The week-old South Georgia blaze also appears under control. Behind the menacing fire fronts some 47,000 acres of valuable timber land lay charred and useless. Veteran forest rangers said only heavy rains could remove the dauger from the drought-stricken sections of the two states.

Florida State Forester C. H. Coulter reported the fire near Foley has ravaged 32,000 acres of timber and swamp land and be-come the most destructive blaze in State Forest Service history. He said artificial rainmaking probably wil be tried if suitable cloud formations occur. Guyton DeLoach, director of the Georgia Forestry Commission, said volunteers and Forestry Department employes had thrown up fire lines around the blaze. "Unless the wind changes, I think it's a car accident near Gladewater.

The teens are the years when women are feeling their way toward beauty, and the habits formed during these years form the basis for mature beauty. Elinor Donahue passes on some good advice which you will find good advice which you will find valuable if you are a teen-ager — or if you know a teen-ager who would benefit from some solid "growing up" advice. #### Cross-Filing Is Crossed Out

The bill to abolish the cross-filing of names on Texas election ballots was adopted by the Senate by voice vote and sent the governor for his signature.

This law repeals the one adopted in 1951 providing for cross-filing. It was introduced in the House by Rep. Maury Maverick of San Antonio and adopted by an overwhelming majority there, just short of unanimity. In the Senate the single voice of Sena-tor George Parkhouse of Dallas was raised Presumably Governor Shivers will approve it, though he neither endorsed nor opposed it, but said it makes no difference, one way or the other. Along with all other Democratic state candidates in 1982 except Agriculture Commissioner John C. White, the governor was cross-filed by the Repub-

Thus a highly controversial and mischievous chapter in the election laws of Texas will come to an end, when and if the governor affixes his signature. And thus an obstacle to the eventual reunion of mocratic factions in this state will be removed, for the cross-filing law tended to divide the party and confuse the voters.

California, which may be the inventor of this curious cross-filing system, has now modified it in the light of experience. As we understand it, cross-filing will still be in vogue in that state, but every candidate must choose a party and print the symbol of his party opposite his name on the bal-

Cross-filing was confusing to many voters in Texas, and added to election costs. Fundamentally, it hardly seems likely that the desirable goal of a two-party system in Texas could possibly be furthered and hastened by a law which in effect obliterates party lines. Identification with a specific party is essential if there is to be party responsibility, and if the party is made to live up to it.

The confusion of cross-filing tended to take party control out of the hands of the rank and file and place it in the hands of the politicians. So it's good riddance of bad rubbish.

Pay Is Military Incentive, Too

cast the lone adverse vote. The measure now goes to the Senate where approval is expected. It is a mere authorization; Congress must still vote the necessary funds to make it effective, estimated at $742 million. However, no hitch is expected with that formality. If passed finally and approved, it would go into effect with the pay day following presidential approval.

However, if the raise does result in attracting enough volunteers and re-enlist-ments, and stops the serious drift of professional soldiers into better paying jobs in industry and commerce, it is questionable whether the draft could be or should be dispensed with entirely.

For the foreseeable future this country will have to keep its armed strength up to par, and the draft should be kept on the books whether used or not, for only a major emergency would be likely to induce Congress to re-enset it if need should

In the kind of world we live in we should accept as a condition of life that every able young man owes some service to his country, if only in emergency; and the draft is the only way of insuring that needed service when the chips are down,

In lieu of universal military tranling, which Congress has always been dead set against through what seems to us unwarranted fear of political consequences, maintenance of the fraft in at least standby form should be a must as long as the world continues in its unsettled state. But military services built mainly on career men is at once the most effectvie and economical system of national security, and Congress has made a real contribution to that ideal. By inducing men to stay in service the high cost of training can be materially reduced.

Long-Range Missiles Will Tell The Story

WASHINGTON - Within the last year there have been vitally important technological break-throughs in the art of the long-range missile. These break-throughs have made possible a sudden spurt of progress in the missile art - progress the target - even assuming that it could described as "fabulous" by one authority not given to exaggeration.

As a result, there are now serious plans for launching an artificial earth satellite, if possible in two years. But the breakughs have also brought nearer the time of the true push-button war - the time when one continent can inflict a murderous hail of nuclear destruction on

Clearly, the whole national future is bound up in our progress in the missile art. This report and another to follow will therefore be devoted to the basic facts about our long-range missile program. What follows has, incidentally, been vetted by competent authority to make sure that it contains nothing useful to Soviet intel-

The long-range missiles fall conveniently into three categories — the jet-powered pilotless aircraft, the ram jet, and the intercontinental ballistics missile, respectively known as SNARK, NAVAHO, and

With SNARK we have put at least a big toe over the threshold of the age of the push-button war. SNARK has intercontinental range - 5,000 miles. And SNARK exists. The "bird" - to use the word of art of the missile men — has flown. The trouble is that it is not really a very useful war bird, although it is an impressive technical achievement.

SNARK - thirty-odd feet long, built by Northrup Aircraft — flies just under the speed of sound, which is barely lumbering along in the missile range, It flies high, over 50,000 feet, but not too high for the best Soviet fighters. A machine flying under the speed of sound on an undeviating, trackable course over hundreds of miles of heavily defended enemy territory is hardly a sure thing to reach be guided to the target with absolute

For such reasons, there is a minority view in the Pentagon that the attempt to develop SNARK as a war weapon should be abandoned. This view has been over ruled. But it is clear that, even if SNARK were fully operational and in quantity production - which it is not - the main striking job would still have to be done by Gen. Curtis LeMay's Strategic Air Command. SAC's job will soon be made easier, incidentally, by RASCAL, another missile name worth remembering. RASCAL is the short-range air-to-ground missile which will greatly complicate the task of the Soviet air defense.

With NAVAHO, we will step right over the threshold, into the age of the pushbutton war. NAVAHO is a ram jet and true guided missile - unlike its big brother ATLAS, it is guided all the way to the target, by the stars. Also unlike its big brother, it cannot leave the earth's surrounding envelope of air. It flies, or will fly, at 60,000 to 80,000 feet, and at slightly under three times the speed of sound.

This bird, too, has flown. At least, the air frame of NAVAHO has been air-tested. But there is a long way between testing an air frame and fitting the frame with ram jet engines capable of pushing both frame and warhead from one continent to another, Moreover, although there have been big break-throughs in the guidance problem - the toughest in the missile art — the problem of bringing NAVAHO roaring down precisely on a target half a world away has by no means been Even so, an informed private guess is that NAVAHO could be made operational, given a major effort, within three years — this is not, it should be said, the official scheduling, which would, of course, interest Soviet intelligence. When NAVA-HO is operational and in quantity production we will have taken a huge step for-ward in the missile art.

But NAVAHO will not be the final step. Even at three times the speed of sound, such a missile will give some warning of its approach. And a missile which travels within the atmosphere on an undeviating course can be tracked, and it can very probably be brought down, if not with existing weapons, with weapons of the future.

Moreover, since every pound of weight the warhead sharply reduces the range of a ram jet, there is some doubt that NAVAHO will be able to carry a bulky hydrogen bomb for the distance required. such reasons, NAVAHO is not the final, decisive weapon, The decisive weapon is ATLAS, the in-tercontinental ballistics missile, simply because there is no known defeat what-soever against intercontinental ballistics nissile. This is why the LB.M., which will be described in another report on the long-range missiles, will finally determine the balance of power in the age of the push-button war, which is now almost up-

MEXICO CITY IN—The United States and Argentina led the way into the second day of competition to-day in the Pan-American Games. Most observers looked for the United States to move further in front by nightfall in this pre-Olympic struggle.

Argentina, on the basis of two gold medal victories in track and field, held a 25-16 lead over the United States in this department. But in the over-all picture of an 18-sport program, the United States late last night took the lead in unofficial point scoring with firsts and runner-up points in weight lifting and women's fenc-

NOW LOOK BOYS

We know darn well that money comes hard. We also know that money is only worth what it will purchase. However, we also know that most of us only save what we go into debt for and pay out on the easy extortion plan. NOW boys, knowing all this, we try to have the most for the money with the easiest and cheapest extortions of anyone. We believe that anything we sell will compare QUALITY wise and price wise with enyone's merchandise.

CAR FOR CAR - VALUE FOR VALUE DAY BY DAY - IN EVERY WAY WE WILL BE GLAD TO COMPARE - TO BE COMPARED - WE'RE NOT THE CHEAPEST, BUT WE THINK WE'RE THE BEST. COME IN AND TRY OUR BOOTS ON

Scattered Showers Over Texas, Hope Held For More

Tantalizing showers fell in Texas before dawn Monday as the state, plagued by drought, began its last week of a dry winter.
Although no widespread, soaking rain was in sight, a cold front pushing down through the Mid-west held out the hope of more showers. Before midnight fleeting thunder heads splashed light but welcome rains around Abilene. A quarter inch fell at Winters and 20 inch at Clyde. Showers fell at Texar-kans and Fort Worth. Mineral Wells, Wichits Falls, and Fort Worth saw lightning blinking in the distance.

Rain was needed. Summer-like temperatures and arid winds last ar si week sucked moisture from top-

Some choice seats still are available for persons who haven't made reservations, Alexander said. Tickets have been moving rapidly for the past few days, however,

Curtain will go up on the produc-tion at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday. The Big Spring Rotary Club, sponsor of the show here, set the starting time at that hour so that prayer meetings in the various churches could be completed prior to the start of the operetta. The operetta is the same produc-tion that played for two years on Broadway. Twelve of the 18 original members of the cast still are with the show.

In the cast are Roger Franklin, Susan Shaute, Josephine Anninzia-ta, Irving Karesh Jane Flynn, John Oliver, Eugene Bernath, Leon Benedict, Joan Hagen, Robert Helley, Joan Talcroft, Marshall Stone, Ralph Lester, Carol Leaf and Harold Beckett.

Sweden Arrests Spy Roundup

10 persons in jail today in a round-up of the country's third Commu-nist spy ring in four years.

A government announcement said the 10 were suspected of spying for two East European Communist countries. Reliable sources said the countries are Czechoslovakia and Romania.

Under arrest were five Swedes, three Czechs, a Romanian and a German, public prosecutor Werner Rhyninger reported. The prosecu-tor is expected to ask for the arraignment of some of them early next week.

One of the Swedes was reported to be a worker at the big Karlskoga armament factories, which are turning out an improved model of the World War II 40mm. Bofors antiaircraft gun.

Informed sources said the Romanian legation was deeply volved in the alleged spy plot and might be closed as a result. Czechoslovakia's military attache in Sweden, Cmdr. Frantisek Ne-mec, was reported to have left for leged to have participated in "gross military espionage" and in
