HOME TOWN TALK

By Beddy

Well, folks, the Jubilee will be a us presently. Whenever you figure there won't be a huge crowd ere the last three days of the week or are mistaken.

The oil boys, coming in from Ector, Andrews, Hobbs, Wink, McCamey, San Angelo, and a lot of more distant pools and cities say he fellows in all branches of the industry are going to lay off, advance on Big Spring, and celebrate.

The Herald has favored the staging of this Jubilee provided it could be done on a broad enough scale for the one reason that it believed Big Spring would benefit by giving the oil industry a big hand.

You know it is rather easy to be nice to a fellow when that fellow is flush; when oil was worth 2 dollars a barrel instead of six bits and it didn't take an Einstein to figure how much a fellow could let his well produce, it would have been a lot easier to entertain the oil men.

But, since oil has dropped, production has been invented, etc., it strikes us this gesture of good will toward the industry means more than that—it means that Big Spring is willing to put out a lot of time, work and money to tell the oil men it is for him, likes him, appreciates him, and will stay with him in dark as well as bright days.

Because we know the oil man well enough to be certain he never forgets a good turn we know that this Jubilee is going to fix Big Spring, in the minds of the oil man, as the oil center of West Texas. Of course there are a few folks in every line of endeavor who like to be carried around in the city's collective arms. They are rare in the oil industry. A few of them feel they made the Big Spring of today possible. The operations of the oil men did make it possible. The natural resources of this part of the earth had to be there first. The benefit of the city, commercially and to the oil industry has been mutual. The oil man could not have made money had the oil not been here. The business man could not have benefitted had all men not developed the natural store of petroleum.

It takes us all to make the clock strike.

Willbanks, the circulation man is all hopped up today. And rightly so. Because in a few hours this morning he garnered 23 new subscribers to The Herald. All of them will go into homes of Cosden Refinery employes residing near the plant. A new carrier boy's route will be established to serve them.

Mexicans Split Pair With Lomax

Two Mexican aggregations divided a twin bill with Lomax Sunday afternoon, the Mexican All-Stars dropping a 13 to 7 tilt, and the Mexican Tigers winning 18 to 9. In the initial contest Suviz and T. Fierro and Lilly and Stalling were the batteries.

In the Tiger game, Lopez, Yanes and Vega, Fierro, and Lilly and Stalling composed the battery units.

O.E.S. MEETING

There will be a regular meeting of the Big Spring Chapter O.E.S. No. 67 tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the Masonic Hall. There will be initiation work. Visitors are invited.

The Weather

West Texas: Partly cloudy tonight and Wednesday; probably showers extreme west portion; warmer in the Panhandle on Wednesday.

CITY TENNIS MEET WILL OPEN HERE

Barnett and Bishop to Defend Crowns On Courts

A pair of champions will be hard pressed to defend their crowns this week-end when Carrol Barnett, senior, titleholder, and Curtis Bishop, junior champion, face the greatest array of tennis talent ever to step foot upon a local court in the annual Big Spring Tennis Club tournament. A victory for either of the champions would mean permanent possession of the club trophy, as each has won the title twice.

Neither of them are ruling favorites, indeed Barnett being conceded only a slender chance to grasp the title from such players as Ray Brown, brilliant captain of the Southwestern University Racqueteurs, Frank Whitehurst, former Texas A. and M. letterman, Charles Weyer, San Francisco club star who is visiting in the city, and H. B. Dunnagan, who learned a bit of tennis under Doctor Penick at Texas. Other probable contenders who are considered as threats are Kenneth Hart, former Albany high school star, Theo Ferguson, who with Howard Smith, captured the district meet for two consecutive years, Milburn Barnett, Scotty Wilson, and the flock of junior stars headed by Bishop and Harry Jordan.

In the doubles Ray Brown and Whitehurst, last year's winners, are considered almost clinches to repeat, for their play this spring has marked them as one of the best combinations in West Texas. The Carrol and Milburn Barnett combination is a threat, as the partnership of Meyer, who is something of a dark horse, and Dunnagan, Hart and Vines present a combination that is to be reckoned with, but none of the pairs have yet displayed the form that carried Brown and Whitehurst to the title last year.

It is expected that the crown Bishop has worn for two years will be taken away during the week-end. His doubles partner, Harry Jordan, a thirteen year old raquet wielding wizard, has several times beaten him in match play, and Charles Vines has recently stepped up from the ranks to be considered a serious challenger for the championship. In addition there is the finalist of the winter tournament, Tom Hutto, Big Spring high school star, probably Bill Neel, Coahoma, and Fred Townsend, ranking No. 3 on the high school squad this year. In doubles Bishop and Jordan are favored to win handily over the field, with possible rivals being Davidson and Vines, and of course the defending champions, Hutto and Townsend.

Junior play being Thursday at eight o'clock at the local courts, entries being accepted until that time. Senior play begins Friday at the same time, entries accepted until one o'clock Thursday afternoon when drawings will be made at the Chamber of Commerce office. An entrance fee of $1 is charged for senior entrance, nothing for the junior. Entry can be made through either Ray Brown or H. B. Dunnagan for senior play, and through Ray Brown for junior competition. The Herald will forward all entries to the tennis association.

Engineer of MK&T Found Near Tracks

SAN MARCOS, July 1 (AP)—W. M. Curry, 60, engineer for the Missouri-Kansas-Texas Railway, making the regular run between Smithville and San Marcos, was found dead today near the railroad track here. Officers believed Curry went for a walk and died suddenly of natural causes. There was no indication of foul play.

15-Day Purchasers' Nominations Are Fixed In Local Field

Trio Of Musical Organizations To Be Here This Week

Three of the best musical organizations in West Texas will be here during the Oil Men's Jubilee Thursday, Friday and Saturday. They are the Colorado Gold Medal band of 35 pieces, the Old Gray Mare's Colts, widely-known 40-piece Brownwood aggregation and Mickey Rathbone and his orchestra, popular dance organizations.

CANDIDATES DUE HERE FOR JUBILEE DAYS

Politics and candidates will mix with the throngs here during the Oil Men's Jubilee.

Mayor R. E. Thomason of El Paso, candidate for congress from the 16th district, has informed friends he will be here Friday. He changed his speaking schedule in order to make the visit.

North Texas headquarters for Ross Sterling of Houston, candidate for governor, has announced either the candidate or an able representative will attend the Jubilee.

Paul Lovan, candidate for governor, has acknowledged an invitation to attend, saying that his strenuous "travel by air" itinerary, already mapped out, would prevent his attendance.

In acknowledging the invitation Sterling P. Strong, candidate for lieutenant governor, recalled that years ago, when traveling for a book and stationery manufacturer, he visited here regularly and knew the old-timers, including the McDowells, John Birdwell and Andrew Walker.

Jimmy Allred of Wichita Falls has written he cannot attend due to previously arranged engagements.

Frank Putnam of Houston, anti-prohibitionist candidate for senator, wrote that his campaign is chiefly one of education against the eighteenth amendment and that he is not in a position to make a speaking tour.

J. E. McDonald, candidate for commissioner of agriculture, has written that his itinerary will require him to be in the Beaumont territory during the Jubilee.

The Chamber of Commerce recently sent invitations to all-state and district candidates.

An effort will be made to have them speak over the public address system to be installed at the Jubilee grounds.

Marriage Rate Of Month Leads Divorce Receipts

The divorce versus marriage license battle for the month of June the decision goes to the latter. June brides and what not, accounted for nineteen marriage licenses being issued by the county clerk during the month.

New Directors of C-C To Be Named

A special committee of five, headed by B. Reagan, was named Monday night by President E. O. Ellington to recommend to the board three additional board members. A recent amendment to the constitution allows the 20 elected directors annually to appoint five additional ones. It is understood the refining industry will be asked to recommend a man from its ranks. Affiliation of the other proposed members remains problematical. It is reported the Four Brotherhoods recently refused an invitation of the board to select a man to represent the four.

Coombes, West Texas Chamber of Commerce; State Press Joe Taylor, Amor, Carter; M. E. Foster, R. H. Officers of the West Texas Press Association, which is the largest regional press association in the world, are: President, Eddie Warren, Post; Vice Pres., W. S. Cooper, Colorado; Sec'y, George "Jimmy" Smith, Snyder, Executive Committee, Luther M. Watson, Sweetwater, T. Paul Barroff, Midland, Max Bentley, Abilene, Walter Murray, Ranger and J. W. ### Charges Filed After Fight At Baseball Park

A free for all fight between players of the Richardson Refinery-Coahoma and the Barbers, City League baseball teams, which occurred in the ninth inning of the game to determine the winner of the first half of the season Monday afternoon, went into the channels of the County Attorney today.

County Attorney James Little announced this afternoon an investigation, to be followed by several charges, would be launched today. One charge of battery was filed against one of the Richeo players early this afternoon. Little announced several had appeared before him in regard to the fight. He also announced, his department would probe the statement made by several that J. W. Patton, Barber catcher, was spiked in the forehead by one of two Richeo players while he was on the ground.

"We can't have the players think they can go out there and fight like they did Monday afternoon," Little said.

He indicated several arrests would be made after the probe was completed. The charge of battery was filed against Warren Connelley, left fielder for Richeo, who, with Patton, were the first to start fighting.

The fight started in the first of the ninth inning, when Richeo was leading 5 to 0.

INTENTION TO MARRY Morris Davis, Ralls, and Miss Snow Basham, Roby, filed a notice of intention to marry with the county clerk Monday afternoon.

BROTHERS SAY 'HELLO' VIA RADIO

First Contact With Radio-Equipped Ship Made

CHICAGO, July 1 (AP)—From the cabin of the "City of Chicago," as it whirred toward its 21st day on the wing, John and Kenneth Hunter, new holders of the world's nonstop flight record, broadcast a cherry "hello" to the world today and chatted with the rest of the Hunter family who watched and listened at the airport below.

It was the first time a radio broadcast had been attempted by dropping a microphone from a radio equipped contact plane.

At 3:10 p. m. they were in the midst of their 480th hour in the hour.

The microphone was sent down on a 100-foot line shortly after the "Big Ben" manned by brothers Walter and Albert Hunter had taken of gasoline up to the endurance fliers in their 176th refueling contact. The fliers broadcast their determination to "hang on as long as possible, said Kenneth, with a "good bye everybody" added: "We'll be seeing you when we get back to that old world."

Then the radio hookup was shifted to the hangar below and sister Irene and the mother of the quartet talked to the brothers in the air.

Irene, cook for the marathon aviators, spoke a word of caution about eating too much.

While they were talking to the world they left three weeks ago tomorrow the Hunter boys were in their 478th hour aloft.

BY RUTH BALDWIN COWAN CHICAGO, July 1 (AP)—The elder Hunter Brothers, Walter and Albert, picked (of all places) a chunk of air over a graveyard as the spot for me to witness first-hand a 480-hour feeling of the endurance plane, "City of Chicago."

These brothers have flown their plane, "Big Ben," to more than 170 successful refuelings, but even that knowledge is slight consolation when one sees the "City of Chicago," roaring along at 75 miles an hour, appear suddenly close underneath to be refueled.

The first queer sensation came with the discovery on the ground that the reason the "Big Ben" doesn't look like other cabin planes is because somebody has removed the right door. But while picturing what would happen if the plane did a ten-degree barrel-roll—there being no straps to hang onto—Albert issued the order to slide up front.

To do this it was necessary to get past a huge tank which supplies fuel for the "Big Ben"—the rear end of the plane being used to carry the gasoline for the refueling—and so taking a front seat was accomplished head first in the undignified fashion of going under a barbed wire fence.

After getting righted in a space two feet square and minding stern orders not to touch knobs and things, an improvised seat was devised with a spare cushion on a battery box alongside the pilot's place. There was no use worrying about how to exit suddenly. The food and supplies to be dropped to the endurance plane were packed in strong canvas bags to which a rope was tied. When these were placed in the fuselage, Walter did a Houdini on the pilot's seat, but Albert crouched out of the draft of the open doorway, carefully guarding the food bags and holding onto a strut.

Soaring and maneuvering, the "Big Ben" and the "City of Chicago" approached one another. Gaining headway the refueling plane straightened out and held a dead level course. The next move was up to the black and orange monoplane, and on that next move depended much, the trick being to come close yet not too close.

The planes contacted at 30 feet, and from the window of the "Big Ben" that didn't look like any distance at all, the wing tips, all the way to the "City of Chicago," bobbed up and down below, and remembering the whirling propeller, hope came that one plane wouldn't bob up while the other bobbed down.

Happy Mother Enthusiastic About Konjola

RELATES HOW NEW AND DIFFERENT MEDICINE DID WONDERS FOR HER LITTLE BOY OF TWELVE.

HARMON GLAZE

Results are what count, and Konjola can be counted on for results. Sufferers want relief, not promises. Konjola has made a matchless record simply because it does the things it is designed to do. Take as a typical example of Konjola at work, the case of Harmon Glaze, 12, whose mother, Mrs. Annie Glaze, Route 4, Loneke near Little Rock, Ark., says: "My boy, Harmon, 12, had typhoid about five years ago, and his health since then was not good. He frequently had fever and had attacks of nausea. He had no desire to play and his appetite was poor. Nothing I gave him seemed to do any good. Konjola had helped me so much that I decided to give it to Harmon. Today, he is like a different person. He eats, sleeps, and plays like other children and is no longer subject to fevers. I am still giving him Konjola for it has done so much for both of us."

Kiwanis—

The International president's address follows:

This is an impressive moment. It marks the high tide of the Kiwanis year. It is a time when all our 1872 Kiwanis clubs, representing more than one hundred thousand business men of the United States and Canada join in "Fellowship Hour." Separated by thousands of miles, from Vancouver British Columbia, to Miami, Florida, and from Sydney, Nova Scotia, to San Diego, California, the thought of all Kiwanians represented here tonight and gathered over the North American continent is centered on this occasion.

Regardless of the miles between us and of our location geographically, we are together in spirit, and our hearts beat as one. We are alike attuned to the needs of our communities; we are alike receptive in our effort to hear the calls of humanity and in our endeavor to head that call; we are alike united in a fine spirit of comradeship—a relationship which, is only experienced by those who have the love of their fellow men in their hearts as they join in the labor and fellowship of common tasks.

Invest in Life There is no Kiwanian worthy of the name who has not found in his Kiwanis associations and in the program of Kiwanis a splendid opportunity to better invest his life. If Kiwanis had done nothing so much for both of us." So it goes: victory after victory wherever Konjola is given the chance to prove its merits. You can put your faith in Konjola feeling that you will be rewarded abundantly. Konjola is sold in Big Spring at Collins Bros. drug stores, and in all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.—adv more than to create good will, promote tolerance, and establish friendships, it would be decidedly worth while. It would have justified its existence. For there is nothing finer in all human relationships than the friends whom we enjoy, but we all recognize that friendship and good fellowship, as fine as they are, are not an end in themselves, even though vital as a means to an end. Kiwanis at its best is friendship in action. Kiwanis in its basic philosophy is a "spiritual adventure" based on good fellowship for something outside of ourselves. It is friendship carried over into its highest effectiveness, for Kiwanis means brotherhood, translated in terms of human helpfulness. We must not forget that it is only as we can get our idealism in the abstract into the realm of practical results that the high purposes of our organization can have any real significance.

It is only as we touch the life of the community through influence of the personality and life of the individual, that Kiwanis can find its true expression. It is the expression of the individual that counts in the last analysis. Our place in the economic world depends upon the character and extent of what we produce. Our place in the social world is governed by a similar principle: You do not measure a man by his potential power, but you measure him by what he gets out of himself. Society does not measure a man by what he might do, and has the power to do, but society gauges him by what he does. I know and you know men of standing, personality and power who produce no commensurate good. Kiwanis in its organization and its program helps a man to make a better application of himself and to more effectively invest his life in service for others.

Intentions We may have good intentions—we may have a worthy theory of life—we may have noble concepts and high ideals, but the world wants to see our ideals change us. Society has a right to demand that our best concepts and highest ideals be put into action for others.

Men do not fail because they lack capacity so much as because they lack application. The real weakness of men does not consist chiefly in what they want to do and cannot do, but it lies fundamentally in the thing they can and should do and utterly fail to do.

So we are met here in this "Fellowship Hour" not merely to enjoy the enthusiasm of the moment, and the splendid reflections that come to us, nor to express a pride of accomplishment, but we are met here, and think together here this evening, primarily that we may be stimulated to greater action, that we may more fully appreciate the responsibilities and opportunities which are ours as members of society and as a service organization. On this occasion, the Fourteenth Annual Convention—as we think about the tremendous social consciousness that has been developed in our country through our organization, as we reflect on its great achievements and as we consider the great potentiality wrapped up in our group for increased usefulness, there does come to us a real and increased loyalty that prompts us to have a quicker interest and a new purpose as we join our work for the future.

Hearts Strong May we keep our hearts strong, our enthusiasm fresh and our hopes high as we try to play the part of a man, as we work in our clubs and as we work in our communities. May we be ever mindful of the big part that each of us can play as citizens of society, promoting those things which have for their purpose the good of humanity. May we always strive to make our clubs a more effective agency for community betterment. As Kiwanians we would not stand idle, empty handed or impotent in the face of the big challenge of life which comes to every man, but we would so plan and so work that we may ever travel the true highway of life, that we may not only have the joy of living, but when the evening of life comes we may also have those sweet satisfactions which can only come from a life well-lived. We can then say with the Apostle Paul, "I have fought a good fight, I have finished the course, I have kept the faith."

WINS TRIP TO EUROPE DETROIT, July 1 (AP)—William Chaffee, 17 years old, of Dayton, Ohio, won a trip to Europe and a $200 cash prize in the opening event of the third annual international competition of the Airplane Model League of America which started here today.

OZONA MAN KILLED, WIFE BADLY INJURED

SAN ANGELO, Tex., July 1 (AP)—H. H. Downing, 50, was killed instantly and his wife seriously injured, when their automobile turned over south of Ozona today. Their 10-year-old daughter was only slightly injured. Downing, an oil field worker, was driving his family to McCamey at the time.

Because of the increasing number of women in business, the word "Men's" has been stricken from the name of the Oklahoma City Credit Men's association.

DODGE BROTHERS ANNOUNCE DODGE EIGHT MILEAGE MARATHON

AND DODGE NATIONAL DEMONSTRATION MONTH

Thousands of owners of the Dodge Eight-in-Line are acclaiming it the greatest performer and the finest example of Dodge dependability ever produced by Dodge Brothers.

To get an accurate measure of the dependability of this car—its stamina—its economy—just what total mileage it can achieve—Dodge Brothers announce a Dodge Eight Mileage Marathon.

A Dodge Eight-in-Line sedan selected from stock starts from Detroit. It will be driven back and forth across the country from coast to coast—over all sorts of roads in every part of the continent—until it literally can be driven no longer. We confidently expect that the total mileage attained will startle the world.

To give every motorist a first-hand acquaintance with the luxury and sparkling performance of the Dodge Eight-in-Line, a Dodge National Demonstration Month will be held during July.

You are cordially invited to come in and drive the Dodge Eight-in-Line. Thrill to its flashing acceleration—its sureness and steadiness on the road—its ability to do the difficult without effort. Test its internal hydraulic brakes. Experience the luxury of its beautiful, safe and silent Mono-Piece Steel Bodies.

Here is a car that is going to be driven across the continent as no car has ever been driven before. Learn from that what a sound car it is—learn from your own experience what a glorious performer it is.

EVERYDAY QUESTIONS

Answered By
Dr. S. Parkes Cadman

Questions from readers are answered daily by the Rev. Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, Radio Minister of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America. Dr. Cadman seeks to answer inquiries that appear to be representative of the trends of thought in the many letters which he receives.

North Carolina. I am eighteen years old and afflicted with curvature of the spine. I want to find a way to make a living. I would like to become a teacher. Could you advise me how I could go to a college to finish my education, as my parents are poor? We live on a farm and there is quite a large family.

age and trust you will have health for your proposed task. Obtain full information about the teaching profession in your own state. Write to its department of education asking for all printed matter containing regulations on the necessary educational qualifications of applicants for a teacher's license and the requirements for examination. When you have received this literature you will then know what subjects to study, how to begin your training and when you should present yourself for examination by the Board of Regents of your state. Your letter gives me no idea of your present educational attainments. If it is necessary for you to engage in further study at home before teaching junior classes, communicate with the Extension Department of Columbia University, New York City. By doing so the probabilities are you would not have to leave the farm and the expense should be within your means.

Your golden gift of human sympathy and understanding is responsible for this long letter. I have to give up my position and return home to look after my aged parents. I rebel. I do not want to give up my city happiness for loneliness and poverty, and yet I have to go. My parents will never know what it means to me to return to them, yet I fear sometimes I shall lose all my hopes and dreams. Can you suggest some pursuits which will help me in the isolated place I shall live in?

The call to such a service is too sacred to be set aside, and the strength and consolation you will need are inherent in its summons. Doubtless the struggle between inclination and duty is severe. It may not be attractive to you to relinquish a salaried position in this gorgeous, throbbing city and retire to the loneliness of a secluded rural spot where the prospects you have cherished seem likely to be blotted out.

But wherever you go the gifts which enabled you to make your own way in New York will still be yours and the ever-growing nearness between town and country should furnish you with opportunities for the exercise of those gifts. Join the nearest library, subscribe to the leading magazines and papers, install a good radio and make its universal ministries available for you and your parents.

Besides, those aged parents watch for your coming with trembling expectancy. I know you will not desert them in their necessity. You refer in your letter to your search for "something permanent and indestructible." Rest assured it can be found in the love they have for you and that which you have for them. This is the most precious possession God vouchsafes to mortals. Treasure it till your parents' eyes close in death and you will be a nobler, sweeter and more competent woman for the experience you fear, having that witness of a good conscience which is life's priceless good.

Dallas, Texas.
Is Socialism a religion?
In the strictest sense Socialism is not a religion. It is a social movement that religion is a personal matter. A man may be an atheist, a Buddhist, a Mohammedan, a Theosophist or a Christian, and still be a Socialist. Or he may be supremely indifferent to these and all other forms of faith and still be a Socialist.
Some advocates of this economic creed arrive at it by one route; some by another. A few declare they found in Christ's Christianity the inspiration which first drew them to the Socialistic movement. It is significant that those leaders who associate it with spiritual and religious ideals have usually followed this course, among these are Ramsay MacDonald, Phillip Snow-don and Arthur Henderson, all of whom began their public careers as pronounced Christians. Should you ask, however, if there is a religion of Socialism, the answer is that many of its adherents conceive it in exalted terms constituting it their working faith. Yet brief reflection should convince you that Judaism and Christianity are infinitely bigger than Socialism, Liberalism, Conservatism, Democracy, Republicanism or any other political and economic party or theory. Man must have his political allegiances, but he cannot live by them alone. His soul demands bread which earth does not produce. The lasting solution of the problems confronting society is hopeless apart from the spiritual freedom of a great religious dynamic.

YATES POOL OUTPUT REDUCED TO 100,000
FORT WORTH, Tex., July 1.—Official order from the Texas Railroad Commission cutting lowered daily output in the Yates pool of Pecos county from 110,000 barrels to 100,000 barrels will be entered early next week, it was decided here today by R. D. Parker, chief oil and gas supervisor of the commission after testimony producers, pipe line representatives and royalty owners had been heard.
Two operators in the pool, Hubble and Gulf expressed willingness to consider a reduction of 25,000 barrels daily while other operators seemed to favor a continuance of the 110,000 barrel daily allowance. A compromise on the 100,000 barrel figure was effected.
Output of the pool, according to testimony from Warner Clark, the California company in an earlier hearing, is as follows: Shell Pipe Line Company, 24,500 barrels; Humble, 25,000 barrels; Gulf, 13,500 barrels; and Illinois Pipe Line (Ohio Oil), 36,000 barrels. A feature of the session held Saturday was complete harmony among operators on the content that proration has and will continue a factor in enhancing recovery and in combatting depletion.

The Tribune's Dilemma

Official corruption is directly responsible for the rise of the gutter in Chicago. Pat Roche, investigator of the state's attorney's office of Cook county, says Bruce Catton, feature writer, that it is not news to the nation to read old stuff.

Chicago Tribune, one of the great and perhaps the very greatest newspapers in the world, especially has been an outspoken enemy of the eighteenth amendment. It has not minced words. It has gone so far as to advise Mr. Roche to violate the amendment if it does not find it in accordance with his American spirit of fair play.

Chicago Tribune as having editorially recognized the sin of the gangland reporters, who was down in a subway recently connected with gangland in facilities apart from his regular functions.

Surprising, The Tribune follows an above-board course in reporting public its finding about it. But the Tribune itself is no sympathy. It has sowed the seed of discord.

Opinions of Others: The Church in the Summer

Another evidence that the church is growing more efficient is found in the way it uses the summer season. No longer, when the warm weather comes, does the church go on vacation and leave the field to the secular forces.

taught. In the vacation school of the First Baptist church of this city which closed last Sunday, children representing 12 denominations, and some from homes not related to any denomination, were enrolled.

The absence of practically all religious training from the public schools increases the responsibility of the church in the field of religious education, and the church is not shirking that responsibility. No other phase of activity is claiming greater attention of the modern church than in religious education.

The summer encampments are giving the church another point of contact with young people. These might be said to have been the forerunners of the daily vacation Bible schools in the local churches.

Provision is made for both work and play in the church encampments. Not only is work of the church kept going, but at the same time the church guides the recreational life of many of its young people during the vacation season.

At the old swimming hole, if you love in feet first, the practice was to pinch your nose and shut your eyes.

Just why that was done the boys do not know except that it was the general practice and that not infrequently, general practice has reason behind it.

The good reason is that diving in feet first may cause water to enter some force into the nasal cavities. This, in turn, may give rise to a number of disease conditions of the eyes, nose and throat, the ears and the sinus or the cavities in the head.

There are certain objectionable items connected with swimming pools, which everyone ought to avoid. One should not enter who has a cold or suffers from a contagious disease of the eye, nose or throat.

Hollywood Sights

HOLLYWOOD - The peep-show in Los Angeles' burlesque, pawn shop and penny arcade belt long since have suffered a 'change of program' depriving them of all interest for the real movie fan.

LILLIAN GISH

The motoscope was seen first in New York in 1895, after some progress toward projection of movies on a screen had been made.

Today in the penny arcade district the customer sees only bathing girls and artists' models, but in the new street-corner machines one may see Charlie Chaplin in 'Sea-World', going through all the antics of a slapstick chase, or Lillian Gish in one of those tear-wringing dramas of the early 'Way Down East' school.

Chaplin, Miss Gish, Pickford and the others came to the movies long after they were being shown on a screen. The peep show 'reels' showing Annabelle-the-Dancer, Ruth St. Denis, now a famous dancer, and Joseph Jefferson, first stage star to pose for a movie camera, are probably all museum pieces now.

A NICE GIRL COMES TO TOWN

By Maysie Greig

SYNOPSIS: The unexpected greets Mary Lou Leslie at every turn when she comes to London for a two weeks' visit. First she is deserted by Brynmor Whittamore, whom she loved. Then she meets Tony Titherington, and finds compensation for her shattered dreams. She discovers she can have a good time without Brynmor, and rejects his efforts to win her favor again.

Clarice unwillingly disentangled herself from Brynmor's arms. "Who on earth can it be?" "Did you ask any other fellow to meet you here tonight?" Brynmor asked suspiciously.

"We'll go together and see who it is," he said deviously. "And I tell you frankly, whoever he is, I'm going to give him to understand that you're my property from now on."

Lorna Grey whispered to Clarice. "I don't know who the fellow is, I left him in the dining room." The visitor rose as they entered the room. Clarice knew at a glance that she never had seen him before.

"Pardon me for troubling you like this, Miss Day," he began. "I wouldn't, except that the matter is urgent. Mr. Ricardi of the Emerald Dragon told me I should find you here."

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., July 1 (AP) - Radiophone signals made a complete circuit around the world in one eighth of a second.

"I must write and tell Freddy, you know Freddy Mason, my cousin, about our engagement," she said. "He will be so pleased. He liked you tremendously that night you met. I had a letter from him today."

"Isn't he in town?" Brynmor asked quickly. "Didn't you know? I thought I'd told you. He's over in Paris, having no end of a gay time. He said in his letter that he's going to Brussels tomorrow. He should be home in a week or so."

FIGHT FEATURES CHAMPIONSHIP FRAY

RICHARDSON REFINERY AGGREGATION WINS AS ERRORS HURT BARBERS

Free For All Battle Royal In Ninth Sends Players Into Huddle; Suspension Proceedings To Be Lodged

Dickinson won a pitchers' duel with a shutout! Richeo won the first half championship! The Barbers won a free for all battle in the ninth! And that, gentle customers, were the three major issues settled at Dusty D. diamond and arena yesterday afternoon when the Richardson Refinery aggregation beat out the Barbers 5 to 0 to capture the flag for the first half.

If we were a centenarian we would say, "what fine kettle of fish yesterday's game was." But we don't happen to be a centenarian, so we'll merely say, "what a fine kettle of fish yesterday's game was." First time this year the customers of Dusty D. have seen a shutout ball game and a knockout battle for the price of one ticket. It was extremely rapid while it lasted. We know it was because we sat in the grandstand and watched it. Then, too, I G. Tinsley, who watched the battle from the interior of the water cooler, with the lid slightly raised, said it was not also. Never have we seen such a magnificent display of one-two jabs to the jaw, rabbit punches, footwork and fouls. It was a great panorama of the athletic world. And it was the biggest bunch of hokum we've had an opportunity to gaze upon.

The battle started between Connelly, Texas Christian University student, and Patton, Barber catcher. The argument arose over whether a ball was fouled or hit Patton's glove. Connelly became heated around the ears and in a minute he and Patton were mixing it. Cook—Sid himself—of the Richardson aggregation suddenly had pugilistic ambitions. He came out of the Richeo corner and shoved Patton to the ground. It is said that Red Stanton jumped in. Cook in a few minutes had any and all of the aforementioned ambitions squelched when he received one on the jaw that cooled him, sent him hurrying to hug the bosom of mother earth, and had him picking petals off of daisies. Anyway, Patton came up bleeding and cut on the forehead. Some say he was spiked in the head. Others say the cut was the result of a ring. It will probably never be known. He was taken to the city for medical attention—the first casualty. Numerous other battles started before Empire Blewias cleared the field and resumed play. It took six men to keep Country Boy Burns out of the first fight. There is more to that.

After play was resumed things seemed to have passed. Then Burns said something as he came in from center and found himself suddenly mixed up with Lois Madison, scrapping ex-manager of the Barbers. Burns wanted to fight. He had his opportunity. Others mixed in and C. Madison brought the battle to an end when he cracked Connelly across the leg with a baseball bat and started after Burns. Burns, a mere midget, weighing only 280 pounds and being but six feet tall, suddenly became poetic. Somewhere, sometime, somebody said, "Bused Burns, that to flee is the better part of valor. So he flew. With Carl Madison behind him with a bat swishing the breeze, Burns set a new record for the 880 yard run. And that ended that.

Oh, it was great. Such a display of Camera-like complexes! Such an exhibition of ambitious Schmelling! Gleefully ambitious arbiters sought to separate fighters, only to find someone's fist detoured on their nasal organ. Some wanted to fight and couldn't find customers. Others had customers and didn't care about fighting! A lad, with the wrong impression, jumped from the stands to join the melee and received a clip over the ear for his reward. A baseball bat was the same as life insurance. A mask and a chest protector were rare gems of

The best exhibition of baseball seen in the city league this year was overshadowed just as it was being brought to a close by a fight that threatened to include every member of each of the teams, with fans tossed in for target practice. The fight started in the ninth inning between Connelly, imported flash from Texas Christian University, and Richeo left fielder, and Patton, behemoth Barber catcher. It ended when Carl Madison, with a baseball bat around his shoulder, chased Big Boy Burns to the six corners of Dusty D.

The game, in itself, was the greatest exhibition of night ball playing the city league has ever seen so far this year. Tip Grissett, Barber fielder, and Dickinson, Richeo fast baller, took for a day that extended over nine innings.

Errors Hurt
The Richeo aggregation made five runs—and four of them were unearned. Had Grissett been given the support offered Dickinson, in all probability they would still be playing out "nets" in the evening bells. But he wasn't. Four errors were made behind him, and they were costly errors that hurt the chances of the Fighters to win the first half crown. Richeo played errorless baseball.

Grissett struck out seven men; Dickinson whiffed four; Grissett walked two; Dickinson, none. Burns, in addition to his spectacular yardage dash, got the only extra base hit of the day—a double on the eighth inning. Richeo scored two in the first inning. Tab Clark singled and stole second. He talked on Connelly's single. That was the earned tally. Connelly scored, after stealing second, when he went to third on Burns' single to left, and home when Skagg, Barber left fielder, let the ball slide through to the advantage of the quiet Connelly.

Fight Melee
From then on to the sixth it was hardly more than three up and three away. Grissett held Richeo hitless until the fourth, when he gave up one. He allowed another bingle in the fifth. In the meantime Dickinson was doing some of the same. He allowed a hit in the first, the third and two in the fourth.

In the sixth, Connelly went to first on Richeo's error, as short Cook singled. Connelly, talked on Winters' single and Cook went home. In Carl Madison's excitement to the plate, Winters going to third on the play. Winters talked when Woods went away to first base.

More Zeros
And then more zeros. Dickinson dashed out only two more hits, one in the sixth and one in the ninth. Grissett allowed a pair also, one in the eighth and one in the ninth.

The work of Carl Madison and Winters, Barber and Richeo, second basemen, respectively, was sensational. Skagg, Barber, left fielder, and Burns, Richeo center fielder, stood out in the outer garden with their fly shagging.

But the greatest hit of the day was between the two infields, collectively, and the two outfields. The ting close, as one can disregard the batting order, the first half pennant chase. Which one went, very well.

ALL-STARS TO MEET

The City League All Star aggregation, which is to play a three game series July 3, 4, and 5, with the Oilbelt League All-Star aggregation will gather at Dusty D. Wednesday afternoon at 5 o'clock for a short workout. Sammy Sain today asked all who have been named on the team to report at the park. The managers are also asked to bring along a few balls for practice purposes. Hicks, slugging outfielder of the Barber aggregation, and Burns, equally hard hitting caretaker of the outer garden, have been added to the All-Star roster and will report. The Oilbelt aggregation has not named its team.

urion's health. Wives of baseball players stood aghast, and wondered if their husbands would return with the same facial aspects they left home with. A couple of fighters shook hands, just for target practice. And none was there that believed in old adage, "be not like dumb driven cattle." They all acted like a bunch of yearlings with a bray sack between them.

All of which leads to nowhere. The most beautiful exhibition of baseball eye have seen, was ruined by the battle royal, the darkest delight. The color of that pitching duel between Dickinson and Gressett, was marred by the blood that gushed from Patton's forehead. It probably never will be known whether Cook or Stanton, if either, spiked Patton in the head. All that is known is that Patton came up from the ground after the two were fighting him and he had a deep gash thereon. And it wasn't a minor cut, at that.

There won't be any more City League baseball until after July 3. Probably it is just as well. It would not do for the Barbers and Ricoche to clash again any time soon. Probably by the time they meet again things will have cooled, including the weather. Thursday, Friday and Saturday the Oilbelt All-Stars and the City League All-Stars clash in a three game series, on a 9-40 basis. Of course, the field is expected to bring more fans than Big Spring provides. Regardless, some good baseball will be on tap.

Tip Gressett, making his first appearance in a City League uniform, had a bad start. Errors behind him ruined his chances to cop. The slim twirl, set them on their respective ears more than once. When he struck Connelly out after the fight was over mother, the fans rallied to his side. There is no question but what the Barbers were in favor after the outburst. Dickinson, the quiet moundsman whom we've never heard say a word, was as good as Gressett. He huddled his usual brand of steady twirling. Croque and Dickinson—two of the neatest of the neat.

NOTICE TO FANS: Hereafter when Dusty D. is transformed into a Madison Square Garden instead of a baseball diamond, Tiny Reed will pass the hat again to defray expenses. No more of these preliminaries and main bouts for the price of a ball game.
