Telephone Business Has Year Of Growth

The telephone business in Eastland indicates another year of growth for the city in 1974. Southwestern Bell added 180 telephones last year, ending the year with a total of 3,430 phones in service. According to Mrs. Burnice Gorr, local manager for the telephone company, that's an increase of about 6% since 1973.

Mrs. Gorr noted further evidence of expansion—both residential and business—is reflected in increased telephone usage.

"During the average business day in 1974 Eastland customers completed 10,515 local and 781 long distance calls", she said. "This amounts to a 6% increase in local calls over 1973. However, the number of long distance calls decreased. But in this case that's only logical—because Eastland customers received Extended Area Service this year."

"That means telephone users in Eastland are able to dial Cisco and Ranger direct without toll charge. It's just like making local calls."

Also during 1974, Eastland customers began placing their own long distance calls directly with Zero-Plus dialing, which permits telephone users to dial virtually all their own long distance telephone calls. These include person-to-person, collect, credit card, bill-to-third number and special billing calls. The city already had One-Plus dialing capabilities.

In a related project a one-story building addition was started last year in Eastland. The addition will provide space for new switching equipment to serve the city's growing local and long distance telephone needs when it's completed this year.

Band Members Selling Candy

Friday, band members will be knocking on your door selling the World's Finest Chocolate candy bars filled with whole roasted California almonds. The candy sale will last a week and the bars will cost 75¢ each.

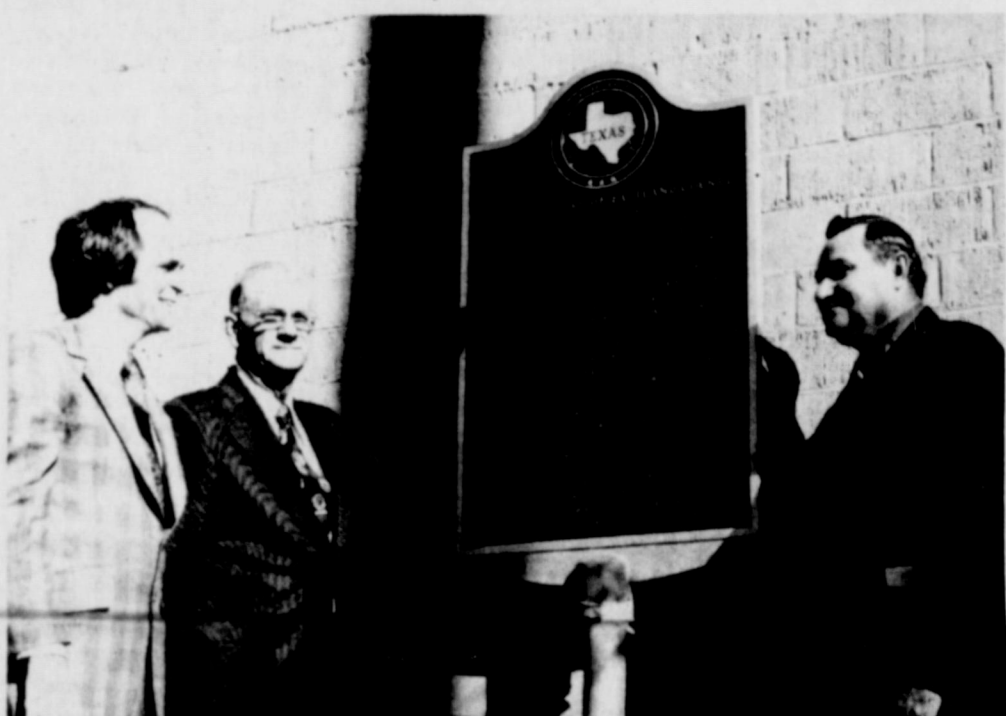

The Junior High Students who are the best salesmen will receive cash prizes of: 1st $5.00, 2nd $3.00 and 3rd $2.00.

The band boosters use the money raised by the sale in supporting the band by satisfying the needs which arise during theyear.

Southwestern Bell contributed its fair share in local taxes last year, paying about $6,000 in ad valorem property and gross receipts taxes.

The outlook for 1975 has been forecast as another year of growth in Eastland and across the state despite reports of uncertainty in the economy. The statewide construction budget for 1975 is anticipated to exceed $500 million—or about $2 million each working day.

"We expect to serve 150 more phones in Eastland in 1975; and we'll continue to honor our commitment to provide the best possible communications service here," Mrs. Gorr said.

Armstrong, Patton Receive Bank Promotions

Wyndle L. Armstrong was elevated to the position of Assistant Vice President and Ronald G. Patton to the position of Assistant Cashier of the Eastland National Bank, according to an announcement by H.T. Wilson, President, following a meeting of the Board of Directors on Thursday.

Armstrong joined the bank staff in March of 1960 as a bookkeeper, was later promoted to teller and in September, 1966, he was elevated to the position of Assistant Cashier.

Prior to his association with the bank, Armstrong held positions with the Southwestern Peanut Growers Association in Gorman, R.E. Bradshaw in Cisco, and with the Texas Highway Department in Eastland. He also had been previously associated with the bank.

Armstrong is a native of Eastland, is a graduate of Eastland High School, and attended the University of Texas. He is a member of the Abilene Chapter of the American Institute of Banking.

A bachelor, Armstrong is the son of Mrs. John H. Armstrong and the late Mr. Armstrong. He resides at 411 South Dixie Street, and is a member of the Christian Science Church.

Patton joined the staff as a teller on August 7, 1973. Prior to that he held positions with the Big Spring Farm Bureau, called the 1776 Club. The 1776 Club will aim at raising $1,776.00 for the purchase of additional historical literature for the library.

The second project announced by Lasater was without a doubt the biggest event of the day. This project was the unveiling of the new historical marker which was erected in front of the library which told in a broad outline how Eastland was founded and giving the names of the founding families.

Unveiling ceremonies were conducted by Eastland County Judge Scott Bailey and Mike Collins, chairman of the Eastland County Historical Committee, with assistance from Mayor of Eastland, W.Q. Verner.

Collins told citizens gathered at the unveiling that several more historical markers would be placed throughout the county during the next two years.

A story pertaining to three families in Eastland that are direct descendants of the founding families will be featured in next week's Telegram.

Mrs. Crabtree Service Sunday

Funeral services for Mrs. Alice Crabtree, 88, will be held Sunday at 2:30 p.m. in the Second Baptist Church with the Rev. Jasper Massee and the Rev. Bill Chaffin, pastor of the New Hope Baptist Church officiating. Interment will be in the Evergreen Cemetery.

Mrs. Crabtree was born Sept. 10, 1886, in Georgetown, Texas, and was married to W.B. Crabtree Dec. 16, 1916, in Georgetown. She was a member of the Second Baptist Church.

Survivors include three sons, Jim of Irving, Arthur of Dallas and Preston of Eastland; one daughter, Mrs. Coy (Faye) Bargsley of Ranger; one sister, Mrs. Iva Hausenfluke of Teague, Texas; 14 grandchildren; 12 great-grandchildren.

Methodist Women Meet

"The Human Side of the Trans-Alaska Pipeline" was the subject of a study presented by Mrs. Joe Stephen at the regular meeting of the United Methodist Women this week. Already begun by the United Methodist Church, now six other denominations have joined to help solve the plight of the thousands of workers on the huge pipeline. The workers are beset by isolation, loneliness, frustration and are surrounded by all the vices which follow a boom.

Alaska is no stranger to booms, the gold rush, fur trade, timber and minerals and now black gold. The 800 mile pipeline will go thru frozen wastes, mountains and under rivers and will not be completed until 1977 at a cost of over four billion dollars which is privately financed.

The churches all work thru the interdenominational organization called COCAHNA, the Council on Church and Human Need in Alaska.

Mrs. Frank Sparks gave an inspiring devotion based on Dr. Charles Allen's "Life More Abundant", entitled "When Opportunity Knocks For the Last Time".

Mrs. Herman Hassell, president, announced a meeting at the Eastland First United Methodist Church on Feb. 2, for the "Cluster" of churches from Cisco, Ranger, Rising Star and Gorman.

First Federal Savings And Loan Assets Total Over $9,107,215

At the annual meeting held Jan. 15, 1975, F.P. Brasher Sr., was re-elected President of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Ranger and W.P. Watkins, M.D., was re-elected vice president. Other officers re-elected were Bill Herod, executive vice president and secretary; Mrs. Reba Rawls, vice president and treasurer; Jerry Davis, assistant secretary; and Mrs. Hazel Underwood, loan closing officer. Eva Mills is teller and Jo Johnson is the computer operator for the First Federal.

Directors elected to serve three year terms were W.P. Watkins, M.D., and Col. B. Mills. Other Directors are F.P. Brasher Sr., Bill Herod, Dewey Cox Jr., L.R. Crossley and Reba Rawls.

In the report given by Bill Herod to the members he told them that the Assets of First Federal Savings and Loan stood at $9,107,215 at the close of business Dec. 31, 1974. This was an increase of $1,146,078 from the year before.

During the past year First Federal paid a record $458,736 in interest to its savings depositors and added $32,027 to its reserves. Total reserves are now $475,099.

"We are glad to report that 1974 was a year of progress for First Federal Savings and Loan", Herod said, "despite the continuation of very serious inflation, a decline in savings deposits and general tight money." Herod said that the key factors during 1974 were the unabated inflation, competition from the private money market instrument, and high rate government securities and the general uncertainty on the part of the American public.

"The year 1975 is probably going to get off to a slow start. However, hopefully as the months go by we will see some concrete improvement in the economy," Herod said. "Here again the key to the whole situation is how much of a dent we are going to put in the inflation. Hopefully if the public is serious in its desire to stop inflation, we may see some good results."

Herod said that during 1974

First Federal Savings financed 120 homes in and around Eastland County. In total the association made $1,719,465 in mortgage loans.

"The rates we are paying now on our savings accounts and certificates of deposits are the highest on record and the highest allowed by law", Herod said. "While we saw Americans seeking higher rate investments during 1974 all the evidence points to the fact that they are coming home to the shoddy unglamorous—but completely dependable—passbook account. This was evidenced by the fact that during the last quarter of 1974 savings deposits definitely began to improve." "I predict that 1975 will see a definite improvement."

Christie Oil Co. of Breckenridge will drill No. 16 T.J. Earnest in the regular field five miles northwest of Ranger.

Having a proposed depth of 2,100 feet, it spots 1,600 feet from the south and 660 feet from the east lines of the west half of Section 127. HT&B Survey.

Try-Outs For Civic Theatre To Be Tuesday

Try-outs for Eastland Civic Theatre's two one-act plays will be held Tuesday evening at 7 p.m. at Bell Hurst Theatre, east of Eastland. Anyone, whether formerly active with the theatre or not, who would like to read for a part is asked to attend.

"Several one-act plays are being considered," Virginia Russell, director, said. "Which plays are selected will depend in part on those who are available for casting."

For this reason, she urged that anyone who has any interest at all attend this particular meeting.

"Is My Baby All Right?", a comprehensive book on the causes, treatment, and prevention of birth defects, is a valuable resource for both health professionals and the public. The authors are Dr. Virginia Apgar and Joan Back.

SEEDS FROM THE SOWER

By Michael A. Guido, Metter, Georgia

A little girl went to a rally with her mother and father. The auditorium was crowded and in the confusion she was separated from her parents.

The master of ceremonies announced, "Little Mary Jones is lost. Her family is worried. If anyone has seen her please go to the door and tell her parents." No one moved.

At the close, when the people were making their way out, a lady noticed Mary sitting on the front pew. Going over to her, she asked, "Mary, didn't you hear the man asking about you? Why didn't you let them know you were here?"

Surprised, she asked, "Did they mean me? They said Mary Jones was lost. I'm not lost. I knew where I was all the time. I thought it was some other Mary Jones."

Mary Jones was lost and did not know it. How many others are like her. But one who was lost knew it. He cried in Psalm 119:176, "I have gone astray like a lost sheep; seek Thy servant."

Are you lost? Cry to the Lord, "Seek Thy servant." He will.

The Lord Jesus is the Shepherd of our souls. In His love He cares for us; in His power He will protect us; and in His wisdom He will guide us. Trust Him!

Most peanut producers in Eastland County do everything possible to reduce the uncertainty and risks in their farming programs, but Spring drought and Fall rains combined to make it difficult this past year. Peanut producers are learning more about methods of controlling insects and diseases. They are doing a better job of soil management and weed control. But there are still some factors the producer cannot control. The main one being the weather. The weather can prevent the producer from applying some of the management practices to control pests. One management tool available that insures against uncontrollable losses is federal crop insurance. William Felton Jackson, field representative for the Federal Crop Insurance Corp. (FCIC), will be in Eastland County for a limited time explaining provisions of the FCIC's "All Risk" peanut insurance plan for the 1975 crop to growers who are interested. Insurance is a management device designed to meet the problem of risks. For Eastland County peanut growers, using it to avoid large losses is the cheapest form of protection. It enables farmers to substitute regular annual premiums—fixed operating expenses—for irregular losses. Jackson says the "All-Risk" peanut insurance plan provides protection for insured crops from the time of planting until harvest. A guarantee of good quality nuts at the minimum average support price per pound as established for the crop year is provided. Should protection on an insured unit fall below this guarantee due to uncontrollable natural causes, Federal Crop Insurance pays the difference in cash up to the guarantee level. As production costs—fertilizer, seed, labor, chemicals and machinery—continue to soar, it is more necessary than ever for farmers to protect against crop destruction. This is especially true if borrowed money is at stake. During the 1974 growing season 7,300 farm units in Texas were insured with Federal Crop Insurance protecting $31.5 million worth of growing crops. FCIC is a self-help program administered as a public corporation by the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Jackson may be contacted at the Ramada Inn at Eastland. His telephone number is 817-629-2655. You may also contact him through the ASCS office.

Peanut Showdown Nears

Peanut grower leaders and top USDA officials met in Farmville, North Carolina on December 30 to continue program discussions initiated by Representative Walter Jones, (D N.C.), Chairman of the Oilseeds and Rice Subcommittee, House Agriculture Committee, on December 4. According to Ross Wilson, Southwestern Peanut Growers' Association Manger, the December 30 session was held in the hometown of Chairman Jones since Congress is in recess for the holidays. Heading the USDA delegation were Assistant Secretary Clayton Yetter and ASCS Administrator Kenneth Frick. Secretary Yetter pressed persistently for support of the USDA target plan for peanuts. USDA supports a target price of $300 per ton; a 1.2 million acre allotment (the present allotment is 1.6 million acres); unlimited production beyond the proposed 1.2 million acre allotment for unrestricted use and a loan level of $180 per ton for all production. Wilson said that growers again made clear their total rejection of the target price concept. The policy of the National Peanut Growers Group permits negotiation with USDA on a variety of program modification approaches, but the exceptions include the target plan as well as any plan not including a reversion clause calling for a return to the present program in the event of termination of temporary legislation. Consideration was shifted from the target price plan to the Jones bill introduced by Representative Walter Jones during the past Congressional session. The basic provisions of the bill included retention of the present national acreage allotment of 1.6 million; 70 percent of parity (net) for allotment production and unlimited production for crushing and export to be supported at 42 percent of parity. Yetter stated repeatedly that USDA could not defend the present allotment of 1.6 million acres. He indicated the Department might accept 1.2 million acres (the approximate acreage needed to supply domestic demand). Wilson said that growers emphasized to Yetter that a sudden acreage reduction of this size would be extremely difficult for the industry to cope with. Variations of smaller acreage reductions were discussed by the group. Secretary Yetter did state that USDA would support the reversion (snap back) feature in any temporary legislation that might be agreed upon. USDA officials conceded that there apparently will be no legislative program changes for the 1975 crop. With respect to administrative changes, however, the decisions are yet to be made and depend on whether growers and USDA come to agreement on legislative changes. Administrative changes being considered by USDA for the 1975 crop year include elimination of allotment lease and sale, and increase in the sales level on CCC stocks to 115 percent of support price and transfer of area grower association price support functions to ASCS. Wilson reported that Yetter was to report the results of this meeting to Secretary Butz and that the Assistant Secretary would communicate with the Grower Group once the Secretary has responded. If USDA is negotiable on anything short of the target price concept, Wilson said, we will continue to work with the Department on possible legislative changes. If not, he predicted the Grower Group Steering Committee will be assembling soon to plan its all out opposition to the USDA target price legislation.

Texas DPS Declares '74 "Safest Year"

AUSTIN--Though final figures won't be available until late March, it appears that 1974 was the safest year on Texas streets and highways in a decade. And if the traffic death rate per 100 million miles is compared with prior years, 1974 was the safest year on record. Colonel Wilson E. Speir, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, said he believes the 1974 traffic toll will reach 3,042 when all reports are received. If so, this will be a saving of 650 lives from the record 3,692 lives lost in 1973. The latest comparable death toll was 1964 when 3,006 persons were killed in Texas traffic. Of the 3,042 deaths, it is estimated that the final rural total will be 1,817 with 1,225 traffic fatalities estimated to have occurred in incorporated cities. Rural deaths decreased about 19.2 percent from 1973 totals, while those in cities are down approximately 15.1 percent. Speir said the death rate per 100 million vehicle miles, which is the nationally accepted criteria of traffic safety effectiveness, is forecast to be 3.9. Last year it was 4.6, with these numbers comparing to 14.6, when the DPS first began tabulating traffic statistics in 1937. The DPS director said total vehicle traffic accidents during 1974 were down more than six percent from 1973. The latter year saw 464,226 collisions compared to an estimated 432,100 in 1974. "In normal times, we might have expected increases in both accidents and deaths during 1974", Speir said. He noted that both licensed drivers and awareness generated by both governmental and private efforts. On the subject of enforcement, the DPS chief pointed out that Highway Patrol troopers last year issued a record 678,664 speeding citations—an increase of 121 percent from the 306,668 in 1973. Moreover, the 1974 speeding arrests alone exceeded total Highway Patrol arrests for all violations in 1973. Total arrests for all violations in 1974 exceeded 950,000. Speir cautioned that an increasing disregard for the 55 mile speed limit, as evidenced by the arrest figures, may cause deaths to rise once more in 1975. He pointed out that the largest reductions in total fatal accidents during 1974 came early in the year when there was better voluntary compliance with the speed law. Fourteen countries have a lower infant death rate than the United States, according to the March of Dimes.

This is the time of year when we are likely to have ice on the ground as we did a few days ago. Using salt to melt ice on sidewalks, streets and driveways can injure nearby trees, shrubs and lawn grass. Salt may drain into the ground when ice melts and damage the root systems of nearby grass and shrubs. Salt in the root systems of trees can cause partial or complete burning of leaves and may result in the loss of valuable trees and shrubs. Patches of dead grass may also result. These effects may not show up until early summer. You could use ammonium nitrate fertilizer instead of salt to melt ice. Ammonium nitrate not only melts the ice, but fertilizes shrubs and plants in the lawn. If you can't buy ammonium nitrate, any commercial fertilizer that is high in nitrogen can be used. Care must be taken to use only enough fertilizer to melt the ice, as a high concentration of fertilizer in the soil can also damage plants. Sand can also be used to melt ice on sidewalks and driveways. It provides good traction for cars and pedestrians and is no more damaging to floors and rugs than salt.

Rangeland Is Important To Eastland County

Rangeland constitutes a large acreage of Eastland County. Rangeland is noncultivated land producing native vegetation for grazing. Much of the agricultural income and food for the residents of Eastland County is produced by grazing animals.

Wildlife adds income and pleasure. A range with a good cover of grasses and other forage plants protects watersheds and prevents heavy siltation of reservoirs and other water-holding structures. Proper stocking with higher producing livestock on good condition ranges will produce more net income for the producer.

Each of us has a "steak" in the rangeland since it is the major grazing area of our meat supply. It is important in the production of wool and leather products, as a source of water, wildlife and many kinds of recreation. It is just as important for the non-user of rangelands to promote its conservation and maintenance for future use as it is for the person operating and living on the range.

Our rangeland is one of our most valuable natural resources and has played a major role in the settlement and prosperity of Eastland County.

Today's ranchman has to be more efficient, and profitable ranching means producing livestock at the lowest cost possible. Range forage is the lowest cost feed available although the quality may be poor at times. The deficiencies in quality can be corrected with protein and mineral supplements.

To obtain maximum sustained livestock and forage production at the lowest cost the rangeland must be properly used. Proper use means grazing at an intensity that will maintain or improve vegetation in a consistent with the conservation of natural resources. Proper use generally means removing 50% by weight of the current year's forage growth. Yet, proper use may mean no use when improvement in range condition is desired.

About 50% by weight of the current year's growth should be left to maintain a healthy vigorous plant which can use water efficiently by reducing rapid run-off, reducing evaporation, increasing forage production and grazing capacity. Complete removal of grass tops may result temporarily in higher livestock yields than with proper grazing, but production will not be sustained. Heavy grazing use jeopardizes the health of the forage plant and, if continued, causes the plant to die.

Excessive grazing not only lowers livestock performances and production causing a decrease in profit, but will also cause a decrease in wildlife production. A deterioration of the recreational facilities will also occur. So, therefore, we all have a "steak" in maintaining one of our most important natural resources, our rangeland.

For information on proper utilization and conservation of our rangeland contact your local Soil Conservation Service Office. We are in the yellow pages of your phone directory listed under "Government-United - States."

Missouri Pacific System Announces All-Time High Capital Expenditures Budget

The Missouri Pacific System once again is establishing new records in all significant areas of its operations in 1974 and announcing an all-time high capital expenditures budget of about $132,000,000 for 1975.

For 1974, new corporate records will be set for: net income, gross revenues, ton-miles of service and expenditures for modernization. It is also quite possible that MoPac will experience a greater percentage gain in revenues than any other major railroad in the United States.

During the past year, MoPac invested approximately $125,000,000 in capital improvement including $84,000,000 for the acquisition of 2,519 freight cars and 91 locomotives. Already on order, as part of its $132,000,000 capital improvements program for 1975, are 80 locomotives and 2,500 freight cars at a cost of $100,000,000. It represents the largest equipment order in the 124 year history of the Missouri Pacific System.

While final financial results for 1974 are not yet known, it is apparent that MoPac will substantially surpass its 1973 earnings. By the end of the third quarter of 1974, consolidated net income totaled $41,354,000 compared with $30,895,000 for all of 1973.

Business was uneven this past year, reflecting the state of the national economy. MoPac experiences sharp gains in such major markets as chemicals, coal, paper and intermodal traffic, including piggyback and containerization. These increases in addition to generally normal levels of business within MoPac's 12-state territory, were enough to offset sharp declines in such areas as automobiles and parts, forest products and food grains. The losses in the first two markets are attributed directly to declines in housing and automotive sales. Grain traffic, however, is being compared against 1973, a year which found the railroads hauling the equivalent of two normal harvest years in order to help the country meet its heavy export commitments. Industrial development activity continued to be brisk in the

Family And Children Relationship

COLLEGE STATION -- Many parents resolve to begin the new year by strengthening relationships with their children. But this takes more effort than just saying the words, according to one family life education specialist.

She's Ilene Carrington, with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"Good relationships don't just happen -- they must be nurtured," she reminded.

One of a parent's main responsibilities should be to help a child become independent so he'll be ready to leave home. Becoming a mature individual who can accept responsibility for his actions begins early, she pointed out.

"Parents encourage independence by providing opportunities for their children to learn how to behave in a variety of situations.

"Sometimes a child needs positive instructions to help him know what is appropriate behavior. Sincere praise for accomplishments promotes a feeling of self-confidence and a willingness to try something new," she said.

Parents help children learn to make their own decisions by discussing a situation and all possible alternatives. They promote an atmosphere which encourages an exchange of ideas and feelings by showing tolerance and respect for the young person's viewpoint -- even when it differs from their own.

"They teach cooperation through activities at home which help the child learn to get along with others," Miss Carrington explained.

Hallelujah! Yes, let his people praise him as they stand in his Temple courts. Praise the Lord because he is so good; sing to his wonderful name. For the Lord has chosen Israel as his personal possession. I know the greatness of the Lord -- that he is greater far than any other god. He does whatever pleases him throughout all of heaven and earth, and in the deepest seas. He makes mists rise throughout the earth and sends the lightning to bring down the rain; and sends the winds from his treasures.

WHAT AM I?

Often I am unrecognized - particularly in the very young.

I make the elderly suffer. So much, they may cut themselves off from family and friends... and they know the heartbreak of loneliness.

I rob more than 22 million Americans of much that is good. I undermine their confidence and eat away their social life.

I am equally hard on the rich and poor. I cause trouble on the job and in the home. Yet, few of those I attack do anything to fight me, because no one wants to admit I exist. I am a hearing problem.

Early detection is important. We'll be happy to give you a free electronic hearing test. Just call or stop in.

Do You Remember When?

By H.L. Duncan

In the early days of the century, the rural communities earned their livelihood by farming the land. They used farming equipment pulled by horses and mules.

Cows were used to furnish the milk for the table. The women churned the cream off the milk to provide the butter needed by the family. The vegetable garden was tended by the women generally. They also worked in the field as their time permitted.

Earthen ponds were built at suitable locations where drainage directed the run-off of rains and melting snow into the ponds. These ponds were built by the use of a scoop type tool called a "slip". It was rigged with a bail hitched to the double-tree which was drawn by the horses. These slips were equipped with wooden handles so that the man could tilt the front down to fill with dirt then it would slide on the ground until the dirt it carried could be deposited on the dam. When it reached the place, he dumped the dirt by raising the handles until the front dug into the ground and turned the slip over dumping the dirt. This process required many long hours to complete a pond for providing water the livestock on the farm would need each day.

Could It Happen Again?

Buying From Ward's Catalog Saves Money

Millions of young American families, facing the economic uncertainties of 1975, are discovering for themselves - something earlier generations learned over the years: buying through catalogs saves money, time and energy.

Montgomery Ward's 1975 spring and summer general catalog, now being mailed to more than six million customers "offers 1,200 pages of outstanding merchandise for serious savers", reports Gene Frost, local Ward's catalog agent.

"In times like these all smart consumers are looking for ways to stretch their dollars without shrinking their standard of living", adds Ward's catalog merchandise vice president,

S.W. Allred. One place to look is a good general catalog, which should be a "guide to the consumer, a textbook on many subjects, a representative of the company and a reference for the entire family". Allred says, "We wanted our catalog to fill all these needs," Allred explains. "This was our aim and we accomplished it."

Here are some suggestions which Allred says are "representative of Ward's commitment to meet customers more than half way in the struggle to save money and energy."

* As food costs continue to soar, Ward's can guide you in cutting culinary overhead at almost every stage from seed to table.

* "Family Vegetable Garden" kit will yield more than 175 lbs. of nourishing produce on a plot only 10' by 10'.

* Garden tools and implements range from small hand-tools to giant tractors and tillers.

* Protective fencing comes in galvanized metal, redwood or cedar; Ward's will lend all necessary tools for a refundable deposit.

* "Food Prep Center" includes pressure canners, slicers, salad makers, freezer supplies and wall-mounted "Seal-a-meal" to package foods.

* Freezers let you take advantage of cost savings from either home-grown or bargain-priced foods.

To put the damper on rising costs of heating and cooling your home:

* Insulating storm screen doors rebuff both heat and cold.

* Aluminum awnings shade windows in summer and roll up to capture the sun in winter; never need to be taken down.

* Solar-X reflective window film deflects most of the sunlight in summer, bounces back room heat in winter, reduces fading of furnishings.

* Climatrol, Ward's acrylic foam backing for draperies, insulates against heat, cold and noise and adds a heavier, richer look.

Do-it-yourselfers will discover a handy reference library on parts and service items for home repairs in the catalog. Offered are 20 books of instructions on projects from Auto Engine Tune-Up to Upholstering. Good money-saving, space-saving and energy-saving ideas for improving or beautifying your home fill 35 pages.

Homemakers can profit by using the catalog as a textbook in other areas, too.

* Many will find it economical-and fun-to make their own clothing. Ward's selection of sewing machines offers a multitude of features and guarantees up to 30 years.

* Double-knit polyester fabrics in the newest prints are offered at Ward's lowest prices in three years.

* Fashion designs for both men and women let you team high fashion items for combinations that will be right for any occasion. For example, machine washable men's suits never need to go to the cleaners and you can get four great looks for the price of two by mixing and matching.

* No-iron clothing saves not only time and effort in the laundry but saves energy equal to ten 100-watt light bulbs.

* Bicycles not only save energy and money, but build your physical health-perhaps help you earn a Presidential Sports Award, Ward's catalog tells you how.

* Proper automobile tire inflation saves money on gas and on needless tread wear. New this year is Pressur Checkur (TM), that attaches permanently to the valve stem to warn of under-inflation.

* Ward's Grappler steel-belted radial tires can give up to 11% better gas mileage at 50 mph than many original equipment fiberglass belted tires.

"These few suggestions", Frost says, "prove there are better things to do than just worry about the economist's gloomy forecasts. Ward's new catalog can give the conscientious consumer countless ways of riding out the storm-and doing it in style."

Using electricity more efficiently for heating takes very little energy on your part.

A lower thermostat setting will result in less energy use. The setting of 65°-68° has been recommended for energy conservation. If you are going to be away, turn your thermostat down to a lower setting or turn it off unless freezing weather could damage plumbing and appliances.

Keep the filters clean and enjoy cleaner air. Check them at least once each month. Dirty filters cause the equipment to work harder and use more electricity.

Insulation is very important and can pay for itself by lowering your heating costs. In fact, you can save as much as 20% or more on energy consumption if your home is insulated to meet FHA standards.

Help seal in the heat you're paying for by weatherstripping the doors and windows.

Open the draperies or shades on the sunny side of the house and let the sunshine in. Otherwise, keep the draperies and shades closed to help keep the warm air in.

When your fireplace is not in use, be sure the damper is tightly closed.

For more ideas on how to use your electric service wisely, call us, we'd like to help.
