Mineral Wells To Stage Annual Rodeo June 16

Mineral Wells is going all out in preparation for the 23rd annual rodeo of the Palo Pinto County Livestock Association three nights next week, June 16-17-18. All performances, beginning at 8:15 are to be held at the modern arena east of town. The colorful parade is scheduled for 5 p.m. Thursday, June 16th.

This is the second year for the Quarter Horse Show and spectators are admitted free. A number of riding clubs in this area have indicated they will participate in the parade Thursday afternoon and in the grand entry at the rodeo that night. Boyce House Retells Story of Old Rip Without dateline or word of explanation: "First Straphanger—They say he was flat as a dollar. Second Straphanger—Well, you would be, too, if you'd had a whole court-house resting on your chest for 11 years." It was said that no achievement by an individual, except Lindbergh's lone flight across the Atlantic, had ever received as much newspaper space. Old Rip, as the frog was christened, was declared to be the most famous animal since the serpent in the Garden of Eden.

Some weeks after the cornerstone opening, spring began and the hibernation season ended, vast numbers of horned frogs made their appearance. Thousands were shipped to the North and East, and even to foreign lands, as souvenirs. A representative of the United States Department of Agriculture warned that, because the creatures kept in check insects which were injurious, nature's balance was in danger of being upset; and there was a proposal that the Texas Legislature bar their shipments.

Meanwhile, Old Rip had gone to Dallas to be exhibited in a theatre but Judge Pritchard, claiming the frog as county property, ordered his return to Eastland; so he was brought back. After some weeks, Old Rip set out on a tour of the nation. In Dallas, he was "arrested" as the theatrical promoter had sued, alleging breach of contract. Will Wood—(remember the lad who had originally owned the creature?)—arranged for the frog's freedom on bond and the trip continued. In St. Louis, 40,000 persons filed by in a single day, a record for that city's zoo for an individual attraction. In New York City a news reel with sound (this was in the early days of "talkies") was made, with Will Wood doing the talking; a crew of eighteen men was required and the cost was approximately $5,000.

It was in Washington that the frog achieved his greatest triumph: a call on Calvin Coolidge in the White House. Incidentally, through a misunderstanding, the Eastland frog kept the president of the United States waiting fifteen minutes. Old Rip looked at Coolidge and Coolidge looked at Old Rip. Ne'er spoke. At last the president broke the stillness. "Silent Cal" had met his match. The frog returned to Eastland and Wood kept him at home in a bowl. One day a "norther" struck and the layer of sand and rocks in the bowl was inadequate to shield him from the sudden and intense cold. When Wood went to feed Old Rip, he found the frog lifeless. The date was January 19, 1929. He had lived eleven months and one day after emerging from the cornerstone.

Is the story really true? M. W. McMinn, a merchant in nearby Olden, said he saw a live frog placed in the cornerstone in 1897; and Ernest Wood said he saw it placed there. And thirty-one years later, hundreds saw the cornerstone opened and a live frog removed.

A bit of corroboration was the finding in the stone of a faded piece of paper on which Wood had written the names of his sons, Harry and Will—(the paper called the latter Willie, which had been his nickname in 1897). Here is another perhaps significant circumstance. When a horned frog hibernates, he sheds his horns but they grow back. When Old Rip came out, (it was still hibernating season) his horns were gone and they never grew back. Could this have indicated an unusual ordeal, such as being sealed up for three decades? There are many men in prisons all over the nation, sent there on circumstantial evidence no stronger than that in the case of Old Rip.

Wayland High School Is Proof Dreams Come True

By VIRGIL MOORE "Dreams are fine, but let's see you back up this one with some proven facts." That's the pointed statement this reporter fired at Dr. James Whittington this week in an interview arranged to learn more about the proposed tri-city high school. Dr. Whittington didn't back up. He reached quickly into his desk drawer, pulled out a blue-backed booklet and passed it across the desk. Its title is "Profiles of Significant Schools."

"You read this," Dr. Whittington said, "then if you have any more questions call me." As the reporter left his office the medical specialist threw him one more thought. "Just remember," he said, "that there were 1,151 high school students in Eastland County last year."

The booklet contains 28 pages and this reporter started to give it a once over lightly. Flipping to page 21, however, his interest became aroused. "Wayland Senior High School is designed for 850 students in grades nine, 10, 11 and 12," the booklet informed.

With that in mind the reporter turned back over to page one again and took a long look at the picture of the Wayland, Mass. school plant, which will open classes this coming September. The layout looks more like a small college. In the background is a winding lake, which immediately makes one think of Lake Leon.

The plant is divided into a physical education center, including a large gymnasium, locker rooms and indoor exercise rooms. There is one building for the math and sciences department, another for social studies and business, another for languages, another for arts and a fifth for administration. Noticeable throughout the buildings are numerous conference rooms. The math and sciences building contains six conference rooms, a reference area, two math classrooms, a science shop, and labs for physics, chemistry and biology. In addition there is a large lecture room.

Both the languages and social studies and business buildings have reference rooms, many conference rooms, and staff rooms. The social studies and business buildings has three large classrooms, as does the languages department. The language building also features a reference area, large lecture room and a language laboratory.

The arts center houses the music department, library, little theatre, and classrooms for arts and crafts, drafting and independent arts. It is equipped with electronic recording and playback devices. A closed circuit television station is even included.

The administration building has staff rooms, health room, guidance room, offices and the cafeteria and kitchen. The most striking physical departure in the Wayland plan is the domed field house. By means of this design, the school is given 41,000 square feet of enclosed space not limited by or to the dimensions of a basketball court. The field house will be used not only for basketball, for all-school assemblies, town meetings, indoor football and baseball practice, indoor track and field practice and calisthenics. The aim behind the field house is to provide physical education for all students, not just the basketball team or other interschool competitors. When the Gilmer-Aiken committee made a study of Eastland County, high school physical education was the thing most criticized.

The school was made as appealing as possible, within price limitations. The plant includes a central courtyard, glass walls and attractive plantings. Wayland stresses the fact that the school plant is for use of the community as a whole and not just for students. The reporter finished reading the book, from front cover to back. Then he picked up the scratch pad he had written a few questions on and returned to Dr. Whittington's office.

He fired these questions at Dr. Whittington and got these replies: Q—While this seems to be an ideal plant, I noticed that the school was bid in at $1,463,373. Do you propose that these three communities could afford such a plant? A—We could afford it, but I do not contemplate spending that amount of money. In the first place the cost of the site for the Wayland plant was $63,000. And in the second place, we do not need quite as large a plant, since we will have a few less students in the three district area. The most important thing to remember, however, is that we can get things done cheaper here than in most places. We have learned how in building the Lone Cedar Country Club and Eastland Memorial Hospital. Remember, we have a country club plant which is valued at $250,000 and it cost us just $100,000. And remember too that Eastland Memorial Hospital was built at a cost of $1,800 a bed while the national average is $22,000 per bed. We can afford the plant at what it would cost us if we want it for our children.

Q—Do you believe that the three communities are actually ready for this big step? Isn't this something that we should be planning for in the years to come, say 10 or 15 years from now? A—I think the people of this area want what is best for their children. And I think now is the time. Ten years from now we will be in even a more serious condition if something isn't done now. We are gradually losing out, and we need to begin our rebuilding now, not 10 years from now when it will be too late.

Q—You must realize, of course, the close competition which exists between these towns? Do you think they can work together? A—They have worked together before (on Laie Leon) and they must work together in the future if they wish to survive.

Wcman Dies In Crash West of Cisco Tuesday

Eastland County was charged with another fatality this week when a car and truck smashed together five miles west of Cisco on Highway 80.

Dead is Mrs. Dolphia Slayter, 53, of Route 1, Crannell, Calif. Her husband, Oliver P. Slayter, was seriously injured and her daughter, Rosie, 17, suffered cuts and bruises. Driver of the other vehicle, W. V. Gardenhire of Cisco, suffered head injuries and cuts and bruises in the accident.

The accident occurred early Tuesday morning. The Slayter family was driving east in an English made Rover sedan, a small car, and it collided with the truck driven by Gardenhire, who was driving west. The car was demolished and the truck heavily damaged.

Officers said Gardenhire had just pulled onto the highway from a side road, and that Slayter was attempting to pass another car when the two vehicles collided.

Earl J. Smith Participates In Army Exercise

Army PFC Earl J. Smith, son of Austin Smith, Rising Star, recently participated with other personnel from the 8th Division's 26th Infantry in Operation Bayonet Blue in Germany. The field training exercise, conducted under realistic combat conditions, was designed to determine the effectiveness of units of the 8th Infantry Division, a major element of the NATO shield of defense in Europe.

Smith, who arrived overseas in April 1959 on this tour of duty, is an assistant gunner in the infantry's Company B in Baum holder.

courthouse stands a glass tomb and several thousand persons each year view the frog's mummy which, it has been said, will last as long as the mummies of the Pharaohs. Above each entrance of the temple of justice there is a star and between each point there is the sculptured likeness of the frog and so it be truly stated that the beautiful five-story courthouse of brick and stone is a memorial to Old Rip, the horned frog that is a legend.

Mrs. Neil Day Is Installed As CWF President at Tea Monday

Mrs. Neil Day was installed as the new president of the Christian Woman's Fellowship of the First Christian Church when the members of the Fellowship were honored at the installation tea.

The annex of the church was the scene of the tea Monday afternoon at 3 p.m.

Other officers installed with Mrs. Day were Mrs. Curtis Young, vice-president; Mrs. R. L. Carpenter, secretary; Mrs. Jack Chamberlain, treasurer; Mrs. Mac Beazley, service chairman and Mrs. L. C. McNatt, world call chairman.

"Set Our Feet on Lofty Places" was the program theme for 1960-61, the basic of the installation ceremony. The installation service was opened with the hymn, "Where He Leads Me I Will Follow."

After the meeting was opened with the hymn, "Stepping in the Light," accompanied by Mrs. D. S. Buchanan, Mrs. L. E. Huckabay gave the invocation.

Mrs. Joe Tow, out-going president, presided over the meeting with Mrs. Ray Pool, out-going secretary, assisting by reading the minutes of the previous meeting. Mrs. Tow presented a review of the year's work.

Mrs. Huckabay presented an appreciation address to Mrs. Tow for her work she had done for the CWF during her term as president.

Appreciation gifts were presented to Mrs. Tow and Mrs. Pool by Mrs. Chamberlain. A wedding gift was also presented to Mr. and Mrs. Dicky Evatt.

Mrs. Lon Horn, chairman of the Lydia Group, and Mrs. Carpenter, chairman of the Esther Group, were presented with gifts from their groups.

Mrs. Tow, who was hostess for the tea, presided over the silver tea service with Mrs. Carpenter assisting in serving the strawberry cake, nuts and mints.

The silver service was placed with other appointments of silver and crystal on a serving table laid with a white cut work cloth. An arrangement of assorted garden flowers centered the table.

Eighteen members and guests attended the tea.

CONTINGENCIES In this unpredictable life of ours, it is the law's business to take a long look into the future and say what would "happen if." For in your contracts, leases, wills, insurance policies, escrows, and the like, you had better say what would "happen if" some of your best laid plans go awry. Such events the law calls "contingencies."

Who gets the "earnest money" you put down, if you cannot go through with buying that house? What if you want to pay up that loan and save interest? What happens if a partnership goes sour, or a partner gets sick or dies? What happens if the people you name in your will should die before you do, or, you all perish in a common catastrophe like a car smashup?

The law is wise but it cannot do your thinking for you. It settles such questions—but not always to your liking. If you don't make a will, the law says who shall get your property. If you leave certain things out of a contract, the law assures that you meant to put some certain things in. But how much better it would be in the first place to put them in the way you want them, by asking "what if?"

Take your will now: Your first desire, of course, is to take care of your wife and children—those nearest to you. But it won't hurt anything to put "contingent beneficiaries" in your will in case something happens to thwart your first intentions.

Review your will every year or so to see if it meets the new things that come up, or arrange with your lawyer to write in "contingent beneficiaries"—those who will receive your property if your first beneficiaries should die before you do.

You may long have had your son provided for in your will, but what about those lovely grandchildren he and his wife have presented to you since you wrote that will? What would happen to them if things go wrong and your son should die before you?

Or take your widowed sister and her children now. Suppose you and your immediate family should be wiped out: Would you want your property to go equally to her and to your well-heeled bachelor brother? Or would you prefer to leave your brother some token of your affection, and then really take care of your sister?

You may be impatient with the law's long memory. Such things never happen, you think, but the court records are full of plans which failed. And so the law has ways in which you can provide for "what happens—if." One way is the device of contingent beneficiaries in your will and insurance policies.

Veterans-years we have invested more than $8,000 in this form of insurance. More than 16,000 World War I veterans still hold U.S. Government life insurance term policies.

which originated in World War I. More than 312,000 veterans of this war have converted their term policies. National Service Life Insurance originated in World War II is held by about 5,307,000 veterans in policies with a face value of nearly $35-billion. Of these younger veterans, some 2,191,000 have converted to permanent insurance, and 3,116,000 continue with term protection.

"Mounting costs can become prohibitive as the years go by," Onstot said. "For instance, a term GI insurance policy that carries an annual premium of $9-a-thousand at age 35, jumps to an annual premium of $47-a-thousand at age 55, and to $73.16-a-thousand at age 70."

Onstot emphasized that VA is not trying to tell individual veterans how to handle their insurance programs. "The individual program," he said, "depends on the circumstances of each veteran's financial situation, and his total insurance plans and program. We do believe each policyholder should review his GI insurance holdings periodically to be sure they meet his current and long-range needs."

CHEVROLET

OUT WHERE THE COUNTRY CAN TEAR A TRUCK TO PIECES-

Chevy middleweights get 1/3 more work done in a day!

Where they used to deliver 2,300 gallons of liquefied petroleum gas in other trucks, Petrolane Gas Service of Long Beach, California, can now deliver 3,500 gallons a day! That's 7 days a week usually, over back trails and up into high rock country with maximum GVW loads. And with Chevy's Torsion-Spring Ride paving every foot of the way! "You don't get any more jolting on washboard roads than you do in a passenger car, or any sidesway on curves," says driver Bernie Stone. "I used to take some rough roads at from 5 to 8 miles an hour. Now I can go 30 over them." Petrolane has over 200 Chevrolets hauling for them.

If you think we're excited about Chevy's independent front suspension, you ought to talk to the truck owners who are profiting by it. They'll tell you Chevy's torsion-spring design is the hottest thing to hit the industry since trucks began. Drive one—that's the proof, short and sweet.
