

Reds Free Ten Yanks

GENEVA, Sept. 10 (AP) — Red China promised today to let 10 more of the 41 American civilians still detained behind the Bamboo Curtain leave "within a few days." A communique said machinery has been set up so the other 19 can "expeditiously exercise their right" to go home.

There was no hint here as to how soon "expeditiously" might mean, but the State Department in Washington interpreted it to mean "promptly." The new group of Americans to be freed are in addition to 12 civilians who, the Chinese Communists announced Tuesday, have no charges against them and are free to leave.

In Denver, President Eisenhower said "all of us can thank God" that more Americans will be released by the Red Chinese. Referring to the Geneva announcement near the end of his talk to Republican state chairmen visiting the President's vacation spot, Eisenhower expressed hope that even more Americans will be freed soon.

In Washington, the State Department said it expected all American civilians known to be in China to be released "promptly." A spokesman put the total number of Americans at 41, including the 22 whose release already has been announced.

An agreement concluded by U.S. Ambassador U. Alexis Johnson and Chinese Ambassador Wang Pingnan after 14 meetings here since Aug. 1 said the Chinese Reds "recognize that Americans in China who desire to return to the United States are entitled to do so and will further adopt appropriate measures so that they can expeditiously exercise their right to return."

The two ambassadors also reached agreement on the repatriation of Chinese in the United States and provided for British and Indian mediation to facilitate departures of all who wish to go.

The text of the agreement made no reference to the number of persons involved, but the State Department said at the beginning of the negotiations about 40 persons were being held in China.

The Chinese announced Tuesday that 12 not charged with any offense were free to leave at any time. None has appeared as yet outside China. Those remaining numbered 25 in prison and three in house arrest. Those whom the Chinese said today would be freed within a few days included the three in house arrest and seven of those imprisoned.

The announcement that the 10 were being freed was made by Ambassador Wang. A later joint communique made no mention of them but the terms made it appear considerable time might

Reviewing The Big Spring Week With Joe Pickle

We opened a football season Friday evening and it could be a long one. In that first outing with Andro, we were largely outplayed, but by George we weren't out-kicked. Well boys, let's get back to work; next game is only two weeks away.

The new city tax rate will be 20 cents higher than last year. Commissioners pegged the rate last week after getting a look at values, which did not quite come up to expectations. Fifteen cents goes to finance new bonds voted in August; five cents to bolster general operational expense.

Since last May the engine change crew at Webb AFB had laid claim to being the fastest in the business in the Air Force. A week ago today in Philadelphia at the National Air Show members proved the claim in actual competition and brought home the national title.

First step in integration of white and colored pupils in schools moved off smoothly here last Tuesday. In all, nine Negro children were enrolled in schools other than Lakeview. Over-all enrollment in schools showed a relatively modest increase in reaching 5,092 at the end of the first week. This figures out at about 3 per cent. smallest in years.

Speaker Jim Lindley of the Texas House has named Rep. Obie Bristol of Big Spring to be on the legislative council. Because this is the group charged with interim studies

Surprise Windstorms Play Havoc In Texas

Cold Gusty Winds Slam Fort Worth

By The Associated Press
Cold gusty winds, accompanied by dashing showers and lightning displays, slammed into Texas Saturday night. Hardest hit by the surprise windstorm was Fort Worth where two buildings were knocked down and several others unroofed.

At Vernon in northwest Texas temperatures dropped from a maximum of 100 to 68 degrees at dusk. The storm arrived so suddenly in Fort Worth that weekend boaters were caught on Lake Worth and several boats capsized. At least three planes were overturned and damaged at Meacham Field where winds were recorded at 66 miles an hour.

Flattened in North Fort Worth was a sheet iron shed at International Mineral and Chemical Corp. Walls of a building being erected on the west side also were toppled. In the downtown area a large plate scaffolding around building projects were blown into the streets.

Lights in several sections of Fort Worth were snuffed out when power lines broke. Numerous trees were uprooted.

At Carswell Air Force Base, where a similar storm two years ago did tremendous damage to giant B36 bombers, the wind hit 67 miles an hour but all planes were tied down and the damage was negligible.

A blinding sand storm hit Vernon in mid afternoon, followed by an inch of rain and an hour and a half lightning display. During the heights of the storm a fire broke out at a feed mill destroying the building and about 200 bales of alfalfa. Damage was estimated at $50,000.

Earlier a cloudburst near Gainesville dropped 2 inches of rain at the airport two miles west of the city. The downtown gauge registered .45 inch.

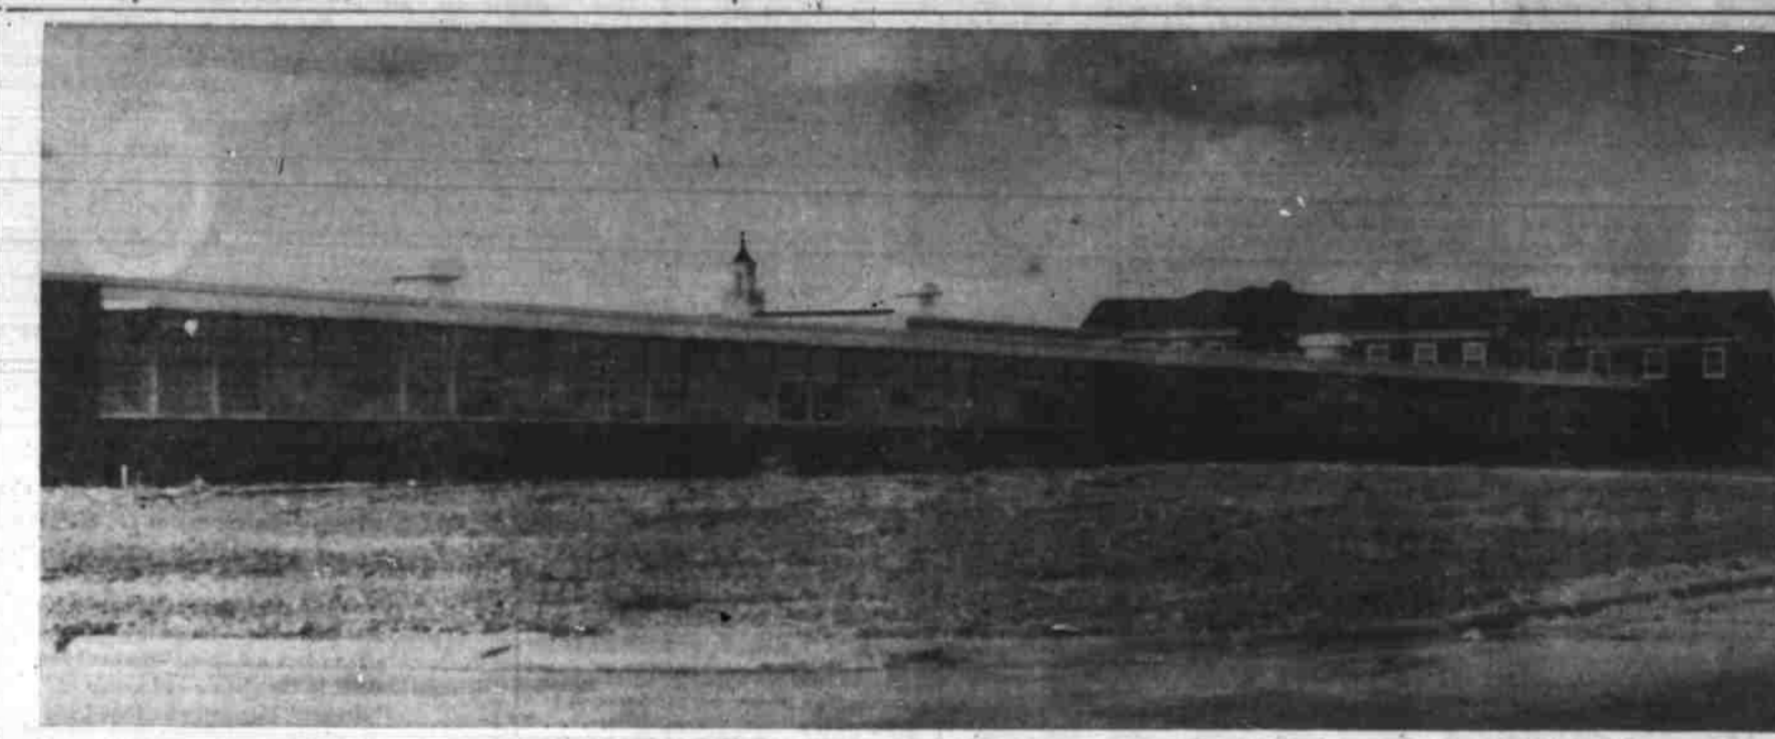

Light rain was reported at Wichita Falls and Sherman. Wichita Falls had high winds with gusts up to 34 miles an hour.

Colorado City — A robust thunderstorm turned loose nearly a quarter of an inch of moisture and hammered temperatures down here Saturday evening.

From 8:30 p.m. when the rain started until it ceased at 9:25 p.m., a total of .21 was measured. The thermometer dropped from 80 to 66 degrees in that space of time, too. There were high winds, but no damage was reported.

Shower due to follow sprinkle
A sprinkle late Saturday night was the first of the light scattered thundershowers forecast for the area for the weekend. The U.S. Weather Bureau at Midland predicted cloudy skies and showers through Monday.

The showers last night are expected to bring cooler temperatures into the area with a low reading of 60 degrees expected tonight.

NEW WARD BUILDINGS MARK CHANGE IN ARCHITECTURE
Long, one-story affairs replace modified Georgian colonial design

FIRST IN 15 YEARS

2 New Ward Buildings To Be Dedicated At State Hospital

Two new ward buildings, the first major additions to the Big Spring State Hospital since its construction and activation 15 years ago, will be dedicated Monday at 2 p.m.

Members of the board for Texas State Hospitals and Special Schools will be on hand to share in the ceremonies which will signal the virtual doubling of capacity of the hospital for mentally ill.

Instead of the modified Georgian colonial design of the original structures, the new wards are long one-story affairs of contemporary architecture. They will accommodate about 365 patients. The hospital has been accommodating around 500 patients although it was originally designed for 313.

Members of the state board will have their monthly meeting at the hospital at 9:30 a.m., and at noon they will have luncheon at the hospital with local officials and civic leaders.

State Sen. David Ratliff, Stamford, is to be the key speaker at the dedication, and Dr. Hamilton Ford of the University of Texas School of Medicine at Galveston and a recognized authority in the field of neuro-psychiatry, will deliver the professional address.

Harold Eitz, Austin, member of the contracting firm of Eitz-Kitchen, will present the keys to Dr. Roy C. Sloan, hospital superintendent, who will respond briefly. Invocation will be by Ch'lain Clarence Thiele of the hospital staff and the benediction by the Rev. C. W. Farmer, vice president of the Big Spring Pastors Association and pastor of the Wesley Methodist Church.

Members of the state board are Durwood Manford, Smiley, chairman; Mrs. Lawrence Tarlton, Fort Worth; James H. Wooten, Columbus; R. F. Higgs, Stephenville; J. Rutledge Hill, John G. Dudley, Houston; Claude G. I. Moore, Rock Springs; Dr. Raleigh R. Ross, Austin; and James M. Windham, Livingston. Among staff members who may be present are Dr. James A. Bethea, executive director, Dr. Rawley E. Chambers, director of the psychiatric division.

Among items on the agenda are the award of contract from Mexia State school ward buildings; a review of site plans for Abilene State Hospital ward buildings and Mexia State School administration and recreation buildings; and a report of building plans for the biennium beginning Sept. 1, 1955.

Dr. Sloan Saturday renewed his invitation to all citizens in the Big Spring area to attend the chief dedication service. There will be a short reception and guided tours of the hospital units until 4:30 p.m. Among out-of-town visitors expected are the board members of the State Mental Hospital Development Association, which has made the Big Spring hospital the testing ground of its efforts to contribute to the morale and happiness of patients.

FOUR BEAUTIES OUSTED FOR TITLE

A RED-HEAD, TOO

Colorado Beauty Is Miss America

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., Sept. 10 (AP) — Red-haired Sharon Kay Ritchie, 18-year-old Miss Colorado, won the Miss America contest tonight.

She is the second beauty with red hair to win the Miss America crown in the 30-year history of the pageant. The first was 1944 winner Venus Ramey of Washington, D.C. — Miss Ritchie has blue eyes, is 5-feet-6 and weighs 116 pounds.

She was flown here in a private plane to take part in the contest against 48 other beauties. Miss Ritchie, who measures 35-24-35, says she is interested in a career in dramatics.

She inherits the Miss America crown from Lee Ann Meriwether, last year's winner and a jackpot of $50,000 in prizes and personal appearances.

Miss Ritchie from Denver, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Ritchie of Grand Island, Nebraska. Tears welled in her eyes as she stammered "I cannot tell you how I feel, it is just indescribable."

She received a giant bouquet of red roses and the red velvet and ermine robe of the nation's new beauty queen.

The glittering crown was placed on her head by her predecessor, Miss Meriwether. She carried a jeweled scepter as she alighted down the 110-foot ramp in huge Convention Hall before an applauding crowd of about 18,000.

As she returned to the stage she was greeted by her parents, Mrs. Ritchie, asked if this was the most thrilling moment of her life answered "that's right."

The new Miss America is interested in dramatics and plans to enter the Pasadena Playhouse.

In reply to a question from Master of Ceremonies Bert Parks, Miss Ritchie said the man she marries must be "very kind and intelligent."

Lamesa Girl Deflects Bullet From Mother

LAMESA, Sept. 10 — A 14-year-old Lamesa girl, badly crippled by polio, may have saved her mother's life late Friday afternoon when she grabbed a gun and deflected a bullet.

The shot, fired by her step-father, Guy Hobson Kirkland, 57, pierced the girl's left hand.

Kirkland died a few minutes later of a bullet wound in his temple. Justice of the Peace Jim Edwards ruled the wound was self-inflicted.

The young girl, Charlotte Kirkland, was lying on a couch in the living room of her mother's home at 605 S. Houston when Kirkland entered the residence.

Mrs. Juanita Kirkland, who was divorced from Guy Kirkland a week ago, said she talked with her former husband for a few minutes before he suddenly produced a pistol which was brandished at Mrs. Kirkland.

Charlotte threw herself off the couch and grabbed the weapon which discharged, sending a bullet through the girl's hand, according to Mrs. Kirkland.

Mrs. Kirkland said she ran out of the house and to the home of neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Leland Miller, across the street. Kirkland followed, but she reached the Miller house and called police.

Kirkland then waved the pistol at another of his wife's daughters, Mrs. Billy Dickinson, who approached from her nearby home, she said. He then re-entered the Kirkland residence, and the shot that took his life was fired.

Charlotte, her hand bleeding profusely, crawled to the telephone and called the police department.

Kirkland suffered from a heart ailment and had several "bad spells" recently, Mrs. Kirkland reported. She said the illness sometimes made him despondent.

Funeral arrangements were pending Saturday.

Dollar Day Accommodates That Autumn Buying Urge

Autumn in the air... the urge to respond with sprucing up the wardrobe, adding new items in the home...

And, for that buying urge, Big Spring merchants are ready. Again, with a Dollar Day that represents a regular community-wide bargain festival.

Because of the Labor Day holiday, Dollar Day is a bit off schedule this month, but the attraction of offerings is just as strong as ever.

Atomic Cannon Replacement Seen By Army

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP) — The Army is aiming at using its time-tested, conventional 8-inch gun as an eventual replacement for the heavy and cumbersome 280 mm. atomic cannon.

Atomic shells, until recently, could be fired from nothing smaller than the approximate 11-inch diameter used for the specially built atomic cannon.

But the "miniaturization" efforts of the Army Ordnance and Atomic Energy Commission designers now is understood to be directed at scaling down nuclear shells to fit one of the Army's standard artillery pieces, the 8-inch, long-range gun.

The atomic cannon, with its 20-mile range, has advantages. But balanced against the range are two disadvantages: 1. Mobility trouble, exemplified in Europe where several of the big, 85-ton gun-tractor combinations have overturned or become bogged down while moving along roads; 2. the ammunition, even the conventional high explosive charges which the gun can use as well as nuclear shells, are special calibers.

The 8-inch gun, together with its carriage weighs only 35 tons. And, at maximum range, it can reach out nearly as far as the atomic cannon. Data shows the range of the 8-inch gun as running from 22,000 to 25,000 yards, the latter close to the 20-mile reach of the specially built A-gun. Standard explosive ammunition for the 8-inch is readily available.

There has been talk of even smaller calibers for atomic shells. This speculation has included the idea of bringing atomic firepower down to the level of the infantryman in a forward trench, using a conventional mortar.

The range of the newest 4.2-inch mortar is about 6,400 yards, enough so that an atomic shell could be used without endangering friendly forces. However, those familiar with the miniaturization program say that point in development is still in the future.

The standard caliber atomic shell program, first publicly hinted at about a year ago by an Army official, is part of the broad program to put the massive, destructive firepower of nuclear explosive into the general arsenal of army weapons.

2 Die, 5 Hurt In Auto Crash

VICTORIA, Sept. 10 (AP) — Two persons were killed and five injured in a highway accident near Edna, 24 miles east of here, this afternoon.

Highway patrolman said a car driven by Fred C. Scholibo, 38, Houston, crashed into the rear of a car driven by Clarence W. Milton, 48, of Eagle Lake. Both were injured.

Killed were Mrs. Zora Roe, about 40, of Tahoka, and her son, Clarence, 12, both riding in Milton's car.

Also riding in Milton's car and injured were three teen-age girls—Minnie Ruth Milton, about 14, Edna; Emily Roe, 13, Tahoka, and Shirley Barnett, 12, San Angelo.

Also at the meeting will be Farm Bureau representatives and, to defend themselves, spokesmen for the U.S. Department of Agriculture's cotton-classing agency.

Some of the farmers have claimed losses of as much as $25 a bale because of government classifications which they say are one to two grades lower than that of independent buyers.

Sand Bags Protect Money Bags

Falunrias business was almost at a standstill at floodwaters poured into the town. Sandbags were piled in front of the bank where the floor of the structure is only a little higher than the sidewalk. Downpours from tropical squalls brought high waters to many South Texas areas, which were suffering from a long siege of drought just prior to the rains.

Tub-Thumping Shakes Texas Political Scene

AUSTIN, Sept. 10 (AP)—Political tub-thumping sounded again today in the capitol. A "Texans for John White" club was formed and Reuben Senterfitt announced that he would talk platform at a hometown barbecue Sept. 20. Two John White backers who asserted they were rank political amateurs said that the agriculture commissioner "didn't say yes and didn't say no" when they asked him if he was going to get in the 1956 governor's race. They were Rayburn Bell, former FBI man and a farmers' supply store operator at Paris, and Brown Bailey, Midland lawyer. They talked with White for more than an hour and apparently gained his tacit consent to start the ball rolling on a statewide organization. "He said he was busy now being commissioner of agriculture, that he had a lot of work ahead of him such as a big sweet potato inspection program, and that he was flattered that we were interested in his becoming a candidate for governor," Bell told newsmen. He was accompanied by Bailey and Ed Nichols, an employe of White and former capitol newsman.

Bell said a headquarters would be opened at Dallas, but that he and Bailey would meantime handle correspondence from persons interested in White as a candidate from their respective home offices. White was the only state candidate who rejected dual nomination by the Republicans and Democrats in 1952. He ran exclusively on the Democratic ticket the year many Democrats left the party to support Dwight D. Eisenhower for President. White plucked for Adlai Stevenson, and has been talked as a candidate who would receive considerable loyalist backing. Senterfitt is the only announced candidate so far in the governor's race. He dropped by the press room to tell reporters that the barbecue planned by his friends at San Saba Sept. 20 will give him his first opportunity to discuss the basis for his campaign. Senterfitt has already opened state headquarters here. Asked if he thought former Gov. Coke Stevenson would cut in on his expected support in West Texas, Senterfitt grinned and replied: "Oh, is he a candidate?"

Donald Carlisle Wins Pig Show At Lamesa LAMESA — Donald Carlisle won first place with his gilt in the Sears Foundation pig show here Saturday. His was picked as the best of the eight gilts which were distributed from litters of previous foundation participants. Others who placed were Richard Crump, second; Clarence Davis, third; Richard Orson, fourth; and Chippie Matthews, fifth.

Temperatures climbed into the 90s or high 80s across the state again today. A weather disturbance in the Gulf of Mexico weakened. The New Orleans Weather Bureau said the disturbance, apparently did not have the potentialities of a tropical storm.

The flood waters at Raymondville fell only three to four inches during last night, said Highway Patrol Sgt. R.G. Ray. "Most of the town is still covered," he said this morning.

Only one drainage ditch serves the South Texas town, which lies in low, flat country not far from the Gulf. "There's been a considerable loss of property here," said Dr. Baden, "but I believe our most pressing problem right now is the health of the people."

Rescue workers evacuated 628 residents yesterday from a section covered with up to four feet of muddy water.

Elementary Band Program To Start The elementary school band program is to be started for the fall semester on Monday, Clyde Rowe, director, announced Saturday. He asked that all elementary band players, either those who played last year or who were in the summer band school (5th and 6th grades) come to the high school band room Monday at 3:15 p.m.

Details of the fall program will be announced at that time. The program for beginning band pupils will be announced later, he added.

Knott In Need Of Elementary Teacher KNOTT, Sept. 10, (SC)—Supt. of Schools Bill Bolin said Saturday Knott was in need of a grade school teacher to fill out its faculty.

The applicant, preferably a male, must be prepared to handle a departmentalized home room in the sixth and eighth grades, serve as grade school principal and drive a school bus. The job pays $3,831 annually, Bolin said.

Twin Daughters Born To David P. Bjorns Twin daughters were born to Mr. and Mrs. David P. Bjorn, 907 Bell, Thursday. The girls were named Mickle and Vickie. They join a family including two other girls and a boy. The twins were born at the Medical Arts Hospital and they and their mother expect to go home Monday.

HEALTH PROBLEMS

More Medical Help Rushed To Flood-Stricken Valley City

RAYMONDVILLE, Sept. 10 (AP)—Additional medical help was rushed to this flood-stricken South Texas city today as local officials fought growing health problems. Stagnant muddy water still covered much of the west part of the city of more than 10,000. Officials said the flood waters, at one time four feet deep in places, had dropped only a few inches since the city's storm sewer system overflowed Wednesday night. In response to a plea from Wilacy County Civil Defense Director Dr. Verne F. Geogor, the State Health Department ordered Dr.

R.E. Engles of the state staff, a nurse and an additional supply of typhoid vaccine to the area. Insecticides and equipment to be used in a health cleanup also were en route from the state department. The department said that in addition to disease threats from the polluted surface water there was danger from mosquitos and other insects.

Dr. E.E. Baden, city health officer, today warned residents not to swim in the flood waters. "We are asking people to use only our city water for drinking water," Dr. Baden said. "It is important that no one swim in the flood waters because of sewage floating in it."

The rain ceased today in the Raymondville area and only scattered showers were reported elsewhere in Texas. A double-barreled cold front was headed for Texas this morning but by mid-day the first front had dissipated. The second and stronger front was expected to cross the Red River during the night and lower temperatures across the state by about 10 degrees tomorrow.

Temperatures climbed into the 90s or high 80s across the state again today. A weather disturbance in the Gulf of Mexico weakened. The New Orleans Weather Bureau said the disturbance, apparently did not have the potentialities of a tropical storm.

VA Hospital, Cosden, T&P People Set Pace For Drive

A group way out in front in the United Fund Drive for this year is the personnel at the Veterans Administration Hospital.

Together with some other employee groups, the VA people already have started solicitation, and have accounted for about $900 in gifts.

This report came Saturday from Hospital Manager I. G. Sims, who said the figure had been reached, with reports on 185 individual cards. There are 238 employes at the Hospital, so the total figure is due to be considerably higher. Last year the VA accounted for $1,000 in the United Fund, and Sims said the 1955 contribution should surpass that substantially.

W. H. Bacus is chairman of the VA group solicitation. The drive was started ahead of the downtown collection so that employes could arrange for gifts covering several pay days.

This same schedule is being followed by two other major employee groups in the city. Already at work are the Cosden people. Alfred Goodson is handling the drive among refinery employes, Jack Smith is directing activities among office workers at the refinery, and Bill Crooker is chairman of the downtown office group.

Texas & Pacific Railway Company employes also have launched their solicitation, so that contributions can be made to cover a spread of pay-days. Ray Blasengame is general chairman for this group. High praise for the advance interest shown in these employe divisions was voiced by Adolph Swartz, general campaign chairman for the UF. "These departmental solicitations—and the response they are getting—mean just that much more assurance that our campaign will be a complete success," Swartz said. "The labor organizations, and employes at such institutions as the VA Hospital, have meant so much to the campaigns in the past. We are gratified beyond measure that they are setting the pace this year."

Forsan Enrolls 190 Students FORSAN, Sept. 10 — Enrollment in the Forsan schools reached 190 during the first week of the fall term.

The staff consists of Holladay, Mrs. Minnie Arnett, first grade; Mrs. Gwen Holladay, second; Mrs. Dale Ferguson, third; Mrs. Lula B. Dunn, fourth; Mrs. Betty Ramans, sixth; Mrs. Clarie Conger, seventh; J. D. Golden, eighth; Mrs. Emily Elrod, mathematics; Frank Honeycutt, coach.

Also, A. W. Waldrop, science and shop; Mrs. G. J. Golden, home economics; Jeanette Taylor, music; Nellie Lee Jeffries, English; C. J. Ferguson, social sciences; and W. M. Romans, principal.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Wants Tax Money For North Side

To the Editor: As a citizen of Big Spring I have a gripe that needs to be aired. It is about our streets on the North and Northeast side. It is a shame and disgrace for any city as large as Big Spring to have streets in the city limits like we have in these parts. Most of us pay taxes and think the city could put a little tax on our side of town for our streets. Our city bus owner, Mr. Bolding, has to bring some of his help out to the North Side with spades and repair the streets before his bus can run again. Every time it rains it is days before the bus can run again. When the city fixes the streets a little loose dirt is thrown in and it washes out with the next rain. One city official rode over after the last rain and he said "pretty bad." It is pretty bad all the way over here. . . . We had to fight for telephones, sewer lines, mail routes. . . . Now I am going to ask the people of the North and Northeast to tell the city how they feel about no tax money being put over here. If you think I'm laying it on just a little thick, come over and take a good look. Mrs. A. L. Smith 605 NE 10th

Finds Cemetery Needing Cleanup

To the Editor: It is a shame the way our city cemetery has been neglected. It is a disgrace to the city, also the people that have loved ones buried there. We were told when we laid our baby away in 1945 that the city provided a caretaker. . . . We always work the graves around ours for no one else does. It seems that people could band together and do something to clean up the cemetery. . . . or the city would do what we were told would be done. Thank you for listening to my woe, but I think it is the woe of a lot of people. Ethel Ballillo Big Spring

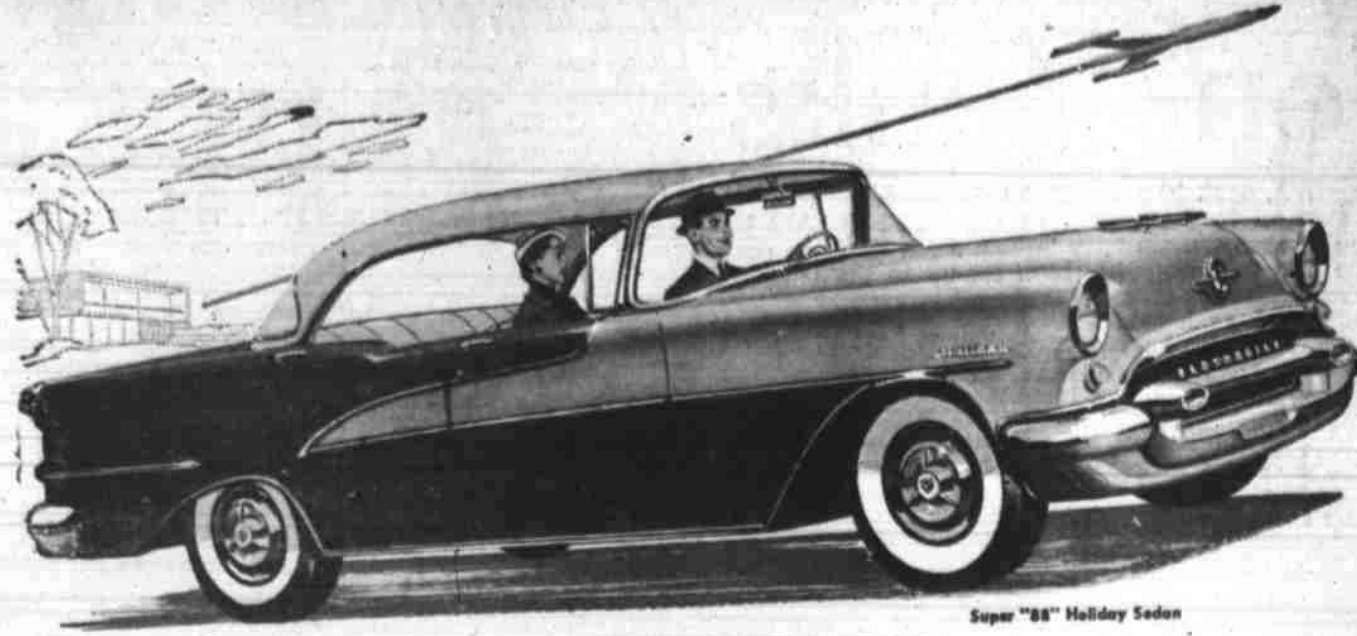

Sterling Voters Name First Council

STERLING CITY — John Walraven is to be the first mayor of Sterling City. He polled 108 votes to 88 for Foster Sims in an election of councilmen Friday. A total of 196 ballots was cast. This was just a little short of the 207 who took part in the incorporation election on Aug. 23 when voters approved making the city a municipality by 117-90. Other council members named were L. F. Hodges 127, R. T. Carpenter 119, Cecil Long, 101, H. F. Donaldson 98 and J. I. Cope 98. One of the first problems which the new government may tackle is that of a city water and sewer system.

Says Communists For Race Equality

To the Editor: Recently I wrote that the communist party was among the first people who initiated the move for Negro equality or desegregation. . . . that the communists constitute a large segment of people who are working for racial equality. I still maintain this is true. We recall that not too many years ago we accused the socialists of advocat-

MOSCOW, Sept. 10 (AP)—West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and Soviet leaders clashed in a stormy session today over blame for war guilt and atrocities after Adenauer insisted on return of German war prisoners as a first step toward normal Soviet-German relations.

Birds Indicate An Early Fall

AUSTIN, Sept. 10 (AP)—Is it going to be an early fall?

Game Commission experts won't say for sure but they do have reports of earlier than usual southward migration of birds.

Warden Tom Waddell of Eagle Lake reported that the first cool spell hit the coast about 10 days early, bringing in some ducks. Live oak acorns started falling earlier than usual, and buck deer began rubbing velvet off their horns two weeks ahead of schedule, Waddell said.

Skin Diver Nipped By Passing Fish

AUSTIN, Sept. 10 (AP)—Skin diver Richard Clark sat motionless in 12 feet of water in Lake Travis, observing fish life.

A perch floated by, staring at Clark. Then it flashed in and nipped the startled Game Commission biologist on the chest.

No harm was done to either fish or man.

Clark is one of the skin-diving Game Commission biologists making bottom studies in Lake Travis with special equipment. The work will be extended to other lakes soon.

Prices Pull Rug From Under Persian Market

REGINA, Sask., Sept. 10 (AP)—Executives of the annual fall International Trade Fair here have been astonished to find Iranian buyers ordering thousands of dollars worth of German rugs, most of modern design. The explanation offered was that the rugs of Oriental design for which Iran is noted have become too expensive for its average householder.

Rep. Bell Faces December Trial

SEGUIN, Tex., Sept. 10 (AP)—Prospects today pointed to a December setting for the trial of U. S. Rep. John J. Bell of Cuero on charges he conspired to steal money under the veterans land program.

The case is scheduled for call here Monday on the docket of 25th District Court.

Dist. Atty. Paul Boethel of Hallettsville said today that from the settings already on the court's docket, it appears the case will be passed over until the December term of court.

"I met with Mr. Bell's attorney yesterday and we went over the court's docket," Boethel said. "It looks like trial could not be set before about the second week in December."

Denver E. Perkins of Gonzales is counsel for the freshman Democratic congressman. He contends Bell's indictment was "politically inspired" by the attorney general's office.

As state senator, Bell had helped to set up the veterans land program. He was indicted in July by a Seguin grand jury on charges of conspiring to steal $154,000 from the state in a veterans land program transaction involving sale of a 3,701-acre tract of Guadalupe County land known as the McLarty Ranch to 24 veterans.

Indicted with Bell were T. J. McLarty of Cuero, land promoter, and John T. Wofford, former Cuero appraiser for the Veterans Land Board.

"I don't believe for a minute that Bell, Wofford and McLarty conspired to steal $154,000," Perkins said recently. "It just didn't happen."

Bell had testified last March before Senate and House investigating committees of the Texas Legislature. He said then he had received legal fees of $28,112 in veterans land transactions and that was all.

He said he believed each of his clients to be honest and legitimate business men and felt in representing them he had not violated any legal, moral or ethical rule.

On the 1952 Guadalupe County ranch transaction, he said he had received a attorney fee of $4,916.66 from McLarty.

Dry weather is hurting cotton far more than the insects are at present. It's dry throughout the area, and many fields are burning badly. Most of it is spotted, with the low places doing all right and the eroded or high spots burning up. Sometimes you see one field holding up fairly well, while maybe a neighbor's just across the turn row has already turned brown.

A trip through Elbow, Lomax and a good part of Martin County revealed that the late feed crop is at a critical stage. Without a rain it won't make anything, but one heavy shower would make a fair feed crop. However, some of it may be in a race against frost.

Cotton picking, or rather boll pulling, is gaining momentum throughout the South Plains. Most of it is two weeks ahead of schedule because of the dry weather. The local labor associations are already bringing in braceros from the Mexican Border.

A. J. Pirkle, director in the Farm Growers Association, said they brought in a truckload of workers this week and would be making regular trips after this. He said they could haul around 80 workers at one time.

Ralph White of the Howard County Farm Association said there would be plenty of hands for awhile, but a shortage might develop by the first of October. He said farmers should put in applications for boll pullers at least four or five days before they were needed.

Donald Henderson of the Hyman community, southeast of Coahoma in Mitchell County, said his 75 acres of cotton was still holding up well. They had few worms in that area and not much poison was used.

The Hyman community is one of those places that is reverting back to rangeland. Before World War II it was a busy community with quite a lot of farming. Now most of the fields are lying idle, though some of them have grass over and are being grazed.

Henderson said it was never much of a farming community. The soils were tight and shallow, and one dry year after another convinced farmers that making a crop was a gamble that seldom paid off.

Henderson has worked up an egg route into this area. He gets the eggs at Brownwood and delivers them to various stores in Big Spring and Stanton.

The Howard County 4-H Club members will enter seven steers and eight lambs in the stock show at the Dallas Fair next month. There is just one steer for each member, but the lambs are to be shown in pairs. Taylor says some of the steers look good. A few of them are holdovers from last year.

The bollworms have let up in many places, according to Taylor. The cotton has got so dry and tough that they are not eating as heartily as they were two or three weeks ago. The main insects now are loopers and leaf worms, with leaf worms doing the most damage.

In Martin County cotton fields, or at least on the irrigated cotton, the warm days have brought out a new crop of bollworms.

The biggest field of blue panic grass in this area is the 50-acre patch on the C. H. Hyden farm northwest of Vealmoor. Hyden planted 20 acres this year, and it

France, Sultan Agree On Plan For Morocco

PARIS, Sept. 10 (AP)—France and the pro-Nationalist former Sultan of Morocco, Mohammed Ben Youssef, today agreed on a general outline of the protectorate's future in a step which may end an era of bloodshed in North Africa.

Two special French envoys were flying to Paris from distant Madagascar with the exiled former sovereign's signature on the terms of this agreement. The pair, Gen. Georges Catroux and Henri Yrissou of the Foreign Ministry, exchanged letters embodying this accord with Ben Youssef yesterday.

The understanding aims at the creation of an independent Morocco, governed by a constitutional monarchy linked to France politically, economically, militarily, and culturally. It will be submitted to the French Cabinet for approval as quickly as possible.

Catroux and Yrissou are to report directly to Premier Edgar Faure and his "Committee of five" tomorrow afternoon in Faure's offices. Other members of the committee are Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay, Justice Minister Robert Schuman, Defense Minister Gen. Pierre Koenig and Pierre July, minister for Tunisian and Moroccan affairs.

Faure bolstered his position further today by adding Overseas Minister Pierre-Henri Teitgen and Reconstruction Minister Roger Duchet to the five-man committee for tomorrow's crucial meeting. Teitgen is national chairman of the Popular Republican Movement (MRP), a slightly left-of-center Catholic party, while Duchet is an important figure among the Moderates and Independent Republicans.

As part of the deal, Ben Youssef will send his former subjects a message calling for an end to the terrorism which has afflicted Morocco for months. His appeal is expected to be broadcast Monday, Sept. 12, the day which Faure set as his own deadline for a definite move toward a new status for Morocco.

Other portions of the deal follow closely the lines of French policy as laid down last month at Aix les Bains in conferences with Moroccan Nationalists, including the dominant Istiqlal party. The three salient points are:

1. The present Sultan, Mohammed Ben Moulay Arafat, who has been supported by French colonialists, French investment firms, right-wing politicians and some Berber chieftains, will be removed and replaced by a three-man "Council of the Throne."

2. A new Moroccan government, embracing the main political movements, will be named by this Council.

3. The new regime will begin negotiating a new political link between France and Morocco, and make a start on drafting a Moroccan constitution.

The agreement also provides that Ben Youssef will move from exile on Madagascar to a "dignified" residence in France, but refrain from political activity.

The government still faced another hurdle — the refusal, thus far, of the present Sultan to give up his post. Most observers in Morocco thought, however, that this could be "arranged" without too much difficulty.

A Hand Out

Pooch, a several-months-old dog of doubtful lineage, gets a hand out of a man hole in Buffalo, N.Y., by James Myers. Muddy, but unbowed, the little mongrel is welcomed by his mistress, Dorothy Ann Brown, 7. It took 22 hours, several drills and steam shovels and six road department employees to get Pooch out of the hole he had fallen into, proving, if nothing else, that even though it is September, the dog days are not over.

New York Dock Strike May Continue Beyond Deadline

NEW YORK, Sept. 10 (AP)—This port's million-dollar-a-day dock strike gave indications today it may be prolonged into next week despite a Monday back-to-work deadline set by a court.

State Supreme Court Justice William Hecht Jr., had stayed injunction proceedings until Monday to give the workers a chance to go back to their jobs by then.

But Patrick Connolly, executive vice president of the International Longshoremen's Ass'n., independent, told newsmen:

"From what we hear, the temper of the men is such that they will not be back to work."

The strike is being waged against the New York-New Jersey waterfront commission. The ILA contends the commission is trying to break the union with harsh and discriminatory tactics — a charge denied by the commission.

As the strike went through its fourth day, the ILA announced that leaders of its Atlantic Coast District Council will meet in emergency session here tomorrow.

William Bradley, ILA president, meanwhile was flying to Houston, Tex., to report on the New York harbor situation to the ILA's South Atlantic and Gulf District Council.

Farm Loan Unit Names Officers, Hears Reports

Two directors were returned to the board and D. P. Bigony was re-elected president of the Big Spring National Farm Loan Association at the annual meeting Saturday afternoon in the County Courthouse.

Members returned A. J. Stallings and B. A. Harris, whose terms expired, to the board. Directors then elected Bigony as president; Ed Carpenter as vice president and Max Fitzhugh as secretary-treasurer.

Fitzhugh reported that during the past year 38 loan applications had been received in the amount of $297,000 and that 33 of them were closed for $256,000 and four were pending.

The association has 205 shareholders and finished the year with 242 loans on the books in the aggregate of $865,000. Income amounted to $19,000 with expenses of $8,000. This left $11,000 to be applied to legal reserves of the association.

Other highlights of the annual report (which covered a period of only 10 months this year because the annual meeting date is being advanced to September) were:

Cash $3,649, advances $10,418, investments $105,200, capital stock in the Federal Land Bank $35,785, and total assets of $175,104. On the other side of the ledger, the association showed dividends payable $3,017 (a 5 per cent payment resulted in actual disbursement of $2,783), legal reserve $30,973, surplus $85,143. Total net worth was pegged at $171,104.

'Silent Man'

John A. Cane, 61, life term at Oklahoma state penitentiary, pretended for 18 years to be deaf and dumb. He first broke his silence at a parole board hearing where persons present were cautioned to keep the secret because of possible reprisals against him by prisoners who might fear he had heard their secrets. Cane said an electrical shock received in his prison work snapped him out of a "dream world." He was sentenced for the slayings of his wife and three children in 1934.

ALMOST BALANCE Receipts, Expenses Both Exceed Budget At HCJC

Excesses in receipts and disbursements about balanced for Howard County Junior College, final report on the fiscal year ended Aug. 31 reveal.

In the general fund the college took in slightly more than it spent; in the interest and sinking fund a cash balance was reduced considerably.

During the year the college took in a total of $270,301.97, which included $231,108 in the general fund and $18,022 in the interest and sinking fund. It spent $277,517, which included $250,323 from the general fund and $26,194 out of the interest and sinking fund.

The general fund, out of which the college operates, had $43,489 more money than anticipated in the budget. Most of this excess came from local taxes ($24,000) while there were also $2,000 more in miscellaneous service revenues, $3,000 more in fees and $6,000 more in tuition. Local taxes aggregated $180,797 and the state subsidy $39,342.

Of the excess in expenditures, most of the funds went to improvement of plant or adding of equipment. About $31,000 was in capital expenditure—$25,300 for equipment and $5,400 for buildings, and $2,998 for a bus. Another $4,000 was put into maintenance and repair that was not anticipated in the budget. There also was $3,000 in unbudgeted bond expense and $1,200 as the college's share of social security payments (adopted after the budget was approved). Total salary out lay ran about $6,000 under the budget.

General fund payments for the year amounted to:

Auxiliary services $18,048, other services $13,028, administration $51,031, instructional service $90,804, plant operation $28,380, bus operation $2,998, refunds $991, capital outlay $45,948; total $250,323. The college retired $14,500 in bonds and paid $11,985 in interest and $30 in bank charges out of the interest and sinking fund.

Lake Water Still Soft

Lake J. B. Thomas water continues to be relatively soft, latest analysis of samples shows.

Total hardness was listed at 91, a gain of only 10 points for the year. This compares with a total hardness of 383 from samples of water produced in the well fields. Total solids of the lake samples amounted to 270 parts per million against 994 for the well samples.

The lake samples also were low in chlorides and sulphates (sulf and gypsum), the elements which give water unpleasant taste when present in large quantities.

The analysis of Lake J. B. Thomas as water shows:

Total solids 270, silica residue 17, calcium 28, magnesium 5, iron 25, manganese less than .05, sodium (calc) 64, carbonate 0, bicarbonate 150, sulphate 27, chloride 28, fluoride 5, nitrate less than .4, p. alkalinity 0, total alkalinity 150, total hardness 91. (parts per million.)

Deny Entrance Plea Made To Negro College

HOUSTON, Sept. 10 (AP)—L. J. T. C. Brunson Jr., sent a letter of inquiry and not an application for admission to Texas Southern University, T.S.U., officials said today.

Lt. Brunson's name was listed on a letter in reply to a request of TSU Director Ralph Lee for a list of non-Negro students who had applied for admission to the school. T. C. Brunson Sr., said he learned from his daughter-in-law, who came here from Dallas after her husband was reported as a TSU applicant, that this is what happened:

Early this year the lieutenant sent a circular letter of inquiry to four schools of pharmacy listed in a pharmaceutical publication. He had been away from Houston since 1950, recalled the name of Texas State University for Negroes, and thought TSU was an extension of Texas University, possibly connected with the Texas Medical Center.

In his letter of inquiry he said he was a Baylor graduate. His reply, received in Hawaii, simply stated that TSU is a university for Negroes, formerly known as Texas State University for Negroes.

That, said the senior Brunson, was the end of the correspondence and no application was made.

Young Brunson is still on naval duty in the Pacific.

STILL GUESSING

Ike Leaves Door Open On 2nd Term

DENVER, Sept. 10 (AP)—President Eisenhower left the door ajar today to the possibility he may run again in 1956 but he gave visiting Republican state chairmen no convenient peg on which to hang their hats for a second term campaign.

Eisenhower told the state leaders in a closed breakfast session he appreciates their message, sent to him from Washington yesterday, that they are "looking forward to supporting you again in 1956."

In response to their assertion that "We like Ike better than ever" the President said that he likes the Republican party "better than ever."

But any lift the chairmen got out of Eisenhower's action in himself bringing up the subject slumped perceptibly with his subsequent declaration that the Republican party isn't so lacking in leadership that it has to depend on one man.

Samuel L. Bodine, New Jersey chairman who started the move which resulted in the telegram urging Eisenhower to run again, said he didn't think the President's remarks "too encouraging" to those who hoped there will be a second term bid.

"But I am not out looking for any other candidate," Bodine said. "I think the President will run."

Eisenhower said the GOP workers must remember that every man has an allotted span of life. The views of state chairmen who streamed out of the hour-long session with the President were almost as scrambled as the eggs they had for breakfast. Some obviously were disappointed that they got no concrete indication of the President's thinking about 1956. Others said they hadn't expected any word at this season.

All agreed, however, that their intense desire to have Eisenhower as a candidate again was whetted by what National Chairman Leonard W. Hall called "one of the greatest speeches I have ever heard on the philosophy of the Republican party."

Hall told newsmen: "I am going away from here strengthened in my assumption that he is going to be a candidate for re-election."

Nog all the state chairmen were quite as sure of this as Hall appeared to be.

Charles A. Haskell, Colorado state chairman, said he hadn't believed it would be possible to have such a meeting with the President and get less information about Eisenhower's future plans.

Haskell said, however, that he thinks it is still the "firm conviction" of most of the state chairmen that the President will run again.

Kentucky's John T. Diederich said that the President "talked the other way."

3 Negroes Plan College Entry

GREENSBORO, N. C., Sept. 10 (AP)—Three Negro youths today won the right to have their applications for admission to the University of North Carolina received and processed. They would be the first Negro undergraduates at the university at Chapel Hill, N. C.

The special three-judge federal court ruled that the three graduates of a Durham high school should have their applications for admission as undergraduates processed without regard to race or color.

The state-supported university already has admitted some Negroes to graduate schools since 1951.

W. B. Rodman, state attorney general, told reporters today's decision "immediately raises a serious question of policy as to what the state will do about its higher educational institutions."

The ruling voided a decision of the Board of Trustees last May not to admit Negroes to undergraduate schools.

Cadillac

No Doubt In His Mind This Time!

This happy gentleman has just taken title to his seventh motor car.

And while he would probably have difficulty recalling all the different makes and models he has purchased through the years, there is one thing he knows with absolute certainty: He never felt like this before when he took the keys and made for the open road.

For this is his first Cadillac! And what a glorious feeling it is to know he has chosen the "car of cars!"

Gone are the doubt... and the worry... and the wonder. This time he knows he's right!

And how quickly the evidence will assemble in support of his sentiment!

First of all, there will be the eloquent testimony of the car itself—its magnificent performance... its marvelous comfort and ride... and its incredible ease of steering and handling.

And then, as he travels the boulevard, there will be those quick glances of approval from his fellow motorists to tell him that he is not alone in his judgment.

And, finally, there will be that assembly of family and friends that awaits him at journey's end... offering final confirmation of the wisdom of his choice.

Of course, the man who takes title to a new Cadillac today enjoys the double satisfaction of having made the wisest possible choice at the wisest possible time.

Because of Cadillac's increased year-end production, for instance, he will find that he can have surprisingly prompt delivery on his new Cadillac.

And, as if this were not sufficient in itself, we are also in a position—because of our low inventory of used cars—to offer him a most generous allowance on his present automobile.

Why not come in soon—and spend an hour at the wheel—and let us acquaint you more fully with this unique opportunity?

Peron Oil Pact Is Hot Issue

By BRUCE HENDERSON
BUENOS AIRES (U.P.)—President Juan Peron's decision that he can't go it alone in the oil business has backfired into one of his biggest headaches.

A proposed contract between Argentina and a U.S. oil company is drawing fire from members of the President's own Peronista party. Opponents hint the company is a front for the United States.

The agreement is bogged down in the Peron-dominated Congress, and the deadline for approval is Sept. 30.

The contract would let Compania Argentina de Petroleo, a subsidiary of Standard Oil of California, explore and drill for oil in Argentina under strict regulations.

Argentina has a tough oil problem. Its government company is not producing nearly enough to serve the nation. To expand the government monopoly would take millions of precious dollar reserves. The alternative: Let a foreign company come in.

The proposed contract gives Compania Argentina the right to build airports, roads, marine loading docks, communications and other necessary facilities. The company's concession is situated in Argentina's southernmost tip—a chill, windswept rugged stretch of Patagonia.

The company must sell all oil to the government, and the government gets half the profits. Only when there is an excess can the company sell elsewhere than to Argentina.

Northern Howard Wildcat Abandoned

Cosden Petroleum Corporation No. 1-21 Simpson, seeking to move the Simpson reef field of northern Howard to the west, has been chalked off as a failure. The venture topped the reef at 8,732 and bottomed at 8,760. Top of the pay was 99 feet low to the discovery well, sole producer in the pool. Location of the test was 467 from the north and east lines of section 21-33-3n, T&P.

DEEP VENTURES MAKING HOLE

Two Devonian tests southeast of Big Spring and in southwest Mitchell and northern Sterling counties were making hole Saturday.

Ray Albaugh, Cosden, et al No. 2 Whittington, 390 from the east and 1,850 from the north lines of section 11-17, SPRR, in the Albaugh-Fusselman field of Mitchell County, drilled past 5,335 in lime.

Albaugh No. 1 Nellie C. Paramore, a north Sterling wildcat, drilled below 5,960. This venture is located 660 from the north and west lines of section 61-17, SPRR.

Three Firms In Combine

HOUSTON (U.P.)—The U.S. Industries Inc., of New York, has acquired the Garrett Oil Tools Inc., of Houston and Longview and a two-thirds interest in oil royalties held by H. U. Garrett in a multi-million dollar deal.

John I. Snyder Jr., chairman of the board and president of U.S. Industries and Garrett, president of the Texas firm, said terms of the transaction have been approved by the boards of directors in both concerns. The proposal will be submitted to Garrett stockholders at a special meeting.

The agreement calls for Garrett to operate as a division of U.S. Industries after October 3 and to continue to manufacture its line of oil field equipment.

Garrett will continue as president and the home office will be maintained in Longview.

U.S. Industries manufactures aircraft components, hydraulic and mechanical presses, heavy duty engine lathes, refrigerated farm holding tanks, steel tanks of all sizes and various other related products.

It has eight plants in Chicago, St. Louis, Hamilton, O., and Los Angeles.

FPC Assumes Jurisdiction On Gas Sales

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—The Power Commission has taken jurisdiction over natural gas sales made by independent producers before the gas is processed, if any of it ultimately is for resale.

The commission took its stand today in cases in which it took jurisdiction over the independent natural gas producers close to the wellhead in two decisions.

One upheld the denial last April of petitions by three independent producers for orders declaring their sales subject to commission regulations under the Natural Gas Act. The case, denied by Chief Examiner Edward B. Marsh, involved Deep South Oil Co. of Texas; Beaumont; Humble Oil & Refining Co., Houston; and Shell Oil Co., New York.

The other decision reversed a ruling involving Dixie Pipe Line Co., Dallas. The ruling by Examiner Ewing G. Simpson dismissed "for want of jurisdiction" applications by 20 producers requesting certificates to authorize natural gas sales. Simpson found the sales were made at or near the wellhead prior to gathering and processing.

The commission held there was a "basic error of law" in the decision.

Under the commission's ruling, gas which is produced or processed by 19 of the producers proposed to sell under a section of Transcontinental Gas Pipe Line Corp., Houston, will continue to be sold to Southern Natural Gas Co., Birmingham, Ala., under existing contracts.

The commission held in the Deep South case that the companies were engaged in the sale in interstate commerce of natural gas for resale and were therefore natural gas companies within the meaning of the Natural Gas Act. The sales are made from various producing fields in Texas and the gas moves through processing plants after the sales are made.

The companies contended their sales were not in interstate commerce and even if they were they would be exempt under a section of the Natural Gas Act. This section says, among other things, that the act "shall not apply . . . to the production or gathering of natural gas."

The commission said it wanted to make it clear that its affirmation of Marsh's decision "is not pre-empted upon the existence or absence of state regulation with respect to wellhead prices."

Substantial Cost Rise For Drilling

By CHARLES HASLET
WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (U.P.)—Planning to drill an oil well? If you are, you'll need to figure on the cost being 10 to 15 per cent more than it was last year—and far more than before World War II.

That's what the latest available figures in Washington show. These place the cost of drilling and equipping a 4,000-foot well—the average depth today—all the way from $48,000 to $75,000. This is exclusive of leasing and other preliminary expense.

And if you have the idea that big companies or individual millionaires do all the drilling for oil, you're wrong. The Independent Petroleum Assn. of America (IPAA) estimates there are 12,000 or more independent operators.

"And not all of them are getting rich," said one IPAA official. The IPAA recently has been making a study of drilling costs. The estimate given above is based on this study.

And if you're determined to get a producing well, you may have to add the costs of dry holes. Unsuccessful tests could run the cost of a 4,000-foot producer to $125,000 or $150,000, or even higher.

An average wage increase for oil field workers from $2.27 to $2.32 an hour and a jump in finished steel costs from 4.7 cents a pound to 5.8 cents have boosted drilling costs over last year's figures.

For the average depth well, today's drilling costs are figured at $12 to $15 a foot compared with between $8 and $10 in the 1937-1941 period.

The cost of a 15,000-to-18,000-foot well now is estimated at between $750,000 and $1,500,000. Before World War II, a 15,000-foot well—then about the deepest—could be drilled for around $500,000.

Off-shore wells cost considerably more because of the need for special platforms, marine transportation, and radio equipment.

Average wages and salaries of workers in the oil producing industry now are 2.7 times the 1937-41 rates, IPAA officials estimate, while finished steel costs about 2.1 times the pre-war rate.

HOLE FOR HOLES

Oil Wells Go Underground For 'Beauty' And Utility

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 10 (U.P.)—Some sightseers may include oil well pumps among Southern California people consider them unsightly.

That's why, every year now, there are fewer oil wells to look at in this area. The pumps and wellheads are going underground—along with the wells themselves.

Few motorists driving past the new Matson Navigation Co. terminal at the harbor are aware that a well is pumping beneath the street. The oil storage tank, central power plant and controls are three miles from the well.

Along the Long Beach waterfront, a broad avenue is planned from which to view the city's skyline. Under that avenue site, and beneath the adjacent beaches, are hundreds of oil wells. No visible equipment or sounds give them away.

clock around beneath the beach. And an oil company that built an artificial island off Seal Beach will pump oil from 68 wells drilled below the ocean floor by means of a pumping system also located under water.

In all of these cases the wellheads are silent, out of sight and present no fire hazard. In populated areas the below-surface equipment also eliminates the injury hazard to children who might come in contact with moving machinery.

A key unit in the pumping system which has enabled so much of the operating equipment to go underground is the "free pump," which has its engine at the bottom of the well.

Ever since Edwin Drake drilled the first oil well in Pennsylvania in 1859, the "walking beam" system has been used. It has a bottom hole pump, a sucker rod string, tubing, a surface pumping unit (the beam that bores up and down) and a gas or electric motor.

In this system, from two to 12 tons of sucker rods are raised and lowered by the "walking beam" about 16 times a minute.

This constant movement causes rods to stretch or break and tubing to wear out. There is also a speed limit to bobbing such a load up and down.

In 1923, Kobe, Inc. of Huntington Park, began manufacturing the "free pump" system now used in all major oil producing areas near here.

Kobe simply compressed all of the production unit parts (engine connecting rod and pump) into a small unit and put it down at the bottom of the well.

Coughlin Promoted In Westex Post

Bernie L. Coughlin has been elected executive vice president of the Westex Oil Company and Groebel Oil Company, Ted O. Goebel, president of both companies, has announced.

In his 15 years of association with Westex and Groebel Oil, Coughlin has been instrumental in the growth and expansion of the organization, said Goebel. The two companies are distributing Shell products, on a jobber basis, serving the West Texas and eastern New Mexico area. The companies own and have under lease 32 Shell service stations in this area.

Coughlin started his career with Westex and Groebel in May, 1940, and has since held positions as warehouseman, branch manager, salesman, lubrication engineer and sales manager. In assuming the duties of executive vice president, he will be general manager of Westex Oil Company and Groebel Oil Company, which include administration, sales, real estate, and operations of all districts.

His 15 years of service was interrupted only by four years in the Armed Forces. Coughlin served with the army as an officer in the transportation corps spending 27 months in the South Pacific during World War II.

Prior to joining Westex and Groebel Oil Companies, Coughlin was a resident of Houston, where he attended public schools and the University of Houston.

Glasscock Gains Wildcat And Spraberry Producer

A Spraberry Trend completion, a wildcat location, and a near Clear Fork completion were the reports from Glasscock County at week's end.

Hanley Company No. 2 Wragge-Hendrickson flowed 249.78 barrels of oil plus 5.5 per cent water to complete. Flow is from perforations between 6,921-7,300 feet. Total depth is 7,900 feet and the plugged back total depth is 7,885 feet.

perforations are between 6,038-6,116 feet.

Operator acidized the perforations with 5,500 gallons. This project is on the site of 1952 wildcat which originally went to 7,300 feet. The present operations were scheduled for a plugged back 6,300 feet to test the Spraberry Trend (Clear Fork).

Drillists is 660 from south and 1,980 from east lines, 41-35-4s, T&P survey.

Top of the pay zone has been pegged at 6,920 feet and the elevation is 2,674 feet.

This project made the third completed by the Hanley Company from the Spraberry Trend area this week. Drillists is 660 from north and west lines, 8-36-4s, T&P survey.

Southland Royalty Company No. 1-35 L. S. McDowell is a prospector 11 miles northwest of Garden City. Drilling with cable tools is scheduled for 3,100 feet. Drillists is 467 from south and east lines, 35-34-2s, T&P survey.

Area Projects Are Reported Drilling

Various area projects were reported drilling ahead Saturday.

Texas Pacific No. 1 Adams, wildcat two miles northeast of Ackerly, is drilling below 4,965 feet in lime. The site in Dawson County is 660 from south and 1,980 from east lines, 1-34-4s, T&P survey.

In Coke County, Black No. 1 McCamey is preparing to perforate and test the Palo Pinto formation. Union Oil No. 1 Stone in Nolan County is in lime at 2,490 feet. Another Nolan county project is still testing. It is Sun No. 1-A Baker.

Operator acidized perforations with 600 gallons and swabbed and flowed acid water and gas into pits. It is now flowing off a small amount of gas through a half-inch choke.

Sterling Field Adds Well As Two Others Near Completion

A Sterling County, Parochial Bade field, completion was reported Saturday and a Scurry County wildcat was plugged and abandoned.

Boydin Brothers-Roche et al No. 7 Bade completed in the Parochial Bade (lower Queen) field with a 47.36 barrel potential. The flow had 10 per cent water in 24 hours. Top of the pay zone is 1,351 feet and the seven-inch casing goes to 1,285 feet.

Total depth is 1,357 feet and the elevation is 2,329 feet. Gravity of the oil is 31 degrees and the gas-oil ratio was nil. Operator acidized with 3,000 gallons. Site is 1,283 from east and 530 from south lines, 22-22-H&T survey.

W. V. Hardin has plugged and abandoned his No. 1 R. G. McFarland in Scurry County. The wildcat had total depth of 1,758 feet in dry lime.

It is 2 1/4 miles southwest of Dunn and is 330 feet from south and west lines, northwest quarter, 135-3-H&N survey. It did not report logging any shows of possible production.

Cosden No. 8-23 Foster, 530 from the south and 990 from the west lines of section 23-22, H&T topped the clear fork at 2,305, ran the 5 1/2-inch oil string to 2,331 and then perforated 2,305-15 and 2,259-76. The well was being pumped naturally for a test Saturday.

Three Westbrook Wells Are Finalled

Three Westbrook field projects were completed Saturday in Mitchell County.

O. P. Leonard No. 1 Simpson pumped 66.5 barrels barrels of oil plus 40 per cent water to complete in 24 hours. Top of the pay zone is 3,075 feet and the 5 1/2-inch casing goes to 3,072 feet.

Total depth is 3,130 feet and gravity of the oil is 28 degrees. The gas oil ratio was nil. Elevation is 2,174 feet. This Westbrook field project is seven miles north of Westbrook and is 330 from south and west lines, 59-07-H&T survey.

Paul DeCleva No. 4-B E. T. Strain completed with 64.13 barrels in 24 hours with 13 per cent water. Gravity of the oil is 27 degrees and the gas-oil ratio was nil. Operator fractured with 30,000 gallons.

Total depth is 3,090 feet and the elevation is 2,240 feet. The 5 1/2-inch casing goes to 3,043 feet and the top of the pay zone is 3,046 feet.

The project is seven miles north of Westbrook and is 330 from east and north lines of 1-28-1n, T&P survey.

New Ellenburger Discovery Under Local District

Phillips Petroleum and Southland Royalty Co. No. 1 Zulette (Hughes), Ellenburger gas-distillate discovery in Reagan County is in the Big Spring production district for Phillips.

Col-Tex Refining Company No. 26 Abrams pumped 96.95 barrels in 24 hours with no water to final. Production is from perforations between 2,978-3,100 feet and operator fractured with 21,000 gallons.

Phillips and Southland hold an equal interest in 4,513 acres around the new discovery. No official announcement has been made, but another test in the vicinity is anticipated soon.

On test the well made 543 barrels of 58.6 gravity distillate in 24 hours through small choke from 22 feet of perforations. It is bottomed at 10,554 feet. Gas-distillate ratio is 3,300-1. Previously the well flowed at the rate of 288 barrels of oil daily from the Fusselman at 10,460; had 390 feet of muscut oil in the lower Wolfcamp at 8,124; recovered 540 feet of oil and gas-cut mud from the Spraberry at 5,570. It is located in section 10-GC&SP, 13 miles north-northwest of Big Lake.

PAUL SOLDAN

MEET THE 'seniors' OF THE COSDEN FAMILY . . .

This is the 15th in a new series of special Cosden presentations recognizing the long and valued services of those employees who have been associated with the Company 15 years or longer. Cosden is proud of its scores of workers who have contributed their efforts through so many years toward the success of the Company.

Paul Soldan came to Texas and Big Spring with visions of a professional baseball career in his mind. Somehow Tony Rego, then manager of the Big Spring Club, didn't have a place for him; so Soldan became a Cosden rookie instead.

He had joined the company as yardman on June 1, 1940 and three weeks later he was made a gauger on the No. 2 Dubbs thermal cracker. He had a good background, including two years in college, and progress was steady. He was made fireman at the old Dubbs (then Army) Unit, a post he held until entering service in June 1943. The Army engineers gave him basic at Ft. Warren, Wyo. and 10 months on the West Coast before shipment to the South Pacific and campaigns at Guadalcanal, the Philippines and finally in Japan.

Upon separation from service in January 1946 he returned to duty as fireman in the crude unit, but soon he was made operator at the polymerization unit, then stillman at the thermal cracking unit, and successively No. 1 operator at the crude units, No. 1 operator at the alkylation units, and then assistant to the plant superintendent, his present post.

Soldan is a native of Chester, Neb., where he was graduated from high school. He studied toward a BBA degree for two years at the University of Nebraska. Soon after joining Cosden he returned to Chester and married Wuaneta Ailsman. Two children, Kathleen, 12, and Paul Jr., 7, have been born to them. Mr. and Mrs. Soldan own their home at 1806 Donley.

He is a busy man outside his work, for he is an elder in the First Presbyterian Church and sings in the choir when he can. Before assuming his supervisory post he was president of Local 826 of the IUOE. He also had served as vice commander of the American Legion. Until the mounting duties of his work prevented, Soldan was an avid participant in sports—baseball, softball, basketball and always was on one of the city league teams. Sports is still his hobby, although he is mostly in the role of spectator.

STOP — LOOK — READ OUR CHILDREN'S SAFETY IS UP TO YOU Watch For Them Walking Or On Bicycles

Watchword for drivers: Watch out for children near schools . . . and practice the ABC's of safe driving at all times. As the youngsters head back to class, safe driving is especially important in school zones. But remember, on any street, there may be children on the way to or from school or at play. Be safe . . . not sorry . . . be always ready to stop for kids on the go!

THESE ARE 10 SAFETY "TRUTHS" WHICH IF FOLLOWED IMPLICITLY BY ALL CHILDREN WOULD HELP TO REDUCE THE NUMBER OF INJURIES FROM TRAFFIC MISHAPS.

The "TRUTHS" Are:

1. Obey the Safety Patrol.
2. Keep from between parked cars.
3. Look both ways before crossing.
4. Wear white after dark.
5. Cross only at corners.
6. Watch for turning cars.
7. Be extra alert on rainy days.
8. Learn to obey bicycle traffic rules.
9. Play away from traffic.
10. Walk on left facing traffic.

Children will have these truths pointed out to them in class by teachers. Parents will do well to remind them of these points at home, too.

First Week Of School Results In Only Slight Enrollment Gain

Big Spring schools finished their first week of the new term Friday with one of the lowest rates of increase in years.

Total enrollment at the end of the week stood at 5,092, which was a new record but only 151 more than for the same time a year ago. W. C. Blankenship, superintendent, reported.

Increase in the elementary level, where the pressure has been greatest for years, was especially mild. In reaching 3,090, the first six grades showed only 69 more enrolled than last year.

Junior high had the biggest gain, jumping from 962 a year ago to 1,056.

Senior High School sagged from 700 to only 681.

Lakeview was up with 256, of which 174 were in the elementary level, 52 in junior high and 30 in high school.

In addition, nine pupils who ordinarily would have been at Lakeview are in other schools. This was the extent of integration in the elementary levels for the first week. Only two schools, Central and North Ward, had Negro pupils enroll. Some 21 Negro scholastics were in districts outside of Lakeview. The process of integration had moved smoothly and casually.

Blankenship said that there might be substantial gain in the total enrollment figures during this week. For one reason or another, many people do not get their children into school until the second week, he pointed out, and until this "hump" is passed, it will be difficult to get a stable picture of enrollment.

Washington Place, Central, North, West and Airport wards all had some crowded situations, but Blankenship said that generally speaking there had been an even distribution of class loads.

Graham Purcell Named New District Judge In Wichita

Graham B. Purcell Jr., who started his law practice in Big Spring in 1948, has been appointed judge for the 89th Judicial District, Wichita Falls.

Purcell, 36, is expected to take up duties of the office immediately, succeeding Judge John Davenport who died in a Wichita Falls hospital last Monday. The new judge's term runs to January, 1957. Appointment was by Gov. Allan Shivers.

Judge Purcell is a native of Archer City, near Wichita Falls. He received his law degree from Baylor University in 1949 and became associated with the firm of Coffey, Coffey and Gilliland in Big Spring. In 1951 he moved to Wichita Falls to join a law firm which subsequently became known as Allen, Johnson and Purcell.

He married the former Betty Smith of Tucson, Ariz., whose father, Chester H. Smith, is a law professor at the University of Arizona. The couple has three children, Blaine, 7, Kirk, 5, and Jannie, 2½.

GOSPEL SHIP OFF COAST OF MAINE
Boats have carried the word for 50 years

God's Tugboats 50 Years Old

BAR HARBOR, Maine (AP) — Fifty years of service by God's Tugboats were celebrated here when the Maine Seacoast Mission Society marked its anniversary. Founded in 1905 by two Scotch clergymen from picturesque Mount Desert Island, the nonsectarian society started with a 26-foot sailing sloop bought by the ministers and progressed to the 72-foot motor vessel owned today.

Some call the present boat the Sunbeam, its regular name. Others call it "God's Tugboat." The Revs. Angus and Alexander MacDonald conceived the idea of a seagoing mission service to Maine's many offshore islands. They interested others. Thomas Scries of Bar Harbor, treasurer since 1905, is the only member of the original society still alive.

Although its primary purpose is to provide religious teaching, the society doubles in brass using its boat as a water taxi for missionaries, seagoing moving van for island families, Santa's aquatic sleigh at Christmas, ice breaker, hospital ship and a general emergency vessel which often augments the Coast Guard's work.

Thirteen workers carry on the society's labors under the direction of the Rev. Neal Bousfield. The work is financed from contributions by individuals and groups all over the country.

Fire chiefs from Snyder and Big Spring, some members of their departments and other interested persons will check the use of a resuscitator at Lake J. B. Thomas on Tuesday.

A meeting has been called for 1:30 p.m. at the little first aid house near the concessions house on the south side near the dam where the equipment is maintained. E. V. Spence, general manager for the Colorado River Municipal Water District, said all persons interested in learning more about the simple operation of the equipment were urged to be present for the meeting. He said it was a sort of refresher in use of the apparatus.

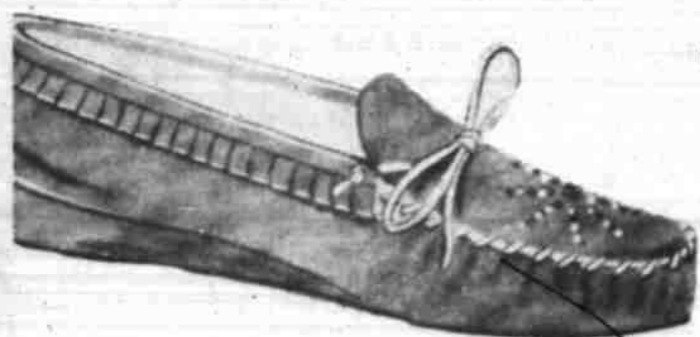

While keys for the first aid house are available at the pump-house, immediately below the dam, and the concessions house, Spence emphasized that in event any difficulty is experienced in obtaining a key, the door can be broken in without much effort. The equipment was purchased and housed by the district for emergency use and to help rescue work. Hence, Spence said the district was anxious that as many responsible persons as possible learn how to use the resuscitator and how to get it into operation quickly.

LANDSCAPING HELPS—A little work, water and shrubbery can make a lot of difference. Top photo is a view of the West Side Recreation Center before an improvement program started. Below, the contrast, after planting and painting. The low white fence not only adds to the attractiveness of the surroundings, but it gives protection from busy little feet. In the playground section, not shown, have been added picnic tables, with benches, and more equipment for entertaining youngsters. (Photos by Keith McMillin)

OPEN HOUSE — The newly redecorated West Side Recreation Center, sponsored by the Council of Church Women and aided by the United Fund, will have an "open house" this afternoon, to which the public is invited. See complete story on Page 3.

Ready For After Five

Mrs. Dan Krause, left, models a black embroidered taffeta dress with a long torso emphasized with a large rhinestone buckle in front. The scooped out neckline is carved in detail. The full skirt adds beauty to the costume and grace to any dance floor. Also prepared for an elegant evening is Mrs. Frank Sabbato, right, in an imported Irish linen with Swiss embroidery, featuring the tunic style and accenting the long, lean line. Over her shoulders is the silver mink stole that will be given as a prize at the Country Club Style Show Thursday night.

Big Spring Garden Club Has Supper

Yearbooks, with the theme, "We Learn To Do By Doing," were distributed to members of the Big Spring Garden Club Thursday evening at a covered dish supper in the home of Mrs. A. A. Marchant. Co-hosts were Mrs. George White and Mrs. John Davis.

Mrs. Clyde Angel was the speaker for the evening, and her subject was "Good Gardeners Make Good Citizens." A demonstration in making corsages was given by Mrs. M. T. Kuykendall of Faye's Flowers, using daisies, roses and gladioli.

The practice clinic, sponsored by the Garden Club Council was announced for Oct. 4, beginning at 9:30 a.m. at the Episcopal Parish House. Members were asked to make flower arrangements for the open house to be held at the West-side Recreation Center this afternoon.

The date for the Fall Flower Show was set for the early part of November, the exact date to be announced later.

Display Of Art

Mrs. Michael Fezza shows one of her first pictures that she painted, but one that Dr. Fezza says is his favorite. With them is their 16-month-old daughter, Marilyn Sue. The Fezzas live at 1516-B, Sycamore.

Northern Natives Are 2,044 Miles From Home

This is their first trip away from home, but the newcomers for the week, Dr. and Mrs. Michael Fezza and their 16-month-old daughter, Marilyn Sue, think that they will like Texas just fine.

Natives of New Haven, Conn., the Fezzas have made a lot of changes in their life in three weeks. Dr. Fezza changed his occupation as a medical student and intern to a second lieutenant. Then immediately they were sent 2,044 miles away from home to Webb Air Force Base.

"This is the most radical change I have ever made," he said.

The Fezzas stated that they have learned one phrase since they have been in Texas, and that everyone says that everything is "mighty fine." They both agreed that the people of Texas were very cordial, but that the climate is too hot to suit them, and they are waiting for the cold weather.

The newcomers reside at 1516B Sycamore. They flew down by American Air Lines and shipped most of their furniture. Now they are in the process of adding to their household equipment piece by piece.

"One thing that amazes me," the doctor stated, is the number of insects you have here."

A graduate of Yale College and Yale Graduate School, and New York Medical School, Dr. Fezza received his intern training at Saint Raphael Hospital in New Haven, Conn. He is now a pediatrician at the Webb Air Force Base Hospital. He stated that he should be here for two years.

Mrs. Fezza's hobby is oil painting, and she has some lovely art work to prove her skill. She attended Whitney School of Art in New Haven.

"Most of my time now is spent taking care of Marilyn," she said. Photography is Dr. Fezza's number one hobby. He has an eight millimeter camera, projector and screen, and of course, his favorite subject is little Marilyn.

But it won't be long until he will have another subject for the Fezzas are expecting a junior to join their family in a short while.

Recreation Center Set To Show Improvements

By ANNE LEFEVER
Open house will be held this afternoon in the newly redecorated and improved Westside Recreation Center 1308 W. 5th and the public is urged to visit during the hours from 3 to 5 p.m.

Members of the United Council of Church Women, who sponsor the Center as one of their projects, will act as hostesses and will serve refreshments.

Mrs. Shine Phillips is president of the council, and Mrs. Friend Talbot is vice president. Secretary is Mrs. Raymond Hamby, and Mrs. Bernard Fisher is treasurer. Churches represented in the group are First Presbyterian, St. Paul Presbyterian, Episcopal, First Methodist, Park Methodist, Wesley Memorial Methodist, First Christian, the Jewish Sisterhood and the Salvation Army.

Arrangements for the open house are in charge of Mrs. G. C. Graves, Mrs. Talbot, Mrs. W. G. Wilson Jr. and Mrs. J. W. Bryant Jr., all of whom will be in the house party. All presidents of the church auxiliaries are expected to serve as hostesses also.

The lot, where the Center now stands was first bought by the American Legion Auxiliary soon after the end of World War I, and it was this organization which put up swings and planted trees. From the auxiliary, the American Business Club took over the project, but finally returned the lot to the City of Big Spring.

For several years, after the present building was placed on the location, members of various women's clubs joined in sponsoring activities there. A library was collected; decorating was done and for a time a story hour was held regularly each week.

In 1944, the United Council made arrangements with the city to take over the Center. Mrs. Fisher was president of the council at the time, and the committee appointed to draw up the plans for the work was composed of Mrs. Della K. Agnell, Mrs. Cecil Wasson and Mrs. Lewis Murdock. Their plans, submitted to the city group, were accepted.

Mrs. Gould Winn was chosen as the first director of the Center after an arrangement whereby the Church Council would furnish an overseer. The women are able to do this through the help of the United Fund, and again this year, the Center will be aided by the Fund. Mrs. Joe Dorton followed

Mrs. Winn, and now the work of directing the play and entertainment is in charge of Mr. and Mrs. T. L. White, who also look after the building.

A source of revenue which has helped the members of the Council in their work is the Sylvia Lamun Fund, set up in memory of the late Mrs. Bernard Lamun. Donations are made as memorials, for thank offerings and in various other ways, and it has been the means of buying a piano and an air-conditioner among other furnishings for the center.

A recent gift to the Center is the television set, donated by the Epsilon Sigma Alpha Sorority, with the antenna given by the Lions Club. The present need, now, is for a movie projector to be used for the education and entertainment of both children and adults.

During the month of July, there were over 500 registrations of children. This does not cover the number of adults who come to the house to read, to visit, to watch TV or just to rest. There is the start of a library, which is used by all, but there is a need for current magazines, good books and games of various kinds. Guests coming to the open house this afternoon may bring books which they wish to donate if it suits their convenience.

'ROUND TOWN

With Lucille Pickle

In case you are a little confused about the date printed on the ticket for the LADIES GOLF ASSOCIATION STYLE SHOW the date is really Thursday, September 15. It was just one of those unfortunate things that happen in the printing shop such as "alpha theatre" on the Quarterback Club's barbecue tickets. Plan to come to the style show. The women always have a good evening's entertainment and they are trying hard to buy furnishings for the club house and the pool-terrace.

MRS. HAROLD HALL has been slowed down considerably because of some broken toes. She slipped on some moss in a swimming pool.

The women who will be in the booths selling tickets for the Civic Concert Association got a good sendoff talk from MRS. CLYDE ANGEL. The programs scheduled for the season sound good and everyone who buys a ticket and attends will be glad. Tickets are going on sale this week. Don't put off buying one. If you do you'll be sorry!

A real eyewitness in the flood on the East Coast while hurricane Connie was holding sway was A. KNAPPE. Mr. Knappe was visiting with a son, Roy, and his family in Cambridge, Ohio, and, with relatives, decided on a tour of the surrounding states. In Philadelphia, they visited a park on a tour about the city and several hours later when they attempted to leave through the same park it was seven feet under water. During his two months visit, the Big Spring man also stayed in New York and saw some points in Canada. A cousin, Mrs. Bertha Blaine of Youngstown, Ohio, and Mrs. Knappe of Cambridge accompanied him home for a visit. They left for their homes Wednesday.

MR. AND MRS. CECIL THIXTON and family spent the weekend on Devil's Lake near Del Rio. They report they have fewer sufferers just as much down there as they do in Big Spring.

Rival Of Jack's Bean Stalk

This castor bean plant in the yard of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Gilmore, 1013 Nolan, might well make the fabled Jack, the Giant-Killer, of the fairy tales, look to the laurels of the plant which he grew. Three months old, it has attained a height of over 13 feet, with a stalk more than four inches in diameter. One of the leaves measured by a neighbor, Mary Bain, is 34 inches from tip to tip, and the plant itself spreads about 22 feet in circumference.

HI--TALK

By Mary Sue Hale

With the score of 13-13 the Big Spring Steers tied their first football game of the season. The game, which was played here Friday night with Andrews being the visiting opponent, was exciting throughout, and every member of the squad is to be commended for doing his share to keep things rolling.

Two Friday pep rallies did a major part in boosting the players' spirits. The first one, which was held Friday morning in the high school gym, boasted half a dozen new yells. "Satisfied," "One Big Fight" and "You Gotta Go" caught on instantly because of their catchy words and rhythm. Five of our seven cheer leaders learned these "latest thing" yells at the SMU Cheerleading School in the summer.

Coaches Carl Coleman and Emmett Broderson, co-captains Jerry Graves and Jerry Barron gave first pep talks of the year for encouraging victory.

A snake dance downtown at 4:30 Friday afternoon added more zest and spirit for the oncoming game.

After the game, a football dance was sponsored by the DeMolays at the Settles Hotel. Sally Cowper, Rodney Shepherd, J. D. Adams, Charlene Lansing, Frances Reagan, Eunice Freeman, Ann Webb and Paul Holden; and Jane Hogan, Dianne Green and Jacqueline Smith were a few of the approximately 80 kids attending.

Tryouts for the fall and school play, "Outward Bound," were held Wednesday, and Mr. Dell McComb, speech instructor, will announce the complete cast early next week. This play, for which rehearsals will be held week day evenings up until its opening, will be presented in the high school auditorium Oct. 6-7.

No Corral this week! Beginning next week, however, the school paper will be printed by the Click Press, which is a local printing establishment, and will be distributed twice a month.

Bob Schermerhorn stopped by Big Spring to say "hello" to old friends last Friday while en route to the University of Arizona, in Tucson. A Big Spring resident from 1936 to 1940, he renewed several old acquaintances as well as making new friends while here.

Been seeing lots of new faces around school this week? Besides promoted sophomores from Junior High School, we have new students from various other towns and states and six new faculty members teaching in the system. BSHS is lucky indeed to have gained such a fine group of new teachers.

Mrs. Ellen R. Bownds, teacher of Senior English and American history, taught previously in the Dallas school system. A sociology major at NTSC in Denton, she received her BA degree there. She is the mother of two daughters, Mary Nell, who is a sophomore at Abilene Christian College, and Gay, sophomore here in BSHS. She marvels at the courteous, co-operative spirit of BSHS students, and expresses thanks for the manner in which they have helped her, a new teacher, get started.

Mrs. Ralph L. Sabin, whose home is at 711 Rummels, is American history and government instructor in BSHS. The holder of a MS degree, she attended Abilene Christian College and later Hardin Simmons University. She is the mother of a son, Steve Allan Robertson, who is a senior at Louisiana State Institute. Having previously taught at Sweetwater, Pecos and Lawn, she states that the excellent faculty, good discipline, courtesy of students to teachers and the comradeship between teachers and students have impressed her. A loyal Steer fan already, she is strongly interested in sports of all kinds.

Frankie Geneva Boyd, a BSHS graduate herself, is the new biology instructor here now. She explained that even though she is very much impressed with the new building, she likes especially working with the administration and students. Texas Tech was chosen by Miss Boyd, and she majored in chemistry to receive her BS degree there. Since she is a May 1955 graduate, she is brand new in the teaching business.

Mrs. William Humphrey is another one of the teachers whose first year this is to teach. She majored in business administration and received her BA degree at ETSTC at Commerce. The instructor of bookkeeping, typing and sophomore English, she states that our fine school spirit and attitude of co-operation have left the deepest impression in her mind.

"Your school spirit" explained Emmett Broderson, assistant football coach, American history and Texas history teacher, "is to be commended." Having taught in Seymour and Levelland before coming here to accept a position, he received his BS degree in Education at the Midwestern University

The limelight of Tuesday's opening of school assembly was stolen by the presentation of "Old Chalmers," an oil painting by Mrs. Myrtle Lee, local artist. A parting gift from the 1955 graduating class, it will hang in the high school foyer, reminding us of our duty of always representing BSHS to the best of our ability.

Orchids go to members of the Student Council, who made the opening of school run much smoother the first morning. Meeting everyone as they came into the auditorium, they presented name tags which were worn by all students to aid in identification of new students. It is an annual affair for the student council to print cards with teachers' names on them which are placed above that teacher's door to make room finding easier.

Monday night at 7:30 at the YMCA building will mark the first Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y meetings of the year. Anyone who has not previously joined either of these clubs, is invited to attend. A relatively new idea in the Big Spring H. S. will be experiments. Program findings will be filled in Monday night by each member. Be sure to attend, for this is a way to insure that you will receive programs that are of vital interest to YOU.

Mrs. Billie McClure, teacher of the Deborah Class at the First Baptist Church, moved this week to Hobbs, N. M. Members of the class, Jacqueline Smith, Marlene Mann, Fredia Domic, Toni Barron, Carol Rogers, Louisa Coker, Joyce Horne and Mary Sue Hale attended a party at the home of Bettie Anderson, another member of the class, Thursday night. A gift was presented to Mrs. McClure in appreciation of the past year's work.

Forsan PTA Slates First Meeting Date

FORSAN — The first meeting of the Forsan PTA has been announced for Monday evening at the school. There will be an executive meeting at 7 p.m. preceding the regular session, which is scheduled for 8 p.m.

Walter Gressett was a visitor in San Angelo recently.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Snelling have been Mr. and Mrs. N. G. Bell and Belinda of Snyder. Mrs. Vera Harris has been visiting in Sterling City and Odessa with relatives. Also visiting in Odessa were Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Suttles, who were guests of Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Newsom.

J. B. Fullerton of Vernon is living in the home of his sister, Mrs. Clarence Schwede, and Mr. Schwede, while attending Forsan High School, where he will be a sophomore.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Holladay accompanied their daughter, Nan, to Waco, where she enrolled in Baylor University for her freshman year.

Druids and Drugs

The druids of Britain were the priest-physicians of the ancient Irish civilization. They tended the sick and wounded with preparations from their bags of salves and herbs. The mistletoe, a parasitic plant of the oak, was known to the druids as the "all-healer" and was the object of superstitious veneration.

There is no one "all-healer." Your physician studies each individual case and prescribes the remedy indicated. The family physician is the one to consult when you feel "out of sorts." Bring your prescriptions to us to be filled.

Teen-ager Margaret O'Brien, busy these days with both motion picture and television assignments, talks to Lydia Lane about her beauty and diet routines. You'll see Margaret soon in RKO's "Glory."

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Beauty Routine Given By Margaret O'Brien

By LYDIA LANE

HOLLYWOOD — Though Margaret O'Brien is only 18, she is a veteran film star, having won a special Academy Award as a child actress. Contrary to many teen-ager stars who have grown up in the public eye, she is not impatient to become sophisticated.

"My grandmother was Spanish," Margaret told me on the set at CBS where she was rehearsing for one of her frequent television appearances. "She and mother had definite ideas about holding a teenager in check. They felt that I have the rest of my life to be grown up. I didn't fight them and in a way I'm glad because some of my girl friends who started going out so young don't seem to enjoy themselves now nearly as much as I do."

"One thing I did mind, though," Margaret admitted, "was not being permitted to wear even lipstick until I was 16. When the time came, I went to extremes and really piled it on, doe-eyes and all. Mother used to shake her head and say, 'Margaret, you'd look so much better without all that stuff on your face,' but she didn't make an issue of it. She let me find it out for myself. I think parents sometimes would be very wise to let their children learn from experience."

"Now I limit my makeup to a light pink lipstick, a little mascara and no foundation," she returned.

We chatted about how attractive the sheen of a fresh young skin is. "Considering how much makeup you've had to wear in your work," I commented, "your complexion is exceptionally good."

"I've always been very careful about cleansing my face," she explained. "I steam my face with hot cloths to open the pores and let the dirt out. One of the studio makeup men told me that most pimples stem from clogged pores."

Margaret admired my sun tan and told me that while she was in Honolulu en route back from Japan where she had made a picture, she tried to get a quick tan at Waikiki beach since she didn't have much time to spend there.

"Everyone warned me that the sun was treacherous there but I didn't listen. I have to find things out for myself," she signed. "This time it was very painful and I'm sure I'll never again get out in the sun without first protecting my skin with cream."

An ice cream vendor appeared on the set and although it was a hot day, Margaret resisted.

"Because I was underweight most of my life, I guess I began to take it for granted," she confided. "One day I did some stunts in a bathing suit and suddenly realized that I was carrying several pounds that had to go. It's funny how your figure can change without your knowing it."

Margaret's figure is flawless now. "What did you do?" I wanted to know.

"I put myself on a balanced diet of 750 calories a day. I exercised my hips every day. It didn't take long before I was down to where I wanted to be."

"I had the same breakfast every day: one egg, half a piece of toast and a four-ounce glass of grapefruit juice. Coffee is allowed but I don't drink it."

"Lunch consisted of fresh fruit and about four ounces of low-calorie cottage cheese. A low-calorie soft drink is permitted. In the middle of the afternoon I had a glass of iced tea (with a sugar substitute) or skim milk."

"For dinner I had broiled lean ground round, a green salad with vinegar or lemon dressing, raw carrots and an apple. Occasionally I substituted cooked green and yellow vegetables and lean chops or steaks, or half a broiled chicken, so you see it was a pretty flexible diet." "Because I started my career so early," she said in parting, "I learned the importance of grooming at a young age and it has become a habit with me. It's the little things like airing your clothes, checking a dress for spots as soon as you take it off and pressing your things after each wearing that make for good grooming."

H-D Agent Outlines Activities For Year

By JOYCE CONNAWAY
 September is the month when most organizations make plans for the year, and Elizabeth Pace, Howard County Home Demonstration agent, has a full calendar planned for the 4-H Club girls and the Home Demonstration women.
 All the clubs will meet this month for election of officers. Last year there were 129 4-H girls enrolled in projects and the present list of home demonstration women includes 143.
 "The 4-H Club work will be under two topics this year, foods demonstration and clothing and grooming," the agent stated.
 In the food sessions, the girls will learn how to store foods, to prepare fruits for serving fresh and in salads, to fix vegetables for a relish plate and to select canned foods through a study of labels. They will also have an opportunity to practice table service and learn how to be hostess at a tea.
 Under the clothing and grooming projects, come sessions on cleanliness, hair-care and styling, care of hands and feet, care of teeth, posture and exercise, and individual care of clothing.
 Periods in leadership training in how to conduct a meeting in an orderly fashion will be offered. Training will be given in reporting, taking minutes, directing recreation and giving 4-H subject matter demonstrations as a junior leader.
 Other than these special events, the girls will have certain projects to complete during the nine months as making garments, decorating rooms, gardening or similar activities.
 Through the instruction by Miss Pace and supervision of adult leaders, the girls learn in a practical way how to "make the best better," which is their motto.
 "The home demonstration women will continue their study in Homestead Improvement, the purpose of which is to recognize a need for homestead improvement and to plan convenient, comfortable family living in the home," explained Miss Pace.
 Demonstrations will include how to choose and plant foundation shrubs and screening shrubs, and how to conserve the soil and water in yards.
 In training meetings for leaders, instructions will be given on how to grow shrubs and trees from cuttings, and how to make the rural home water supply safe. Tips will be offered on how to make housework more simple by applying principles of demonstration.
 A kitchen demonstration will illustrate how work can be done easily, quickly and pleasantly by considering the convenience and sanitation in planning and improving the room.
 The women will study the background of the kitchen, wall finish-

CRMWD Picking Up Loose Ends From Major Construction Jobs

The Colorado River Municipal Water District is in the process of picking up loose ends from major construction started first in 1951. Before the end of this year it may be concentrating entirely on operations.

Such is the conclusion to be drawn from the semi-annual progress report by E. V. Spence, general manager of the CRMWD. The report to the bondholders is required under terms of the indenture imposed with the floating of $11,750,000 in revenue bonds.

Other highlights included figures showing the district had grossed nearly $2 million in revenues while moving from paper to reality in four years; had applied $1 1/4 million to debt requirements; had enabled member cities of Big Spring, Odessa and Snyder to have water without thought of rationing; had initiated studies to develop other sources of water in response to growing requests by cities and other users.

Chief items of construction during the first half of 1955 were the terminal water storage facilities for Big Spring and SACROC-Snyder, and the addition of pumping and pipeline facilities to serve the new Sharon Ridge repressuring unit. Considerable effort was devoted also to protecting 12 operative oil well mounts.

The district already has transferred $10,340,294 of completed construction to capital assets, said Spence. During the first half of the year, another $319,910 was expended, leaving $404,172 for construction remaining or scheduled. This amount is ample to meet engineer estimates of cost, said Spence.

Expenditures for dam and reservoir construction amounted to $13,177 for the first half, and of this $6,966 was for additional rip-rapping of mounts to protect them from unexpectedly severe waves and wind action. Buildings and sodding down slopes of the dam required another $5,060.

Terminal water storage payments to June 30 amounted to $121,611, including $62,400 for Big Spring and $59,211 for SACROC-Snyder. This was higher than anticipated after contracts were let due to repairs and change in design, but the total was still $5,000 under original cost estimates.

The supply line from Lake J. B. Thomas to serve the Sharon Ridge unit plant accounted for $110,038, of which $96,528 was for line, $11,583 for pump station additions and $1,927 for right-of-way.

The Big Spring-Odessa line from Lake Thomas also required $48,226, which embraced final payment on the pump station at the Big Spring-Odessa intake and the Morgan Creek booster station, and $2,165 for work to prevent washouts on the line across Buzzard and Sulphur Draws in Howard County.

Other construction expense was $1,700 on the Snyder pipeline, $1,547 on work at the Martin County well field, $12,870 for engineering and $10,738 for miscellaneous expense, most of which went to installation of a short-wave communication system.

Principal items remaining in the construction futures book are booster stations at Big Spring and

White To Ask Drought Aid In Flood Area

AUSTIN (AP)—Agriculture Commissioner John White, back from a one-day air inspection tour of South Texas, said Saturday he will still recommend drought aid for the entire 17-county drought pocket despite torrential rains in six of the counties.

White's tour yesterday was to get first-hand information for recommendations to the U.S. Department of Agriculture for a possible emergency aid program.

Some revision of the South Texas drought boundaries will be necessary, White said, but possible need for aid should not be discounted even in those counties which were blanketed by downpours, White said.

"The rains were too late to do fall crops much, if any, good, and one rain can't be turned into immediate cash," he said.

Requests for drought aid by the 17 counties were being studied by the State Agricultural Stabilization Committee in College Station today. At least six of these counties—Bee, Duval, Jim Wells, Nueces, Brooks and Kleberg—received rain the past few days, some in torrential proportions.

Conditions in the 11-county dry area bordering the flooded section, White said, are still as bad as ever.

He said the stabilization committee could make revisions in the rain-soaked counties after a comprehensive survey.

New York School Workers Fired For Red Connections

NEW YORK (AP)—Dr. William Jansen, city superintendent of schools, today announced suspension of a principal, two teachers and a clerk accused of Communist connections.

Another teacher also was ordered suspended, but this order was stayed.

All will have hearings under direction of the City Board of Education. The dates have not been set.

"I hope everyone will reserve decision in these cases until hearings have been held because it is impossible for anyone to make a judgment until all the facts are brought out under oath," Jansen said.

The employees are accused specifically of conduct unbecoming a teacher or supervisor on one or more of three counts:

1. Violating the New York Feinberg Law, which bans Communists as teachers.
2. Failing to give names of Communist acquaintances.
3. Making false statements in applying for a teaching license.

Jansen said those ordered suspended were:

- Samuel G. Cohen, 44, principal of P.S. 103 in Manhattan; Minerva Feinstein, 37, clerk in P.S. 136, Brooklyn; Julius Nash, 47, teacher in Taft High School, the Bronx; Irving Mauer, 41, teacher in Junior High School 120 in Manhattan.

Five youngsters, including two sets of twins, will join the world's few surviving whooping cranes on their annual flight from Canada to their winter home in Texas.

The National Audubon Society in New York, appealing for hunters along the 2,500-mile flight line not to harm the big birds, disclosed the five young ones were born in the wilds of Northern Canada.

Counting the young, the whooping crane population now stands at 26. Their flight southward will begin soon.

En route to their winter home at the Aransas National Wildlife refuge near Austwell, the birds will fly over the Dakotas, Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma and part of Texas.

Doves are few and far between in this neck of the woods according to some local sportsmen. Fact is, all game has been somewhat reduced by the drought. Around McCamey, our old stomping ground for example, not even jack rabbits are much in evidence, and those few who do pop up from the brush are nothing but skin and bone. Coy Loving, who has been gunning after doves in this area since the season opened, opines: "There just aren't any. I've got one so far."

There is hope, though, for the rest of this year and the next. Weathermen seem agreed that the long drought is at an end, and a wet season is in store.

Music Helps Move Freight

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Pennsylvania Railroad is going to try music to help move its freight cars faster.

In an unusual stunt to spur its employees, the PRR has made recordings of a song titled "Don't Stand Me Still" set to the music of Cole Porter's catchy tune "Don't Fence Me In."

The lyrics urge the freight cars to keep moving.

A PRR spokesman said the program is aimed at moving each freight car 15 more minutes a day, which would be equivalent to providing the Pennsy's freight customers with 20,500 more cars a day.

Besides the song, which will be played at PRR installations and employe meetings, the railroad is devoting space in its monthly magazine to the campaign.

Hopeful Butcher Trusts In Honesty

DETROIT (AP)—Anthony Mangiapane, 43, wrapped $800 in brown paper and put the package by the cash register in his butcher shop last night.

A woman customer walked in and Tony waited on her before placing the money in a safe.

"She pays me, she leaves, then I think of the money," said Tony. "I grab the package. It's not firm like money. I open it. It's her sausage."

Hopefully, Tony added, "Maybe in a few days when the lady takes it out of the ice box to eat, she'll bring back the $800. Freezing won't hurt it."

Washington Schools To Open First Time On Integrated Basis

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP)—The 150 public schools in the national capital, which President Eisenhower hopes will serve as a model for the rest of the nation, open for the first time Monday on a completely mixed racial basis.

The event eliminates a social revolution of major proportions which gradually is erasing the color line in Washington.

In a city of some 300,000, where the nonwhite population is more than a third of the total and rising steadily, Negroes now may:

- Eat in any restaurant in town, stay at any hotel, attend any movie or theatre, swim in any public pool, play in all city recreation centers, golf on all public courses.
- Negroes—Cubans, but still Negroes—play on the Washington American League baseball team although not with the professional football Redskins. The National Press Club has admitted its first Negro member. The transit system finally is hiring some Negro operators after years of resisting. Police and fire departments, the latter only recently, operate on a desegregated basis.
- Public welfare activities are largely integrated. Of 24 public housing projects for low-income families, 19 are open to all races and the rest will be.
- Negroes still have a long way to go before catching up with white income levels. They still make up the bulk of laborers, domestics and other low-paid workers and account for the bulk of the welfare load.

But a survey directed by Raymond F. Clapp research analyst for the District of Columbia Department of Public Welfare, shows the economic position of the Negro is improving. For example:

In 1940, 28 per cent of nonwhite men workers were laborers but only 23 per cent in 1952. In the same decade the percentage of such workers in clerical and sales jobs rose from 10 to 17.

Similarly, 61 per cent of nonwhite working women were in household service in 1940 but only 23 per cent 10 years later. Over this 10-year period, the percentage in clerical and sales positions jumped from 3 to 23 per cent.

The study shows, furthermore, that the Negro is becoming better educated and better housed, that his health is improving, as he gets better-paying, more secure employment.

It all adds up to a tremendous change.

Much of it has come about under the compulsion of court decisions striking down racial barriers. And it has been accompanied at times by friction, bitterness and occasional disturbances and violence. Now and again rocks have crashed through windows when a Negro family has moved into a home in a white neighborhood.

Whatever the impetus and difficulties of this social upheaval, a lot of segregation has disappeared in Washington since that day in 1953 when the acclaimed Negro contralto Marian Anderson sang from the steps of the Lincoln Memorial after the Daughters of the American Revolution refused the use of Constitution Hall. Since then Miss Anderson has given three concerts in Constitution Hall.

While Negroes insist on equal rights, and have far more than in 1939, they don't always use them to a maximum. They aren't over-running high-toned restaurants or monopolizing swank hotels.

In part, the reason may be that many of them can't afford to patronize such places. But Eugene Davidson, president of the Washington chapter of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, offers another.

"We are taking advantage of our rights," he said in an interview, "but only to a limited extent. There was no rush to restaurants when they opened up. We aren't staying away. But nobody leaves uptown to go downtown to eat. If they happen to be down there, they go in and eat."

"We still go to our own places—movies, restaurants and all the rest."

"Things in general are going beautifully."

By and large, Washingtonians appear to be accepting the shifting pattern of racial relationships with comparative calm. Legal and other maneuvers designed to block it invariably have failed.

A year ago, when the integration process began in public schools, hundreds of white students went on strike at nine schools. There were placard-carrying demonstrations in front of the Supreme Court, which outlawed racial segregation in public schools May 17, 1954. The rebellion was over in a few days.

"This year, Davidson says he expects no more strike-trouble. Dr. Hobart M. Corning, superintendent of schools, says: "I'm not expecting any strikes but I'm keeping my fingers crossed."

Texas Cotton Crop Outlook Down Slightly

AUSTIN (AP)—Texas' cotton crop declined slightly during August to an indicated 3,850,000 bales, the U.S. Department of Agriculture reported today.

The forecast is 50,000 bales under the Aug. 1 forecast, 2 per cent under the 3,940,000 bales harvested last year and 14 per cent above average.

The report said deterioration in some areas more than offset larger crops now indicated for other districts.

Irrigated cotton in High Plains and Trans-Pecos counties made good development. Good yields were indicated unless the crop is cut short by an earlier-than-usual frost.

Yields in southeastern and south central counties were exceeding pre-harvest expectations.

Prospects declined in central and northern blackland counties as insects took heavy toll. Irrigated cotton in the Lower Valley produced excellent yields but dryland yields were poor.

Corn Crop Forecast Down As Wheat Prospects Seem Better

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department today forecast this year's corn crop at 3,113,467,000 bushels and the wheat crop at 916,776,000 bushels as of Sept. 1.

The corn estimate is 364,241,000 bushels less than last month's forecast of 3,477,711,000 bushels. The wheat figure is 5,818,000 bushels more than 910,958,000 indicated a month ago.

The corn crop compares with 2,964,639,000 produced last year, 3,080,115,000 for the ten-year (1944-53) average and the department's production goal of about 433 million bushels.

The wheat estimate compares with 969,781,000 harvested last year, 1,154,073,000 for the ten-year average and with the government's goal of about 900,000,000 bushels under a rigid production and marketing control program.

The wheat crop included 689,403,000 bushels of winter wheat and 227,373,000 bushels of all spring wheat. Unchanged from a month ago, the winter wheat estimate compares with 790,737,000 last year and 867,390,000 for the ten-year average.

The all spring wheat figure compares with 221,553,000 forecast last month, 179,044,000 produced last year and 286,683,000 for the ten-year average. The spring wheat crop included 14,334,000 bushels of durum and 213,039,000 bushels of spring wheat other than durum.

Last month's durum forecast was 14,293,000 bushels compared with 5,557,000 last year and 33,432,000 for the ten-year average. Last month's estimate for spring wheat other than durum was 207,262,000 compared with 173,487,000 last year and 253,251,000 for the ten-year average.

The indicated production of other crops this month compared with last month, last year and the ten-year average, respectively, included:

Oats, 1,636,000,000 bushels this month; 1,625,264,000 last month; 1,499,579,000 last year and 1,323,321,000 for the ten-year average.

Astronomers Don't Mix With Politics

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP)—One of the strangest international conferences ever held in these days of world tension came to a close here this week.

The shadow of politics hung overhead—but no word of politics was mentioned at the ninth General Assembly of the International Astronomical Union.

Mingling at the meetings were astronomers from the Soviet Union and Jesuits from the Vatican, star gazers from Red China, the United States and 38 other countries.

Many of their governments do not recognize each other diplomatically, but the astronomers talked freely and swapped data.

Presiding over the conference was Dr. Otto Struve of the University of California, who explained:

"Ideological and political differences fade away in our common goal, the exploration of the universe."

Dr. Struve is a White Russian who fought the Communists in the Bolshevik uprising against the Czar and fled to the United States in the 1920s. During the meetings, Struve served at times as an interpreter for Russian astronomers when they ran into language difficulties.

Prof. B. V. Kukarkin, leader of the Soviet delegation, was the busiest man present. He was smiling and shaking hands with everyone, insisting "different political systems don't prevent friendly scientific relations."

German War Criminals Freed

BONN, Germany (AP)—The first German criminals to be released under the new four-dation review of war crimes sentences were freed today from the British prison at Werl.

Karl Buck, Karl Nussberger and Johannes Steenbock were released on order of the American-British-French-German board which was organized last month.

The treaties restoring sovereignty to West Germany gave this board the power to parole, to free or to reduce sentences of war criminals.

Maybe They'll Land On Moon Together

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—A little more than six years ago, Mrs. Lee Steerts and Mrs. Aaron F. Skolnick shared the same room in the maternity ward of a Salt Lake City hospital.

Both had sons. This week, the two mothers met again for the first time since their 1948 meeting. Each was bringing her son to register in the first grade.

Both were assigned to the same classroom.

School's Female Enrollment Doubles

GOLDEN, Colo. (AP)—To the delight of 1,068 male students, Colorado School of Mines' female enrollment has doubled.

Catherine Larkin, 19, of Douglas, Wyo., and Dawn Hayford, 18, of China Lake, Calif., have enrolled for classes starting next Wednesday.

Cop Strains Back To Do His Duty

OMAHA (AP)—Sgt. Henry Geil went to his police files to get a man's record.

He pulled at the file drawer. No action.

He yanked at the drawer. It popped out.

Geil picked himself off the floor with a sprained back.

DO IT YOURSELF Easy-To-Build Bench Matches Any Decor

By BILL BAKER
New elegance will be brought into your home when you add the smart, easy-to-build provincial bench I'm going to tell you about today.
No matter how your home is furnished — whether modern, provincial or Early American — this bench will fit perfectly. It is an ideal accent item for any decor, you'll discover.
And the best part of it, perhaps, is the fact that the bench couldn't be easier to build in your own home workshop. With the help of my pattern package number 139 you'll breeze through the construction with no problems.

Exact-size paper pattern pieces, made of heavy-weight paper, duplicate each section of the bench. Like

And here's how you can get your pattern package: just send your name and address, (clearly printed), together with only one dollar ($1) in check, cash or money order, to Bill Baker, Big Spring Herald, P. O. Box 1111, Los Angeles 33, California. Be sure to ask for pattern package number 139.

And then you'll be on the way toward owning your own provincial bench.

a woman's dress pattern, all you'll have to do is tack the pattern pieces down, trace them and then cut.

Before you start to work you'll discover other problem-solving features in the pattern package. A full material list, for example, makes it possible for you to make a trip to the lumberyard and return with exactly the right amount of materials. No waste of money on this project.
Easy-to-read instructions make assembling the unit very easy. And detailed diagrams of each phase of the construction job add to the simplicity.

Only a few basic tools are needed, too. Dowels are used to support the back and arms, and since they are of a standard size no tool problem will come up for you. The elegant legs, too, can be obtained in finished, ready-to-install form since they are also standard size.

You'll enjoy finding the right spot for the finished bench in your home. And actually any spot will be the right spot.

Can you think of a better furnishing item for your entrance hall? Or how about placing the bench in the living room or dining room. The added usefulness of extra seating plus the handsome effect the bench will bring to your home makes it ideal for any location.

For an inexpensive and easy project, I can't overemphasize the fact that the provincial bench is for you. For a few dollars worth of materials and a few hours of workshop fun you'll come up with a unit worth more than a hundred dollars. Where else can you find such a combination?

Bench Of Beauty

This handsome provincial bench will bring beauty and usefulness to your home. The Bill Baker design, shown here with popular motion picture actress Marge Tenney, is an easy-to-build project.

Prof Discovers Human Frailty. Fortune's Made

TOKYO (AP)—Hiroshi Sato, Japan's top professor of geopolitics, toiled in the universities for 30 years at $100 a month.

He wrote a dozen intensely scholarly books. They were read only by other geopoliticians — the scientists who study the effect of geography on peoples' domestic and foreign policies.

Then the professor cranked out a little potboiler called "Naked Essays." An avid public rocketed him to the top of Japan's postwar best seller list.

The little book has sold 600,000 copies. "Naked Essays is a collection of Sato's observations on life, including such subjects as the shape of bosoms observed in a public bath house. About half the 60 essays deal with sex.

The professor wrote many of the essays for his own amusement. "I simply can't understand it," he says. "I am not a literary man. All my other books flopped."

Mexico Ends Revolution, Is Growing Up

By LAURANCE F. STUNTZ
MEXICO CITY, Sept. 10 (AP)—After more than a century of almost constant internal disturbances which slowed her development, Mexico is growing up and life is easier all around.

Mexico has always been overshadowed by her bigger, richer, and generally happier neighbor. Her industry and trade are modeled on the United States (although her banks and older retail stores follow French customs). The United States is her best customer and her best supplier.

Mexico's living is a two-layer matter—U.S. luxuries overlaid on a basis of Mexico's corn-and-beans way of life. The average Mexican eats corn tortillas and goes to Hollywood movies. He wears sandals in the country but when he travels he goes by Detroit-made buses. The farmer may plow with oxen or burros, but he plants the newest hybrid seed corn.

Despite this terrific cultural pressure from the North — and deliberate — Mexico has remained a Latin, Catholic country. Lengthy and late lunch hours are still the custom even in U.S. advertising agencies here. Mexico has its own movie industry and its best films are good. Politics are noisy, not notably honest. Newspapers still publish poetry.

But new roads and airlines have reduced the hills. Water running off them has been turned into electric power. New crops have made the valleys more productive.

And Mexico is taking other things avidly from the outside: new power plants, new roads, new trains, new factories. Not all of them are economically sound. But in general they are paying their way in the form of easier living.

In 15 years Mexico has increased her population 40 per cent. But her national income, the total value of all farm and factory goods, has doubled in that time. That means that everybody is eating more, dressing better and spending a little more on luxuries.

Basically, the reason for all this improvement is political. Mexico is enjoying the longest period of internal peace in her history. She has gone longer without a successful revolution than any other Latin-American state.

The Mexican revolution went on for seven years, beginning in 1910. When it ended, everybody had a little bit of what he fought for. The government is basically pro-labor, so labor is happy. It has agrarian aims, so the landless farmer has at least a hope of getting his own land as additional acreage is brought under irrigation. The government is not socialistic, so the businessman is confident. A middle class, that great dampener of violent social movement, is beginning to form.

Maturity and peace, in turn, have made it possible for the government and private enterprise, between them to get busy on welfare.

Irrigation has increased cotton production, now the chief dollar-earning export, with coffee close behind. These crops grow fresh every year, unlike exports of silver, lead and zinc, which have gradually exhausted the mines.

Internal peace also has given Mexico a terrific income from tourists. The 400,000 North Americans who visit here every year are one of the country's chief sources of dollars.

The return of migrant farm workers after helping with U.S. harvests has had a big effect on Mexico, socially and economically. Probably one of every 20 Mexicans has visited the United States. They bring back not only the dollars they earned but, generally, an admiration for American ways.

Health is still a problem. The death rate in childbirth, to cite one example, is down from 50 deaths to 30 deaths per 10,000 in 15 years.

Education is still insufficient. Many children, even in the capital, cannot go to school because of a shortage of school buildings and teachers.

There's another dark cloud on the Mexican horizon — inflation. The value of the peso has dropped from 22 cents in 1939 to 8 cents now. Every time the trade balance goes against the country, the government has dropped the value of the peso again. This makes imported goods cost more and reduces imports, thereby balancing trade again. But it can't go on indefinitely because it raises the price of imported necessities, such as trucks and railroad equipment and drugs. The only solution is to keep the country so prosperous that its trade balance is always favorable.

Another danger in Mexico's present economic status is the delicate nature of the tourist trade. Tourist dollars are essential to the country, but the tourist trade could be cut off overnight.

All in all, Mexico is doing all right now. But she will need all her luck to keep improvements coming.

Howard County Junior College will start registering Monday morning for the 1955-56 fall semester, and classes will begin on Wednesday. If indications bear fruit, the college enrollment this year should set another record.

This is no surprise, because the faculty is a capable, intelligent and enthusiastic one. Where comparisons are made, the faculty would stack up as stronger than in most schools.

3 R's—Bigger Every Year!

Around The Rim A Little Culture Never Hurt Anybody

Busy as I was, with abacus and slide rule, trying to figure out the pennant winner in the American League, the Dream Girl's pronouncement caught me off base. What she said was, "You need more culture."

was my next question. "Besides, we saw the movie, didn't we?" "Yes, we did, but here is the real-life drama, performed by some extraordinary people, who know how to interpret Shaw, who just happens to be one of the best playwrights of all time, that's all."

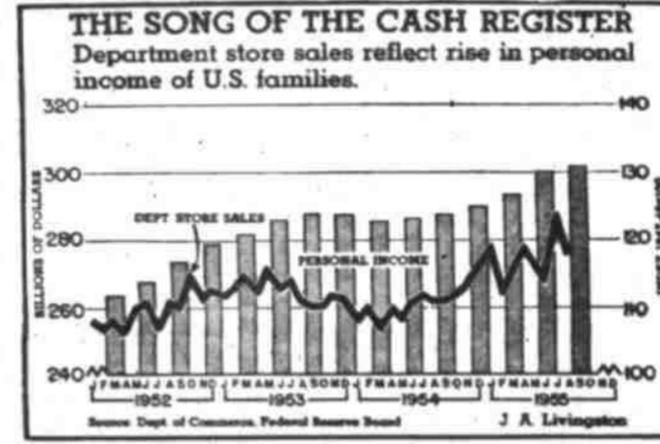

David Lawrence Sound Economics And The Federal Debt

WASHINGTON — It isn't often that former President Harry Truman, once leader of the Democratic party and perhaps its real leader today, is on the same side of the argument as conservatives like Representative Daniel Reed of New York, ranking Republican member of the House Ways and Means Committee, and Senator Byrd of Virginia, Democrat, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee.

"I agree with Secretary Humphrey that the budget can be balanced in this fiscal year. I am not so certain, however, that both a tax reduction and a balanced budget can be accomplished. It would be foolhardy to balance the budget and then unbalance it by a premature reduction in taxes."

J. A. Livingston Now Prosperity Is Prospering On Itself

WASHINGTON — So the Department of Commerce puts out a release about America's triple boom — personal income above 300 billion dollars, an all-time high; employment over 65,000,000, another record; construction of a 42-billion-dollar-a-year-rate — also a top. Pretty boomy.

Said Charles M. White, Republic president: "We have become convinced that the economy is moving ahead. Not only is the normal population increase creating steel demand but high-living standards are bringing about a material increase in steel use per capita."

Whistle Weakens

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Big Jim, the city whistle that sounds each day at 7 a.m., noon, 1 p.m., and 5 is going to be a little weaker. Reason is that oil costs have gone up. Oil is used for fuel to make the steam that blows the whistle and the city is going to cut down on the steam.

Hearing Set Monday On County Budget Of $771,470 For 1956

A proposed county budget of $771,470 for 1956 comes up for public hearing at the commissioners court meeting Monday at 10 a.m.

for the jury fund to bring its rate up to the 15-cent constitutional limit. Budgeted expenditures for the year total $771,470, which would leave the county with cash balances amounting to $61,008.15 at the end of 1956. Outlays are up $45,232.41 over the 1955 total. Revenues for the year are estimated in the budget to reach $720,637.41. Addition of balances totaling $50,833.15 at the beginning of the year would provide the $771,470.56 available for appropriation.

The budget anticipates current tax collections for 1956 at $409,968, which would be 90 per cent of the $455,520 level. Taxes will be assessed at the rate of $1.04 per $100 of value on an estimated roll of $43,800,000.

THE MAN IN THE GRAY FLANNEL SUIT

By Sloan Wilson
What "Executive Suite" did for top executives, this novel does for the average white-collar worker. This is to say, it gives the reader an inside look at the life and problems of an "up-and-coming" businessman.

J. Frank Dobie has a new one on the way titled "Tale Of Old Time Texas."

Most of them are tall tales about mythical characters. Life Magazine will begin the serialization of Harry Truman's memoirs late this month. Doubleday is publishing the manuscript which runs to 500,000 words. The first volume "Years of Decision" will be ready Oct. 20 and the second "Years of Trial and Hope" will be out in February.

AN INCREASE OF $3,979,130 IN VALUATIONS IS ESTIMATED FOR BUDGET PURPOSES. IF THE BUDGETED TAX RATE IS SET BY COMMISSIONERS, IT WILL BE UP SIX CENTS FROM THE 98-CENT RATE OF THE CURRENT YEAR.

The higher rate and increased valuations would result in a $67,732 gain in current tax collections next year, according to the budget. Other receipts are expected to increase by $48,269.41 to boost total resources $88,576.56 above the 1955 total.

EXPENDITURES ARE UP ABOUT THE SAME AMOUNT, SHOWING A $22,654.41 INCREASE TO A TOTAL OF $337,054.41.

Administrative costs are up about $20,000, but this includes $3,600 for a sheriff's deputy who is to be paid out of the fund. Three fourths of the county judge's salary also helps make up the increase, and an additional $1,800 is added in this year for commissioner costs travel and telephone expenses.

ON HIS NEW JOB, RATH FINDS THAT THERE ARE THINGS EXPECTED OF HIM WHICH HE CANNOT DO.

After worrying about it, he tells the boss frankly how he feels and better arrangements are made for him. In the case of his estate, he speaks honestly with the probate judge and the case is settled in his favor.

THUS, AUTHOR WILSON SEEMS TO LAY DOWN THE RULES FOR MEN WHO WEAR A "GRAY FLANNEL SUIT."

Face your problems squarely, be forthright and honest; speak frankly, but discreetly, and do your best at all times; then everything will work out all right.

KNIGHT ERRANT

By BRIAN CONNELL
This Doubleday book is the biography of Douglas Fairbanks Jr. Even if you start it with the idea that Douglas Fairbanks Jr. is something of a stuffed shirt, you're apt to wind up feeling that even if he is, there's good reason for it.

RE-BIRTH

By JOHN WYNDHAM
When the world is finally engaged in an atomic war, much of the surface of the Earth is made uninhabitable. Vast wastelands of extreme radio-activity restrict mankind (the few who are left) to certain small areas. But this inconvenience is not the only change in the way of life.

INCIDENTALLY...

"Gertrude Lawrence As Mrs. A" has been used to Hollywood. Deborah Kerr is being talked about for the lead. The author had been remarried for about two or three days when to nine cents.

There is a shift of taxes from the courthouse and jail bond issue to the permanent improvement fund, also. The bond issue tax rate is being reduced from 12 to 14 cents, with the nickel gained going to the permanent improvements fund to bring it up to its constitutional limit of 11 cents.

As a result of the transfers and the new levy, combined rates of the operating funds will be 14 cents higher this year — a total of 81 cents instead of 67 cents. The interest and sinking fund rates will total 23 cents, as compared to 21 during the current year.

As a result of the changes, jury fund receipts are expected to total $39,550 next year, nearly triple the $12,852 of 1955, and permanent improvement fund revenues are anticipated at $45,362, more than double 1955's $20,852.

Jury fund expenditures are expected to total $27,640, an increase of $5,480 over the current year. Most of the increase will be for the salary and expenses of the special investigator for the district attorney and a hike of $850 in district court expenses. The fund is expected to have a balance of $31,800 at the end of next year.

Road and bridge fund receipts next year are expected to reach $292,010, a gain of $20,405. This will come from additional tax revenues and car registrations.

Expenditures are up about the same amount, showing a $22,654.41 increase to a total of $337,054.41. Administrative costs are up about $20,000, but this includes $3,600 for a sheriff's deputy who is to be paid out of the fund.

Other road and bridge fund expenditures to be up next year include wages, up $1,000 to $111,000; paving and right-of-way, up $37,724.41 to $77,724.41; and automobiles and pickups, up $800 to $1,500.

Several reductions were made in capital outlays. Expenditures for road equipment will total $15,000 — just half of the 1955 estimate — and truck and trailer expenditures are to drop from $12,000 to $3,000.

General fund receipts are expected to total $105,125 next year, a gain of $10,755. Expenditures will drop from $98,081 to $78,518, but most of the decrease is accounted for by a shift of janitorial and utility disbursements from the general to the permanent improvement fund. To be transferred from the general fund to the officers salary fund is $25,000 to take up the excess of receipts over disbursements.

Officers salary fund receipts, not including the $25,000 transfer, are expected to total $101,900. Expenditures budgeted total $125,815, which would leave a balance of but $185 at the end of the year.

A pay increase of $900 is provided for Justice of the Peace Walter Grice. Set up as salary for a jailer is $2,400, and there is a decrease of $4,000 in the outlay for sheriff's department salaries. Difference in the latter case is the salary for the special investigator, to be paid out of the jury fund next year.

Junior College Faculty Will Have Six New Members; Curriculum Is Expanded

Faculty of Howard County Junior College will have six new personalities this year ready to serve an anticipated increase in students and to provide an expanded curriculum.

Leslie L. Lewis, who holds a master of arts degree from the University of Texas, will instruct in match and science. Formerly he was instructor and coach at Cisco Junior College. His major is in math; his minor in science.

Mrs. Angie C. Vail earned her master of business administration at North Texas State College. She is a management major and will instruct in the commerce department.

Mrs. Elizabeth A. Walker is not exactly a new face on the faculty, but she is embarking upon her work on a full time basis as instructor in girls physical education, safety and health.

Citizens Council Gets State Charter

AUSTIN (AP)—The Texas Citizens Council was granted a state charter yesterday.

Sec. of State A. M. Muldrow announced the approval following a week's delay in action. Holdup was for a study to determine if the council could be chartered "for lawful purpose" as required by law.

The council described itself as an educational institution. It seeks to prevent integration of public schools.

HCJC Ready For Start Of 10th Year On Monday

Howard County Junior College is all set to begin its 10th year of school Monday, and prospects were never brighter for a good enrollment.

Already 111 have taken the classification tests which will be required by all freshmen, and Dr. W. A. Hunt, president, expects this figure to rise sharply during Monday and Tuesday. This is about 60 per cent more than for the same time a year ago, but part of this sharp gain in advance preparation may be attributed to the fact that college representatives have been making direct contacts with prospective students this summer.

This year's term will find the college with an enlarged faculty, an expanded curriculum and with more facilities than ever before. Registration begins at 9 a. m. and continues to 5 p. m. for day students on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday (although classes actually start Wednesday morning). Evening school registration will be between the hours of 6 p. m. and 10 p. m. Monday through Wednesday.

Dr. Hunt emphasized that the fact that classification tests have been given to 111 students already does not mean that other freshmen students are late. On the contrary, the tests were given to these simply to reduce the amount of testing at the beginning of school.

Here are some of the new courses being added this fall semester: Principles of marketing agricultural products, technical writing for students of agriculture, rural sociology, engineering physics and physical measurements, static mechanics, geology of engineers, calculus (additional course for five and three-hour credit), mathematics of finance. The music department, while not adding any courses, has substantially expanded most of its offerings.

The science and mathematics departments have been enlarged in order that all course offerings dovetail with Texas Tech's engineering department for the first two years, said Dr. Hunt.

ter considerable equipment has been added and facilities have been improved.

The commercial department alone has added more than $7,000 in new business machines such as calculators (various types), posting machine, different kinds of electric typewriters, adding machines, an autographer (transcriber), typewriters.

"For what we are trying to do, there is not a school in Texas as well equipped as HCJC in its commerce department," said Dr. Hunt. The geology department has been expanded and much laboratory equipment and samples added so

2 Moslem Nations Restore Relations In 5-Month Dispute

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP)—Official sources reported today that Pakistan and Afghanistan have reached a settlement of differences which have severely strained their relations for more than five months. Terms were not disclosed, but the sources said the Pakistani flag soon will be raised over this country's embassy in Kabul, capital of Afghanistan, for the first time since last March 31.

On that date, a mob attacked the embassy, tore down and burned the flag, and damaged the building. Pakistan withdrew 150 members of the embassy and consular staffs and their families from Afghanistan and demanded reparations.

The anti-Pakistan riot followed Pakistan's decision to incorporate all West Pakistan in a single administrative unit, including the Northwest Frontier province which Afghanistan claims for an "independent Pushtoonistan." This hypothetical state for Pathan tribesmen on both sides of the present Pakistan-Afghanistan border has been a point of contention between the two countries almost since the founding of Pakistan in 1948.

that a second year geology offering can now be made. More materials have been provided for the science department.

Approximately $9,000 has been invested in the library in books, furnishings and equipment so that it now meets American Library Association standards. Dr. Hunt declared it to be one of the best in the country for this size institution.

The student union building has been enlarged by removing the caretakers' quarters. This provided space for game rooms and restrooms, and still leaves the same space for the lounge, kitchen and snack bar.

Housing for the caretaker, who thus can keep an eye on the properties at all hours, is provided in an enlarged and renovated cottage. Shops buildings are having offices, restrooms and corridors painted.

All of this is a far cry from the relatively modest equipment and rambling frame buildings in the old base hospital area when the school first opened 10 years ago.

Negroes Attend Hi School Dance In Austin Gym

AUSTIN (AP)—For the first time in history, Negroes last night attended a dance at the Stephen F. Austin High School gymnasium.

About 12 Negro couples attended the affair sponsored jointly by the Stephen F. Austin and McCallum high schools.

Students who attended said there was no incident and that the Negro youngsters danced only with each other. There was no mixed dancing reported.

Spanish Noblemen Injured In Wreck

VILLARS STE. CROIX, Switzerland (AP)—The two sons of Don Jaime, brother of the pretender to the Spanish throne were injured in an automobile accident here today.

The two princes, Alfonso, 19, and Gonzalo, 18, had driven their small Italian car from the French channel coast throughout the night to visit their grandmother, ex-Queen Victoria Eugenia of Spain, in Lausanne.

Police said they believed the driver fell asleep at the wheel and ran off the road at a curve, only six miles northwest of Lausanne. The car was wrecked and metal parts had to be cut away to free the two princes. They were taken to Lausanne Hospital with face and leg injuries. Neither was reported seriously hurt.

High Tastes Bring Arrest

FARGO, N. D. (AP)—A taste for "high living," including plenty of taxicab rides, brought the arrest of two brothers, aged 9 and 11, on charges of theft from several churches and business places.

They were arrested after police received a tip that two boys who seemed to have a lot of money were taking numerous taxi rides around town.

The boys' mother said she thought they were in school. When arrested, one of the youngsters had $50 cached in his wallet and in one of his boots.

'Moonfleet' Is First Run At Jet Drive-In

'Moonfleet' is the story of a little boy looking for a home. The youth is played by Jon Whiteley, 11 years old. He is sent to Moonfleet, England by his dying mother to join Stewart Granger. From there, the story unfolds in an exciting mystery filled with suspense. 'Moonfleet' is filmed in CinemaScope and color and is showing for the first time in Big Spring at the Jet Drive-in. It also stars Joan Greenwood, George Sanders, and Viveca Lindfors.

The pair finds a clue in a coffin to the whereabouts of a fabulously large diamond, believed to have been buried a century before. They search for and find the treasure which Granger plans to use to join Sanders and his wife, Joan Greenwood, in a piracy scheme. At the last minute, Granger changes his mind because of his love for the boy. Trying to break his ties with Sanders, Granger is wounded in a struggle. He then slips away alone leaving the diamond beside the sleeping Jon, assured that his every want will be fulfilled. Joan Greenwood makes her American film debut in 'Moonfleet.' She is probably the outstanding English star of the day. She gained fame playing opposite the fabulous Alec Guinness. Her husky voice and excellent acting ability places her on a par with any American actress.

'Moonfleet'

Joan Greenwood, Stewart Granger and George Sanders star in 'Moonfleet' at the Jet Drive-in Tuesday and Wednesday. This is a first run picture for Big Spring and is considered one of the better pictures of the year. It is filmed in CinemaScope and color.

Tony Curtis And Colleen Miller

'The Purple Mask' stars Tony Curtis and Colleen Miller in an adventure story of the early Napoleonic days in France. It is filmed in Technicolor and CinemaScope, and plays today through Tuesday at the State.

Audie Murphy Portrays Himself In Ritz Film, 'To Hell And Back'

The biographical film of World War II's most decorated soldier will continue to play at the Ritz through Wednesday. 'To Hell and Back' is filmed in CinemaScope and Technicolor and tells the story of the Texan, Audie Murphy. The film was taken from the autobiographical book which Murphy wrote after his release from the Army. It begins when he was a small boy on a poverty stricken farm and continues through his life until he was awarded 24 war-time decorations, climaxed with the Congressional of Honor. The VFW organization has labeled the film the "greatest war picture to come from Hollywood yet." The endorsement has come from Big Spring post commander Nathan Wilson and national commander Marston B. Tice. Last Friday was the twelfth anniversary of the memorable landing of U.S. troops at Salerno. Audie Murphy was a soldier in that landing.

The story begins when Murphy's mother dies leaving the 11-year-old boy as the sole support for his five brothers and sisters. The family is dismembered, however, by juvenile authorities when it is evident that he can't support them all. After the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor, he attempts to enlist first in the Marines and then the Navy, but is turned down on both tries because he is not physically qualified. The Army takes him with reservations and he is placed in Company B, 15th Infantry, Third Division as a replacement in North Africa. From there on, the story is one of battlefields, from the island of Sicily to Anzio and Salerno, from southern France to Germany. One by one, his buddies are killed until he is the only one of the original men left. He is awarded a battlefield commission and the Medal of Honor comes to him for singlehandedly manning a machine gun on a burned out tank and calling down his own artillery fire on his section to wipe out two companies of Germans. The film draws to an end as Murphy is awarded the highest honor his country can bestow on him. The picture was filmed at the Army's Yakima Washington Firing Range. Murphy is the first American hero to portray his own life story. The picture is one of the best war films ever screened, according to those who have seen it.

Japanese Beauty Starred In 'House Of Bamboo' At Ritz

'House Of Bamboo' is the story of a group of American G.I.'s who form a gang in Tokyo modeled after the Capone gang of prohibition days. Leaders of the mob are Robert Ryan and Cameron Mitchell. The police are represented by Robert Stack and his accomplice Shirley Yamaguchi. The latter is a leading Japanese film star appearing for the first time in American movie.

The picture is filmed in CinemaScope and color. Stack keeps the police informed on the activities of the gang after he becomes a member of the mob. Working as an undercover agent, he is constantly under suspicion by the group. Once when he returns from a visit to police headquarters, Ryan asks him where he has been. Stack tells the boss that he has been out with a girl, Miss Mama.

Tokyo Gangsters

'House Of Bamboo' is the Ritz feature booked here for Thursday through Saturday. It is a story of gangsterism as practiced by Americans in Japan. The CinemaScope and color film stars Shirley Yamaguchi and Robert Stack.

CINEMA COMMENT

By Glenn Coates

I mentioned last week about the State beginning to show more and more first-run films. This week is no exception and there are two good ones scheduled. But I neglected to mention the first runs out at the drive-ins. At the Jet this week, 'Moonfleet' will make a premiere engagement. This film might well be the best picture showing in Big Spring for the week. Of course, I am probably prejudiced somewhat because one of my favorite stars, Joan Greenwood, is in it. But I think she is one of the better actresses on the screen today and almost any film with her in it is usually above average.

One of those first runs at the State this week has few really big names, but all of them are considered pretty good in most quarters. 'The Good Die Young' is rather short on plot but it has much to commend it. The stars most of all. Gloria Grahame you remember from 'Not As A Stranger' or 'The Bad And The Beautiful.' Joan Collins has never been better than her work in 'Adventures of Sadie,' which was at the State a few weeks back.

Richard Basehart and John Ireland both got started in films playing "heavy" parts and both are excellent actors. Basehart is probably one of the best in Hollywood. This picture, incidentally, concerns the psychology of a crime. It is a fast moving story of "why" four men attempted to rob a bank. Also, why they failed. Lucille Ball and Desi Arnaz have made another movie. They have brought in James Mason to help with the starring honors. It is a successor to their successful first film, 'The Long, Long Trailer.' It is in color and should be released in the near future. Name: 'Forever Darling.'

'The McConnell Story' is another one scheduled for early release. It stars Jane Allison and (no, not James Stewart) Alan Ladd and is the story of the jet age. It is filmed in CinemaScope and Technicolor. That girl Jane Russell, who started out in Howard Hughes' controversial film 'Outlaw' is really hitting the big time. Her next film is in 'The Tall Men' and she is co-starring with Clark Gable, Robert Ryan, and Cameron Mitchell.

Photo Facts

By Gus Barr

Men are notoriously shy of being photographed. We are seeing more of them in our studio week after week. It is a heartening sign.

For the men who will be paying us a visit sooner or later, here are a few tips:

Don't have your hair cut just before coming to the photographer. Don't bring in your worries. Come in with an open mind and carefree.

Don't wear a gaudy tie. Don't wear a white shirt. A pastel is better.

Do dress conservatively and comfortably.

Don't be in too big a hurry. The photographer feels it his responsibility to make a good picture of you if it takes all day. He is just as much in a hurry as you are... but he has learned not to show it.

Do expect and demand a picture which makes you look distinguished, dynamic... and completely representative of your personality. We promise you just such photography. Come to see us soon.

Tony Curtis Is Starred In State Offering Today

'The Purple Mask' is the offering today at the State and is its first showing here. The CinemaScope and Technicolor film stars Tony Curtis, Colleen Miller, Gene Barry, Dan O'Herlihy, and Angela Lansbury. When Napoleon began his 'reign of terror,' many prominent noblemen were sentenced to the guillotine. The 'purple mask' was a mysterious figure who often interrupted this practice and saved the heads of many.

Curtis plays the 'mask' and Miss Miller's father is one of the many who keep their heads because of Curtis' prowess at his art. Dan O'Herlihy is a henchman of the famed General and sets about to catch this notorious 'mask' who causes so much trouble. The picture will play through Tuesday.

Disney's Cartoon Feature At Jet

'The Lady and The Tramp' makes a return engagement at the Jet this week. This amusing and delightful full length feature cartoon is one of Walt Disney's best. It is the story of a tramp dog that wanders into the life of a strictly 'cup-town' dog, and a love affair is started. Various stock characters are portrayed by other dogs in the film and the singing voice of Peggy Lee is featured singing a blues number.

Truman Belittles King-Maker Charge

CHICAGO (AP)—Former President Truman, still plugging Adlai Stevenson for president, said Friday New York's Carmine DeSapio is not a "king maker" in Truman's home state of Missouri.

DeSapio, chief of the New York City Democratic organization, has invited about 40 leading Eastern Democrats to a Sept. 20 dinner in a move interpreted as an effort to gain friends for his Gov. Averell Harriman-for-president drive.

Asked at a news conference if he regards DeSapio as a "king maker"—a phrase sometimes applied to the Democratic National committee man—Truman said: "I don't know anything about making kings in New York—he's not making kings in Missouri, I can tell you that."

In Chicago for a speech to the Executives Club, Truman said Stevenson telephoned him from New York this morning to say "he was sorry he couldn't be here during my visit."

"I told him if he announced for president I would be for him," Truman said.

He reiterated that he, himself, would not accept the 1956 Democratic nomination under any circumstances.

Asked if Gov. Allan Shivers of Texas, who bolted the 1952 Democratic convention, might be a candidate, Truman said: "Shivers? He's not a Democrat—he's a Shiversocrat."

Truman said he had no opinion about whether delegates who bolted should be allowed to attend the 1956 convention.

Polio Passes Peak In Massachusetts

BOSTON (AP)—Dr. Roy F. Feemster, director of the Massachusetts State Health Department's division of communicable diseases, said today that the polio epidemic has passed its peak in the state.

He made the statement as 63 new cases were reported bringing the state's 1955 total to 2,563. Massachusetts had only 428 cases up to Sept. 9 last year.

Dr. Feemster said today's report brought this week's Massachusetts total to 290 cases, 28 under last week.

UNCLE RAY'S CORNER

After a short period as schoolmaster, Sam Houston volunteered as a member of a small army under command of Andrew Jackson. During the campaign against the Creek Indians, he came to know the young general. Before his service ended, he was made a second lieutenant.

Houston fought the Creeks in the line of duty, but he kept the Cherokees as his close friends. These tribesmen had signed a treaty giving up land in western Tennessee, but had failed to obtain payment from the national government. Several leading men in the tribe joined Houston in making a trip to Washington, and the tribe was paid for the land.

Among the whites of Tennessee, as well as among the Indians, Sam Houston became popular. He was elected to the House of Representatives at Washington, and later was chosen governor of his state. At that time he was only 34 years of age. According to an old record, this is how he looked:

"He wore a tall, shining, black beaver hat, a standing collar, black satin vest, black silk pants and a many-colored hunting shirt, fastened at the waist with a huge red sash."

Later in his life Houston crossed the Mississippi and visited his old friends, the Cherokees, who had moved away from Tennessee. Andrew Jackson, who had become president of the United States, gave him an appointment as a kind of ambassador to other Indians who lived near the Texas border. While he was making treaties with those Indians, he became interested in Texas, and decided to settle there. The Texans revolted against Mexican control, and Houston was chosen to command the forces of the revolution. After the fall of the Alamo, his army defeated the Mexicans and captured Santa Anna, their general.

Sam Houston became the first president of the Republic of Texas, and served as governor after Texas joined the Union.

Prince Valiant IN THE DAYS OF KING ARTHUR by Harold R. Foster

Our Story: PRINCE VALIANT, CHARTING THE RIVER AHEAD OF HIS TWO SHIPS, MEETS STRANGERS ON A PORTAGE, AND BOTH SIDES DRAW WEAPONS. "I AM PRINCE VALIANT, RETURNING TO THULE FROM FAR WANDERINGS. WE COME IN PEACE."

"WE ARE SWEDS FROM GOTLAND ON A TRADING VENTURE. WE WILL TRADE THE PEACE YOU WANT FOR THAT FINE SWORD AND GOLDEN NECKLACE!"

"COME AND TAKE THEM IF YOU BE MAN ENOUGH!" ANSWERS VAL. THEN, TURNING TO YOUNG BJORNE, "WE ARE OUTNUMBERED TEN TO ONE... RUN FOR OUR BOAT, FIND THE SHIPS AND TELL THEM TO HURRY!"

VAL AND HIS WELL-TRAINED VETERANS MEET THE ONSLAUGHT WITH DEADLY EFFECT, BUT THEY ARE IN DANGER OF BEING SURROUNDED. AT A SHARP COMMAND FROM VAL THEY TURN AND RUN!

WITH A SHOUT OF TRIUMPH THE GOTLANDERS RACE IN PURSUIT. SOON THEY ARE STRUNG OUT ALONG THE TRAIL, AND VAL AND HIS MEN TURN.

THE SWIFTEST PURSUERS HAVE THE SHORTEST LIVES. THIS IS AN OLD TRICK TO MAKE AN ENEMY BREAK RANKS, AND VAL USES IT MANY TIMES.

... BUT HIS LEGS, STILL WEAK FROM HIS HUNTING ACCIDENT, FAIL HIM AT LAST, AND HE SINKS TO THE GROUND!

AS YOU WERE SAYING...

Teen-Agers Who Don't Make Headlines

IT'S CALLED Plymouth Church, and it stands on a narrow macadam road between two small farming communities in New York State. For 13 years it has stood empty and abandoned, windows broken, paint peeling, doors sagging. People driving by it would murmur, "Too bad somebody doesn't do something about that church."

Well, someone finally has. A group of teen-agers, working under the guidance of the Rev. Richard Moore, pastor of the Franklin Methodist Church, recently scrubbed and swept and shoveled for a week to fix up the lonesome little church. And on June 12, worshippers again filed into it, just 97 years and two days after the very first service was held there.

It's an old church, but it was Youth who restored it and Youth who sponsored the non-denominational service. These are the teen-agers who don't make headlines — teen-agers who are eager to turn their energies to worthwhile projects if someone will only lead them. — Dorothy R. Moss, Franklin, N. Y.

Inspiration from a Passing Stranger

We live on an island and, of necessity, are very early risers. It's 15 miles down the key and over to the Florida mainland, and the school buses leave on schedule! So it's barely daylight when I begin breakfast preparations, but there is inspiration for me from someone who is completely unaware of it.

He is a fisherman who goes past our beach at sunrise every morning. I see him standing motionless in his boat, gliding straight into the face of the new day. Head up, shoulders back, he looks quietly confident. Alone but not lonely, he goes to take what the day holds out to him. I turn to the kitchen ready to meet the day with more confidence and strength for the fisherman having passed by.—Jane Corbett, Longbeach, Fla.

The Secret of Getting Along with Children

We have no children, and I am certain that my husband has never read a book on child psychology. But he understands children and they understand him. His secret is a simple one. He makes them feel grown-up and important.

If he is washing the car on a Saturday morning, inquisitive little visitors invariably wander over to watch and ask questions. I am amused to find that soon each child has a polishing cloth and is industriously shining away at the car.

If he is sowing grass seed, he allows each child to put a grubby little hand into the bag to "help" him. If they ask him a question, he always takes time to answer. If they tell him some experience of theirs, he shows real interest and listens quietly.

No, he has never read a book on child psychology. But I think he could write one.—M. F., Lancaster, Pa.

Aid to Menu Planning

I hang a slate and slate pencil in my kitchen so the various members of the family may jot down the dishes they would like me to prepare. At the end of each week, I plan my menus for the coming week, working in the special requests of my family. This plan makes everyone happy, and it makes my job easier.—Mrs. Lena Stroheker, Quincy, Ill.

Kind Words for a Friendly City

Before we moved to Sacramento, Calif., from a small town in Wisconsin last year, we had been warned that Sacramentans were distant and slow to accept strangers. I had never lived in a large city before, and I knew no one here. Being a naturally gregarious person, however, I was determined to make friends. For my opening wedge, I chose from the social pages of the daily paper a woman's organization which seemed to suit my particular interests. I wrote to the committee chairman and introduced myself. My new friend received me warmly, and from the club associations I have widened my acquaintances.

I have found Sacramentans as warm and friendly and considerate as people anywhere, because I gave them a chance. Sacramento does not turn a snobbish back on a genuine smile and an outstretched hand, and the label of "distant" and "unfriendly" was certainly unjustly bestowed.—Mrs. Oren Burt, Sacramento, Calif.

I was just thinking...

... I HAVE, in my time, made several complimentary remarks about seagulls.

If it's all right with you, I'd like to take most of them back.

Oh, I'll grant that a flight of gulls across blue water is the stuff on which poets feed. But the stuff on which gulls feed is something else again.

They're the first winged garbage cans I've ever seen. A gull's idea of a blue-plate special will not be discussed in this column.

My initial encounter with gulls was from the deck of an ocean liner. I watched them as they followed the ship out of Southampton and I considered them sheer beauty in motion.

But recently I've met more gulls than people. I've been feeding them leftover toast in the morning and waking up musclebound at night. That's not their fault, of course. My pitching arm is out of practice, but they're better catchers than Yogi Berra.

Frankly, I don't care for their conversation. A few of them have made remarks I wouldn't take from my best friend. The rest of them gossip like old hens. They plant their pipstem legs in the sand, hula their hind ends, and gabble. It's a kind of grisly gavotte.

I have studied the situation pretty carefully, although at first I thought it might be indigestion. And small wonder.

But I have been forced to conclude that gulls do not know from nothing. The grandpappy of them all lowers his head into his vest, clears his throat, and points his beak at me. What comes out is a poor imitation of a meow. All his relatives stand around expecting my applause.

I can't even work up a weak smile. I guess gulls are like some people. Nice to contemplate but a big disappointment to meet.

Win the Interview.

This article was excerpted from "What Employers Want," a booklet written by James C. Worthy, published and copyrighted, 1953, by Science Research Associates, Inc. If you would like copies of the 48-page booklet, write Family Weekly, 179 N. Michigan Ave., Chicago 1, Ill., enclosing 50 cents for each copy.

SO YOU'RE LOOKING for a job! You feel a little excited, a little frightened, too. You're wondering where and how you're going to find your proper place in the workaday world, and whether you'll make a "go" of the job once you've found it.

Well, believe it or not, employers are troubled by the same questions when it comes to finding the right workers for the jobs they have open. It's just as important for them to hire the right people as it is for you to get the right job.

Seldom is a job filled without an interview to give the employer a chance to see and talk to the applicant in person. At an employment interview, your prospective boss can learn things about you that he could never learn from an impersonal application form. Of course, the interview also is your chance to decide whether the job seems right for you.

No two businessmen conduct their interviews in exactly the same way, but most of them want to find out certain basic things. Chances are your interviewer never saw you before, but he'll get a general impression when you walk in the door; so no matter what type of work you're looking for, neatness, good grooming, and poise are important assets.

The secret of a successful job interview is to be your best self. Answer questions directly, fully, and without vague rambling. Your prospective employer will pay particular attention to the way you respond, the alertness of your actions, and the intelligence with which you answer his questions and present your own case. Throughout the interview, he'll be keenly aware of the self-confidence you display.

Your interviewer will note your general attitude and outlook on life. He'll watch for indications as to whether you're cheerful and optimistic, grumbling and complaining, likable or unfriendly.

What he wants to know

There are two principal points the employer seeks to discover about you during the interview: what you can do and what you will do. Once he knows these things, he'll be able to determine to some extent how you will perform in the job he wants to fill.

What you can do is determined by the basic equipment you bring to the job—mental ability, skills, training, and experience. What you will do is determined by the way you use your basic equipment.

How does the interviewer judge these things? He can determine what you can do by examining your school records and talking to your former employers. Aptitude and intelligence tests will help indicate how well-prepared you are to do the job you seek.

When the potential employer seeks to discover what you will do, however, his job becomes more difficult. He must know your personality traits because they will influence your work performance, but time is short and he must get his information indirectly.

Your interviewer can't, for example, ask point-blank: "Are you a dependable person?" You would answer with an emphatic "Yes," which would tell him nothing.

But the interviewer can make a fairly accurate estimate of your personality from the way you answer general questions about yourself and specific questions about your qualifications. At the same time, you will be answering many questions that are asked only in his mind.

It's important that you know what these unspoken questions behind the questions are.

You can hear your prospective employer asking:

What kind of work did you do on your last job? Did you receive any promotions and raises? How long were you unemployed? How old were you when you began supporting yourself? Did you complete your education—if not, why? Did you earn any of your school expenses? When you left school, did you continue your education through trade school, night school, or correspondence courses?

Behind these spoken ques-

Win the Job

If you learn in advance what a prospective employer is looking for in a worker, that new position is half yours before you walk in the door.

tions are the ones the interviewer wants answered, but cannot ask openly: Have you worked steadily and made good progress? How well can you apply yourself to your duties? Have you stayed at a job for a reasonable length of time? Have you shown perseverance in your school-work? Were you able to complete your education in spite of financial or other difficulties and have you helped earn money for some of your expenses? Have you tried to improve yourself?

He'll interpret your answers

From the implied answers to these unasked questions, the interviewer will decide whether you have the qualities of industry and self-reliance he is looking for. He will decide whether you will apply yourself to the job, even in the face of difficulties; whether you can carry on the work without constant supervision; whether you have the incentive to stay at the job and work hard.

Here are some more questions to be prepared for: What did you especially like about your previous jobs and what did you dislike? Did you participate in extracurricular activities in school? What offices did you hold?

What you are really being asked is: Can you get along well with people and are you well liked by others? Can you work well under supervision? Are you a team player or a "lone wolf"? Do you have leadership ability?

Your answers will help the interviewer decide whether you will fit into his organization, work well with others and be a loyal member of the company "team."

The interviewer also will ask: What were your reasons for leaving the other jobs? Do you owe money? How have you spent vacations? Are your parents living and what is your father's occupation? Do you have brothers or sisters? How old are they?

What he wants to know is: Are your reasons for leaving other jobs sensible ones? Do you know how to manage your financial affairs? Have you spent leisure time constructively? Have you been babied in the family and are you still emotionally dependent, or are you mature?

Other things that count

From your responses, the interviewer will judge whether you are a stable, mature person, realistic in your thinking and your outlook on life. No employer wants an immature worker with many childish characteristics, no matter how many desirable qualities he may possess; for employers have found that most people who fail on a job do so not because they lack technical skill, but because of undesirable traits of character and personality.

By checking the traits you have displayed in school and on former jobs, your potential employer can discover to some extent how you would make out with his company.

Of course, there is no absolutely foolproof way to find out in advance; but by using all the tools at his command, the experienced interviewer can judge job-seekers fairly accurately.

There's nothing abnormal about having a case of "pre-interview jitters." But now that you know what to expect, half the battle is won. Put your best foot forward, and good luck!

Breakfasts

WITH A FLAIR

If morning appetites in your household have become finicky and take a bit of cajoling, vary your routine breakfasts and give them a big lift.

Can you recall an attractive tray that was once set just for you? The fresh flower and the colorful china were so thoughtfully arranged on the crisp linen, and the food was delicious!

You can set your breakfast table with colorful, individual trays and give increased breakfast enjoyment to each one in your family.

Lightweight trays that are just a bit larger than a regular-sized place mat are the best size for individual service. As a suggestion, white china on a brown place mat can frame your food with glamour when you add a small glass bowl of brown-eyed, yellow daisies, and a yellow or white napkin along with glistening silver.

For your first tray breakfast we suggest: Arrange your trays the night before and cover. Set out your double boiler and a box of farina. Cut dates into small pieces, put in a bowl, and cover. Select ripe peaches that are at the height of their flavor. In the morning you can quickly prepare a breakfast with a new appeal.

The first portion of the cooked cereal goes into baby's cereal dish.

If sister must be coaxed to eat cereal, cut one of the peaches into medium-size pieces and place half of them in her cereal bowl. Spoon a modest serving of cereal over the peach pieces. Top this with the remaining cut peach.

If younger brother is a slender dynamo who doesn't like peaches, stir the chopped dates into his cereal and sprinkle brown sugar over the top.

Add crowns of sliced peaches to the ready-to-eat cereals that you and dad prefer.

Place steaming cups of brown coffee or glasses of cold milk on the trays and carry to the dining room. A sparkling harmony of golds, brown, and white delights your eye. With its individual note, each tray is interesting and appealing.

You can have flair without flowers if you skillfully combine the distinctive flavors of fruits and make pleasing arrangements with their colors.

Prepare a sirup by combining 2 cups sugar and 2 cups water in a saucepan. Stir until sugar is dissolved; bring to boiling and boil 5 min. Cool, cover tightly, and store in refrigerator. At breakfast time add 2 tablespoons of lemon or lime juice, and 2 tablespoons of orange juice to ½ cup of the sirup, and mix thoroughly.

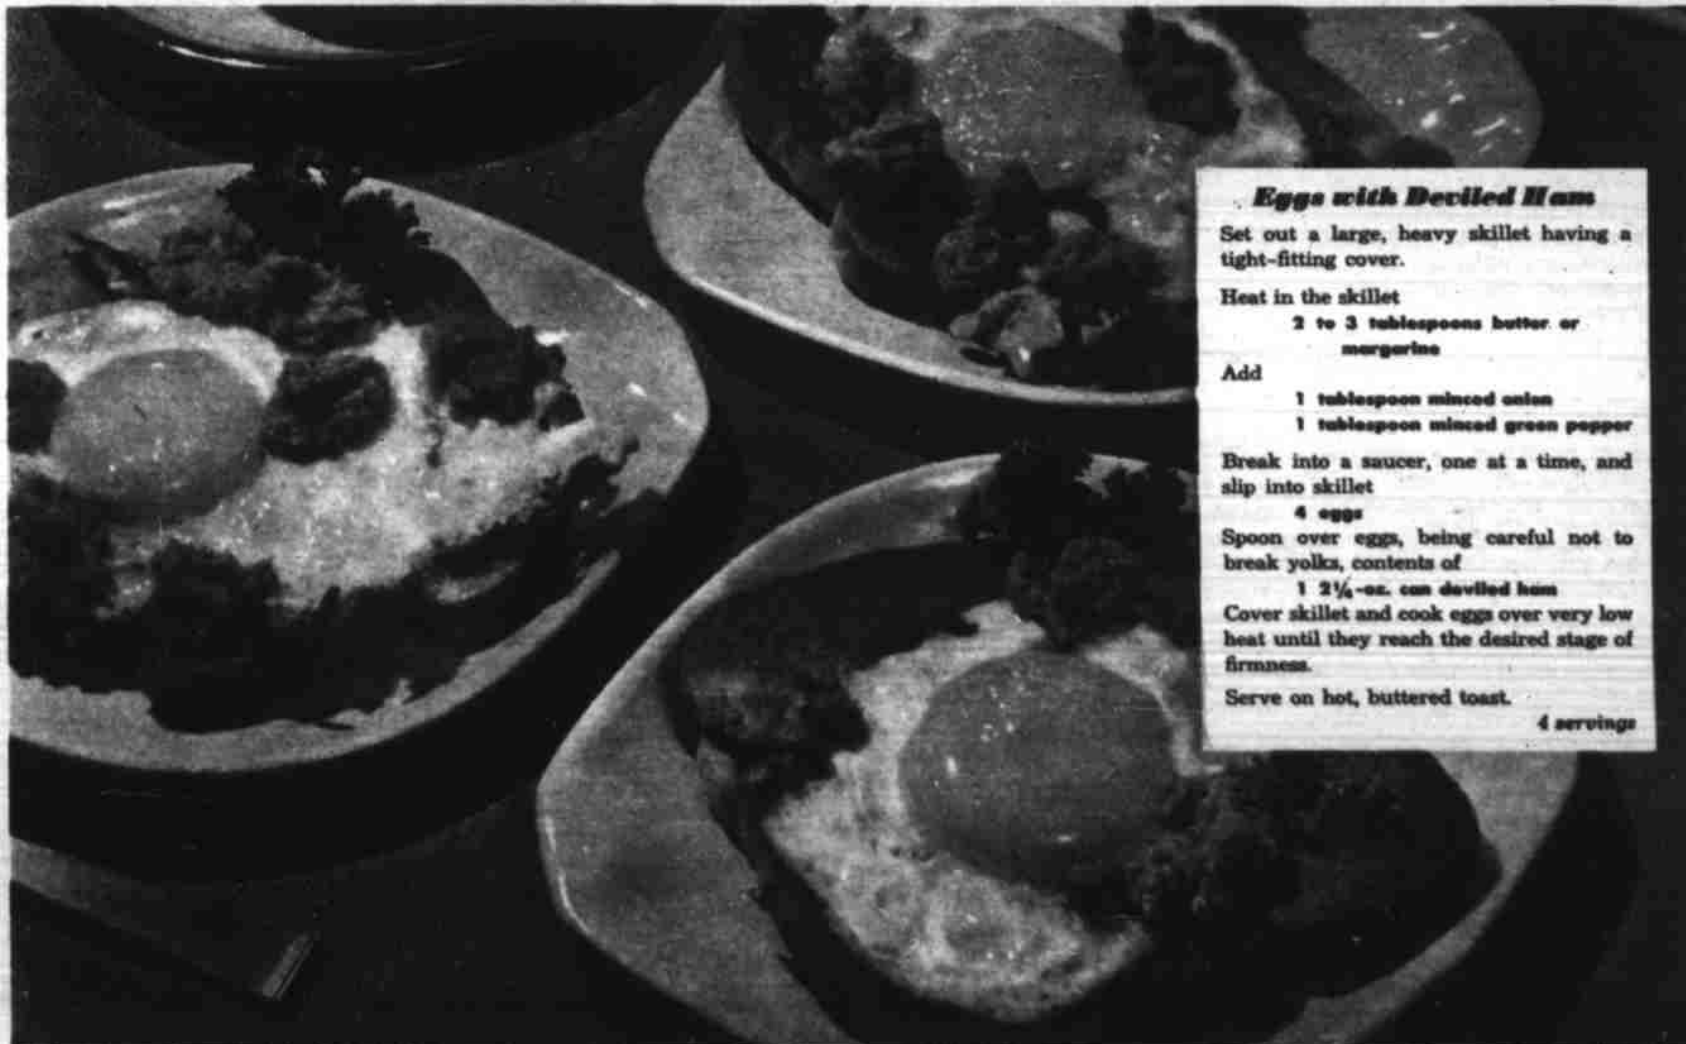

Drizzle over chilled honeydew-melon wedges and blueberries, or over arrangements of melon balls, orange slices, and white seedless, Tokay or Concord grapes.

This sirup adds zest to orange juice and it can enhance the flavor of grapefruit.

Individual breakfast trays can be decorated to add a special note at birthdays, holidays, and cherished family occasions.

Breakfasts with a flair are portable. On warm Summer mornings the trays can be carried outdoors to porch or terrace. Each family member can bring his tray to the kitchen when he has to rush away to train or school.

The easiest and surest way to create happy mealtimes is to add imagination and beauty to the serving of good food.

Cereal Capers

Make your breakfasts tempting with refreshing variations of both cooked and ready-to-eat cereals. Here are some suggestions of the many ways you can serve cereals with real appetite appeal.

Cereal Cooked in Milk—Use part or all milk instead of water for cooking. Or use chocolate milk or add 1 tablespoon of semi-sweet chocolate pieces for each serving of cereal as it cooks in milk.

Cereal with Dried Fruits—Stir into cooked cereal tasty dried fruits such as raisins, currants, dates, figs, apricots, peaches, apples, or prunes.

Spiced Cereal—Stir a mixture of ground cinnamon and nutmeg into cereal during cooking. Add cooked dried fruits if desired.

Applesauce—Flavor hot sweetened applesauce with grated orange peel and spoon over cooked or ready-to-eat cereal.

Mellowness—A tablespoon of canned crushed pineapple adds a flavor freshener to a serving of almost any cereal.

Butterscotch—Sprinkle brown sugar or shaved maple sugar over hot cereal and dot with butter. Rich but wonderful!

Eggnog—Prepare eggnog and season with a bit of ground nutmeg. Really special for hot cereal.

Crunch Topping—Edge a bowl of cooked cereal with a border of crisp ready-to-eat cereal.

Bacon-and-Cream-Cheese Scramble

BASE RECIPE

Cream cheese is barely detected, but the eggs will have an added creaminess.

Set out

$\frac{1}{2}$ cup diced cooked bacon

Put into top of a double boiler

6 tablespoons milk, cream, or undiluted evaporated milk

3 oz. (1 pkg.) cream cheese

2 tablespoons butter or margarine

Set over simmering water and heat until cheese is softened. Stir until ingredients are well blended.

Put into a bowl

6 eggs

$\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon salt

$\frac{1}{8}$ teaspoon pepper

For uniform yellow color, beat egg mixture until thoroughly blended. For streaks of yellow and white, beat slightly. Gradually blend in the cheese mixture.

Heat skillet until just hot enough to sizzle a drop of water. Heat in skillet

3 tablespoons butter or margarine

Add the diced bacon to egg mixture; mix and pour into the skillet. Cook slowly over low heat. With a fork or spatula, lift mixture from bottom and sides of skillet as it thickens, allowing uncooked part to flow to bottom. Avoid stirring. Cook slowly until scrambled eggs are thick and creamy throughout but are still moist.

Serve immediately.

4 servings

Ham-and-Cream-Cheese Scramble

Follow Base Recipe. Substitute $\frac{1}{2}$ cup diced cooked ham for the bacon.

French Toast with Parmesan Cheese

BASE RECIPE

The coated bread slices may also be placed on a well-greased baking sheet and browned in a 450°F oven 8 to 10 min.

Serve at once with

Butter or margarine

Sirup, honey, preserves, or jam

If desired, sprinkle with additional grated Parmesan cheese.

10 to 12 slices French Toast

Note: For variety, substitute slices of French or Vienna bread.

French Toast

Follow Base Recipe. Omit the grated Parmesan cheese.

French-Toast Fruit Sandwiches

Follow Base Recipe; omit the grated Parmesan cheese. Set out 8 white or whole-wheat bread slices. Drain contents of 1 9-oz. can crushed pineapple (about $\frac{1}{2}$ cup, drained). Chop $\frac{1}{4}$ cup (1 oz.) pecans. Peel and mash 1 banana (with brown-flecked peel); blend in 3 oz. (1 pkg.) softened cream cheese. When thoroughly blended, add the pineapple and nuts. 2 teaspoons orange juice

$\frac{1}{8}$ teaspoon ground nutmeg

For Toast—If desired, remove crusts from 4 slices bread

Store butter in tightly covered container in refrigerator if not served immediately. When ready to use, cream again or allow to soften at room temperature.

About $\frac{1}{2}$ cup butter

Blender Applesauce

Use your blender for a double-quick method of preparing applesauce.

Wash, quarter, core, and pare

3 or 4 medium-size (about 1 lb.)

apples

Put into the blender container

$\frac{1}{4}$ cup pineapple juice

$\frac{1}{4}$ cup sugar

Cover and turn on motor. While motor is running, gradually add apple pieces and blend until the consistency is the same throughout (thick and sauce-like). Use rubber spatula to scrape down sides of container several times. Pour applesauce into saucepan and bring to boiling, stirring occasionally. If sauce is to be served immediately, omit heating. Apricot-Filled Coffee Cakes

A breakfast delight of Hungarian origin. An 8-in. square cake pan will be needed.
 Measure and set aside
 3 to 3 1/2 cups sifted flour
 Scald (just until a thin film appears) in top of a double boiler over simmering water
 1/2 cup milk
 Meanwhile, soften
 1 pkg. active dry yeast
 in 1/4 cup warm water 110°F to 115°F (or if using compressed yeast, soften 1 cake in 1/4 cup lukewarm water 80°F to 85°F)
 Let stand 5 to 10 min.
 Meanwhile, put into a bowl
 1/4 cup butter or margarine, softened
 1 tablespoon sugar
 1/4 teaspoon salt
 Immediately pour the scalded milk over ingredients in bowl. When the milk mixture is lukewarm, stir it and blend in 1/2 cup of the sifted flour, beating until the mixture is smooth. Stir the softened yeast and add to mixture, mixing well. Add about one half of the remaining flour to the mixture and beat until very smooth.
 Beat in
 2 egg yolks, well beaten
 Then beat in enough of the remaining flour to make a soft dough. Turn onto a lightly floured surface; let rest 5 to 10 min.
 Knead dough by folding opposite side over toward you. Using heels of hands, gently push dough away. Give it a quarter turn. Repeat the kneading process rhythmically until dough is smooth and elastic (5 to 8 min.), using as little additional flour as possible. Always turn dough in the same direction.

 Form dough into a large ball and place into a greased deep bowl. Turn dough to bring greased surface to top. Cover bowl with waxed paper and a towel and let stand in a warm place (about 80°F) until dough is doubled. Punch dough down with fist; pull edges of dough in to center and turn dough completely over in bowl. Cover and let rise until nearly doubled.
 Meanwhile, grease bottom only of the cake pan.
 Set out
 1/2 cup thick apricot jam
 Punch down dough and turn out onto a lightly floured surface. Roll dough 1/8 in. thick. Cut dough into 4 x 2 1/2-in. rectangles. Spoon 1 teaspoon of the jam onto center of each rectangle. Fold each rectangle into halves lengthwise, pinching the two narrow ends together and leaving center open. Arrange pieces open-side up and side-by-side in the cake pan. Cover and let dough rise again 15 to 25 min., or until light.
 Bake at 425°F 15 to 20 min., or until golden brown. Break pieces of coffee cake apart with a fork. Serve warm if cooled.

Dear Miss Barrows:

This trick will surprise you and it is fun to try on your friends. Fill an ordinary drinking glass with water, right to the top. Then, let your friends guess how many pennies you can drop into it without the water spilling over.

Sincerely,
Karen Broadbent

Aged 11 Provo, Utah.
P. S. Most people guess two or three, but you can get 20 or more in the glass!

Dear Miss Barrows:

My hobby happened by accident. My Dad raises turkeys and as he and I were going to the coops to feed them, we saw a little chick eating outside the coop. Dad thought it was one of the baby turkeys, so I caught it; but to our surprise, it was a baby pheasant.

I raised it with my Dad's turkeys and we called it Speckie. We bought a very beautiful male pheasant and named him Spector. Now Speckie has 16 babies and we call them Specklets!

I like my hobby and I hope it keeps on growing.

Your friend,

Aged 9 Hamden, Conn.

Dear Miss Barrows:

My hobby is collecting the Junior Treasure Chest. I wanted to make a collection of these because some day I may want to play a game and all I would have to do is look in my Junior Treasure Chest to find one.

Miss Barrows, I enjoy reading your pages very much and I am going to keep on collecting them.

Sincerely,
Marjorie Pace
Aged 14 Leighton, Ala.

Dear Miss Barrows: I would like to be a school-teacher. I play school with my "made-up" friends. They are friends who are not real. I am the teacher. I give assignments to 5- to 12-year-olds. I use my old "Reading Workbook" and an old Arithmetic (which belonged to my Uncle) and has addition, subtraction, multiplication, division, fractions, percentage, and miscellaneous problems. I started my "made-up" school at the age of five or six.

Sincerely,
Mary Lynne Diercks
Aged 10 Muscatine, Ia.

A Make-It-Yourself Necklace

Grace Gannon

If you follow these steps, you'll have a sugar-candy necklace!

1. Use any old beads. Place each bead on a toothpick.

Cover with transparent glue.

2. Dip into a cup, saucer, or an inverted lid filled with multi-colored candy decorations. Keep holes clear.

3. Set each toothpick into a potato, or something similar, until the glue is hard.

4. Dip in shellac, put back in potato till dry. Remove beads and string for a necklace. Tie two pieces of very narrow ribbon around the first and last beads, leaving ends that will tie.

(See drawings)

Jumping Jacks

Sometime when you have six or eight friends around, try this! You can divide into two teams which stand side-by-side in single file. The first player in each line puts his toes on a starting line and at a signal jumps as far forward as he possibly can, keeping his feet together. Number two steps up quickly to where the first jumper's heels landed. He or she jumps and when all have had a turn on both teams, the team which has covered the greatest distance wins.

WHAT NEXT FOR Rosalind Russell?

THERE ARE A LOT of "firsts" about "The Girl Rush."

It is the first musical with fabulous Las Vegas, Nev., as its setting.

It is Rosalind Russell's first film musical and her first appearance in Technicolor. It is also her first motion picture since her sensational 15-month run on Broadway in "Wonderful Town."

Actually, "Wonderful Town," in which she sang and danced for the first time, was responsible for her appearance in Paramount's "The Girl Rush."

Miss Russell had been known for her versatility, evidenced by the three pictures for which she won Academy Award nominations: "My Sister Eileen," a comedy; "Sister Kenny," a biographical drama; and "Mourning Becomes Electra," a tragedy. But she had never appeared in a musical comedy.

When it was first suggested that she star in "Wonderful Town," she protested: "My singing voice sounds like that of a cow with a throat condition." As to her dancing ability, she wouldn't comment at all. Yet her husband, producer Frederick Brisson, talked her into it—and "Wonderful Town" grossed about $3,500,000.

Now that she has starred in her first film musical, Rosalind Russell is left with just one concern: What else is there to try?

The talented star of "Wonderful Town" proves her versatility again in her first film musical, "The Girl Rush."

by Peer J. Oppenheimer

Rosalind Russell shows her versatility in this song-and-dance number, "My Hillbilly Heart," from her first film musical, "The Girl Rush."

LAUNDERING MADE EASY

IF THE MERE thought of the family wash staggers you, take heart! There are countless shortcuts and simplified methods to help you start the task—and finish it—with a smile.

Important to remember is that waste motion is more tiring than the actual task, so organize your work beforehand. Sort items that go into the tub or machine together, keeping them on a table or counter to eliminate bending or stooping. One of your best laundry investments—a real backsaver—is an adjustable cart which can be lowered when you take the laundry from the washing machine, then raised to make contents easy to reach when you're hanging them up.

Save time before sudsing

A few simple steps taken before sudsing can save a lot of time. Empty pockets and turn them inside out; close all slide fasteners; suds-scrub collars, cuffs, pockets, hems, to loosen dirt; turn collars up and cuffs down so suds can go to work on soiled creases; and remove shoulder pads so they won't lump or mat. To save time later, sew snaps on pads in new garments. Mend clothes before they go into suds, to prevent larger rips and tears.

Tips to conserve woman-power

When washing such things as small linen towels, sheets, and pillowcases, fold them in quarters before putting them through the wringer for the last time. This saves you ironing time because they come off the line smooth. Often, only the top quarter of a sheet—the part that shows on the bed—needs ironing.

Cotton spreads can be washed like sheets. Shake chenille during drying to fluff the pile. If you hang the spread folded double and wrong-side-out, the breeze rubs tufts together inside the fold, restoring fluffiness. Brush dry chenille with a clean whisk broom—don't iron.

If slipcovers are replaced on furniture while still faintly damp, no ironing is needed. Just smooth them to fit, straightening pleats and ruffles.

For work clothes or heavy-to-lift pieces, use a rubber plunger to force hot soapsuds and rinses through fabrics. Pull to shape while drying, and they'll need little or no ironing.

Feather pillows may be washed one at a time in the tub or machine in warm suds and rinses. Before washing, open a few inches of the dense outside ticking seam and baste it together loosely with a strong thread. This gives suds and dirt an "exit," leaving feathers intact and clean in the thinner inside covering. Dry pillows in the shade, pounding from time to time to fluff up feathers.

To preserve the shape of a sweater, outline it on cardboard before it's washed. Then cut out the frame in three pieces: body and two sleeves. (You can mark them for specific sweaters and keep them on "file.") Slip pieces into the laundered sweater, letting it dry flat on a fresh towel.

Fishermen's Cannery

When you catch a big fish around San Francisco, you don't photograph it, you have it canned. Working on the theory that fishermen love to preserve their entire catch, Phillip Thurmond opened a "cannery for sportsmen," where anglers bring their fish to be cleaned, sliced, and packed. Charging 15 cents per half-pound can complete with a label bearing the fisherman's name, Thurmond does a thriving business. His customers pass out cans with the pride of a new father passing out cigars.

Once the fish has been expertly cleaned, it goes to the "guillotine," where it is cut into slices.

▲ The slices go into cans which are vacuum-sealed before the cooking process. Finally, the labels imprinted with the fisherman's name are put on the can.

◀ Having paid 15 cents per half-pound can, this fisherman can keep his catch indefinitely on the pantry shelf or give away some as souvenirs of his trip.

Can You Solve This Puzzle?

THE PUZZLE BELOW IS A SAMPLE—UNDER THE PUZZLE IS A COMPLETE EXPLANATION OF HOW TO SOLVE IT

THE SOLUTION IS ONE OF THE LAST NAMES BELOW:
Edward W. BOK Peter PAN Franz ART
Robert L. LEE Francis Scott KEY Edgar Allan POE

Look at the puzzle above. This puzzle represents the last name of one of the famous persons you see listed under it. Now of course, you want to know: How do you solve the puzzle to find out what name it represents?

First of all, note the various letters and objects pictured, and the plus and minus signs. There's the letter C to begin with, followed by plus OWL plus EYE plus TANK, so we add 'em all together and get COWLEYETANK... from which we then subtract TOWEL and CAN, as indicated by the minus signs. That means we take away the letters TOWELCAN from COWLEYETANK, which leaves us with the letters YEK.

Therefore, we now scan the names under the puzzle and sure enough, there we see that last name of Francis Scott KEY... and by rearranging YEK into KEY,

C OWL EYE TANK
- TOWEL - CAN = KEY

We know that KEY is the name we're looking for! That, briefly, is the general idea behind the puzzles of this contest—plus another interesting little twist that we'll explain with the rules and details which we'll send you when you mail the coupon below. If this contest—and its $100,000.00 in Cash Prizes—are of interest to you, by all means mail the coupon today for full particulars FREE... and entirely without obligation!

In any event, study this Sample Puzzle and read the explanation under it. The puzzles in this contest provide not only fun and fascination, but they may prove to be your means of winning many thousands of dollars.

Perhaps your dream is to own a home of your own. Or perhaps it's your child's education that has been uppermost in your mind. Then again, perhaps you've
