

HERE IT is nearly May and Eastland is blooming all around: flower beds and lawns are beautiful. The Civic League's Annual Clean - Up Campaign continues and we're all reminded to freshen up for the big summer of activities ahead. John Neville, Southern TV manager, reports that the necessary equipment is at the ready and the long - awaited FCC approval should come soon for continued improvements in cable viewing.

HATS OFF to Carol Ann Webb who has earned herself a position on a Major League baseball team. She's the first girl to win a position in this heretofore boys' domain. Kinda like it was on the sandlots: if a girl could hit, run and field, she played, and apparently Carol Ann can do all of these well. She's the daughter of Wanda and George Webb. You'll see her on the Bulldog team, probably at first base or shortstop and her little brother is bat boy for the Comets. She's active in all sports and her parents are justifiably proud of her.

THE TELEGRAM has found a treasure trove: a like - new batch of type cases ideal for memorabilia boxes; antique 'em, use 'em as is for displaying your miniature treasures. Full size, limited quantities.

YOU WOULD have enjoyed seeing the office reaction recently when the Ambassador Selection Committee announced that Mrs. Ann Jernigan was Ambassador a week or so ago. Ad Salesman - Photographer - Newsman Steve Haines is her grandson, and his immediate response was that "we can't do that; it just wouldn't look right". Well arguing with Steve's no minor task 'cause he is a big young man. It took a heap of persuading to remind him that the rules are that the people who get the most votes get the honor, and so Mrs. J. was named. Local people seem to appreciate the program and the response is wonderful indicating, we think, that we have a lot of friendly, courteous and concerned sales and service people in Eastland. That's what helps make it such a good town.

WILD TURKEY in Texas was fascinating film subject by County Game Warden Kenneth Payne for members of the Eastland Lions Club Tuesday noon at the Ramada Inn. The beautifully photographed color film shows that Texas has more wild turkeys, in spite of the fact that they were pretty much an endangered species (a little used expression then) in the '30's. Texans owe a great deal of thanks for good game management to the efficient Parks and Wildlife Commission and its predecessors by other names (remember when it used to be the Fish, Game and Oyster Commission?) Warden Payne, we think, is typical of the high calibre P&W people. Bob Boyd was program chairman and introducing Payne, noted that all know him, and perhaps some might know him better than others. President Otis Coleman introduced new member Gary Gilman and Scout Executive Marshall Bruce announced that Good Scouter Dick Johnson had recently been awarded the high and coveted Order of the Arrow Vigil Honor.

CURRENT MEMORIAL gifts to the Sherwood and Myrtle Foster Home for Children in Stephenville include: Elsie Lee from Mr. and Mrs. Casey Mezell of Eastland. These gifts are intended as tributes to the lives of loved ones and investments in the lives of boys and girls, says Richard M. Blythe, executive director of the local child care and child placement agency.

The annual Pine Wood Derby held each year for Cub Scouts in Eastland took place Thursday night in the old gym behind the high school with a large crowd attending. Competition was between the four dens in Eastland with a total of twelve awards given. The winners were, in pack one, 1st Scott Gordon; 2nd Randy Petty; 3rd Mark Mitchell. Pack four: 1st Derrick Fox; 2nd Karl Joiner, 3rd Brad Hobbs. Den Five: 1st James Morton, 2nd Tracy Kitchens and 3rd David Ames. Overall winners were 1st James Morton, 2nd Derrick Fox and 3rd Scott Gordon. Trophies were given to overall winners and medals of gold, silver and bronze awarded to Den Winners.

Cooking Demonstration At Robertsons

BY KAY DANIEL

There will be a cooking demonstration at Robertson's TV Wednesday, April 30. Call 629-1625 for hours of the Demonstration. They will be showing and telling how to use the Panasonic Microwave ovens.

Robertson TV Sales and Service had something different going on in the store Wednesday - a demonstration on how the Microwave Oven works.

Mr. and Mrs. Robertson were busy with a number of guests, as they prepared baked potatoes, bacon and barbecued weiners to show how amazing the Panasonic Microwave Oven works.

It is really great to put a raw potato in the oven and in four minutes be putting butter and sour cream on it and it be completely done.

Mr. Robertson cooked two slices of delicious bacon for me, in four minutes. They were even better than if they had been put in a pan and fried.

The food cooks so fast that it is actually more nutritious for you because it keeps more vitamins in it.

The Robertsons will be happy to show you their line of Panasonic Microwave Ovens any time.

Most people experience a strange emotion when telling the truth; they find they don't even need a good memory.

Chicken spaghetti, tossed salad, garlic toast and coffee or tea will be served from 11 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.

Besides the delicious fare luncheoners will have a chance to see for themselves the beautiful job that has been done on the newly remodeled Woman's Club. Many Eastland citizens have donated time and money to this project and the result speaks for itself.

CITIZENS GET AIRPORT FACTS

A delegation of some 25 citizens from Eastland, Comanche and Stephens County heard aviation officials call airports public utilities which prove to be vital links between the metropolitan areas and suburban.

In the special three county planning meeting at the Eastland National Bank Conference Room, representatives from towns in the counties exchanged ideas and heard recommendations for development of existing airports.

The officials pointed out that state assistance is available and in some cases federal assistance in bringing airports up to certain standards.

The three airports serving Cisco, Eastland and Ranger were evaluated by the officials as being below standard, and a recommendation was made that consideration be given to the development of a new basic county airport.

"We see industrial development going on here and it's a proven fact that adequate airport facilities are a necessity for continued industrialization," John D. Anderson, Airport Planning Officer for the Federal Aviation Administration, in Fort Worth said.

Others assisting with the planning meeting were George Dresser, Transportation Planner, Texas A&M University; Merrill Goodwyn, Planner, Texas Aeronautics Commission, Austin; and Randy Randolph, Director of Planning, West Central Texas Council of Governments, Abilene.

The officials pointed out that the establishment of a new standard county airport would not necessarily reduce the need for the existing facilities.

Estimates were given that showed it might take up to $100,000 to bring the Cisco airport up to standards. Estimate is that it would take $200,000 to bring Eastland's airport up to par, $65,000 of which would be for paving the access road to the airport. Other improvements would be the reworking of the 4,000 foot runway, either at 60 or 75 feet wide to be determined, reworking the lighting, and other improvements excluding any building, fuel or other auxiliary facilities.

It was pointed out that federal help might be available for one and/or possibly two, but not three in the county.

The officials would not give figures on improving Ranger's airport, stating that its present location is unsuitable because of developments in the area, and that a new site should be considered. Basic cost for a new facility was given at $200,000 plus land cost, for a 3,200 foot runway.

County Judge Scott Bailey represented the county at the hearing, and city and chamber of commerce officials were present from the Eastland, Cisco and Ranger area.

Law Tickets Should Be Purchased Now

It's highly advisable that Eastland County residents secure their Law Enforcement Appreciation tickets now in order to be assured of seating and food for the big Saturday, June 7 event, it has been announced here.

Tickets were distributed throughout the county Friday and are available from law - associated personnel in each town, at $3 each for the banquet event which will feature United States Senator and Presidential Candidate Lloyd Bentsen as principal speaker.

The event is definitely to be a family affair and young and old are invited to attend this historic event. The appearance of Sen. Bentsen in Eastland is due to be possibly the only visit by the presidential candidate to such a small town.

Winston Boles is chairman of the food committee for the event and elaborate preparations are being made to insure that it will be first class in every respect.

Tables and chairs will be placed in shares on the courthouse square.

Many out of county officials are expected and therefore it is recommended that locals secure their tickets in plenty of time. The meal will be catered by Vance Godby of Fort Worth and will be served on tables on the courthouse square, with all citizens of the county joining in the appreciation event.

Among the dignitaries already committed to attend are Cong. Omar Burleson and State Rep. Joe Hanna as well as a delegation of Texas Democratic Party officials from Austin.

Eastland County Newspapers Co. will make its annual award to the Outstanding Lawman in the County, and Bicentennial Chairman Emmett Lasater is making arrangement for state and national certification documents and flags to be presented at the event.

It will be necessary for lawmen to have an accurate count of attendees in order to guarantee the caterer, Chairman John Morren reports.

County Law Enforcement Association Holds Meet At Ramada

Members of the Eastland County Law Enforcement Association met Friday for their monthly luncheon in the Ramada Inn of Eastland.

Justice of Peace M.D. Underwood of Ranger, President, presided over the meeting of some 35 to 40 law people from Eastland County.

Topics of discussion at the meeting were focused on the law enforcement banquet to be held June 7, in Eastland with featured guest, Senator Lloyd Bentsen, also candidate for President of the United States. Tickets for the Banquet were passed out to officials in each branch of the association for sale distribution.

Also questions were raised pertaining to the new Central dispatch facilities, as to when operation would begin. It was learned that a few mobile units still lacked installation, and as soon as they were finished, operation of the new system. Members also talked of taking donations for a CB Radio to be installed at the Central dispatch site.

Guest speaker for the luncheon was Bill Tippen of Abilene who is a County Attorney for Taylor County. Tippen gave a very interesting and enjoyable talk on the thoughts and actions of men and lawmen that make them what they are, and not, as in so many cases, the suit, badge and gun making them think more of themselves, thus causing serious problems in the way they perform their duties.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

BY BOB BOYD

Victory vs. defeat. Victory is not always commendable. And surely, defeat need not be disgraceful.

In human experience, there are levels in both victory and defeat. For example, when we see a bewildered man defeated because he lacked the courage to win, we pity his pathetic picture. But, when we see a courageous man going down to defeat after trying his best to win, we glory him in defeat. At times it can even be a tragic defeat. This is especially true if a principle of justice, integrity, fair play or personal honor is involved.

None of us can win every time. How we lose is often more important than how we win. To succumb or be subdued because we lack the courage for the struggle to win is the only time disgrace can be linked to defeat. Actually, it is possible to win when one loses.

OBSERVATIONS FROM...

The River Road

BY VIOLA M. PAYNE

The office of DeMarquis Gordon, Agricultural Agent of Eastland County, does not look like a University. It is just a plain but comfortable two-room location on the second floor of the Eastland County courthouse, consisting of desks with stacks of correspondence, and wall racks filled with free booklets covering every phase of local ranching and farming. (Including how to tan deer hides and dodge a tornado!). There is a slightly worn trail right through the open door past the front desk to the inner office. There a calm and pleasant voiced Gordon, dressed in clothing with understated good taste and a western cut, alternates discussions between the telephone, the visitors and his energetic young assistant-Milton Kellner.

One day last week I followed the trail into the inner office to ask Mr. Gordon about his work. "Did this concept of a County Extension Service begin with the Roosevelt Administration in the 1930's?" I began.

"Not at all," he looked thoughtfully at his desk. "It actually started over in Kaufman County, Texas, in 1903. The boll weevil problem had just hit the cotton farmers, and they realized it was too big to handle alone. So they called in a scientist, a Doctor Seaman Knapp, with local businessmen backing up the cost of the project. Dr. Knapp was inspired by the idea of demonstrating solutions to agricultural problems out in the field. 'What a man reads he may not believe', he said, 'What he sees he may doubt, but what he does himself he cannot doubt'."

"Eleven years later, in 1914, the Smith-Lever act set up the County Agent and Home Demonstration Educational systems, but many of the programs we have now were begun during the 1930's. The financial support of the Extension Service is a cooperative agreement involving the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture, the State of Texas, and the local County Government. Here in Texas we are divided into thirteen districts, and our educational programs are all tied into Texas A&M University. The Eastland County Extension staff is composed of four people: Mrs. Janet Thomas, County Extension Agent in Home Economics; Mrs. Arleen Atkins, her assistant; Milton Kellner and myself."

DeMarquis Gordon went on to explain that his own interest in agriculture began in his childhood, right on the dairy farm owned by his family south of Cleburne. There he helped with the work and took part in 4-H Club activities. While in high school he was named Gold Star 4-H Boy of Johnson County. These interests propelled him down to Texas A&M at Bryan, where he graduated in 1958. After serving two years in the Army, he began his Agricultural work as an Assistant County Agent of McLennan

County, with headquarters at Waco. "Young graduates always work as Assistants two or three years". He motioned toward Milton Kellner, who was stirring through the room on another errand. "Milton, here, is in charge of the County 4-H work, which is as important as anything I can think of. Eventually he will be a County Agent. My first assignment as an agent was in Hamilton County where I stayed three years. I transferred to Eastland County in 1966, and I live here in Eastland with my wife JoAnne and our two sons. I liked this County from the beginning."

When I asked him why he liked it so much, his instinctive answer was that the people of this locality appealed to him from the first. They were deeply interested in the land, and trying to improve their knowledge of it so they could keep their way of life. They were interested in demonstrations, and assisted him in all sorts of test programs. Then, of course, he became interested in the terrain of the county, its beauty and its possibilities.

There are around 1300 farms in Eastland County, he explained, with an average of 394 acres. During the last census 5,427 lived on these farms, out of a population of 18,092 for the County. These figures show that the area is a bulwark of the family-type farming operation. And that, in his estimation, is what his job is all about-trying to keep the greatest type of operation in the world going. There is no other way, he declared, for human beings to provide their food as economically as on a family-type farm. If the Nation doesn't understand that now, people will surely come to realize it some day.

I asked about the main cash crops in the area. "Cattle and peanuts are equal in importance here as money crops. Then comes grain, hay, and pecans-and I believe some of the finest pecans in the world are raised right here. Our marketing methods need a lot of improvement, but the taste and quality of these nuts will compete anywhere."

"There are a few fruit farms in the County, but they have been hurt by freezes for three years. We are experimenting on some plums, peaches, and blackberries, trying to find the best varieties for this County. Then we are encouraging everyone to plant home gardens."

A local teacher stepped to the door, explaining that he was hunting booklets on home gardens to use in teaching his students. Mr. Gordon bounded up and gave him a load of brightly illustrated ones--no charge.

"As you can see", he resumed, "this job has variety. There's never a dull moment."

"I imagine it runs into more than a forty hour week."

"Oh, of course it does that, but it's hard to really count all the hours in a job like this. I go out quite a bit in the evenings, too, for that's when I can see groups of people. During one year I recall that I had records of contacting 8,448 people either by personal contact, or through meetings, short courses, field days or tours."

"There's always some challenge--something new to figure out. If I can't answer a question brought to me, say on soils, insects, or cattle--I contact an Agricultural Specialist who can. We have a constant interchange of information between here, Stephenville and Texas A&M. Here in the office I meet people, give out booklets, write a column of late information called "The Gordon Spot" for the County newspapers, arrange our radio programs, and send out newsletters containing the latest news in agriculture. Anyone who wants on our newsletter list can receive this material. Another thing which can be arranged in this office is the testing of soil samples." He turned around and reached into one of the many wall compartments behind him. "Here is a carton for collecting the samples. You collect the soil, fill out a form, and the material is sent off and tested. These services cost $2.00."

"Explain about the things you do out in the County?"

"I visit on farms and ranches, and help set up demonstrations of various kinds. I don't like to stand around and tell people how to do things--I like to be able to do them. I conduct short courses in communities and towns. Our short course on pecans at Cisco Junior College each year is the biggest pecan grafting school in the state, with people coming from miles around. We have a short course on cattle at Ranger, and of course I help with the Stock Shows."

"Our clinics and courses are not just something I dream up, but grow from the needs and requests of the people. I have local committees which decide the agricultural needs and present them to me. We have been getting a lot of requests lately for information on vegetable gardening, as well as for information on the home-slaughtering of beef. Two farmers furnished cattle for such a demonstration on the 28th of February, and more than a hundred people attended."

"What are some of the current problems in farming and ranching?"

"With the cattlemen, it's the market prices, due to an oversupply of cattle. With the peanut farmer, it's an uncertainty over the future of the Government peanut program. All of these folk are faced with the rising cost of production, fertilizer, feed, and fuel. A low ratio of young people are staying on the farms and ranches here, simply because of the economics of the thing. A high investment is required, with capital to back it up, in order to obtain a given income. That is one of the problems we are battling."

"Can you do anything about decisions in Washington?"

"No, for my job here is non-political. I am to inform of new programs, not to take sides about them. People should contact their Legislatures when they want a program changed. And I really believe they can get things done, if they will pitch in and write letters and work through their various farm organizations."

Then Mr. Gordon began to talk again of his first love, the 4-H work, and I asked what gave him the most enjoyment in his multi-faceted profession. He mentioned the young people from the county who go to college on agricultural scholarships, some of whom might not attend otherwise. Then he told how happy he was when the farmers and ranchers and their projects were doing well, for it made him feel he had a small part in their success.

Then I excused myself, for I knew the County Agent had appointments to keep beyond this office and town-out in the peanut fields and oak groves and pecan orchards and cattle ranches, out where DeMarquis Gordon was putting his heart and mind into saving the family-type farm.

No, the office didn't look like a University. But I realized it was really the hub of a most exciting one, where farming and ranching was approached as a science."

The Light Touch

The best time to buy a used car is when it's new.

Businessman to another: "I had a miserable day. Everything went right and it made me nervous."

A boss is someone who's always early when you're late, and late when you're early.

Many a standing ovation has been caused by someone jumping to his feet in an effort to beat the rest of the audience to the parking lot.

Do You Remember

BY HERMAN DEMPSEY

Wednesday night was an important time when the people in the communities could get together at the community church for a prayer meeting. These meetings provided the opportunity for the people to get together and discuss current events as well as pray together for the good of all the people in the group.

On one of these occasions in a summer season, the meeting was completed and the gathering passed out of the church into the still night air. The sky was clear. The wind was calm. The people were talking with each other as they prepared to gather their families into the wagons, buggies and hacks to go to their respective homes when someone in the group asked in a brisk voice for all to listen. Everyone ceased their talking and joined the one in listening to the strange noise he had heard on the still night air.

The strange noise they heard appeared to be that of a man in considerable pain crying in a loud clear voice for "help". The men agreed that they should investigate even though some thought it may be a trick to attract attention of the men so that other foul play could be done without interference. The men decided to go to their homes, get their guns and meet at one of the homes which seemed to be nearest to the noise. When the assembly was completed, the men, mounted on their horses and with their rifles in hand, quietly converged on the location of the noise which was continuing to go out on the night air. Upon their arrival at the place, the men were spread out separately so that if it was a trick they would be ready to cope with the developments. The one designated went to investigate the noise and when satisfied it was indeed a man in pain, he lighted his lantern and called to the others.

They found a stranger who had been riding a freight train going through the country side and had fallen off breaking a leg during his fall. They picked him up and hauled him into the town for treatment by the doctor.

Chamber Holds Board Meeting

A vote of confidence and a salary increase for Eastland Chamber of Commerce Manager James Wright were matters of business at a board of directors meeting this week. The directors further agreed to help provide local gifts to be given as door prizes at the annual Beautify Texas event in Fort Worth later this year. Nimrod Competes In Texas Program

Nimrod Community will be judged for district honors in the Texas Community Improvement contest on Friday, May 2. The Texas Community Improvement Program is sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and the electric utility companies serving Texas.

Communities are judged on their community, home, and farm improvements; and their overall community leadership. The local Extension Agents, Mrs. Janet Thomas and DeMarquis Gordon, state that this year there are 198 communities from 76 counties participating in the program.

The local agents also stated that this is the 20th year for Nimrod Community to compete, and they have made outstanding accomplishments each year.

Other communities in the District 8 competition to be selected for touring are Little River Academy, Bell County; Axtell and Leroy communities, McLennan County; and Chatfield-Tupelo Community in Navarro County.

The Nimrod Tour will begin at 9:15 a.m. and end at 11:15 a.m. on May 2.

to be held here June 20, 21, and 22. President Emmett Lasater presided. Ray Winger, chairman of a special committee, reported on the chamber's financial affairs and recommended the raise for the manager with the understanding that the salary will be reviewed again in six months.

U.M.U. Meeting

The United Methodist Women met at the church for the fourth and last study of the book of Jonah this week. Mrs. Austin McCloud brought the devotion in which she brought out the fact that the book of Jonah was not only a miracle of a big fish, but its greatest message was that of love.

Mrs. Frank Sparks and Mrs. Joe Stephens presented a playlet in 3 scenes called "A Fish Story". The characters represented Jonah and a ticket agent and was humorously presented in modern language; but brought the message of intolerance of man and love of God.

Bro. Marney said as he finished the book of Jonah, that we, like Jonah, want to keep our prejudices and hurt pride; to make inferiors equal to us, would be unthinkable. God forgives and He wanted Jonah (Israel) to do likewise.

As an outgrowth of our study it was voted to send an extra contribution to the hungry of the world throughout the overseas relief program. Next week we meet in Circles in designated homes.

Bellhurst Theatre Pays Respect To Shakespeare Wed.

The Bard would have been pleased.

His works live—and they've seldom lived better than at Bellhurst Theatre Wednesday evening when participants and much-pleased spectators paid their respects to William Shakespeare.

English tea and cherry pie were served to all as they entered the theatre, prior to the beginning of the presentations. A select group of Eastland Community Theatre actors, joined and assisted by neighbors presented a number of choice cuttings.

Performing from Ranger Junior College were Leroy Young, Shirley Gray, Gary Rodriguez, Quen Bradley and announcer Pam Henthorn. English Professor Roger Schustereit did several readings that delighted the audience.

ECTers on stage were Richard Rossander, John Russell, Jim Pat Miller, Sherry Phillips, Jeannie Bradley, Tania Sanders, Sharon Terrell and Craig Campbell of Rising Star.

Director Mrs. Virginia Russell maintained a steady flow of entertainment as the various typical pieces were introduced and performed. In earlier years the Theatre Group's Shakespeare Workshops have been more informal, and the new format was well received.—hvo

Peter Boyle as the monster, carries off Madeline Kahn in Mel Brooks' "Young Frankenstein" starting Wednesday April 30 for one week. Gene Wilder, Marty Feldman, Cloris Leachman, Terri Garr and Kenneth Mars co-star in the 20th Century-Fox release.

Comedy Today, Tonight And Tomorrow For Mel Brooks

The energy displayed in Mel Brooks' films, "The Producers," "The Twelve Chairs," "Blazing Saddles" and now in "YOUNG FRANKENSTEIN" is as much a reflection of his personality as his gift of wild, comedic invention.

Brooks has a director's chair on the set but he is never in it. He moves swiftly with the grace of an athlete, often acting out the movements he is suggesting to his actors. The verb "suggesting" is used advisedly because Brooks is open to the opinions of his players. In this instance he has Gene Wilder, Marty Feldman and Madeline Kahn, all with outstanding records in comedy; Cloris Leachman, Kenneth Mars and Peter Boyle, fine actors; and Terri Garr, a young actress coming into her own as a comedienne.

Brooks is absolutely indefatigable in getting what he wants from the performers. He will do take after take of the same scene, which to the casual eye are virtually indistinguishable. In his early days he was a drummer in a band and it is said that he carries a rhythm in his head which he seeks to impart to the activities on the screen.

$16.1 Million In City Sales Taxes

Austin - Comptroller Bob Bullock issued $16.1 million in checks Tuesday in the first ever monthly payment of city sales taxes.

The new monthly payments replace the old quarterly rebates which Bullock said "were only a step ahead of the Pony Express."

The quarterly system, with a lag of 60 to 90 days between the state getting the tax and when it went to the cities, had been in use since the first city sales tax went into effect in 1968.

Eastland's quarterly allocation was $5,492.35, less $103.67 for audit and $109.85 (2 percent state services fees) and retained amount of $256.21, resulted in a net payment to the city of $5,125.29.

Tuesday's payments went to more than 500 towns and cities for taxes collected between Feb. 18, the cutoff date of the last quarterly payment, and Apr. 4.

In a letter to city officials Bullock said the "quicker

Bicycling, Fun

Accidents Increase

Riding a bicycle is great fun. Kids do it. Adults do it. In fact, today there are over 60 million bicycles in use in America. And the "biking rage" isn't expected to slow down anytime soon.

Bike riders, however, should be aware that serious accidents do occur. Crashes, injuries, and even deaths are on the upswing, despite stronger federal regulations on the manufacturers for additional safety equipment on bikes. In 1974, the Texas Department of Public Safety reported a 25% increase in bike-related fatalities in Texas. Statistics reveal over 2,500 persons were injured in bicycle crashes in 1974. As of Nov. 1, 1974, 50 people were killed as a direct result of bicycle related traffic collisions. This is an increase of 10 lives over 1973 statistics.

While it has been found that 89% of all bicycle-auto crashes occur in the daylight hours, most nighttime crashes tend to produce more serious injuries.

The Texas Medical Association points out that riding bicycles is good exercise, but there are some safety measures that need to be remembered whether wheeling around the block or across country. Don't carry passengers, except when a second seat is provided. Never cling to a moving vehicle. Ride as near to the right side of the road as practical. Don't carry packages that would prevent use of the handlebars. Note that bikes are required to be equipped with a white headlight and a red light when riding at night. The law also calls for brakes and a reflector.

Parents are urged to teach children to acknowledge yield situations, stop signs, and turn signals of automobiles. Other common violations include riding in the middle of the street or too fast for conditions.

payments should be an asset of every city's financial operations" and that "because this money belongs to your citizens we have a responsibility to get it to you as quickly as possible."

Bullock said cities can expect future monthly payments about mid-month. He said the first two months payments can be expected to be less than the payment of the third month of each cycle when quarterly tax payments be merchants come in.

Under the new monthly system payments of less than $500 won't be made, Bullock said. Monthly allocations of less than $500 will be added to the next month and paid either when they top $500 or at the end of each third month regardless of amount.

There was 273 towns with allocations of less than $500 for the first month of the new system.

Lewis Writes Book On Communications

STILLWATER, OKLA.—Phil Lewis, former Eastland resident and now a business professor at Oklahoma State University, presents the following hypothetical case for those of us who aren't good listeners:

It doesn't get done. Or, it was only half done, and botched at that.

What happened?

According to Lewis there was a 34% loss of understandable communication—the message—between boss and foreman, who wasn't listening.

Secondly, there was a 16% loss of message between foreman and the worker, who wasn't listening.

That adds up to a 50% loss of the original message.

That's an example business communicators like Lewis use to demonstrate need for effective management via effective communication.

A 1960 alumnus of Eastland High School, the 33 year old Lewis has written a book on how to bridge the gap between management and employees' inability to communicate, a rampant and much ignored problem, he said.

The 250 page volume, titled "Organizational Communications: The Essence of Effective Management", was brought out in April by Grid, Inc., a Columbus, Ohio, publishing house primarily engaged in supplying textbooks to collegiate colleges of business.

Lewis said the aforementioned foul-up by the worker might lead to his being reprimanded, but not fired; summarily fired, or neither one, thus leading to an assumption by management that the mistake won't be repeated, "when in fact it will and could be more serious than the first mistake".

This sort of thing occurs frequently with veteran employees, but is not to be condoned, Lewis said.

Hopefully, new employees will have better schooling or on-the-job training in "getting the message" the first time around.

If not, a new worker's first mistake, according to Lewis, likely will be misinterpreting instructions. It will continue to happen for a number of reasons:

1. He—the employee—is new on the job and assumes he's expected to know what to do without asking questions.

2. He assumes the boss's words mean the same thing to the boss as they do to him. In reality, they are on different wave lengths.

3. He misunderstands his role in the organization.

4. He gets conflicting advice from those who've been on the job longer. Lewis calls it "peer group influence".

5. He is simple is unable to decode messages.

6. The middle man, the foreman in the above case, screws up the original message.

Though pessimistic about our propensity to foul up messages, as well as our inability to be good listeners and give understandable instructions, Lewis said all is not lost.

"The wonder is that as much gets through as it does. We live with a level of tolerance; that is, we expect certain misunderstandings, and if they are not too serious, we don't worry about it."

"Those managers who are effective communicators probably are good listeners and able to indicate that to employees," he said.

Lewis said he'd suspected business colleges have been slow to establish courses in organizational communications like the one he teaches at Oklahoma State.

Last fall he surveyed some 100 business colleges and received an 85% response that indicated only 25% of those colleges were even beginning to think about offering such courses.

PHIL LEWIS

Lewis is much in demand as a speaker in Oklahoma and will continue to take his message, which he spreads with the zeal of a missionary, outside the classroom to groups that ask him to preach the word on effective communications to their managers and employees.

Lewis has been teaching at Oklahoma State since 1970.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Lewis, formerly of Eastland and now of Breckenridge.

Jaycees Wins Award At Area Burkburnette Meet

Eastland Jaycees are on the move in 1975, and from the looks of outstanding awards that were presented to the group at the Area awards banquet held in Burkburnette last week it will be a very good year for the organization.

Eastland Jaycees as a whole, took the award for outstanding club in Region 212, and outstanding in Area 2-A.

Individual awards were presented to Mel Herweck President of the Eastland Jaycees for outstanding president in Region 212 and Area 2A. Jaycee Tom Holland was awarded with outstanding Jaycee in Region 212 and Jerry Eudy from Cisco Jaycees found the Outstanding state director for Region 212.

Charles Hill of the Eastland Jaycees received the award for top State Vice President for Area 2A.

The Eastland Jaycees held their officer elections Saturday night in the Jaycee hall along with Jaycee wives appreciation night. Results of those elections will appear in the Thursday Telegram along with photos of award winners.

Josie Steele Jones lived for half the life of this Nation. In order to properly place her long life in perspective relative to this Country's history, the following facts should be noted:

That awful war between the states had ended a dozen years before Josie was born. Just one year prior to her birth, General Armstrong Custer and all of his men died at the hands of Chief Crazy Horse and his vast horde of warriors at the Little-Bighorne.

Jose was 21 years old when the Spanish-American War was fought and had already been living in Eastland for 19 years.

Ulysses S. Grant ended his term as President of the United States and Rutherford B. Hayes became President the year Josie was born. She lived through the terms of Hayes, Garfield, Arthur, Cleveland, Harrison, Cleveland's second term, McKinley, Theodore Roosevelt, Taft, Wilson, Harding, Coolidge, Hoover, Franklin D. Roosevelt, Truman, Eisenhower, Kennedy, Johnson, Nixon and now Gerald Ford.

Josie saw many changes in many things and the invention and development of innumerable new things. She saw the electric horse and buggy, piped water replace the creek or cistern. She witnessed the advent of the telephone, the phonograph, radio, television, the airplane, electrical appliances and items of all kinds. She was always amazed at the advancements made in science and medicine. She recalled that while it had taken her group several exhausting weeks to travel from Alabama to Eastland in '79, men can now travel to the moon in only two or three days.

Josie Steele Jones was born "Molly Josephine Steele" near Boaz, Alabama, on Oct. 7, 1877. She was the daughter of Captain John Leander Steele and Susan E. Bedford Steele. Along with her parents, six brothers and sisters and several other relatives and friends, she moved from Alabama to Eastland. This large party traveled by ox team, river boat, train and mule team. They reached Eastland in 1879. Josie's grand father, Captain Jonas Monroe Bedford and Steppgrandmother, Sarah Francis McClure Bedford, had moved to Eastland in 1876.

John S. Bedford, one of Josie's uncles, preceded the Steele family having reached Eastland in 1871. He was a surveyor and was in the Land Business with Judge J.H. Calhoun, Silas Burk, J.E. Gold, and William Gaulty. This uncle built a large two story cut-stone home about two miles east of town. It was this home into which the Steele family moved on reaching Eastland. Josie was the last surviving member of that large family.

Josie's father was an early Eastland City Alderman, was several times elected County Commissioner, and was Adjutant of the Confederate Veterans. He was a Life Member of the Masonic Order. Josie was an early Deputy County Clerk of Eastland County.

The Steele and Bedford families were truly a part of the early history of Eastland. With the exception of a few years, Josie spent her long life here. She was one of the organizers and Charter Members of the "Pioneer Club". She was the last surviving Charter Member and was active in that club until a few years ago. For some years after the turn of the century, she was active in the Eastern Star, having been Grand Esther at one time. She was a life long member of the Methodist Church as were most of the Bedford and Steele families.

The "Susan Steele" Bible Class was founded in that church here in memory of Josie's mother. Josie married Robert F. Jones from Stephenville in 1902. He preceded her in death in 1950. This couple leaves a long list of survivors. Included are four sons. They are Robert S. Jones of Greer's Ferry Lake, Arkansas, E. Bedford Jones of Possum Kingdom Lake, Francis M. Jones of Van, Texas, Ned Jones of Cisco and Eastland; nine grandchildren; 23 great-grandchildren. Besides these direct descendants, she is survived by two nephews one of which is Russell Hill of Eastland; four nieces including Ella Birmingham of Eastland and Mrs. E.J. Skarda of Fort Worth and Lake Leon.

Josie goes now to rest beside her husband, Robert. She will not be lonesome in the Eastland Cemetery. Most of the deceased members of the Bedford and Steele families have been there for years, many, many of her life-long friends are also there. Josie was the last of a family, amongst the last of the pioneers, the last memory of an earlier time.

Since higher fuel costs are pushing the price of electricity up, it's important to use it wisely.

These two simple tools can help.

Proper insulation and weatherstripping will help you use electricity more efficiently for air conditioning. You can check the insulation and weatherstripping in your home with just a ruler and a flashlight.

Inadequate insulation is the single biggest cause of energy loss in most homes—in both summer and winter. Experts recommend about six inches of insulation in your attic.

If your attic insulation doesn't measure up, you can add more of either loose, blown-in insulation or "batts" (long strips). The loose kind of insulation settles, so it may be necessary to add more after several years.

To check the weatherstripping around exterior doors, have someone shine a flashlight around the edges of each closed door. If you can see light, it means you may have to add or replace worn weatherstripping.

Saving electric energy takes very little energy on your part, and, since electricity is costing more, it's worth the effort.

GORDON SPOT

BY DE GORDON

Fish and Wildlife personnel have been working in Eastland County this past week on a special coyote control program. This service was requested by ranchers who have suffered economic losses due to an over population of predatory animals.

About 75 ranchers met on April 15 and requested help from the Predatory Animal Control Service. Reports early in the week indicate that the program has been very successful. Thirty-two coyotes and one bobcat were killed. Coyotes were taken only on farms and ranches where the operators requested the service.

An area-wide meeting on anaplasmosis, a disease of beef cattle, will be held at 7:30 p.m. on May 1, in Stephenville at the Tarleton State University Agriculture Auditorium.

It is generally conceded that the three most important factors contributing to success for the cowman are economic production of forage, shrewd buying and selling and a sound program of animal health. In the latter area, anaplasmosis, which was once confined mostly to the Gulf Coast and East Texas, has become more important in recent years to producers in Central Texas.

All aspects of anaplasmosis will be discussed at the Stephenville meeting including economic significance, means of infection and practical control methods. Speakers and co-sponsoring groups will be Dr. Steve Hammack, Area Beef Cattle Specialist, Texas Agriculture Extension Service, Dr. Tim Mason, Professor of Animal Science; Tarleton State University, and Dr. W.W. Collins, Veterinary Consultant, American Cyanamid Co.

Pecans do well in Eastland County, but they need care and management if they are to be beautiful trees and produce large crops.

A good home management program for pecans includes fertilization, spraying and irrigation.

Apply one pound of ammonium nitrate to each tree for every inch of trunk diameter. This should be applied in two applications, one now, if you haven't already done so, and one in May. Take care not to apply a heavy concentration of fertilizer in one place, since this will kill lawn grasses.

For pecans to maintain heavy foliage and clean fruit, spray the trees with zinc for normal shoot elongation, with a fungicide for disease prevention, and use an insecticide for insect control.

Irrigation is important for leaf development and fruit production. Under normal conditions, pecans will maintain healthy growth with 30 inches of total rainfall during the calendar year. However, irrigation is necessary if it doesn't rain for 21 days during the growing season. We suggest applying water in a slow dripping or trickle release for a long period of time rather than short periods of surface sprinkling.

The importance of irrigation is pointed out by the fact that a large, mature pecan tree will use at least 50 gallons of water a day in July and August.

If pecan trees are properly fertilized, sprayed and irrigated they should be healthy and productive.
