Integration Election Called for Eastland

An election to integrate the schools in Eastland has been called for Nov. 14th.

The board of trustees of the Eastland Independent School District called the election during a regular session Tuesday night.

Petitions bearing the signatures of 194 qualified voters were presented to the board at the meeting.

The law requires the election to be conducted in a manner similar to that for the election of school trustees.

If a majority of the voters approve the abolition of the two schools, it will give the board the authority to put students of the city's Negro school, Douglas, into the other school, wherever they deem it practical.

The few students at Douglas probably would not be permitted to go to the other schools before the next school year, it is understood.

There are 54 Negro students at Douglas in grades one through 12. Of that total, 40 are Eastland residents, and 14 are from Cisco.

The elementary grades, including one through eight, have 43 pupils (ten from Cisco and 33 from Eastland), and the high school has eleven students (seven from Eastland and four from Cisco).

It is assumed that if the Douglas school is closed, the Cisco students would be transferred back there.

Estimates are that it would take approximately $150,000 in improvements and the addition of at least three, and possibly four, additional teachers, to be paid out of local funds at the minimum state rate of $4,014 each per year, to bring the school to the standards required by the state.

There are three teachers at the school now.

AN EDITORIAL

Eastland voters have a decision to make. The choice is this: either approve the abolition of the two-school system in Eastland or be prepared to dig up more tax money to pay the way for the two systems.

An election has been called for Nov. 14th to determine if the voters want to "abolish the two-school system" in Eastland.

In its first report on petition being circulated to call the election, the Telegram purposefully refrained from using the word "integrate" in its account, and used the legal nomenclature exclusively.

It was the intention of the newspaper to report fairly and clearly what was going on, without offending any who might take objection to the word.

Comments afterwards showed that people of Eastland want the news straight, and called for what it is.

Therefore the decision is this: The Eastland schools must be integrated or the tax payers must be ready to spend a lot of money on Douglas school for Negro students to get it up to the state requirements.

And most people realize that it will take a lot to get the school up to that standard.

Estimates are $150,000 in construction and the hiring of at least three teachers at a cost of about $12,000 a year.

The Telegram believes that money spent on Douglas school for construction and teachers, would be money wasted when new Ward School facilities are needed so badly.

If the voters decide to keep the two-school system it will undoubtedly delay, perhaps permanently, the chances for construction of new much-needed Ward schools.

Land is already owned by the school system suitable for a Ward school.

The Eastland school district is in good financial condition - better than any other in the county - but this district is not financially able to adequately support two separate school systems.

Schools and cities shouldn't be held up for comparison with other schools and cities, perhaps, but without exception, they are.

And Eastland will be watched closely during its decision making.

Three County Towns Study Joint C-C Manager Proposal

Some 60 Eastland County civic leaders took under advisement Monday night a proposal to employ jointly a manager to direct the Chamber of Commerce activities of the cities of Cisco, Eastland and Ranger.

The group met for dinner at 7 p.m. Monday at the White Elephant Restaurant in Eastland and heard a discussion of the plan by Fred Husbands of Abilene, executive vice president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. He was introduced by Frank Sayre of Eastland, a WTCC director.

Tom Wilson, president of the Eastland National Bank, who presided over the meeting, reported that the Chamber of Commerce in the three towns recently created committees to study the proposal. The meeting of the civic leaders resulted.

All three of the towns have been without Chamber of Commerce managers for several months. Their efforts to employ managers have been hampered by budget limitations.

Mr. Husbands complimented the group for showing enough interest to study the matter. He noted that competition between towns was healthy and that cooperation was desirable.

If the three towns employed a CoC manager jointly, each would have to maintain its own offices and utilize the manager's services on a part-time basis, Mr. Husbands said. He noted that there were a good many instances where counties have organized under one CoC program.

"Unselfish approval of the program and wholehearted participation would be necessary," Mr. Husbands said. "The project would be doomed to failure from the beginning if the only purpose was industrial development."

He pointed out that 85 per cent of all industrial payrolls in towns of the United States have resulted from local initiative and financing.

A budget of more than $20,000 per year would be needed for the joint program, Mr. Husbands suggested. He suggested that a manager capable of directing the joint CoC program would require a salary of about $8,000 per year.

"There is much that a cooperative program could accomplish," Mr. Husbands said. "You can do what you make up your minds to do."

"Regardless of what you decide, a great deal can be accomplished if you will have regular meetings like this one. You are three communities of approximately the same size and interests. The only way to accomplish things as a city or county is to work."

Mr. Wilson asked each of the three CoC groups to consider the plan and to report their feelings in the near future.

The dinner was sponsored by the banks of the three cities, each of which had about 20 men in attendance.

Cross Plains Buffalos Duel Mavs Here Friday

It'll be a battle between the hard-luck teams this Friday when the Mavericks meet the Cross Plains Buffalos at Maverick Stadium at 7:30 p.m.

Both teams are sharing the bottom of the charts with Clyde in the district so far this year and it'll be a duel to see who gets left behind.

The Cross Plains eleven has lost to Baird, 16-8; Dublin 34-6; Santa Anna, 14-6; and Early 21-6. Eastland lost to Dublin 52-0, and Early 33-6.

The Buffalos have scored in every game with a grand district total of 24 points, compared with six scored by the Mavericks during district play against Early.

The Mavericks scored their first touchdown in their fifth non-conference game, making a total of 12 points for the year.

Carrying a no-debt record so far in District play are Early, Albany and Santa Anna.

GAME DATES SET

UF Drive Rolling Fast in First Week

"United for a common cause." That's Eastland and her neighbors during this United Fund campaign.

Beginning last Monday with a kick-off breakfast at the First Methodist Church, the campaign has really gained momentum during its first week.

There's no "pie in the sky" on this one. Each of seven participating agencies has carefully budgeted their needs for the coming year and the campaign is geared to reach that total goal this week and next.

Hollywood-Vassarette Co. set pace for the city before the campaign even began when their employees subscribed 100 per cent.

Many others are near that goal already and will be announced as soon as they reach that coveted spot.

Eastland's good neighbors know the need and have responded accordingly.

Women from Carbon and Olden will meet each other in a basketball games to add funds to the campaign.

First outing will be Monday at 8 p.m. at the Carbon High School gymnasium when the "outsiders" from both towns will face bruises, blisters and sore, strained muscles, all for the United Fund.

A week later at Olden High School Gym, they'll go at it again for any who might have missed the first show. The second game will begin at 7:30 p.m. on Monday, Nov. 6th.

Telling the UF story with youth and skill will be students from Eastland High School. Twelve in all, will compete for prizes for fund.

EHS Principal Charles Marshall reported that the senior representatives are John Russe, Jerry Miller and Susan Johnson.

Representatives from the freshmen, sophomore and junior classes are still to be narrowed to three each.

The goal this year is $6,838. Donald Kinnaird, chairman of the drive, said "Our workers are already turning in good reports, and apparently have knocked a lot of doors."

"The beauty of a campaign as this is, it's combined. You once for a whole group of agencies rather than being asked separately."

DEC. 8TH & 9TH Annual Pecan Show To Be Held in Ranger

The 9th annual Eastland County Pecan Show will be held in Ranger December 8th and 9th, according to H. W. Sims, president of the County Pecan Growers organization.

Sims made the announcement after a committee composed of C. E. Smith of Rising Star, C. T. Barton of Pioneer and B. B. Freeman of Chaney, checked results of the balloting in the determination of a site for the affair.

Invitations for the show had been extended the group by the Ranger and Cisco Chambers of Commerce and the Eastland Jaycees. Those eligible to vote for the show site were exhibitors at the 1960 show and paid up members of the Pecan Growers Association, Sims said.

It will be the second time that the pecan show has been held in Ranger, according to R. V. Gallaway, manager of the Chamber of Commerce in that city. It was held in 1958, he said.

"We are happy to again help sponsor the pecan show," Bill Herrington, Chairman of the Agricultural Committee of the Ranger Chamber of Commerce, said.

Other officers of the pecan growers organization include Don Alexander of Pioneer, and Ben McKinnis of Eastland, secretary-treasurer.

Vote counts for the following towns were: Ranger—90, Eastland—56, Cisco—52.

Most of the planted orchards on our deep sandy soils have a wonderful pecan crop this year that will be top quality nuts.

Some of the native seedling groves in the creek bottoms have a shy crop though," Sims reported, when asked about the present crop.

A meeting of the Pecan Growers Association has been called for Wednesday November 1st, at 7:30 p.m. in the courthouse. Pecan growers' wives are urged to come also, as there will be an attempt to organize a Pecan Woman's Auxiliary.

Highway 6 Re-Vamping to Get Underway Soon

Re-paving of Highway 6 from Carbon to Eastland will get under way during the first of the year. The specifications where it is the City of Eastland are under consideration.

The City of Eastland are under consideration.

The cost of the project is approximately $2,500,000. The highway department is recommending that the city participate in the project which would provide improvement of the highway from Carbon, all the way to S. Seaman St.

If the city doesn't cooperate, the improvements will apparently end at the south end of Daugherty St. For improvement all the way to S. Seaman St. the city is being asked to contribute half the cost of curbing and other items, which would amount to about $2,500,000 and pass an ordinance providing a "no parking" zone along three blocks along Burkett St.

If the city decides to cooperate with the project, the highway department has agreed to include as a part of the project, the filling St. to level the entry way from the west curve of the highway as it comes from the south, to just east of Daugherty St.

This would also require filling about 200 feet north on Daugherty St. to level the entry way from the west curve to S. Seaman St.

This additional earth work is expected to alleviate what has been a serious flooding condition in that area.

This part of the project is expected to cost about $50,000.

If the city doesn't agree to cooperate, the state will terminate improvements at about the south end of Daugherty St.

Mayor Cyrus Frost said this week that an informal poll of the commissioners showed that they favor assisting in the highway project.

The highway improvement project is expected to take from eight months to a year.

The Texas Highway Department expects to let the contract sometime in January, Buddy Haun, resident Engineer of Eastland, said this week.

Present plans, Haun said, are to widen the present highway structure.

AT GORMAN
First Consolidation Study Reports High Teacher Cost

The "committee of 27"—minus a few absentees agreed on their purpose for being and began "flaming facts" during a meeting Monday night at Gorman.
Wendell Siebert, Eastland school superintendent, who was elected chairman of the county-wide organization of superintendents and school board members during a meeting about a week ago, was unanimously elected to head the special study group.
The study group is made up of the nine superintendents, nine school board presidents, and one layman from each of the nine districts.
The nine superintendents and two laymen went into a luddle during the Monday night meeting and after an hour and a half reported back to the group that 45 teachers would have to be hired out of local funds should the districts vote to consolidate the top three grades into a central high school.
During the pupil-teacher ratio study, the chief administrators and the laymen determined that 178 teachers would be needed and the state would provide funds for only 133.
The 8th and 9th grades at the nine separate districts accounted for the largest demand, they reported.
And the schoolmen were figuring on a schedule equal to what is being offered now, with no enrichment.
(La school jargon, "enrichment" means extra courses such as technical, dramatic, music, etc.—things not ordinarily offered in a straight "three R's curriculum.")
There were 18 men and one woman present, with representation from all districts. All nine superintendents were present.
After Siebert was elected chairman, he led the group in about an hour's discussion of what the group was attempting to do.
Next meeting will be Monday at 7 p.m. at the Eastland High School.
They agreed that they preferred to be called "fact-finding" organization.
Siebert said "It's going to be a long, drawn-out ordeal, but we want to lay the cards on the table, bare the facts, and keep an open mind."
They agreed that their study would be a three-pronged affair—1. consolidation from the standpoint of nine districts; 2. consolidation of six districts (excluding Cisco, Scranton and Rising Star); and 3. consolidation as it affects each individual district.
E. C. Johnson, Eastland CPA, who was chosen as Eastland's layman to the study group, was very insistent with the group, asking the purpose of the organization.
"I want to know the purpose of the committee. I don't have any facts myself and I expect this committee to supply me with information so that I may cast an informed vote."
"if that's not the purpose of this committee, then I don't have any business on it. As I see it," Johnson said, "this group has got to proceed without and foregone conclusions or pre-conceived ideas."
Dean Kirk, board president from Gorman and secretary of the county-wide group, answered that that was decided at the first general meeting.
Siebert said "Consolidation has some good points and it is our job to paint the whole picture."
Gorman Supt. Bob Browder said "Let's start getting facts."
Ranger Supt. B. G. Rush countered, "To vote on this, I'd need to know the financial gain or loss. A budget should be set up."
The group decided to begin study based on the premise that Henry is new in Texas, having served as manager of the Schiff Scout Reservation near Mendham, N. J. for several years. He has served as Deputy Regional Executive for Region Five and as Council Executive in several councils throughout the South.

The banquet is designed to honor the unit leaders throughout the Northeast District of the Comanche Trail Council. The district is comprised of Eastland, Erath, Stephens and half of Comanche Counties.
Some of the highlights of the District and Council Calendar for the next year include: under leadership training; a Den Mother's workshop or Pow-Wow in February, a Scout Leaders Show-and-Do in September, plus the regular events scheduled in the past years.
Health and Safety: a District wide mobilization using Civil Defense measurers scheduled for February.
In January there is scheduled a Conservation Camp weekend. These are just some of the big undertakings that the District Committee plans for the next year to help the unit leaders have a better program for the boys in the local Packs, Troops and Post.

AND EAT CAKE
Commissioners Check Roof, Lower Rendition on One Lot

Eastland County Commissioners inspect recent courthouse roof repairs, adjusted the tax valuation of some property in Cisco and ate cake at their regular meeting this week.
Commissioner Tip Arther, of Precinct One, was present early and excused himself to go to Fort Worth.
Before beginning their relatively light morning's work, the commissioners were served cake and coffee by the County Home Demonstrations agent and assistant.
County Agent J. M. Cooper, assistant agent Roger Blackmon, Elizo Bean, County Auditor, C. H. O'Brien, and County Treasurer Mrs. Ellen Justice, were guests for refreshments.
The court voted unanimously to adjust the tax rendition valuation of a block of land in west Cisco, from $1,000 to $500 for the years 1959, 1960, and 1961.
The land is owned by J. J. Jordan and is located near a creek on West 11th St.
Mounting ladders, the commissioners went out onto the roof of the courthouse to inspect work done by Noble E. Squires.
The court found the work to be satisfactory and agreed to pay the roofing company the $172 as called for in a contract.
Carl Lamb reported that there are only two areas of courthouse roof that have not been re-done. The roofers also did some chaulking on other parts of the roof.
The "no parking" restrictions would provide a wide modern thoroughfare into the city.
An earlier proposal to have highway enter the city onto Walnut St. and continue through on that street has been suspended, Haun said, but might be reconsidered in the future should traffic analysis reports indicate the need.
The government trapper, Buddy Moon, has accounted for 109 animals in that time.

Train-Auto

Suit Heard

"I didn't hear the whistle". That's what Mrs. Jim Patton of 417 N. Green St., told a 91st District Court jury this week in a suit in which Donald Ray Brown and others of Eastland were suing the Texas and Pacific Railway Co. for 130,000.

The suit is the result of a train-auto crash in Eastland last April 23rd.

The accident involved an auto driven by Brown which happened at the Daugerty St. crossing. Mrs. Patton's home is near the intersection and she told the court that she was in her kitchen at the time.

Later, during cross examination by railway company attorneys she said that she had said in a statement taken by them in October that "it was possible that the train was whistling and that she just hadn't heard it."

The case was being heard in Judge T. M. Collie's court. It took three hours Tuesday morning to pick a jury to hear the case. Attorneys began interrogating prospective jurors at 9:30 and the jury panel was read at 12:30 p.m.

It Looks om Here

York, with its skyscrapers, at as much perpendicular horizontal; and the United States, which is truly a foreigner, is more like another than real. For this reason, the feeling is that the United States has been removed from the map. This suggests the reality that they seem to see through the eyes of an internationalist and the eyes of a citizen of the United States. We convince our own people that the sentiment of the United States citizen is not as to what is done in the Nations, would seem to be the most important things which I, as a representative of the United States Congress, could do in my role as a Delegate. For instance, our top level people have been reminded and given the strong assurance that the people of this country, reflecting their sentiment through the Congress of the United States, will demand that our contribution of funds to operate the United Nations be drastically reduced or completely cut off if Red China is permitted to become a member of the United Nations. The reaction of some is one of surprise, which shows that they are removed from the thinking of the people back home.

There are other broad issues on which our delegates and State Department officials will be reminded of the feeling which is believed to be that of the vast majority in the United States.

These issues include any decision on Berlin which is not our own, and not that of never involved in World War I to the admission of Outer Mongolia to the United Nations; an absolute system of international agreements with the Soviet Union. Our own people here warned that we cannot be controlled in matters of foreign policy by action of the United Nations. This is a surrender of any part of our sovereignty, such as the repeal of the Connally amendment.

During this first experience, I have taken occasion to remind my delegates that our past policy concerning at every to what other nations, us, has not accomplished great good. It is not that the United States dominate, or be overbearing either the small or the great, but it does mean that in the position of leadership should lead and not be led.

One only needs to have done now for a and listen to some of the Western Nations—particularly the United States—ing from many of those have helped through and through agencies of the United Nations to which we to realize we have not porters by our handouts.

On three occasions, from Nations whom we helping for eight years it was not foreign aid received, but only a payment for our having their natural resource seemingly, is the feeling of the so-called neutral

Lubbock Lawmaker
Announcing for
Lt. Governor

State Sen. Preston Smith of Lubbock has announced that he will be a candidate for Lt. Governor of Texas.
This will be his second Campaign for the state's second highest office. He ran in 1950, placing third in a field of 12 candidates and leading the ticket in 68 counties.
Smith, 49, a veteran lawmaker and businessman, was unanimously elected president pro-tem of the Senate during the first special session of the 57th Legislature. He served as Governor of Texas on August 4 in the absence of Gov. Price Daniel and Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey.
His career in Texas government began in 1944 when he was elected to the House of Representatives, where he served three terms. In 1956 he was elected state senator from the 11-county 28th Senatorial District, and was re-elected without an opponent in 1960.
During his tenure as a member of the House and Senate, he has served on many of the state's most important legislative committees, including the Senate Education and Agriculture committees.
He served as vice chairman of the Senate Finance committee during the last two sessions and is presently a member of the Texas Legislative Council, one of the state's most important fact-finding and recommending bodies.
Smith is a graduate of Texas Tech College in Lubbock. He and his wife, Ima, have two children, Mickey, 20, and Jan, 16.

Hog Cholera
On Way Out

A new law authorizing the USDA to undertake a broad Federal-State hog cholera eradication program has been passed by Congress and signed by President Kennedy.
In making the announcement, the USDA said this law will enable them to initiate a program sought for many years by meat and swine producing groups and state agricultural and livestock health authorities.
The new law permits the Secretary of Agriculture to establish a 12-member advisory committee to help develop plans for an eradication program.
An ARS official will head the committee, which will have representatives from the swine industry, consumer groups, state and local governments, and professional and scientific organizations.
Under the new law, the USDA is authorized to prohibit or restrict interstate movement or virulent hog cholera virus, which is sometimes used to inoculate animals.
Inoculation with the virulent virus is considered dangerous, because it can become a factor in the disease's spread.
Safe vaccines that confer immunization more effectively are available, and many states already ban or restrict the use of live viruses for immunization.

Here is the most exciting new toy of the year

The ENCO Energy Rocket with coupon from your neighbor in a HUMBLE uniform

This Humble exclusive is a fascinating toy. So safe and easy to use, a small fry of six can run it. So much fun, even Dads will monopolize it.

Its principal parts are of Escon, Humble's tough new plastic. It's battery powered, easy to assemble, (and the car is securely held together by screws). Simply start it, place on track and after a turn or two, throw the switch. The car zips down the side-track into a plastic bumper and wh-o-o-sh! The rocket zooms toward the ceiling (but doesn't hit it).

Ask for a coupon at the Humble sign in your neighborhood today. Mail with $2.95* (cash, money order or check) to address on coupon.

*plus State tax where applicable

Without coupon—You can buy the ENCO Energy Rocket without a coupon for $5.95. Mail cash, money order or check with name and address to Rocket, Humble Oil & Refining Company, P. O. Box 1244, Houston 1, Texas.

Rural Housing Program Has Recently Increased

Families living in small rural communities and in rural areas, even though not engaged in farming may now be eligible for the housing loans made by the Farmers Home Administration, according to H. P. Cole, the agency's county supervisor for Eastland County.

The Housing Act of 1961 broadened the eligibility requirements for rural housing loans. As a result, owners of non-farm tracts in rural areas and in small rural communities of not more than 2,500, as well as farmers, may be eligible for this type of credit.

"This program is an important new tool in promoting the development of rural areas," Cole says. "Rural housing loans will not only help families obtain better homes but will put more carpenters, plumbers, and electricians to work, and will increase the sales in lumber yards and building supply firms."

Housing loans are made for the construction, repair, and remodeling of dwellings and essential farm buildings and to provide water for farmstead and household use.

In addition to major construction, funds are available to modernize homes—add bathrooms, central heating, modern kitchens, and other home improvements, as well as to enlarge and remodel farm service buildings and put in related facilities such as paved feed-lots, yard fences, and driveways.

Rural housing loans may also be used for the construction of fall-out and storm shelters.

The interest rate is 4 percent per year on the unpaid balance of the loan. Loans may be scheduled for repayment over periods up to 33 years.

The proposed housing must be adequate to meet the family's needs yet modest in size and design.

To be eligible and applicant must own a farm or a housing site in a rural area; be without decent, safe and sanitary housing; be unable to obtain the needed credit from other sources; and be without sufficient resources to provide the necessary housing on his own account. He must also have or be able to obtain sufficient income to meet payments on existing debts, take care of his other expenses, and make the payments on the proposed loan.

The local county supervisor of the Farmers Home Administration will review building plans and inspect the housing construction as it progresses in order to make certain that the borrower obtains sound and acceptable construction.

The local county or area committee of the Farmers Home Administration determines the eligibility of applicants.

Farmers who need to enlarge or develop their farming operations in order to obtain enough income to pay for housing loans may obtain farm enlargement and development loans and farm management help the Farmers Home Administration.

Rural families who need emergency housing repairs and do not have the ability to repay a loan may be able to obtain small grants for such purposes as repairing a roof, screening windows, and providing a sanitary supply of water.

All loans are secured to the extent necessary to protect the Government's interest. Small improvement loans made in amounts of less than $1500 with repayments scheduled over periods up to 10 years may be secured by a promissory note. Other loans are secured by mortgages.

Under certain circumstances building loans may be made to lessees of farms. More than $400 million has been authorized for rural housing loans over the next four years.

The Housing Act of 1961 also authorizes the Farmers Home Administration to insure for housing and related facilities for domestic farm labor. These loans may be made to farm owners, associations of farmers, state and local government units and non-profit associations.

Funds for these insured loans are provided by private investors. The Farmers Home Administration will make and service the loans, and insure their repayment. The total volume of insured loans may not exceed $25 million in any one year.

Further information on rural housing loans may be obtained at the county office of the Farmers Home Administration at Room 420, Petroleum Building, Eastland.

AUTO BUYERS WARNED OF SALTED CARS

Purchasers of automobiles have been warned to be on the lookout for vehicles with salt water damage from Hurricane Carla.

H. C. Pittman, executive vice president of the Texas Automobile Dealers Assoc. said, "according to reports received in our office, scores of persons throughout Texas are being victimized by unscrupulous bargain promoters who have purchased automobiles in the Gulf area, after they have been totaled by insurance companies, and are reselling them in other parts of the state to purchasers who are unaware of the salt water damage."

TADA is a state-wide organization of franchised automobile dealers, with headquarters in Austin.

"We have received reports of persons who have made special trips to purchase quantities of these new cars," Pittman continued.

"After cleaning them up and removing the factory stickers, they are selling them without advising the purchasers of the certainty of quick deterioration from salt rust. The public in the Gulf area is educated to this type of damage and therefore most of these cars are being sold in Central, North and West Texas.

"To protect themselves from such losses, automobile purchasers should beware of suspicious bargains, and should buy their automobiles only from well-known, established dealers in their own communities," Pittman stressed. "No legitimate dealer would handle such a sale. This same type of unscrupulous activity cost many hard working families their life savings when they purchased automobiles brought in from Louisiana after Hurricane Audrey," he said.

Green Hay Means Good Hay

What color hay do you have for your cows? If it's any color but green, you'll be losing money when you feed it. Cows will eat yellow or brown hay, but won't pay as much in return as they would for green hay, says U. D. Thompson, extension animal husbandman.

Here is how hay color affects the pocketbook of the person feeding it. The greener the hay, the higher the quality. Quality hay contains several essential nutrients, including protein. Protein supplements such as range cubes, cottonseed cake or protein blocks can be quite expensive, but if high quality hay is available much of this expense can be cut out.

There are several things to remember about hay, whether the feeder buys it or produces it, says Thompson. Hay crops that are allowed to grow and produce seed make inferior hay. The best food is found in the leaves, and the more mature they are the less food they contain.

A yellow or brown colored hay may have about 4 percent protein, but the same crop properly harvested, cured and stored might have as much as 20 percent protein—the same amount as many range cubes.

It would take only 4 pounds of 20 percent hay to meet the daily protein requirements of a beef cow, but it would take 20 pounds of the 4 percent hay.

Tonnage per acre is also important, but more effort should be made to improve the feeding value of what is produced. In some cases the food value is so low the cow loses rather than gains energy by eating the hay.

These cows lose weight unless a supplement is fed. If necessary food was in the hay in the first place, this additional cost could be avoided, points out the specialist. It is also well to remember that green colored hay will aid in getting a higher percent calf crop, healthier calves at birth, and time you buy some hay. If it's green, then the hay is of good
