MOORE about ... EASTLAND

by Dirgil E. Moore

Two Ranger women', Mrs. Billy Highsmith and Mrs. W. N. Miller dropped by to show us a couple of purses they made from pop-cycle sticks. The purses were really nice, and we were informed that they also make lamp shades, fruit baskets and planter boxes with the sticks.

Terry Treadwell, winner of the FBI contest, had to do some strong ards. Remember, "Don't give fire these two conservation needs of the land.

a preacher. 'That's wonderful," his mother exclaimed, "what made you decide that?"

The boy shrugged and replied, Well, I've got to go to church all my life, and I think it's harder to sit still and be quite than to stand up and holler."

We want to join the group wh urging definite steps forward far as the Eastland High band is concerned. The band will have 70 members next year, and will need that many uniforms. That represents a lot of money and it will require a lot of work to raise that much money. You are going to have to help.

These new small cars may well be the rave this year. Its going to be nice for lots of folks who haven't been able to get their big cars in their home garages for the past six years, That's a question that no one can honestly answer. Teams of 30 years ago of course don't play teams of today. The rules they play under aren't the same as they were then. Just this year, for example, the goal posts have been widened. A fellow like Ranger's Buster Mills would have a lot of fun with the present goal posts as he could kick a field goal from midfield just about anytime he wanted to. But the art of dropkicking has passed out of the picture, perhaps the new goal posts i will help bring it back.

But as a whole, I think the football played a generation ago by high schools was perhaps a little
