ning at 10:30 in the

Hughes and Ragsdale to Head Mav Coaching Staff

Shelton to Remain As Local Faculty Member

A change in coaching staffs at Eastland High School was revealed Saturday with the release of the list of principals and teachers by Supt. Wendell Siebert.

James (Jimmy) Hughes, a veteran of 14 years in the coaching and teaching profession, is new head coach replacing Carrol Shelton, and Hughes will have as his assistant Bennett Ragsdale, a former member of the E. H. S. coaching staff. Hughes will also serve as athletic director.

Shelton asked to be relieved of his coaching assignment. He has coached here for eight years and piloted the Mavericks to the semifinals in the 1956 football campaign. No other Eastland team has ever advanced that far in school football. He will remain as a member of the school faculty as a science teacher. He is attending summer school at Texas Tech in Lubbock most of this summer on a science grant.

Hughes has previously taught and coached at Pyote, Kermit, Carbon and Eastland. He came to Eastland from Kermit in 1954 as Junior High Coach and moved to the high school the next year as line coach. For the last four years he has worked out of the Eastland County superintendent's office as a cooperative supervisor between Ranger and Eastland. He holds a B. S. degree from Howard Payne and a master of education degree from Sul Ross College.

Ragsdale is a graduate of Junction High School where he was active in football, basketball and track. He attended Texas A & M and participated in football and track, graduating in 1957. He came to Eastland in the Spring of 1958 from service with the Army to replace Jon Tate who had been called to active duty. He returned the next year on a full time basis as mathematics teacher and assistant coach. Last Spring he was awarded a National Science Foundation Academic Year Institute grant at the University of Texas to do graduate work and he has been in attendance there for the entire 1960-61 school year. As a mathematics major he will head up the math department in Eastland High School next year and will also be assistant coach. He (Continued on Page Six)

Australian Capitol Is Beautiful Place

By JOSEPH M. PERKINS

While in Sidney we inquired about going to see Canberra, the Australian capitol. We got conflicting views about. Some said we should not miss seeing it while others took the opposite view. We decided to see for ourselves and left Sidney on an early morning train, had several hours there and returned to Sydney late that same day. The trip took five hours each way through fairly well wooded country with occasional views of running streams and some rugged canyons. In one area we saw many large ant hills that were comical piles of yellow dirt four to six feet tall and with very nearly vertical sides. I wondered how many "ant hours" were required to build each one. We were in an air conditioned train with modern coaches yet our ride was the roughest train ride I can ever recall. This was due to relatively high speed over an exceedingly poor track. Canberra is at the end of a branch line and upon our arrival we found the railroad station to be small shabby wooden structure, not nearly as attractive as ours in Eastland.

Forty seven years ago Canberra was founded as the national capitol on a large land grant transferred from New South Wales, and known as the Australian Capitol Territory. Architects throughout the world were invited to submit plans for its design and that submitted by a Chicago architect was chosen. His design has been pretty faithfully carried out up to the present time. The city is situated in a broad river valley at an elevation of 2000 feet. It covers a tract seven miles wide and 22 miles long on both sides of a river. The architect, Walter Burley Griffin, planned several lakes and reflecting lagoons and work on these is continuing. Soon after taking over the 910 square miles of the Australian Capitol Territory, the Commonwealth established a plant and tree nursery the intention being to make Canberra truly a garden city, starting from a nearly treeless plain. Today there are millions of trees and shrubs thriving in the city area, and in addition, a timber growing forest is already producing millions of feet of pine timber annually.

We left the railroad station in a bus which immediately took us through attractive winding streets and avenues to the Civic Center, one of the three business centers of Canberra. After lunch we took a bus tour of the city which started at the Tourist Bureau and stopped at many interesting places. Our first stop was at the Parish Church of All Saints, originally a railroad station built in 1868 at Roakwood Cemetery in Sydney, where it became the last stop for many. Lions Take Undisputed Lead In Little League By Beating Comets

The Lions pushed back into undisputed lead in Eastland Little League play Thursday night with a 3-8 victory over the second place Comets and the Bulldogs moved to within one game of second place with a 5-2 win over the Medies.

Both games went six innings and both could have gone either way. The Lions edged out front 3-2 in the first inning, then made it 6-2 before the Comets fought back in the third frame to make it 6-4. The Lions pushed their lead to 9-5 in the fourth, then the Comets whittled away at the lead in the last two frames, falling just one run short. Ronnie Hughes was the winning pitcher. In the nightcap, the Dogs overcame a 2-1 deficit in the fourth inning to take a 3-2 lead, then added two more runs in the fifth to wrap up the game. A homerun by Jerry Hollis was the big hit of the game.

Monday night the Lions play the Bulldogs and the Comets take on the Medies.

Vacation Bible School at Church Of Christ Begins

The teachers are ready! The materials are ready! A lot of Bible scholars are ready! And everything is all set to begin at the Vacation Bible School of the church Christ.

A unique feature of the school this year is that it will be conducted in the evening. This will give parents as well as children a chance to attend. There are classes for all ages from nursery through teenage and an adult class. General theme for study this year is: "They Met Jesus". They are Practical lessons taken from meetings that Jesus had with different persons while He was here on earth, and recorded in the Scriptures.

Important subjects to be studied by the adult class, with Bro. Gary B. Adams as teacher, are: Final Events, including: Christ's Second Coming; The Present State of the Dead and the Resurrection; The Judgment Scene; The Home of the Soul and The Eternal Abode of the Wicked.

The school will be conducted in class rooms at the building of the church of Christ, from Monday, June 5, through Friday June 9. Classes will begin with a general assembly in the auditorium at 7:30 and the activities of each evening will be completely finished at 9:30. Everyone is cordially invited to attend Vacation Bible School in the cool of the evening, beginning next Monday at church of Christ.

Jerry Lewis - The many faces of a Ladies' Man

THE LADIES MAN—Jerry Lewis, pictured above in the many versions of a ladies' man, returns to the screen at his hilarious best in "The Ladies' Man," starting Sunday and Monday at the Majestic Theatre. Filmed in technicolor, the picture stars Jerry in a role that is tailor-made for him, which is not surprising considering the fact that he also wrote it. In addition he touched all the other creative bases by producing and directing it as well. But to get back to the picture, the story concerns the pickle in which a bashful young woman-hater finds himself when he takes on a job of house-boy in a boarding house populated exclusively by comely young girls. And his attempts to repel the predatory advances of the assorted redheads, blondes and brunets are as funny as anything that the clown-prince has one heretofore.

Popular with both classmates and teachers in college, Vic is a courteous and capable student and a conscientious worker. Always well groomed, this blonde, blue-eyed young man has an agreeable and pleasing personality.

His hobbies and interests include water and other outdoor sports. He especially enjoys water skiing and hunting.

The bodice molded to the waist and featured a portrait neckline banded with beaded lace to form the scalloped edge. Bracelet length sleeves were complimented by imported wrist length gloves. The skirt, flat paneled in front was enhanced with an overlaid band of lace extending the full front of the gown from neckline to hemline. Fullness extending from either side swept to the circular court train. The finger tip multi-tiered veil of silk illusion was caught to a crown of seed pearls. She carried a lace handkerchief belonging to her grandmother and imported from France in 1918. Her only jewelry was a single drop pearl. She carried a Bible arrangement of white roses complimented by a shower of pearls.

Cattle Theft Still Problem Texas Ranchers

Modern transportation methods, tranquilizer pellets thrust into the victimized animals, and shade tree butchering places have updated rustlers' techniques and often make them more difficult to apprehend.

The Texas and Southwest Cattle Raisers Association, one of the finest industry-sponsored self-policing organizations in the world, works against these modern odds to throw fear into would-be thieves and to catch and convict a high percentage of actual offenders.

Change-of-Life Making You Only Half a Woman?

Too tense too tired to be a real companion to your husband? Women's medicine can relieve "flashes", weakness, nervousness...

The TSCRA has 31 well-trained and coordinated field inspectors located in Texas and Oklahoma who have not only a thorough knowledge of cattle but also a working knowledge of modern crime detecting techniques.

This makes cattle theft—which might otherwise be appealing to the criminal mind—one of the least defensible crimes in our state. Cattle branding, as always, is crucially important for owner protection against thievery.

Even with modern detection methods and updated ranching techniques, the age-old menace of pioneer days is still with us, however.

AUSTIN REPORT

By SCOTT BAILEY REP. OF 76th DISTRICT

The regular session of the 57th Legislature ended Monday, May 29. In reviewing your Representative's Legislative program during the 57th Session, I would like to submit a brief summary of some of the measures I have introduced and their disposition:

1. House Bill 330. This bill relates to the investment procedure as authorized in the Texas Probate Code. House Bill 330 was referred to the House Judiciary Committee. From there, it went to a Sub-Committee, which reported it favorably. At that time, the Senate had passed the same procedure as House Bill 330. In order to expedite this bill's legislative route, I moved to substitute Senate Bill 38 for House Bill 330. I was able to gain passage of this measure and it is now Texas Law. Under the terms of this act, trustees may invest a minor's excess funds in Federally Insured savings accounts. This law will be of real benefit to the smaller towns and cities, where other types of investments are not available.

2. House Bill 503. This measure, which passed the House of Representatives last week, will allow the State Parks Board to contract with local units of Government for the operation of park facilities. This was a much needed provision and was recommended by the Texas Research League. It is now pending in the Texas Senate.

3. House Bill 900. This measure would save the State Available School Fund about $500,000 a year, by reallocating the per capita funds that now go to wealthy 'budget balanced' school districts. I was able to embody this proposal in House Bill 334, and secured final passage in the House of Representatives. The Texas Senate has now deleted this feature from House Bill 334, however.

4. House Bill 709. This measure is a reorganization proposal which would place the executive director of the Game and Fish Commission under the Constitutional Oath of Office. It also requires that he be bonded. The Committee on Game and Fisheries has okayed this measure and I hope to gain final passage of it this week.

5. House Concurrent Resolution No. 38. After considerable delay in getting this measure approved by the Rules Committee, it was passed by the House of Representatives, has now cleared the Senate and been signed by the Governor. This proposal granted permission to the Veterans of World War One to erect a monument on the Capitol grounds. This monument will be subject to the approval of the Board of Control and will be erected at no cost to the State. A number of World War One Veterans came to Austin for the formal signing ceremony of this resolution.

I have listed the successful measures that I have sponsored; now I will list some that have been, so far, unsuccessful:

6. House Bill 615. This measure sought to clarify the Title Limitations Law in Texas. It was referred to the Judiciary Committee and from there to a Sub-Committee which has yet to take any action.

7. House Joint Resolution 65. This is a proposed Constitutional Amendment which would divert the two per cent ad valorem tax money which was formerly used for Confederate pensions, into a fund to be used for the relief of needy and destitute aging veterans.

and their widows. At present this money is being spent to erect large, luxurious office buildings near the Capitol grounds. HJR No. 65 was referred to the Committee on Constitutional Amendments and after a public hearing was referred to an unfavorable Sub-Committee, which has yet to take any action at all.

8. House Bill 513. This bill was one of the Uniform Law Enforcement Acts, which was designed to curb the lost and found reward racket carried on in connection with the theft of dogs. After introducing this bill, it was learned that the Criminal Jurisprudence Committee in the Senate had favorably reported a similar bill and thereby making it unnecessary to proceed further with House Bill 513.

As you probably know, most of the real work of the Legislative process is done in Committees and in Sub-Committees. In serving on five House Committees, which met regularly, I was able to gain valuable knowledge and experience in a broad area of State Government. The office of State Representative has been challenging and highly rewarding in its experience. I would like to extend my personal thanks to all the people who have been kind enough to contact and advise me during some of these very trying hours in the Legislature. My heartiest commendations are extended to the newspapers and radio stations, for their cooperation in helping me to better serve the good people of West Central Texas.

Card of Thanks

From the depths of a sincerely grateful heart, I want to say Thank You to everyone who, in any way, contributed to my well-being during my stay in the Eastland Memorial Hospital.

To Dr. Treadwell, the nurses, to those responsible for the delicious food—to the entire hospital staff. I say Thank you and may God bless you.

To friends and neighbors, for their many wishes and prayers and for the beautiful flowers. I shall never forget you.

Mrs. L. B. (Dessie) Reed

things, and for thy pleasure they are and were created."

One of the correlative passages to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy states (p. 207): "There is but one primal cause. Therefore there can be no effect from any other cause, and there can be no reality in aught which does not proceed from this great and only cause."

The Golden Text is from Psalm 72: "Blessed be the Lord God, the God of Israel, who only doeth wondrous things."

of disease it was purchased by the Church authorities of Canberra and was moved, stone by stone, and reassembled at its present location where it is in constant use. It is regarded as one of the most beautiful pieces of mid-Victorian church architecture. Later we visited the War Memorial, an impressive museum with its central Hall of Memories in which we found war trophies, statues, dioramas and oil paintings of the war activities with emphasis on World War I. On the ground there is the remains of a Japanese midget submarine, trapped and destroyed in Sydney Harbour during World War II.

Our bus ride continued along tree lined avenues passing privately occupied homes, each in its attractively located plots of ground with flowering trees and shrubs with considerable space between it and its neighbors. Open spaces and parks were frequent with every advantage of the topography was utilized to produce a pleasing effect. Most of the homes were of brick with steep roofs covered with very thick orange, red and dark brown vitrified tiles which added great beauty. In one section we passed the legation building, with their distinctive national architecture and we were told that the United States was the first country to build its legation headquarters in Canberra.

It is interesting to know that no land within the Capital Territory can be purchased. All lands for residential or business purposes are leased for 99 years at rentals subject to reappraisal every 20 years. These leases generally include covenants requiring the start and completion of approved buildings within specified times and define the purpose for which the land may be used.

Before leaving Canberra we visited Parliament Building and sat in the visitor's gallery in the House of Representatives for a few minutes and listened to a discussion concerning laws governing the sales of automobiles in Australia.

We left Canberra at the season when the autumn colors were just beginning to appear. Spring blossoms start in August with the wattles, hawthorns late in October, roses in November and December.

While we approached this city of 54,000 residents with some doubt, we left it with the feeling that we had seen a planned capital city off to a good start and that eventually it will become one of the world's most beautiful cities.
