Highway Patrol Will Hire 100 Men Next Month

AUSTIN — The Texas Department of Public Safety announced today there are approximately 100 vacancies available in the Highway Patrol force for which men between the ages of 21 and 35 may apply by September 14. Col. Homer Garrison, Jr., DPS director, said applications will be accepted from qualified men for a training school which begins November 19 at the DPS Law Enforcement Academy in Austin. He urged them to submit applications early to insure time for processing. Three things about the November 19 school will be different than in the past. The school will be for Highway Patrol personnel exclusively; all graduates will be assigned to the Patrol. Every effort will be made to assign them to stations within 100 miles of their present homes. Upon graduation, the new Highway Patrolmen will benefit by a pay increase from the present $412 per month to $453. Garrison listed the following benefits: Two weeks vacation, 12 or more holidays each year as provided by the Legislature, 12 days per year sick leave which may accumulate to a maximum of 36 days, 10 per month added to salary at the end of each five years to a maximum of 25 years, retirement system based on age and years of service, social security benefits, travel expenses when away from station as prescribed by law, group hospitalization and life insurance plan available, uniforms and the necessary equipment to perform duties furnished. "The career jobs offered actually are more than just jobs — they are positions of sacred trust in an organization whose people have earned for it the respect of not only Texans, but everyone who comes to or travels through our state," said Garrison. "We invite young men who can meet the requirements to secure full information by contacting a patrolman or one of the DPS offices. Qualifications for Highway Patrolman are as follows: Age, 21 to 35; not less than five feet, eight inches tall; not less than two pounds nor more than three pounds per inch of weight; sound physical condition; vision 20-30 without corrective lenses, must not be color blind; high school education; United States citizen and resident of Texas for at least one year immediately prior to date of application. Everyone Is Urged To Use Caution In Road Travel

The Texas Safety Association has issued a special Labor Day safety bulletin urging Texas drivers to display "caution" and "courtesy" in their driving during the long holiday weekend. "Caution and courtesy can go a long way in cutting down traffic accidents and fatalities during the Labor Day weekend," J. O. Musick, TSA General Manager, said. The safety director said drivers should put all their driving skills to work for them to stay out of trouble in traffic and should be prepared for the unexpected actions of other drivers. He also urged drivers to start out with a proper driving attitude. "Your attitude about your own driving and that of other drivers has a profound effect of the possibilities of your being involved in an accident. Treat other drivers the way you want to be treated — with courtesy," he said. Musick reminded drivers they have a moral as well as a legal responsibility when driving. "No one really wants to be killed or be responsible for killing another person in traffic. But, for some reason, many drivers seem to think they have a built-in personal immunity to a fatal accident. It just isn't so—and it CAN happen to YOU." The TSA is cooperating with the Texas Department of Public Safety the Texas Highway Department and other groups in promoting traffic accident prevention during the Labor Day holiday period. In addition to traffic safety activities, the association is promoting accident prevention programs for holiday safety at home and in public places. "Non-transport accidents at home and in public places also take their toll during holidays," Musick noted. He said an unusual number of drownings this summer has given cause for special concern in the area of water safety. "If you are going to a lake, river or some other body of water, make sure you know the hazards of that particular place before you go in swimming or take your boat out. Be sure you have approved life-preservers for every passenger in your boat and that everyone knows and observes safety rules," he added. Musick said homeowners should use caution in starting fires for cook-outs. Make sure all fire prevention precautions are taken. "And don't forget about the persons," he continued. Special attention should be given to removing environmental hazards that might cause falls. These two groups are frequently the victims of accidental falls. "No matter how you celebrate the holiday or where you are — on the road, at home or at play — put safety first," he concluded. "It's not worth the chance you take if you don't."

Over 200 Attend County's Annual Farm Bureau Picnic

More than 200 persons turned out Friday night for the annual summer barbecue of the Eastland County Farm Bureau at the city park in Eastland. Guests were present from throughout the counties of this region. Reagan V. Brown, extension rural sociologist from Texas A&M University, was the program speaker. He was presented by J. M. Cooper, county agent, who served as master of ceremonies. Mr. Brown, in an address, told the gathering that many Texans appeared too interested in recreation than in the efforts necessary for progress. "Dominoes, whittling and passing the time of day on benches in the courthouse squares are too interesting and time consuming," he suggested. "Europe's common market's success in 'out-selling us is the result of their out-working us," he said. "The ladder to success is in our school rooms, and there is no limit to how high we can climb." He noted that the demand for unskilled labor was becoming less each year. Recognition, respect, social acceptance, security and new experiences were cited by Mr. Brown as the things men want — the basic rules men live by. "Mr. Brown pointed out that rural homes and communities were making steady advancement in their way of life. He noted that community clubs are making valuable contributions that "will pay dividends in the fine young people who are coming from these centers." "The rural church is a very real stabilizing influence in our counties and our state," Mr. Brown said. "We are certainly not 'going to pot' as long as we have these fine community center and rural church programs." Most of the state's counties still depend on agriculture as the key to their economy, he added. Billy Joe Gist, area farm bureau supervisor, and his wife

Renovated Church Grounds Finishes Second Week Here

By REV. JOE DOWNS In July 1963 the Ministerial Assembly of the Church of God in Texas decided the camp grounds west of Eastland to the West Texas District Assembly of the Church of God. Since that time many improvements have been made. A nice air-conditioned apartment has been finished for camp care-takers, the dining hall and kitchen have been remodeled and air-conditioned, two modern, camp-size, restrooms have been built, two new air-conditioned, dorm-sized cabins (accommodating 20 campers each) are now in use, plus some remodeling of the tabernacle. A lovely, wrought-iron double entrance gateway, stationed in brick and tile, will soon be finished. Also some recreation facilities have been completed and more are being planned. This week ends two of the more successful youth camps. Rev. Tom Purcell of Abilene, director of Junior Youth Camp, had a total of 70 campers during the week of August 12-16. Rev. James Curtis of Odessa, director of Senior Youth Camp, reports 78 campers during the week, Aug. 19-24. We are looking forward to many more camps and a lot of other activities on our camp grounds. We want to thank the City of Eastland for the many ways they have helped us to achieve all of this.

Cartoon To Help Highway Agency In Litter Fight

AUSTIN — An indignant cartoon character and a revised highway sign have joined the Texas Highway Department's efforts to quell the mounting cost of litter pickup along Texas highways — a cost which jumped another $100,000 last year.

The department disclosed today it had to spend $1.4 million to pick up litter during 1962, an increase of about a hundred thousand dollars over 1961. Repair of vandalism damages added another $485,000 to bring the total figure for litter pickup and vandalism to a whopping $1.9 million.

These funds could have built 76 miles of Farm to Market Roads or 25 miles of two-lane primary highways.

The cartoon character, called informally the "Litter Longhorn," is printed on the 1963 Official Highway Travel Map published by the Department to remind the public in a lighthearted way not to litter the roadsides and Safety Rest Areas.

The sign being revised throughout the state reminds drivers sternly that littering is a violation of a state law, and that a litterbug can be fined from $10 to $200.

The next time you take a trip, take a close look at the 1963 Travel Map. In bright colors you will see the Highway Department's comical new "Litter Longhorn." Garbed in cowboy duds, complete with a 10-gallon hat, the Litter Longhorn wears an indignant look as he puffs and stomps on a heap of litter.

The cartoon caption, printed on a red stop sign behind the longhorn, pleads with the public to "Help Stomp Out Litter."

Drivers have long been familiar with the signs along the highway that read, "Throwing Trash on Highway Prohibited — State Law."

But these signs are taking on a new look — and a new meaning — as supplementary signs are added below them as a reminder that a person can be fined $10-$200 for violating this state law.

SKIPPER PILOTS THE WOUNDED

Following an attack by Japanese planes, Cliff Robertson, starring as Lt. (j.g.) John F. Kennedy, striges across the deck of the LST bringing him to the South Pacific and his assignment as a PT boat skipper in this scene from "PT 109," the Warner Bros. adventure drama opening Wednesday at the Majestic Theatre. The stirring film, produced under the personal supervision of Jack L. Warner, co-stars Ty Hardin, James Gregory, Robert Culp and Grant Williams and covers Kennedy from his arrival through the ramming and sinking of the 109 by a Japanese destroyer during World War II.

Along in November and December I receive many calls from homemakers, wanting to know how to preserve pecans. Even though it will be a while before we have any pecans to store, I thought I would go ahead and give you the instructions for storing pecans, so you will have the information when you need it. But first, some information about measuring pecans that will come in handy when you use pecans in cookings.

Two and one-half pounds of native pecans in the shell yield a pound of meats (about four cups).

Two pounds of papershell pecans yield one pound of meats.

As you know, pecans become rancid after several months storage unless properly canned or frozen.

CANNING PECANS IN PRESSURE CANNER

Select well-cured nuts and sort according to size. Place in shallow pan and heat in 250 to 300 degree oven for 10 minutes. Pack hot into hot, dry jars or tin cans. Leave one-inch headspace in jars; fill cans to top. Close jars or seal cans. Process in pressure canner at five pounds pressure for 10 minutes. Open petcock; lift steam out. Remove jars or cans from canner. Complete seal on jars if closures are not self-sealing type. Cool cans in cool water.

CANNING PECANS IN WATER BATH

Follow directions for preparing pecans for pressure canner. Place jars in water bath, with water one inch below the rim of the jar; water should cover cans. Process in boiling water for 15 minutes. Remove jars and complete seal if closures are not self-sealing type. Cool cans in cool water.

FREEZING PECANS

Package freshly shelled pecans in moisture and vapor proof bags, freezer tin cans, freezer jars or plastic containers. Seal or close containers. Sharp freeze and store at six degrees.

STORAGE

Shelled Pecans: Place pecans in covered containers and store in refrigerator not longer than six months.

Unshelled Pecans: Store unshelled pecans at a temperature range of 38 degrees. They will keep fresh for about a year.

Social Security Benefits Begin When You're 62

Anyone who is now 62 or older, and who has worked in employment covered by social security at any time, may be losing money regularly by not finding out what his rights are, according to R. R. Tuley, Jr., district manager of Social Security in Abilene.

"With the amendments of 1961, many people who were previously ineligible, became eligible under the reduced work requirement," he explains. And since benefits can be paid retroactively for only twelve months, each month's delay may cost one monthly benefit check.

Even those who are still earning more than $1200 should inquire promptly at age 62, because under the more flexible "retirement test" some benefits may be payable even where earnings are substantially greater than $1200.

Full information may be obtained from the Social Security Administration office at 203 Fannin in Abilene.

The residents of Eastland county may meet a representative of the Abilene office at the following places:

Cisco at Chamber of Commerce on Wednesday August 28 at 10 a. m. or on September 11 or 25th.

Eastland at County Court Room at 10 a. m. on September 9th or 23rd.

Gorman at City Office on Monday at 10 a. m. on September 30th.

Ranger at City Hall on Wednesday 10 a. m. on September 4 or 18th.

Rising Star at City Hall on Monday at 10:30 a. m. September 16th.

The Bible Lesson is entitled "Mind".

Cross Plains High School, choosing to call its athletic teams "Buffaloes," was a long-overdue tribute to the great animal.

Sam Bass and his gang were said to have passed through Callahan County in 1888. The famous outlaw "did no business" in these parts but news of his visit provided a choice conversation piece as frontiersmen got together for occasional chats.

One of the most humorous shooting scrapes ever to occur in Callahan County had a happy ending. It happened at old Belle Plain, a town which folded in the early 1880's after being missed by the railroad.

A woman fired both loads of a double-barreled shotgun at a man who was about to whip her husband. No one was hit but the assailant beat a hasty retreat, saying: "I can lick that guy, but I'd sure hate to take on his woman."

Last Indian raids into this area were led by chiefs Santana and Big Tree. The Redmen were more interested in stealing horses and cattle than gathering scalps. Little damage was done.

Oddly enough, the first case ever tried in Callahan County district court was one in which a man won divorce from his wife on charges of infidelity.

Bus Drivers Training Meet In Eastland

Approximately 30 county school bus drivers are expected to attend a training workshop at Eastland High School Tuesday evening, Eastland Supt. Wendell Siebert has announced.

The session will be in charge of the State Department of public Safety, and will be from 7 until 9 p. m. Expected are about six drivers from Carbon, five from Rising Star, five from Cisco and about five from Ranger.

Vets Questions And Answers

Q — Who actually pays veterans or dependents getting compensation or pension checks, the VA or Treasury Department?

A — Three Federal agencies join in the payment of compensation and pension checks, VA in its computer station at Hines, Illinois, certifies the amount of payment to be made. From this listing the Treasury Department issues the checks and turns them over in mass volume to the Post Office Department which delivers them.

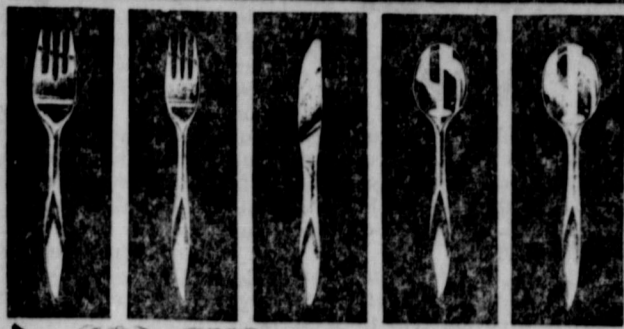

Q — Cannot veterans who hold the Korean GI insurance, called "RS" insurance, collect a cash dividend if they turn it in for "W" insurance?

A — Yes, but only until September 13, 1963, when the dividend offer expires.

Q — How many widows of Civil War veterans, either side, still draw pensions from the Federal Government?

A — About 2,000.

Tales of European Tour

(ED. NOTE: Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Poague of Ringling Lake Road, received the following letter from their grandson, John Whitmire an Odessa high school student, who is touring Europe this summer.)

We're now in Rome, the eternal city. Yesterday our group went on a sightseeing tour of the Roman days, just a few ruins of buildings and walls. We saw the old coliseum and it looks just like all of the pictures except the side that is never shown isn't large white stone, but of red brick instead.

We've been in quite a variety of places; small country inns, large hotels in big cities flat farmland, rolling hills, mountains, and islands.

If you had seen Scotland and Germany, you would probably have wanted to pack up and move. In Scotland there were hills covered with lush green grass and small streams rushing down.

Most of the fences were of stone and the older ones had no mortar. It is amazing how they could stack stones up and down the sides of mountains and make them so well that they are still standing.

In general, London wasn't to be enjoyed, just a big city where it was easy to get lost and a place where you couldn't find anything you wanted, but we did get to ride on the subway.

In Holland we saw how reclaimed land is ready for use, visited a place where wooden shoes are made, saw an old fashioned Dutch village, visited a model farm (the house and barn are one building), and ate our first continental breakfast. While on the ship and on the British Isles we had breakfast similar to our own, but that changed. The continental breakfast is rolls and jam with hot tea, hot chocolate or hot coffee. They are not too bad, except that the rolls over here had a very hard crust and on hot mornings the hot drinks don't help the thirst situation.

Holland, Germany, Switzerland, and Austria had comfortable temperatures most of the time that we were there. Italy's climate reminded me of that in your part of the country. Hot. I believe the humidity is higher here though. The day we arrived here, Rome, one of our bus drivers fainted from the heat while we were eating supper.

One of my favorite places of the trip was Stuben, Austria. It is a small town in the summer and a resort center in the winter. Right now everyone there is a farmer, each night at seven o'clock their cows come in from the mountain pastures to be milked and the next morning at seven they wander down the main street and go back up into the mountains for the day. It was really a peaceful place. No one was in a hurry and under our hotel window was a small rushing stream. I liked it a lot better than the cities, and there were not any curio shops or churches that wanted your donations.

Since we arrived in Italy, peaches have been our most common dessert. The average peach that they serve to us is a little larger than a baseball and they are about as good as the home grown Eastland County ones. I have already lost all desires for chocolate, pastries and ice cream. If we were not flying, I would be tempted to have some homemade pecan pie for dinner and then some watermelon later in the afternoon.

We went to St. Peter's; it is bigger than you can imagine, and we also saw the grave of John XXIII. Always, John Austin these wanning days of summer vacation are attracting more and more Texas parents and their children into the great outdoors for a final fling at fun in the sun before reopening of school begins to confine them to home. It's a time of increased exposure to the hazards of accidents and sudden emergencies which inevitably come with accelerated outdoor activity.

Of the 68,000 people who die each year in Texas, some 10 per cent die as a result of accidents. No doubt many are saved by prompt emergency care, but many more could be saved.

It is rather common to find that people throw all responsibility on the physician or the rescue squad which respond to emergency calls, undertaking none themselves except to telephone for help. Sometimes they do not know what to do; other times they are too excited to think or act wisely. The urgency of the situation may lead people to give grossly improper care for burns, internal injuries or extensive lacerations.

The person telephoning for help should not rely upon the physician or ambulance attendant to give him advice; he should ask what to do until help arrives. In most cases, the telephone conversation need not be rushed; there is time for careful directions in cases of poisoning, heart attack, burns or head injury, even though the caller has never had a course in first aid or has forgotten what he learned, he can still obtain directions that may save a life.

"Hurry cases" of first aid include cessation of breathing, severe bleeding and poisoning. In these cases a delay of even a few minutes may result in death. Rescue squads have extremely few people who have stopped breathing unless someone has given artificial respiration on the spot.

Teaching people to react promptly and efficiently in emergencies is one of the major goals of the "medical self-help" courses now being conducted around the state by local medical societies and state and local health departments and civil defense organizations. Conceived originally as a tool for civil defense training against times of nuclear attack, the content of the courses also ideally equip people to cope with personal peacetime emergencies.

Further information on medical self-help courses can be acquired from local medical societies.

Meanwhile the important rule to remember when summoning medical help or an ambulance in the event of serious injury or sudden illness is this: ask what first aid measures to take.

AUSTIN - People who suffer with hypertension, or high blood pressure, nowadays have more reason for optimism than they would have had a generation ago.

In itself hypertension is not a disease. It's a sign that something is wrong, like the stuffy feeling that comes with a cold. The danger accrues because of the possibility of stroke or serious heart or kidney damage when blood pressure is consistently high.

But even mild elevations in the blood pressure considered normal for the person involved - if the increase persists - may cause the walls of blood vessels to thicken, exactly as callouses are formed on hands by regular use of an axe or hoe. Research has shown that temporary increases in pressure do not really make much difference.

In the most common type of high blood pressure, called "essential hypertension," the tiny branches of arteries which carry blood to all body tissues (called arterioles) begin to tighten up. Blood passageways become smaller and smaller, and the heart has to work harder to push the blood through. After a time the blood vessels lose their elasticity and the heart muscles thicken with the extra work load. Result: high blood pressure, and ultimately heart damage.

What causes the arterioles to tighten and constrict: No one knows.

High blood pressure sometimes goes up for a period of days or weeks - or even longer - and then drops back to normal. Sometimes it may jump from pure nervousness while your physician is examining you. Perhaps there is a connection between hypertension and the strain of modern life. People who work under constant stress, who worry too much, are often susceptible. Heredity is a probable factor, and the condition occurs most often in persons between 30 and 50.

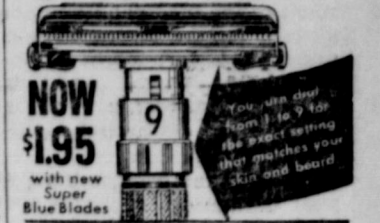

The thing which will count most in adding years to the life of hypertension sufferers is the willingness to change their living habits, following the rules of moderation in everything. By securing a doctor's care and following a few simple rules for moderate living, they can probably work and enjoy life as long or longer than their next-door neighbors without high blood pressure.

There is nothing to gain from worry about your chances of developing hypertension. Just make it a point to have a physical examination at least once a year. And worry and argue as little as possible.

Low blood pressure, on the other hand, seldom causes trouble. Afflicting relatively few people to a serious extent, the condition is usually a symptom of a specific disease which can frequently be treated successfully.

NOW IS THE TIME TO CHECK THE LIGHT YOUR CHILDREN USE FOR HOME STUDY

Even children who pass the eye chart test with ease need special light for home study. Reading and other close visual tasks require plenty of good light to make seeing easier and to prevent eyestrain and fatigue. For best light from a table lamp, use at least 150-watt illumination. The lamp should be tall enough to spread light evenly over the work area and properly shaded to shield the light source from the eyes. A diffusing bowl is recommended to soften the light and prevent glare. Check your children's study light now. Better light means better sight and better grades.

Medical Examiner System Urged For State In Magazine Article

Texas' outmoded laws for investigating the cause of death may be aiding the rising crime rate by putting the seal of approval on murder performed with finesse.

An appeal for the establishment of the medical examiner system for the entire state is urged by a Fort Worth pathologist, Dr. John J. Andujar, writing in the July issue of the Texas State Journal of Medicine.

Dr. Andujar decries the 75-year old system in which one of the functions of the justice of the peace is to investigate deaths without medical attendance.

In an earlier Journal article, the author pointed out that since no one can question that the heart stops beating in death, it is reasonably safe to indict every corpse as the victim of a heart attack.

The who-dun-it fan, even comic book addicts, are familiar with the modern techniques of ballistics, toxicology, spectroscopy, and microscopic pathology in solving crimes. Without these aids, Dr. Andujar stated, the justice of the peace often is stymied in his efforts to arrive at accurate death verdicts.

As a young physician, Dr. Andujar once accompanied a medical examiner to investigate a badly mangled corpse on a railroad track. All evidence seemed to indicate accidental death, but an autopsy revealed a small bullet hole in the badly mangled skull.

A decade ago, the Texas Legislature passed a permissive bill, authored by Sen. Bob Baker of Houston (then a member of the House), to allow counties with a population of 500,000 or more to organize adequate medical examiner systems. Subsequent bills decreased the required population bracket until now, counties of 120,000 or more, on a vote of the Commissioners' Court, may institute a modern investigative system for deaths unattended by a physician.

Four Texas counties have a medical examiner system.

They are Harris, Bexar, Dallas, and Wichita Falls. Through the efforts of the Tarrant County Medical Society, the Tarrant County Crime Commission, federal and county bar associations, the Legislature approved last May an amended bill authorizing that "the Commissioners Court of any county having a population of more than 500,000 and not having a reputable medical school shall establish and maintain the office of Medical Examiner and in all counties having a population not less than 120,000, the Commissioners Court of such counties may establish and provide for the maintenance of the office of Medical Examiner. . . ." The act is effective on Jan. 1, 1965.

Progressive justices of the peace themselves, the author wrote, have been in the vanguard of the fight for a medical examiner system in Texas. "All thoughtful citizens of the state, however, recognize the need for replacement of the coroner system," Dr. Andujar stated, citing the current JPs and inconsistent with their judicial functions.

The Texas Society of Pathologists had led the fight for a state-wide modern medical examiner system to insure uniformity. Without a state-wide system, Texas, in effect, invites would-be murderers to operate across county lines, where the probability of discovery is little or none, the author has explained.

The cost of a state-wide medical examiner system, would be a minute proportion of the millions spent annually in Texas for repression of crime.

Under the new law, seven of Texas' 254 counties are authorized to set up medical examiner systems through a vote of their respective Commissioners' Courts. The seven are El Paso, Hidalgo, Jefferson, Lubbock, McLennan, Nueces, and Travis counties. Total population of these counties, according to the 1960 federal census, is 1-1/2 million, or approximately 10 per cent of the entire state population. The Legislature has opened the door. Now it is up to the people to decide if they want to continue an outcast practice in the Jet Age.

Local Couple Celebrates 50th Wedding Anniversary

The spacious home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence W. Weathersby, 207 S. Joyce, was the setting for an open house Sunday, Aug. 18, from 2 until 5 p. m., in observance of the couple's 50th wedding anniversary.

Decorations of gold and bronze complimented the party area. Guests were greeted by the couple's daughters, Mrs. A. L. Moore of Austin and Mrs. Don McKenzie of Port Angeles, Wash., and registered by granddaughters, Cynthia and Marcia McKenzie.

The refreshment table was laid in ecru lace over gold and centered with the beautiful cake decorated in gold and white flanked by tapers in gold holders. Punch and cake were served by Mrs. Juana Lyckman and Mrs. Janice Stork.

All the couple's children and their families were present for the occasion with the exception of a grandson in Illinois.

Rev. Cecil Pearson of San Diego, Calif., is conducting a series of revival services that will continue through Sunday at the First Baptist Church here.

Jim Kirkman, music minister of the First Baptist Church in Cisco, is in charge of song services accompanied by Miss Pauline Roberts of Rising Star, pianist.

Services are being held each day at 7:10 a. m. and 8 p. m. with the exception of Saturday.

Number Needed To Pay Income Tax In Future

In Texas both husbands and wives will need a taxpayer identification number for future income tax filing, according to Arthur E. Fogle, Jr., the Administrative Officer at the Abilene office of Internal Revenue Service.

"The community property law creates many situations where both husband and wife have income that belongs to only one spouse in other states," Mr. Fogle explained. "Quite a few wives feel that they do not need a taxpayer identification, or social security, number, because they file a joint return with their husband. There are times when it is to their advantage to file separate returns. Naturally, the wife can not report her share of dividends, interest and other income on a separate return without having a taxpayer identification number. However, she still needs the taxpayer identification number in filing a joint return because of the community property law in Texas."

Taxpayers who do not have an identification number should secure a Form SS-5 from their nearest Post Office, Internal Revenue Service office, or Social Security Office, complete the application and get a number assigned.

Sheep And Goat Raisers Of Area Counties Are Expected

Ranchers from all adjoining counties are being invited and are welcome to attend the second annual Eastland County Sheep and Goat Field Day September 20, at the old Sinclair pump station at Tiffin, three miles north of Ranger, Courtesy of Ranger Junior College, according to reports from the Ranger Chamber of Commerce.

The Chamber of Commerce and J. M. Cooper, county agent are jointly sponsoring the affair. The first sheep and goat field day, sponsored by them last year attracted 135 ranchers from four different counties, it was stated.

Sheep and goats and their by-products continue to be an important factor in the agricultural economy of this area. A Ranger firm with a large warehouse, purchases wool and Mohair from over a wide area in North Central Texas.

Several sheep and goat authorities will be on the all-day program, scheduled to begin at 10 a. m. on the above date. The Chamber of Commerce will serve those in attendance with a ranch-style luncheon at noon.

One of the features of the program will be a demonstration on the selection of breeding stocks of sheep and goats. Jim Gray of San Angelo and Jack Groff, Kerrville, sheep from the Ranger Chamber of Commerce.

The seminar project calls for work with gifted students during 18 sessions in the coming school year, it was reported by President Grady Hogue of CJC. Students who will participate in the program will be selected on the basis of their intelligence quotient (IQ). Only those who score 115 or better on special IQ tests will be considered for the seminar project, Mr. Hogue added.

R. B. Golemon, head of the music department at CJC, has been named the instructor-coordinator for the Cisco seminar series.

Schools that will send a maximum of five students each to the Cisco seminar sessions and their superintendents are: Priddy, H. E. Culp; Huckaby, W. C. Nix; Moran, Robert Hunt; Putnam, R. W. Reynolds; and, Zephyr, Richard Purvis.

The initial or organizational meeting will be a gathering of the five superintendents at the CJC library at 7 p. m. Tuesday, Aug. 27, Mr. Hogue said. A schedule for the seminar sessions with the students will be worked out at that time, he added.

Object of the seminar sessions as outlined by Charles Bitters of the Texas Education Agency, director of the small school project, was given as "to provide intellectual stimulation and debate with intellectual peers." In addition, the students will be encouraged to take part in intellectual discussions.

Mr. Hogue said that participation would be limited to the top 10 percent of the juniors and seniors of the participating schools.

"Participation in the program is an honor that we of Cisco Junior College sincerely appreciate," Mr. Hogue said. "Our college was selected on the basis of its facilities, faculty and curriculum as well as its geographical location." The Texas Education Agency regularly inspects the facilities and records of CJC as well as other schools receiving state aid, Mr. Hogue said. CJC is accredited by the Texas and Southern associations of colleges and schools as well as other agencies.

Students are now being pre-enrolled for the 1963-64 school year which begins Sept. 9.

First Meeting Is Set For Aug. 27

Cisco Junior College is one of five schools throughout Texas that have been selected by the Texas Education Agency as centers for a state-wide Small School Seminar Project, according to announcement this week from Austin.

Members of the Wildcat Football team for the 1963 season met at 8:30 a. m. Monday along with the Coach, Weldon Hill, for the first meeting of the pre-season practice.

Equipment was issued to about 15 lettermen from last year's squad.

Other candidates for the team are expected to report soon.

Crime Continues To Grow Faster Than Population

AUSTIN — An average of more than 26 major crimes were committed every hour in Texas during the first six months of 1963 as crime continued to outstrip the population growth throughout the state and nation.

Col. Homer Garrison Jr., director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, reported that crime in the state increased 6.2 per cent in the period January through June, compared to the same period of 1962.

The DPS six months report showed that murder and homicide were up 13.3 per cent, rape increased 27.5 per cent, robbery increased 14.8 per cent, burglary 6.0 per cent, theft 7.0 per cent, and auto theft was up 4.4 per cent. Aggravated assault, the only major crime to decrease, was down 2.9 per cent.

Overall crime in rural areas showed an increase of 13.1 per cent, while the increase in urban areas was 5.2 per cent. By population groups, the greatest increase was 25.7 per cent in cities between 2,500 and 5,000, while the largest decrease was 13.3 per cent in counties with under five rural population per square mile.

"The 1963 figures prepared by our Statistical Services Section," said Garrison, "means that on the average there was one major crime committed every 2 1/2 minutes, one murder every 7 1/2 hours, one rape every six hours and 12 minutes, one robbery every 2 hours and 42 minutes, one burglary every eight minutes, one aggravated assault every 40 minutes, one theft every three minutes and 48 seconds, and one auto theft every 32 minutes."
