Eastland is going to have a polio immunization drive to remember too, as they are having their teeth checked over that way, and they are welcomed to parents, or if you plan to stand on the 18th, you might want to see there today for that. (Cube of sugar is, regardless of what you get it, it is a good idea to get it about: Everyone, from babies to 120-year-olds are urged to take the vaccine. (The oldersters are urged to take themselves as carriers and those who could take them who are not worried about giving the vaccine should tell them as they go to the line, and they'll get this slice of bread. (The oldest and the most of all the polio in Texas and "Texans are up almost all this year", the Department of Health says.)

Petitioners Ask for Booze Vote in Ranger

Voters in Ranger will march to the polls again early next month to decide if intoxicants will be legally sold in that town.

Date for the election is expected to be Saturday, Sept. 8th. Ten petitions were returned to the county clerk's office Thursday of this week, bearing 342 signatures, asking that an election be called by the County Commissioner's Court to vote on the legalization of all alcoholic beverages in Ranger.

The petitions did not specify "on" or "off" premise consumption, and it is generally interpreted to mean "both", when it isn't specified.

It is estimated that 284 signers are necessary to meet the requirements of the law concerning liquor elections. A vote less than three months ago (June 9th) in Ranger for the legal sale of beer and wine was defeated 506 to 423.

Almost the same number of petitioners signed this one as did the last. Monday is the next regular session of the Commissioner's Court and the county clerk is directed by law to report the petitions to the court at its first next meeting.

Johnson Smith's staff was busy Thursday afternoon and Friday checking the validity of the petition signers. (Each must be a legally qualified voter of the corporate limits of Ranger—the area covered by the petition.) The law specifies that the Court shall call the election "not less than 20 days, and not more than 30 days" after being presented the proposition, of all is in order.

If the Court acts on the matter Monday, the election would have to be held some times between Sept. 2nd and 12th. Saturday, the 8th, is the one day most likely to be favored for such elections.

The Ranger election promoters ers filed application for the petitions on July 16.

It is unknown whether the absence of County Judge John Hart, who is recovering from surgery at Scott and White Hospital in Temple, will affect the action of the Court Monday morning.

Lions Host Wives for 'Nice' Meet

The Eastland Lions are inviting their ladies to hear about the recent Lions International convention at their regular meeting Tuesday at noon at the White Elephant Restaurant.

Deputy District Governor at-large Clifford Schmidt of Mineral Wells will show films and describe the world conclave of Lions held at Nice, France, in June.

Club President Bill Walters announced that it is imperative that the club be informed of the intention of the members and their wives who plan to attend the Tuesday meet, so as to be able to prepare the right amount of food.

Schmidt was the unsuccessful candidate for District Governor at the District convention held in Eastland recently. At that time, he was defeated by Pete Shotwell of Abilene for the post.

The Nice, France, convention is considered to be one of the most colorful and cosmopolitan annual gatherings ever held.

Set in the sun-drenched beauty of the Riviera, in a veritable bower of flowers, it was an experience which almost 30,000 Lions and their families from every corner of the Lion world aren't expected to soon forget.

NO SABINE FOR RIP—There'll be plenty of Sabine Oral polio vaccine for all the residents of Eastland County at the Courthouse in Eastland Saturday, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., but alas, even the miracle of the polio vaccine can't help 'Old Rip'. Mary Nicolas, deputy county clerk, bemoans, the fact that Old Rip won't be getting any cubes of sugar, although he will be in the lobby, as usual, watching the proceedings from his velvet coffin. (A&C)

There are two Cisco men and one Eastland man on the venire. Seven are from Gorman, five from Rising Star, and one from Carbon.

Curry was 17 July 22. Conner said Curry would "not necessarily be returned" to Eastland for the hearing.

The district attorney said the grand jury would convene Monday "but we have several other cases to take care of, and I don't know what day exactly."

Howard Gilbert Is Honored After 25 Years of Service

The A. S. C. S. employees of the Eastland County office gave a surprise party on August 2nd at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Aaron to honor Mr. and Mrs. Howard W. Gilbert of Carbon.

The occasion marked the retirement of Mr. Gilbert after 25 years of service with the local office.

About thirty people attended the party, including Mr. and Mrs. Don Gilbert of Tampa, Florida.

Home made ice cream and cake were served on the patio off the Aaron home, and Mr. Emmett Powell presented Mr. Gilbert a gift of a rod and reel and tackle box on behalf of all the employees.

Howard Gilbert began working for the old A. A. A. in 1937, working in the field and also in the office with plane table maps, helping to measure allotment crops and to stake earthen dams and run terrace lines.

For the past 15 years he had been at the counter in the office to help Eastland County farmers with their conservation and allotment problems.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert will continue to make their home on their farm near Carbon, and "Doc Gilbert" as he is known to many farmers in Eastland County, will take more active interest in the growing of wheat, cotton, hogs and cattle on his own farm—and will spend some time fishing too!

"Operation polio mop-up" will be held in Eastland Saturday, Aug. 18th.

The Eastland Civic League and Garden Club will sponsor a mass polio inoculation campaign with Sabin oral vaccine on that day, Mrs. Frank Sayre, president, announced this week.

The Eastland campaign will be geared to "catching" those persons who been missed in other drives in the county.

The vaccine will be administered Aug. 18th from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. in the courthouse lobby.

Adequate facilities will be available to take care of the population of Eastland and any other Eastland County persons who have missed protection in their towns, it is reported.

Cisco staged such a campaign several months ago, and Ranger is conducting the first of a series of two day-long programs, today.

It is believed that the centrally-located Eastland drive will benefit persons from all over the county, who have failed to participate in the other drives.

The local project will extend through two six-week periods, with one of the three doses given at six-week intervals. Dr. E. R. Towns, county health officer, and Dr. M. A. Treadwell, city health officer, are working with the Civic League in the project.

Other doctors, nurses and civic organizations are lending support.

A meeting was held Thursday in the Sayre home to complete plans for the program.

Vaccine is to be administered to everyone, Mrs. Sayre said. Those who can, are asked to contribute 25 cents for each dose of the vaccine.

The project here will be identical to other such mass projects being conducted all over the nation. The serum will be administered on a cube of sugar, affording a pleasant, sweet dose of polio protection.

Master Gland Key to Health

Why can some persons quickly and easily throw off every infection while others constantly wage a losing battle against one germ after another?

Why do most individuals react with overwhelming success to a vaccine, while it has very little effect on other persons?

Is there perhaps a master gland that triggers the immune reactions?

In his Minneapolis laboratory, Dr. Robert A. Good, March of Dimes research grantee in arthritis at University of Minnesota School of Medicine, checks an X-ray film.

"Yes, it's the thymus gland," says Dr. Robert A. Good, research professor of pediatrics at the University of Minnesota, and March of Dimes grantee.

Dr. Good recently won the annual award medal of the American Society for Experimental Pathology, much of his work being done with National Foundation financial support.

Dr. Good presented new evidence greatly strengthening this theory about the thymus gland in a paper he delivered before the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology at Atlantic City.

He detailed the results of experiments carried out in collaboration with other scientists which, he said, provide evidence that the thymus is a key organ in the body's endless struggle to protect itself against harmful substances. The thymus is located behind the breastbone in humans.

Much of Dr. Good's study was based on observation of 125 patients with agammaglobulinemia, a rare disease occurring most often in children whose bodies fail to produce gamma globulin, the substance in the blood which forms antibodies to fight off invasion by germs and other foreign substances.

Further study showed the association of other diseases with agammaglobulinemia, including a high incidence of rheumatoid arthritis and related diseases; leukemia and Hodgkin's disease (cancer of the lymph glands), and other disabilities suspected to result from malfunction of the immune system.

This led Dr. Good and his associates to the thymus as the important organ of immunity. The theory was tested by removing the thymus of rabbits less than five days old.

They proved later to be unable to form antibodies in any way and thus could not throw off disease.

Secondly, Dr. Good found that these same animals would accept skin grafts from other rabbits. Normally, skin can be transplanted only between identical twins. By this means the doctor was able to show how the natural barriers to tissue transplantation can be knocked down merely by removal of the thymus in the newborn. This phenomenon, the Minnesota pediatrician believes, has a human parallel, namely agammaglobulinemia, where antibodies are usually absent. For example, one of the children with this disease now under study by Dr. Good's group has been carrying an intact skin graft for more than seven years—even though the skin had been taken from a unrelated donor.

Studies of this sort, Dr. Good pointed out, have been possible only during the last decade since modern treatment has enabled the survival of children with immunologic deficiency diseases, and new laboratory techniques made possible the accurate analysis of blood and tissue components.

"We are gradually getting much closer to understanding the whole process of immunity and its relation to disease," Dr. Good said. "We now can see a real possibility of learning how to manipulate and overcome the natural barriers to transplantation of human organs, such as the kidney, as well as other tissues."

"It's tempting to speculate that someday we may have thymus gland banks just as we now have blood banks and bone banks, in order to supply thymus tissues for persons whose immune response is below par. This may also provide us with a means of altering an individual's immunologic pattern by implanting foreign thymus cells when the need arises."

The March of Dimes-supported scientist pointed out that further studies of animals artificially deprived of the ability to produce antibodies are urgently needed to provide insight into rheumatoid arthritis and other diseases which occur in patients with agammaglobulinemia.

Fundamental research aimed at unraveling these disease mysteries is already under way with March of Dimes support at medical centers throughout the country, including Dr. Good's laboratory.

WHAT COMMUNISM DOES

The cold war has diverse facets.

It is a war of armaments, with both sides piling up offensive and defensive weapons of unimaginable destructive power.

It is a war of trade, with both sides using their resources in an effort to become the world's dominant economic force.

It is a war for men's minds—and this may prove, in the long run, to be the most important facet by far. The Soviets and their satellites are pitted against the United States and the West in a no-holds-barred campaign to convince vast numbers of people, especially in the new and uncommitted nations, that its system is the best.

So, a great many authorities believe that a vital Free

World need is to do a better job than in the past in pointing out and emphasizing the failures and oppressions of communism. And one of the better examples, it seems, is communism's newest bastion, Castro's Cuba, which is only 90 miles from our own shores.

U.S. News & World Report, in a recent issue, sums up the latest information on the way people now live in Cuba and what Castro and his policies have done. Its an almost incredible story of change for the worse that has taken place in a mere three and a half years.

The magazine says, "Cuba, just before Castro, was enjoying its most prosperous years... Now Cuba, the hard facts show, is an economic shambles—bulging with guns, but bankrupt." Then it cites fact after fact, based on official U.S. sources.

Before Castro, Cubans had a per capita income averaging $334, third highest in Latin America. Now it has dropped to below $200.

The food situation is almost calamitous, with Cubans now eating only about half as well as in the pre-Castro days.

In addition to sharply reducing the take-home pay of Cuban workers, Castro has taken from them many valuable benefits, including overtime, vacations, bonuses, and the right to strike. Taxes, by way of contrast, have gone up.

The Cuban economy, apparently, approaches a state of collapse. Gone is the U.S.

market for Cuban sugar, which was the country's main source of income. Now Castro barter sugar with communist nations, receiving in return, goods which often are inferior in quality or not needed.

The Cuban currency reflects conditions. The pre-Castro peso was worth one U.S. dollar. The current Castro peso is valued at five to seven per dollar.

In only one area, it seems, has Castro made "progress"—if that is the right word for it. He has built, with Soviet arms and advice, the strongest military power in Latin American history. He has built also a Soviet-model spy system. These elements, and his almost unbridled use of terror, make it possible for him to keep the nation

Factors Determine Cattle Prices?

The rate of slaughter is determined, he adds, by the size of the nation's cow herd at the beginning of the year, size of the calf crop, range conditions, number of cattle fed and marketed and liquidation of cattle numbers. Total production of red meat — beef, pork, lamb and mutton — is also an important pricing factor, he says.

In order to show what happens to beef prices under a given set of conditions, McHaney has made a study of price changes over the past six years — 1956-61 and has related them to the average prices received by Texas producers for all calves.

On January 1, 1956, the nation's beef herd numbered 95.3 million head. A large calf crop was produced and one of the worst long-run droughts continued. A record number of 40.8 million cattle and calves was slaughtered. Calf prices dropped to an average of $12.40 per hundredweight in December 1956.

Greatly improved range conditions in 1957 slowed slaughter, especially in the late months of the year. The nation's cow herd was smaller and fewer calves were produced and total red meat production was down from the previous year by 4 percent. Demand for restocking animals and for feeders was strong and high consumer income also helped push prices from $14.70 in January to $20.00 in December.

Cow numbers on January 1, 1958 were again below year earlier figures and the nation's calf crop was also down. Cattle and calf slaughter was down 13.5 percent from 1957; range conditions were the best in years; total red meat production was the lowest since 1954 and a build-up in cattle numbers started. Prices reached $26.00 in December. (Average price for all calves).

Cattle and calf numbers stood at 93.3 million head on January 1, 1959 — up 2.1 million from a year earlier. The build-up was gaining steam; slaughter was down 7 percent but total beef and veal production was up slightly due to heavy fed cattle marketings in the latter part of the year. Total red meat production was second only to record 1956. Prices reacted to the pressure and dropped from $28.60 in March to $21.60 in December. The price decline continued into 1960. The year started with 96.2 million head, up 2.9 million from 1959. Total red meat production was up 3.3 percent and beef and veal 8 percent. The number of cattle and calves on feed July 1 in 21 major states was up 4 percent and total slaughter from August-November was up 14 percent over the same period in 1959. Calf prices dropped to $18.50 in October but a mild reduction in fed cattle marketings in the last 2 months of 1960 and fairly good wheat grazing kept many cattle off the market. Prices reacted, and rose to $22 in December.

A revision downward of estimated cattle numbers in 1961 gave producers confidence; a pickup in economic activity increased the demand for beef and good wheat pastures created a strong demand for stockers, and this plus good range conditions kept many cattle away from packing plants. These factors, along with only a 1 percent increase in red meat production, kept prices stable and above the previous year.

On January 1, 1962, the nation's beef herd stood at 99.5 million head, up 2.4 million from a year earlier. Recent increases — numbers up for 4 consecutive years — says the economists, indicate that beef production records are due to be set within the next few years. The effect of increased supplies on prices cannot be specifically pinpointed but the price depressing force is certain. Cattle producers are advised to be alert to possible increases in pork production coinciding with larger beef supplies sometime during the next two years.

Based on expected slaughter rates, total red meat production, number of cattle on feed and marketing for the last half of the year, McHaney believes cattle prices may work to their low point for 1962 in October or November and probably will be below those of a year ago.

TOURIST INDUSTRY SLOWER IN TEXAS DURING PAST YEAR

AUSTIN - The decline of the Texas tourist industry slowed slightly but did not stop in 1961. The annual Tourist Industry Report compiled by the state's official tourist agency, the Texas Highway Department, has revealed that the number of tourists visiting Texas dropped for the fourth straight year. Total visitors to Texas during 1961 were 8,408,000, a decline of some two per cent below the 8,600,000 who visited the state in 1960. Last year's guests spent only $440 million in the state as compared to 1960's total expenditures of $457 million. The reason for the continued sag is the tourist advertising programs of other states, said Herbert C. Petry Jr., chairman of the Texas Highway Commission. "Aggressive media advertising programs by other states continue to lure prospective visitors away from Texas - a state which has no funds as yet for media advertising," Petry said. He pointed out that the 1961 drop was slightly less than the decline registered during several previous years, and said he believed it is due to two things: 1. The effect of the "collateral" tourist attraction program being waged by the Highway Department (operation of Tourist Bureaus, distribution of Travel Maps and Brochures); 2. The concerted efforts of many local tourist development groups and chambers of commerce, and the assistance of the newly created Texas Tourist Council, a private organization designed to supplement state tourist-attracting activities. "Texans are waking up to the value of the tourist industry, and this encouraging new attitude is showing some results," Petry said. "Texas is a world within itself," Petry said. "In its variety of attractions it has everything to offer tourists except winter sports. Yet the ranking of the tourist industry in Texas gives cause for grave concern. "Nationally, the tourist industry ranks third - below only manufacturing and agriculture. But in Texas, it ranks only 13th. However, with the proper effort we can help this industry achieve its grand potential," he said. "But the state will never really take the offensive and begin to show a gain rather than a loss until it has funds for media advertising and can compete effectively with other states," he said. Petry said he hopes that the forthcoming session of the Texas Legislature will make available funds to launch a media advertising campaign.

Petry pointed out that the tourist industry of 1961 was, despite its decline, a valuable source of revenue for the state. Tourist dollars accounted for an estimated $23 million in direct state taxes, and the money spent by tourists created and supported 84,000 jobs for Texans - 16,000 jobs in the accommodations field; 59,000 in food; 5,000 in transportation; and 4,000 in miscellaneous industries.

Four Species Of Fish Give Most Trouble In Lakes

AUSTIN — Biologists call the four species of fish which cause most of the trouble on man-made reservoirs, the "problematical species." They are the gizzard shad, carp, carpsuckers and the buffalo fishes. Perhaps, no other fish demand as much time, money and concern on the part of the Game and Fish Commission.

On smaller lakes, such as Balmorhea and Inks which have just undergone chemical treatments, the use of toxicants has produced satisfactory results. However, usually this is only a temporary solution. After a few years, the fish populations which have been reduced by the chemicals, increase once more to damaging proportions.

Large lakes like Buchanan, Travis, Texoma and others have such tremendous surface areas that treatment with chemicals is next to impossible.

What happens to the fish populations in a new reservoir as it reaches maturity is not completely understood. The chemical, physical, and biological changes which occur relatively fast in man-made reservoirs, in some manner encourage conditions more suited for rough fish production than for game fish. Siltation, diminishing fertility, fish-tion pressures and increase in rough species are possible factors in this process.

Fisheries biologists are con-

tantly searching for solutions to the problem by the profession. They are history department with new other mechanical testing the solutions of va-
