SAVING LIVES AND DOLLARS

During Fire Prevention week, which is to be observed from Oct. 4 to 10 this year, every effort will be made to instruct the public in the elimination of fire hazards. Newspapers and periodicals will publicize the week. Insurance organizations will give every effort to making the week a success. Fire prevention organizations will send speakers about the country. Fire marshals and fire departments will co-operate.

But all of this work, no matter how aggressive and well planned, will fail unless the public does its part to co-operate and save itself from fires.

Fire prevention, like accident prevention, is largely an individual matter. It is impossible to do away with the multiple hazards found in the average home unless the owner takes an interest, and it is impossible to eliminate industrial fire hazards unless factory managements help to the extent of inspecting their factories and enlisting the interest and aid of workmen.

During the week, every person in this country should give an hour or two to learning the simple lessons that, if remembered and followed, will prevent most fires. It will cost nothing—and it may pay tremendous dividends in life and property. Some of the worst fires start from hazards that could be corrected in five minutes.

Every town government should carefully inspect its public buildings, especially schools, during the week. Cases have been found where new and expensive school buildings presented a large number of grave hazards. Fire in a school is the most horrible of all—a long list of disasters that snuffed out thousands of young lives witnesses.

Remember the date—Oct. 4 to 10. It should be regarded as both a duty and a privilege to take advantage of the week and join in the war against fire.

HOBBIES

"Get a hobby," is the new slogan. Every time a neighbor sees someone a little in the dumps, discouraged over the last insurance payment or the next installment on the refrigerator, there is talk of a hobby. It is a sort of universal method of salvation advocated by those, who, feeling at peace with themselves and the world, for the moment, dislike to think anyone else may be depressed.

A hobby, it seems, will save you from melancholia, mumps, depression cuts, boredom, alcoholism and high taxation.

Some people collect stamps. They sit for hours poring over little pieces of paper bearing illegible labels, paste the squares in catalogues which are a maze of glue and oddly arranged round holes on neat pages, and then enter into a conversation that makes the "heathen Chinese" of colloquial legend seem highly educated. To anyone else it sounds like hog-latin.

There are people who collect bottles. They haunt old shops and strange cupboards, cellars and attics. They collect perfume and whiskey bottles. They have their friends lug home strange and curious bottles from every nook and corner of their vacation travels. Funny—to some people—but the bottle lover thinks it's a grand hobby. It keeps his mind off rheumatism and his wife's avoirdupois.

One woman collects the little match packets given out by stores dealing in cigarettes or cigars, and has a box full of gay colored packets from all parts of the United States, a few foreign ports, and many famous eating places. It is her way of traveling, and besides she likes the gay colors on the little folders. When life is drab she opens the box of flaunting colors and allows her mind to wander over the places either she has been or her friends have.

Fred Johnson, Menominee, Mich., has one of the finest hobbies ever known. His is the saving of life. In the last 35 years he has rescued 22 people from drowning. He himself can't swim. Only recently he pulled from the waters of Green Bay two Wisconsin men whose skiff had capsized. His evenings have been spent peering out over the shores of the bay for distressed boatmen. He constructed his own life saving boat and equipped an efficient lifesaving station.

Our Exchanges

Items of interest culled from newspapers on The Times' exchange list.

Prof. C. J. Magee's F. F. A. teams won first places at the Quail and Amarillo fairs. The poultry team composed of Wilson Shaw, Howard Burr and Perry Masterson, made a total score of 931 at the Quail fair; and the dairy team composed of Maurice Wilkins, James Lee Rice and Wilbur Wilson, won first at Amarillo with a score of 653.—McLean News.

Delmor Ashworth has resigned his position in the Pampa schools and has accepted a position in Fort Smith, Ark., schools. He will teach English and journalism in the Fort Smith high school and junior college. Ashworth is a graduate of W. T. and from the School of Journalism of the University of Missouri. He has taught at Lockney and Pampa since graduation. While in college here he was editor of the Prairie for two years.—Canyon News.

We in America want neither Communism nor Fascism. We have learned how to operate a democracy and we will sustain it.—Paducah Post.

Pete Traxler this week returned to the Canadian hospital, where he landed following his capture by peace officers north of the Canadian river bridge, May 10, this year. This time, Pete went of his own accord to undergo an operation on his crippled left arm, which together with his left leg was riddled by bullets when stopped here by a posse of officers.—Canadian Record.

Well, I missed my guess when I said Wellington would score three touchdowns on Wheeler. I did not see the game, but from what spectators tell me I know that I did not underestimate the offensive strength of the Wellington squad one point. I am not crying over spilt milk for football is football and penalties are penalties, but I will rise up and say that under different conditions Wellington can score three touchdowns on Wheeler any time they play.—Deskins Wells in Wellington Leader.

So, Brother Wells takes a position where he could drop a nice piece of coin if rules and the law would permit another contest and wagering. The only "conditions" that could make his prediction come true would be the addition of some players to his school's aggregation and the elimination of several stalwart Wheeler Mustangs. He shouldn't attach too much importance to the musings of a certain "Wheeler county rooster," whose first and only real allegiance is to the Irishmen of the south edge hamlet.

And where on earth does Howard Mulder, writing up the Wellington-Wheeler game in the Leader, find grounds for his opening statement: "Playing on a sloppy field, none too level, the Wellington Skyrockets went down—fighting to the very finish."

The Wheeler football field, well sodded, was NOT sloppy, that night. The only sloppiness observed by this writer was the state of a few fellows—not members of the Skyrocket squad—but said to be from Wellington, who couldn't carry their excess liquor.

Since football teams exchange ends, if the local field were "not too level" it would be as fair for one as the other. We submit it is as level as the average. What Mulder should have said was a "rough" field—very rough when Coach Bob Clark's Mustangs charged into the demoralized ranks of the foe.

Mulder couldn't take it, we'd say. But the Skyrockets are a nice bunch of gridsters.

Foxworth-Galbraith Lumber company have moved the lumber yard which was located at Kellerville to the yard here in Lefors. Moving was about all completed last week, with the exception of the office building which was being set on its new location in the yard, Monday.—Lefors News.

Zerrell Thomas was in Tuesday morning from his place in the extreme northwest corner of the county. He said it started raining Monday morning and hadn't stopped when he left Tuesday morning. His five year old son was with him, and Zerrell swears it's the first real rain the child had seen.—Hereford Brand.

My personal nomination as the most likely contender for the (district) championship goes to the hard-charging Wheeler outfit. And I believe—my opinion carries lots of weight, inasmuch as it will be recalled that I picked Charlie Haas of the Corpus Christi Buccaneers to swamp the Amarillo Sandies in that memorable state high school championship football game of 1934.—Fred Williams in Clarendon News.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe B. Williams of Miami, received a message last Friday that their son, Dennis Williams, who is employed in the oil fields at Hobbs, N. Mex., stating that he had been painfully burned about the face and one hand. The message stated that his condition was good and they were doing all that was possible to relieve his suffering. The burns were thought not to be serious.—Miami Chief.

HERE'S PROOF THAT WE GIVE YOU MORE FOR YOUR TIRE DOLLARS

1. LIFE-SAVER GOLDEN PLY BLOW-OUT PROTECTION

This Life-Saver Golden Ply was developed by Goodrich engineers to protect you from high speed blow-outs. And the only tires that will give you this life-saving blow-out protection are Goodrich Safety Silvertowns.

2. A "ROAD-DRYING" TREAD

Another Goodrich "special" is the Silvertown tread which works like your windshield wiper. Big center ribs sweep away water at the first sign of a skid giving the husky outer row of cleats a drier surface to grip.

3. MONTHS OF EXTRA MILEAGE

All of the rubber that goes into Silvertown treads is super-tough, extra-thick, with a deep, long-wearing design to give you months of extra mileage. Let us put a set of Goodrich Safety Silvertowns on your car. That's the way to get more miles for your tire dollars.

3 BIG TIRE EXTRAS at no extra cost!

It's a fact. You won't have to pay us one penny extra to put a set of Goodrich Silvertowns on your car. Because Silvertowns cost no more than other standard tires, in spite of all the extra safety and mileage they'll deliver.

At today's high speeds you need tires built with the Life-Saver Golden Ply to give you real blow-out protection. This amazing invention is a layer of special rubber and full-floating cords, scientifically treated to resist the terrific heat which is generated inside the tire by today's high speeds. By resisting this heat the Golden Ply keeps rubber and fabric from separating. It keeps heat blisters from forming. And when you prevent the blister you prevent the high-speed blow-out! Play safe. See us about a set of these Golden Ply Silvertowns today.

AT PARTY SATURDAY NIGHT

Vada and Margie Vaughn of this community entertained with a party in their home Saturday night. Many new and entertaining games were directed in the house. Owing to the extreme cold, few games were played out of doors.

A large crowd attended and all left at a late hour, reporting a "swell time."

SPORTS

By GENE EVANS

The junior high school girls basketball team defeated the elementary girls team, 20 to 16, Friday, at noon in the gym. We invite you to the gym Friday night, Oct. 2, to see a series of games between teams within the Briscoe school. There are no admission charges.

Tuesday the junior high boys were defeated by the senior high boys, 39 to 11. Ray Sanford was high scorer for the junior high boys with a personal score of 9.

The senior girls have been practicing volleyball this week at noon in preparation for a matched game with Allison, Friday afternoon, Oct. 9.

Club Notes

Happenings of Interest by and for Home Demonstration Club Women of the County.

That home demonstration club women will strive "To Make the Best Better" in spite of dry winds and hot sun is shown in the spirit displayed by Mrs. Zura Bullock, yard demonstrator for the Davis Home Demonstration club. Mrs. Bullock lives in a home where water has to be hauled and the result is very little left to keep plants alive. During a year like this, even if native material is used, it cannot grow very well the first year without a little moisture from some place.

In her story Mrs. Bullock says she set out 7 paradise trees, 2 moss locust, 3 trumpet vines, 17 salt cedars, 4 sage brush, 4 beargrass, 2 skunk bushes, 2 wild plums and planted three flower beds, and partly re-sodded the front lawn with native grass. The grass lived but did not begin to grow until after the late rains. Mrs. Bullock stated that she now has living 1 paradise tree, 1 beargrass and a few flowers and vines, however, the grass is beginning to spread. Yet Mrs. Bullock is not too discouraged to continue her demonstration. She plans to begin earlier next year and hopes that the weather man will be a little more favorable.

Mrs. Bullock stacked the farming tools and other material behind the henhouse and outlined a walk with brick. She also built a brick protection to keep the cars off the grass. Her total expense besides work was 15 cents for flower seed.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray McPherson are driving a new Chevrolet town sedan, purchased the last of the week.

The Mobeetie Outlook

New Coach Leading Athletics Program

Clinton Meek, W. T. S. T. Graduate, Mentor for the Hornets and History Teacher

A new coach, Clinton Meek, is leading the Hornets this year. He comes to Mobeetie high school from West Texas State Teachers college, Canyon, where he took his B. S. degree at mid-term of 1935-'36. He has since been working towards a master's degree.

Coach Meek entered college at Canyon as a junior at mid-term of 1933-'34 and played tackle for the

CLINTON MEEK

Buffaloes the two years he was there. Football, however, was not the only sport in which Meek excelled. He went in for boxing and was conference champion in 1935.

History was the academic subject in which he specialized, and he is working as head of the history department here.

Meek is by no means a stranger in this vicinity. He graduated from Wheeler high school in 1931. From there he went to Amarillo Junior college for two and a half years. While there he played on the first state championship team, coached by Frank Kimbrough.

The Hornets, under Meek's coaching, have come up to all expectations. The squad is made up of practically all new material, but they are hard workers and a steady improvement is evident. By next year they should be able to show definite progress and make a highly creditable showing in football circles.

A number of Clinton Meek's former team mates at Canyon have positions in nearby schools. John Rankin and D. V. Biggers are at Lefors; Stina Cain at Wheeler; Jimmie Holston at Samnorwood; John Walker at Shamrock, and Bill Allen at McLean.

HORNETS FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

The Hornets have a tough conference schedule ahead of them. On Oct. 9 they tangle with the Wheeler Mustangs.

- Oct. 16—Shamrock.
- Oct. 23—Clarendon.
- Oct. 30—Lefors.
- Nov. 6—Lakeview.
- Nov. 13—Open.
- Nov. 20—Open.

They will probably play the Gorillas Friday.

Due to lack of facilities on the Hornet's gridiron these games will be played away from home.

Faculty Consists of Many New Members

Vacancies Filled With Specialists in Respective Lines—All Hold Degrees

The current year sees several new faces in the lineup of teachers. All vacancies have been filled with men and women who have specialized in some line. Degrees have been demanded of all new teachers, thus making the present faculty one of the strongest in the school's history.

Garland Martin, a specialist with a degree in school administration, has been employed as ward school principal to succeed Noah Cunningham, who resigned to teach and coach in the Quail school. Martin comes to us from the Crowell schools where he had been an instructor in the science department. Under Martin's skillful leadership the ward school reorganized and is functioning smoothly and effectively.

Mrs. J. A. Neece has been employed as English teacher in the ward school. Mrs. Neece, a specialist in English and speech arts, is a graduate of Abilene Christian college. She is putting over an effective English program in the grade school.

Miss Esther Morrison of Miami, a graduate of Texas Tech, is doing a splendid job filling the first grade vacancy created when Miss Lillian Davis resigned to go to White Deer.

Clinton Meek, history teacher and coach, is new on the high school faculty. Meek has specialized in history, having taken every course the college offers and lacking only a few hours qualifying for his master's. He was an outstanding athlete at W. T., also.

Miss Edith Wilson comes to us from the Kirkland school to take charge of the vocational home economics department. Miss Wilson, graduate of T. S. C. W. (C. I. A.) at Denton and an experienced teacher, promises to put over an effective home-making program.

Vocational home economics is new to Mobeetie.

Wheeler Instructor to Pampa

The Outlook staff regrets that Miss Bernie Addison will no longer sponsor The Wheeler Corral. However, we hope her new position in the Pampa schools will bring her success and happiness.

THOSE WHO SUPPORT THE OUTLOOK

The Wheeler Times management, as publisher of The Outlook, takes this opportunity to name those Mobeetie firms and individuals through whose support publication of their school and community paper is made possible. Advertisements of each and every one may not appear in every issue of The Outlook, but their support in the form of a definite amount of space, pro rated, is in effect. It is suggested that all persons interested in progress of the Mobeetie schools, and of the community generally, give these firms and citizens due consideration for their public-spirited attitude. At present they are:

- Nathan M. Hunt
Mobeetie Gas Co.
- Hathaway's Dept. Store
City Drug Store
- Farmers Equity Service
- Brannon's I. G. A. Store
- Panhandle Lumber Co.
- Leonard Green
- Gray Co. Cream Station
- Puckett's Groc. & Mkt.

Several others, not yet solicited, are expected to take part in promoting The Outlook.

Faculty Reception and Tea Last Week

The Mobeetie faculty members were entertained with a tea at the home of Mrs. Oliver Elliott last week.

Mrs. Elliot, Mrs. H. L. Flanagan and Mrs. Ed Johnston were hostesses, with officers of the club in the receiving line.

The evening was a very entertaining affair with Mrs. Hugh Cypher from Borger giving a very interesting but informal talk. Mrs. Cypher is a native of Australia, and with her display of collections gave many unusual and unexpected answers to questions asked by the group.

After the talk; tea was served, with Mrs. Levine Hathaway and Mrs. Sam Oates pouring.

The guests were: Mrs. Hugh Cypher and Mrs. L. M. Draper, Borger; Mrs. Frank Walker, Miami; Mrs. Glenn Walker, Wheeler; Leonard Green, Mobeetie, and the faculty members.

TOTAL OF TWENTY-FOUR AND A HALF AFFILIATED CREDITS FOR MOBEETIE

Each year the students and teachers have been working hard to affiliate new subjects and to retain subjects on which affiliation has been already gained. With the beginning of the 1935-'36 school term, there was a total of 19½ credits. Five more credits were added to the list by the end of the year, 1936. So, with the beginning of the 1936-'37 school term, there is a total of 24½ credits.

The affiliated credits gained last year are: English IV, home economics II and art, and half credits were granted on civics, Texas history,

Vocational Home Ec. New Course Offered

This Year Is First Time Mobeetie High Has Included Home-Making Course

For the first time, this year, the Mobeetie high school will offer a vocational home economics course. An extensive program of 10 months duration will be directed by Miss Edith Wilson, home economics instructor.

Home economics has been offered in the Mobeetie school for two years and by diligent work and special efforts the vocational home economics subsidy has been obtained for this term.

Miss Wilson, who comes to Mobeetie from Kirkland, is a graduate of C. I. A., Denton. She is filling the vacancy made by the resignation of Mrs. Winnie Hinson, who left here for a position at Texico, N. Mex.

The school board and faculty takes great pleasure in being able to offer this new course and believe that it will meet with approval of students and patrons.

ANOTHER NEW SUBJECT THIS YEAR IS PUBLIC SPEAKING

One of our new subjects this year is public speaking, which for the past two years has not been taught but was revived this year by Mr. Hawkins, who assisted the junior and senior sponsors with their plays last year.

The class thus far has been studying ease on the stage. The deep refrain of "Roll On!" can be heard as one passes the science hall.

The class is planning to take up dramatics the last half of the year.

Teachers to Other Schools

Several members of last year's Mobeetie faculty are working in other schools this year.

Noah Cunningham, principal of the grade school here, has gone to Quail; Miss Ethel Brasuel, second grade, to White Deer; Miss Lillian Davis, first grade, to Skellytown, and Mrs. Winnie Hinson, home economics, to Texico, N. Mex.

The student body and faculty members join in wishing them success in their new locations.

typing and commercial arithmetic. Civics and typing are now full credit courses.

This wide and varied curriculum is, indeed, an advantage to all boys and girls attending school. It offers them a wider field from which to choose their studies. We hope to affiliate the subjects that have not already been affiliated this year.

So let us work and strive together to make this the best and most successful school term in the history of the Mobeetie schools.

LOOK FORWARD TO LOOKING BACK

When you are a senior and look back over what you have gained during your four years in high school, will it be something worth while?

You have the opportunity of making good; are you making the most of the opportunity, or are you letting it slip by? You have an opportunity for making friends, and preparing yourself for a higher education. On these two things depend much in later life. What you do in high school is really what shapes your character.

If you are going out for athletics, play hard but fair. Remember there is more than one game in life, and the most important one is being played day by day. A good clean athlete, one who is never boisterous, is admired by everyone.

Set your goal, and when you deserve success, you'll get it. Remember that

"Today well lived
 Makes every yesterday
 A dream of happiness;
 And every tomorrow a
 Vision of hope."

The juniors organized their class last week and they believe it is one of the best organizations the Mobeetie juniors have ever had.

They proved to be partial to the boys and must think they are excellent managers, as they have chosen. President, Wilbur Sims; vice president, F. P. Heare; secretary-treasurer, Ishmael Sims; class reporter, Charles Mixon. Sponsors, Mr. Hawkins and Mrs. James.

School "Daze" Again . . .

"Gee! Summer vacation isn't half long enough." "I have had the most fun this summer, but now all the joy of living is gone since school has started again." "Oh, I'm so glad school has started again; it seems so long since we were dismissed for vacation."

These are some of the various statements made by the students when the old gong sounded bright and early on Sept. 7 for the opening school exercises of the year.

Cheer up folks, school isn't half bad. It's a "lotta" work and a "lotta" play, but it's a grand place to be after all.

Grade School News

On Friday of last week, Sept. 25, the 7th grade met and organized. Officers elected are as follows: President, Maurita Dunn; vice president, Ramon Puckett; secretary, Dona Atkins; class reporter, Wilma Lester; room mothers, Mrs. John Dunn and Mrs. John Love; sponsors, Mrs. J. M. Knowles, J. A. Neece and J. G. Martin.

The class selected lavender and gold as their colors. Their motto is: "Watch Us Climb."

The class is anticipating a very enjoyable school year. Their present enrollment is 34-17 boys and 17 girls.

Mobeetie grade school has the largest enrollment in its history. Present enrollment is 256. The enrollment was increased over last year by the addition of Hay Hollow, Mt. Zion, Mountain View and part of Dixon.

There are seven teachers on the grade school faculty.

Mr. Martin, the new principal, comes to us highly recommended from Crowell. He has his B. S. degree from W. T. S. T. C., and has done two years additional work in the field of dentistry in Baylor university. He has had seven years experience in the teaching profession, and under his able guidance the grade school is enthusiastically looking forward to one of the most profitable and eventful years the school has ever known.

Miss Esther Morrison of Miami is another one of the new teachers. She has charge of the first grade with 32 pupils under her supervision. She has her degree from Texas Tech, Lubbock.

Miss Lela Mae Cook is teaching the second grade of 36 pupils. Miss Cook attended Texas Tech during the first summer session and was doing work toward her M. A. degree.

Mrs. Leonard Green, third grade teacher, also attended Texas Tech the first six weeks this summer. There are 33 pupils enrolled in the third grade.

Mrs. J. A. Neece is one of the new teachers, with a B. A. degree from Abilene Christian college. She teaches English and reading in the 4th, 5th, 6th and 7th.

Mrs. J. M. Knowles teaches geography and spelling in the 4th, 5th, 6th and 7th, and art in the 4th and 5th. She spent the summer attending Texas Tech.

J. A. Neece teaches history in the 5th, 6th and 7th, and health in the 4th, 5th and 6th. He has his B. A. degree from A. C. C.

Mr. Martin is the mathematics teacher of the 4th, 5th, 6th and 7th, and health in the 7th. Also has charge of athletics in the grade school.

The 4th, 5th, 6th and 7th grades have a total enrollment of 155 pupils.

Regular school assembly will be held each Thursday from 1 to 1:30. At the last assembly the student body was favored with a musical number. A quartet consisting of Wanda Creekmore, Maurine Hunt,

Mary Kathryn Miller and Violet Van-kirk sang "Red Sails in the Sunset."

Plans are being made to have a special number on the program at each assembly.

The pupils are learning to march to and from assembly and are enjoying the new orderly system of entering and leaving the auditorium. Miss Maurine Hunt, one of Mrs. O. W. Elliott's piano students, plays the march for assembly.

Separate recreational periods for grade school boys and girls have been set aside. These meetings will be held once every two weeks. The object is to develop character, leadership and individuality, which are very essential qualities in the life of a well-rounded, useful citizen.

In 1932 Texas ranked 36th in education, among the states.

SENIOR SKITS

The senior class met Tuesday, Sept. 22, to organize. Bill Bartram was elected as president; A. B. Crump, vice president; Edd Dart, secretary-treasurer, and Blanche Brannon, news reporter.
 Zelma Elliott, Pauline Oswalt and R. L. Dunn were appointed to choose the senior motto and act as entertainment committee. Miss Simpson and Mr. Meek were chosen as sponsors. They do not know, yet, what they have gotten into by being chosen sponsors for that senior class.
 The seniors plan to make this last year a good one, with as much entertainment as will be allowed. However, all of the seniors are working hard.
 Two of the senior girls, Zelma Elliott and Pauline Oswalt, visited the fair at Amarillo during the past week.
 We are glad to have two post-graduates, Ola Mae Baird and Ina Faye Robison, in the senior class this year.

and Reuben came to her with his eyes shining. She felt herself swept toward him, and away from grief.
 "Reuben!"
 "Cynthia!"
 Then she gave him her hand, bringing the moment back from this exalted reach to the more familiar plane where human beings meet in speech.
 "You know?" she said.
 "Yes, Cynthia. I am sorry."
 "How did you learn?"
 "It was in the paper at home day before yesterday. I started as soon as I heard."
 "I am glad you came, Reuben."
 "I wish I could have come sooner."
 Lucy had come in haste to the kitchen and then to the door. "Cynthia, I smell supper. . . . Oh!"
 The beautiful moment of their meeting was ended.
 The coming of Reuben seemed to break into the fixed mood of solemnity that had settled over the house since Sparrel's death. Sometimes at the supper, without forgetting the dead, they almost recaptured the excitement of the spring before. And after they had talked over in hushed words all the story of the past weeks, it did not seem inappropriate to think of themselves and to mention other places.
 The sun continued through the following day, the warmth flowing down the hollows.
 "It begins to have a touch of spring," Reuben said.
 "You said you would come back in the spring."
 "Yes. Let's walk a little way."
 "Up to the rock by the sycamore," she suggested.
 They went by the desolate garden which had been full of Julia's flowers last July, and came to the stone where they had first sat together. The sun lay warm on the stone. The brown pods on the sycamore tree jangled in the wind at the end of yellowing limbs barren of leaves.
 "It seems like she ought to be there in the garden," Reuben said.
 "You thought that, too?" Cynthia cried.
 "Yes. I have thought of this place often," he said.
 "I have not been here since," she said, "but I have thought myself here. Do you believe some places—like this—get to be a part of—of what two people are to each other?"
 "Yes, Cynthia. This place will always be you and me."
 She looked full at him seriously for an instant, knowing by his voice and his eyes that they were speaking the same language in the same world. She had never before, even in her dreams of Lady Arabella and the pear tree, been more radiant, as though this moment were the appointed one for the unfolding of the essential woman out of sorrow into happiness. They were leaning against the stone, silent. He slipped his arm around her waist. She did not withhold herself, and she was half startled at the thought of her forwardness. He held her left hand in his, and with her right hand she brushed at the moss on the stone. She felt herself being reborn, almost trembling and in awe before the smile of God which changed the world so soon since yesterday.
 "It's wonderful to see you again," Reuben said. "I've stood on a ridge waiting for the ax-men to clear a line through the brush and heard the doves make that lonesome sound and I thought about you up here on Wolfpen. I have wanted you."
 She surrendered to her joy without speaking, watching the sun on the top of Cranesnest, listening to his voice and making her own unspoken words.
 "You've had a lot of trouble," he said. "I've thought . . . many things can happen all of a sudden."

 "Yes," she said finally, "things you don't ever dream could happen."
 "I think you've about had your share now, Cynthia."
 She had never talked to anyone of her grief. Now she was overcome by the moment, by her feelings and his sympathy, and she unloosed to him all that had been tight in her heart so long: the sickness and quick death of Julia, Sparrel's wordless unhappiness and growing concern over Dry Creek, Doug Mason, Jesse's going away, giving up the Intsitude to look after things, the break-up of the place, and Jasper's approaching marriage. As she talked, she drew nearer to him and it was wonderful to her to feel the miracle of the burden lifting and the heart being purged of its heaviness. Reuben put his hands on her cheek, pulling her face gently to confront his own. There were tears in her eyes. His arm tightened around her. It did not seem forward to her now to be in his arms in this hollow. The growth of their affection had been constant in the months of separation and needed only this brief intimacy to reveal itself full blown.
 "Cynthia," he said.
 She looked at him.
 "I've been thinking and making a lot of plans since I left here."
 He hesitated an instant, looking into her eyes. Then he continued:
 "There's two or three years of work down in Boyd and the neighboring counties just surveying the land the iron works companies are buying up. They're putting up another blast furnace and a nail mill. I do nearly all the field work now. And Catlettsburg is a pretty place. After you pass the center of town and the stores you come to a wide street with sidewalks and trees and nice houses in big yards. Then the hill begins, not a high hill, just a river hill. And about half-way up there is a little house in a cherry and apple orchard with a garden behind it. It's painted white and has a wide porch and there are three sets of steps up from the street. You look right out over the town and the treetops to the Ohio river and where the Big Sandy comes around West Virginia, and across to the farms in Ohio all the way back to the hills. You can see the big boats on the river, and the little ones on the Big Sandy and the rafts that come floating down both rivers. There's a new steam ferry to South Point and a new wharf. You can see the trains going up to Richardson and down to Ashland and Cincinnati. It's not like here on Wolfpen, but it is a nice place."
 "It sounds like a right nice place. Does somebody live in it?"
 "Right now some people live in it, but next month they're going to move to a place over in Coalgrove in Ohio where he's going to work, and then it will be empty."
 She was trying to picture this place and all the bustling life it looked out upon, laying it in her mind's eye beside the quiet and seclusion of Wolfpen where she had spent her life.
 "Cynthia."
 She blotted out everything else and looked up into his eyes.
 "I love you more than anything. Will you do me the honor to be my wife and come down there and live with me?"

And yet the grief did mysteriously lose its sharpness under the compulsion of daily living and working, the finality of the past event, and the gradual reassertion of young life. Jesse stayed on restlessly at the house for a few days and then went back to his law. Jenny stayed on for two nights, crying, and then went back to Horsepen Branch. Abrial went again to Dry Creek where the first March rains were flooding the dam for driving the logs. Jasper rode over to town with Jesse, and when he returned he mentioned that he was marrying Jane in a few weeks now. Lucy stayed on through the week, but Cynthia could not determine whether it was better or worse to have her in the house talking.
 She would hide herself away from Lucy and go over it all in her mind: the joy of the spring before Shellenberger came, the foreboding when Sparrel sold the land, the wonder of Reuben Warren on that afternoon with a compass on his arm, the slow and sinister way the outside world had pushed into Dry Creek and then reached out for Doug Mason, for her mother Julia, for the father Sparrel, for the old way of life Wolfpen had known so long. She thought of the brutal irrevocability of the blunt stone on her father's skull in the hands of wicked men. And nothing to do about it except wait for Sheriff Hatler to find the murderer and kill him under the law while her father met the dissolution on Cranesnest. Now they were both gone and Jasper would bring Jane Burden to this place in Julia's stead. In Cynthia's stead. Surely it was all done now. She wondered whether Reuben were still out in the hills and where, and if he knew.

 And while she was yet wondering he came. It was late afternoon on a warm day in March a week after the burial of Sparrel. There was a moist wind in the hollow with the breath of spring in it, and the sun almost ready to move the colorless days out of the hills, foreseeing April on its slow way up from the south.
 Cynthia was bending over a skillet with an iron spoon in her hand when she heard the gate click. She laid the spoon on the back of the stove before she went to the door to see who it could be. She stood transformed in the doorway looking at him, not daring to believe it was Reuben, thinking he must be far away at the other end of the river. She was wordless before him in her joy. For one brief instant she looked down reflectively at her dress to make sure she was not reliving those humiliating moments of the late spring, hot, burned, weeping, spattered with cornmeal. But she was cool and unhurried, and the tan dress was clean and fresh. Reuben saw at once that under the responsibility and sorrow of the months she had grown in character and loveliness. She was a woman and not a child, but it was the woman the girl of the summer had portended.
 They looked at each other in complete silence and without movement. Then Cynthia stepped through her transfiguration down to the porch, and Reuben came to her with his eyes shining. She felt herself swept toward him, and away from grief.

 "Reuben!"
 "Cynthia!"
 Then she gave him her hand, bringing the moment back from this exalted reach to the more familiar plane where human beings meet in speech.
 "You know?" she said.
 "Yes, Cynthia. I am sorry."

Board Leases New Football Field

Ten Acre Tract South of School to Be Improved and Fitted With Floodlights

The school board has leased 10 acres of ground just south of the school buildings on which it is planned to build a modern field. The tract is 710 yards long by 613 yards wide and is leased for a period of five years. At present it is sown to wheat.

Next year the field will be planted to grass and efforts made to light it for night games.

With this modern convenience, the Hornets will surely win many games of football.

VACATIONS

Education of Mobeetie high school students was continued throughout the summer, by various ones who took vacations at interesting places.

Warren Thompson's trip was very interesting, I'm sure, as he went with the Canyon teachers college educational tour to the national parks. Going up and coming back, they saw many educational as well as enjoyable scenes.

Tyson Shelton saw the Arkansas Centennial, as he spent the summer there. We were beginning to think he wasn't coming back, because he was attracted by a barefoot girl who watches for him on her cabin doorstep.

Charlene Bailey's trip to A. & M. college, College Station, was beneficial to her as well as a pleasure trip. I'm sure she enjoyed her swim in the ocean.

W. T. Johnson's remarks about the Centennial sounded interesting to me, and when he went up, on the dome of the capital of Texas at Austin, I hope he didn't look down, get dizzy and drop his pencil when he started to write his name on the dome.

Eileen and Aileen Lancaster were seen looking up at the tall buildings in Fort Worth. Hope they didn't get a "crick" in their necks.

J. T. Cupples and Ishmael Sims went to C. M. T. C. for five weeks at Fort Sill, Okla.

But golden autumn has come, and we're all back in school, ready for another year of study.

The New Bell A Saving

R-r-r-ring, r-r-r-ring! Hear it! What? The new bell of course! Last year an office girl had to ring the bell at the end and beginning of each period. This year a new electric bell was installed.

It is certainly a saving device to all those concerned, especially to those poor office girls.

VARIOUS TEACHERS IN SUMMER SCHOOL

Quite a few Mobeetie teachers were college-minded the past summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Knowles, Miss Cook, Mr. Hawkins and Mrs. Green were in school at Texas Tech, Lubbock. Mr. Meek was at Canyon.

Mr. Knowles took two courses in higher mathematics, also some work toward his master's degree. Mrs. Knowles and Mrs. Green were working toward completion of degree requirements, while Miss Cook, Mr. Hawkins and Mr. Meek were doing work toward a master's degree.

A number of the other teachers spent profitable vacations. Mr. and Mrs. Blankinship, Miss Simpson, Miss Wilson and Mr. Martin attended the Texas Centennial celebration in Dallas; also visited at different places in New Mexico and Southern Texas.

What the Graduates of 1936 Are Doing

As the school year of 1936-'37 begins, there is a different sound vibrating through the halls of Mobeetie high. The seniors of '36 are not present. Yes, they are gone but not forgotten. Familiar faces of the 14 graduates of 1936 cannot be found roaming the halls of Mobeetie high this year. The classes wonder what each of them is doing. A reporter has learned these facts about them.

Cleavel Laman, John Sims and Weldon Turner are attending school at W. T. S. T. C., at Canyon, this year. Elizabeth Green is attending school at Texas Tech, Lubbock.

Ina Fay Robison and Ola Mae Baird are taking post-graduate courses at Mobeetie.

Orval Key is working at the Panhandle Lumber Co. Jarvis Ridgway is working. Arlie Lee has a job at the City Drug, Wheeler.

Betty Elder has moved to Amarillo. J. B. Carmichael is at his home in Sayre, Okla.

Bulah Brewer, O. C. Walker and Jessie Vernon are at home.

New Janitor Proves Industrious Worker

Mobeetie high school boasts a new janitor this year. His name is Joe McCain, and he has really been on the job. One may see him dusting off the lockers, emptying waste baskets or sweeping the halls and rooms most any time.

Yes, he mails letters for the pupils, too.

The student body appreciates McCain's work and will co-operate with him in his industrious efforts to keep the buildings and school yard clean.

The juniors have already begun to show a school spirit. They have announced a meeting for Monday to discuss plans for the junior play.

Typewriters Bought to Supply Students

With the increasing demand for typing additional typewriters have had to be purchased. At present there are 28 students taking typing in three sections. This year two additional machines have been bought, making a total of 10 typewriters in the department.

Typing has been offered in Mobeetie schools for three years previous to the present term, and it is hoped that the course will continue its popularity each year and that all new machines may be purchased for another term.

The New Bus

We students of Mount Zion, Lone Star and Dixon are quite proud of our new bus. I suppose you've all seen it, but it's a big V-8 chassis with an orange and silver Wayne body. It is furnished with black leather seats on each side; one down the middle, and one long seat across the back end.

Our driver is John Allen Neece. He and his wife go back and forth to school in the bus.

In 1933-34 Texas spent about $58,570,244 on education.

WHEELER, TEXAS

Instructor Leaves Farewell Message

Miss Addison Gives Parting Words of Appreciation and Thanks to Friends

To the students, faculty and patrons of the Wheeler school:

Perhaps I can say here a few of the words that my heart has been too full to speak to you personally.

The years of work with you have been filled with pleasures, and it is with a feeling of sadness that I see them suddenly end. Of course, the thought of moving on to larger fields gladdens me. Still, as the realization comes that my months of happy association with you are past, tears mist my eyes, and a lump that will not go away rises in my throat. You know I have called Wheeler "home" longer than any other place in which I have lived.

I wish to express to you my appreciation of your co-operation and assistance throughout the years. Without it our progress would have been impossible. I am proud to have been a part of a school system that has advanced with such amazing strides as the one here has done. You will, I know, continue to strive for a still larger increase in enrollment and achievements.

To Mr. Gilmore and his corps of teachers: Thank you for your encouragement and help in our labors together.

To Mr. Miller and those associated with him in the print shop: My deepest gratitude for your untiring services in printing The Corral and your continued interest in the school paper.

To my English classes: May you grow into a deeper knowledge of yourself and of the things worth knowing in life.

To The Corral staff, for whom I have an especially tender feeling: My prediction for a bigger and better paper than ever before. I envy Mr. Mayne the splendid group he is getting, and I shall watch with interest the progress that they are sure to make under his capable direction.

And to all of you: Best wishes for your future success and happiness in every undertaking.

Yours sincerely,

BERNIE ADDISON.

SUCCESSOR NAMED TO MISS ADDISON

Mr. Mayne, Present Teacher, Replaces Former Journalism and English Teacher and Sponsor

With the loss of Miss Addison, the journalism department has received a new instructor. Mr. Robert Mayne, present teacher in the high school faculty, replaces the former instructor.

Mayne also teaches courses in public speaking, English and history. This is his second year in connection with the Wheeler schools.

Although a major in social sciences, Mayne has a minor in journalism from Southern Methodist university, Dallas. He also has a minor in English from other leading colleges.

"The Corral has distinguished itself in the past," Mayne stated, "and I hope that it will continue to hold to the same high principles of journalism as established by Miss Addison, the former sponsor of The Corral."

He started his career in the field of writing, being editor of the Fort Worth High School Student, a magazine published by 9,000 students of the Fort Worth schools.

In rapid succession, he held editorships on school papers in Weatherford, Texas; Brownwood, Texas; Dallas, Texas, and Salem, Oregon.

While in S. M. U., Mayne was editorial editor of the Semi-Weekly Campus. Also, he worked on the Dallas Dispatch and the Dallas Morning News.

He has also served as press agent for the Lone Star Broadcasting Chain, Williamette University and Camp Junalaska.

BOOKS ORDERED FOR HIGH SCHOOL LIBRARY

Forty dollars worth of books have been ordered for the high school library. They were ordered from the Follet Book company, Chicago, Ill. About one-fifth of the books are biographies and the rest are fiction.

The names of the books ordered are: Alice of Old Vincennes, Beau Geste, Call of Cayon, Call of the Wild, Cappy Ricks, The Carolinian, Cimarron, Covered Wagon, Daddy Long Legs, Dear Enemy, Fifty-four Forty or Fight, Freckles, Gentle Julia, Girl of the Limberlost, Janice Meredith, Hoosier Schoolmaster, Laddie, Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come, North of 36, Plains of Abraham, Ramona, Winning of Barbara Worth, When Knighthood Was In Flower, White Fang, The Virginian, To Have and to Hold, Scaramouche, Ruggles of Red Gap, David Copperfield, Jane Eyre, Pride and Prejudice, The Light That Failed, Florence Nightingale, Louis Pasteur, Adrift on Ice Pan, Eminent Victorians, Count Luckner, Marie, Life of Franklin D. Roosevelt, Bridge of San Luis Rey, Seventeen, and Thunder Mountain.

Popular Instructor Concludes Seven Years Efficient Service

Miss Bernie Addison, Journalism and English Teacher, Resigns to Accept Pampa Place

Miss Bernie Addison, former teacher in the Wheeler schools for seven years, has resigned and will begin classes in Pampa on Wednesday. Miss Addison is taking the place of Delmer Ashworth who accepted a position in the Fort Smith, Ark., public schools.

Miss Addison will teach two classes of journalism and sophomore English. Here she taught junior and senior English and journalism.

She was a student in this school plant during 1918 and 1919 in her high school years, when her father was pastor of the Methodist church.

Filling the position as sponsor of The Corral, the paper under her leadership has achieved many noteworthy awards. Year before last The Corral was awarded first place in the Panhandle High School Press association and last year was given second place. Two years ago the paper won third in the Texas High School Press association, and first place last year. Of inter-national achievement, The Corral took first award in the contest sponsored by the International Honorary Society for High School Journalists.

She also sponsored the Quill and Scroll society and accompanied the Interscholastic League journalism delegates to Austin. Miss Addison attended college at T. W. C. at Fort Worth but received her journalism degree last year from the University of Missouri at Columbia.

Acting as faculty advisor for various senior classes over a number of years, Miss Addison was in charge of the 1936 seniors for both their junior and senior years.

Miss Addison is an accomplished musician. She was pianist for the Methodist church since she came here. She also taught private piano lessons.

Robert Mayne will teach journalism, but no teacher has been selected for the English classes.

BOYS SHOW SKILL IN WOODWORK MAKING

There is a large enrollment of 41 boys in the industrial education in woodwork department. Roscoe Morgan is instructor in this course.

Each boy takes an average of five hours per week.

At the present time the boys are making bookcases, end tables, foot stools, magazine racks, book ends, clock shelves, door stops, toys and rolling pins.

FURNACES FIRED UP FILLS STUDY HALL WITH SMOKE LIKE FOG

With the approach of winter, the huge furnaces were fired up Monday morning. Smoke filled the school house to the brim. When one approached the school house, it seemed as if you were being inclosed in an immense London fog. You became dizzy and expected to hear a shriek come from somewhere in the distance.

After a few hours the smoke cleared away and everyone was able to recognize himself again.

1928 AND 1929 PAPERS SECURED BY STUDENTS

There was found two old Wheeler school papers this week. One carried the title of "The Mustang Echo" and the other "The Touchdown." They were published in 1928 and 1929.

It is very amusing to look over these papers. There has been many changes in the last few years. These papers of eight years ago have names such as Roe Green, Miss Beth Stiles, Jeff McCrohan, R. L. Green, Ida Sue Merriman, with whom most us are familiar.

All the headlines are made with capital letters of ordinary type. There are no double-decks in the heads.

The following joke was found on the front page of "The Mustang Echo:"

Miss Taliaferro: "Is there any alcohol in cider?"

John Wofford (looking around the room wildly): "Inside of who?"

JUNIORS, FRESHMAN, SOPHS HEADS CHOSEN

The junior, sophomore and freshman classes met last week end elected their officers. The juniors met on Wednesday and the sophomores and freshmen met on Thursday.

Those elected in the junior class were: Amos Page, president; Fern Davis, vice president; Alton Weeks, secretary.

The ones chosen in the sophomore class were: Herbert Green, president; Martha Jane Shipman, vice president; Juanita Voyles, secretary-treasurer. Those on the program committee are: Marion Smith, Scotty Risner, Harrison Hall, Dorothy Winkler and Alvern Hampton.

The freshmen chose for their president, Stella Cooper; vice president, R. B. Stephens; secretary, Virginia Burgess, and reporter, Eloise Reid.

SHE'S GONE

For the past few years, The Corral has been winning all the honors in the field of high school journalism. Due to the untiring work and encouragement of The Corral sponsor, the other state papers have been having to run a very hard race to rate at all.

Now, because she proved such a splendid teacher, she has been promoted to bigger and better things, so to speak. Beginning Wednesday, The Corral had to begin with another instructor and Miss Bernie Addison has been imparting the important points of journalism to two classes of Pampa students.

The English classes III and IV of Wheeler will have to manage with someone else while Miss Addison proves her ability to the sophomore English classes of Pampa.

The students and citizens of Wheeler extend their heartiest best wishes for success to their ex-teacher and hope that she will be even more successful in the future than she has been in the past.

They will, however always consider her their teacher and not Pampa's. So whatever fame she wins from now on will be appreciated as much by her ex-students as by her present students because she is still Wheeler's instructor; her influence in Wheeler will always be remembered.

NOW WHAT

Yes, this is one of those editorials advocating something. Now it's walks.

Perhaps it won't rain always, but the said objects would help in making progress between the classes quicker.

It's rather difficult passage when there's a downpour to jump across miniature rivers and escape bogging down in mud. And then there is the amount of excess weight on the shoes when one finally gets to class.

If the sand became so thick that the building couldn't be seen, the student might stoop over and feel the edge of the sidewalk for guidance.

Sidewalks would greatly aid the beauty of the campus. Eventually the paths might be used as a plan for grass and flowers.

After all, there are many reasons for sidewalks that have not been enumerated here. Anyway—it's a good idea and the school may be the proud possessor of a network of them, someday.

Self Rating Test

Another set of tests in a series of tests given to the home economics students follows:

Test for Co-operation

1. When you are appointed on a committee and accept the duty, do you complete the work assigned?
2. When you are appointed chairman of a committee, do you see that the members meet in time to accomplish the work?
3. Do you offer to do more than is required of you at school and at home?
4. Do you leave your part of the laboratory clean and orderly?
5. Do you observe home and school regulations to the best of your ability?

Test for Punctuality

1. Are you ready for meals at an appointed time?
2. Do you keep appointments on time?
3. Do you hand in your school work when it is due?
4. Do you loiter on your way to class and as a result are you frequently late?

UP TO TEN AND THEN SOME

ONE might think that winter was here, with the sudden donning of wraps.

TWO girls sitting together in study-hall make as much noise as two boys—almost.

THREE more football games and we'll bet on whether Wheeler wins the district or not.

FOUR days ago and the journalism class didn't know whether or not they'd like the change.

FIVE football boys were heard discussing the non-partying edict of the coach.

SIX years ago and the high school would never have dreamed of being spread out as it is now.

SEVEN more days until another week end in which to rest and sleep again.

EIGHT former members of the Ponies are suddenly making the older Mustangs watch their laurels.

NINE words of wisdom—"A good scare is worth more than good advice."

TEN minutes before the bell rings are the longest in existence, I still maintain.

COLTS

The enrollment in the grammar grades is still growing.

Mrs. John M. Ficke, who has the beginners, had one new pupil enrolled last week. This pupil's name is Herbert Hilgress. This room has learned to count up to 70 and is learning to spell. The Giant Killers, which is the highest group in this room, will get a new book next week, if they continue their progress.

Dorthea Lee Swearingen was the new pupil in the high first this week. Mrs. Gordon Phillips states this room will receive a new book next week.

The section of the third grade under the supervision of Mrs. John Hood has organized its Health and Citizenship club and elected the officer. Their motto is, "A winner never quits and a quitter never wins."

Coach Bob Clark stated that the junior high has not completely organized yet. The physical education classes are the only ones which have started this year in this section, but all other classes will soon be organized.

FROM OTHER BRANDING IRONS

Playing on a sloppy field, none too level, the Wellington Skyrockets went down fighting to the very finish.—Comment from the Wellington Leader on the Wellington-Wheeler game.

The McMurry Indians are to meet the Austin College Kangaroos in the Centennial Cotton Bowl, Oct. 3. Make them stand by, Redskins.

The new teachers of Hereford striking exposition the other night. Each teacher's hair was in braid with colorful ribbons. Their dresses were in different oddities. They paraded through town and were required to stop at different business houses with a special act at each stop.

A sock social was held last Monday night in Miami. Everyone was required to bring a sock filled with good things to eat. Wonder if they tasted all right after being in a sock.

These McLean Tigers are really going some. They defeated Lakeview 28 to 7 last Friday night a week ago.

The generous chamber of commerce of Canyon gave the Pep Squad girls nine snare drums after the girls asking for only three.

I think that I shall never see
A "D" as lovely as a "B."
A "B" whose round form is pressed
Upon the records of the blessed.
A "D" comes easily, and yet
It isn't easy to forget:
"D's" are made by fools like me,
But only God could make a "B."

The student gets the paper,
The school gets the fame.
The printer gets the money,
But the staff gets the blame.
—Exchange.

MIRANDO, PANHANDLE ASK FOR EXCHANGE

The Corral received two exchange papers last week, The Mirando Panther from Mirando City and the Panther Scream from Panhandle. Both of the papers are mimeographed by the students of the school.

The Mirando paper comes from a school of 73 high school students and 275 grammar students, making a total enrollment of 348. The paper is published twice monthly and consists of a staff of five students.

The Panther Scream is published once a week and has a staff of 17 members.

The Corral received a letter from the Panther Scream asking for exchanges.

PAMPA PAPER PUBLISHES STORY OF EX-WHEELERITE

"Journalism is Miss Addison's hobby," so reads the Pampa Daily News in a front page article carried on Tuesday, Sept. 29.

The story goes on further to relate the various achievements of Miss Addison while teaching in the Wheeler schools.

"Miss Addison will teach three English classes and two in journalism and will be faculty advisor to the Little Harvester," the article continues.

Quite a lengthy write-up was carried in the paper, which told of her graduation from T. W. C. and graduate work at the University of Missouri.

Miss Addison takes the place of Delmar Ashworth, who resigned and is going to Fort Smith, Ark.

SNUBBING POST

What a jumble of tongue twisters the public speaking class is originating. How's this, "Youthful Yankee yachtsmen yorked the yards" or if your enunciation is susceptible to "r's," try this petunia, "Rollicking Rachel runs riotous rills."

Gaily plaid, her jacket of course, is Martha Alice. . . Some interest is coming to life about needlework. Patterns for tea towels are especially favored.

Sorry to lose Miss Addison. Enjoyed her particular method of getting the lesson over. The Pep Squad is indulging in another stunt. It's for the Clarendon Bronchos and Mustang game Friday night.

Enjoyed the Shamrock - Lefors game. The editors of the Panhandle are having a small word-war of their own, presenting the merits of their respective teams and giving them first place in the district.

The delectable taste of a hamberg and the onion odor one can't quite escape. Oeie Pace, '36, is back from California, but he and Lewis Cain, some class, are leaving for southern places soon.

All the boys had red noses after physical education Tuesday. . . Dorothy Lee is actually complaining about missing English classes.

W. J. and Troy were telling some young ladies Monday night that they had turned in their football suits. R. J. has a delightful quality of voice since he's minus tonsils. A squeak occasionally adds variety.

Vote for public enemy: the individual who munches hard candy, wrapped in cellophane, at a movie.

The show for the week is easily "Anthony Adverse." This is a very interesting interlude from the general run. . . Song favorite, "I'm Not the Kind of a Boy."

Silly similes: dignified, H. E.; dynamic, Irene; quiet, Jack Pitcock; indescribable, Wallace Pendleton.

P. S.: The Mustangs' lucky horse-shoe has been returned; now we can take the conference.

A Limerick

The teacher got cranky one day,
Because she did not get her pay.
But the principal said,
"You're a pain in the head."
So now she has nothing to say.

SPARKS FROM THE CAMP FIRE

Be slow in choosing a friend, slower in changing.
Every man shall bear his own burden.
Remember now thy Creator in the days of thy youth.
No rich man is safe who is not a benevolent man.
Idleness is the mother of want.
Experience is the best teacher.

A sharp tongue is the only edged tool that grows keener with constant use.
Diligence is the mother of good luck.
Do not bite at the bait of pleasure until you know there is no hook beneath it.
It is hard to fail, but worse never to have tried to succeed.
Straws show which way the wind blows.
Order is heaven's first law.
Not what you get but what you hold, ease life's burdens when you are old.

Caught in
The Lasso's Noose

This poem is written in honor of this season's first colds.

Oh my head!
I see red!
Where's the bed!
Wish I were dead!!!

During Lavell Jaco's illness last week, she had at least a dozen visitors a day. There were 10 high school students at her house Sunday afternoon. We understand that they made so much noise the neighbors couldn't sleep. Lavell, you shouldn't be so popular!

The game started thus:
We had the ball,
They took it away from us,
Tain't right at all.

When the junior class was electing its officers, Fern Davis was nominated vice president and Amos Page jumped out of his seat and hollered "That's who we want!" Amos is president.

Miss Addison, in English IV class: "With the invention of the printing press, learning was spread. This wonderful invention was made by whom?"

Wallace: "Eli Whitney."

Alvis Jolly thinks that the "elastic clause" is something that stretches.

Wonder what is making all the students so unconcerned these days. In journalism room the other day, Miss Addison had to speak to Amos three times before he heard her or paid any attention.

Huffman had a small pump on the bus Thursday and he said, "I am going to pump up my pocket." He was advised to pump up his head, because it was flatter than his pocket.

We wonder if it is weather That is making the students so slow They can't get to class together, But I guess no one will ever know.

While R. J. Carver is sitting down sawing, Kermit Tanner is standing on a box to get to the table to plane.

If you want to know about the dog in the study hall, Monday, ask Troy Derryberry.

Oh, Miss Addison please come back, If you do we will give you a smack. Before you left we were so gay, But we are all so sad today. Why did you have to go at all? You could have waited until next fall.

It seems that some of the football boys wish it were not so far to Magic City. Take it from me, there are some cute girls from over there, boys.

Around and around the girls go and where they stop nobody knows— anyway the boys don't know.

Wouldn't it be nice if the students had silken-covered couches in the study hall to lie upon while studying? Then when the class bell rings the automatic rollers will coast down the hall to the class room. They should have a sliding book holder, which will automatically slide out without having to move to start writing.

If the Mustangs lose any sleep at all The coaches say they can't play ball. So, girls, if you have a date, Please don't keep the boys out late.

MUD CAUSES CHANGE IN APPAREL HABITS

In the days of '89, the girls trod daintily across the muddy walks and lifted their skirts to keep them from dragging in the mud. They walked miles around mud holes to keep them from getting their shoes dirty.

Have you noticed the students of our campus during this rainy weather? The fairer sex skips across the campus, without the worry of muddy skirts, while the poor boys have to lift (or roll) the cuffs of their trousers to keep them from getting muddy.

A FABLE

Once there were two little balls living together in a fine mahogany box; one of them was made of solid gold and the other of wood, gilded to look like gold.

The gilded one was carefully folded in cotton wool and kept itself perfectly quiet in one corner, while the gold ball rolled around just as it pleased.

The gilded ball scandalized by such behaviour, said to the gold ball:

"Why do you carry on like that? How can you be so wicked? You'll rub it off!"

To which the gold ball answered: "Rub what off?"

WOMAN

The woman's the greatest of all contradiction.

She's an angel in truth and a demon in fiction;

She's afraid of a cockroach and will scream at a mouse.

But she'll tackle a husband as big as a house.

She will take him for better—she'll take him for worse,

She'll split his head open and then be his nurse;

And when he is well and can get out of bed,

She will pick up the teapot and throw at his head.

In the morning she will, 6 in the evening she won't.

When you think that she does, you'll find that she don't.

Velma Hestilow was in Shamrock Saturday night.

THE MUSTANG-WHEELER GAME

This is a football saga;
Of a game on Wheeler's field,
Won by the galloping Mustangs,
With a courage that wouldn't wield
To the zizz and swish of the Rocket
As it flared on its goalbound way
With a zip that put it leading
In the first few minutes of play.

The Mustangs versus the Rockets:
Their names are an indication
Of the final score of the game
That thrilled Wheeler's population.
For, while a Rocket travels so swiftly
That a Mustang isn't in it,
This flying, blazing, burst of speed
Lasts for less than a minute.

And then it is shot to pieces—
If you'll excuse the slang and pun—
And its chance for lasting glory
Is over and gone. It's done.
But the sturdy, sinewy Mustang
Can travel for day after day
With a speed not so swift as the rocket,
But a speed that is in there to stay.

And true to its name, the Rocket,
Flashed in a blaze of light
As upward it sped for one touchdown,
Then its force was spent for the night.

After this one surge goalward
Its flash and its speed were gone,
And though its stars still twinkled,
'Twas each star twinkling alone;

Never again as a unit,
But just a Rocket, spent;
Its stars flared out in brilliance,
Then down to defeat it went.
The Rocket stars flashed singly,
While the Mustangs worked as a team;
Or, the line as a smooth running
engine;
The backfield supplying the steam.

And then the game was over;
At last I could draw my breath,
Which I so long had been holding,
Because I was scared most to death
That one of those sizzling Rockets
Might flash down the field again,
And turn our shout of victory
Into a moan of pain.

Since the Mustangs won game and glory
I am sure the best team won
But I'll state till my hair is hoary
That game was a sun-of-a-gun.

Clarendon Due to Be Victims of Mighty Mustang Machine

Coach Clark's Proteges Primed and Ready to Shoot the Works in Conference Game

The highly rated Wheeler Mustangs will jaunt over to Clarendon to play the Clarendon Broncs, Friday night. This will be the Mustangs' second conference game and their first away from their own gridiron.

A large crowd of fans is expected to accompany the boys from Wheeler high school to cheer them on to victory. The Mustangs will have to win this game to stay at the top of the conference.

Last week the Wellington Skyrockets defeated the Clarendon Broncs to the tune of 13 to 0, but just because the Mustangs defeated the Skyrockets 12 to 7, doesn't mean it will be an easy game.

The Mustangs are working out hard in preparation for this game, knowing this will be a hard game.

The editors of several of the highly rated newspapers commented on the game and stated that it was expected to be a tight game. Last season, the Mustangs defeated the Broncs by the score of 19 to 0, although the score is expected to be somewhat closer this season. The Mustangs will have to block and tackle to beat the Broncs.

The probable starting lineup will be:

- Ends, Emler and Maxwell.
- Tackles, Tillman and Page.
- Guards, Green and Whitener.
- Center, Weeks.
- Halfbacks, Cole and Groves.
- Quarterback, Norman.
- Fullback, Derryberry.

MOBEETIE AND GORILLAS TO PLAY TOMORROW AFTERNOON

A comparison of relative strength and speed may be seen tomorrow afternoon when the Pampa Gorillas, last week conquerors of the Wheeler Colts, take the field against the Mobeetie Hornets.

This game will be called at 3:45 Friday afternoon, in Mobeetie. Both coaches are confident of victory. The Mobeetie outfit will have the edge as regards size and experience, but the Pampa troop is given the edge on smoothness and speed.

The Wheeler Mustangs take on the Stingers from Mobeetie on Oct. 9, playing on the Wheeler field.

Several parties interested in comparing the two teams are planning to attend the fray tomorrow afternoon.

WORLD SERIES IN N. Y. TAKES BACK SEAT HERE

With the Clarendon game only a few hours away, interest among local sport enthusiasts was at low ebb regarding the World Series, now being played in New York.

Only noticeable changes in baseball-minded students and teachers, was that of a sudden dashing home at 12:20 in order to get the radio going by 12:30 and an appreciable dragginess in returning to the classroom, just when the third inning was starting.

HEARD ON THE SIDELINES

Shoot that gun!
Oh———Heck!!!
Get that man!
Hold that line you ?-&!?!!
Block that kick!
Catch that guy!
Kill 'em, you guys!
Watch those passes!
Yell, you mugs!
Rah! Rah! Rah!

INTRAMURAL TEAMS PLAY FIRST GAMES

Pupils in the grammar school have organized into two groups, the girls and boys teams. Each team has chosen a name for their team. The girls teams names and their scores are as follows:

Name	Won	Lost
Headrunners	2	1
Wildcats	0	3
Bluebonnets	1	2
Yellow Jackets	2	1
Hornets	2	1
Panthers	2	1
Thunder	3	0
Thistles	3	0

The two winning girls teams are the Thunder and Thistle teams, each having 15 points.

The boys have also organized and selected their teams and team names. Their teams and their names are as follows:

Name	Won	Lost
Goatheads	3	0
Steers	1	2
Bobcats	1	2
Ridgerunners	1	2
Indians	2	1
Polecats	0	3
Roadrunners	2	1
Cobras	2	1

The Goatheads are leading in the boys teams, winning all their games. The Indians, Roadrunners and Cobras are following close behind, winning two games apiece.

Two new teams for the boys have been organized in high school. Their names are the Pussy Cats and Badgers. This makes a total of six teams.

The Pussy Cats won from the Badgers by a score of 8 to 0. The Tigers and Giants are tied with a score of 0 to 0. The Goats defeated the Buffaloes to the tune of 6 to 0.

SUCCESS

He has achieved success who has lived well, laughed often and loved much; who has gained the respect of intelligent men and the love of little children; who has filled his niche and accomplished his task; who has left the world better than he found it, whether by an improved poem, or a rescued soul; who has never lacked appreciation of earth's beauty or failed to express it; who has looked for the best in others and given the best he had; whose life was an inspiration; whose memory a benediction.—Mrs. A. J. Stanley.

PONIES LOSE TO PAMPA GORILLAS

Small Ponies Put Up Game Fight Against Strong Pampa Squad

Last Friday afternoon, the small Wheeler Ponies went down fighting before the large Pampa Gorillas. Before a small crowd, they lost by a score of 19 to 0.

The Pampans scored three tallies in the first half, but the small boys came back strong in the last half and outplayed the boys of Pampa.

Although outplaying the Gorillas throughout, the Ponies were unable to score, showing a passing attack that almost brought them two touchdowns.

The Pampa line would tighten up and hold the small boys scoreless, when they were within the 20-yard line.

The starting lineup for the Ponies was:

- Stephenson and Markham, ends.
- Wright and Campbell, tackles.
- Badley and Williams, guards.
- Thompson, center.
- Smith, Groves, Jones and Pitcock, backfield.

Others who played were: Glynn, center; Wright, guard; Hampton, guard; Badley, back; Adams, tackle; A. Jones, tackle; Bibbs, tackle; Ford, end; Weeks, end.

PEP SQUAD SUITS ARRIVE FOR GAME

The Pep Squad suits have arrived and will be ready for the girls to wear for the coming game Friday night.

The suits are of black and gold, following the school colors.

The hats are black, the seams in the crown resembling the seams of a football. They are laced with white laces in front.

The blouses are orange, slip-over sweat shirts with a large W on the front and Mustang stenciled on the back. They will be worn with white shirts.

The skirts are of black corduroy made with six gores.

The suits will be worn the first time at the Clarendon-Wheeler game, Friday night. The Pep Squad expects to give some new formations and stunts at this game.

SPORT SLANTS

By a Mustang

It seems that Coach Bob Clark has some real material coming up in the next few years. Friday afternoon the small boys blocked like veterans. Although defeated, the Ponies never gave up until the final whistle blew.

Just to let you know that O. D. Conner, last year of Wheeler high school, is playing halfback for the Mangum, Okla., team. The Mangum Hornets are strong contenders for their conference in Oklahoma.

The Wheeler Mustangs will meet another strong foe when they meet the Clarendon Broncs. Wellington beat them 13 to 0, but that doesn't mean it will be an easy game, Mustangs.

Shamrock defeated the Lefors Pirates Friday night to the tune of 19 to 0. These will be two more strong foes for the Mustangs to defeat.

Someone hinted that after the Mustangs defeated the Wellington Skyrockets that the other games would be easy. There are about seven more games that will be as hard as the Wellington game. So fight 'em, Mustangs!

It seems that all the other teams are picking the Mustangs as a strong contender for district winner. So don't disappoint them, Mustangs.

I'm not a very good prophet but here will be the three high teams in the conference, I think. Wheeler, Shamrock and Memphis. So just watch and see how far wrong I am.

Just to let you know what the fans think about the Ponies. It was heard from the crowd of fans that these future Mustangs could block and tackle as good as an average high school team. Good luck to you, future Mustangs.

STADIUM FENCED BUT MUSTANGS STILL WILD

Three strands of shiny new barbed wire have been stretched on the east side of the stadium of the Wheeler Mustangs. Whether this wire was stretched to keep the Mustangs from jumping out or to keep spectators on the outside from jumping in, no one knows.

This wire is nailed on small boards which project out from the wall and was erected by the bus drivers.

THE MACEDONIAN CALL
Lesson Text: Acts 16:6-15;
Rom. 15:18-21. Devotional Reading: Isa. 55:1-13.

Approach

Has the attitude of our hearts and our disposition toward the will of our God been such that God can glorify us unto a work of giving the gospel of God unto a lost people? Are we sure that we have any interest whatever in any other people save those in our own community? If we have such an interest in others, and if the attitude of our hearts is correct, God will show us the way (His way) unto the work.

One cannot be deeply and divinely interested in others' spiritual welfare and the eternal things of the soul unless that one has first considered these things for his own benefit. One that has not first become a "partaker of the divine nature" (II Peter 1:4), and that has not made the kingdom of God first in his own heart, is not in a position to become interested in seeing that others have an opportunity to hear that glorious message, called "Glad Tidings," these early disciples of the Lord were heralding from nation to nation as the Lord himself directed the campaign.

You and I should bow our hearts in heartfelt thankfulness as we enter this study of God's directing those early messengers unto our forefathers. For God was not only thinking of them, but of us also, unto whom the Glad Tidings was to be preached. Had not God thus directed the work unto those who were our ancestors, we would be living now as they were 2,000 years ago. We should therefore think, as we study these coming lessons, as if Paul had been directed even unto us. And as we study we should be sure that we are giving God an opportunity to enter our hearts to direct the affairs of our lives unto His own glory and unto our salvation.

Historical Setting

Troas, a city in northwestern Asia Minor on the Aegean Sea, less than 100 miles north of Ephesus and about the same distance from Philippi, the first mission point in Europe.

The time is about 52 A. D. and about 20 years after the beginning of the Gospel in Jerusalem.

THE HEART OF THE LESSON

Introduction

We are now entering upon the second half of a six months course in the study of Acts, the Epistles and the Revelation.

For about the first 10 years after the beginning of the Gospel in Jerusalem, the Gospel was preached only to the Jews. We have been studying the preaching of this same Gospel to the Gentiles during the next 10 years, as the work was pushed forward over the northern boundary of the Mediterranean and on the eastern side of the Aegean. And now we are beginning the study of the work as it spreads into Europe.

Properly speaking, Christianity is not a religion. A religion (Jas. 1:27) included, but Christianity is much bigger than any religion—it is a LIFE. Not a life imposed, but a life implanted in the regenerated heart and lived out as that life develops, or grows, through the implanted word (Jas. 1:21).

The Golden Text

"Go ye therefore, and teach all nations"—Matt. 28:19.

The Golden Text is selected in order to give us the right starting point for our study. We must realize that when Paul and his co-laborers are going from country to country with the message of salvation that they are doing so under the orders of Jesus Christ. Paul "was not disobedient unto the heavenly vision," neither to the part of his "going into the city and there it will be told thee what thou must do," (Act 9:6), nor to the other part, "Depart, for I will send thee far hence unto the Gentiles" (Acts 22:21).

Yes, every saved soul is given a place in the work of sending the Gospel forth unto others. There is no legitimate excuse for our negligence in this work. We surely cannot class ourselves as faithful if we are not "workers together with God" in missions.

Forbidden of the Holy Spirit

Not that the Holy Spirit did not want the Gospel preached in Bithynia, but that God had another field for Paul and his company. If you will turn to I Pet. 1:1 you will see that the apostle Peter and others had carried the Gospel into that very field where the Holy Spirit forbade Paul and his company to go. God had selected Paul's field of labor and into that field He is sending him. Paul went down to Troas and there he received directions for his future work. From Troas he set sail for Europe.

The Macedonian Call

The "man of Macedonia" was not, perhaps, identified in any single person in Macedonia, but he represented all Macedonians. Paul did not go over there seeking to identify his caller, but he fully realized that this was God's instruction to him to preach the Gospel to the Macedonians. Where to begin was immaterial to him for he had the whole of that country to heart. In this city or that; under the trees, or in the synagogue, at the river side, or in jail, it made no difference to him. God selected both the river side and a jail and there Paul and Silas joyously preached and sang and prayed the Gospel into the hearts of lost men and women.

Suppose Paul had of himself selected Macedonia as his mission field and that he had chosen Philippi as "headquarters." His plan evidently would have been to rent a convenient hall in which to gather the people. He could not have endured anything but the most up-to-date and modern. He then could seek a commodious house in which to live. But he never would have learned of the "river side where prayer was wont to be made" neither would he have found the "Philippian jailer." He would have sought out a permanent base of operation. But God did not keep him there for long, and all such planning would have been out of order in God's scheme for Macedonia.

Luke the Beloved Physician

Perhaps at Troas, Luke joined Paul in his work as a missionary. The pronouns "we" and "us" in verse 10 show that at that point the writer of Acts took up his companionship with Paul.

To them the circumstances were sufficient for them "to conclude that God had called us to preach the Gospel" in Macedonia.

Tarrying Certain Days

Were they waiting for God's sign of approval to begin there? Then they found that approval at a prayer meeting where only women met, and at a river side. When God opened Lydia's heart to receive the message Paul gave and when she had turned unto the Lord and was baptized, that was approval enough for them. And in her home they had also found a home for themselves. There will be no worry now about food and shelter, God had provided that and they were free to give their entire time to that urgent call, "Come over into Macedonia and help us."

I Will Not Dare

Was Paul tempted to "Christianize," "civilize" or "socialize" those Europeans? By the grace of God he brushed all such aside and preached a substitutionary Saviour and a salvation by way of His blood of the Cross.

And did you notice carefully how he expressed what it was that he would speak unto the people?—"I will not dare to speak of any things save those which Christ wrought through me." If only we Christians of today could learn that our message should be only that which Christ wrought through us first of all, people might listen better. But when it is just a matter of creed (I believe), and a creed that has not taken hold of our own hearts and changed our lives to be like His, why should they listen?

Obedience of the Gentiles

If you have ever been led to believe that the early church had one message for the Jews and then a message very similar and yet very different for the Gentiles, then you better read again—and very carefully—that part of our lesson found in Romans 15:18-21.

LESSON QUIZ

1. What sea divides Asia Minor from Europe? 2. Is the City of Troas in Asia or in Europe? 3. How old would Christ had been at the time of our lesson, had he been still living in the flesh? 4. To whom did Jesus speak the words of the Golden Text? 5. Why did the Holy Spirit forbid Paul to preach in Bithynia? 6. Who was the "man of Macedonia"? 7. Where did Luke join Paul's missionary company? 8. Who was the first convert in Europe? 9. What was the first "meeting house" for Gospel preaching in Europe? 10. Was Paul tempted to preach another message than the Gospel in Europe?

YOUNG FOLKS

Listen, boys and girls, here's something you will be interested in: Today my secretary came to my private office and informed me that a good looking young lady wished to see me. Without stuttering, I said, "Show her in." She did, and to my pleasant surprise she was one of my former students all dressed up and as happy and prosperous looking as could be. I said to her, "How are you getting along with your position?" She replied, "Just fine, I am doing both the bookkeeping and shorthand work. I am now answering much of the correspondence myself and my boss thinks I'm a wonder at it." I then inquired if they had advanced her salary and she said, "Yes, several times, I am now drawing a better salary than I ever anticipated I would. I just think your school is wonderful and your training is so thorough and practical—I'm surely a Byrne Booster."

In about three hours a young man that I had recommended to a responsible position walked in to thank me for the way I assisted him in landing a good position. He said, "They told him they would try him two weeks and if he made good they would keep him, otherwise, they would pay him off, but in a few days more payday rolled around and instead of getting fired he received a $10 raise. Thorough business training paid this young man and woman and it will pay any Byrne student who will study, work and try to make good. We could tell you the happy experience of many a boy or girl who has recently graduated in Byrne college. Young friend if you are ambitious to make good and be somebody worth while, fill in your name and address and mail for free literature.
