

OF SCHOOL SITUATION

Study Committee Report Completed

Dr. James Whittington of Eastland, chairman of the County School Study Committee, made a comprehensive review of the work done by the committee to a service club in Eastland Monday.

Dr. Whittington said that the conclusion reached was that adequate legislation was the only solution to Eastland County's school problems as well as many other counties in Texas.

The committee, composed of two men from Eastland, Ranger and Olden, with Whittington as chairman, have devoted many hours to this work. Members are Wendell Siebert, superintendent of Eastland schools; Travis Hilliard, superintendent of Olden schools; G. B. Rush, superintendent of Ranger schools; J. A. Everett of Olden, Wilson Guest of Ranger and Virgil Seaberry Jr., of Eastland.

The final official report will be released Thursday, right on schedule, as promised by the committee when the three-month study period started May 20.

The amount of work done by the committee is apparent in the charts, graphs, brochures, letters of analysis and other documents prepared by the committee and its sub-committees, made up of the original committee members.

Several of the committeemen have made trips to Austin and Dallas to contact expert help in gathering information for the solution of this county's school problems.

The Texas Research League, a non-profit organization, made a project study of the school problems, coming to the conclusion that legislation was the only solution, as had the Texas Education Commission and various other bodies and individuals before which the problem had been presented.

Dr. Whittington said though only three schools in the county had undertaken the study, it was impossible to study the situation without making a complete study of the entire county and on into the entire situation in Texas as a whole. He said the entire state is confronted with either too many students in the cities or too few in the areas such as this area, with a continuing loss of population.

The study committee was formed for the purpose of studying the present situation, and present to the people the facts and the steps that could be taken to improve the school situation.

TSTA to Ask Legislature for Teacher Raise

A beginning salary of $4,000 for Texas public school teachers will be requested at the next session of the Legislature, a spokesman for the Texas State Teachers Association announced today.

This and other TSTA proposals are in line with recommendations made two years ago by the 254 county Hale-Aiken committees, and costs have risen since then. TSTA Pres. Mary Alexander of Palestine said.

Mrs. Alexander made these points:

The Gilmer-Aiken Minimum Foundation School Program has not been changed since 1949, except for two modest teacher pay raises, and cost factors then are unrealistic now.

State increases in Texas teacher salary in the last ten years are the lowest in the nation.

In one proposed bill, TSTA will ask the Texas Legislature to strengthen the three basic parts of the Gilmer-Aiken program — teacher pay, transportation, and maintenance and operation — as follows:

Provide an annual salary of $4,014 for a beginning teacher with a bachelor's degree (now $3,024) and $4,239 for an M. A. degree (now $3,429).

Annual salary increments of $108 per year (now $54) with ten increments for bachelor's degree teachers and 17 for the master's degree.

Add $380 per school bus to help pay increased transportation costs for school children.

Increase to $500 per teacher the allowance for maintenance and operation of school plant and program (now $350-$400).

Larger cities, and other areas with rapidly expanding population would especially benefit from another TSTA proposal, to allot TSTA aid for teaching personnel on the basis of the current year's attendance instead of last year's. This would save local taxpayers at least $8 million the first year, Mrs. Alexander noted.

Other legislative requests by TSTA call for: five days sick leave annually for teachers, cumulative to 30 days; additional special service teachers and principals; and national film and audio-visual libraries.

Most part of these proposals to strengthen the school program is estimated to cost $100 million annually, of which the State would pay approximately $80 million and local districts $20 million.

"Our schools are as good as they have been because local districts have steadily increased their financial support and dedicated teachers continue to perform efficiently at a personal sacrifice in income," the TSTA president declared.

"If children are to receive a good education," she added, "good teachers must instruct them and teaching supplies and materials must be available for their use."

He will return to Ranger College as assistant football coach.

Sul Ross will award seventy-four Master's degrees and eighty-five Bachelor's degrees in the special convocation which will conclude this year's summer session. Three hundred and four students are receiving degrees from the college this year.

Spending Lags On Water Development

While Texans have been virtually unanimous on the urgent need for development and conservation of water resources during the past decade, actual State spending for such a program has lagged far behind other Western and Southwestern states.

Figures compiled by the U. S. Bureau of the Census have placed Texas next-to-last in a list of 18 Western and Southwestern states in its per capita spending on water and soil resources.

The annual per capita expenditure for developing and conserving water and soil resources in Texas was figured at 11 cents, compared with $2.34 in California, $1.36 in New Mexico, $1.13 in Utah, 92 cents in Montana, 87 cents in Wyoming, 64 cents in Arizona, 58 cents in North Dakota, 54 cents in Nevada, 52 cents in Colorado, 35 cents in Oklahoma, 21 cents in Iowa, 18 cents in Nebraska, 16 cents in Kansas, 14 cents in Washington and South Dakota, and 13 cents in Idaho. The only state below Texas on the list was Oregon, which spends 10 cents a head of its population on water and soil.

The vast progress exhibited by California in taking the lead in water and soil development is pointed up by a proposal which will be voted on this fall. The proposal is to issue some $1,750,000,000 in State bonds to pay for the world's largest water distribution system, designed to take care of all California water requirements for agricultural, industrial and municipal use for years to come. It has been noted that such a proposal in Texas would likely be regarded as so fantastic as to merit little if any consideration.

Proposed CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT NUMBER FOUR ON THE BALLOT

PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT TO BE VOTED ON AT AN ELECTION TO BE HELD ON NOVEMBER 8, 1960.

HOUSE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 6 proposing an Amendment to Section 21, Article XVI of the Constitution of the State of Texas, so as to give the Legislature authority to classify loans and lenders, license and regulate lenders, define interest, fix maximum rates of interest, and provide for a maximum rate of interest in the absence of legislation fixing maximum rates of interest; and providing for the necessary election and the form of the ballot, and providing for the necessary proclamation and publication.

"AGAINST the Constitutional Amendment giving the Legislature authority to classify loans and lenders, license and regulate lenders, define interest and fix maximum rates of interest; and providing for a maximum rate of interest of ten per centum (10%) per annum in the absence of legislation fixing maximum rates of interest."

Sec. 3. The Governor shall issue the necessary proclamation for the said election and have the same published as required by the Constitution and laws of this State.

go of a $100,000,000 revolving fund to assist local projects by loans when they could be financed in no other way. This brought about the establishment of the Texas Water Development Board, which has yet to complete and finance its first actual loan.

Meanwhile, some two-thirds of all land under cultivation in California is irrigated, while the total irrigated area in Texas in June, 1959, was 7,140,443 acres. This 7,140,443 acres was less than one-fourth of the 33,633,800 acres counted as cropland in Texas.

There has been little expansion of irrigated areas in Texas during the past two years.

Market News Expansion Urged

One of the major recommendations urged by the 14-state Southern Commissioners of Agriculture in their 1960 meeting last month in San Antonio was expansion of the activities of the Federal-State cooperative market news service.

A resolution directed to the attention of the U. S. Secretary of Agriculture was adopted unanimously at the meeting, requesting improvement of the "agency responsible for providing the essential facts on day-to-day markets."

It was pointed out in the resolution that "the production and marketing of agricultural products has changed rapidly in recent years and is still in the process of change, and it is evident that in order to preserve a free agricultural market all interested parties must be fully informed on conditions in the markets."

"The Federal-State cooperative market news service is the agency responsible for providing the essential facts on day-to-day markets."

"Marketing research through its studies of some commodities has defined the problem areas and developed recommendations for bringing vital market news service to a point where it can meet the present day needs."

In its resolving clause, the resolution went on to "request the U. S. Secretary of Agriculture to expand investigations in this area and seek funds to implement the findings on a full cooperative basis with the state departments of agriculture in order that there may be no delay in putting into operation improved programs."

Among the improved programs contemplated by the Texas Department of Agriculture is a livestock auction market reporting service for the State, which probably will be presented to the 57th Legislature when it convenes in January, 1961.

Preliminary planning indicates that the means to initiate such a program on the part of the TDA will require an appropriation of approximately $50,000, which will be matched by the Federal government under existing cooperative agreements. Demands for such a livestock auction market reporting service, to be operated on a reliable and dependable basis, have been widespread.

This demand is expected to grow along with the further extensive development of livestock auction markets in Texas.

So Sample for Fall Planting

Planting time is not too far off. Plans should be made now and time cost is not very efficient. W. F. Bennett, extension agent, says the only way to make this guessing is to have the soil tested. The farmer must remember that soil samples are of very little value unless they truly represent the actual soil conditions of the field. Soil samples may be taken in several different ways, but Dr. Bennett says that anyone taking a sample must remember a few basic requirements. These include: Take one sample from each uniform area in the field. A representative sample may be obtained by taking a slice of soil 4 to 5 inches deep, and repeating this at 15 or 20 different places over the field. Spade, soil augur, soil probe or garden trowel may be used to take a sample. All of the small portions from a single field should be mixed and a composite sample taken and placed in a soil carton. All blanks on the soil carton and information sheet should be filled out completely.

Samples should be taken early enough to insure plenty of time for testing. Soil cartons, information sheets, mailing instructions and additional information may be obtained from the local county agent, Dr. Bennett concludes.

By Mrs. D. B. Raney

The GA's of New Hope Baptist Church had a slumber party at the home of their counselors, Mrs. D. B. Raney and Ann, last Thursday night. After the girls arrived, they trimmed the tree for their Christmas in August party, placing their gifts on the tree. Jane Ann Bradford, newly elected president to replace Ann Raney, Junior counselor, called the house to order for a business meeting. Then Ann taught the juniors a study course book. At a break in the study, punch and cookies were served, and then at the finish, hot hamburgers. Some of the girls went to bed early, but several played scrabble and Dominos and put together a jigsaw puzzle until the wee hours of morning. Those attending were Jane Ann and Nancy Bradford, Nancy Veale, Mary Carol Mitchell, and Sarah Robertson.

Sunday Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Veal took Mrs. Lillie Boney to see her husband at a Dallas hospital, where he underwent bone surgery on a leg last week. He was improved and may be home in a few days.

Attending Baptist Workers' Conference at Rising Star were Rev. and Mrs. Bob Estes, Mr. and Mrs. G. V. McGowan, Mmes. C. C. Veale and D. B. Raney, Nancy Veale, and Ann Raney.

Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Mitchell of Stinnett brought her mother, Mrs. Ida Raney, home Saturday and visited her sisters and brothers in this community and Ranger. The group had a picnic supper Monday evening at the Ranger City Park. Attending the picnic were Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Caraway, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Morrison, Glenda and Bobby; Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Mitchell; Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Raney and Ann; Bobby Berkoff; Sherry White, and Mrs. Ida Raney.

Visitors to New Hope Baptist Church Sunday morning were Mrs. George Glascock of Cresson, Tommy Ledbetter, and Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Mitchell.

The new pastor of New Hope Baptist Church, Bob Estes, and his wife have moved into the parsonage. He will be ordained Sunday, August 28, at 3:00 P.M. at the local church.

On Friday night, August 26, a ten-day revival will begin at New Hope Baptist Church.

Mrs. M. I. Laster had as visitors Sunday her sister, Mrs. Jim Wells, and Mr. Wells of Breckenridge.

Questions And Answers On Vets Affairs

Q—Was the GI loan interest rate changed by the recent law which gave World War Two veterans another two years in which to get a loan?

A—No. The interest rate was not changed. The maximum allowable interest rate is still 5 and one fourth percent.

Q—I am a Korea veteran, holding a term life insurance policy with the letters "RS" before the policy number. I understand I can exchange this policy for new type term insurance at lower cost. How do I go about it?

A—You may exchange your present term policy for one costing about a third as much, yet with the same protection. The new term insurance must be converted to permanent plan insurance before age 50, however, if you wish protection. Write the VA office where you pay your premiums, telling them you wish to make the exchange. Be sure to give your present policy number.

Q—I am a World War Two veteran applying for pension for the first time. Do I have to include my wife's income in reporting my own income for pension purposes?

A—The first $1200 of your wife's income need not be included but all over that available to you should be. In case where that would work extreme hardship, exceptions may be made under the law.

Q—The new pension law has caused a lot of talk about just what pension is and what is compensation. Will you define each kind of payment, as it applies to living veterans?

A—Compensation is payable to eligible veterans whose disabilities are DUE to service. Pension is payable only to eligible veterans whose total and permanent disabilities are NOT DUE to service.

Few trucks are subjected to the body-wracking beatings that are part of a day's work for this Chevrolet Series 60 pulpwood hauler. It's owned by J. E. Fox, North Carolina logging contractor. As Bobby Fox, a partner in the business says, "Loaded with pulpwood, we drive over stumps and potholes you'd think would tear the truck to pieces. These trails would shake the cab off an ordinary truck, but not our Chevy. We can average an extra load a day... make $45 to $50 a day more with this Chevy than we can with the others."

In every weight class these Chevies are doing more work at less expense than trucks have ever done before. Drive one at your Chevrolet dealer's. It's an experience that could pay you big dividends.

◀ "That 6-cylinder engine really performs," says Bobby Fox. "It's got the lagging power we need in the woods and walks right along with a full load on the highway."

COUNTRY PLAYERS

LES CARROLL

Most of today's top songs have a brief period of popularity when we hear them everywhere. Then they fade and are soon forgotten. However, religious songs never lose their freshness and time seems to enhance their appeal. "Greater Than You and I..." by Ralph Carmichael and his choir (Caral) is an album of such songs, so beautifully sung that you will enjoy them for years to come. Ferlin Husky has a good inspirational single, "Wings of a Dove," (Capitol) and "When I Stand With God" by the Blackwood Brothers (RCA) makes very pleasant listening.

The LP, "Glenn Yarbrough," is a fine collection of traditional and "semiraditional" folk songs, and the exceptionally appealing voice and stylings of Glenn Yarbrough make this an outstanding album.

A VERY UNUSUAL LP is "Badmen, Heroes and Pirate Songs" by Ed McCurdy, Jack Elliott, Oscar Brand and Dick Wilder. Somehow in songs about them, "badies" gain virtues they never possessed in life, and you will find this a very entertaining addition to your collection (Both Elektra).

Cisco Houston's "Cisco Sings"

is a collection of favorite American Folk Songs and his intriguing interpretation of them make it easy to understand his great popularity as a folk-singer. And "We've Got Some Singing to Do" is a highly interesting album of songs from around the world, sung by the Folksmiths, eight talented students from Oberlin College (Both Folkways).

FOR HAWAIIAN music, you will enjoy "The Magic Islands" by Alfred Newman and the Ken Darby Singers (Decca) and "Tahiti" by the Surfers (HIFI-Record).

In the country field several top girl artists have come up with big numbers, notably "Carmel by the Sea" by Kitty Wells (Decca); "I'm Falling Too" by Skeeter Davis (RCA); "Cold, Cold Heart" by Marjohm and The Jacks (Columbia) and "There He Goes" by Patsy Cline (Decca).

OTHER FINE singles are "That's All I Can Remember" (Lefty Frizzell, Columbia); "There's Not Any Like You Left" (Faron Young, Capitol); "Far Far Away" (Don Gibson, RCA); "All I Need Is You" (Webb Pierce, Decca); "I thought I'd Never See the Day" (Johnny Mumbird, Columbia); "An Old Log Cabin for Sale" (Porter Wagoner, RCA); "Daybreak in Dixie" (Stanley Bros., King); "Heartaches, Heartaches" (Paris Bros. Coral); "Make Room for the Blues" (Dick Miller, Mercury) and "Mine Again" (Lattie Moore, King).

Labor Dept. Reviews Child Labor Laws

Many kinds of part-time jobs are permitted to teen-agers who want to work after school and on weekends this fall, Regional Director William J. Rogers of the U. S. Labor Department's Wage and Hour Division in Dallas pointed out today.

"An opportunity to work part-time may make the difference for some youngsters between continuing in school or dropping out when the new term begins this fall," he said. "These opportunities are available within necessary restrictions under the Federal child-labor law to protect the minor's health, welfare and safety."

"Boys and girls at least 16 years of age can work under the Federal Child-labor law (Fair Labor Standards Act) in any job in any industry, except those which have been declared hazardous by the Secretary of Labor," he stated.

"Although the law prohibits the employment of children under 14, even a 14- or 15-year-old minor may be lawfully employed in office and sales work, and in fruit and vegetable packing sheds," he added.

Thirteen hazardous occupations orders have been issued by the Secretary of Labor which prohibit the employment of minors under 18 years of age in certain occupations. The prohibited jobs include work as a driver or a driver's helper on a motor vehicle, jobs involving riding on a freight elevator unless operated by an assigned operator, operating or assisting in operating power-driven hoisting apparatus, and certain other power-driven machinery, including production of goods for such commerce. There are a few exemptions from these provisions, however.

Rogers also pointed out that there are some restrictions on the hours which may be worked by 14- and 15-year-old children. They may work only outside of school hours, not more than three hours on any school day, and not more than 18 hours a week during a week any part of which school is in session, and not more than 40 hours a week when school is not in session. They may work only between 7 a.m. and 7 p.m.

He said employers frequently ask how to protect themselves from unintentionally violating the Act by employing underage youngsters. The answer: Obtain and keep on file an age certificate showing the minor to be old enough for the job in which he is employed. In Texas, these certificates are issued as a public service, by the local office of the Texas Employment Commission.

The child-labor provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act apply to employment in interstate or foreign commerce or in the pro-

Tree Seedlings For Windbreaks Available in Jan.

College Station, Tree seedlings will again be available to West Texas landowners for planting windbreakers next January. Don Young, head of the Forest Management Department of the Texas Forest Service, urges landowners to place their orders as early as possible before the February 10 deadline.

Orders must be in multiples of 50, and no order for less than 100 trees will be accepted. The delivered cost of seedlings this year is $1.50 per hundred. Tree species available for the 1960-61 planting season are Austrian pine, black locust, black walnut stratified nuts, catalpa, cottonwood, Chinese elm, mulberry, osage orange, ponderosa pine, red cedar, rosa multiflora, sycamore, slash and loblolly pine.

All seedlings are packaged in moss and moisture-proof paper and shipped directly to the landowner. Tree seedlings, purchased from the Texas Forest Service, may not be used or resold for ornamental purposes. The landowner further agrees to protect the trees from fire, cattle, and destructive insects.

or television performers. Nor does the Federal law cover such work as baby sitting, caddying, and working in some retail and service establishments. The law also exempts children working for their parents in their parents' own business as long as the work is not mining or manufacturing, or has not been declared hazardous, and children employed in agriculture outside school hours.

(Continued from Page One) which we must point to in these grave times. These are the things which we must point to in these grave times. Is there any doubt that America was a better place when boy and girl sat close together in the drug store sipping soda through a straw? How many successful marriages would you guess can be credited to the fact that the straw did indeed slip as their pair sipped? Yes, the ice cream soda is important. And we hope you will insist on the return of the unstriped down model the next time you tell your soda jerk to fix you a real soda.

Increase In City-Dwelling Farmers Seen

What is happening in the purchase of farm and ranch lands by city dwellers in Texas has been amply demonstrated in a study made not long ago in Dallas. It is figured that more than 25,000 Dallas County families now own farm and ranch lands adding up to some 3,000,000 acres, and most of this acreage is located outside of Dallas County. The holdings include wheat farms in the Panhandle, irrigated cotton fields out on the South Plains and elsewhere in West Texas, citrus groves in the Rio Grande Valley, pastures and grazing land in all sections of the State.

Students Get Special Price For Shrine Game

ABILENE — A special student price of $1.00 has recently been established for the West Texas Shrine Bowl professional football game to be played in Abilene Saturday night in Public Schools Stadium. The section, designated as E1 (E-One) and located on the south end of the east stands, will be set aside for students of high school age and under and the non-reservé seats will be held at the gates at $1.00 each.

Artificial Fish Reefs Paying off With New Buoys

Fishing around the artificial reefs off Port Aransas on the Texas coast is now paying off, according to the executive secretary of the Game and Fish Commission. The reefs were created by dumping some 600 old car bodies in 60 feet of water. Although the reefs have been there for some time many boaters reported they could not locate the exact spot. Recently the Game and Fish Commission placed a lighted buoy over one of the spots. Fishermen flocked to it in numbers and reported large catches of several species of fish.

Artificial Fish Reefs Paying off With New Buoys

Another buoy, not yet lighted, has been placed over another segment of the reef, about a half-mile away. Fishermen now are able to work between these two buoys. They report catching of snapper, ling, grouper, sand trout and drum in both areas. Two other such artificial reefs, one near Port Isabel and the other near Freeport also will be buoyed so that boatmen may find the exact location without the use of instruments. Studs also are being made on other locations for the artificial reefs. The old car bodies provide protection for smaller fish. As a result, larger fish go there in an attempt to feed on the smaller ones, thus increasing the fishing potential.

I GIVE YOU TEXAS

By Boyce House

To seek or not to seek the gold of Pete the Hermit? That was my problem.

Stationed in Fort Worth was a detachment of Texas Rangers and the captain was a friend of mine. So I consulted him and he said, "There's one way to find out if there really is a treasure or if it is a practical joke and that is to go out there. If you want to go, I'll go with you—and if anybody springs anything on us, we will see who gets surprised."

But I was working that day and then we had a spell of unfavorable weather; then the paper sent me out to town to cover the campaign of a candidate for governor and the whole matter faded from my mind.

About two years later, in clearing out my desk at the office, I came across the bulky envelope with the letter and the map. I had never received a second communication and surely I would have if the story was genuine for the man in Philadelphia would have given impatient and would have written to urge me to set out when I was going to see him his two-thirds of the $13,000.

I walked to the city editor's desk in the center of the big news room from the better to view the logical suspects, my colleagues. My eye (actually, both eyes, but that's the way writers write) fell upon a fellow reporter, E. D. Alexander, a solemn-faced individual who was known for his practical jokes.

(Incidentally, we worked side-by-side as his desk was next to mine.) Marching to his place where he was panning away on the typewriter, I slammed the letter down and demanded, "What do you know about this?"

He looked up and said, "So you did get it!"

For two years he had wondered whether it had ever been received—but he could not ask without the city revealing that he was the perpetrator or at least that he knew about it. We had a laugh and I told the others in the office and they were amused, too.

But that was not quite the end of the story of the treasure. The office boy ("copy boy" is the newspaper term) asked for the letter and the map as souvenirs. He took them home and one day, while he was at work, an older brother came across the documents. He did not know anything about the story and was so fascinated by the details that he went out to Mary's Creek and dug all day for the $13,000 in gold (which had never existed), belonging to the late Pete, Ranger's hermit (who never existed, either). When the "copy boy" told him the facts that night, the man was very mad. And that is my treasure experience.

ABOUT YOUR HEALTH

This September, 262,420 children are expected to enter the public schools of Texas for the first time according to estimates of the Texas Education Agency.

Estimates are based on births six years ago, immigration estimates and projected birth-to-death ratios.

Nearly all public school districts in Texas require proof-of-age in the form of a birth certificate or a suitable certified copy stating that they are six years old on or before September 1.

During July and August, because of the increased demand for birth certificate copies, the Division of Vital Statistics of the Texas State Department of Health is one of the busiest places in Texas.

At the peak periods more than a thousand requests for certified copies must be processed daily.

After the request is received with the correct information and fee properly accounted, a card is prepared which serves as a record of the transaction and an aid in locating the original record.

A special searching crew—extra personnel are needed during peak periods—locates the original birth certificate from information furnished on the record card.

Unless there is a complication such as incorrect or incomplete information, searching takes a short while by using an index especially designed for school searches.

The original certificate is photostated, officially signed and sealed, and mailed to the person requesting the copy.

A record is kept of the transaction for accounting purpose with appropriate listings.

Parents who have a child entering the first grade this year should check with the superintendent of school regarding local regulations.

A certified copy of birth may be obtained from a local registrar county clerk, or the Division of Vital Statistics of the Texas State Department of Health, 410 East 5th Street, Austin, Texas.

Enclose one dollar with the child's name, date and place of birth, and the parents' names.
