"COVERING EASTLAND COUNTY"

VOLUME TWENTY-FIVE

EASTLAND, TEXAS, THURSDAY, JANUARY 27, 1955

AIRPORT FOR ANYWHERE—F-84 Thunderjet is first plane to be hauled into a new era of military aviation from bed of a specially designed truck near Baltimore, Md. With assist from a booster-jet bottle seen hanging beneath tail, plane, with engine at full throttle, is boosted to the 120-m.p.h.-plus take-off speed in a few feet, rather than the eight-thousand-foot-plus runway usually needed. Highly mobile technique was developed through joint efforts of the U. S. Air Force and Glenn L. Martin Company and may someday make long fighter airstrips obsolete.

COMPLETION OF SALVATION ARMY FUND DRIVE IS NEAR

Completion of the 1955 Salvation Army fund drive was near Thursday morning as volunteer workers made their reports to Gene Rhodes, drive chairman. Each worker was given the names of several citizens that they were to contact.

Jack Sharkey, Salvation Army field director, explained the procedure of the drive, and Mr. Rhodes made a brief talk. Workers taking part included Herbert Westfall, John T. Goode, W. T. Eaton, W. K. Cooper, Gene Rhodes, Jack Sharkey, Tom Lovelace Jr., Tom Lovelace, Ray

STOCK SHOW—"Action" is the keynote of the rodeo at the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show, opening Friday night with two performances daily thereafter through Sunday, Feb. 6. The wild horse stampede (upper left) calls for cowboys, on foot, to try to grab a mane and clamber aboard. Other pictures are: Buddy Heaton and his comedy bucking horse, (upper right); a wild Brahma bull tosses a barrel—and Jimmy Schumacher, clown—high in the air; and (lower right) Bill Linderman, great bronco rider, roper and steer-wrestler, former all-round world's champion cowboy who will be one of the 400 contestants.

March Of Dimes Drive Underway In Eastland

Eastland Echoes

Thought for Today: "Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty." —(Jefferson) . . . And that's reason enough to give the Communists a continuing bad time!

Visiting a bit with Attorney Frank Sparks we came across an experience he had which is one for the book, and it was with a friend of this scribe's. The Eastland lawyer and Lynn B. Griffith, Waxahachie attorney, were to try a lawsuit together — after they each returned from a vacation. Then, a little later, came coincidence No. 1: In Mexico City, by happenstance, they (with their wives) met in a hotel dining room. . . . At the trial, Mr. and Mrs. Sparks were in Mineral Wells one Sunday, spending a little time beside the Baker pool — when, lo and behold, they saw Warwick Jenkins of Waxahachie, who had been the lawyer on the other side of the case, and Mrs. Jenkins — and with them were the foreman of the jury which had served in the trial and his wife. . . . Everywhere Mr. Sparks went, it seemed like Trial Old Home Week.

Fan: How about your team? Are they good losers? Coach: Good? Heck, they are perfect!—(Sundial).

Wonder if people who have always lived here know that newcomers are quite favorably impressed by Eastland's skyline. It is unusual in proportions for a town this size. And it definitely is one of the things which add to the town's attractiveness. If you've "gotten used to it," pause and take another close look, some time it will deepen your appreciation of our community.

Don't miss the polio-fund cake auction out at Sig Faircloth's Auction Barn next Tuesday afternoon. Judge Long's the auctioneer and will put plenty of pep into it — and what nobler cause could it support? . . . Special Events Chairman Jack Chamberlain Jr. asks for a big crowd. It's certainly due one.

Present Fire Credit Is 15 Percent Here

Eastland's present "good fire record" credit is 15 percent, it was pointed out today. A story on the city's "outstanding record" was run in Tuesday's Telegram giving the five year average. The five year average was gained by taking the credit rating for the past five years and divided by five. This year's credit is slightly below the five year average.

Eastland Students Plan MOD Stunts

The March of Dimes drive in Eastland will get underway here Saturday with two unusual fund raising stunts.

Members of the Freshmen Class of Eastland High School will get things underway with a "slave auction" Saturday afternoon. The Freshmen will auction off members of the class to the highest bidder on the courthouse square. The student will then do two hours work for his "master."

Monday night the Juniors will stage a basketball game, with all proceeds going to the dimes drive. Tuesday at 1:30 p.m. another cake auction will be held at the Sig Faircloth auction barn. Judge M. S. Long will be in charge.

County Judge John Hart is city chairman for the drive. Jack Chamberlain Jr. is in charge of special events, and his co-chairmen are H. T. Eaton and Marvin Nash. Tom Wilson is in charge of big gifts. Mrs. Howard Green is in charge of the schools, Mrs. Lewis Corbell the churches and Mrs. L. E. Huckabay in charge of the ladies special events.

Quarterbackers To Meet Here Tonight At 7:30

Eastland Quarterback Club members will meet tonight at 7:30 in the High School gymnasium.

A spokesman said that the club would consider the purchase of a movie camera for the school. All members were urged to be present.

School Board Election Set For April 2

Eastland voters will go to the polls April 2 to elect three members of the Independent School Board.

The terms of M. H. Perry, Hood King and H. T. Weaver will expire in April. None of the present members has yet said whether they will seek re-election, or not. The School Board has not yet appointed a new school superintendent to fill the office to be vacated in W. G. Womack, who recently announced that he will not seek re-election. The new superintendent will be named in the near future, however, Mr. Perry, board president, said, in order that he may help in the election of teachers for the new term.

Club Meeting Is Cancelled

The Alpha Delphin Club will not meet as planned at 7:30 Thursday night because of the death of the husband of one of the members.

MOTHERS TO MARCH ON POLIO MONDAY

Plans for the Mothers' March on Polio in Eastland have been completed. Mrs. Hubert Westfall, Mothers' March chairman, announced today.

Mrs. Westfall said that the drive, which will be the biggest single attempt to raise funds for the March of Dimes drive here, will be held Monday night from six to eight. She announced that four women would serve as her assistants. They are Mrs. Fern Green, Mrs. Herman Hansell, Mrs. Ed Culbertson and Mrs. W. M. Brown Jr.

More workers will be named in the near future, Mrs. Westfall said. She said it is hoped that a captain can be named for each block in the city, and urged all women who can assist to notify her or one of the other workers. And she reminded Eastlanders to plan to turn on their porch lights Monday.

French Journalist-Cyclist Visits Here

(Editor's Note: This is an article written by a young French Reporter of FRANCE SOIR. This daily paper has a circulation of 1,200,000 copies. Guy who will be 20 in April, stopped his bicycle, on which he is touring the world, in Eastland Tuesday, Jan. 25. He is giving to the American people a glimpse of the ingenuity, daring and frankness with which the French have so often shocked and amazed other nations.)
BY GUY CHASSAGNARD
FRANCE SOIR Staff Reporter
You wonder why I am here in Eastland and how, on my bicycle, at 5,000 miles from home. So let me tell you my story, which is the one of a "Kid of Paris."
My name is Guy Chassagnard, but don't try to remember it, or even to pronounce it, you would be like the thousands American people I have met on my way unable to say it correctly. So for you, like for all people in the States, I want to be "Guy the French cyclist."
I was born nineteen years ago in a dreary corner of a Paris suburb, surrounded by the smoke from factories and the noise of trains. My parents, too, were born in poverty, and unhappily for them, they have stayed poor during their whole life.
My parents are still poor; my father works in the French National Railroads. My mother works for a toy factory. They sent me with many sacrifices, to the equivalent of your high school and of your college. Now, my studies have been finished, but they must take care of my young brother, Daniel, who is only 4 years old.
I wanted to be a journalist in one of the French big newspapers, located in the French metropolis, but I did not know how to find a job. I had no relations, no influential friends to help me and to introduce me near the Editor of a newspaper. And I had no experience in journalism. So I decided to find references, experience and publicity, travelling over the world. Then I should be able to go and meet an Editor, and to say to him: "This is what I am able to do."
In summer 1953, I was in England, spending my school holidays to make a small study about "The English Working Life" for the French Government from which I had received a scholarship. Getting some publicity through the English newspapers, I decided to do better in 1954. I decided to cross the United States on a bicycle. I chose the States because I was sure that I could interest some French newspapers and magazines if I could get a such far country without money. I was sure too, to find help and assistance on my way.

I chose a bicycle to travel, because it is very cheap to run; you have just to peddle. . . . The motor is in your legs.
I began to prepare my trip in October, 1953; first I made a plan of more than 4,000 miles to cover on the bicycle: Montreal, New York, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Chicago, Los Angeles and San Francisco. Then I contacted French manufacturers in order to find official sponsors. Between October '53 and July '54 I could interest twenty seven French manufacturers who accepted to help me. I received a bicycle of $200, a camera, a movie camera, a tent, an air mattress. . . . and even a cigarette lighter.
But I don't want to speak about the time spent writing letters, or meeting managers to get this result. I don't want to speak about the people who closed their door in front of me.
But at the same time, I could interest a French book publisher who agreed to publish the book I should write after having done my trip. And he introduced me near the French largest newspaper where I could find, an other sponsor and a job of reporter. I had a job, but I decided in any case to make my trip. When I begin to do something, I like to finish it.
I interested too, five magazines which accepted to publish some of my articles about the United States, and at the end I met the General Manager of a Belgian Broadcasting station who offered to let me tell my adventures when I return, during several months.
But the most important things were to get my visa, and a seat on a boat. I could not pay my passage. I thought it would be very difficult to convince a steamship company to give me a free ticket. I wrote several letters and I found it. I got too my visa, with the congratulations of the American Consul.
So I left Paris (France) on July 1st, cycled to Antwerp (Belgium) where I took the boat, I landed in Montreal (Canada) on July 29. I had $70 in my pocket to make the whole trip, I was hoping to be back for Christmas, so I did not take winter clothes. I only had summer clothing. However, my five bags, on each side of each wheel, and above each fender were full.

But on my way in the United States, where I entered on August 5th, I saw very soon that it was not possible to cycle every day, and to study at the same time the American way of life. When you have gone more than a hundred miles in the day on a bicycle which is loaded 150 pounds, you need to sleep, and you don't want to speak about politics. . . . So I decided to stop every time there was something interesting to see, or when people I was meeting were nice. In this manner, after 5 months on the American roads, I am still in Texas. But I do not regret my decision. It is true that I find now a very cold weather, much wind, sometimes snow, often rain; but I have acquired on my way winter clothes: an army coat, a fur-collared jacket, overalls, heavy socks.
Today I come from Mineral Wells. I left this place this morning at 8:45 a.m. I arrived in Eastland at 2 p.m. It was really sunny; a nice weather for traveling on a bicycle, except for a strong wind coming on my side. Sometimes, I was going like a turtle. I have discovered leaving Mineral Wells the real West with poor lands where the stones and the rocks grow easier than the grass.
When I left France I had a tent, and during summer and autumn, I could use; but now it is too cold; I am obliged every day to find a bed. My $70 died a long time ago, but I am still alive, thanks to the people I meet on my way; they invite me to their homes an feed me. They give me too, the subjects of my articles. The more I am going west, the more I am finding help. Sometimes, however, I have no luck and I must sleep in jail, or in churches. And I go my way, happy and optimistic. . . . Today I have $4; but when I arrived in Mineral Wells I had only 82 cents.
. . . For the some expenses I have, I must find money; so I speak in clubs when I can. I have my films to buy, and I have to send many letters to all the friends I have made. . . . One day I broke a peddle; an other day I had to change my tires, I had to wire to the manufacturer of the bicycle to get the new parts.
I do not know when I get to California. I do not know exactly when I come back to France. I decided before entering in Texas, to spend my Christmas in Paris. . . . Texas. In fact I staid nearly three weeks there, making many new friends, speaking in some clubs, visiting factories and schools. It was funny to say to myself, that I was in Paris. I discovered soon that there are 16 other Paris in the United States.
I must say that Paris, Texas, is the biggest Paris after the French metropolis: just some millions inhabitants of difference. . . . Near Los Angeles, I have a friend who

That Financial Lifeblood

Our town, as it swings into 1955, will find itself this year—as always—in position to take advantage of a number of opportunities.

Of course, it is the town which cashes in on them that moves forward to its maximum ability, for nothing is handed to us on a silver platter.

In 1955 (who knows?) the heavens may open up and fill our new 35-mile shoreline lake with good old aqua pura, glory be—and what a time that would be!

When that great day comes—and, of course, it will—most Eastland leaders confidently believe, there will arrive the "Open, Sesame" to Eastland's bright future.

It will mark a fine new era for our Chamber of Commerce industrial committee to get in some telling licks. This editor is new here, but we are told that our industrial committee is on the beam (and, as a matter of fact, expects to be able to announce some good news right away.)

At a time when agriculture has had its headaches, we have all come to rightly evaluate industrial payrolls, of which our community fortunately already has a number.

May our town, in 1955, be so fortunate as to line up several new ones!

Ranger Girl In Class Stunts At Womens School

DENTON (Spl.) — Jeannette Kirkpatrick, et Ranger is serving on a Class Stunts selection committee at Texas State College for Women. Dates for Class Stunts this year are Feb. 13 and 19.

She was selected by her class to choose a skit for competition in the annual rivalry. The winning scripts submitted by student writers are now being read by an official script reader appointed by TSCW president John A. Guinn.

The reader will go over the scripts with individual class presidents this week to clear any objectionable parts or duplications.

Miss Kirkpatrick, a senior foods and nutrition major, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Kirkpatrick.

Class Stunts, an annual presentation, have become a college trademark. TSCW students write the scripts, direct and produce their 15 minute skits, design and make costumes, do staging, a n d lighting and backstage crew work. A silver cup, the most coveted of all college awards, is presented to the winning class announced on the second night of presentation.

Miss Kirkpatrick was a member of the winning class last year, whose stunt was "Big Topsy Turvy," a takeoff on animal life in the circus. Stunt titles are kept secret until dress rehearsal night.

News of by David Massengale

Well, we start our second semester this week.

There are a lot of little blanks with the titles "Texas Technological College" around school. These blanks are correspondent courses from Texas Tech.

We gained two new faces on the hill this week. They are David Carouth and Billy Norwood. David moved here from Athens and Billy hails from Comanche. Both boys are freshmen.

David plays the trombone and is trying out for the band. Billy is going to wait until next week and try to make a halfback on the Maverick football team.

The school is in a whirl over the March of Dimes drive that was started yesterday. We had class meetings Wednesday to decide on what each class is going to do.

The Freshman Class is going to hold a "slave auction." They are going to auction off kids to the biggest bidders. Then the kid has to do what every you want him to do for two hours. The auction will be held Saturday afternoon on the square.

The Sophomores will get you if you are driving around Saturday afternoon. They are going to hold a road block on Main Street from one to three p.m. They are also holding a candy sale, which will start at 12 p.m.

The Juniors are going to hold a basketball game. The Junior boys are going to try to beat the Junior girls. The drawback in that the boys are going to wear boxing gloves. The class is going to sell old kids of refreshments. During the half the class girls are going to have a cake auction. We have some mighty good cooks in the Junior Class.

The Seniors are going to take a trip to the Second Annual Citizenship and Career Conference at Texas Christian University Saturday. The trip is sponsored by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, the Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce and T.C.U.

There are 23 members of the Senior Class who will make the trip, as well as Principal Wendell Siebert.

DOES YOUR HOME HAVE WARM FLOORS?

COMFORT DEMANDS IT. Your body should be evenly warmed from head to toe. Children should be able to play on the floor without added danger of catching colds. Drafts should never form!

Ever visit in a "toe-tucker's" home? These people can't enjoy true comfort heating. Cold floors keep their feet chilly. (Chances are, their cat sleeps up on the sofa.)

Automatic flue-vented perimeter gas heating systems actually put heat in the floors... maintain only a slight difference in room air temperature from floor to ceiling! You enjoy an environment comparable to a balmy, 72-degree summer morning!

IS YOUR HEATING SYSTEM FLUE-VENTED?

Flue-venting is standard with modern heating systems. Air from the combustion chamber is carried through a vent to out-of-doors. Indoor air stays fresh, more healthful, more pleasant. Window sweating is reduced. Be sure your system is flue-vented.

Brains, Chains Equal Safe Winter Driving

"Brains plus chains equal safe driving on snow and ice."
 "This is a winter driving slogan that drivers who want to stay safe when old man winter throws the book at them, can adopt," says Mr. R. B. Roaper of Houston, Chief Safety Engineer, Humble Oil & Refining Company and President of the Texas Safety Association, Inc.

The Texas Safety Association is cooperating with the Texas Department of Public Safety and the National Safety Council in the current winter hazards program.

Mr. Roaper said it's a lot harder to stop your car when the road is wet or slippery than it is when the road is dry. He illustrated his point by giving the following average braking distances which would be required by a car with regular tires traveling at a speed of 20 m.p.h. over three different types of road surfaces:

Dry concrete ..... 21 ft.
 Hard packed snow ..... 46 to 75 ft.
 Glare ice ..... 192 to 223 ft.

"These figures should convince any driver that he's got to winterize both his driving habits and his equipment," Mr. Roaper said. "A driver can't hope to stop suddenly when the pavement is slippery, so he's got to drive slowly and to step up his alertness. He's also got to give his car some help."

Mr. Roaper said that the best help for a car in snow - ice weather is reinforced tire chains - chains on which link of the cross - chains is reinforced by projecting teeth or cleats. He explained that a car with regular tires traveling at a speed of 20 m.p.h. would require 192 to 223 ft. to stop on glare ice at 20 degrees F. The same car would only require 74 to 83 ft. if it were equipped with reinforced tire chains. On hardpacked snow, its braking distance would be 46 to 75 ft. with regular tires, 35 to 40 ft. with reinforced tire chains.

"But even with the best chains on the market," Mr. Roaper warned, "you've still got to slow down for snow and ice. For example, on a road where your normal speed would be 50 m.p.h., you must not travel more than 25 m.p.h. (even when using reinforced tire chains) if the road is icy. On the same road covered with packed snow, you should keep your speed under 35 m.p.h."

Millions Suffer From Previously Unknown Disease

AUSTIN — "A hundred years ago nobody worried about bursitis because nobody had it," said Dr. Henry A. Holte, State Health Officer. It wasn't until about forty years ago that there was enough of it around for it to be given a name. Today an estimated two and a half million Americans suffer from the hurting joints caused by bursitis.

The reason for the big increase seems to be found in modern living. So many of the things people do typing, working adding machines, driving, handling compressed-air tools, exercising strenuously on week-ends — are the very things that can cause attacks of bursitis. Too, people live longer nowadays and bursitis most often attacks after forty when age weakens tendons.

Between the moving parts of muscles, tendons and bones there are cushions — tiny, flat sacs filled with an oily substance. There are the bursae. As the parts move, the two inside surfaces of the sacs glide against each other providing satin-smooth action.

The body has more than 140 of these little sacs. Most important is the subdeltoid bursae in the shoulder, which helps the major shoulder muscle operate. It is the most important because the human shoulder wasn't designed for the work it now has to do. The result is that though bursitis can occur in any of the 140 bursae and often does affect elbows, hips, ankles and joints, 80 per cent of the time it is in the shoulder.

If an attack of bursitis occurs, a physician should be consulted. He can control bursitis but he can't control the results of neglect. Curing bursitis takes time and patience.

... is the 64 dollar question. Locally, we are plagued with problems of crop failures, readjustments in industry and an ever increasing shrinkage in buying power. Nationally, it may be more uncertainty and propaganda. On the brighter side people seem to be more concerned about what ails them. When we reach the point of concern—or alarm—we usually wake up and do something. So whatever problems may lie ahead let's keep the home fires burning. ### Flea Control Developed By College

Malathion can be used safely on dogs to control fleas, research workers of the Texas A & M College System have found.

In preliminary tests, reported by Manning A. Price, professor of entomology, several dogs were dusted and sprayed with different malathion concentrations. Two days after treatment no fleas were found on the once-infested animals.

The new phosphorus insecticide will control many DDT-resistant insects. The studies were begun to determine whether malathion might be used in sufficient strength to kill fleas and still not harm the animals.

Prof. Price says a five-tenths (.5) percent spray or four percent dust of malathion will give the longest control. A 2.5 percent spray or four percent dust will eradicate the pests in garages and other infested areas.

The entomologist adds a note of caution. Do not use malathion on the family cat. A formula containing more than two percent malathion is fatal to members of the cat family.

NEW FRIGIDAIRE APPLIANCES ARE ANNOUNCED BY FULLEN

Revolutionary built-in cooking equipment, plus 13 pace-setting refrigerators, 11 electric ranges, four dishwashers, two upright food freezers and four room air conditioners, were announced here today by Frigidaire.

Highlighting the smart new appliances are refrigerator combinations with large separate food freezer below and unique "picture window" vegetable storage in the door. Ranges feature larger ovens and automatic operation in surface cooking units as well as the oven.

T. M. Fullen, Motor Co., Frigidaire dealer here, said he will show 1955 products starting immediately in showrooms at 305 East Main. He pointed out that the unusual built-in cooking equipment can be installed quickly and economically in new or old homes. Both an automatic wall oven and sectional surface cooking units are styled in matching stainless steel.

The unusual oven has two vertical doors. They resemble a pair of center-opening French doors; however, either side will open the other automatically. This design makes it possible to install the oven nearly anywhere, even in tight corners of the kitchen. Thus the homemaker can stand close to the oven while loading, unloading or cleaning, without leaning over a hot oven door.

Even more intriguing are the built-in surface cooking units. When installed, each section forms an attractive back panel on any standard 30-inch base cabinet.

There are two Radiantube heating units, six and eight inches in size, in each section. The units are concealed in the back panel, out of the way, when not in use. They swing down to the counter top individually as needed. Heating units shut off automatically when folded back into the panel.

Fullen said that Frigidaire sales leaders are pointing toward a tremendous market for built-in equipment. He emphasized that the number of units sold in 1954 was about twice that of 1953.

"We are predicting that sales of these units will double again in 1955," he declared.

French-

is a teacher in a High School, and he wants to keep me in his house three months. In this manner I shall be able to take some classes of American Journalism. Then having finished my trip, I shall come back to New York in a car; if I can find some money to buy one; and shall come back to France.

I should like to stay in the United States, but different things call me in France. There are first my parents; then my newspaper, a lovely girl friend... and the French Army which is curious to know if I am a good a soldier as a good cyclist.

And France needs young people who are not afraid of life. I can do a good job in my native country, later; because my trip is proving to be very educational.

I learn to take more and more interest in politics; every day I have to speak about French politics; every day I must explain why the French Government does "this" and not "that". Sometimes I don't know myself the reason but I must find an answer.

I must try to speak a correct English if I want to be understood at the clubs, at the TV, or at the Radio. I learn to express myself in a language which is not mine; I learn too, to keep my control when people smile because I say a word with a bad pronunciation; for instance when people bring me a piece of paper when I was asking for the "pepper"...

Texas was one of the States I wanted to see the most and it is now one of the best I have seen during my trip. I hope to get on my way a pair of cowboy boots, and a leather coat. I have got already the 10 gallon hat.

Passing through Eastland, I want to say to the readers of this article "Be joyful, you live in a wonderful country. Your country is the land of opportunity and happiness, but please forgive the Europeans if they don't act always like you wish, they have different problems than yours; their first one is to be happy one day, like you are... today."

Temperature To Tumble Near 20 Tonight Here

Temperatures are expected to drop as low as 22 degrees in this area Friday morning following a "low pressure trough" which moved through west Texas Wednesday.

A cooling off period causing the "trough" occurred when winds shifted from south to north.

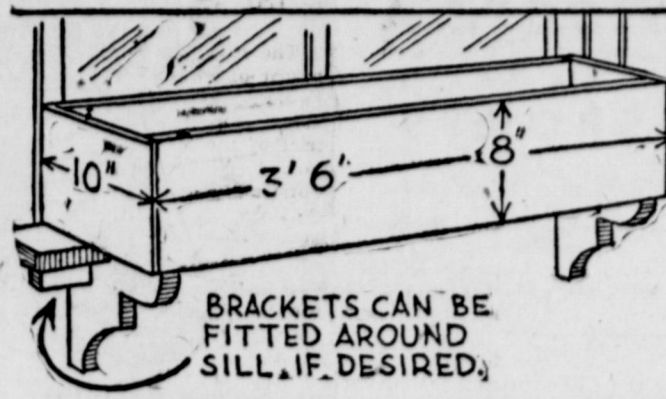

The front moving through Oklahoma City Wednesday night is expected to strike this area this afternoon, tumbling temperatures, but clouds and rain are not expected to accompany the front.

COONS ARE GIVEN ROUGH TIME BY EASTLANDERS

Aubrey McBe, R. H. Latham and Joe Gregg went coon hunting Wednesday night and reported in advance that if they bagged enough coons they would serve "cold coon and collards at the City Park." The first two declared that Mr. Gregg was to be their guide, that he was a native coon hunter of Eastland County and owned a pack of 12 coon hounds.

Plant Boxes Important in Design of New Homes

Working drawing for window box can be adapted to any length.

Planting boxes play an important part in the design of contemporary homes. They are used in many ways to contribute an ornamental touch to the often severe lines of functional architecture.

In constructing all such boxes the needs of the plants to be grown in them should be considered. They should be sturdy, because the soil which they must hold is heavy. The material of which they are made must be capable of withstanding constant moisture. Most important of all is that they provide quick drainage for excess water which will come from rain and the garden hose.

Window boxes, which have been widely used for the last century in Europe and this country provide experience, both in constructing the container and in selecting the plants to be grown.

Window box plants can be grown satisfactorily in a box at least 10 inches wide and 8 inches deep, with its length to fit the space allotted. A box of these dimensions is large enough to hold the roots of annual flowers, and small foliage plants. If larger subjects are to be grown, proportionately larger root space should be provided.

Concrete and metal boxes are satisfactory; but the do-it-yourself hobbyist can easily build them of wood. White pine or cypress are preferred because of their moisture resistant qualities, and no boards less than 1-inch thick should be used. The diagram herewith shows how to put the boards together and provide brackets to support the box, where needed.

Think of the plant box as a decoration of the house. It should be painted to match the house color or trim. The flowers should be chosen to furnish a contrasting, yet harmonious color accent. There is a wealth of suitable varieties from which to choose.

Rich potting soil, must be used for window boxes. Because there is so little of it to feed the flowers, it should be well fertilized.

For annual flowers, at least six hours of sun a day is necessary and this requires a south exposure. The best subjects are those of dwarf or trailing habit, the latter drooping festoons of bloom from the boxes. Petunias of the balcony type are excellent, as are the tall nasturtiums, the giant morning glories. Dwarf petunias, marigolds, ageratum, calliopsis, annual pinks, lobelia, dwarf morning glories, phlox, and zinnias can be grown.

Boxes which spend most of the day in shade offer a special problem. If the shade is that of a building, perhaps only foliage plants can be grown.

Mavs Beaten By Wildcats 70-43

RISING STAR (TNS) — Rising Star's high-scoring Wildcats went wild here Friday night as they smacked Eastland's Mavericks 70-43 in a District 7-A cage game.

A pair of high-scoring Wildcats made life miserable for Coach Bobby Blair's Mavs, as they combined their talents to score 52 points. Bert Agnew pitched in 27 points to take game scoring honors and Doyle Edmiston had 25 for runner-up awards.

Eastland's Benny Cates and Dale Statton each had 14 points to lead the losers.

Girls Lose Too

Eastland's girls also lost to the Rising Star hoopers. Marita Weaver had 19 points to pace the vic-

7-A Round-up Cross Plains Sets Pace In Cage Struggle

Cross Plains continued to set the pace in the District 7-A cage race Tuesday as they took their fifth victory in a row in conference play.

The Buffaloes set the pace with a 56-38 win over Wylie. While Cross Plains was taking the win, Clyde upset Dublin 38-37 and Rising Star, the pre-season favorite, rocked Eastland, 70-43.

All District 7-A teams will swing back into action Friday night. Eastland will journey to Clyde in an effort to take a revenge win over the Bulldogs. Dublin will travel to Wylie and Rising Star will meet Cross Plains in the feature game of the week.

Cross Plains, not even given a chance of winning district honors before the cage season got under, knocked off the Rising Star Wildcats 65-40 when the two teams met before.

ABOUT SPORTS

By VIRGIL E. MOORE

What with "Cassy" taking over the hard work of writing something all of our readers will enjoy in his column, "Eastland Echoes," old Moore About will return to his first love — that of writing a sports column.

It may not be any easier reading than "Moore About Eastland" was, but it will be easier writing for certain.

Sorry to hear that Vernon Baum, Cross Plains' great point maker, will have to miss heavy duty because of a broken finger. Baum has been one of the outstanding players in District 7-A this year.

Let's hope that he is back in top shape before the season is over, because it looks as though Cross Plains will represent this district in the state play-offs.

We were also sorry to hear that Clyde Evatt has dropped basketball. Evatt has been one of Coach Bobby Blair's best team players during this dismal basketball season.

We have been vastly disappointed in this year's team, in that it is loaded with material, but unable to break into the win column. Maybe we can get Clyde in our sights Friday night.

Don't forget the Quarterback Club meeting tonight. We understand that a vote on an important issue is to take place, and you better be there to see that you vote the way you want too. The meeting will be held in the High School gym, beginning at 7:30. See you there.

Olden Cagers Take Victories Over Desdemona

OLDEN (TNS) — Olden took a pair of easy cage victories over Desdemona here Tuesday night. The Olden boys won 61-31 and the girls by a 32-15 margin.

Olden's boys jumped out front 17-6 in the first quarter and held a 29-14 halftime lead. Going into the final quarter of play, Olden led 42-22.

Jimmy Colburn, Bill McCotter and Dale Norton paced the winners.

Olden's girls were ahead 8-4 at the end of the first quarter, 13-7 at halftime and 24-11 at the end of three quarters.
