RED CROSS MEMBERSHIP CAMPAIGN

The American National Red Cross membership campaign is now on throughout the nation and Eastland and Eastland county citizens are asked to pay for memberships, which are from $1 up. The Red Cross is worthy. Let's do our bit in raising the funds it must have to carry on the work it is called upon to do.

SHOW YOUR COLORS

The Chamber of Commerce and the Retail Merchants' association have secured a large quantity of buttons, on which the slogan, "Buy Eastland County Products" is inscribed, which are for sale two for a nickel. The purpose of these buttons is to show where the wearer stands on the question of demanding Eastland county products. Every person in Eastland county, who is interested in the growth and development of the county, should wear one of these buttons.

HIGHWAY WORK TO START

The work of improving the Bankhead highway between Eastland and Cisco was to have been started this morning according to press dispatches yesterday. This will be good news to many Eastland county men who have been waiting for some time for the work to begin.

It is understood that this work is to be given to Eastland county labor.

LETS BEGIN ON NEXT YEARS PROGRAM

For the past several years Eastland has been contributing to the crowds that throng other towns of this section on Armistice Day, Thanksgiving, Christmas and other holidays. This, perhaps, has been alright, but there is no need for us to continue. Eastland is fully capable of putting on programs for these events that will bring the crowds to Eastland. Furthermore, the people, or at least a great portion of them, have come to look to Eastland as their amusement center and if we do not provide entertainment for them on such occasions they will, to a great extent, lose interest in us. We should begin now laying plans for next year's programs.

WHY PENALIZE EASTLAND

Eastland merchants, the Telegram is informed, are charged fifteen cents more per hundred on groceries trucked into the town from Cisco than the same wholesale houses charge Ranger merchants and the haul is ten miles longer. Also we are informed that wholesale houses in Ranger make the same discrimination between Eastland and Cisco.

This, no doubt, is because there are no wholesale grocery houses in Eastland and the Cisco and Ranger concerns feel that Eastland can't help itself. Eastland can help itself, however. It can establish, or induce others to establish wholesale houses here. If it does not care to do this Breckenridge and Brownwood wholesale houses might be interested.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE IN TWO STATES

By a majority of 30,000 the voters of Oregon defeated an anti-cigarette amendment. It was equivalent to the 18th amendment making cigarettes contraband the same as intoxicating liquor. It would prohibit the sale or manufacture within the state. In Arkansas the voters gave their approval to a constitutional amendment calling for Bible teaching in the public schools. Why not an amendment for Bible teaching in the homes of Arkansas as well as in the denominational colleges and churches of Arkansas. When an invasion of the public school supported by the tax money of all creeds and no creeds.

I would seriously say that all Europe is much more precariously poised today than it was in 1912, two years before the war that shocked both hemispheres. It certainly is much more heavily armed and much more sensitive.

—Rep. Fred A. Britten.

Lone Survivor Of Wrecked Ship Is In Hospital

EUREKA, Calif., Nov. 12.—With his body bruised and torn, but his spirit which kept him alive during a 70 hour battle with a raging sea—still unbroken, Jorgen M. Grove, believed to be the lone survivor of the sunken schooner Brooklyn, today rested in the comfort of a hospital bed.

Given up as dead by all save his wife, Grove, first mate of the vessel that floundered here last Saturday, was picked up five miles off the Eureka coast yesterday.

Half-drowned and dazed, he still was clinging to the fragment of wreckage that intervened between him and the fate of his 17 comrades, when sighted by a fishing boat near Humboldt Bay.

Although famished, ill and thirsty, the sailor's first question was concerning his ship-mates. Doctors finally told him they all were believed to have perished.

Grove's body was ripped and battered from his long contact with the gale-swept waves, while his nails were literally torn from his fingers by long and frantic clutching at the wreckage. "I had given up all hope of rescue when the boat arrived," he said weakly. "I must have lost consciousness a score of times. It was early Sunday morning when I drifted so close to shore and still had no strength. I cried loudly—but no one heard. Then the current took me further out, and I gave myself up for lost."

By The Political Analyst
"Good for the state; good for the farmer; good for the city taxpayer." This was what State Treasurer Gregory Hatcher thinks of quarterly payment of state taxes. The installment plan would let the owner use his money for half the year when the state doesn't need it, would spread the payments out to where he wouldn't have to borrow money to pay taxes; would let the farmer sell eggs and milk to meet the payments.

For the state, it would prevent the every winter deficiency that costs employes $100,000 in discount of their state's hot checks, and it would enormously cut down the delinquent tax rolls, Mr. Hatcher says. The only man it would hurt would be the contract collectors of delinquent taxes.

Since Gov. Moody was interviewed over trans-Atlantic phone by a sensationalistic London publication, and his answers caricatured as a cross between down-East Yankee drawl and negro dialect, his keenish about long-distance nitwit. But this week there was a substantial and crisp long-distance questioning of the governor, when Col. Arthur Woods, Pres. Hoover's emergency relief director, called him personally for a report on Texas unemployment and relief measures.

And Gov. Moody was able to tell him Texas is faring better than the rest of the country. If he had told him the whole story he would have added Texas would be prosperous indeed if it were not for the Hoover tariff and discrimination against raw products.

Tremendous democratic gains make vitally important the selection of democratic nominees for president and vice president two years hence. The jockeying for these nominations is already under way.

The party must look to the dry South and West for the support that will carry the nominees into the White House. It must find a conspicuous leader in these sections for one of the two highest places, to be successful.

Former Postmaster Gen. Albert Sidney Burleson said Texas has half a dozen men, either of whom would make a good president and would be available as a candidate. Being both a diplomat and a statesman, Mr. Burleson declined to mention a list headed by Gov. Albert Ritchie of Maryland and Newton D. Baker, and with Alfred E. Smith its tail-end.

Mr. Burleson isn't so enthusiastic about some of the ultra-dry prohibition leaders. His Texas list would have been impressive, had he named his men, but not totally inclusive of all the available material.

It's safe to guess that John N. Garner of Uvalde was one of those of whom Mr. Burleson was thinking, wet, dry or moist.

Texas, if it exercised the political strategy of, say, Ohio, of Indiana, immediately would step in ticket right now to stay. Texas caused the nomination of the transcendent Woodrow Wilson, when the cause looked hopeless. Texas can do a whole lot with its tremendous 40 nominating votes; it may rise to the splendid, or helping select the next president, and of furnishing the next vice-president.

Markets

Final Stocks
NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—American Telephone & Telegraph led a spirited recovery on the stock exchange in the late trading today. Early trading was marked by another decline that sent many issues to new lows for the year or longer but nearly all losses were turned to gains before the end of the day.

The recovery in American Telephone bordered on the sensational. At one time it was down to a new low for the year at 17 1/2, off 4. Before the final gong it was back to 18 1/2, up to 3 1/2. Buying was largely short covering.

General short covering began in the afternoon when the copper group staged a sharp rise at 1 to 2 points in the various issues, following a rise in the metal from 9 1/2 to 10 cents a pound.

Leading oil production was down sharply. Wheat rose sharply, while corn and other grains rallied from early lows and closed higher. Cotton advanced after an early decline.

"My natural inquiry was why Texas materials had not been used. The committee explained to me the investigations made by its membership and the conclusion that was unanimous—that the design and the materials were the best that could be selected. My information and lack of technical education on the subject did not justify me in opposing the unanimous action of the committee, and I cordially joined with them in the approval of the plans and the materials. I can not appreciate the spirit of commercialism that has entered into the objections made to the work of the committee."

Clara Bow Fires Her Secretary After Quarrel
HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 12.—Clara Bow wants a new secretary—a secretary who can rule with an iron hand the tempestuous Hollywood screen star and keep her out of hot water.

For Clara has fired her constant companion and secretary Daisy Lavoie, after several days of argument. Daisy, young and pretty herself, left Clara's household to live with a sister recently separated from her husband. And that's where the sub lies. Clara didn't want to lose her companion. At least, that's Daisy's explanation.

It was rumored that Clara discharged Daisy for signing her Calveva gambling checks totaling $13,800. Clara refused to be interviewed on the subject, referring all questions to her attorney, W. I. Gilbert.

Gilbert exploded that report with the reminder that Clara herself signed those now famous checks, and that Daisy, in her position as secretary, merely had countersigned the largest for $7,800.

The screen star was quite perturbed today to find herself again in the headlines and indignantly denied herself to interviewers. "I have nothing to say," she said. "Every time I say anything, I get in trouble. See my attorney."

N. E. W. S.

The advertising columns are "News" as much as the editorial columns. Advertising is packed with news. News of the latest styles, of a new food, of an improved household utensil, of a powerful and low-priced automobile, of trips to Europe and all ports of the world—and so on. Advertising has become "news," and people depend on advertisements for accurate information about things they wish to know.

Reading advertising is a useful and profitable habit. It saves time, by telling you where desired articles may be purchased. It saves money because advertised merchandise is more dependable as to quality and durability than non-advertised wares. And, advertising is accurate. You can trust the "news" that you read in advertisements. Read them as you do the editorial columns.

Advertising is "news" of the latest and best in merchandise.. keep posted by reading the advertising columns daily

Fifty Thousand Miamians Clear "Decks" to Entertain Winter Horde of Sun Seekers

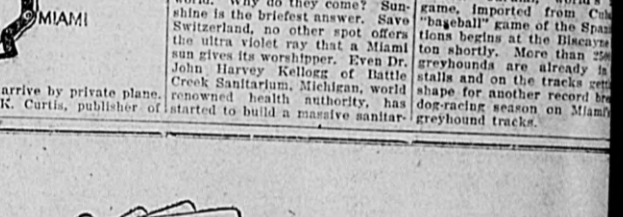

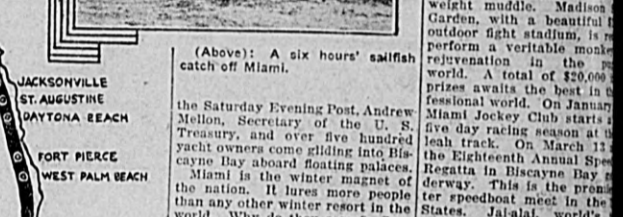

Southern Resort Prepares for Huge Throng of Visitors

MIAMI, FLA.: Like a gargantuan factory preparing for a seasonal rush order, more than fifty thousand Miamians, representing every conceivable profession, are busy today getting hotels, apartment houses, theatres, stadiums, docks, roads, landing fields, beaches, and what not ready for a half million or more bleached Yankees who will soon start for these sun-kissed shores to rest and play. No other city in the United States presents such an enthusiastic combination of excitement and effort on the part of its citizens as does Miami when the season starts. Resting during a few summer months after an exciting season, Miami suddenly opens up like a beehive. No one gives an order. No time is set. No whistle blows. Nobody asks, "Is it time to get ready?"

Synchronization of mind and muscle is spontaneous. Over one thousand hotel executives send orders to painters, furnishers, restaurateurs, and so forth. Factories as far away as Canada sense the annual Miami awakening. Some three hundred small stores whose owners summer in the North shed their pall of dormancy and come to life. No less than two thousand hotel clerks, some five hundred chefs, two hundred fishing guides, two hundred manicurists, a hundred beauty experts and many hundreds of others representative of almost every known profession in life come to Miami prepared to cater to the pleasures of sun seeking vacationists. They come from New York, Michigan, Ohio, California, Hawaii, from every state in the Union, from South and Central America and from Europe. Miami in winter is nothing short of a northern metropolis moved south and set in a tropical setting in the latitude of the second cataract of the Nile. In summer one can walk across its main thoroughfares blindfolded without fear of being struck by automobiles. In winter, license plates from every state in the Union are seen on the cars that throng the broad streets and highways. Almost 70% of Miami's tourists, according to motor club experts, come via automobile, and no city in the country can display an assortment of cars from as many points as the Magic City. From France, England and Germany come foreign cars with radiator hoods six and seven feet long. From Juneau, Alaska, a Ford of reasonable endurance has been seen steaming before a stop light. Even the>Listric car was found carrying one Jim Bingle from some unheard of town in South Carolina to the Sharkey-Scott fight at the the Saturday Evening Post, Andrew Mellon, Secretary of the U. S. Treasury, and over five hundred yacht owners came gliding into Biscayne Bay aboard floating palaces. Miami is the winter magnet of the nation. It lures more people than any other winter resort in the world. Why do they come? Sun, shine is the briefest answer. Save Switzerland, no other spot offers the ultra violet ray that a Miami sun gives its worshipper. Even Dr. John Harvey Kellogg of Battle Creek Sanitarium, Michigan, world renowned health authority, has started to build a massive sanitarium on the estate of the late Curtis, aviation pioneer. Miami this year is about to hold a panorama of sports that will sweep the field from championship horse racing to golf and the forms of outdoor entertainment. She is determined to wipe a lethargic condition in the weight muddle. Madison Square Garden, with a beautiful outdoor fight stadium, is to perform a veritable monkey rejuvenation in the new world. A total of $20,000 prizes awaits the best in the professional world. On January 15, the Miami Jockey Club starts a five day racing season at the new track. On March 11, the Eighteenth Annual Spel Regatta in Biscayne Bay is derway. This is the premier speedboat meet in the States. Jai-alai, world's "baseball" game of the South, begins at the Biscayne shortly. More than 250 greyhounds are already in stalls and on the tracks ready for another record-breaking dog-racing season on Miami's greyhound tracks.

Klan Leader To Organize "The White Band"

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Col. William Joseph Simmons, organizer and former leader of the Ku Klux Klan, plans to "preserve white supremacy in America" through organization of "The White Band."

This, the third organization started by Simmons, will not ban from its membership Jews, Catholics or non-Christians. It is open to anyone as long as he is "white, and has a good reputation."

Some of the aims and hopes of the new organization were outlined by Simmons at Huntington, L. I. last night, and he plans another gathering in Brooklyn tonight. "By the grace of God, I hope to succeed in saving America with this organization, for if I don't, America is doomed to failure within 50 years—yes, 25 years," Simmons said.

The Ku Klux Klan was wrecked, but in the wreckage of that movement I honestly determined that the causes could not be lost, hence the White Band."

Simmons left the Klan in 1924. He charged that his "cabinet betrayed him" and forced him to give up all his "rights and interests" for $145,000.

In his new organization, he let it be known, they were to be no masks, and the red white and blue uniforms will include red shoes, white stockings, knee-length capes, blue knee-length breeches and blue hats.

"Ace of Aces" Gets His Medal

Captain Eddie V. Rickenbacker, American World War ace who shot down 26 German aircraft, was receiving the highest award for valor that the United States can give when this photo was taken—the Congressional Medal of Honor. President Hoover is shown decorating Rickenbacker at Bolling Field, Washington. Above is a closeup of Rickenbacker and the president.

Man Confesses Killing Buckley And Then Dies

DETROIT, Nov. 11.—Detroit's police department refused to give information today on the circumstances surrounding the death of an unemployed factory worker, William Jones, 50, in a city jail cell two hours after he told police "I killed Jerry Buckley."

At a hospital it was said that Jones died from a terrific beating. Physicians said his skull was fractured, his jaw broken and his face slashed. Police admitted that Jones apparently was uninjured when he walked into the station and said, "Better lock me up. I killed Jerry Buckley." Detectives said the man was too intoxicated to be hooked and that he was placed in a cell with two other prisoners. Buckley, an anti-crime campaign radio announcer, was shot to death as he sat in the lobby of a downtown hotel. He had just finished broadcasting the results of a recall election in which Mayor Charles Bowles, his bitter political enemy, was removed from office. Police commissioner Thomas Wilcox said that a full investigation of the Jones case would be made but that he could give no information at present.

Sterling To Speak Before Fraternal Congress Today

DALLAS, Nov. 12.—Ross S. Sterling, governor-elect, will address the 30th annual session of the Texas fraternal congress here this afternoon. His address is the highlight of the concluding session of the fraternalists.

Modernization of the staid old lodge of yesterday was urged by D. E. Bradshaw, Omaha, general attorney for the Woodmen of the World, in an address to the convention Tuesday.

"Long robes, high hats, glittering armor, shepherd's crooks, yards of lace, hot rooms and droning ritual may not be appealing in the new order of things," said Bradshaw. "But your new lodge may be reborn as the child of exciting economic and social conditions so as to meet and take care of the gregarious instincts of humanity."

Murder at Bridge

A clever author . . . a clever murderer . . . a clever detective—these ingredients have been mixed into one of the most fascinating mystery novels ever written. It is "Murder at Bridge."

Two perfect crimes—if it had not been for the fact that an engaging young detective, Bonnie Dundee, was on the job to form the background for this story. With diabolical cunning the criminal struck down his victims while they played bridge. The author is Anne Austin, who wrote "The Black Pig" and gave the public a new type of sleuth in "The Aves Parrot" and "Murder Backstairs." Be sure to read the serial, beginning—

Scholastic Games Tighten Over The State

THOMAS C. CLUCK, Staff Correspondent, Dallas, Nov. 12.—Arms races singled out three to annex football to the scholastic League at the threefold list of two in another. Austin and Greenville of eleven were today virtually certain to hurtle for the State championship. Port Arthur retained a tie and relegated Beaumont to third place with a 13-0 tie. The co-champions of last year, with John Roagan of Amarillo, were to settle the pace in their respective districts but two regions were left an outstanding favorite, two, Corsicana and Cleburne, remained hot in the race, as did Cliff (Dallas) and High-land.

Leon all but nailed the championship of district six yesterday, as the Athens-Horley Johnson, Tyler quarrels his mates with two touchdowns and superb generalship in a 6-0 victory. The rain-soaked Memorial gridiron, Austin battled High of San Antonio to a tie to retain its undivided district eight. The city lads lost two excellent leads to score, Alamo Heights Corpus Christi completely dominating by administering a defeat. The game enhanced its chances of being out of district five by its arch-enemy, Denison. Sherman likewise retained perfect record by nosing out Breckenridge, but the Greenville lads, generally considered of the district six clash between Marshall and Texarkana region in a tie. Breckenridge defeated Breckenridge in a second round. Marshall and Oak Cliff tied to sew up their appearances in the two-section district race later this week. The loop honors. District four, two teams concede an inch, and Corsicana and Cleburne are in it to the south. Corsicana proved nothing of an acknowledged strength, swamping the Class B Mavericks, 20-0, yesterday. The play Temple on Friday, and the game against the eliminated Tigers the same day. A loss either of the leaders would be extremely bright prospects for the Amarillo Golden Sandstormers against their perfect district one record in a game on Saturday. Breckenridge, lone 1,000 per cent in District two, takes on the division Brownwood eleven Saturday.

Work on gas line to supply natgas to Elkhart, Slocom, Grape-Crockett, Levland, Trinity, Greenville and Groveton will be completed.

Southwestern Conference Tabs

DALLAS, Tex., Nov. 12.—Despite light showers which have fallen in Baltimore this week the Maryland weather map promises clear skies and a dry field Saturday for the S. M. U. Mustang-Navy battle. Today's schedule held a hard two-hour rehearsal for the Mustangs before they board an east-bound train early this evening. Tuesday afternoon the air above Ownby stadium was filled with football, indicating coach Ray Morrison has not forgotten the aerial circus he promised the Middies.

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Nov. 12.—The Baylor University-Arkansas tilt here Saturday will mark the finale of the Razorback's conference season. The game will mark the farewell appearance of seven stars on the local field, four of whom coach Fred Thompson will have difficulty in replacing. The stellar quartet is composed of Milan Creighton, captain and end; Jack Hollis Buckelew, defensive back; Dale outstanding 225-pound center; and Bernard Upton, halfback who has done the Razorback punting the past two years. Arkansas' freshman eleven was to give the regulars another dose of Baylor formations this afternoon.

AUSTIN, Tex., Nov. 12.—University of Texas Longhorns skipped their usual rest period the earlier part of this week as coach the science of dietetics. In 1929 Dr. E. B. Ross and Dr. Hopkins were jointly awarded the Nobel prize for medicine as a result of their researches which led to the development of the vitamin group. One of the newest and most interesting of vitamins because of the power it possesses to fortify the human body against certain ailments which formerly took a heavy toll of life and caused widespread suffering is vitamin D, nicknamed the sunshine vitamin by virtue of its ability to supply the health giving qualities of the ultra violet rays of the sun. It has been proved an adequate protection against the ravages of rickets in children and an efficient curative agency in many adult ailments resulting from under nutrition. This important vitamin is readily developed by exposing to ultra violet light a chemical compound called ergosterol. It has been manufactured for medical purposes in a comparatively pure state but is so positive in its reactions as to cause a serious menace to health if administered in this form by any but the most skilled hands. Its presence in certain foods, however, is in the correct proportions for correcting malnutrition and fortifying the body against colds and typhoid. It is attributable to a run down condition. Irradiated yeast contains vitamin D in proportions recommended by thousands of eminent physicians and the substance may also be found in cod liver oil and certain other food preparations. It is in the tricky days of winter that vitamin D exerts its greatest influence for human welfare. Rapidly varying temperatures they carry the menace of colds and the many serious ailments which result therefrom. At that season, too, the sun—even when it shines—contains only a fraction of the beneficial properties it yields through its ultra violet rays in summer.

The experiments cited were made nearly thirty years ago and opened the way for a period of research which has revealed and classified five vitamins, A, B, C, D, and E, each of which has greatly advanced

Cisco Defeats Ranger By a 3 to 0 Score

A place kick by Chambliss in the third quarter was the undoing of the highly advertised Ranger Bulldogs Tuesday afternoon when they played the Cisco Lobos on Chesley Field and the Lobos won by a score of 3 to 0. The Bulldogs made a serious threat in the first two minutes of play when Cisco fumbled the ball on the first play after the opening kickoff and Ranger recovered the 10 yard line. After line plunges had failed to gain a pass over the goal line was completed but the ball was called back and Ranger neutralized five yards for being off sides. The ball was in scoring position several times during the first half, but the Bulldogs were woefully weak on the offense throughout the game. During the last half the Lobos clearly outplayed the Bulldogs in every department of the game. The Ranger team started an air raid in the last quarter which was a dismal failure and several of their passes were intercepted by the Lobos. Turknett starred for Cisco on the offense, making the longest run of the game when he returned a punt 50 yards. Van Horn at end played a good game on the defense. Chuck Bird played a good game for Ranger on the defense though his line plunging was not very effective against the light Cisco line and he seldom gained more than two or three yards. Murray was an outstanding player for the Ranger defense.

The Well Dressed Traveler Sponsors Sophisticated Styles

By FRANCES PAGET Copyright 1926 by Style Sources NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—Costumes worn by the consistently fashionable travelers debarking recently, exemplified new style phases in wide variety, in clothes of well-poised charm. Sophisticated costumes of the formal daytime order in innocuous suits, clever sports and travel coats of ensembles, animated the scene. Fabrics, furs and their application, silhouettes, millinery and accessories all scored with a distinction which gave a fine cross section of the current fashion cycle.

Fitted belted and discreetly flared travel coats showed bold contrasts when the woolen fabrics employed white accents generally, in weave patterns, on grounds of either black or dark brown. These surface effects were chiefly in an indefinite, scrawled impression, except in the cases of Rodier wool-

FAMILY MENU

BY SISTER MARY

REAL, honest-to-goodness home-made pie! There's nothing much nicer for dessert during the late fall and early winter months. Despite the general belief that pie is difficult to digest, nutrition specialists are rapidly proving that well-baked pie is as completely digested by the normal, healthy individual as any other form of baked stuff.

Pie fillings seldom give the inexperienced baker as much trouble as the crust itself. Good pastry is not just luck nor mere guess. Careful methods and accurate measuring are as essential (or pie crust as for angel cake. Our mothers and grandmothers who baked dozens of pies a week had a very definite method and measured with great accuracy "by eye" and "feel" although it was impossible for them to formulate an exact rule.

The ideal pie crust is flaky and tender. In appearance it is a golden brown color around the edge, a somewhat lighter brown on the bottom and in the center of the top crust. Its surface is rough, almost blistered rather than smooth and firm. It should be crisp on the bottom as well as along the edges.

There are certain precautions, both "dos" and "don'ts" to be kept in mind regarding the method. The tendency to over-mix the ingredients is usually the beginner's worst fault. With the large proportion of fat used, it is only too easy for the novice to work the constantly warming and softening fat into the flour until a greasy mass is formed that cannot absorb enough water to make the pastry flaky.

The addition of the water is another ticklish point. Too much water makes a heavy, tough dough in spite of correct proportions of fat and flour. Water must be added in such a way that it is distributed evenly among all the little flour-coated particles of fat. Toss the mixture lightly, using no pressure and adding water at a time until all the particles are dampened. Then press the dampened edges lightly to see if they will stick together. If they remain apart, sprinkle a few more drops of water through the mixture. When the mixture will hold together divide into portions as necessary and press each portion into a disc.

Always work as quickly as possible, reducing both the time and the handling of the dough to a minimum.

the making of tender, flaky pie crust.

The skilled baker can work the shortening into the flour with her fingers, for her touch is so light and quick that it does not melt the fat. The beginner will find that a pastry blender or two knives will help her not to over-mix her dough.

Plain Pastry
The following rule is for plain pastry and has been worked out for one-eighth inch double crust pie.

One and 3/4 cups pastry flour, 3/4 teaspoon salt, 6 tablespoons solid shortening, about 4 tablespoons cold water.
Mix and sift flour and salt. Work in shortening, using tips of fingers or two knives. The flour and fat particles should be about the size of small peas. Add water, tossing the mixture with a fork until the dough clings together. Divide in two parts, making one part a little larger than the other. The lower crust requires more dough than the upper one.

Shape into a disc with the hands and roll on a lightly floured molding board. Roll out from the center of the dough, lifting pin at end of each stroke. Keep the shape round and make the crust about 1-8 inch thick. Fit into the pie pan. Do not stretch dough—rather, push it down into the pan to make it fit. Add filling and dampen edge of dough. Fit on upper crust which was rolled and cut as soon as under crust was fitted in pan.

Gashes must be cut in the upper crust to allow the steam to escape while baking. Run the rolling pin around the edge of the pan to press the upper and lower crusts firmly together. Trim off extra dough around the edge of the pan if necessary and press with a pastry jagger or roll between the thumb and forefinger of one hand over the forefinger of the other. Bake in a hot oven for ten minutes to set the crust quickly. Then reduce the heat and bake in a moderate oven until both fillings and crust are thoroughly cooked.

BEAUTY in the HOME

Vogue of Colorful Shower Curtains

By LOUISE d' A. WADSWORTH

WE have learned, those of us who value a bathroom as well appointed as the rest of the house, that it is not, after all, necessary to have it completely rebuilt in order to make it modern and beautiful. Of course, the plumbing has to be up to date, but so far as the rest of it goes, some of the most attractive bathrooms to be found are those which have been arranged without any great trouble by women of taste, making use of water-repellent materials in colorful tones.

The one above, for instance, depends in particular for its color note upon a shower curtain of rayon duplex satin in green and printed with water-tight design by Adolphe Grivin. This curtain is distinctive because it has greater elegance than curtains of plain light colors and is at the same time very practical. It also has been chemically treated to make it water-repellent and is heavy enough to hang well. It will not crack or dry, while being resistant to water and mildew.

This curtain has a finish that is hardly perceptible, so that the beauty of the rayon stands forth and, as in the lotus and iris designs, its water scene motif is in keeping with its use. Such curtains, some in very heavy all-rayon taffeta, some in gros-de-rae and others in heavy duplex rayon satin, are being used to give a note of colorful luxury to the bath. The walls, if not tiled, can be covered with water-repellent wall papers of the same design as the shower curtain.

After all, things are not clean merely because they are white. Black can be just as clean—if it is clean. And the glaring whiteness of the bathroom, suggestive of cleanliness, is giving way in up-to-date homes to brighter, more colorful equipment and decorations.

The white and brown theme was chosen by another interestingly costumed woman whose white gaily stand up collar was matched by a white suede beret and white suede gloves. The suit was a brown spongy wool and oxforda and bag also carried out the brown.

Princess Murat, who arrived early in the month and was seen yesterday among those who went to greet friends, sponsored the green and brown sports mode in a suit of green woolen fashioned with a full length coat trimmed with a long-haired fur. The hat which accompanied Princess Murat's suit was brimmed green felt with a brown feather jutting sideways from the fold-back at the nape of the neck. Dark brown suede gloves, brown suede pumps and an unusually large brown suede handbag were her accessories.

OIL NEWS

By UNITED PRESS

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Nov. 12.—Despite the temporary injunction restraining the railroad commission from enforcing its oil production order in the Darst creek field, the area was not thrown open today, although some leases showed increased production. The Louisiana Oil Refining company, which filed the injunction proceedings, raised its runs to a minimum of 4,500 barrels according to reports.

Two new oil producers were reported in the Guadalupe county field this week, both by Humble Oil and Refining company.

Famous Texas Ranger Dies In Hospital

AUSTIN, Tex., Nov. 12.—"The brainy man, eyes of a Texas ranger force" is the description of the rangers themselves for Capt. J. H. Rogers, who survived fifty years of active ranger service, to die in a Temple hospital yesterday.

Rogers entered the ranger service in 1836 before he was twenty. He remained actively in it except for a period during the Wilson administration when he was United States marshal, and a short period as police chief at Austin.

In recent years he has commanded the ranger company with headquarters at Del Rio on the Rio Grande. His company left the border in a body this morning to come to Austin for his funeral this afternoon.

Rogers survived two apparently mortal wounds and a third severe one received in his ranger service. He was shot through the body at Laredo during a riot when the rangers were enforcing a small pox quarantine. He was shot in the right arm in West Texas and he was shot through the hip in a pitched battle with escaped jail prisoners in Sabine county.

In that fight, still recalled by rangers as one of the hardest they have had, Ranger Moore was shot through the heart dying instantly. Ranger (now Captain) Brooks had the fingers shot off his hand and Ranger Scott was shot through the lung.

Rogers was brave enough to admit defeat sometimes. Once Tom Kress, noted western character, got the drop on Rogers with a Winchester. Rogers hesitated when told to throw up his hands. A rifle
