Fund For Army Is Boosted By Six Billion

Roosevelt Calls For Appropriations Of 72 Billions

WASHINGTON, May 20 (AP)— President Roosevelt asked congress today to make available nearly $72,000,000,000 for the army in the fiscal year starting July 1, boosting his January budget figures by more than $6,000,000,000.

White House Secretary Stephen Early explained that the increase is accounted for by a projected expansion of the aircraft program. The army expects to get, he said, 1,147,000,000 pounds of planes in the next year, exclusive of the weight of engines, and motors, compared with 911,000,000 pounds in the current fiscal year.

The president, in a letter to Speaker Rayburn, transmitted a request for war department appropriations totaling $39,425,586,500. He asked also that $12,472,913,200 of unobligated balances of current appropriations for the army be made available again in the coming fiscal year.

The new budget figure provides for pay, food, clothing and equipment for more than 8,000,000 individuals in the army, including $75,000 WAACs for whom an intensified recruiting service is in progress.

Funds also were provided for overseas construction, including facilities for a rapidly expanding air transport command operating ferry routes throughout the world and construction in theaters of operation.

Military construction in this country, however, a statement said, will be much smaller than in recent years. More than $11,000,000,000 will go for pay for members of the military establishment and allotments to their dependents.

Moisture Not Yet Enough— Intermittent sprinkles and drizzles Thursday developed into brisk showers in spotted areas, but for the most part the Big Spring territory was still needing rain.

73 Planes Are Destroyed In Heavy Smashes At Axis

Enemy Concentrates Air Power In Mediterranean To Try To Stem Tide

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, May 20 (AP)— Allied fighters and bombers, in mighty smashes at Axis air power, destroyed 73 planes yesterday in the greatest aerial blow they have inflicted since the collapse of the German ground forces in North Africa, it was announced today.

Twenty-nine planes were shot down in fierce dog fights off Sicily and Sardinia in an area where the German and Italian air forces have concentrated hundreds of aircraft in an attempt to stem the great, and continuing Allied onslaught and at least 44 others were destroyed on the ground.

For the first time since the fall of Tunisia enemy aircraft rose in large numbers to challenge Allied domination of the skies over Sardinia and Sicily and their squadrons were ripped to pieces in what official sources described as "several long and grueling dog fights."

Fifty Axis fighters jumped United States Flying Fortresses, which bombed the Milo air field near Trapani, Sicily, and more than 30 fighters attacked United States Raiders and Warhawks when the Americans bombed Monserato Elmas air field and the harbor of Cagliari, in southern Sardinia.

Four American planes were lost in all these operations. Thirty seven of the Axis planes destroyed on the ground were on the Milo field. At Milas airfield, in central Sardinia, Mitchell's scored direct hits on at least six grounded planes and at Villaciadro, where approximately 50 planes were parked, hits were seen all over the dispersal area and several explosions were observed in fuel dumps.

Enemy Fights Now With His Back To Sea

And The U. S. Navy Has Control Of The Waters

WASHINGTON, May 20 (AP)— American troops have completed encirclement of the remnant of Japanese forces on Attu Island in the western Aleutians after capturing the partially completed enemy air field there.

The Japanese, the navy announced today, were caught in the Chichagof harbor area at the northeastern extremity of Attu after United States forces captured Sarana Pass flanking the enemy's positions from the southeast. The Japanese were fighting with their backs to the sea and the sea was commanded by American warships, which, it was officially disclosed, have already assisted in smashing Japanese resistance.

The communiques also reported that on May 18th during the night, Japanese bombers attacked U. S. positions on Guadalcanal Island and in the Russell Islands. There was no report of damage or casualties.

Occupation by American troops of the partially completed airfield was reported earlier today by Secretary of War Stimson. Maj. Gen. Eugene M. Landrum, described by the secretary as "a veteran of former Aleutian operations," commands the troops on Attu. The expedition was planned some time ago, Stimson told a press conference, and the soldiers were specially trained for the job. They proceeded to Attu with heavy naval escort and under cover of a dense fog to surprise the Japanese completely.

Under cover of a naval bombardment, the secretary added, a small party of army scouts made the first landing near the west arm of Holtz Bay, and these were followed closely by another wave of troops in the same area. Later, another landing was made on the opposite side of the island at Massacre Bay.

Stimson said the troops in the Holtz Bay area were commanded by Col. Frank L. Culin, Jr., but he did not have the name of the officer leading the assault on the southern side of the island.

There was little opposition from the surprised enemy in the first phase of the Attu operation, Stimson reported, and the troops had little difficulty in establishing strong beachheads which they later were able to hold against Japanese counterattacks.

Despite the difficulties encountered, including extremely cold weather, American casualties have been relatively light, the secretary said, and the troops have captured large quantities of enemy equipment and supplies, including an entire anti-aircraft battery with a complete supply of ammunition. The battery now is being used for horizontal fire against the enemy.

Stimson noted that the overall campaign is under navy command, although all the troops ashore on Attu are army units, and said that "in the landings and subsequent combat the army is greatly indebted to the navy for its finely coordinated support."

Plane Crashes And Burns At Chicago

CHICAGO, May 20 (AP)— A large army airplane rumbled into a gas company storage tank on the South Side today and, according to reports received by the Englewood district fire alarm office, set the tank afire.

The plane, which was based at the Fort Worth, Tex., army air field, rammed the huge tank squarely and plunged to the ground at 10 a. m. and established picket lines at gates of the factories. Two hours later a Chrysler spokesman said the corporation was forced to close the Dodge main plant after some 3,500 of its 10,500 day shift employees walked out.

The spokesman said, concerning the Kercheval-Jefferson walkout, "the strike undoubtedly is authorized by the union and was carefully organized. Four thousand men don't walk out by their own accord."

State Deficit Down By Eight Million— AUSTIN, May 20 (AP)— The state's general fund deficit reached its lowest point in five years today at $20,731,002, a reduction of $8,507,483 from a year ago.

River Levees Menaced By High Waters

By The Associated Press

An army engineers officer expressed confidence today that some levees along the Mississippi river between St. Louis and Cape Girardeau, Mo., could be held against rising flood waters, while emergency civilian and military crews fought climbing river crests over a wide area of the middle west.

Vern Alexander, regional hydrologic engineer at Kansas City's weather bureau, after completing a tour of the Missouri and Oklahoma flood areas, said he believed that the levees at St. Louis and East St. Louis, Ill., will hold, although he said he believed by Saturday or Sunday the crest at St. Louis will reach 37 1-2 feet, which would be just six inches under the second all-time peak, the 38-foot level of 1903, when disastrous floods occurred.

The number of dead in the flooded area was 10, six in Indiana, three in Missouri and one in Oklahoma, while the estimated number of persons driven from their homes was more than 23,000—including 13,000 in Indiana and 10,000 in Illinois. Many others were evacuated from homes in Oklahoma, Arkansas and Kansas. Property damage was extensive while damage to crops was expected to be severe although no official estimates were given.

Damage thus far in Missouri is in the southwest section. The Osage already is past all previous marks and a power plant at Begnell, Mo., is threatened. In southeast Kansas, one of the worst floods in history paralyzed highway and railway traffic in a dozen counties, flooded a big power plant at Riverport curtailing power to the tri-state (Missouri-Kansas-Oklahoma) mining district and shut down a big ordnance plant.

As the Red Cross sought to aid the 32,000 homeless in Indiana, the swollen Wabash river appeared to be falling slowly for 200 miles south of Wabash, Ind., but a gradual rise still was noted at Terra Haute, where damage was most widespread.

In Oklahoma, Grand River dam had half its 42 floodgates opened, with only six-tenths of a foot below the top of the big hydro-electric project. The Arkansas river topped the 16-foot flood stage at Tulsa and was spreading over the lowlands.

Chrysler Plants Closed By Strikes

DETROIT, May 20 (AP)— Strikes by members of the United Automobile Workers (CIO) who claimed that collective bargaining had "completely broken down" caused the closing of three plants of Chrysler corporation here today, affecting some 14,500 workers.

Approximately 4,000 employees of the Kercheval and Jefferson plants walked out at 10 a. m. and established picket lines at gates of the factories. Two hours later a Chrysler spokesman said the corporation was forced to close the Dodge main plant after some 3,500 of its 10,500 day shift employees walked out.

The spokesman said, concerning the Kercheval-Jefferson walkout, "the strike undoubtedly is authorized by the union and was carefully organized. Four thousand men don't walk out by their own accord."

Labor Can't Solve Lewis Move To Rejoin The AFL

WASHINGTON, May 20 (AP)— John L. Lewis' return to the doorstep of the American Federation of Labor stunned all but a few insiders in labor circles today and left them groping for an explanation.

The unpredictable president of the United Mine Workers, who defied the AFL in 1935 and was suspended for organizing the rival CIO, formally petitioned in behalf of the miners for readmission. An AFL statement yesterday said the application was "welcomed" and was being considered in "an orderly and sympathetic way."

Lewis withheld comment at his New York hotel but his friends said his action was evidence of his desire for a unified labor movement. Critics doubted if that told the whole story. Many believed he made the jump because he had no other place to go, while still seeking the top spot in the American labor movement.

As the leader of a single union, the United Mine Workers, his influence in politics has its limitations. By rejoining a federation of unions whose membership soon may aggregate 7,000,000, he could be seeking a potential alliance in political councils, perhaps starting with the 1944 presidential campaign.

Lewis' latest move was not believed to bear any immediate relationship to the current soft coal wage dispute. At least two impediments must be negotiated before Lewis' return to the AFL. Some of the UMW's District 50 membership infringes upon the jurisdiction of AFL craft unions, and agreeable jurisdiction lines would have to be drawn. Also, leaders of the AFL Progressive Miners once were bitter foes of Lewis' AFL policies would not permit two unions of mine workers within the federation.

The strained personal relationship between Lewis and AFL President William Green is not expected to present any serious problem. The latter's influence in the federation is in no way comparable to Lewis' position in the miners. Green merely carries out executive council policies.

20-Year Terms For Robbery

LUBBOCK, May 20 (AP)— Flavis Godfrey Gilbert and Talbert J. Layman each was sentenced to 20 years in federal prison today for the robbery of the First National bank of Hale Center Nov. 27.

Gilbert pleaded innocent and said he was not at Hale Center when the crime was committed. Layman pleaded guilty but said Gilbert did not participate in the robbery.

The jury was out only five minutes and Judge T. Whitfield Davidson passed sentence immediately. Testimony in Gilbert's trial was finished yesterday and arguments were concluded shortly before 11 o'clock this morning.

New Restrictions On Gas Probable— WASHINGTON, May 20 (AP)— Secretary Ickes said today further reductions in use of gasoline for driving will have to be made "before the present crisis is over," despite rearmament of the pleasure-driving ban in most of the east at noon.

New restrictions may have to be imposed in the middle west as well as the east because "we might temporarily have to bring more supplies from the middle west (to the east) using the shorter haul." The interior secretary told a press conference in his capacity as petroleum administrator.

Deadline Set On Tax Bill

WASHINGTON, May 20 (AP)— In what amounts to an ultimatum, Chairman George (D-Ga.) of the senate finance committee said today that unless a joint senate-house conference group can agree within three days on a compromise bill he will be ready to abandon pay-as-you-go tax legislation this session.

Little hope for an agreement was left when Republican Leader Martin (Mass.) of the house announced he was flatly opposed to a compromise and would insist on adoption of the modified Ruml skip-a-year plan.

The conferees arranged to meet for their first effort to compose fundamental differences on the two houses in current collection measures. The senate conferees are bound by the senate's action to hold out for a modified version of the Ruml plan under which the taxer of either 1942 or 1943 taxes would be abated for all persons except those with windfall income. The house group, on the other hand, is directed to support a bill abating the 6 per cent normal and 13 per cent first bracket surtax on 1942 incomes, making only a part of the taxpayers current.

Nazi Thrusts Turned Back By Russians

MOSCOW, May 20 (AP)— New German counterattacks in the Kuban valley have been smashed by Red army artillery and planes, the Russians announced today, with heavy losses inflicted on the Nazis as they made their second unsuccessful effort in two days to cross a river in the Kuban delta.

There was constant air and land action all along the Russian-German front. The fiercest fighting, the Russians said, was in the Kuban and around Iyumu, on the Donets river 70 miles southeast of Kharkov.

Fighters and bombers, with the Red air force holding superiority, continued major scale battles in the sky. The German air fleet made repeated efforts to raid Leningrad. At least eight German craft were brought down.

The Germans attempted to land on the Soviet-held bank of the Kuban valley's lower reaches and were ambushed. Rapid fire rifles were turned on the enemy, killing about 200. Fourteen enemy craft were sunk and their occupants were drowned, the midnight communique said.

Northeast of Novorossiisk action was restricted to artillery bombardment and the bombing and strafing of German positions by Russian airmen.

Berlin Again Bombarded By RAF

LONDON, May 20 (AP)— Far-ranging and speedy Mosquito bombers of the Royal Air Force carried the continuing Allied air offensive to Berlin itself again last night, the British announced today.

The RAF raid on Berlin constituted the third attack on the capital of the Reich within a week and came only a few hours after American Flying Fortresses had smashed into Germany to blast submarine and shipbuilding yards at Kiel and Flensburg.

Results of the British overnight raid were not announced immediately, an air ministry communique saying merely that targets in Berlin were attacked. All the bombers returned.

Last night's attack on Berlin had the character of repayment in kind for the series of German air force attacks on the London area. It apparently was the same sort of raid—a swift brief stab by high-flying fast planes.

Berlin has not had a cascade raid from heavy bombers since March 29. Taking up where night raiders left off, large formations of Allied planes swarmed over the channel by daylight today in the direction of northern France. They flew so high it was impossible to tell whether they were fighters or bombers.

German planes, meanwhile, approached a south coast town but were driven out to sea by an anti-aircraft barrage before they were able to drop their bombs.

Davies Ready To Go Before Stalin

MOSCOW, May 20 (AP)— Joseph E. Davies, looking fit and fresh, arose early today in preparation for a busy day which includes a late afternoon visit to the Kremlin, where he will see Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov and personally hand over the letter from President Roosevelt to Premier Stalin.

Before going to the Kremlin Davies went on a sight-seeing tour of the Soviet capital, which he has not seen since he left his post as ambassador to Moscow five years ago.

His arrival in Moscow was noted prominently in the Russian press this morning, but there was no speculation about his mission.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jones are at home in Big Spring following their marriage in Pecos Sunday afternoon 5 o'clock in the bride's home. Mrs. Jones is the former Warren Collings, daughter of Mrs. E. L. Collings of Pecos.

The single ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Bernard Guy, pastor of the First Baptist church of Pecos before an altar of greenery and flowers and centered with a large white basket of gladioli. On each side were white baskets of Queen Anne's lace, pink larkspurs and geraniums. Other decorations in the living room were baskets of purple larkspurs, snapdragons, pinks and Queen Anne's lace.

The couple is at home at the Douglas hotel here where Jones is connected with the J. & K. Shoe Store.

Senators and congressmen evidently feel that they have to do something to compete with war news and the latest about scuffling around with each other over implied insults makes us feel a little sick. We hate to think of so-called statesmen acting like small boys during study hall.

We get a little discouraged, too, when we read of stupid statements made by men in high places in government. The sad part about it is that the men we elect are no better than the voters. Instead of getting disgusted with the men in office maybe we ought to give ourselves a swift kick and reminder that in the next elections we can correct such errors of judgment or lack of interest in politics.

Looks like things on the home front are in a worse mess than on the fighting fronts. OPA and WLB quarrels, increased juvenile delinquency, black markets, strikes and complaints. Maybe it's hard to be noble when it isn't a matter of life or death but the comments of men home from the fighting front make us feel ashamed of the beefs and whines of well-cushioned Americans.

Imported Mexican Workers Are Given Temporary Rations

The ration board was in a dilemma for some time Wednesday. Howard county has begun to get a number of Mexican laborers imported from Mexico under agreements of the two governments and yesterday eight arrived at one farm to begin work.

The men had their passports, transfers, and all necessary papers except food ration books and they had been sent down to the office to register for War Ration Book Two.

Just a few days before, the board had received notice that these imported workers would be given their ration books as they came across the border and that the local offices would not be qualified to issue ration books to them.

After conferring with every government official in town, the ration board chairman finally granted them rations for 30 days until letters to officials could straighten the matter out. Brought here to relieve labor shortages, the men had to eat if they were to stay. Temporary rations was the best the board could figure out until the red tape could be untangled.

Warns Against Undue Optimism On War Outlook

DALLAS, May 20 (AP)—National Commander Roane Waring of the American Legion today warned against what he termed "the false sense of optimism" raised in the hearts of some people in this country by the Allied victory in North Africa.

Waring was in Dallas as a stop on his nationwide tour.

"The false sense of optimism the African victory has raised among some people in this country is very dangerous," said Commander Waring, who recently completed a 27,000-mile aerial tour of domestic army installations and of battlefields in North Africa.

That victory was merely a skirmish, and the casualties we suffered there were merely "a drop in the bucket" compared to those we must suffer in the fighting yet to come.

Waring insisted that the army and navy should be allowed to "run the war" without congressional interference, condemned congressional efforts to prevent the drafting of fathers, expressed the belief the Allied leaders are going to proceed against Japan as rapidly as possible, and may cause hope in the coal strike in reports the miners may join up with the American Federation of Labor where they would be under the leadership of William Green rather than John L. Lewis.

$2,000 JUDGMENT

The only suit in 70th district court Wednesday was the judgment of $2,000 returned for the defendant in the suit of Coden Petroleum company versus J. L. Thomas, suit to foreclose mortgage.

Approximately 50 percent of industrial output during the last several months is estimated to be for direct or indirect war purposes, the Department of Commerce says.

Use Of Untrained Help Appears As Hope To Avert Farm Labor Shortage

By O. P. GRIFFIN
County Agent

The county and home demonstration agents of District 5 were called to a meeting of extension workers in San Angelo last Thursday. At this meeting it was told us that the congress by joint resolution had placed on us the responsibility of leadership in handling the farm labor problem.

With about half of the people who a few years ago worked the farms gone into industrial works and into the armed forces, this task does not appear very easy, but we cannot at this time begin to place the blame for the poor state of affairs. If my house has caught on fire I cannot even try to place the blame, I must do everything possible to put out the fire.

The greatest problem facing farmers of this county, and for that matter every agricultural county in the nation, is labor. In Howard county the number of workers is only a little more than half that of 3 or 4 years ago. So far this year, the amount of work to be done is less than the average, because of the kind of weather we have had, but when it begins to rain, this shortage will tell.

However, our greatest labor needs will come next fall in gathering the crops. We must begin now to get ready for that, as well as to use such help as may be available to do hoeing and other seasonal work this summer. This labor problem is everybody's problem. The farmer is in no way to blame for not having been able to send them to make and harvest the crops. We have always considered that the farmer could do with less than anybody else, and he had come pretty near living up to our expectation, but there never was a time when the products of the farm were so much needed as now. At this time, American farms are producing as never before; but these products are needed in greater volume than ever before.

A failure of American farms at this critical time would surely bring disaster to the cause of the Allied nations in this war. We must not only feed ourselves and our armies; but our allies, England and Russia, must look to us for part of the food for their armies. At best we shall not be able to send them but a small percentage of our production; but that amount we can send will enable them to keep on fighting.

Therefore, we shall have to use whatever help that can be had and make the best of it. It is thought that there are many people living in the cities and towns who would in this great emergency go to the farm and work. We all know that this is not the kind of help farmers have been used to and desire. But here we can learn a lesson from industry. There are millions of people working in shipyards and war factories today who never saw a shipyard or factory before they started to work there a few months before. And that is not all; they are getting the job done. They tell us that the efficiency of workers and the quality of their products has risen considerably in recent months even with these raw recruits doing a large per cent of the work. Farm work will not be more difficult, if it is more important right

Cull Flocks, Save On Feed

By RHEBA MERLE BOYLES
Home Demonstration Agent

Now is the time to start your first job of culling those hens in the laying house that are doing a set-down strike. You should be able to remove about 10 percent loafers now and next month you probably will be able to get rid of the same number. Feed is too expensive and too scarce to waste it on any hen that won't pay for her keep.

It's not hard to do the job and won't take much time. If you have Leghorns, the job is very easy; if some of the other breeds like Barred Rocks or Reds, it is a little more difficult but not impossible. Here is how you can do it fast and fairly accurate and at the same time not upset production.

"Pen your birds in the house and get a good catching hook. Walk around among the hens so as not to disturb them and keep that good chicken eye open for loafers. If you spot one with a shriveled comb pick her up and examine her. If she is a low producer, cull her. If she is still in good production, turn her out so she won't confuse you again and cause repeated handling. Those that are molting should be culled. If you spot one with yellow pigment in the beak and shanks, pick her up—chances are she is a loafer. Look for those with saggy abdomens—this is a good indication of an egg organ breakdown. Watch for those birds that have a bad diarrhea. If you spot a few pale, and weak looking hens, get them out. Now while you are looking them over, keep a sharp look out for any birds showing grey eyes. It is a wise practice to sell these."

You can do a good job of culling if you look for these few things. It will save on feed, give more housing room, and cull hens will bring you a good price on the market. Next month do the job over again.

Next month do the job over again.

Take These Tips For Keeping Oil Stoves In Working Order

If your kerosene stove should wear out . . . there's no telling when you could get another. So you'd better take the best care of the one you have.

First, be sure your stove is placed where it won't smoke. Or sometimes your stove will go out. Next, be sure the stove stands level. If a kerosene stove isn't level, the oil doesn't reach, the burners evenly. That means the burner farthest from the oil tank may be flooded. . . or it might burn dry and use up the wick needlessly.

With a kerosene stove, it's a good idea to use kettles and pans with bottoms that are broader than the burner holes. They ought to be flat, too. When you're using them, be sure to center your utensils over the burners.

Now about spots and stains on the stove. Acids may injure the glass on the enamel. So if you spill fruit juices, vinegar, or sour milk drops on the stove, wipe it off at once. Then, later, when the stove is cool, you can wash the enameled parts with soap and water. But remember . . . never wipe a hot stove with a damp cloth.

Here's one other point. Drain and clean the fuel tanks of your stove about once in three months. You can find suggestions for this and other care in the manufacturers' directions that come with the stove. The truth is . . . a wick-burning stove needs frequent cleaning to keep in good condition. . . The wicks should be wiped off once a day . . . but not trimmed. And, too, you should clean the burners with a soft dry cloth that will remove dust or oil. Chimneys can be cleaned with a cloth wrung from soapy water. Be sure, however, that the chimneys are cool.

The highway department, Knetch declared that "not a single dime of funds paid for highways should be diverted from its intended purpose," and that the duty of the highway commission was to invest the funds soundly and economically so that the people will get a dollar's value for every dollar spent.

"The highway department in Texas is the finest in the U.S.," he asserted. "Brady Gentry, our fine, public-spirited highway association, chairman of the national highway association. Our department is and should be kept free of politics. The average service life of our engineers is 19 years."

"Our chairman now is in Washington seeking passage of a measure to appropriate three billion dollars to become available immediately upon conclusion of hostilities at the rate of one billion dollars a year for highway construction."

"Texas would get 62 millions annually and would add one third to this. Thus in three years we would spend 240 millions of dollars for roads—and still not have enough for the 300 millions approved and planned as needed roads."

No Clues On Identity Of Abandoned Babe's Mother

The six pound, four and a half ounce boy, found abandoned about two to three hours after birth Tuesday night in the woman's rest room of a street station at Third and Goliad streets continued to thrive Thursday unaware of the search going on for his mother.

City and county authorities who are investigating the case had no further information. Apparently the boy had been born at some other place and brought to the rest room, officers said. What was first thought was a blue blanket in which the baby was wrapped turned out to be a woman's cheap, lightweight blue coat from which the lining had been ripped out. The abandoned infant was also wrapped in a piece of rayon torn from a woman's slip.

Nurses at the Big Spring hospital where the child was taken had already selected several names for the boy but as yet could agree on none of them except "our baby."

Several persons had already approached officers seeking to adopt the child in the event that the mother is not located.

Women Bowlers Defeat Soldiers

Final honors went to a team of women bowlers Wednesday night, as the group defeated a soldier outfit two games to one and in pin totals 2371 to 2820 in the final round of a five-match affair. The women took four out of seven matches.

Shaw and Doster set the pace for the victors, with top games of 177 and 166, respectively. The women's team had two games of 815 each, while the soldiers' top game was 781. High individuals for the uniformed men were Royalty with 179 and Womack with 174.

Series scores for individuals:
Women—Howze 405, Doster 465, Applin 405, Shaw 444, Haley 364.
Soldiers—Womack 479, Curtis Lee 432, Sinclair 432, A. O. Lee 431, Royalty 199.

Axis Planes

where the Americans destroyed the 44th grounded plane, but presumably it was one of those at Villacidro, 26 miles northwest of Cagliari.)

A lone Beaufighter patrolling the eastern Sardinian coast encountered five torpedo-carrying Junkers 88s. It destroyed one, probably destroyed a second and damaged a third.

The twenty-eight others shot down in combat were bagged by American bombers and their righter escort in raids during which tons of bombs were dropped on Italy's island outposts.

The biggest fight of the day occurred between the Italian coast and the Gadi Islands when 50 enemy fighters attacked Fort-reasons which had just bombed Mile field.

The Fortress gunners shot down 10 and P-38 Lightnings which were escorting damaged three more in a spectacular running battle which continued 20 minutes, with the opposing forces flying at heights ranging from sea level to 24,000 feet.

Ration Blanks Are Going Out

WASHINGTON, May 20 (AP)—Uncle Sam's mail carriers today began delivering 40,000,000 application blanks for War Ration Book No. 3.

If successful, the Office of Price Administration said the system may be used for all future ration books.

Ration Book No. 3 is intended as a replacement for books one and two when they run out of stamps. It will contain tabs with pictures of airplanes, tanks, aircraft carriers, and artillery. These tickets will be used for continuation of sugar, coffee, and shoe rationing. The book also will contain point value stamps for canned goods and meat rationing.

Although the application blanks will begin going forth to householders today, OPA said it was asking recipients to not return the blanks before June 1 because no machinery has been set up yet for receiving them.

Nine colored brethren became so engrossed in their study of Spottiswoode Cubetius (to quote Heenry McLemore) that they forgot to watch for less orthodoxical mind-ers. Several had entered pleas of guilty in city court to charges of gaming—towel shooting a web bit of craps. Fines of $15 each were imposed.

Runaway Souget

Officers were looking Thursday for a 13-year-old runaway youth who left Big Spring about 4 p. m. yesterday supposedly en route to Dallas.

The Howard county agricultural victory committee and its labor sub-committee were to convene Thursday afternoon to make plans for handling labor registration. This program will be headed up by the farm and home agents and farmers and laborers alike will register through the agents' office.

One man, with a slight weakness for alcoholic spirits, followed his usual custom by ending up in jail Wednesday. Released when he gave a check for his fine, he continued his custom of retiring to his barn with a jug to start all over again. Meanwhile, the check bounced and jail officers interrupted his leisurely processes. He had forgot to lock the barn door, which also had been his custom.

Reports from the district meeting, explanation of the Save and Share for Victory food conservation program, and a discussion of the farm labor situation will be heard at the regular monthly meeting of the Howard county home demonstration council at 2:30 p. m. Saturday in the office of Rheba Marie Boyles, demonstration agent.

Already postponed once, the out-of-doors camping session of the Boy Scouts leaders training school has taken it on the chin again due to bad weather. M. D. Norris, field executive, said that plans now were to have the men's hike and camp in connection with the regular monthly district camp for boys on May 28.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Nobles have received word that their son, John Nobles, has been promoted to the rank of private first class. Pfc. Nobles is stationed as a clerk in the ammunition department at Camp Haan, Calif.

Lieut. Sam Adkins, Jr., former Big Spring resident, has been promoted to the rank of first lieutenant, according to word received here today. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Adkins of Jefferson, former residents.

S-2C James Leighton Bradley arrived from San Diego, Calif. to spend a ten day furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bradley.

Bait Distributed For Rat Killing

Distribution of poisoned bait for rats in the downtown area has about been completed, K. E. McFarland, city sanitarian, reported Thursday.

C. E. Scull, San Antonio, of the rodent control service, had put out hundreds of fresh baits containing red squill in some instances and thallium sulphate in others. Distribution was to 153 business houses.

McFarland said that preliminary surveys indicated that good success was resulting from the campaign, and he urged those who had taken the service to "judge results not from the number of dead rats found but from the number of live ones remaining."

Baits for residences will be distributed through schools.

Fifteen persons were hired here Wednesday for employment by the Consolidated Aircraft Corp., the United States Employment Service reported Thursday.

Several school teachers called to express interest in the teacher employment program based for summer duration. Not infrequently Adams hubbed a stump when workers from essential industries failed to show statements of availability. Many said they could have these but were unfamiliar with procedure.

Pete Swanson fancies himself as an armchair strategist. Sometimes he gets so tangled up, I just can't resist tryin' to straighten him out.

For instance, the other day he was waxing indignant about our soldiers being allowed to buy beer right in camp. Said that was just coddling the troops and would ruin discipline.

I told him the actual facts had already been established by a study the Government made. Their report said chaplains and the military police agree that instead of ruining discipline, beer sold in Army camps provides our soldiers with a mild form of relaxation without impairing their efficiency.

Well, Pete allowed that the chaplains and military police are a pretty good authority on what's right for soldiers. I've noticed lately he's been confining his remarks to the broader phases of strategy.

"I've read AP news all the way from Kansas to New Zealand and I've had a chance to know that Associated Press reports were accurate.

"The American public is being told the truth.

"There are, of course, certain things that must be omitted at the time to prevent giving information to the enemy, but I believe what we are told is reliable and we can depend on it."

This statement, reported in the Lyons, Kansas, News, is from Joe Chronister, a radioman on the U. S. Destroyer DeHaven sunk off Guadalcanal.

Joe is typical of the millions who believe day in, day out, in AP news—the Chicago mother who was satisfied her son was safe in New Guinea only "because The AP said so," the United States senator who states authoritatively, "I see by The Associated Press..." the readers everywhere who have learned "AP" stands for truth wherever newspapers are printed.

About Sugar For Canning

The following questions and answers on home canning were issued by the Office of Price Administration to help housewives know how to get and use sugar allowed for this purpose. Coupons for buying sugar for home canning are available each Tuesday and Friday at Taylor Electric former location on Second street.

Q. Does the sugar allowance of one pound of sugar to each quart of finished fruit mean that I must can all fruit with the same weight of sugar? A. No, but you must make an average of four quarts of finished fruit for each pound of sugar you get. You may, if you wish, put up some of your fruit or fruit juices with no sugar at all, and make a heavier syrup for certain others.

Q. Must I declare the number of quarts of fruits and vegetables I have on hand when I apply for sugar for home canning? A. No. However, the available supply of sugar for home canning is limited, and local boards may ask for information about your supplies and needs of home-canned fruit in deciding how much sugar you will receive for this season's canning.

Q. Why are sugar purchase coupons being issued in a small denomination of 1, 3, 5, and 10 pounds? A. To encourage consumers to buy sugar only as they are sure they need it. This will help save limited supplies of canning sugar, and at the same time make shopping easier for women who can and preserve in small quantities.

Q. May I ask a friend who has a pressure cooker in her kitchen to do my canning for me, if I supply all ingredients, and get back all of the finished fruit she puts up, without surrendering ration points? A. Yes, if you contribute either the ingredients or the equipment or part of the labor required to can fruits and vegetables, you may acquire them without surrendering ration points.

Q. Must I give up ration stamps for canned foods which the local cannery processes for me, if I supply the ingredients? A. You may acquire 100 quarts of such foods point-free for each person in your family if you or your family raised the fruits or vegetables. However, these foods are considered commercial products, and if you acquire more than 100 quarts per person, or if you wish to sell them, you must pay and collect points for them at the point value of commercially canned foods—as given on the official table of point values for processed foods.

Q. May I give away as many quarts of home-canned vegetables as I wish if they require no sugar in canning them? A. No. But each person in your family may give away not more than 50 quarts of home-canned fruits and vegetables without collecting ration stamps. If you wish to give away more than that, you must collect ration points from the person to whom you give them, although you need not ask for money payment for this food unless you wish.

Q. How many jars of jams and jellies may I give away? A. Jams, jellies and preserves are not rationed, and you may give away as many jars as you can spare out of your allowance of five pounds of sugar.

Q. What is the point value of home canned food? A. Home canned food has a point value of 8 points per quart and 4 points per pound or per quart, as the case may be.

Q. May I sell canned fruits which someone else puts up for me? A. Yes. But you must collect ration stamps at the rate of eight points per quart for every sale you make, regardless of who does the canning.

Q. I usually can several hundred quarts of fruits and vegetables to sell through the local farmer's market. May I contribute to do so under rationing? A. Yes. You may continue to sell home canned fruits and vegetables, but you must collect B ration points for each quart sold.

Q. What do I do with the ration stamps I collect for sales I make of home canned food? A. You turn the ration stamps in to your local ration board any time during the first ten days of the month following the sale.

Q. Must I make any special report when I turn in the ration stamps I collect for foods I sell? A. No. But you must keep a record of your sales.

Q. How do I get sugar for canning fruit for sale? A. You apply to your local board on OPA Form R-312 for the amount of sugar you will need, at the rate of one pound of sugar for every four quarts of finished fruit.

Q. May I also apply for sugar for making jams and jellies for sale? A. No. You may have only enough sugar for preserving fruits for the use of your family—not more than five pounds per person.

Q. May I buy canned fruits and vegetables directly from the local cannery factory? A. Yes. But these cans are commercial products, and you must give up the same number of ration points for them as you would if you bought them at retail. The cannery operator may sell them to you at a reduced dollar price if he wishes.

Make School Lunches—Tasty Meals To Be Remembered

By MRS. ALEXANDER GIBSON, Food Editor

This spring is no time to skimp on lunches for the school children or war workers in your family. The shortage of meat and other body-building foods makes it more important than ever that lunch boxes be packed with inviting, health-boosting edibles. It may even be advisable to use meat leftover from a roast in lunches for the next day and have a meat substitute for the evening meal. It is easier to carry meat sandwiches and then have a meat alternate such as scalloped eggs, Spanish rice or macaroni and cheese for dinner than to carry

 1-2 cup chopped raisins.
 1 cup 40 percent bran flakes.
 1 egg, well beaten.
 3-4 cup milk.
 3 tablespoons molasses.
 3 tablespoons melted butter or other shortening.

Ham Prices Are Reduced

OPA has tailored the ham situation more to your liking, they hope. Retail selling prices for all parts of processed hams with the bone in and processed picnic hams were reduced last week from one to three cents per pound. Also the grocer may now slice a larger portion of the ham than was permitted before. This should make it easier to buy ham, since you may have enough points to buy a slice or two when you don't have enough to buy a whole or even a half ham.

Little bits of ham will go a long way in any of the following dishes: bolstered by bread crumbs or mixed vegetables, baked in parboiled green peppers or individual casseroles; creamed, with hard-boiled egg added; ground, between two layers of rice in a baking dish; minced, with onion and mustard and mayonnaise in sandwiches; minced, with plenty of sliced celery, in salad; in narrow strips on a mixed green and tomato salad, with French dressing.

Plan To Dry Surplus Food

Why not plan to dry some of your surplus foods, for use next winter? It's economical and takes less equipment and materials than any other method. Driers can be made easily at home and may be passed around among the neighbors. Consult your County Home Demonstration Agent for exact procedure. She will be glad to advise you on making the drier, on preparation of foods, and the length of time needed for different foods. Fruits which may successfully be dried are apples, apricots, berries, cherries, figs, nectarines, peaches, pears, plums and prunes. Vegetables include shelled beans, snap beans, beets, corn, herbs (including celery leaves and parsley), beet tops, spinach, turnip greens and other leafy vegetables, okra, peas, peppers, pimientos, pumpkins, squash and sweet potatoes.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

Winter weather is at hand. On some of our far-flung battle fronts our soldiers, sailors and Marines have donned their heavy clothes, included in the regular issue are two woolen shirts which cost the Army $1.36 each.

Your purchase of War Bonds can help provide this warm clothing for our boys on the world battle fronts. They're giving their all. You are asked merely to invest ten percent or more of your income in War Bonds to help pay the War Cost and to provide these warm shirts. A spokesman for Northrop Aviation Corp., to which he had been loaned by another aircraft company, said wreckage of the plane Constant was testing was found yesterday near a test field on the Mojave desert, northeast of here.

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plates dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug store.—adv.

FOOD NUTRITION and Joint Rationing NEWS

The Big Spring Daily Herald

Suggestions On Making The Most Of Unrationed Foods

(Official news of rationing, nutrition and other war programs affecting the home and kitchen, prepared by the Regional Office of War Information.)

Are you making the most of the unrationed foods? If you've run out of ideas, try some of these.

FRUIT—Have a thousand uses. And while they're dressing up a dessert or salad they supply protein for growth and repair (supplementing Group V) and give you that very, very necessary Vitamin B1 which gives you pep and keeps your nerves in order.

Peas are plentiful and not expensive. Try them in a casserole with left-over vegetables, white sauce and breadcrumbs on top. A nickel package of peas, added to one of those very small cans of mushrooms, all in a smooth white sauce, makes a dish worthy of your fanciest parties back in pre-war days; gives the family something new they'll really like today. This amount serves two very generously; can be stretched to four servings. If you've plenty of other dishes on the menu, the mushrooms will cost you three points, but that's little enough. A different and interesting salad is shredded cabbage with chopped onions and chopped peanuts.

PRUNES—are now off the ration list. Soaked, stewed and seeded, they make a delightful underpinning for cottage cheese. Put the cheese-stuffed prunes on lettuce and you've a hearty salad that looks engaging and supplies good ammunition for busy lives in vitamins, minerals and protein. Prunes make good garnishes for any meat dish and when used in puddings or cakes seem to regain their original fresh plum flavor. Try a few bits of minced prunes in your bran muffins for variety, too.

SWISS CHARD—from your garden will take the place of celery as well as greens. The stiff, white stem is excellent substitute for commercially bleached celery, either in salads or cooked as a vegetable separate from the greens.

Turnip Greens

Experiment has revealed the fact that turnip greens have three or four times as much Vitamin C as the citrus fruits already known valuable element. You must have to contain a high amount of this Vitamin C for good health and particularly for good teeth and gums. So you might as well get it from those good, fresh turnip greens. Don't overcook. Don't throw away the cooking water where some of that Vitamin C is bound to be.

For Potato Lovers

OPA has removed the prohibition against the sale of selected seed potatoes for table use and also taken off the extra price formerly on them. Why not boil potatoes with their jackets on? Saves peeling time, some of the food and vitamin value. A small sharp knife whips off the skins in a minute, after they're cooked.

Less Canned Shrimp

Use fresh shrimp if you can get them, for the canned product is less this year. Shortages of manpower brought the canned shrimp production in the Gulf and South Atlantic states down 20 per cent during the first quarter of 1943, over last year's production.

Poultry Prices

Even if you buy your poultry alive at a nearby farm, the ceiling price cannot be violated. Find out what the ceiling is in the nearest town and pay no more.

Iced Tea Time

Comes the season of iced tea for most of us, and while the supply of tea should be adequate, there is more demand on it now that coffee is rationed. So don't buy more than your share, and get the most out of what you buy.

To make tea go farther, pour hot water in with the tea leaves and stir. Tea is not impaired by standing, so save any left over for next time. Don't let yourself or your family waste sugar in iced tea, either. A little more stirring makes less sugar go farther.

Stoves Rationed

Cooking and heating stoves that burn gas, wood, coal or oil are the newest addition to OPA's ration list. Beginning the latter part of June, anybody who wants to buy a stove will apply to his local war price and rationing board, for a purchase certificate. Applicants must qualify on the basis of need, on the basis that the new stove will be used in essential living space and that the applicant has no stove that will burn. Each ration board will be allotted a quota of new stoves.

Sugar Stretchers

Of course you are allowed five pounds of sugar per person for making jelly and jam, but you needn't use that much. A good stretchers is honey (now under a ceiling price). The best ration for this substitution seems to be half honey and half sugar. More honey than this is likely to mask the delicate flavor of the fruit and change the color and consistency of the jelly. Also it is best to use honey when putting up the strong flavored juices, high in pectin and acid.

A word of warning: honey causes foaming. So watch the juice during cooking time or use a vessel large enough to discourage boiling over.

Stocker Classes Hit High Mark In Local Auction

Incident weather and prospects of better range conditions cut offerings at the Big Spring Livestock Commission Co. sale Wednesday, but stocker classes soared to a new all-time high for the local market.

Offerings were held at 350 head for the day and a volume of 316,000, smallest since March 24 when 300 head brought the same amount. Stocker steers, responding to the stimulus of slow rain, commanded a top of 16.75 for a new high for the Big Spring market. Similarly, stocker heifers were up to 16.00, fully a cent above the previous top for this class.

For cows were worth 12.00 on the top side and butcher cows went up to 10.00 with butcher yearlings finding a good demand up to 13.00. Cows and calves were bid up to $100 and a few hogs through the ring were worth 13.50.

Cards Make It Two Straight Over Bums, Braves Gaining

Boston Wins From Pirates, Reds Drop One

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Brooklyn Dodgers are in the position of the noisy tenants who are going to get kicked out of their top floor apartment as soon as the lease expires.

The Bums have been occupying the penthouse of the National league ever since the season started, but two consecutive defeats by the St. Louis Cardinals have placed them in jeopardy of losing their first place perch—not to the world champions but to the Boston Braves.

Boston, with good pitching and a surprisingly well-balanced attack, has won seven straight games, including a doubleheader yesterday from the Pittsburgh Pirates 2-1 in 11 innings and 5-3. If the Braves should win again today and the Dodgers lose, Boston would move into top place by a percentage margin of .552 to .630.

The Dodgers were smothered by southpaw pitching again yesterday 3-2 as Max Lanier and rookie Harry Brecheen combined to hold them to six hits.

In the day's only other game Mel Ott hit a two-run homer off Johnny Vander Meer in the first inning to lead the New York Giants to a 3-2 conquest of the Cincinnati Reds. New York was out-hit 12 to 5, but the Reds were unable to take advantage of their opportunities till the ninth, when a two-run rally fell short.

All games in the American league were postponed for the third day in a row because of weather conditions and the Chicago Cubs at Philadelphia in the National league also were postponed.

Most Class AA Teams To Have Grid Teams In 1943 Campaign

AUSTIN, May 20 (AP)—High school football among the larger cities and towns will go on as usual next fall, it is indicated in reports to the interscholastic league.

This means the class AA schools, which play to a state championship, will participate practically 100 per cent and a majority of the class A schools, which decide regional titles, will continue.

The smaller schools are having trouble keeping athletic programs going. The league is now polling these schools—the class B and C-man schools—asking that their plans are for 1943.

"Could your school continue the interscholastic league football program provided the school was permitted to employ a part-time coach?" the league asks in a questionnaire. "Could your school continue the program if private cars were permitted to transport contestants to and from the place of the game?"

The league is sending along with the questionnaire a statement from army, air force and navy representatives that intensified, rugged competitive athletic programs are valuable in development of mental attitudes needed by the armed forces.

It is hoped to get a plan approved providing for transportation of athletic teams a certain number of trips per year in private automobiles. This would mean government allowance of additional gasoline than now obtainable.

Still Loves 'Em—Wrigley Says Cubs Not Bad

CHICAGO, May 20 (AP)—Seven straight defeats have sent the Chicago Cubs skidding into the National league basement, nine games away from first place society, but Owner P. K. Wrigley doesn't believe they're really that bad.

"I don't think the team is as weak as it has looked thus far," he said today. "Maybe the fellows are just down as the result of some bad breaks and will snap out of it."

"Naturally I am interested in whatever might be the cause of the present slump," he added. But as club president, a title he said he had no intention of relinquishing, Wrigley declared his immediate plans called for nothing more drastic than a conference with Manager Jimmy Wilson and General Manager James Gallagher next week upon the Cubs' return from the east.

Gomez Gets Release Despite Inspiration

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK, May 20 (AP)—There's nothing like a fight to start a fight, so here's another hot one getting under way... Seems that Eddie Mack, the Boston promoter, is hollering to Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York that Mike Jacobs is bossing the New York state athletic commission and, incidentally, damaging Mack's Willie Pep-Sal Bartolo featherweight "title" fight at Boston, June 8... and since Mack was a sergeant during World War I, he's no green hand at hollering.

A LONG STORY, MATE
The point of the yep is that the New York commission's plan was for Bartolo to face ex-Champion Chalky Wright and for the winner to fight Pep... but instead Willie and Sal signed for the Boston bout, so the commission refused to recognize it as a title scrap and picked Phil Terranova for the elimination... a lot of things seem to call for explanations, including how Massachusetts, an N. B. A. state, can recognize Pep-Bartolo as a title scrap while Jackie Callura is N. B. A. champ... but Mack's holler is that Uncle Mike told the commission to say "no" because he wanted the fight for himself or at least a good piece of the profits.

THAT'S WHY IT'S PEORIA
In case you've wondered why Peoria (which isn't a bad spot at all) is the accepted symbol for a hush league, town here's what happened in a high school game there the other day... The third baseman made a put-out at second base on a throw from the right fielder, who picked up a ball that dropped between the center fielder and the second baseman... and in the same contest the umpire raced to call a play... Going back, he picked up his cap at the mound, his indicator halfway to the plate and then asked: "Where's my mask?"... It was under his arm.

SPORTSMEN
The Reds are using an extra-lively ball in batting practice and nearly knocking it out of the lot. So far they haven't been able to do the same to the revised balata ball... Pvt. Johnny Greco, the crack Canadian lightweight, entered a Montreal hospital yesterday to have his tonsils yanked out... The Knoll, a New Jersey golf club which once charged nearly $5,000 initiation fee, now col-

BOSTON, May 20 (AP)—Speaking on the National league's record, Lefty Vernon Gomez, who helped pitch the New York Yankees to seven pennants while winning 189 games for that glamorous club in 15 seasons, has been given another unconditional release by those surprising Boston Braves without an evaluation test.

But speaking off that record, or several of his Braves admirers have done, Gomez, without throwing a single pitch in a single league game, has done much to inspire that consistent seventh-place club into a terrific drive that has moved it to within a game of the first-place Brooklyn Dodgers, according to today's National league ratings.

Although Gomez, except for those he encountered in World series competition, knows but little about the National league's players, most of his Braves teammates agree that his baseball superiority complex, ingrained during his many years with the successful Yankees, has, by mere contact, helped them rid themselves of their defeatist rep- resentations.

"If Gomez never works a game for us, he will more than earn his salary," one of the Braves' outstanding players said recently. "He still acts like a Yankee, for he considers all National league players as second-raters and when he tells us we can murder that pitcher or beat those guys, we're convinced that we can."

Editorial - - Air Power Answer To Query, 'How Soon?'

Baron Keyes, British fleet admiral, said in a recent speech that the war in Europe would be over soon. Just how soon, he added, depended on the air cover the United Nations could give their invasion forces.

Six months or a year ago this prediction would have sounded silly; but now we're not so sure. There are still some big ifs in the situation, and it would be unwise to bank on the prediction that the end of the European half of the global war would come in 1943; but there are known factors now which make it at least a 50-50 bet.

It sounds idiotic to say that the war will end soon when, so far, we don't have a single foothold anywhere on the European continent. It sounds silly because we are accustomed to thinking in terms of World War I, whereas this war is a little like that war as a thing could be. Aviation has made the chief difference, and if the war ends this year it will be because of the difference that aviation makes.

Baron Keyes puts his finger on the pay-off: If the United Nations have sufficient air cover to blast the way for land forces, Hitler's Europe will be defeated this year.

For months Allied aviation has been softening up the back areas, crippling war production and transport, making the population jittery.

If we have sufficient planes to pulverize the Nazi defenses over an area, say, 25 miles wide and 15 miles deep, we can open a beachhead. We can open two such beachheads some distance apart, then pinch off the coast line between them. Hitler's defenses are in depth—of the cellular rather than the linear type—and it will be up to aviation to paralyze these defenses until the ground forces can move in and occupy. Once established on the continent, we will have enough men, machines and aerial cover to go where we like, when we like, and Hitler won't have the strength left to say us nay. It will be costly, but it won't be long.

Washington Daybook— Now We'll Get Cobb's Version Of Washington

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—Irvin S. Cobb, the "sourpuss humorist" from Paducah, Ky., has just visited Washington for the first time in nearly ten years and Washington will never be the same again.

The reason for that conclusion is that Cobb is going to do a piece or two on wartime Washington and you can bet odds-on that he will place a few comic blisters on the nation's capital that weren't there before.

Being interviewed by a lady member of the press in his hotel lobby, Cobb complained of the drafty breezes. "Let's get out of here," he said, "there's more air here than there is in Congress."

That started him off on the subject of colds and Cobb can talk longer about colds than most people do when they are "speaking of Operations." He remembers, for instance, that it was a Washington friend that directed him to a physician who used the "baking out" method of curing colds.

"When that doc got through with me," says Cobb, "all I needed was a little gravy poured over me and some water criss struck in my ears." However, it must have worked, because the Cobb didn't even have a sniffle in his big nose.

Cobb said he was glad he came to Washington because he had found that all he read in the papers wasn't exactly fact. Washington isn't really so all-fired crowded, he observed. It's just that a million people come in here every day and the same number go out. He thinks Union Station is probably the seat of the trouble and if we could get rid of that there wouldn't be so much to worry about.

Cobb has a new name for the Government Girls. He calls them "bunnies." He shakes his head sadly over the great numbers of them and says they weren't around when he was here last.

The Prophet of Paducah was busy on the second volume of his autobiography when Japs hit Pearl Harbor. Most of the time since then, he has been visiting the army camps with a few of his rarer after-dinner stories. In spite of his complaints about his bulk, age, and general decline in health; he probably would snap at the chance to get to any one of the fronts. Cobb was an ace war correspondent in World War I and would be again if circumstances and his years permitted.

Very few remember that there was a time when Cobb was a "Washington correspondent" but there was. In 1906, he came here to cover the wedding of Alice Roosevelt to "Nick" Longworth.

In World War I he was sent overseas by the Saturday Evening Post in the earliest days of the war. He was at one time held as a prisoner by the Germans. It took him six weeks to "get the hell out of there," but he was no sooner back on good American terra firma than he was off with the A.E.F. He came out of that with a French decoration as chevalier of the Legion of Honor and later picked up a reserve commission as major in the United States army.

He probably was the first war correspondent to use the individual vignette as a method of telling the war story. He doesn't claim any credit for it, however. If you mention it, he says "humph," and points out that Zola, Hugo and Tolstoy employed the same method. That's pretty good company.

HIGHWAY TO HER HEART

Chapter 10

The man at the campfire didn't impress Penny too favorably. He was big, chunky, red-faced, with hair the color of faded yellow flannel. His nose was long and thin. He talked out of the corner of his mouth, kept blinking thick lids over a pair of weak watery gray eyes.

"Your sure, welcome, both of you," he said. "Glad you came along. I was getting me some chow. Let's make it a party."

The smell of crisp bacon and steaming black coffee was irresistible. Its appetizing odor blended with the aroma of spruce, pine and campfire smoke. Penny was famished. Cleve filled his lungs, took a swift look about him, and nodded their acceptance.

Then he said, "It's very kind of you to ask us. Matter of fact, our supplies are running pretty low."

Penny stifled a weary giggle. That was putting it mildly! "My name's Stringer," their host said, putting down the skillet to shake hands. "Bert Stringer."

Cleve introduced Penny and then himself. He picked up the malemate puppy, grinning. "And here's the third member of our party," he said. "Our mascot."

Stringer barely glanced down at the dog, and he wasn't listening to Cleve. He was staring at Penny, his gaze took her in from head to foot. It was appraising, even speculative.

Penny flushed. "I know I'm a sight," she said. "We were dumped in the river, and naturally a girl doesn't come out looking like Fifth Avenue."

He said heartily, "Miss, you look plenty good to me."

"Seen you prospecting?" asked Cleve. He wasn't really interested. He was eyeing the bacon, swallowing hungrily, just as Penny was.

The stranger's eyes shifted. "You might call it that."

He stooped to poke around among a heap of supplies, pans and bottles.

"How would some sourdough flapjacks strike you folks?"

"Flapjacks," gulped Penny. "Flapjacks! Oh, glory, Cleve!"

Cleve grinned back at her boyishly. "Sure you wouldn't prefer caviar and biscuit tortoni?"

Penny made a face at him, but he'd turned his back and was helping Bert Stringer rustle the grub. Unable to help it, Penny moved unerringly toward the skillet their host had set on a nearby stump. She burnt her fingers snaffling a sizzling strip of bacon, and didn't care. Greedily she popped the hot morsel into her mouth.

"Shame," said Cleve, catching her. "Where are your manners, to? What would Powell say? Aren't you ever going to grow up into a nice little lady?"

"I'm beginning to wonder," admitted Penny, licking her fingers. "Mm, Cleve, was that good?"

Stringer laughed. "Just go ahead and help yourself, Miss."

Penny didn't wait for a second invitation. Presently, there were brown-scalloped flapjacks, too, and Penny lost count of how many she ate. She washed the last one down with black coffee and sat back luxuriously against a log.

Through a pleasant warm drowsiness, she heard Cleve say, "Now that, Mister Stringer, was really something. I don't know how we can ever thank you."

"Glad you liked the meal," said Stringer, in his sidewise voice. "Enjoyed your company. Where're you heading for?" He glanced from Cleve to Penny curiously. "City folks, aren't you?"

"Yes. We're on our way to a cabin of a half-breed about twenty-five miles up Moose Creek. Pierre is Pierre's."

A queer pause. Then Stringer said slowly, "I've been by there."

"That's where Miss Vance's brother is laid up," Cleve explained. "He was injured in a plane crash—we don't know how badly."

Fully awake now, Penny said eagerly, "You didn't happen to see him, did you, Mr. Stringer?"

Bert Stringer's pale eyes slid over her, dwelling upon her slim relaxed young figure, her tawny hair caught with fire light. Under his lingering appreciative gaze, Penny felt uneasy.

"No," said their host. "I didn't see your brother, miss."

It occurred to Penny that, although he seemed perfectly at home in these Canadian wilds, Bert Stringer would also have fitted into city streets as easily. In fact, he was probably a man who could make his way anywhere in the world. He'd been around, had heard most of the questions, knew all of the answers.

After a moment, Cleve mentioned the gold strike at Dead Stick Creek, told about the difficulty they'd had getting a guide.

"Gold strikes!" said Stringer contemptuously. "Nowadays gold's not so valuable as a lot of other things."

"That's right," Cleve said. He rose, stretching. "The fire's getting low. Guess I'll rustle some

Post - War Battle U.S. Lines Race For Routes

By JOHN L. SPRINGER
AP Features Writer
Second Of A Series

NEW YORK—Every hour, on the hour, air liners hopping off to London. . . .

Flying freights at seven miles a minute. . . .

Manhattan to Moscow in seventeen hours. . . .

A week-end vacation on the big game trail in Africa. . . .

Airmen are saying that the war—and the air force race that is causing plane makers to send larger, heavier ships into the air—is opening the way for revolutionary transportation changes.

Look at the present giant Liberator bomber and see it only as a "toy-plane," as does Tom M. Girdler, chairman of the board of Consolidated-Vultee Aircraft Corporation. He predicts post-war transport ships carrying 400 passengers at speeds of more than 400 miles an hour.

Visualize passengers climbing into transports in New York of a Friday evening and arriving early Saturday morning for a weekend in the English countryside. Imagine transoceanic planes lifting themselves from big city airports with the regularity of suburban buses—every hour on the hour. Or picture a locomotive plane leaving New York with a train of six gliders filled with passengers.

Grover Loening, consulting engineer of Grumman Aircraft Corporation and a noted aircraft designer, says this picture will be a post-war reality, with one glider unloading over Philadelphia, another over Washington, still others farther south.

C. Bedell Monro, president of the Pennsylvania-Central Airlines, announced recently his company had filed an application with the Civil Aeronautics Board to construct three steel islands as "stepping stones" in a transatlantic route.

The seadromes would be spaced at 800-mile intervals and would be available to all companies and nations that qualify.

Airmen say progress in plane design and construction make all these predictions probable. Most of the major American domestic lines are now getting valuable training, working for the government and flying equipment for the armed forces to England, Africa, to outposts in the Atlantic and Pacific. America's pre-war pioneer in oceanic flying, Pan American Airways, is now operating with its subsidiaries and affiliates over 100,000 miles of air routes, over Amazon jungles and Andes peaks, over the wastelands of Alaska.

The airlines are also getting ready for large-scale commercial trade abroad when peace makes it possible. In the offices of the Civil Aeronautics Board in Washington, applications for post-war routes are piling up.

The Northeast Airlines of New England, for example, hopes to fly passengers and freight to Moscow and other European cities. A Hawaiian line seeks permission to open a route from Hawaii to Los Angeles. A Pittsburgh freight hauling firm wants to operate by air, hauling heavy equipment like household furniture, refrigerators and pianos, anywhere in this country and Alaska.

Airmen say the planes to do these jobs can be ready, too, when the call comes. Glenn Martin, Baltimore aircraft designer, and a pioneer in the field of aircraft, says transports of 125 and 150 tons will be common after the war. Builder of the 70-ton "Mara"—world's largest flying boat—Martin is said to have a 125-tonner ready for construction. It is estimated that this ship would have a carrying capacity of about 80 tons—30 tons more than the average railroad freight car. Girdler says industry could begin at once producing planes to carry 400 passengers.

The war has proved the practicality of post-war sky fleets, it is said, and the present expansive training of pilots will provide the crews.

(Tomorrow: Planes vs. Trans and Boats).

Hollywood Sights and Sounds— Happy Ending Returns

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—The other day I saw a movie with a happy ending. The right boy married the right girl, the mortgage was paid off, the villain got pushed around, and old Dobbin won the harness race, upsetting the dope and bringing virtue a more tangible reward than itself. It was all just like old times.

It served as a reminder of the passing or the old movie taboo against unhappy endings. Just because (and maybe I've been seeing all the wrong pictures) it was so rare.

Nowadays, the fade-outs are more likely to suggest the final curtain scene in "Hamlet"—complete with corpses. These are generally triumphant corpses, because the moral victory is today's accepted substitute for the fade-out climax. The screen is taking the facts of wartime life, and there is little place for the old-fashioned formula.

Hollywood's happy endings, war model, pass up the love-in-a-cottage and bliss-ever-after patterns. Too many cottages have been to splinters and too much bliss has been blasted to let Hollywood even think of such sugarcaking. In a very real sense, Hollywood is being true to life in offering the "moral victory" as today's solace.

In "The Moon Is Down" the fade-out is wholesale death, but death which dramatically exalts the principle for which it is faced. That is true of most of the Norwegian invasion themes. In "This Land Is Mine" hero Charles Laughton finds in death the victory without which his life had always been miserable.

It's taking a great deal of the certainty out of the business of watching movies. In a picture called "Appointment in Berlin," for instance, you'd rather expect things to work out and find hero and heroine safe at the end in love and a bomb shelter. Here again, it is principle that triumphs while life bows down. George Sanders plummets his plane into an oil tank to light the sky for a dramatic finale, unreal as staged but very real in its inevitability. The only way to rescue those youngsters from the Nazi clutches would have been to resort to Hollywood hocus-pocus making the Nazis stupid idiots rather than ruthless villains—and that approach has been wisely dropped.

One of these days the old-time happy ending will return. When it does (and it will be when those things are possible in real life) a lot of us will sigh gratefully and revel in it for a long time before we start yammering at the movies because they aren't "true to life."

One-Variety Cotton Poll Being Taken

Questionnaires are being mailed to Howard county cotton producers regarding membership in the county's "one-variety" cotton association.

Predicting that there would be almost universal response, County Agent O. P. Griffin added that the "one-variety" association was not exactly a one-variety affair. In truth, two varieties are acceptable since they are almost identical in quality and in basic properties.

These are Western Prolific, developed by Von Roeder Farms (Borden county) from a Texas Experiment station Mebane (141) strain, and a native Mebane developed by Sam Little. Staple length of the two are similar, and there is only .7 of a point difference in tensil strength—which incidentally, is comparatively high. Thus, for practical purposes, the two may be grown as "one variety" in the county.

This facilitates matters, since approximately 82 per cent of the county's acreage was planted to these varieties last year. The percentage promises to be as high or higher this season.

In addition there will be some planting of longer staple varieties such as Acala, Pineland Ridge, and others suggested by the government for wartime needs.

Advantage of the one-variety county set-up comes in marketing, said Griffin. Buyers soon find that uniformity facilitates their work and in turn results in savings down the line. Eventually, at least a portion of this comes back to the producer.

Even though a quarter of a cent a pound premium might seem infinitesimal, it would amount to $1.25 a bale and to $25,000 on a 20,000 bale crop in the county, explained the agent. Higher prices, of course, would increase the monetary return to producers.

Under a one-variety program, certain advantage accrues in that seed-mixing is lessened. This helps growers who plant a second year off their seed, and certainly those who might, out of emergency have to plant the third year.

Story Of Bombardier Training Is Told In Film Showing At Ritz

A stirring tale of devotion and loyalty that the unusual background of a bombardier training school (greatly like our own AAFBS) is the basis for "Bombardier," opening at the Ritz theatre today for a three-day run and starring Pat O'Brien and Randolph Scott as a pair of air force officers.

As a gesture to the local air base, the Ritz has a pre-release date on "Bombardier" and is showing it as a premiere with other towns in the Southwest that have similar training fields.

The famous Norden bombsight comes into prominence in the picture, as the story builds up around a difference of opinion between O'Brien and Scott on the value of high-level precision bombing—which the bombsight makes possible. The film was made at the suggestion of the air forces, and much of it was filmed at Kirtland Field, Albuquerque, a bombardier field in operation before those in West Texas. Principals of the film were in Albuquerque this week for screenings there.

The story climaxes with a raid on Tokyo, where the bombardier proves himself. The background throughout is one of cadet training just as the young men at our own field are receiving.

Nazis Making A Final Air Attack

LONDON, May 20 (AP) — Sober judgment in London held to the view today that enemy aerial attacks at this city the past four nights, although ineffectual in themselves, might be a prelude to Germany's final punch at Britain from the air.

Civil defense units accordingly have taken up the slack that has been allowed to develop since the mass Nazi raids of 1940 and 1941 were broken up by the R.A.F.

Air observers acknowledged that the German air force undoubtedly still has sufficient strength to cause plenty of damage here.

The quick, hit-and-run attacks beginning Sunday night were made by only a few planes, however.

Food Parley Is Organized

HOT SPRINGS, Va., May 20 (AP) — Its organizational formalities cleared away, the United Nations food conference got down to business today with persons prominent in crop curtailment programs of the '30s playing major roles in a search for ways of obtaining an abundant future.

On the roster of United States advisers were R. M. Evans, member of the board of governors of the federal reserve system and former agricultural adjustment administrator; and H. R. Tolley, chief of the bureau of agricultural economics of the agriculture department, and former AAA administrator.

Conference Chairman Marvin Jones figured prominently in the AAA picture as chairman of the house agriculture committee. He helped put through congress legislation authorizing the payment of subsidies to farmers cooperating with programs designed to bring farm production in line with a demand which would assure growers fair prices.

Germany May Hold Forces In Reserve

ANKARA, Turkey, May 20 (AP) — Travelers recently returned from Europe reported today there are indications the Germans may forego their expected Russian offensive this summer in order to keep large reserves of men and equipment ready for quick movement to the west or south in event of an Allied invasion.

At present, these sources said, the Germans appear more concerned over the possibility of an Allied thrust through the Balkans than an attack on their Atlantic wall.

Reports from the Balkans declared that while the axis defenses there are not complete the Allies nevertheless would find them a tough—but not impossible—nut to crack.

Expert observers predict that an Allied attempt to crack Adolf Hitler's defenses in southeastern Europe is not likely to involve Turkey in the war unless she is threatened with a German counter-offensive through Thrace and the Dardanelles region.

Less than one full German division is reported in Bulgaria, although the Nazis recently have thoroughly overhauled communications and supply systems and prepared advance base sites for quick movement of troops if this proves necessary.

Bulgaria's Black Sea ports are said to be strictly supervised by the Germans, who are under orders to fire without warning upon anyone—even Bulgarian officers—who approach defense zones.

Novel Plan Tried To Cut Absence From Red Cross

COLORADO CITY, May 20 — A novel plan to decrease "absenteeism" in the Colorado City Red Cross surgical dressings work room is being put to work this week by the directors of the project and the Camp Fire Girls. The girls, under adult supervision, have offered to care for young children while mothers volunteer for battle sponge folding. The tots, from two up, will be cared for on the Junior high school playground and in the gymnasium.

Should the plan prove successful beds for nap-time and story hours will be added to the program for children of workwear as the summer waxes warmer. Women here are working with their fifth quota of surgical dressings.

Rites Held For Aged Colorado City Woman

COLORADO CITY, May 20 — Funeral services were held here Tuesday for Mrs. Emmie Lawson, 93, who died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Sydney Hill in Colorado City. Mrs. Lawson was the grandmother of Pvt. William Hill, prisoner of the Japanese in the Philippines, and the great-grandmother of Pvt. T. N. Flippen Jr., also a prisoner of the enemy.

She was born Emmie Brooks in Murry County, Tenn., in September 1849 and was married in 1872 to John Gilbert Lawson of Columbia, Tenn. They first settled in Ellis County, Texas, 30 years ago. After her husband's death she moved to Colorado City to make her home with her daughter. She had lived here since 1914.

Mrs. Lawson frequently recalled the War Between the States. As a little girl of 11 she used to sing taunting songs at the Yankee soldiers. "They never bothered me and my little brother," she liked to tell. "They'd just yell back, 'Go bury your dead!'"

Four of her eight children survive her. They are Mrs. W. E. Reynolds of Big Spring, Mrs. Susie Carmack of Fort Smith, Arkansas, William J. Lawson of Hickman County, Tenn., and Mrs. Hill. A brother, John Brooks of Maypearl, is her brother.

Fifty-three grandchildren, 103 great grandchildren, five of whom are in the armed forces, and eight great-great-grandchildren also survive.

The body was taken overland to Shiloh, near Middlethian, for burial. The Rev. Frank Lee, Church of God pastor, was in charge of the Colorado City services.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Farrow of Morencio, Ariz. are visiting in Big Spring with Mrs. Farrow's sister, Mrs. J. O. Miller and mother, Mrs. Ada Canada.

Churchill's Talk Suits Most Solons

WASHINGTON, May 20 (AP) — From the halls of congress which recently rang with criticism of Britain's war intentions there arose today a hallelujah for Prime Minister Churchill's pledge that the British will battle side by side with the United States until Japan and all other enemies are crushed.

While there were a few dissenting voices, most senators saw in the British leader's 50-minute review of the war before a great united nations gathering in the house yesterday a complete answer to those who have urged making to the No. 1 enemy and who have doubted whether Britain would help the United States beat Japan once the Nazis are punched out of the war.

Senator Chandler (D-Ky), who took the lead in criticizing British intentions in Monday's senate debate, declared the prime minister had failed to convince him that Japan should be left the last of the axis to beat, that he did not explain why Britain's forces in India had not made a "more effective attempt" to open the Burma Road, what help either Britain or the United States can hope to get from Russia or what Russia's intentions are with respect to world peace.

Armed Fugitive Is Being Sought

GUERNSEY, Wyo., May 20 (AP) — Posses searched rocky southeastern Wyoming country unsuccessfully last night for an armed fugitive who stole two automobiles and a horse in eluding arresting officers.

Under Sheriff Floyd Turner at Douglas identified the man as Pete Board, alias Bill Carter, and said he was believed to be a Texas prison escapee.

Law enforcement officers of Platte, Goshen and Niobrara counties, and state highway patrolmen blockaded roads in this sparsely settled section of Wyoming.

Turner reported that Converse county officers sought to arrest the man at a ranch near Douglas Monday, but that he escaped in a stolen car with a rifle and two pistols from the ranch, where he PLAINFIELD, N. J., May 20 (AP) — Frederick F. Richardson said he would seek from County Judge Adrian Lyon an order cancelling the service vote on grounds that the 1942 state election laws did not provide for voting by members of the armed forces.
