally featuring two speeches by Sen. Russell B. Long of Louisiana. Long, substituting for the Democratic vice presidential nominee, Sen. John Sparkman—hospitalized with laryngitis—planned to address a noon luncheon and speak at a rally tonight.

Three Congressmen from Texas and Arkansas will share the platform with Long at tonight's meeting. They will answer questions from the audience. They are Reps. Wright Patman of Texas and Oren Harris and Boyd Tackett of Arkansas.

Patman, director of the rally, said Democratic leaders and party members from Arkansas, Texas, Louisiana and Oklahoma were on hand.

The Republicans will have their inning Monday when the GOP's vice presidential candidate, Richard Nixon, will make a brief noon-time speech at the Texarkana Airport.

Long substituted for Sparkman in two Louisiana rallies yesterday. At Baton Rouge last night, Long accused Nixon of committing "a downright falsehood" in explaining his $18,000 expense fund.

"He knew it was a falsehood," the Louisiana senator added. Long said Nixon "knew that radio transcriptions and Christmas cards must be paid for from each senator's pocket, and not from senatorial expense funds."

Long also said Nixon had "an $11,000 fund he didn't tell us about," and was the only candidate unwilling to make public his income tax statements.

Baton Rouge police estimated 500 persons attended the Democratic rally. Long continued: "If you want to hurt the laboring man, if you want to jerk the rug from under the farmer, if you want to vote against Social Security and the old folks... stamp the old potbellied elephant."

In Louisiana, voters casting a straight ticket usually stamp either the Republican elephant or the Democratic rooster emblem.

Louisiana's junior senator filled in for Sparkman earlier yesterday at Kenner, La., near New Orleans. In that speech, he said the GOP "crushed and held down" the South for 60 years when it was in power, adding: "It's the same old Republican Party, they haven't changed their spots."

Construction Worker Gets Electrical Jolt

Truman Howard, Big Spring construction worker injured when a piece of electrical equipment short circuited Thursday, was reported in satisfactory condition at Big Spring Hospital this morning. He was to be dismissed from the hospital during the day.

Howard received an electrical jolt as he operated a power saw on a construction job at 1609 Tucson. Cause of the accident was not known. He was taken to the hospital in a Nalley ambulance.

Charles Seeks Kayo In Brion Encounter

Ezz Needs It In Title Quest

By BRION ROSE
NEW YORK, (AP)—Eager to win friends and influence his way into another title shot, Ezzard Charles aims to knock out husky Cesar Brion of Argentina in Madison Square Garden tonight.

The former king from Cincinnati is a 2-0 favorite to win the 10 rounder but stopping the 5-2, 196-pound heavy weight South American is something else again.

Cesar the strong man never has been knocked out. The big muscled, 25-year-old invader has a 39-7 record and has scored 18 kayos. In his last fight in the states, confident Cesar was floored by Bob Dunlop and dropped a decision to the Pacific Coast battler.

Charles will have to put away Brion to win any acclaim from the Garden cash customers and the unseen millions on the television circuit. Putting away Cesar is a large order.

If confidence means anything, Cesar is a cinch to score an upset. "I can beat Charles. Then I'd like to fight the champion, Rocky Marciano."

With Charles, it's a question of not only winning but looking good, too.

"I know now I've got to try for a knock out this time," said Ezzard. "I did fight that way before I became champion. Then I became too cautious. I'll be in there swinging those combinations all the time now."

In his pre-championship days Charles used to flatten better than 50 per cent of his opponents. His record shows 76 wins, eight losses, and one draw. He has 48 kayos to his credit.

Kilgore, Victoria In 19 To 19 Tie

KILGORE, Oct. 24 (AP)—Blocked punts figured most prominently in a 19-19 tie between Kilgore and Victoria Junior Colleges last night. Kilgore turned two blocked kicks and a fumble into scores. Victoria used one blocked punt for a touchdown.

Victoria scored in the last minute of play to tie the game. It was on a 62-yard drive with Billy Box plunging the last two yards and with Chester Harrison kicking the extra point.

All-Star Basketball Game Slated Tonight In Chicago

CHICAGO (AP)—A front-line trio averaging 6 feet 9 inches in height will be the collegians' hope tonight in stopping George Mikan in the 13th annual all-star basketball classic.

The game, sponsored by the Chicago Herald-American, is expected to attract a capacity 18,000 fans at Chicago Stadium.

Traylor Plans Diamond Career

TEMPLE, Oct. 24 (AP)—Temple High School doesn't play a game this week, giving the fans a chance to catch up on the doings of Doyle Traylor, the great passer of the Wildcats.

Traylor has thrown 69 touchdown passes in 30 games with Temple High and is regarded by veteran observers and coaches as the finest high school T quarterback to come along.

Doyle also is a baseball player and has said he wants to pursue a professional baseball career, indicating that he prefers that to professional football. He is a shortstop in baseball and in his brief career on the diamond thus far has shown every indication of developing into an outstanding player.

A back injury has kept him out of baseball to any great extent at Temple High but the injury has been corrected and he plans to play next spring. He played football last year with his back in a brace.

Traylor is a Sunday School teacher at Memorial Baptist Church here and because he's a Baptist it is generally believed he will go to Baylor University upon graduation next spring.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Local observers, and their number includes Coach Carl Coleman, are still trying to figure out how the Big Spring Steers dropped that decision to Ysleta last week end.

Perhaps the locals were overlooking the Indians for the game upcoming this week, that all-important test with the Lamesa Tornados. Perhaps the Bovines are out to emulate the feats of that great Wichita Falls team of a few years ago, which lost its first five games and then went on to win the state championship. Who knows?

The Longhorns have won but one of five games to date but they've got the power and the know-how to go. The statistics will prove that out.

In five games, the Steers have moved the ball a total of 1,306 yards, compared to 1,340 for the common foe. Not too much difference there, and the Steers have played some of the best teams in the state.

The locals have actually picked up more mileage passing than has the opposition, though the Steers have had to contend with the likes of Leonduro Fry, Ken Ford and Burdette Warner, as good as the best. Big Spring's thrusts through the air lanes have accounted for 507 yards while the enemy could get only 463.

On the ground, the Longhorns have picked up 799 yards, compared to 877 paces for the five opponents.

First downs favor the Big Springers, too, 57 to 53.

In those five games, the Steers have completed 28 of 76 passes, the foe 32 in 78 tries.

ROBERTSON'S TEAM GETS THE ACID TEST

Ed Robertson, the former Coahoma mentor who is now mastering the O'Donnell team, takes his footballers to Denver City today for The Big Game.

If the Eagles get by that one, Ed's boys may be off to the races. Robertson is busier than a cranberry merchant, incidentally. He lost his assistant coach, Charles Broom, recently and is having to do all the coaching himself. Broom went to Texline as head coach.

Robertson takes his team to Stanton for a game Oct. 31.

Oklahoma is talking in terms of reducing the maximum age of its high school athletes from 20 to 19 years. Only those who had reached their 20th birthday after July 1 would be allowed to compete, under the proposal.

Oklahoma is one of the two states in which 20-year-olds are still allowed to compete in high school athletics.

BIGGER AND BETTER GOLF YEAR LOOMS

There'll be much more activity in the golfing game here next year than this, from all indications.

The drought made it impossible to stage the City Tournament but that meet is to be held. Too, the Muni Course is planning toward a two-day invitational.

Now, it is indicated the women will stage an invitational of their own at the Country Club in April. Billie Dillon has been named chairman of the committee which will explore the possibility of such a tournament.

CAL-TROJAN GAME TOPS NATION-WIDE PROGRAM

By ORLO ROBERTSON
NEW YORK, (AP)—An intercollegiate football program that would do credit to the annual post season bowl competition on Jan. 1 will be presented tomorrow as six of the nation's top 10 teams meet head-on.

California, No. 4, clashes with Southern California, No. 7, in a game that may go a long way towards deciding the Pacific Coast Conference representative in the Rose Bowl.

Duke, No. 6, generally regarded as the king pin of the Southern Conference, tangles with Virginia, No. 9, best of the Southern independents. And UCLA, also very much in the running for the Rose Bowl, takes on 10th-ranked Wisconsin, the Big 10 title favorite, at Madison.

Wisconsin is the only one of the sextet that has lost a game. The Badgers have a 3-1 record. All of the others, except Virginia, are each undefeated in five games. The Cavaliers have won all four of their outings.

The remainder of the top 10, with the possible exception of top-ranked Michigan State, take on what figures to be comparatively easy competition. The Spartans with a 4-0 state play host to the Nittany Lions of Penn State, who have only a tie with Purdue to spoil the nation's otherwise perfect five-game record.

Maryland, No. 2, plays host to a weak Louisiana State (2-3) eleven while Oklahoma, No. 3, tangles with Kansas State in a Big Seven Conference fray. Georgia Tech's Ramblin' Wrecks, No. 5, goes after its sixth straight, fourth in the Southeastern Conference, with Vanderbilt, (1-2-2) as the opponent.

And if the games among the top 10 are not enough to satisfy you, there are such encounters as Pennsylvania-Navy, Purdue-Illinois, Southern Methodist, Minnesota-Michigan, North Carolina-Notre Dame, Princeton-Cornell, Stanford-Washington and Ohio State-Iowa.

From an audience standpoint, the Purdue-Illinois contest is "the" game. It is the game approved by the NCAA for nation-wide television. Purdue, unbeaten in the conference and with an over-all record of 2-1-1, also has designs on the league title and a trip to the Rose Bowl.

Yearlings Test Bowie Saturday

Coaches Earl Peeler and Harold Bentley take their Big Spring Junior High School Yearlings to Odessa Saturday where the Yearlings meet Bowie Junior High in a night game.

In a previous meeting, Bowie defeated the locals, 26-6. The Yearlings have won one of five games played to date. They beat Snyder by three touchdowns and lost to Crockett of Odessa, Sweetwater twice and Bowie.

Offensive Leader

Donald (Cotton) Gottlob (above), 160-pound quarterback of Sam Houston State football team at Huntsville, Tex., is leading the nation in total offense and passing after five games. He has completed 76 of 138 throws for 1,310 yards and 10 touchdowns. His 22 yards gained rushing makes his total offensive mark 1,332 yards. Gottlob never passed a football before going to college. ## National Horse Show To Begin

By BEN FRENCH
HARRISBURG (AP)—With the opening of the Pennsylvania National Horse Show tomorrow this state capital city becomes the nation's equine center for two weeks.

The seven-day show brings together more than 600 of the top exhibition animals of America and four foreign nations competing for trophies and more than $35,000 in cash prizes.

Highlighting the show, which runs through Nov. 1 with no Sunday performance, is the international competition between jumping teams from the United States, Canada, France, Ireland and Mexico.

A week following the close of the seventh annual Pennsylvania national is the standardbred horse sale, one of the nation's largest auctions of trotters and pacers.

More than a million dollars in harness horses were purchased here during last year's sale.

The standardbred sale will be held in the huge state farm show arena, also the site of the Pennsylvania National, from Nov. 10 through Nov. 15.

All five international jumping teams took their workouts yesterday in the farm show arena. Team captains pronounced all their mounts in top competition.

Pierre d'Orliola, who took top individual honors in Olympic jumping events, announced he would again ride Ali Baba, his winning mount at Helsinki.

The other four teams, including America's third-place winner at Helsinki, all appeared here last year and at the later shows at New York's Madison Square Garden and Toronto's Royal Winter Fair.

BUT NOT BY SCRIBE Kansas, Ole Miss Grid Favorites

By HAROLD L. RATLIFF
Southern Methodist and Arkansas try to bolster the Southwest Conference's sagging inter-sectional record while four other teams are engaged in games counting in the championship race tomorrow.

More than 150,000 will see the four games with Texas and Rice battling at Houston in the conference headliner due to draw more than 80,000 fans.

Baylor makes its last stand in the title campaign at Waco against Texas A&M in a homecoming game expected to put the largest crowd ever to see the Bears play at home into the stands—40,000 or more. Baylor, loser to Arkansas, must win this one to stay in the running.

Southern Methodist and Texas get together at Dallas in the top inter-sectional game of the day. It will match a couple of explosively offensive teams in the Cotton Bowl with possibly 30,000 due to turn out.

Arkansas plays ancient rival, Mississippi, at Little Rock in the other inter-sectional test. Mississippi, undefeated but twice tied, will be favored to whip an always troublesome foe.

Texas Christian, the other member of the conference, has no worries this week—it doesn't have a game.

Rice has shown a margin in victories over bitter enemy, Texas, in the last 22 years with 12 decisions, but the Longhorns have beaten the Owls the last two seasons. Rice, licked by Southern Methodist, 21-14, last week, must win to stay in the running. Texas has taken its only conference game played—a smashing triumph over Arkansas last week.

Rice faces the team it had rather beat than any other in a sadly crippled state.

At Dallas, Jerry Robertson returns to haunt his old coach, Herman Morgan of Southern Methodist. Morgan, an assistant coach at SMU, coached Robertson in high school at Highland Park (Dallas) and suggested that he go to Kansas when he looked around for a college after leaving Texas where he played freshman football.

Robertson now is the keyman in Kansas' fine pass offense that kept it unbeaten in four games. The Jayhawkers ran a cropper last week against Oklahoma but still showed a blistering offense that makes it a paper edge favorite in the odds over Southern Methodist.

The Baylor-Texas A&M game should be a fierce one and features a duel between Ray Graves, all-around man of the Aggie backfield, and Cotton Davidson, heart of the Baylor offense that has rolled for 354.3 yards per game. The Bears are six-point favorites but many things can happen and usually do when Aggies and Golden Bears get together.

Arkansas has won four of the last five games from Mississippi although the teams haven't met

Steers, Tornadoes Tangle In First District Game

Steer Stadium Scene Of Clash

1932 RECORDS

TEAM	WINS	LOSSES	TIES
Steers	12	3	0
Tornadoes	10	4	0
Midland	8	6	0
Riverside	7	7	0
Ysleta	6	8	0

Lamesa's rugged Tornadoes breeze into town this evening to play the Big Spring Steers in the first District 1-AAA football game of the season for both teams. Game time is down for 8 p.m.

A large turnout of fans is due, since Lamesa always lends fine support to its athletic teams and will send a huge throng here. The weather is due to co-operate and give with a nice, gentle evening.

Big Spring's hopefuls are as ready as they will ever be on this, a big one on their books. They realize they must play better than they ever have before to even keep up with this zephyr from the north.

The Tornadoes have suddenly blossomed as co-favorites for the 1-AAA title. They have the guns to cope with the top 11's as well as the depth, the desire and the backing.

Lamesa fandom is expecting great things of this club and will be mentioned before, be here in full force to see that the job is well done.

Big Spring, on the other hand, is unpredictable and hasn't lived up to expectations. At the same time, it has a lineup that can and may explode at any moment. When it does, the opposition had best head for the hills.

The Steers are heavier than the Tornadoes. And they, too, have the incentive. They're still enraged over that two-point loss suffered at the hands of Ysleta last week end. Lamesa may catch them on the rebound.

John Jones, a 151-pounder, directs the Lamesa attack and, from all reports, does it well. He's an expert passer, perhaps in the class with his predecessor, Jerry Millsaps.

The Lamesa line is not too big but it is rugged, agile and ambitious. It will be tough to fool.

Bobby Hayworth, of course, will mastermind the Steers' plan of attack. J. C. Armistead will be there to give the Tornado line trouble in his slants off tackle and around end. Hayworth, Doyle Maynard, Ted Scott, James Hollis, Billy Martin, Donald Mac Richardson, and others will lend Hayworth and Armistead assistance.

The Steer line is good and is getting better. Louis Stipp, incidentally, is back to lend assistance at one of the tackle berths. He missed the Ysleta game due to illness.

Probable starters: Big Spring—Raymond Gilstrap and Jimmy Potter or Wayne Medlin, ends; Louis Stipp and Carlisle Robinson, tackles; Bill Dorsey and Jackie Milam, guards; Norman Dudley, center; Bobby Hayworth, J. C. Armistead, Doyle Maynard and Billy Martin, backs.

LAMESA—Kenneth Bartlett and Billy Hatchett, ends; Dee Phillips and Alvin Smith, tackles; Carl Todd and Glenn Matthews, guards; Millard McDonald, center; Johnny Jones, Jimmy Robinson, Bobby Burnett and Leland Bartlett, backs.

KINGSVILLE, Oct. 24 (P)—Russ Holland has given Kingsville what it has been waiting a long time for—a rock 'em and sock 'em football team, the likes of which this city has never boasted before.

Holland is the fellow who coached Brady High School to state track glory and put out winning football teams, too.

It has been 22 years since Kingsville High won a district championship. It probably won't this time with mighty McAllen in the same district. But the team here already has had a good season. Also, Kingsville just might win the district title. The Brahmas have been going like champions.

Kingsville started the season by losing to Thomas Edison of San Antonio, 18-0. This was considered a tragedy at the time, but succeeding events have lightened the Brahma load of sorrow. Edison has gone on to all-conquering glory, beating everybody and by larger scores than registered over Kingsville.

The Brahmas bounced back for a series of startling victories. They whipped Robstown, 40-0; slammed Galena Park, 29-0; whipped San Benito, 32-7, by running up all its points in the first half and using

Junior Powerhouse

One of the better running backs in the Big Spring High School backfield is James Hollis (above), who also punts when the occasion demands. He's a junior. James will see lots of action against Lamesa tonight.

SAIGH NOT SAYING

Houston Seeking Card Franchise

HOUSTON, Oct. 24 (P)—A report that a group of wealthy Houston people had made an offer to transfer the St. Louis Cardinals to Houston drew "no comment" from Fred Saigh, president of the National League club.

But Saigh said, "I may have something to say about it later."

Saigh has been in Houston studying the situation of the Cardinal farm club in the Texas League. Recently Allen Russel resigned as president of the Houston club to become owner of the Beaumont franchise.

The report, which had no official source, was that the deal involved moving the Cardinals to Houston but not sale of the National League franchise.

It said the offer included a 55,000 seat stadium to be ready for the 1954 season and that the offer would guarantee the Cardinals their average earnings of the last five years over a five-year period. The stadium would become the property of the Cardinals after 25 years.

The reported offer also included payment of damages for moving the Texas League franchise from Houston to another city and payment of Cardinal rental on Sportsman Park in St. Louis for the term of the current lease—eight years.

Saigh, who has been here since Tuesday, departed early today for St. Louis.

Midland Clash With Pampa Is Top Prep Clash

By The Associated Press

Midland plays at Pampa Friday night in the top game of Texas schoolboy football for the week.

It matches two of the four undefeated, untied teams in Class AAAA and also is a most important game in the fight for the District 1 title.

Lubbock, the other unbeaten team in this district, plays at Borger and is expected to win handsly.

There are other important battles over the state although it's the shortest schedule of the year in the four classes that play through to state championships.

In Class AA Pecos, long a title favorite, plays unbeaten but untied Seminoles in a crucial District 8 conference game. Cleveland and Humble, unbeaten but tied, play in the District 20 healliner.

In Class A Abilene moves up to crack at Floydada of Class AA. This matching undefeated, untied teams, Panhandle and White Deer, each unbeaten but White Deer once tied, play the District 1 feature.

Bryan, undefeated and untied in Class AAA, risks its record against powerful Waco of Class AAAA at Waco.

Edison of San Antonio rolled on unbeaten and untied in Class AAA last night, smashing Burbank of San Antonio, 53-7. Edison is rapidly nearing another District 7 championship.

Class AAAA last night saw Bowie beating El Paso, 14-7, in the El Paso district, North Side downing Polk, 18-7, in the Fort Worth district, North Dallas upsetting favored Adamson, 19-14, in the Dallas district, and Lamar clipping Milby, 48-28, in the Houston district.

Walter R. Miers, 23, a member of the Brooke Army Medical Center football team, died yesterday of what was diagnosed as bulbar polio.

Miers was admitted to the Army hospital Tuesday and died Thursday morning.

Lamesa Contest Is Cancelled; Dogies To C-C

The football game between the Big Spring B team and Lamesa's reserves, which had been scheduled for Saturday night in Lamesa, has been cancelled at the request of the Lamesa coaching staff.

Instead, the Shorthorns will go to Colorado City for a 7:30 o'clock clash with the Wolfpups.

Injuries to personnel forced Lamesa to call off the game, according to information received here. It is possible the game will be played at a later date, however.

The Shorthorns will be seeking their third win in six starts in the Colorado City game.

They have beaten Sweetwater and Snyder while losing to Sweetwater, Stanton A and Seagraves A.

The Shorthorns will enter the game shorthanded. Nugent Reid, star halfback, has withdrawn from school. It was Reid who scored the touchdown that enabled the Dogies to defeat Sweetwater here last week.

Sonny Wimberly will probably go in Big Spring's backfield, along with Tommy McAdams, Ronnie Wooten and Freddy Blalack.

Bearkats Host Mertzson Club

GARDEN CITY — Garden City hosts the Mertzson Green Hornets at 8 o'clock this evening in an important District Eight six-man football clash.

The Bearkats enter the contest with a league record of one win and one loss. Targe Lindsay's team defeated Blackwell, 52-12, and then were upset by Christoval, 49-19.

Mertzson has won two and lost one in conference play. The Hornets beat Sterling City and Blackwell and were stopped by Forsan.

The Garden City B team plays St. Joseph's Academy of Abilene here at 2:30 p. m. Saturday.

Ward 11's Play Saturday Morn

Ward School Football League teams swing back into action Saturday morning at Steer Stadium, with four games on tap. The first one gets underway at 8 a. m.

North Ward plays Central in the opening game. At 9 a. m., West Ward and Colleg Heights have it out. West Ward is still unbeaten in league competition and a co-favorite to romp to the crown.

At 10 a. m. it will be East Ward against Washington Place and at 11 o'clock Kate Morrison against Airport.

Kate Morrison is still undefeated, after four starts.

Can't Get Better

AUSTIN—Gib Dawson has averaged a point with each swing of his leg on placement kicks this season. He has been true on 10 of extra-point bids and kicked a field goal against Notre Dame.

Little Brothers

Players whose older brothers figured prominently in intercollegiate football have big hands in Texas' football success this season. They are bottom to top, Tackle Buck Lansford, Tackle Charles Petrovich, Quarterback T. Jones and Quarterback Bunny Andrews. Lansford's older brother Jim was all-SWC tackle at Texas in 1951; Petrovich's older brother George, was all-SWC tackle for the Longhorns in 1948; Jones has one brother playing for Baylor now and an older one played for SMU and Southwestern; Andrews' older brother Billy "Rooster" was an all-America Waterboy for Texas in the early 40's, serving as student manager for four seasons. Lansford is from Carrizo Springs, Petrovich from Palestine, Jones from Childress and Andrews from Dallas.

ON GRID SQUAD

'Little Brothers' Set Pace At UT

AUSTIN.—(Sp1)—Whatever success the University of Texas enjoys in a football way this fall, much of the credit will have to go to four "little brothers."

Two of the "little fellows" are tackles who weigh more than 200 pounds, both of whom have had brothers make all-Southwest Conference selections for Texas within the past five years. The other two are the "brains" of the squad. T. Jones and Bunny Andrews—No. 1 and No. 2 quarterbacks, respectively.

The tackles are Buck Lansford, 215-pound sophomore offensive starter, and Charles Petrovich, 205-pound lettered reserve defensive performer. Buck, christened Alex John at Carrizo Springs on November 4, 1933, is the brother of Jim Lansford, all-star performer for Texas in 1950 and 1951. Charles' older brother, George, was all-SWC for the Longhorns in 1948 before going on to stardom in the professional ranks for the Chicago Cardinals.

The elder Petrovich is now studying dentistry in the University of Texas Dental Branch at Houston, while Jim Lansford is doing post-graduate work in football with Wallis Texas of the National Professional League. Jim is a starting offensive tackle for the Texans.

John "Bunny" Andrews, reserve quarterback, is the second son in his family to distinguish himself in football at Texas. The older one was Billy "Rooster" Andrews, 4-foot, 11-inch student manager who was acclaimed the "All-America Waterboy" in the early 40's. Rooster, now a sporting goods salesman, doubled as a player on occasions during his four-year tenure as manager, kicking extra points for Dana Bible's 1944 eleven.

Bunny is pinch-hitter for T. Jones in the Texas offense and is the holder of the ball on extra-point attempts from placement. With Andrews holding, Hub Ingraham and Gib Dawson have converted on 16 of 19 placement kicks, one of which was good for a field goal against Notre Dame. Bunny also is being utilized to advantage as a defensive fullback.

Young Andrews played high school football at Woodrow Wilson (Dallas) along with Charles Gentner, regular offensive tackle for Texas, and Bill Forester, SMU's star defensive tackle, linebacker and offensive fullback.

T. Jones, who has blossomed into an outstanding quarterback as a senior at Texas, is a member of a family divided against itself, footballwise. T's older brother, Max, starred as a lineman at SMU and Southwestern University before going into coaching. He is now head mentor at Iraan High School.

The middle Jones boy is playing his second season with Baylor, having lettered there as a defensive halfback last year. A hitch in the Navy delayed Charley Jones' participation in intercollegiate athletics.

T. Jones and Lansford will be in the starting offensive lineup against Rice Saturday. Buck has held down a regular job at left tackle all season, while Jones has added passing brilliance to the ball-carrying skill he exhibited as a junior. T. leads all the Southwest Conference tilters in yardage gained (591), has completed 36 of 68 efforts, four of which were good for touchdowns. He also has scored four touchdowns, which makes him responsible for 8 of the 18 touchdowns scored by Texas thus far.

Texarkana Meet Underway Today
TEXARKANA, Oct. 24 (Sp)—Qualifying rounds of the Four-States Invitational Golf Tournament were scheduled today with Defending Champion Raleigh Selby, Kilgore, looking for his second straight title. Hal Winston, one of eight North Texas State College golfers here for the tourney, was impressive in a practice round yesterday over the 73-par Texarkana Country Club course. Winston shot a hole-in-one in touring the course with an even par.

Match play will begin Saturday morning with quarterfinals, Saturday afternoon; semi-finals, Sunday morning; and the championship, Sunday afternoon.

It's The Babe Against Field At Fort Worth

FORT WORTH, Oct. 24 (Sp)—It was Babe Zaharias against the field today as the veteran shot-maker moved into the semi-final round of the Women's Texas Open.

The Babe was forced into two extra holes yesterday before deciding stubborn Barbara Romack, 1 up, on the 20th green.

The 19-year-old Sacramento Calif. girl squared the match on No. 18 after Babe hooked her drive into an unplayable lie and had to take a penalty stroke.

The Babe, playing out of Tampa, Fla., these days muffed a short putt on No. 19 and the young Californian, the pressure relief, missed a six-footer to send the two-game duel to the 20th.

Mrs. Zaharias boosted her reputation as the last half century's top woman athlete on the 20th. She spanked a 60-yard, 9-iron shot within three feet of the pin and rapped the putt down for a birdie three and the victory. Miss Romack's birdie try was too bold.

The Babe faced Bea McWane of Birmingham, Ala., in today's semi-final battle after the Old South Star's 4-and-3 triumph yesterday over Nell Moody, Sherman, Tex.

In Fort Worth's Polly Riley, conqueror of Betty Dodd, San Antonio, in a 2-and-1 quarter final battle, faces Marilyn Smith of Wichita, Kan.

Miss Smith earned the right to meet the Curtis Cup star with a 6-and-5 rout of Mrs. Frank Goldthwaite, Fort Worth, who ousted favored Betsy Rawls in a second-round match Thursday.

Bobby Maxwell In Links Show
DENTON, Oct. 24 (Sp)—North Texas State College will have 14 golfers playing in tournaments in Texas and Mexico beginning today.

Eight of the NTSC linksmen will tee off today in the Four-State Invitational Amateur Tournament at Texarkana.

Six other NTSC players and Coach Fred Cobb will leave Sunday for Mexico City and the Mexican National Amateur Tournament. The sextette includes Billy Maxwell, Joe Conrad, Buster Reed, Monte Sanders, Stan Musel and Marion Hiskey.

Representing North Texas in the Texarkana tournament are Hal Winston, Laredo; Benny Castloo, Mineola; Max Wilkinson, Buhl, Idaho; Duane Haley, Stratford, Conn.; Billy Hill, Marshall; Paul Ransome, Colorado Springs, Colo.; Ray Ferguson, Breckenridge, and Bobby Maxwell, Big Spring.

Stanton Bisons To Seek Fifth Win This Evening

STANTON.—Seagraves, tonight's opponent of the Stanton Buffaloes here, have won only one of five starts this season.

The eleven beat the Big Spring B team 33-6, shortly after Stanton had humbled the Shorthorns, 35-0.

Last week end, Stanton defeated the Millard B team, 13-7, while Seagraves was idle.

The Buffs enter the game below par physically, however. Several key men, including Fullback Scotty Polk, may not see action due to injuries.

In five starts this year, four of which they have won, the Bisons have scored 79 points to 28 for the opposition. Coahoma is the only team to hold a victory over the Stanton club, having beaten the Buffs, 14-0.

In losing four of five starts, Seagraves has scored 38 points to 117 for the Buffs.

On Trip West
DALLAS, Oct. 24 (Sp)—The Dallas Texans leave today for a two-game trip to the Pacific Coast. The Dallas professional football team plays the undefeated San Francisco 49ers at San Francisco Sunday and the Los Angeles Rams at Los Angeles the following Sunday.

BULLDOGS PLAY HOBBS TONIGHT

COAHOMA.—The Coahoma Bulldogs, who still have designs on the District 5-B football crown, head for Hobbs this evening where they play a conference tilt.

The Bulldogs have lost one district test (to Hermleigh) and cannot afford to drop another one. Hermleigh is still unbeaten and undefeated in league play and will be favored to topple Robert Lee tonight.

Hobbs seems to be going nowhere in conference play but the Panthers have developed a scoring punch and could give the Bulldogs a busy evening.

Outside of Jack Morrison, the Bulldogs seem to be in fairly good physical trim for the game. Morrison is out, apparently for the season, with an arm injury.

Bill Read will again direct the Coahoma attack. Gerry Hoover and Jimmy Spears will lend him assistance in the running department.

Jack Owens and Billy Joe Cramer will function as Read's principal aerial targets.

A large delegation of rooters are due to follow the team to Hobbs.

The Bulldogs play their next home game here next Friday night, at which time they clash with Robert Lee.

Baptists Urge Day Of Prayer To Secure Rain

By The Associated Press
Texas Baptists have urged Gov. Shivers to proclaim a "Lord's Day" for Christians to join "in earnest prayer that God will send rain."

The Baptist request, made in a resolution Thursday at one of the closing sessions of the Baptist General Convention of Texas in Fort Worth, was one of several water developments of the day. "Realizing the fact that most of Texas and much of the Southland is suffering from prolonged drought, conscious that God sends the rain on the just and the unjust, firmly believing in the blessings and power of prayer, yet aware of our sins," the resolution said in part. It was submitted by the Rev. J. Ralph Grant of Lubbock.

Elsewhere in the drought-ridden state, Dallas city officials appealed to businessmen and building owners with shut-down water wells to re-open the wells to help out in the city's critical water crisis.

2. Earlier, Dallas car washers accused private water peddlers of trying to soak them with high prices.
3. An Associated Press survey showed meat prices dropping in many markets across the state and the drop was attributed by some to the drought which had caused farmers and ranchers to move their cattle to market.
4. Bishop Thomas K. Gorman asked priests in the Dallas Catholic diocese to pray for rain. His notice said the prayer would be said at mass Sunday and after each public school mass following until further notice.

Bibles For The Base

Col. Ernest F. Wackwitz Jr., commanding officer of Webb Air Force Base, second from left, accepted gift of Bibles and Testaments for Base offices and personnel. The presentation was by Dr. P. W. Malone, Bible secretary of the Big Spring Gideon Camp. The Testaments were to be available for personnel which might not have received them at induction centers. On the left is Chaplain Grant Mann and at right is Chaplain John Little.

Gideons Present Bibles And New Testaments To WAFB

Bibles and New Testaments for distribution at Webb Air Force Base were presented by the Big Spring Gideon camp Thursday to Col. Ernest F. Wackwitz Jr. Forty Bibles were given for location at various points at the base and the Testaments for airmen which might have not received them at their induction centers. Ceremonies were held at 3:30 p.m. Thursday in the office of Col. Wackwitz with Chaplain Grant Mann and Chaplain John Little present.

Roy B. Reeder, local camp president, gave a brief history of the Gideon movement. Bur. Havne, camp chaplain, read the Scripture from Isaiah 55. The presentation was made by Dr. P. W. Malone, the Gideon's Bible secretary, and Col. Wackwitz accepted. Dedication prayer was by W. L. Mead.

Other Gideons attending were the Rev. Clyde Nichols, Wendell Parks, P. W. Bettie, Homer Wiloughby, G. C. Morehead.

This is part of the camp's program which also has as its aim the placing of a Bible at the disposal of every classroom above the fourth grade in schools in Howard, Martin, Dawson, Borden, Mitchell, Sterling and Glasscock Counties. Within these counties, too, the Gideons will place or replace Bibles in tourist courts and hotel rooms.

During the past year the camp placed 1,937 Testaments, mostly in the high schools. In addition there were 57 Bibles placed. Funds received for this work amounted to $1,925.

The Gideons carry out other programs, including regular weekly prayer meetings. An average of 24 attended these during the 32 meetings in the past year. Starting the first Sunday in March, the camp has been conducting services each Sunday in the city and county jail.

Edgar E. Rand, president, said a total of 62 such services have been held. Gideons also discharged 35 invitations to fill pulpits in the area. Besides these mentioned, other officers are Wendell Parks, vice president, and Billy T. Smith, secretary.

Hullinan Says War Can End In Korea On His Two Points

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Progressive party candidate for president, Vincent Hullinan, says the solution to ending the Korean War rests on his two point program.

Nothing's Too Good For Texan When Paid For

MOBILE, Ala., Oct. 24 (AP)—Nothing was too good for the wedding plans of the supposedly wealthy Texan who wooed and won a Mobile widow.

As the FBI related the story of the romance today, Frederick L. Brunka, San Antonio, made it clear that expense was of no consequence in ordering clothes for his bride, a $1,600 wedding ring, engaging a swanky private club for a reception and booking an Hawaiian honeymoon cruise.

The $1,200 trousseau he bought for his bride-to-be wasn't quite good enough, but it would do for a starter.

A $10,000 check deposited with a Mobile bank was simply a token fund to provide a little ready cash in case of emergency.

Silver cigarette lighters and strings of pearls for the wedding party were signs of his thoughtfulness. All were paid for with checks.

Then, on Sept. 15, a few days before the wedding, Brunka borrowed his prospective brother-in-law's automobile to go for a spin.

Henry O. Hawkins, agent in charge of the Mobile FBI office, said Brunka first thoughtfully exchanged the car for a newer, faster model, then spun through the West, to California, on to Canada and back to San Antonio, before searching FBI agents picked him up today in San Antonio and charged him with transporting stolen property across a state line.

The waiting bride-to-be was at first incredulous. But as the checks began to bounce, one after another, she sadly returned the wedding finery.

Hawkins said all the jewelry had been returned, the clothes at the stores had not been picked up, and the only loot Brunka actually obtained here was the automobile, Hawkins said it had not been decided whether Brunka would be returned here.

The FBI said it was just as well the Mobile widow had been left at the altar. Brunka has a wife in San Antonio.

Adlai's Texas Power Seen In Rural Area

Editor's note: Who will get the Texas farm vote, the city vote? That is the subject of this story, which is one of several based on "The Associated Press survey of Texas' political thinking in mid-October."

By TIM PARKER
Associated Press Staff Editor

Dwight Eisenhower has supporters throughout Texas but his greatest strength is in the cities.

Adlai Stevenson is strongest in the rural areas and appears to be gaining ground there.

Those general conclusions are based on the Associated Press mid-October survey of Texans' political thinking.

Of the seven Texas cities with 100,000 or more population, four were reported in the Republican column. Two were listed as apparently going Democratic, the seventh as "doubtful"—split about 50-50.

In the rural counties, there is often a sharp division between the courthouse square people and the farmers in the country.

"All we hear on the square here and at the courthouse is pro-Eisenhower," said one West Central Texas county-seat weekly newspaper editor. But he listed his county as a toss-up, with Stevenson and Eisenhower forces split about 50-50.

In deep East Texas, another county-seat editor reported "the rural area will swing the percentage for Adlai here. The town will go for Ike." He attributed farmer support for Stevenson to "farm aids, handouts."

What can happen when a voter survey is extended to take in farmers was made clear in one of the state's big metropolitan centers.

In this big city, reporters telephoned nearly 300 qualified voters. The result: Eisenhower 56 per cent, Stevenson 33 per cent, undecided 15 per cent.

In the same big city, another newspaper assigned reporters to a representative telephone survey of city voters. The result, among those willing to talk: 60 per cent for Eisenhower, 40 per cent for Stevenson.

"About a fifth of the voters are undecided," this report added. "Indecisions are most of the undecided voters are leaning to Stevenson."

In another of Texas' largest cities, independent telephone surveys by two newspapers came within two percentage points of giving the same apparent victory margin to Eisenhower. One said 55 per cent, the other 53 per cent. This caution note was added to the second report: "Many voters decline to commit themselves."

The reasons for the shift to GOP in this city were summed up as "hidlands, Trumanism, defection of state Democratic leaders, his (Eisenhower's) great popularity here."

In rural areas, where the survey indicated Stevenson ahead, the explanations for voters' stands were more personal.

"The East Texas rural vote this year is going almost solidly Democratic, and why not?" reported a deep East Texas editor. "Farmers in this area are prosperous for the first time in history and they aren't going to take any chances of killing the goose by helping to vote in a Republican administration (they always cause depressions, you know)."

More restrained—but still based on the idea that the Democrats will help the farmer more than the Republicans would—were reports from West Texas rural counties.

"I like Ike" is a very popular expression here," said a Panhandle editor, "but I firmly believe the rural population of this county considers the Demos their best friends and will vote accordingly." He put his county down as 60 per cent for Stevenson, 40 per cent for Eisenhower.

In North Central Texas, a daily newspaper editor put his county in the Stevenson column by a 10 per cent margin after discounting a straw vote which went for Eisenhower. Farmers apparently did not join in the straw vote, he explained, and they "still suspect the GOP would eliminate many rural benefits and price supports."

Not all cities lean toward Eisenhower and Stevenson doesn't have all the rural counties tied up.

The Panhandle—a preponderantly rural area—appears to favor the GOP candidate. Fourteen of the 28 counties in the 18th Congressional District were put in the GOP column, five were marked down as Democratic, two as split. No surveys were made in four counties.

Eisenhower also was put ahead in the border counties along the Upper Rio Grande. And the GOP was counted on to hold its control in the few Hill Country counties in South Texas which Dewey carried in 1948.

In Northeast and East Texas, most cities below the metropolitan class were counted in the Democratic column. This was true, also, of similar cities in Central Texas,

AS AUXILIARY FIELD

Webb AFB To Use Midland's Airpark

Webb Air Force Base cadets will make use of Midland's Airpark as an auxiliary field on or about Nov. 1, it was announced today by base officials.

The extension of training to Airpark will mean take-offs, landings and refueling for the trainees from Webb. No jet planes will be involved. The T-28 propeller-driven trainer will be used.

Initially, Midland operations will be a "limited," according to Lt. Col. James Wilson, 356th Pilot Training Group commander. Eventually, more facilities will be involved.

According to base officials, Air Force utilization of the Midland field is on a "joint-use" basis. This means both civilians and military aircraft will use Airpark. Radio control of all traffic during the period when the Air Force uses the field will be handled by AF-manned mobile control tower personnel.

Although Webb will dispatch permanent fire fighting equipment to Airpark, firefighters are expected to travel back and forth daily. Ambulance and medical personnel will also be on hand during the periods of AF use.

Airpark is being used on an interim basis, pending construction of an auxiliary field in Martin County.

Traffic patterns around the airport as well as safety measures have been worked out in a series of meetings between Clyde Sherrer, Midland aviation director, and Emerson Carpenter, Civil Aeronautics Administration official, along with Webb officers.

Col. Wilson explained that some of the training at Airpark will involve nothing more than take-offs and landings, but that "air-work" phases would see the airport used for successive landings and take-offs that would make refueling of the ships necessary. As planes are refueled, student-pilots would be changed.

Cadets are to be flown to and from Midland in C-47 transports so that some student-pilots can fly to Midland in the trainers, while other cadets fly them back.

Taft Charges Adlai Is True Disciple Of HST

By TOM BRADSHAW

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Sen. Robert A. Taft said last night President Truman is attempting to create a sort of divine right of kings in American politics with Adlai Stevenson, Democratic nominee for President, as his "true disciple."

The Ohio senator, addressing a GOP rally on behalf of the candidacy of Dwight D. Eisenhower, to whom he lost the Republican presidential nomination last summer, said the President is trying to surround himself with an aura of infallibility.

"Every once in a while," Taft said, "the President says: 'I see an emergency,' even when there is no emergency."

Truman, Taft added, "started a war in Korea without authorization of Congress. He claims the right to send U. S. troops wherever in the world he chooses," and added: "Stevenson is a true disciple of the Truman philosophy."

Taft said Stevenson's only apparent "measure against the Communists is price control." He said he arrived at this conclusion from an analysis of Stevenson's argument that Soviet Russia largely determines the American budget because such a large percentage of it goes towards defense appropriations.

"But price control doesn't prevent inflation," Taft said.

The President, Taft said, tries to convince the American people the Republican party "is the party of great corporations and special interests and complete contempt for the welfare of the little man."

"But a careful reading of Mr. Truman's speeches," the Ohioan said, "shows his belief in all-powerful government. . . . Nothing is so dangerous or costly to the little fellow as government spending taxation and control."

On the subject of inflation, Taft said that "no one is better off today in America; many are worse off today."

Ibanez To Be Picked Chilean President Today

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—The national Congress meets today to choose Carlos Ibanez del Campo president of Chile for a six-year term beginning Nov. 3.

Ibanez, who will be 75 years old on inauguration day, ran for president as an independent and polled 446,439 votes of the 957,102 ballots cast. Arturo Matte Larraín, the rightist candidate, received 285,357 votes.

Under Chile's Constitution, the Congress chooses the president from the two candidates who polled the most votes if neither obtained a majority. The size of Ibanez' popular victory made his selection a certainty.

Ibanez is a national senator and former president of Chile. He served as chief executive between 1927 and 1931.

Public Invited To Attend Air Show At Webb Base Saturday

Webb Air Force Base will graduate its fourth and largest class of aviation cadets Saturday. As part of the graduation day festivities, an air show is scheduled, beginning at 9 a.m.

Col. Ernest F. Wackwitz Jr., base commander, has issued an invitation to all citizens to attend the air show. Following is the colonel's invitation:

"I want to extend to the general public a cordial invitation to visit our base, during graduation, and to view our outdoor ceremonies. The gates will be open to all at 8 a.m., and there is parking space for 1,000 automobiles.

"Our entire cadet corps will march in review, accompanied by the Goodfellow Air Force Base band.

"A 24-plane formation of jet trainer aircraft, led by Lt. Col. Jim Wilson, will fly over at low altitude during an aerial salute as a part of the review. Following the salute, Capt. Alex P. Goodkin will give an individual exhibition of aerobatics in a T-33 jet plane. We will also have a ground display for public inspection of several types of propeller and jet airplanes.

"Ceremonies will last from 9 to 10 a.m., and those who are interested may stay as long as they wish after the formal program is completed.

"Our cadets have invited guests from all over the United States to attend the graduation. We expect quite a large crowd.

"I deeply regret that the formal presentation of commission and pilot's wings must be held in the Academic Auditorium, which has a limited seating capacity and therefore will not be open to the general public.

"We hope to see as many public-spirited citizens of the Big Spring area as can possibly get away Saturday morning.

"I want to offer each of you a most hearty welcome to the graduation of jet-pilot class 52-G at Webb Air Force Base."

Jesus' Test of Faith

HE EMPHASIZED NEED FOR SELF-JUDGMENT AND REGARD FOR OTHERS

Scripture—Matthew 7.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

LIFE is more complicated today, but the need for the kind of life which Jesus advocated in His Sermon on the Mount, is as essential now as then—even more so.

Life in these United States is easier in many ways than it was in our Lord's time, but there is fear in our hearts and minds as there was then, and much wickedness is troubling the earth.

Our world is much larger than the ancient one. We know more about the great globe and its inhabitants. We have many marvelous inventions, but alas, we plan to use so many of them for the destruction of others instead of for their benefit.

Even so, we do use some of our newly-acquired knowledge to try to understand why others act as they do, and not to judge them too harshly, but to help them. But we must need to simply follow the Lord's teachings. If we could only convert the whole wide world to that, all our troubles would end.

"Judge not, that ye be not judged," said Jesus. Our law says a man shall be considered innoof our children's requests must, in wisdom, be denied them, but if we seek, deeply and earnestly, we will derive benefit even if we do not get exactly what we ask for.

"Therefore, all things whatsoever ye would that men should do to you, do ye even so to them: for this is the law and the prophets."

That sums up what should be the real relationship we have with others. Repeat the words, all who read, and think of them; then put them in practice in your daily living, and you may be sure that Christ will approve of your way of life and reward you.

Jesus warned against false prophets "which come to you in sheep's clothing, but inwardly they are ravening wolves."

How shall we know them for what they are? "By their fruits shall ye know them." A good tree bringeth forth good fruit, but a corrupt tree cannot.

Then Christ warned of those who deceive themselves that they will be acceptable in the Lord's sight, while their private conduct may be unethical. They may be hypocrites.

"Not every one that saith unto

MEMORY VERSE

"Whatsoever ye would that men should do unto you, even so do also unto them."—Matthew 7:12.

sent until he is proved guilty, so why should we judge others when we ourselves have so many faults? "With what judgment ye judge, ye shall be judged," Jesus told His hearers.

Let us examine our own hearts and ask ourselves whether we are obeying that precept.

The verses about beholding the mote (a minute splinter) in your brother's eye when you have a beam (a joist or rafter) in thine own, means that we should again fasten our attention on our own shortcomings, which may possibly be larger than those of the brother we are criticizing.

"Casting pearls before swine" is a saying often heard in connection with presenting precious worldly things to unappreciative persons. Christ uses it in connection with things that are holy.

About prayer, Jesus said: "Ask and it shall be given you," and asks what man would give his son a stone instead of bread, or a serpent in place of fish?

"If ye, then, being evil, know how to give good gifts to your children, how much more shall your Father which is in heaven, give good things to them that ask them?"

Not all the things we pray for may be granted us, just as some

Me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven; but he that doeth the will of My Father which is in heaven."

"Many will say unto Me in that day (the day of judgment), Lord, Lord, have we not prophesied in Thy name? and in Thy name have cast out devils? and in Thy name done many wonderful works?"

"And then will I profess unto them, I never knew you; depart from Me, ye that work iniquity."

The man or woman who hears (or reads) these things and then neglects to do them, Jesus likened to a man who built his house on sand, and when the storms came the house was destroyed. But the person who heeds His words and lives them is like a man who built his house on a rock. When the rain descended and the floods came, it remained firm, for it was built upon rock.

So Jesus ended His Sermon, and the multitudes who had been listening to Him were astonished, because He taught them as "One having authority."

Are we to be wise, following His teaching? or foolish like the man who built his house on the sand? The world hath sore need of those who obey His teachings all the days of their lives.

AT BIG SPRING CHURCHES

Two Congregations Plan Special Reformation Sunday Observances

Reformation Sunday will be observed in two churches Sunday and in one, the associate pastor will present his farewell sermon to a local congregation.

BAPTIST
Dr. P. D. O'Brien, pastor of the First Baptist Church, has chosen as his topic for Sunday morning, "White Harvest Fields," John 4:36. His evening topic will be "The Plan of Salvation Simplified," Romans 10:9-10.

The Rev. James S. Parks, pastor of the Baptist Temple will base his morning sermon on the 91st Psalm. That evening, the Rev. Howard King of College City, Ark., will be guest speaker.

A Lesson in Building

This youngster is learning the rudiments of one of the oldest and most useful of the human arts—the art of building. It was a great day in the life of primitive man when he learned to put sticks and stones together and build things.

From the crude structures of humanity's infancy, the art of building has progressed to its present amazing proportions. Today we have beautiful residences, imposing churches, sprawling factories, tall skyscrapers and far-flung bridges.

Life itself is a building process which begins in infancy and runs throughout our days. All the knowledge we acquire, all our experiences, habits, thoughts, ideals, and emotions are laid block on block to form the pattern of our character.

And the strength of the life we build is measured in terms of faith—faith in God and in good. With this faith man can bind together the elements of his life in an enduring structure. The Church and the Bible are the best guides in the building of a life.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Farmers Assets Still On The Rise

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 (AP)—The Agriculture Department said today assets of American farmers still are going up—but at a slower rate than during the last two years.

The department said their total assets—valued at current prices and including the financial assets—are expected to reach $172,100,000,000 by next Jan. 1.

This would be 2 per cent above the valuation for Jan. 1, 1952, compared with increases of 12 per cent in 1950 and 9 per cent in 1951.

A Bible Thought For Today—

Our encyclopedias become obsolete in ten years. God's word endures. "The word of our God shall stand forever." — Isa. 11:8.

Howard County Lads Earn Praise For Their Unusual Achievements

State 4-H Club officials said that it is rather unusual for club members within a single county to be judged winners in different divisions of activity in the same year.

The Davidson brothers, Ronnie, 17, and Delbert 15, have improved on the odds. Delbert was picked as the top 4-H member in tractor maintenance and Ronnie in farm and home electric program, thus lodging the honors not only within the same county but also within the same family.

We think this is a rather remarkable record — one that is a tribute not only to the lads but also to their parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Davidson, and to their club leadership.

Ronnie and Delbert have been in the program about nine years. The fact that they have sustained interest all that time is evidence that they have found the work worthwhile and stimulating, and that someone has constantly kept them challenged.

The diversity of interests of these boys seems to us to be almost as remarkable as their most recent honor. They have participated in demonstrations and activities for bees and dairy cattle, poultry, swine, sheep, soil conservation, farm safety, cotton and as members of judging teams. Moreover, they have been very interested in farm safety programs. It is only natural that such well-rounded boys should be active in church, school and other community affairs. No gift of prophecy is required to predict that these boys will be good, contributing citizens when they become of age. As a matter of fact, the record shows they already are.

Parties And Pollers Are Avoiding Getting Too Far Out On The Limb

The last two weeks of the election campaign finds both parties cautious in prediction claims, probably a relic of sad experience of four years ago when practically everybody, including the experts and the poll, guessed wrong.

Four years ago the most optimistic Democratic claims placed only 229 "sure" electoral votes in their column, against the 286 needed, with another 89 "in doubt." The Republicans claimed 334 sure for Dewey and Warren. (Actual Vote: Truman 303, Dewey 189, Thurmond 39.)

The Gallup Poll on October 17, 1948, gave Dewey 46 per cent of the popular vote, Truman 40 per cent, Wallace 4 per cent and Thurmond 2 per cent, with 8 per cent undecided. Both the Wallace and Thurmond votes were figured normally to have belonged to Truman.

But the New York Times wrote that even if Wallace and Thurmond hadn't been running, Truman would still be at a disadvantage because, among other things, "of the general feeling it's time for a change." Based on reports from its correspondents throughout the country, the Times gave Dewey 333 electoral votes, Truman 82, and listed the rest as doubtful.

As a matter of record the Wallace vote did cost Truman New York State, and Thurmond cost him four others.

This time the experts are united on only one thing — the expected record vote, which is estimated to run as high as 60 million, as against just under 49 million in 1948.

But there is one factor that has developed in recent weeks that may tend to cut down the vote considerably below the optimistic estimates. That is the increasing bitterness of the campaign. This reacts on a lot of people who simply call "a pox on both your houses" — and stay away from the polls.

Four years ago the guessers were concerned with the probable size of the vote in comparison with the record set in 1940. These estimates ranged from 1 to 6 million more than the existing record. As a matter of fact it fell a million votes below the 1940 total.

Gallup Poll

Demos Continue To Gain As GOP Hopes Rest On Ike's Popularity

By GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 24—As the presidential race enters the homestretch, the latest Institute surveys show the following:

1—For the first time since the campaign began, the vote preference for the Democratic party equals the voter preference for the G.O.P. Previously the Republican party had the edge.

2—Eisenhower personally runs 3 points ahead of his party, and this gives him a lead over Stevenson in popular votes. But the trend of recent weeks continues against Ike and in favor of Stevenson, who has gained a full per cent since the previous report.

3—On the issue of economic self-interest, the majority of voters continue to identify themselves with the Democratic rather than the Republican party.

The chief hope of the G.O.P. is that Eisenhower's great personal popularity will pull the party to victory.

But if Eisenhower does win, it will be the first time since 1916 that the candidate of the minority party has won a presidential election. In that year Wilson barely edged out Hughes.

Here are the results on the three questions bearing upon the major factors of the current campaign:

1. CANDIDATE PREFERENCE

"If the presidential election were being held today, which CANDIDATE would you vote for—Eisenhower, the Republican candidate, or Stevenson, the Democratic candidate?"

Here are the figures for those who have made up their minds, and two possible allocations of the undecided voter group:

	After Allocating Undecided:
	(a) 2-to-1	(b) 3-to-1
Eisenhower	48%	52%
Stevenson	39	48
Undecided	13	—
	100%	100%

Voters who are undecided or unwilling to reveal a preference at this time constitute more than 7 million persons.

Exactly how the undecided vote will finally go on Election day cannot be predetermined with accuracy.

The Institute does not advocate or subscribe to any one formula as to how the undecided will eventually go. It does present the data based on the widely-held beliefs as to how they might go.

If they are allocated on the basis of how they voted in 1948, the Stevenson receives roughly two out of every three votes of this group.

If they are allocated on the basis of such characteristics as economic status, religion and education, he will get an even higher proportion of roughly 3-to-1.

It should be emphasized that these figures represent the division of popular votes and not of electoral votes.

The candidate who gets the edge in such doubtful states as New York, Illinois, Massachusetts and California could win a landslide victory in electoral votes despite the popular vote outcome in the nation as a whole.

2. PARTY PREFERENCE

Because many political observers believe that party loyalty and not the popularity of candidates determines what voters will do on Election day, the Institute, for the first time in any presidential election, has questioned those who plan to vote as to their preference between the parties.

The results of the present survey show: "If the presidential election were being held today, which POLITICAL PARTY would you like to see win—the Republican party or the Democratic party?"

The vote:

	After Allocating Undecided:
	(a) 2-to-1	(b) 3-to-1
Republican party	45%	49%
Democratic party	41	51
Undecided	14	—
	100%	100%

This approach may well prove to be more accurate than asking voters about their choice of individual candidates. Since this is the first time this type of question has been used, the test of its value will not be known until Nov. 4.

3. VOTER SELF-INTEREST

Another factor which will determine how many people vote is the factor of self-interest.

On that basis the Democratic party continues to have a wide margin over the Republican party.

Polling experience of Gallup Poll affiliates in several European countries has shown this to be a highly accurate index of political trends in Europe.

The question put to voters is this: "Which national political party do you think is BEST for people like yourself—the Republican or Democratic?"

Democratic party	50%
Republican party	30
No difference and no opinion	20

All of the above figures are based on persons in the sample who indicated that they will vote on Election day.

The interviewing was completed Oct. 18 and therefore does not reflect any change of sentiment that might have taken place since Stevenson and Eisenhower set out on their final campaign tours.

The 1952 election is the ninth national election covered by the Institute. In the previous eight it has been right seven times, wrong once—in 1948.

The average error on the division of popular votes in all elections covered by the Institute has been 3.8 percentage points.

The Institute has made an earnest effort to report all the facts in this election, fairly and impartially, with the view of letting readers make up their own minds as to the conclusions which should be drawn.

Lewis' Latest Effort To Pour Out His Speech Is Not Among His Better Jobs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thwarting John L. Lewis is like running head-first into the window of a literary delicatessen.

You come up covered with smoked adjectives, highly-seasoned nouns, tart verbs, and some figures of speech, spicy, like ham.

The government's Wage Stabilization Board is just picking itself up after running headlong into Lewis' window.

The WSB refused to let his miners have the $1.90-a-day raise worked out by Lewis and some $1.50-a-day was all it could allow without damage to the stabilization program.

After several days of ominous silence, Lewis delivered his comments—not to the board, which he has steadfastly refused to admit exists at all—but to Harry M. Moses, president of the Bituminous Coal Operators Association.

Historians a hundred years from now, and it may take them a hundred years to get a proper perspective on big John, may feel that this was not his best effort in a career distinguished, among other things, for a prose as purple as a grape, although not necessarily a sour one.

The WSB is made up of 12 members, four representing industry, four the public and four labor. To the labor members, it seems that Lewis' $1.90-a-day raise appeared reasonable enough. The eight others thought otherwise.

As a starter Lewis accused those eight of would-be thievery for "filching" 40 cents from the purses of the miners. This was a simple statement of his views about their intentions.

He also had some views on them, personally, which he expressed in such terms as "timid dilettantes" and "ruffians."

After all, though, the board members may have looked like small fry to Lewis. He quickly shifted from tinkering with their reputations to an analysis of the inner-life of Roger L. Putnam, the economic stabilizer.

But he brushed off Putnam with a fast tattle. Putnam, he said, has only one "radistic trait," which is his "punch for robbing miners' babies of life-giving milk."

If all this was not exactly a new Lewisian approach to a problem, at least his severest critics would have to acknowledge he had almost acquired a copyright on the technique of conjuring up ghoul, gutting the heart-strings, and suggesting the ranks of those who disagree with him are infested with moronic footpads as unpleasant as an abscess.

So, while all this was familiar to Lewis' constant readers, there was something in his statement which caused them concern, almost panic. They wondered if they were detecting a growing mellowness in him.

Not in his choice of words, to be sure. But in their abundance. In his younger and more vigorous days he had been far sterner and much more frugal in distributing them.

For instance, there is nothing in his most recent statement to compare with the economy and muscularity of a few years ago when he described employees of the State Department as a pack of "pusillanxious pups."

Slapping The Lil' Woman Helps To 'Clear The Air'

By SAUL PETT
(For Hal Boyle)

NEW YORK (AP)—Both men had stayed too long at the bar; and they knew it.

It was two hours since they had insisted there was time for only one quick one. Somewhere in the long ago, they had missed four trains, missed dinner at home, missed kissing the kids goodnight.

And, as it must be to all men, who stay too long, a feeling of guilt came to them. They talked of their wives.

"Helen's a good kid," said Harry. "Mabel's tops," said Phil. "Wonderful girls. Deserve the best."

"The very best."

And, as it must to all men who stay too long and feel too guilty, a sense of managerial belligerence now came to them.

"Only one way to handle wives," said Harry. "Only one, surefire, foolproof way."

"It's Eve's that."

"Every Try a Left Hook?"

"Now and then—mind you, not all the time—but now and then, when the situation demands it, slap 'em. Makes 'em happier in the long run."

"You say it works, Harry?"

"I say it definitely works," Harry said, definitely. "Listen, I love my wife as well as the next guy, maybe more. I'd sooner cut off this right arm than hurt her. But slapping helps, now and then."

"In moderation," Phil nodded. "There's a time to kiss and a time to slap," said Harry. "And another thing. Keep separate things separate. Long time ago, I told Helen, I said, you run the house but stay out of my office. That's strictly by business. She doesn't even visit me at the office. We've been happy ever since."

"You know," Phil confessed in a whisper. "I never hit Mabel. Not once."

"Good for 'em," Harry said expansively, drawing on a fresh cigar. "It's really simple psychology. Gives 'em a sense of security. It comforts 'em, in the long run, to know who's boss, to know someone else is running things, making the big decisions, carrying the big load."

"A point, that."

"Helen and me, we've been married 12, no 13 years," said Harry. "In all 13 I say I hit her just three, maybe four times. All ways cleared the air. No matter what they say, a woman feels safer knowing she's being led. I remember the first time—the night the big blizzard ended—

"That night," Harry continued, "we worked all night at the office, catching up on deliveries. Finally, I come home around eight in the morning and Helen says, where you been? And I said, I been working all night, and she said, really? And I just hauled off and slapped her one right then and there. We been happy ever since!"

"None."

The conversation drifted to sports, to politics, to religion, to drinking.

After an hour of that, Harry suddenly fell into a silent gloom.

"What's worrying you?" Phil asked.

"Nothing much."

"For instance."

"Well, frankly," said Harry, "I'm worried about Helen. Not that she bothers me. Never argues, never fusses. But she's been drinking an awful lot lately, even taking to drinking alone. I can't figure it."

Extortionist Faces 15 Years In Jail

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP) — A former high school honor student who admitted he tried to extort $750 from a girl on threat of death today faced the prospect of 15 years in prison.

Federal Judge Harry E. Watkins passed the sentence yesterday on Larry Paul Fudge, 26-year-old extortant.

He hardly knew the 17-year-old high school girl he threatened, Carole Mae Kingsley.

Fudge pleaded guilty to the extortion charge. He had signed a confession last August admitting he threatened the attractive girl.

After the judge had pronounced sentence, Fudge pleaded, "Your honor, I can take anything you hand out if you'll wait until my baby is born."

Judge Watkins said the seriousness of the case prevented him from granting the request or reducing the sentence more than five years from the maximum 20 years he could have given Fudge.

Importance Of The Party Label Seems To Have Been Magnified

The opinions contained in this and other articles in this column are solely those of the writers who sign them. They are not to be interpreted as necessarily reflecting the opinions of The Herald.—Editor's Note.

In our opinion, one of the most amazing developments in the national political campaign this year has involved party lines. This subject has produced more discussion, and, in turn, more contradictions, than any other, especially in Texas. The net result, we think, has been a magnification, rather than a lessening, of the importance of party label.

Voters have been urged to cast their ballots on real merits, instead of blindly following any certain party. In the next breath, many of those who advise such procedure have advertised to one and all that they, personally, are reluctant to vote according to their true feelings unless they can find a means to do so under the party label of their choice.

This, in our opinion, has magnified the party lines. Those who cry out and urge their friends and neighbors to forget political parties and vote for the men instead, have contradicted themselves. "You forget the party lines," they say. "But as for ourselves we must have the candidate we want under the party we want. It is our firm conviction that such and such candidate should be elected, but despite our convictions we don't have the courage to vote for him unless we can do so under the party we designate."

That was the tone of the so-called Democratic state convention in Amarillo.

We think it has served to draw party lines into much sharper focus than they have been any time in the last quarter of a century. In fact, it apparently has put some prominent figures in a sort of political no man's land.

A few nights ago we listened with interest to a radio interview which featured GOP National Chairman Summerfield. It seemed to us that he made it quite clear that his party has no intention of welcoming into the fold anyone from another party if the GOP is victorious in the presidential election, regardless of the amount of work such people do for the GOP nominees in their home areas.

Cries of "unfair reprisal" went up when Democratic Chairman Mitchell said that those same people could expect nothing from the Democrats, on whom they turned their backs during the campaign. Yet we wonder what these people expected.

Imagine, if you can, Gov. Allan Shivers appointing someone who worked actively for Ralph Yarborough in the primary campaigns to some position which would help shape state policies.

When you sweep all of this chaff aside and get down to actions of the presidential candidates themselves, you find that a man named Adlai Stevenson is the only person in the campaign who has kept party lines in their proper perspective. He has refused to publicly endorse candidates for the Congress and the Senate with reckless abandon simply because they happened to be listed under the Democratic label.

These Days—George Sokolsky

Trumanism A Dangerous Egoism; Adlai Expected To Repudiate It

Trumanism is not a movement in this country. It has no broad base among the people. It is a state of mind, a reflex to a habit of partisan loyalty. It is a broadening of what we, who live in New York, knew as the attitude of Tammany hall that the party comes first, above city, state and country. It is a renunciation of every moral quality in favor of partisanship.

When applied on the ward level, this attitude wins a measure of approval, just as the gang spirit does, because personal loyalty is a commendable quality. When applied to national affairs, it thins out into a reprehensible quality because it subordinates the nation to the party, the common good to the necessities of pals and cronies.

The President of the United States is a constitutional officer responsible to and for all the people, those of his party as well as those of the opposition party and of no party whatsoever. Unlike the British prime minister, he does not speak for his party but for the nation. Unlike Stalin, he does not represent a dictatorship of a particular class but performs tasks designated by the Constitution or delegated to him by Congress.

Five Presidents have used this high office strictly for partisan purposes and none with the vindictive tenacity of Harry Truman. He has rejected every criticism of events as a personal affront. Incapable of self-examination, he has rejected examination, by Congress, by the press, by the people as an indignity.

For instance, his reference to the Alger Hiss case as a "red herring," was not a defense of Hiss but a normal reaction to any discovery of administrative error. His hatred for Senators McCarthy, McCarran, Jenner, Rivercomb, Cain and his constant attack on Senator Taft are not due as much to a vast difference over policies as to a refusal to recognize that anything can be right which originates among those who oppose him.

He lives not in a world of principles and ideas but in a world peopled by those who are his friends and those who are his enemies. It is impossible for him to believe that one may like him personally, as Senator Taft does, and oppose him on measures for the country. His violence against General Eisenhower is due to the fact that Eisenhower was once associated with him and no longer chooses to be. He offered Eisenhower the Presidency; to him it is galling that one so honored should have chosen to go his own way.

Despite the peril of communist infiltration, admitted by both the FBI and the CIA, he has refused aid to the committees of Congress investigating the subject, not because he is even remotely pro-communist but because the investigations did not originate with him. Out of loyalty to Dean Acheson, he preferred the Tydings committee whitewash to the McCarran committee probe.

He has stood by the corruptionists in his administration as long as he could, not because he is corrupt or because he likes corruption but because they are of his party and his clique within the party. If corruptionists are discovered, he must do it — not Congress, not the press, not organs of the people. He must do it because only he can ease them out of government without tarnishing his party.

Truman is not a candidate for office; yet, he has interjected himself into the campaign, making speeches of vilification, introducing false issues, damaging national unity — because he must lead the party, he must win the victory if it is to be won. He has even split his own party and imperiled Stevenson's chances of success, because his judgment on every question must prevail.

That is Trumanism and it has developed into a dangerous egoism. No man can be so vituperative, so vindictive, so hating, so self-centered without bringing the evil of his disunity to this nation. Surely his message to the Jewish Welfare Board, his charge that important Americans, including General Eisenhower, are anti-semitic and anti-Catholic, is the lowest point in American politics and it is to be expected that Adlai Stevenson, a gentleman bred, will repudiate such boorishness.

Reader Describes Pet Gorilla

One of the most interesting letters I ever have received came to me from Mr. Charles B. Greer, Jr., of Houston, Texas. Mr. Greer wrote:

"I have read your section for a long time, and note that you take special interest in wild animals of the world.

"I thought that you might tell our readers about Hugo, the pet gorilla. We captured him in French Equatorial Africa about a year ago. We have decided to give him to the Houston Zoo, and shall place him there as soon as we feel that he is large enough. He weighs only about 40 pounds, but has the strength of a full grown man. He is still a baby, however, and expects my wife (who weighs 98 pounds) to carry him around!

"We have raised Hugo in our home. He wears shirts, diapers and pants in the winter. He weighed only 10 pounds when we captured him in the Great Rain Forest of the Ogooue Swamp.

"Hugo was not friendly at the beginning, but my wife took care of him and he became attached to her. If anyone pretends to light her, he makes a grunting noise and charges. He would bite unless she stopped him.

"We threw Hugo's cage away in Africa and have raised him like a child. For a time he would take only milk and water; but about three months ago he started eating raisins, peaches and apples.

"The French and natives alike said we never would get Hugo to the United States alive. He became weak because of a shortage of vitamins, but was saved by the constant care of Mrs. Greer. She gave him vitamin tablets.

"A baby gorilla is worth $5,000 right off the plane from Africa. We value Hugo at more than $8,000, if he were for sale. Instead of selling him, we shall donate him to the children of the South."

It seems to me that Mr. and Mrs.

Grammer Convicted By Maryland Judge

BALTIMORE (AP)—George Edward Grammer, convicted of murdering his wife because he "loved another woman," waited in the shadows of the Maryland state gallows today while his lawyer pondered a move for a new trial.

The attorney, Anthony Federico, told newsmen yesterday he would "probably" appeal the first degree murder conviction, an action almost routine in Maryland.

Judge Herman Moser, who under the law must order Grammer sent to prison for life or to death by a hangman's noose, withheld sentence until Federico makes his move.

The ordeal of the eight-day trial was visibly etched in the lines of the expressionless face of the 35-year-old New Yorker yesterday when he heard the judge announce the verdict—"Murder in the first degree."

Sitting as sole juror, Judge Moser found that Grammer murdered his 33-year-old wife, mother of three little girls, because he was "in love with another woman."

Dorothy May Grammer's brutally bludgeoned body was found in her overturned car at the bottom of a Baltimore hill on the night of Aug. 19.

State's Atty. Anselm Sodaro charged that Grammer beat her to death with a length of metal pipe, then placed her body in the car and sent it careening down the hill so the death would look like an accident.

As Judge Moser pronounced the final words yesterday there came a low, stifled cry from the section where Grammer's family was sitting.

In finding the one-time church usher guilty of premeditated murder, Judge Moser accepted Sodaro's argument that Grammer devised the accident hoax.

Sodaro introduced evidence designed to prove that Grammer placed a pebble under the accelerator of the car he gave his

Payments Are Cut

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Jimmy Fidler's child support payments have been cut from $350 monthly to $250. But the Hollywood columnist must pay an extra $100 for each of the next three months to his ex-wife, Mrs. Bobbe Sutton, to catch up on his arrearage, Superior Court held yesterday.

timony that Miss Mizbrocky "would never have accepted a divorced man as a husband because of her religious beliefs."

Miss Mizbrocky testified that she lived for a week in Chicago with Grammer as "man and wife," but that she did not know he was married.

The judge said Grammer's love for the dark-haired girl was "the drive which turned a loving husband and a kind father and a man apparently at peace with himself and the world into a violator of all those God-given commandments he had heretofore apparently respected."

Federico had argued for a manslaughter conviction, basing his appeal on Grammer's admission that he killed his wife in a whisky-fired rage when she accused him of thinking more of his job than he did of her.

The admission, contained in a written statement to police, was denied by Grammer at the trial. He contended it was made only because he wanted to put an end to lengthy interrogation sessions and get some sleep and some decent food.

Grammer worked for a metals and mining firm and was an agent of the U. S. Counter Intelligence Corps during World War II.
