If you think the farmers of this section are disheartened and not trying to do anything for themselves, you have another thought coming. A representative of this newspaper for the past few days, has been interviewing people of the rural districts with the view of ascertaining what they are doing for themselves in a commercial way; what they think of Eastland and its business men and what they think the people of Eastland can do to help the farmers and at the same time help themselves. Later we may have something to say from the business man's standpoint.

CATTLE IN THE BIG BEND COUNTRY.
A San Angelo correspondent writes more cattle were sent to other pastures or to feed in Texas this year from the Big Bend country than ever before, although out of state movement was about average. More than 350 cars were shipped from Alpine in the fall of the year. Furthermore with trading completed the number of steers left in the country is the lowest in years, with the range in excellent condition "and an excellent season in the ground."
Wool and mohair cooperatives will hold a conference Jan. 8, at which time the cooperatives will make important decisions in regard to forthcoming operations. A reminder that John Simpson, former president of the Farmers Union, has branded Alexander W. Legge as "a dictator." There are times when dictators are needed. They dismount or are dismounted when their work has been completed.

TEXANS INCREASE WHEAT ACREAGE.
Frank Kell 10 years ago predicted that the Panhandle and Plains sections would be given over to wheat raising in coming time. He is a man of vision. Now in the Texas Panhandle, according to the figures, there is a large increase in acreage over a year ago. Figures are 3,152,000 acres compared with 3,060,000 acres last year and 2,710,000 acres two years ago. According to the agriculture editor of the Dallas News, "wheat in the Texas Panhandle at present is said to be selling in some places for 55 cents per bushel which is stated to be about the cost of production where raised under large scale operations."

A PETROLEUM SANTA CLAUS AT AMARILLO.
Why not page W. E. McElroy, oil man of Amarillo, and whisper in his ear, "Howdy—Happy New Year." Petroleum McElroy on Christmas morning hit the town to get a shave and a haircut. A newsboy entered the shop. Petroleum gave him $5 for his 11 papers and bade the lad go home and spend Christmas with his father and mother. Well the newsboy was loyal to his little pals. He gave the tip. All the newsboys made a beeline for the barber shop. Petroleum bought all the supply on hand and every newsboy in Amarillo was richer by $5 and some of them $10. Did Petroleum get a thrill? He certainly did. That man had a heart. Away back in his own boyhood, or perhaps later along in years, perhaps he knew what it was to be on his uppers on a Christmas morning. It is the human heart and the human touch that makes the world go around.

Mavericks Play First Home Game Of Season Tonight

By TERRELL COLEMAN
The Eastland Maverick Basketball team will continue their drive for basketball honors in the Oil Belt basketball league here tonight when they encounter the strong Albany team. It will be the first home game of the conference season for the Mavericks. The Albany team is one of the strongest teams ever to represent them in the history of their school.

Albany, fresh from its team victory over the Banner Bulldogs Tuesday night, have established themselves as a great offensive team, while the Mavs have not exhibited much defense in their previous contests but have been rather impressive in their point making. Coach Gladden was busy with his charges Thursday afternoon, correcting the glaring errors which appeared in the Breckenridge game Saturday night. The Maverick guards will have to be more careful on their defense or face the stout Lion offense.

Coach Gladden has not definitely decided upon his starters at two positions. Desmond Daniels is sure to start at center and Rex Clark and Luke Weems are sure starters at forward and guard, respectively. At the other forward, Gladden may start either Estes Burgundy or Zack Meek. At the other guard, Hal Dean, last year's letterman, and Fred Gary will probably divide time. The Taylor brothers, Lee and Willie, will probably see action at guard and Carl LeClair, a first year man, may get in some time at forward.

On Saturday night the Mavericks will be engaged in an intra-district contest with the Mineral Wells Mountaineers. These two teams met earlier in the season with the Mountaineers winning by a close margin.
Bleachers have been erected in the high school gym that will accommodate several hundred spectators. The contest will start at 7:30 p. m. Scranton and Colony, two strong rural teams, will play after the Maverick and Lion game.
An additional bill in tonight's program will be two games between the Colony and Scranton schools. The girls clubs will play before the Maverick game and the boys from these two schools will play immediately after the main event on the program.

Sawville, Abilene Eagle forward, is the leading scorer of the league through the first week of play. The standing of the teams at the end of the first week of play:
Abilene 2 0 1000

"Right To Love" Is Dramatic Sensation

Ruth Chatterton, the celebrated actress of the stage and screen, plays a dual role in her newest starring picture, "The Right To Love." As a matter of fact, she really plays three separate and distinct parts. For in this stirring dramatization of the well known Susan Glaspell novel, "Brook Evans," Miss Chatterton is seen as Naomi Kellogge as a young girl; Naomi Kellogge years later as the wife of Caleb Evans; and finally Brook Evans, daughter of Naomi. In these widely contrasted roles Miss Chatterton rises to lofty heights, imparting to her characterizations the warmth and understanding which have always made her portrayals so magnificently alive and vital. Too, in "The Right To Love" Miss Chatterton is the central figure of a fine, sensitive, compelling love story that commands attention, a story not only dramatic but also one which is so humanly and so humanly touching that it will appeal to every man and woman. In some respects, unconventional in theme, "The Right To Love" remains a picture of which the motion picture industry may well be proud.

To Richard Wallace, the director, much credit must be given for the imaginative treatment accorded "The Right To Love." His building of atmosphere and situation is one of the many high lights of a truly outstanding picture.

Supporting the brilliant work of the star, Miss Chatterton, is Paul Lukas, Oscar Apfel, David Manners and Irving Pichel, all of whom are splendidly cast.
"The Right To Love" will be shown at the Lyric Theatre Sunday and Monday.

Cash Grocery To Celebrate Its First Birthday

The Cash Grocery & Market, located on the north side of the square at the corner of Commerce and Lamar streets, and owned and operated by J. O. Earnest and W. W. Walters, is Saturday celebrating the first anniversary of the opening of the store, which was opened one year ago tomorrow.
J. O. Earnest, who has charge of the grocery department of the business, is an Eastland county boy. He has been conducting a successful grocery and market business in Eastland for a number of years, and is recognized as one of the best grocers in this section. He is ably assisted in the store by Mrs. J. O. Earnest and Henry Ferrell.
W. W. Walters, who has charge of the meat department, has been engaged in the same line of business for a long time and has always been successful. Mr. Walters is assisted in this department by Chas. Lehms.

The Cash Grocery & Market uses an individual system for displaying merchandise, which is, in some respects, similar to the help-yourself systems. A full and complete line of staple and fancy groceries, choice meats and fresh vegetables are always kept in stock. The store carries almost completely to nationally advertised brands of merchandise.
A number of wholesalers and jobbers are joining with the Cash Grocery & Market in celebrating its first anniversary, and beginning Saturday morning and continuing throughout next week the store is offering special prices on all merchandise handled by them. Wholesalers and jobbers will give special departments of goods they handle during the celebration.

Victor B. Gilbert

The forthcoming legislature will be the longest ever held as it comes under the new law providing for a 120 day regular session every two years.
"The time of payment of one-half ad valorem taxes should be postponed until August," he said. "Under the present law the entire amount of taxes is paid in January and this immense sum of money, insofar as the state is concerned, lies in banks throughout the year and is used as needed. I believe it would serve a better purpose to remain in the pockets of the people until needed rather than in the state depositories."
With reference to the economic situation prevailing at this time Gilbert declared that he has consistently sponsored public work projects and the employment of local labor thereon for the purpose of relieving unemployment among the needy.
"I believe the highway department should allocate every dollar possible in improving the road system of the state at this time in order to give employment to the largest number of local citizens possible. The federal government should devote its efforts to starting what public building projects it can and in what improvements, such as rivers, harbors and canals, it plans.

Eight Hour Day
"An eight-hour day should be prescribed by statute for oil field workers. As it is they work 12 hours a day which is too long and too wearisome for men to perform the arduous duties incident to that work. This would also introduce three shifts a day instead of two which would take care of one-third more workmen and to that extent relieve the unemployment situation. It would further have a tendency to reduce the premiums paid for compensation insurance by contractors and others employing labor, as my investigation reveals that fully 75 per cent of the accidents and injuries to employees occur during last four hours of their work when they are fatigued.
"A reduction in premium would eventually mean better wages for the employees as they are indirectly charged for the insurance in the long run."
Rep. Gilbert said that he believes that the highways should be made more safe by the more efficient regulation of motor buses and large motor vans which in many instances "choke the road" and move at an exorbitant rate of speed thereby menacing other traffic and causing untold damage to the highways.

public appearance here of the Breckenridge Presbyterian choir. With nineteen members of this splendid and capable organization from Breckenridge were asked to stand some thirty-five or forty arose. A splendid delegation from Ranger was present and were also heartily welcomed. Chaplain Markley then introduced Mrs. Markley to the congregation who received a very warm ovation.
During the consecration service at the close of the worship period, Doctor Robison called on three ruling elders to lead in prayer, Messrs. T. L. Dyer and McCluney of Breckenridge and Baker of Ranger. It was a time of great spiritual refreshing and there were many tear-dimmed eyes as the service came to a close. It is the general opinion of spiritual leaders here in Eastland that these meetings are proving a great benefit to the city as well as the local congregation of the Presbyterian church.

Tonight the special sessions of this church will be the many students of the local high school and Chaplain Markley will deliver a special message to these splendid young people. The services begin each night at seven-thirty o'clock and the entire public is most cordially invited to attend. Those who enjoyed the singing of the vested choir last night will be glad to know that on Sunday night the junior choir of the Chaplain's church will be here to assist their pastor and the good people of Eastland in a great service.

Pacific Coast Baseball Club Presidents Meet

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 9.—Pacific Coast league magnates met here today to consider the draft ultimatum of the majors among other matters.
Indications were that the coast league would vote to continue the universal draft, Portland, Oakland, Los Angeles, Seattle, Missions and Hollywood were understood to favor the draft, with only the other two opposed to it.
The election of a president also was scheduled to come up during the two-day session. Harry Williams, who has served as president of the league for seven years, seemed assured of the presidency despite the fact that two votes since the 1930 season closed failed to give him the necessary majority.
J. W. Benschoff said he had been reading the Telegram and was interested in the proposed produce market in Eastland. "Establish a market in Eastland and buy, at some price, all of the produce that is brought in. There is a market where it can be resold, and if the grower comes to Eastland with it he is certain to spend at least some of the money he gets for it in Eastland."
The farmers of this section would be all right and could not need much help if they had a good market in Eastland for their produce, M. H. Fox said.
E. D. Houston was of the opinion that the poultry industry alone will make the farmers of this section independent if there is a good market in Eastland. He thinks there should be at least one more poultry house in Eastland.
O. E. Dabbs likes Eastland as a town and likes the people, but he is of the opinion that a lot of the business men of the town don't care about the farmer's trade.

Final Stocks
NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—Stocks reacted in the late trading today on heavy profit-taking.
A sharp uprush in the railroad division which sent one stock up 16 points and others 1 to 7 points, was arrested by a statement by Gen. W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania railroad, that the consolidation plan in the east would not be effective for four or five years.
Chemical shares broke on price cuts. A reduction to 10c a pound for domestic copper by some sellers brought the coppers down. Lyle in the day dealers reduced 1/2 point and the rubber shares joined the reaction.
Brokers had warned traders against over-extension of their lines, anticipating a technical reaction. Hence when the market showed signs of weakness they were quick to unload for what profit they could get. The decline gathered headway as the close neared.
Before the decline set in wide gains had been run up in such rails as Pittsburgh & West Virginia, New York Central, Pennsylvania, Atchison and Baltimore & Ohio.

Tyler Team Is Given Second Feed

TYLER, Tex., Jan. 9.—For the second time within the week, the state champion Tyler high school football team of 1930 was honored Thursday when the Parent Teacher's association here banqueted the victors in the first celebration of its kind.
Among the speakers on the program was John Wilcox, bulwark at right guard on Tyler teams of the past two seasons, who has been unanimously elected by his mates as the 1931 captain. Wilcox won a Munn as this year on the all-state mythical eleven.
Superior intelligence of their team was attributed the winning factor in the schoolboy race by Coaches Foite and King.

New Legislature Getting Ready For Long Term

AUSTIN, Tex., Jan. 9.—Opening of the 42nd Texas Legislature Tuesday for a session of 120 days is bringing Austin a thousand increase in population.
Enough of the 182 members now are here to assure success of the double day votes for the both House and Senate when the gavel falls at noon. Lee Satterwhite, who was House speaker when he represented a Panhandle district, is here for the session. He represents the Odessa district now.
Due to the extended session and the doubled day votes for this Legislature, practically all have brought their families. The session too offers employment for more than 200 non-members. Five hundred at least are here seeking the places.
Legislative committees, opening headquarters, "legal representatives" of various industries and the mysterious "lobbyists" who cause so much concern every two years are filling the capital city's hotels and boarding houses.

Demand For Flats

The longer session and more time for flats and apartments greater in proportion than usual. Single members and those leaving the family back home are in the main patronizing the hotels this time. With a day they can afford to lead a hotel is making a room for two of the legislators take it together for the whole session.
Action of the session is difficult to forecast. Line have not yet drawn the heavy session has been much preliminary jockeying. More than half the 150 members of the House are new members. The Senate has seven new members among its 31 and a new lieutenant governor.

Minor For Speaker

Election of Fred Minor of Denton as speaker of the House of Representatives seemed a foregone conclusion.
Tuesday's proceedings will be limited to organization. Following old custom the Senate will caucus in secret, fight out its distribution of the patronage and then quickly adopt the slate agreed upon in the caucus. Bob Parker of Fort Worth seems to be assured of reelection as secretary of the senate. He was for many sessions chief clerk of the House, and has been on the Senate staff for six preceding legislatures. A contest for assistant secretary is being waged by Morris Hankins of Robstown, who is for many sessions chief clerk of the House, and John Dupriest of Austin, formerly of the attorney general's department. Jack Lynch, center newspaper man, will be secretary to Lieutenant Governor Wit.
The fight for chief clerk of the House is being made by Mrs. Louise Snow Phillips of Denton, election and John G. Ross, who is in charge of the stenographic force at the last session.
Joe White and Randolph Roberts, both former sergeants at arms of the House, are contesting for the place this time.
Cory T. Sheats, member of the 40 Legislature from Franklin, now living in Austin is also seeking to be sergeant at arms.

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for Jan. 11. The Childhood of Jesus, Luke 2:10-32. By WM. E. GILROY, D. D. Editor of the Congregationalist.

The striking incident in the twelfth year of Jesus which occupies the greater part of our lesson, though it forms a dramatic episode in the long years concerning which we have little record of the Master, is told with simplicity and impressiveness.

able to converse with the doctors in the temple in such a way as to win their attention and wonder. But the story carries its own authority. It is told with a simple realism that reminds us that the boy Jesus was as remarkable as the man Jesus, and it reveals only what we might expect at the age of 12 from the man of later years.

Had Deep Religious Interest The age of 12 was a crucial and important age in the life of the Jewish boy. Almost as much as the age of 21 today it marked his passing from childhood to manhood so far as responsibility was concerned.

Teachers Not So Learned The world's teachers have not after all been so learned that a little child could not ask them questions which they would find it hard to answer, and in almost every age the lore of the learned has represented such a complex and artificially developed mechanism of knowledge that a thoughtful child preaching truth with earnestness and simplicity might challenge the doctors. Doctors have sometimes assumed a knowledge that they did not really possess.

But be with all external impressions and wonder at the scene around him was the boy's deep interest in religion. The temple itself must have impressed him with its imposing plan and achievement.

One can easily conjecture the nature of the boy's questions and answers as he sat among the learned teachers.

FOUR candles! And each one represents a year of joyous living. Little Wanda Greathouse, of 716 West 12th St., Dallas, is a typical Fig Syrup baby. Here is what her mother says:

"I heard a lot about California Fig Syrup, so when my baby, Wanda, became constipated I got some for her. It relieved her constipation immediately, gave her an appetite, made her bright and happy again."

"I have also used Fig Syrup for her colds and upsets. It has kept her strong and vigorous."

For fifty years, wise mothers have been secure in the knowledge that a child's headachy, bilious, feverish or fretful spells can be quickly and safely overcome by California Fig Syrup. Physicians recommend its soothing aid to keep the bowels clear in colds, or children's ailments; or whenever bad breath, coated tongue, or listlessness warn of constipation.

California Fig Syrup helps tone and strengthen weak bowels—assists in building-up and energizing weak children. The genuine always bears the name California. All drugstores.

Old Quebec Makes Merry on Its Triple-Track Toboggan Slide

What more thrilling sport can outdoor enthusiasts have than tobogganing—slipping down a steep, snow-covered slope with joyous, carefree companions, the wind whistling about one's ears and the frosty air painting one's cheeks a glorious, healthy pink? Tobogganing is one of America's most popular winter diversions, and its devotees claim that, with the possible exception of skiing, there is nothing to approach it in thrills.

Quebec, Canada's Ancient Capital, situated high above the broad St. Lawrence, has provided for its winter visitors the triple-track toboggan slide shown above—one of the finest in North America. It starts from the Citadel (an interesting old fort, still occupied by troops) and extends down the steep slopes of Citadel Hill, along Dufferin Terrace past the Chateau Frontenac. This splendid slide is always thronged with merry-makers who stage impromptu races and revel in the quickening sport to their heart's content. At night the slide is illuminated by thousands of electric lights and makes a pretty picture when viewed from Dufferin Terrace below.

There is no fear of possible mishap occurring on Quebec's slide, for the toboggans run in deep tracks and cannot turn turtle or collide with one another. They travel at a rate approximating that of an express train, and give the speed-demon an excellent opportunity to "step on it" without endangering others.

Besides the toboggan slide, Quebec's splendid outdoor and indoor skating rinks, ski-jumps and other facilities for winter sport attract an increasing number of visitors to this fine old city each year.

And in the Abilene sports column we read: "The Big Four of the district, by the way, must view with alarm the Eastland Mavericks, likely to breeze in and dislodge any of the traditional members of the top quartet next autumn. Among their holdovers will be Rex Clark; Estes Burgamy, who was so good that Abilene fans thought he was Clark while the latter was on the sidelines; Van Geem and Taylor, strong ends."

It's a long time till next fall. In advance of the 1930 season, this writer picked Eastland as the "dark horse." I did not know that the Messange boys would be in Cisco, that Vaughn, triple threat quarter, and Jordan, rugged end, would be in McCamey, that Clark, backfield man, would be hurt in the first conference game and thereby handicapped all season, and that Stathis, husky halfback, would drop out of school after the first two conference tilts. In the face of all these setbacks, the Mavericks finished in the first division and had the glory of playing a 6-6 battle with the Abilene Eagles. If the breaks had been in favor of Eastland last season, Gibson's team would have finished mighty near the top.

Prospects now are even brighter than they were this time a year ago for the Mavericks. If good fortune smiles on the county capital, you've got to admit the Red and Black will be in the thick of the championship race. Eastland is the "second choice" of just about every town in the loop. In other words, if their own home town can't win the title, fans in general would rather see it go to Eastland than anywhere else for the Mavericks are the smallest town in the league and have never won the flag but always put out a team that wages a merry battle against heavy odds.

Prexy Anderson's effort to make Eastland the "favorite" is transparent in its strategy. Abilene fans all last fall were saying, "Wait till 1931—it'll be our year." The result is the Eagles have been installed as favorites in the '31 campaign. Prexy knows that "favorites" seldom come through. Cisco was the favorite in 1930. Abilene was the favorite in 1929. Neither won.

The Abilene sports writer lets the cat out of the bag when he writes: "Flem Hall, Fort Worth sports writer, who we had often suspected did not know the inter-scholastic league is in existence, includes in his predictions for Texas sports of 1931 that Abilene High school will have a high-powered football team. That word seems to have become rather widespread. Experience has proved that it is usually a psychological advantage to be the underdog instead of the favorite, which throws a handicap on the Eagles to begin with, or rather a long time before the beginning."

To get out from under the load of having his team as the favorite, Prexy immediately afterward nominated Eastland in the paragraph we quoted earlier in this column. However, a veteran line and more than 100 boys choose from will make Abilene the outstanding contender and Breckenridge, champions in 1929 and 1930, will be second in the thoughts of the others. "Beat the Eagles and the Buckaroos" will be the prime aim of all the other clubs whose efforts will be to break the monopoly that has ex-that of the choicer, more expensive cuts. The flavor is just as delicious in the shoulder as in the leg. For the small family two pounds will be sufficient. The larger family of course will need more in proportion to its size.

When the meat is left in one piece it can be boiled, roasted, braised with vegetables, or pressed and served cold.

Cut in pieces, Irish stew, fricassee of lamb, casserole of lamb and lamb with curry are sure to be liked.

When meat and bone are separated before cooking, several delightful dishes may be concocted.

Daily Menu
 BREAKFAST—Grape fruit juice, baked cornmeal mush, syrup, potato omelet, bran biscuit, milk, coffee.
 LUNCHEON—Oyster chowder, creamed spinach with cheese, filled cookies, milk, tea, or lemonade.
 DINNER—Irish stew with dumplings, grilled sweet potatoes, jellied cabbage salad, blueberry pie, milk, coffee.

The pieces of clear meat can be pounded thin—"Frenched." These are broiled and served with minted currant jelly. Or, instead of fattening the filets, each one can be wrapped with a strip of breakfast bacon, held with a toothpick and broiled or baked in a hot oven.

If the meat is chopped, it can be made into cakes like Hamburg steaks and broiled or fried. The bone can be boiled to make a broth or stock. If the meat, vegetables and rice are added to this broth, a nourishing dish known as Scotch Broth is made. Chopped lamb combined with cracker crumbs and eggs makes a delectable meat loaf.

Secretary State Report Covers Many Angles

BY UNITED PRESS
 AUSTIN, Tex., Jan. 8.—The six flags that have floated over Texas, the French embassy, the state capital, signatures to international treaties, the enshrined Texas Declaration of Independence and ordinance of secession, illustrate the annual report of Secretary of State Jane Y. McCallum.

Preservation of old documents by a crepe lining process, triple indexing of documents and use of photostats to save time and cost of copying records are cited as among the improvements in operation of the office.

Recommendations are: That the state blue law be amended to prevent its circumvention by sale of "personally owned stock"; that corporation reports be made for fiscal instead of calendar years; that greater protection be given minority stockholders of corporations; that persons and incorporated concerns operating under an
