in the County Courtroom. Oscar Schaefer, Rising Star rancher, and County Agent J. M. Cooper also met with the Court to discuss the possibilities of a county-wide screwworm eradication program.

Members of the Court declined the invitation to sponsor the program stating that it would be better for such a program to be sponsored by local farmers and ranchers.

Roy Lee Smith, Eastland County Civil Defense director, asked that a County Civil Defense Plan be worked out and approved so that the county might be eligible to receive federal aid for their projects.

Commissioners expressed their favor and asked Smith to prepare a tentative plan to be presented for approval at a future time.

County Judge Scott Bailey called to the attention of the court the fact that Eastland County has accumulated a total of $32,196.04 in Austin, Eastland County's share of money paid in for gasoline tax, to be used in the Lateral Road Account.

The County can receive the money by passing a resolution asking for the refund. The resolution was then passed. This amount will average $8,000 per precinct.

Members of the Court then approved a $1,000 bond for Blake Forehand of Rising Star, Constable of Justice Precinct 7.

The meeting was closed with the routine order of payment on accounts made during the month, that included $10,000 for the new photostat machine purchased for the County Clerk's office and $8,000 to the Texas Electric Service Company for rural utility improvements.

Funeral services were held Sunday at 3 p. m. in the First Baptist Church of McCamey with interment in the McCamey Cemetery.

Mrs. Bennett was born in May, 1882 near Gorman and was married to Mr. Bennett in June, 1899.

Survivors are two daughters, Mrs. Arthur Bradshaw and Mrs. Lee Shipman, both of McCamey; two grandchildren; one sister, Mrs. Clara Bisbee of Eastland; four brothers, J. F. O'Brien and Norman O'Brien, both of Lamesa, Roy O'Brien of Big Spring and P. D. (Dick) O'Brien of Houston; and a host of nieces and nephews including Earl O'Brien and H. V. SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 14

Peanut Bowl Planning Now In Full Swing

"Peanuts in the Space Age" — that's the theme for the 1963 edition of the annual Eastland County Peanut Bowl set for Saturday, September 14.

Realizing that there is nothing "peanut" (that is, small) about the current space program, the club chose the theme to emphasize the importance of the big county cash crop in this day and age.

Highlight again this year will be the annual clash of the Cisco and Ranger junior college grid teams at Maverick Stadium. This is expected to be a power-match in that Ranger will be attempting to even a two-one edge now enjoyed by the Cisco team.

And plans for this year's event are well under way with committees in session, and details being worked out. Dick Johnson is chairman for the event and has several sub-committees working with him.

President Glyn Gilliam challenged the membership this week to work with "vigor" to get the work done that needs to be done in time for the big spectacle.

The club has a gigantic surprise bonus under wraps which will be a feature attraction — above and beyond the regular format. But plans are still being finalized and an announcement is expected soon.

And it looks as though this fourth edition will be the "biggest and best." In keeping with the theme, arrangements are being made for space exhibits including modern rocketry as well as other components of this art. There'll be features on parade in Eastland that will attract visitors from miles in every direction, a club spokesman says.

Mike Mehaffey of Eastland placed second with a six and three-fourths pound carp.

Winning third place was Jimmy Cole of Ranger, who caught a two and three-fourths and one and one-fourth pound carp.

And in addition to the $5 weekly first prize, Mr. Stewart was also awarded $10 for catching the largest fish during the month, a 16 pound carp.

His winning fish was a seven and one-half pound carp. He and his wife caught a total of 46 pounds and 15 ounces of rough fish during the week, the smallest weighing three and three-fourths pounds.

Total amount of rough fish caught during the week of Aug. 5-11 was 57 pounds and 11 ounces.

1.74 Inches Of Rain

Rain, Tuesday made the month of July look parched in Eastland.

The cool front which moved across the area dumped 1.74 inches of rain in Eastland, James Smith reports.

Ranger had about 1.50, but Cisco failed to register a half inch.

South of Eastland benefitted generally, and good moisture was reported from most of the peanut areas.

And the rain was being called the maker of this year's crop.

Eastland had only .11 of an inch during the entire month of July.

1st Graders Must Sign Up By Friday

Friday at 5 p. m. is the deadline for registration of first graders in the Eastland school system, it has been announced.

Registration had been light at mid-week, with only 26 of the anticipated 56 on the rolls.

Parents are reminded that the youngsters should be registered at the school secretary's office at high school. Parents should take birth certificates and proof of inoculations.

County Sheep And Goat Field Day Set For September

Mrs. Norris attended schools in Fort Worth and the groom attended Carbon High School. He is presently employed by Lovelace Transfer and Storage in Eastland.

Following a short wedding trip, the couple are making their home at 506 W. Plummer, Eastland.

National Guard Back Home After 15 Days At Fort Hood

Eastland County's Battery "C," with units in Cisco and Ranger, returned home Sunday after a 15-day active duty tour at Fort Hood with other units of the 49th Armored Division of the Texas National Guard.

CWO James Hendrick, administrative officer for the two units, reported that the men were dog-tired and drenched with sweat after the two weeks in hot, dry weather. The units came home in their own battery vehicles.

The trip "home" for the 7,000 men of the 49th involved 5,350 miles of highway travel, with the division's 3,000 vehicles consuming more than 250,000 gallons of gas just to get back to their 79 home stations.

This 15-day active duty stint for the 49th was a notable tour. It marked the first "reunion" of the division since its release from 10 months active duty exactly a year ago at Fort Polk, La., after the Berlin crisis call-up.

The effects of that rigorous training were still visible at Fort Hood.

The 49th was described as "a hardened outfit" by Lt. Gen. W. H. S. Wright, chief of reserve forces of the U. S. Continental Army Command, who personally paid the division a visit.

He ranked the 49th "far among the best" of other National Guard and Army reserve divisions he had seen this summer, noting that some 85 per cent of the 49th's present strength were veterans of the Berlin call-up.

Gov. John Connally was another visitor, who reviewed the troops at the annual Governor's Mounted Review on Aug. 3, and a group of Texas legislators came to camp and saw realistic combat maneuvers from the "front lines."

This summer training was the first for the 49th under the Department of the Army's "ROAD" reorganizational plan, which broke the division's combat elements into a more elastic and mobile fighting force while at the same time giving the division more fire power.

The realignment gave the 49th five tank battalions — instead of four as before — as well as a new artillery battalion packed with four Honorable John rockets rather than two.

The 49th made good use of its three brigade headquarters, which commanded their own "task force" of tanks and infantry to perform their training requirements there.

Thus, every soldier of the 49th got his share of field training, with half of the division bivouacking the first week, and the other half hitting the field the second week.

Maj. Gen. Harley B. West of Dallas, 49th Armored Division commander, cited a "most successful camp. Certainly the performance of the division reflects the 10 months of active duty at Fort Polk."

Facts About RJC

Ranger Junior College Music Department, under the chairmanship of Kenneth Alford, will be offering two new courses, not heretofore listed in the college catalog.

The Department of Music offers two years of music instruction leading to the degree of Bachelor of Music, Bachelor of Music Education, and Bachelor of Arts with a major in music, Alford said.

For non-music majors, several classes may be elected, such as: Applied Music, (private instruction on a musical instrument), Rudiments of Music, theory, music ensemble, college choir, music ensemble and band.

Music majors at the freshman level will be given theory placement tests to determine their qualifications for Music Theory course.

The two new courses will be: Music Appreciation, 150, which will be for music majors and minors and also open to all students. This course is recommended for adult students in this area who may also receive three semester hours credit or take as an audit course. This will be offered second semester only.

The other new course is Music Literature, 250, which is listed as a slightly advanced course in the literature of music from the Baroque Period to Contemporary Period in music history; rudimentary historical survey of music before 1600. This too will be offered second semester only. This course also is recommended for adult students.

Winners of the ski tournament were the following:

Women's slalom: 14 and under, Beverly Benton of Cisco; 15-24, Kay Poe of Eastland.

Women's doubles: 15-24, Collette Brown of Cisco.

Men's doubles: 14 and under, Don Parks of Comanche; 19-34, Jimmy Little of Eastland; and 34 and over, Guy Robinson of Eastland.

Men's slalom: 14 and under, James Fullen of Eastland; 15-18, David Taylor of Eastland; 19-34, Jimmy Tutt of Abilene; and 34 and over, James Sherrill of Eastland.

Winner of the trick skiing event was Roger Smith of Abilene.

Trophies were presented to the 11 winners by Freddie Stroud. Four age divisions did not have entrants.

Judging the contests were Dale Troutt of Eastland, Richard Moore of Cisco and Virgil Moore of Breckenridge.

Stroud expressed his appreciation to all who assisted him and made the first annual tournament possible. He said that as a result of the tournament, a ski club might be organized to sponsor next year's event.

Mutation May Help Dev Better Peanut Varieties

A small, low producing Spanish peanut with no commercial value, may lead scientists to the development of better peanut varieties, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The line of typically small peanuts has been found to possess a mutation that can be used as a genetic marker in peanut improvement research, explains the USDA. These plants have crinkled or curled leaves while normal plants have smooth leaves.

Geneticists with the USDA have shown that the crinkled leaf characteristic is a dominant inheritance when introduced into a cross between two peanut lines. This mutation can be easily seen at an early stage of the plant's development, they explain.

The mutant line has already helped scientists disprove the old belief that peanuts are self-pollinating, says the USDA. By the use of its marker gene they have shown that as much as 10 per cent natural crossing occurs in some cases. This means that natural cross hybrids, identified by their crinkled leaves, can be produced from known parents by speed the breeding of improved peanut varieties. The unusual crinkled nuts were not discovered by scientists but by a Spanish farmer, William S. USDA have been supplied by Bryant.

We Live in a Great Country —

... and one of the causes that has helped to make it so is insurance. In one particular at least the average American is unique in that he buys a lot more insurance than his foreign brother. This means that he doesn't want to carry his own risks and the attendant worries that go along with it. He keeps himself adequately insured because it's good business to do so. Yes, it's American to be insured and Insurance is typically American!

Livestock Spray Program To Be Discussed Friday

The possibility of a county wide livestock spray program will be discussed at a meeting for all area farmers and ranchers at the Chamber of Commerce office in Ranger Friday, August 16 at 8:00 p. m.

According to Beverly Dudley Jr., local vocational agriculture teacher; Oscar Schaefer, chairman of the County Animal Health Committee and Dr. J. B. Fauna, veterinarian with the U. S. Department of Agriculture will bring a discussion on the proposed program.

The discussion will deal with the possibility of a plan to spray as many livestock over the county as possible, in an attempt to aid in the control of the screw worm in conjunction with the stenide fly drop program.

The insecticide Co-Ral would be used. Co-Ral is a systemic insecticide and not only would be beneficial in control of the screw worm but would also control cattle grubs; lice, mites and ticks.

The stenide fly drop program has brought excellent results over the state this year. Week before last, not one single case of screw worms was reported south of the screw worm fly drop line. A few isolated cases of screw worms have been reported north of the regular drop line, Eastland County being in this area.

The possibility of obtaining power spray machines from the state and obtaining the insecticide will be discussed by Mr. Schaefer and Dr. Fauna.

All livestock owners of this area are urged to be present at this meeting.

Tom C. Stewart dec'd to the public affidavit of heirship.
Julia Thorp to J. W. Ray, warranty deed.
K. M. Turner to the Church of Christ, warranty deed.
Roy Vandergriff to First Federal Savings and Loan Assn., Deed of trust.
Veterans Land Board to Ronald Graham, contract of sale and purchase.

A SAD STORY FOR SALE

Behind many "For Sale" signs there is a sad story: A family borrowed more than they could afford to pay for a home, or payments and interest rates were too high; the home had to be sold, often at a loss. This tragedy could often be avoided if the families would seek help from a home loan specialist, such as our Association.

We work with you to arrange for a loan that's as easy to handle as monthly rent.
