Mavericks Nip Loboes, 20-18 on Extra Points

A packed Maverick Stadium saw four action-packed quarters Friday night when the Eastland High School Mavericks won themselves another ballgame over Cisco, 20-18.

Extra points earned by ace quarterback Tommy Beck was the clincher in the game which showed the Mavericks to be low on the statistical side of the record.

But Coach Millard Glass' District 10-A Mavs were proud of their win over the long-rivalled nearby Loboes.

Both teams scored three touchdowns, but the Eastland extras were the deciders. The first Eastland score came with two minutes left in the first period when fullback Jim Moffland surged over from the five-yard line. The 7-d-and-Black kingpin scored again in the second on a two-yard drive, followed by Beck's extra points.

The scoring play was set up by a 50-yard pass play from Beck to Stanley Underwood. Halfback Gary Graham accounted for the final Eastland touchdown on an eight-yard TD play in the third.

Quarterback David Callarman figured in all three Lobo scores, marking up one himself and passing for the others. He passed to George Mitchell for 25 yards and a TD in the first and to Coy Miller for a 16-yard scoring play in the second. In the last period Callarman ran five yards for six points. All three extra points failed.

Cisco had five penalties, three of which were personal fouls at 15 yards each, for a loss of 65 yards, and Eastland five for 35.

B. M. Bennet Is Named Judge; Remainder of Term

B. M. Bennet of Gorman was appointed County Judge to complete the unexpired term of John S. Hart, deceased, during a special called meeting of Eastland County Commissioners Friday morning.

Tip Arther was named Chairman of the Court to conduct the business of appointing a man to fill the office. The motion to appoint Bennet was made by Buck Collins and seconded by Carl Lamb.

The oath of office was given by County Clerk Johnson Smith.

Bennet will act as County Judge until the end of this term, the first of January.

Charles Freyschlag, Special County Judge, was named by the practicing attorneys of the County when Judge Hart had surgery.

His appointment was to extend until November 12.

Thoughts on Industrial Taxation

Just what exactly is this "voluntary industrial fund tax" being considered by the City Commission?

Is it just another tax being stuck on my water bill by the city?

No. Is the money needed and will it be put to a worthwhile purpose?

Yes! Actually it isn't just a tax. It's a manner of raising money to be used to benefit every citizen in Eastland, now and in the future.

It could easily result in additional payrolls (jobs) in Eastland.

Everybody knows what would result from more jobs—population would increase, as well as the increase in property values of home owners here.

Well, this is all well and good, but how is it going to work?

To begin with, let's agree that it would be nice for a substantial amount of money to be on hand at all times to be used immediately when there arises an opportunity to "land an industry" for Eastland.

Why do you need money to land an industry? If they want to come, let them pay their own way?

Most reputable firms are anxious to pay their own way, but in this day and age, when every town—big, little and middle-sized—is competing for industry, it becomes almost mandatory to have some type of "inducement" for your prospect.

Not necessarily a building, or a 25-year lease on a tract of land, but let's be reasonable. If a few acres of land was all that stood between our landing say, a hypothetical Chrysler Corp. assembly plant, or not landing it, it would be a bit foolish not to offer it, wouldn't you say?

Okay, that makes sense, but just a minute, we have a chamber of commerce, and it has an industrial committee, and if I'm not mistaken it has some money, quite a bit of money doesn't it. Isn't that what that's for?

Yes. The industrial committee of the Eastland chamber reports that there is something like $2,800 in the industrial fund at this time. (This fund is separate and apart from the chamber operating fund.)

But, that's not enough! No, when the air conditioning manufacturing firm asked Eastland to provide five years rent inducement, it immediately became necessary to begin asking "where can we get the money?"

(Even on an iron-clad employment-guaranteed basis with that firm—it would require some $12,000 for the five-year's rent.)

So the $2,800 won't go far, and when it's gone, what if the XYZ Manufacturing Co. says "We'll come to Eastland if you'll guarantee us this minute that you'll give us an $8,000 piece of land." (We would want to do business with XYZ if we found them to be a reputable firm.)

On a deal like that, you have to say "yes" or "no." No "maybes" allowed.

You can't take a chance on a month-long fund drive from merchants, because by that time, XYZ is located in a town that said "Yes" and handed over the deed.

So this is why the special sub-committee of the chamber's industrial committee proposed to the city commission that the city act as a collection agency.

One of the play's finest assets seems to be that every person who buys water from the city of Eastland (about 1,200) will have a chance to share in the overall scheme.

It hasn't been approved by the city yet, but is due to be considered at their next meeting, Monday, Oct. 22d.

Does the city administer the fund?

No. The money that is collected will be turned over to the chamber's industrial committee, be deposited in the industrial fund, and administered by the committee, under the approval of the chamber's board of directors.

The simple idea is, of course, to have the money ready and available at the moment it's needed.

It's voluntary, of course, and anyone who doesn't wish to participate, may inform the city of their wish and have the $1 Voluntary Industrial Tax (VIT) taken off their bill.

Over $21,000 was collected for the hospital in this manner. Doesn't our town need industry, people, and payrolls just as bad now?

Gate Builder Locates Here

A farm and ranch gate manufacturing firm will open in Eastland soon.

A. P. Fambrough, who is operating such a firm in Lamesa at this time, has announced that he will move his organization here because most of his market is near here.

In town this week, he arranged to secure the Spafford and Store Building on North Seaman St. for his new business.

He will probably eventually employ three or four skilled welders to fabricate the specially-designed gates which are being used by farmers and ranchers all over the country.

Mr. Fambrough is a brother to Ellis Fambrough of this area.

Central Drug To Move To Perry Building Soon

Central Drug will move from the south to the north side of the square and open its doors in the Perry Building.

The move is expected to be completed in about seven weeks, over-manager Dale Trout announced this week.

The north side building formerly housed Perry Brothers Variety Store, and has been vacant for several years. Trout has made a five-year lease on the building.

It was recently given to the First Methodist Church here and the church is in the process of redoing the building.

Extensive roofing, flooring and other repairs are now being made.

Negotiations were completed this week for the installation of a brand-new line of fixtures and furnishings for the new drug store.

The fixtures are all being custom-made and will feature all the very latest innovations in store decor and service.

Trout has also announced that the new location will provide room for a more complete fountain service, and plans call for the addition of a sandwich bar and expanded snack area.

The new building is about 50 by 90 feet. Central Drug has been at its present location since April 21, 1961. It was formerly Davis Drug.

Present employees will move to the new store, and others probably will be added, Trout said.

Don Stoner is the registered store pharmacist and Wit Springer, is registered relief pharmacist.

Other employees include Mrs. Sam Johnson, Sandra Pogue and Emma Noble.

At moving time, the store will close at its present location on a Saturday after business, and be opened the following Monday morning at the new site.

'Impact' Loses In Eastland

The case of The State of Texas versus Dallas G. Perkins et al, concluded this week in the 11th Court of Civil Appeals with judgment reversed and rendered for the State.

The suit was brought by the State against Dallas G. Perkins, as mayor, and other officials of Impact to test the validity of the incorporation of that city. Based upon the answers of a jury to special issues, the court rendered judgment against the State and it appealed.

The appellant's first point was that the court erred in failing to render judgment for the State because the undisputed evidence and the jury's answers to issue number one conclusively showed that at the time of its incorporation, Impact was not a "Town or Village" within the meaning of the law.

That, on the contrary, it was only a portion of a larger unincorporated inhabited community, town or village that could not be lawfully incorporated without including substantially all of the town or village as it existed at the time of its purporting incorporation.

The jury found in issue one that "said proposed town was a portion of a territory comprising a larger, unincorporated, inhabited community or settlement."

But, it also found that (2) the incorporation petitioners did not fix the boundaries "as to arbitrarily exclude a portion of the larger unincorporated, inhabited community or settlement" of which it was a part. It found that (3) the proposed town of Impact was conditioned so as to be subject to municipal government and that (4) the petitioners for incorporate intended to use the territory included in Impact for strictly town purposes.

In Praise of a Junk Dealer

(Editor's note: In August there appeared in the Wall Street Journal an editorial, entitled "In Praise of a Junk Dealer". In reading the editorial, we couldn't help but be reminded of Eastland's Mr. Henry Pullman. He and Mrs. Pullman do have two children too. Mrs. Jack Katz, the former Mozelle Pullman, now of Miami, Fla., and Saul, a law student at St. Mary's University of Law in San Antonio.)

Among our friends is a man who came to this country many years ago and has prospered by buying and selling old automobiles, worn-out refrigerators and other cast-off things.

Now, if we understand him rightly, he has come to days when he is a little saddened by his life, troubled with the feeling that by just being a junk man he has wasted much of it. Partly, perhaps, this is just an old man's feeling of being distant from his children, who have studied important things at college and speak so much better than he. But part of it is a deep troubling that in a world where so much needs to be done he has done nothing of much consequence.

Of course someone could point out to him that he has passed on two sons and a daughter, raised them to be people of character, educated them, and started them upon their own way. This is no small accomplishment, and he surely must know it. Yet it does not fully comfort him, for he thinks he lives in a world where value is measured by other accomplishments. Buying and selling junk, he has come to feel, is not socially useful.

We suspect that our friend, these days, is not alone in this feeling of despondency of the usefulness of his life. A young girl is taught in college that child-bearing and home-making is a wasted life; she must get out and "do something" for society. A young man is cheered if he turns his talent away from "making money" to some more seemly public service where he will redistribute the money of others.

Buying and selling is a function particularly despised. Some years ago there was a hit comedy on Broadway that pictured a junk dealer as a sort of parasite, growing rich on major he lettered in football three years, basketball one year and track two years at Whitney High School.

COMPARISON OF A CHRISTIAN WITH A POSTAGE STAMP

by Sara Earls Huber
Austin, Texas
A postage stamp is only a very small piece of paper of no value whatsoever, until the U. S. Government designates its value, and makes its use necessary in sending a message. Whose heart does not thrill at the receipt of messages from the one who love us.

We, as human beings, are only pieces of flesh and blood, and according to analysis of chemists, of almost no monetary value. But when we have that consciousness of being blood bought, born again Christians, we are valuable in carrying the sweetest love message known to mankind, that love of the Father who gave His own Son to save ourselves. He could have saved the world without our help, but honored us by giving the joy of carrying the message. We are saved to serve. We are told in God's letter to us that we are the salt of the earth (the preserving power) the light of the world, a city set on a hill that lighteth every man that cometh into the world, that the very hairs of our head are numbered.

Stamps are set apart by perforations. We are set apart from the world, in the world, but not of the world. "Come out from among them and be ye a separate people", we are told in 2 Cor. 6:17.

In order that a stamp may have the sticking ability to do the work for which it is intended, it must be licked. That we may be prepared to carry the message for which we are saved, we must have the sinful, worldly nature licked, that we may not be weary in well doing, but faithful to the end in carrying the message of good news, the saving grace of our Redeemer.

A stamp has four edges. We are four sided, physical, mental, social and spiritual.

The physical part of us is to be used in taking us from place to place doing good as did our Saviour, for the word Christian means "like Christ." We can't save ourselves by good works, but we are told 32 times in the New Testament to be busy doing good works. We are told that "Jesus went about doing good", to many of us just go about, "Trust in the Lord and do good so shalt thou dwell in the land and verily shalt be fed." Many "trust in the Lord" but not so many "do good". We know we are saved by faith and James tells us "Faith without works is dead".

In order to have an opportunity to influence people for good, we must be associated with them and they must have confidence in us. We can't shut ourselves away alone, living a selfish life and influence them to right living. In other words, we must be social.

We are to use our minds to plan how we may better serve Him, and carry on the work He has left for us to do.

Then our spiritual life is that part of us that lives on through endless eternity, so it is very necessary that we be prepared for that life and lead as many others to make this preparation as possible, while we are here.

Very few, if any of us, live through a day without using, or at least seeing, a postage stamp. Let's always remember how like that stamp an life is. To order as a Christian, we must the Bible, pray, attend services and among Christian people.

The picture on a age stamp is usually some famous man dead. The image of our souls, as Christians, is that of a risen, living that sits now at the of His Father's intercession for us.

State United Fund Intensifies Local United Fund

The Texas United Fund—organized by United Funds in Texas in 1951 to strengthen their joint endeavors to cut down on the multiplicity of campaigns, the costliness of independent drives, the waste of time and efforts of volunteers, and the costliness involved in agencies approaching communities individually—is charged by local United Funds to work in four areas:

1. To provide a state Admissions and Budget Committee to screen, review and budget state and national agencies, a task which is virtually impossible for local communities to do. In 1962, the state committee is composed of 115 local volunteers from every region and every city in the State.

2. To help organize local United Funds. At the request of local communities, since 1961 the Texas United Fund has helped organize 150 local United Funds. Texas now has over 200 United Funds—more than any other state. Money raised by these local United Funds for local agencies has grown from less than 10 million dollars ten years ago to more than 26 million dollars last year.

3. To assist local United Funds in conducting their campaigns. Annually, the Texas United Fund conducts Campaign Institutes solely designed to help local United Funds do the best job possible. In the past four years, thirty-three Institutes have been held in various regions of the state, attended by 1,800 local volunteer fund officers from every corner of the state.

4. To establish a fair and equitable quota plan to be applied to the goals of state and national agencies so that no United Fund in Texas will be subjected to "target goals" or "all the traffic will bear" campaigns. The Texas United Fund maintains a year-round state

Quota Committee working in close cooperation with the Federal Reserve Bank to keep its quota plan up to date.

To further carry out No. 1 above, the Texas United Fund this year includes eleven state and national agencies, all of which are proving Texas and Texans with vitally important services:

AMERICAN HEARING SOCIETY, through member organizations, works exclusively in behalf of the acoustically handicapped to prevent deafness, to serve hearing and rehabilitate the deaf and hard of hearing.

AMERICAN SOCIAL WELFARE ASSOCIATION performs research, investigation and family life education work with schools and the Armed Forces, with local and national agencies, local law enforcement and health departments in control of VD, prostitution, narcotics traffic and allied vice conditions.

BLINDED VETERANS ASSOCIATION provides a rehabilitation and guidance program for blinded veterans in Texas. Assists blind veterans in obtaining vocational adjustment training, vocational counseling, training and employment.

COUNCIL ON SOCIAL WORK EDUCATION leads the effort to resolve the Number One problem in the social welfare field—the shortage of competent social workers—by recruiting competent individuals into social work and upgrading standards of social work.

NATIONAL RECREATION ASSOCIATION assists in providing better recreation programs for all citizens. Helps resolve special problems, makes surveys of recreational needs. Works with military and civilian community to assure wholesome off-duty recreation for servicemen, assuring a community recreation activities. Provides consultation services for local recreation authorities.

TEXAS CITIZENS COMMITTEE (C) THE NATIONAL COUNCIL ON CRIME & DELINQUENCY is the only private organization offering field services in the area of crime and delinquency and has served Texas communities for 27 years. Seven years ago, the Texas Citizens Committee was organized and has as its goal the establishment of economically sound and effective methods for treatment of crime and delinquency in Texas. Immediate objectives are: Strengthening of adult parole, establishment of a juvenile parole system, expansion of consultation services to local communities, and continuation of the training institute for juvenile court judges.

NATIONAL SOCIAL WELFARE ASSEMBLY serves as the central national planning and co-ordinating agency for the social welfare field. Brings together government and voluntary, national and local, lay and professional interests to help define welfare problems and to plan ways to solve them.

TEXAS SOCIAL WELFARE ASSOCIATION, through community planning, aids in the operation and development of health, welfare and recreation programs in Texas. Provide a consultation service to communities who do not have professional staff for welfare planning. Promotes active concern of lay and professional persons representing public and voluntary agencies and citizens organizations in solving social welfare problems.

UNITED SEAMEN'S SERVICE is the only American agency serving to promote the physical, mental and emotional good health of American merchant seamen by providing recreational, information, personal welfare aid and other services in foreign ports.

WORLD ADOPTION FUND / INTERNATIONAL SOCIAL SERVICE (WAIF) as part of its program brings parentless children of other countries with childless Texas couples. Since 1953, WAIF has placed thousands of foreign children deprived of their parents by war, illness and poverty, into adoptive American homes.

UNITED SERVICE ORGANIZATIONS (USO) has 18 installations in the state of Texas and 32 overseas. There are more than 300,000 servicemen stationed in Texas and more than 140,000 Texas boys and girls in the armed forces.

Our own local boys and girls are stationed throughout the world and the USO is their "Home Away From Home." Your support of our united campaign helps provide these services, both here at home and for our military personnel wherever they may be.

Readers Write

To The Readers of the Eastland Telegram:

I wish to express a word of appreciation for two groups of our public friends who work for us without much notice or thanks. Their work is done quietly and behind the scenes, and too often we take them and their services for granted; or we feel that what they should do, that it is a part of their job. But many times they do more, much more, than what is their "job."

The two groups to whom I refer are the telephone operators and the service station operators. Recently I passed through Weatherford and left my billfold in a Gulf station out on this side of Weatherford about four or five miles. I did not know that I had left it until I was back in Castella. I called long distance, explained what I had done and asked her to try to get that station for me. I did not at that time know the manager's name, the address of the station, or the telephone number. She spent some time trying to help me, even calling the police station in Weatherford to get the name of the station's manager. She went far beyond the call of duty in being helpful, and through her efforts and the time she spent on it, she did get the station for me. After I finished talking to the station, I called back and asked the name of the long distance operator who had worked so to help me and I found that it was Mrs. Laura Lou Trammel. I feel that she is one of many such operators who are willing and eager to help those needing help.

Their my thanks also go to honest men wherever they are found, and I class service station operators among those honest ones. The man working in that Weatherford station returned my billfold to me, and my money, identification cards, and other valuables were in it intact.

I nominate telephone and service station operators as outstanding good citizens and friends of the public.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Ed F. Willman
