A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK
MONTY HOWARD

Many things seem wrong these days. More and more people complain that we have accepted, or at least tolerate conditions and situations which people in previous generations would never permit. Complaints are heard about personal pleasures - wild pleasures in human behavior. Intellectual arrogance is seen in some politicians and public officials who in some areas seek votes through promises known to be morally and spiritually wrong.

Unreasonable zealots are seen intimidating authorities. Lunatic violence. Judicial processes and courts boldly rebuffed. And to these complaints you can add your own to an endless list.
Good intentioned people are bewildered by the dilemma of moral values turned topsy-turvy. What can be done about it? For one thing it certainly is not helpful to condemn everything and everybody. And we certainly don't need "new" concepts for correction of our faults. It should be obvious we need more adherence to the old rules; obedience to the 10 commandments. We need faith in religious reliance and an alliance with God...

 TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — First state-regulated malpractice insurance rates in more than 20 years were approved by the State Insurance Board last week.

Rates cover doctors, dentists and hospital professional liability insurance rates.

The Board approved 11 company groups' filings and rejected requests from the Argonaut Group for hospital liability coverage.

Basic annual rates approved are for $25,000/$75,000 limits of liability. Board statisticians estimated that $100,000/$300,000 limits for doctors will cost about 50 per cent more and about 40 per cent more for hospitals.

Rates range from $140 a year for a non-surgical physician in Travis County to $1,032 for a non-surgical physician in Harris County, and from $5,416 a year for an orthopedic surgeon in Travis County to $8,256 for an orthopedic surgeon in Harris County.

"These rate approvals offer a responsible step toward alleviating the medical malpractice insurance crisis that was getting a toehold in Texas," State Insurance Board Chairman Joe Chrisite said.

Texas Hospital Association, meanwhile, announced plans to form its own insurance company to write liability coverage.

Vote Rights Studied

State, city, county and school district acts bearing on voting rights over a two-and-a-half-year period are subject to federal scrutiny under a new federal act.

The Federal Voting Rights Act is retroactive to November 1972 in application to all Texas election matters, according to Secretary of State Mark White Jr.

Not only will Texas elections be subject to federal supervision. Other requirements of the act include submission of all state and local government laws, ordinances, mandates and regulations affecting voting rights to the U.S. attorney general for clearance.

White views this as including all municipal annexations, alterations in voting district lines, changes in polling places, redistricting acts and changes from at-large to single-member districts or vice-versa.

has threatened to hold up some fat state employee paychecks where private supplements are not reported in detail by sources.

For years, some paychecks (particularly those of college officials) have been supplemented from private contributions, foundations and grants.

Bullock said state law requires that these supplements be reported in detail, but many are not. After September 1, he said, he will withhold approval of paychecks in cases where the supplements are not itemized properly.

AG Opinions

A school board represented under a district consultation agreement may meet in executive session to discuss salary schedules, Atty. Gen. John Hill held.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:

- The Board of Dental Examiners' executive secretary cannot receive a salary supplement for additional duties administering the dental laboratory and technician registration program.
- Subpoena power of the Alcoholic Beverage Commission is not affected by the Administrative Procedure and Texas Register Act.
- A state school for the mentally retarded may not refuse to admit a child solely because of parents' refusal to consent to a blood transfusion.
- Harris County Commissioners Court is not authorized to impose a charge for handling of child support payments by the juvenile probation department.
- State Board of Examiners of Psychologists may employ persons to assist in screening applicants for examination.

Courts Speak

The State Supreme Court rejected an attempt to force restoration of ousted Duval County Judge Archer Parr.

Meanwhile, a federal appeals court in New Orleans upheld conviction of Parr for perjury before a grand jury investigating income of his late uncle, George B. Parr.

A bond hearing for Parr, jailed in San Antonio, has been set for August 7 in Midland.

We deal with two types of energy:

1. HUMAN

Many businesses and industries are moving into this region from other parts of the country. They've found that we have a willing work force, a sensible tax structure, favorable weather and adequate energy sources.

New industries don't just move into your town by accident. Sometimes years of personal contacts by your Chamber of Commerce industrial team and the industrial development experts at Lone Star Gas are carried on before the final decision is reached to relocate in your town.

Your Chamber's industrial team, aided by the state, county and utility teams, study the area to make sure the right industry is matched with the right plant site location.

A new business or industry helps your town's economy by providing new jobs and by adding tax dollars for schools and hospitals and other community services.

So when you hear about a new industry moving into your town, call your Chamber of Commerce and thank them for another job well done.

2. NATURAL

To our customers, Lone Star is "the gas company." We serve over one million customers in about 400 cities and towns in Texas. That's a lot of customers... and a lot of responsibility. People depend on Lone Star Gas to have the available natural gas energy whenever and wherever they need it. And we've provided that energy for over 60 years through investments in pipelines, compressor stations and the purchase of new, more expensive gas supplies.

Natural gas produced in the United States provides over ONE-HALF of this country's industrial energy requirements. And the availability of adequate natural gas energy is one of the primary reasons that more and more businesses and industries are moving into this part of the country.

Lone Star Gas is committed to helping your town attract and keep industries that can provide jobs and help the economy. It's just good business for all of us.

Lone Star Gas
 The clean energy company

Most of us would be delighted to pay as we go, if we could just catch up with paying as we've gone.

Do You Remember
 BY HERMAN DEMPSEY

By the late 30's and early 40's, people had started coming out of the depression in fairly good shape. They were able to provide food and clothing for their families and were really beginning to enjoy living. They had more time off from work which permitted more time with their families. They could go to church and enjoy picnics with their families. But then, as has always been true from the beginning of time, it seems there must be a war to kill off a bunch of people and use up a lot of money. It appeared to be that time again. World War Two came into being. The machinery was set into motion to draft young men for action in the war. Training camps were set up around the country and the training started turning out fighting men as fast as possible. In many cases wives had to go to work to meet payments since the army pay at this time was very low. Defense plants were employing and training women for building war materials and equipment.

There were some young men drafted into the armed forces who took advantage of every opportunity to get ahead in their lives and develop an appropriate security for him and his family regardless of the conditions. One such young man from a local community set up a plan where he would loan his buddies money as they desired but on pay day he would be standing at the end of the line collecting double the amount of money he had loaned. At the end of the war, he had in his bank account enough money to buy a black land farm and enough equipment to start his own farming activities.

KENNEDY SHOT DEAD BY SNIPER DURING MOTORCADE IN DALLAS; JOHNSON SWORN IN AS PRESIDENT

CONGRESSMEN WEEP; CAPITAL IS STUNNED; 'BIGOTS' ARE BLAMED

Warren Asserts Kennedy 'Suffered Martyrdom'; We're A Damned Banana Republic,' Waggoner Says

By PETER J. KUMPA
(Washington Bureau of The Sun)

Washington, Nov. 22—The shooting of President Kennedy today stunned and shocked the Congress and his death brought tears and expressions of grief and sorrow.

Many angry and bitter voices were pointed at those responsible for the President's death.

Said Chief Justice Earl Warren:

"A great and good President has suffered martyrdom as a result of the hatred and bitterness that has been injected into the life of the nation by bigots, but his memory will always be an inspiration to Americans of goodwill everywhere.

"The entire world is poorer because of his passing. May God protect our nation in this hour of crisis."

"This is Terrible"

Speaker McCormack (D., Mass.), who moves up next in line of succession to President Johnson, was eating his lunch in the House dining room when he heard the news.

"Oh, my God, this is terrible . . . terrible," he said. "Oh, the hate in this country, the hate in this country."

Tears were in the eyes of Representative Albert (D., Okla.) as he strode into the speaker's office later. "I can't imagine that this could happen in this country in this age," he said.

Tears rolled down the cheeks of Representative Waggoner (D., La.), a segregationist and an ardent foe of the President's civil rights program, as he walked in an apparent daze around the halls of the Capitol.

Brother Presiding in Senate

"I don't know what this country is coming to," he said. "We're a damned banana republic. No one could condone this tragedy."

Most senators and congressmen were too dazed, too bewildered by the news from Dallas to say anything. In astonishment, they crowded around the few television sets and news service wires, anxious for every word of the tragedy.

The House was not in session; the Senate was considering a routine bill on library services and construction.

In the presiding Vice President's chair sat Senator Edward M. Kennedy, the President's 31-year-old brother. He was signing autographs and occasionally leaning over to chat with the Senate parliamentarian.

It was 1:39 P.M. when a newsman informed a Senate doorkeeper of the news from Dallas.

"This is Time To Pray"

He ran at full speed onto the Senate floor to pass the news to Senator Morse (D., Ore.), who in turn told Senator Mansfield (D., Mont.), the majority leader.

The information was whispered to Senator Kennedy, who quickly folded up his papers. His face pale and frozen without expression, he left the chamber without a word.

Senator Holland (D., Fla.), slipped into the chair. Senator Morse called for a quorum and added that "This is now a time to pray."

Some senators just sat in silent disbelief in their chairs. The chamber filled, and the leadership called upon the chaplain, the Rev. Frederick Brown Harris, for a prayer.

There was still hope when the senators bowed their heads for a moment of silence. The latest information was that the President and Governor John Connally were still alive though in very critical condition.

"Vacant Place Against The Sky"

"Our Father," intoned the chaplain, "though Thou knowest that this sudden, almost unbelievable news has stunned our minds and hearts as we gaze at a vacant place against the sky, as the President of the republic has gone down like a giant cedar green with boughs

Wide Challenges Marked Kennedy's Term

John Fitzgerald Kennedy, fifth President of the United States, was the first American Chief Executive to face the possibility of nuclear war and to risk it with a show of force to protect American interests. But later he succeeded in achieving an accord with Russia limiting nuclear tests.

Domestically, he was confronted by a racial problem that epitomized a contemporary world issue—the relationship between the black and white races.

There were foreign problems old and new during his Administration. Inherited from previous administrations was the Cold War with Russia.

Khrushchev Insistent
Despite Soviet Premier Khrushchev's determination to rid West Berlin of Allied occupation troops, Mr. Kennedy held American forces there. He kept American troops in Southeast Asia to thwart Communist penetration in that area.

Through economic help he sought to aid Latin America, a target of propaganda from Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro, avowed disciple of Khrushchev.

And Mr. Kennedy acted in similar fashion in Africa where newly emerged nations groped their way unsteadily toward stability, often with violence.

At home, in addition to the integration crisis, Mr. Kennedy became embroiled with the steel industry over a price increase that he halted, faced a nation-wide railroad strike which resulted in congressional action, fought for a tax cut that he called necessary to spur the economy and to avoid a possible recession and watched avidly the United States race into space with the Russians.

The nuclear crisis broke in the waning months of his second year in office when he confronted Premier Khrushchev with a demand to remove Russian missiles set up in Cuba and pointing at the United States 90 miles away.

Mr. Kennedy ordered a naval quarantine on such offensive weapons being sent to the island nation, said ships carrying them would be turned back and called on Khrushchev to withdraw the weapons already there.

For five days the nation and the world waited for word from Khrushchev. On October 28, 1962, came intense relief. Khrushchev announced he had ordered work stopped on missile bases, said the missiles would be crated and returned to Russia and promised that the United States would verify the dismantling.

The crisis involving Cuba was not Mr. Kennedy's first with that small nation.

Soon after he was inaugurated January 20, 1961, Cuban refugees—invaded their homeland in an attempt to wrest it from Castro. The invasion was a fiasco.

Castro's Russian-built military might crushed the invasion. Anticipated defections from Castro's forces failed to materialize. And the United States did not come to the invaders' aid militarily. United States prestige abroad plummeted.

Warning issued
While the invasion was in progress Khrushchev warned Mr. Kennedy to "call a halt to the aggression" or else Russia would give "all necessary assistance" in resisting the invasion. But the President replied:

"In the event of any military intervention by outside force, we will immediately honor our obligations under the inter-American system to protect this hemisphere against external aggression."

Later, in a speech, Mr. Kennedy warned foes and friends that the United States would act on its own against Cuba if United States

House staff heard the tragic news of President Kennedy's assassination while they were at lunch. Lee White, White House assistant legal counsel, tried to stem the flood of questions from the army of newsmen who jammed the usually carefully guarded corridors around the office of Pierre Salinger, press secretary.

A television set was placed in the press lobby and un-laced commentators related the events which took place in Dallas shortly after 2 P.M. a white-faced woman reporter rushed into the lobby and told the assembly that what was continued a few minutes later.

POLICE FIND RIFLE, SPENT CARTRIDGES IN BOOK WAREHOUSE

Telescopic Sights Are Also Uncovered In Building Overlooking Murder Scene; Family To View Body Today

Washington, Nov. 22 (AP)—The body of President Kennedy will lie in repose at the White House tomorrow to be viewed by members of his family and officials of the Administration. The general public will not be permitted.

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 22 (AP)—The traditional Harvard-Yale football game scheduled tomorrow at New Haven has been canceled because of President Kennedy's assassination. Mr. Kennedy was a Harvard alumnus.

Dallas, Nov. 22 (AP)—A sniper armed with a high-powered rifle assassinated President Kennedy today. Barely two hours after Mr. Kennedy's death, Vice President Johnson took the oath of office as the thirty-sixth President of the United States.

Mr. Kennedy was shot through the head and neck as he rode through Dallas in the Presidential automobile.

When the shots were fired about 1:30 P.M. and the Chief Executive slumped forward, Mrs. Kennedy turned in the seat ahead of him and cried, "Oh, no."

Dead In Half Hour

She tried to cradle his head in her arms as the car sped for Parkland Hospital, where Mr. Kennedy died about half an hour later.

Vice President Johnson automatically succeeded to the Presidency.

Mr. Johnson took the oath of office about 3:40 P.M. for the first time in history, the oath was administered by a woman—District Judge Sarah T. Hughes, a native Baltimorean.

Mr. Johnson was sworn in aboard the Presidential jet transport at Dallas's Love field. He then flew to Washington to take over the Government that Mr. Kennedy had directed since January 20, 1961. Mr. Kennedy's body was aboard the plane.

Connally Wounded

The same volley of shots that killed the President struck Gov. John Connally, of Texas, who was riding beside Mr. Kennedy.

Like Mr. Kennedy, Connally was sped to Parkland Hospital and wheeled into surgery for an emergency operation. The Governor was struck in the body and wrist.

Mr. Kennedy, who was 46 years old, was cut down by a flurry of bullets shortly after his open-topped car had left the Dallas business district, where thousands had massed along each curb to cheer him and Mrs. Kennedy.

This was the first Presidential assassination since 1900 when William McKinley was shot at close range during a reception in Buffalo.

Roosevelt Died In 1945

Mr. Kennedy was the first President to die in office since Franklin Roosevelt succumbed to a cerebral hemorrhage in April, 1945.

The Secret Service, the Federal Bureau of Investigation and Dallas police swung into action immediately and launched what was perhaps the biggest manhunt in the country's history.

A number of suspects were picked up during the next few hours.

Among them was a 24-year-old man identified as Lee Harvey Oswald, of Fort Worth, who four years ago, said he was applying for Russian citizenship. He has a Russian wife.

In a school book depository building, overlooking the murder scene, officers found an old .30 caliber Enfield rifle with telescopic sights, spent cartridges and scraps of fried chicken. The rifle was partly hidden behind books on the second floor of the five-story building. The bullets had come from about a 45-degree angle.

Mr. Kennedy was administered the last rites of the Catholic Church shortly after he was carried into the hospital. He was the nation's first Catholic President.
