Texas Vote Light With Little Interest Shown

AMENDMENTS ARE CARRIED BY BIG VOTE

Wach, Republican Candidate, Leads For Congressional Post in San Antonio District.

ALLAS, Nov. 5.—Apathetic voters today had virtually rejected a straight ticket in Texas...

On the face of early returns Ross Sterling, Democrat, was runner-up to one lead over his Republican opponent, Col. William Talbot, unofficial returns from...

The count on amendments, with returns from 14 of the state's 253 counties, four complete, gave:

Legislative terms amendment: for 63,553; against 26,018.

University investment amendment: for 62,307; against 29,860.

There was little concern shown in the election as indicated by the light voting.

Those attending from Eastland were Drs. Isbell, Payne, Brown and Caton.

Election Worker Is Kidnaped And Held All Day

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 5.—The confused story of Rex V. Hedrick, Republican election worker, was the only guide in the possession of federal and city officers today as they searched for kidnapers who imprisoned the man during yesterday's voting hours.

Hedrick, chairman of the Jackson county election board, blinded by adhesive tape and beaten by his abductors, could give only a fragmentary account of his experiences.

He was forced from his motor car while driving toward Buckner, Mo., at 5 a. m., Tuesday, taken into the machine of men who threatened his life, and transported to a supposed underworld headquarters headquarters after his face was plastered with tape.

Legion Votes To Back Trade Extension Move

Election Ends Moody's Political Life

By GORDON K. SHEARER United Press Staff Correspondent AUSTIN, Tex., Nov. 5.—Governor Dan Moody, whose successor was elected yesterday is rounding out an even ten years of public office holding. "Through with politics" he rose in that short time from a county attorney to governor. By compromising his views, he might have been a national party candidate.

First Picture of Fighting In Recent Revolution in Brazil

It was a well equipped federal army that faced Brazilian rebel forces on the 200-mile Sao Paulo-Parana front, and in the above action photo, taken for The Telegram and NEA Service, you see a unit of field artillery which opposed the advance of the revolutionaries. The gun crew is operating a modern field piece in the drive against the rebel movement on the city of Sao Paulo. Casualties throughout the civil war were slight.

COMMITTEE PLANS SIX WEEKS PROGRAM HERE

Buy It In Eastland County Campaign Is Also Planned

Eastland merchants and citizens of the town in general plan six full weeks of entertainment for the people of this and six adjoining counties, beginning with the week of Saturday, November 15.

In addition to the entertainment feature of the program, which is being sponsored in particular by the Chamber of Commerce and Retail Merchants' association, and which is in charge of a committee composed of Earl Woody, Milton Lawrence, L. E. Beaty, H. C. Davis, V. O. Hatcher and F. A. Jones, the "Buy It In Eastland County" campaign, which is being sponsored by the same organizations, will be pushed at the same time.

Also the merchants already have begun stocking merchandise especially adapted for this season and during the coming weeks will have many real bargains to offer on virtually everything needed in the home. If one merchant doesn't have it another will. And, in case none of them have it, it will be promptly ordered for the customer upon the attention of the merchant being called to the fact that it is wanted.

The "Trade Extension" committee met this morning and outlined a general program for the six weeks of special program. The details, however, are yet to be worked out. The program was outlined calls

New Bank Is Being Planned For Eastland

Plans for the organization of another bank in Eastland are well underway, The Telegram has learned. The proposed institution would be known as the Eastland National Bank and would be capitalized at $50,000.

The new bank, it is understood, would occupy the bank building recently occupied by the Exchange National Bank which was a few weeks ago consolidated with the Texas State Bank of this city.

Maple Case Is Before Court Of Criminal Appeals

AUSTIN, Tex., Nov. 4.—An application for an order requiring the trial court in question to furnish a transcript for an appeal from the death sentence to be executed against Jess J. Maple on Nov. 18, was argued in the Court of Criminal Appeals here today.

Maple refused a new trial and asked the court to sentence him to an early death for the slaying of police officer E. D. Fitzgerald.

Frank O. Fuller, attorney appointed by the court to defend Maple filed a motion for retrial which the court refused on Maple's declaration that he did not wish it.

Fuller argued the case here today. He said that the defendant and eleven burglary convictions against William Turner in McLennan county were affirmed by the court today but the sentences were made concurrent. The jurors had recommended concurrent sentences of four years for each case and Turner was first so sentenced. Afterward the concurrent sentences were set aside and cumulative were set in a jail delivery. The appellate court restored the concurrent sentences.

Police Promise More Arrests In Big Dallas Robbery

DALLAS, Nov. 5.—Dallas police today promised more arrests in the $16,000 Union Terminal Company holdup, following the identification yesterday of one of the hijackers by B. W. Moore, Terminal cashier from whose hands the money sachet was snatched.

Other witnesses to the holdup were to view the suspect today. The man Moore identified as the thief is said to possess a prison record. He was arrested in a rooming house by detectives working on the robbery.

DEMOCRATS SHOW GAINS OVER NATION

Actual Numerical Power Still In Doubt With Many Republican States Bolting Party.

NEW YORK Nov. 5.—Piling up one unexpected gain after another, democrats in a nation-wide sweep had come extremely close to taking outright control of the senate on returns up to noon today.

This was more than many democratic leaders expected, but they were still some distance from winning the house.

Though the democrats confidently expected to win the lower house, results at noon showed the republicans apparently within three votes of having an actual majority. They had 137 members elected definitely, with the probability of increasing them to 215, just three short of the 218 needed for majority. Democratic probabilities at this time were for about 195, with the chance it might reach 200.

Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick lost her fight to get into the United States Senate when Illinois elected former Senator James Hamilton Lewis, anti-prohibition democrat, overwhelmingly.

Ohio, the birthplace of the anti-saloon league home of republican national chairman Simeon D. Fess and of Postmaster General Brown, chief political advisor to President Hoover, was giving a lead to a democratic senatorial candidate, Robert J. Bulkley, and a democratic governor, former Rep. George White, a dry.

Senator J. Thomas Heflin, who refused to support Governor Smith for president in 1928, was retired to private life by Alabama democrats and his booming voice will be replaced in the senate by John H. Bankhead, whose brother, William B. Bankhead, was re-elected.

Christian Church To Hold Special Meeting Friday

P. E. Smith, secretary of the pension fund, and Jack Huppertz, state chairman of pension fund of the Christian Church will be in Eastland Friday night to hold a district meeting at 7:30 at the First Christian church.

Everyone is urged to attend this meeting as November 9 will mark the opening of the nation-wide campaign to raise $3,000,000 for churches to raise $8,000,000 with which to establish a pension system in which ministers, missionaries and their churches will participate, according to word received here from headquarters of the Disciples of Christ Pension Fund in Indianapolis, Indiana.

Nearly 100,000 men and women serving on committees of church members are conducting the solicitations. Following the launching of the campaign on November 9 these committees will endeavor to provide their tasks on November 16, or as soon after that date as possible.

At least 250,000 members of Christian churches are expected to be donors toward the pension reserve of $8,000,000, which is to provide pension benefits for older ministers in recognition of past service to the churches. This reserve fund, actuated by the Pension System say, also guarantees benefits to widows and minor children of ministers who may die or become disabled before participating in the new system long enough to have earned more than the minimum pension credit of $600 per annum.

They were very favorably impressed with the building, as is most everyone who inspects it.

STORY OF THE KLAN AND ITS PLANNING

A marvelous newspaper story appeared in the Washington Post of Sunday. It dealt with the rise and the fall of the Ku Klux Klan, "once the world's most highpowered racket but today a crumbling shell of juggernaut skidding dizzily toward oblivion." Statistics are submitted. They show that the membership of the Klan stood at exactly 34,691 in the United States when the last canvass was made in its realm of June 30, 1930. In 1925 it is said the Klan census disclosed a membership of 8,904,871; that Texas had 450,000; Oklahoma 289,530; Louisiana 50,000 and that more than $90,000,000 had been taken in by financiers of the organization and "poured into its bulging coffers" by the latter part of 1925.

At that time more than half the membership were robe wearers. A robe costs $5.10 and the total sum realized from the sale of robes or regalia ran into the millions. According to The Post, it was an economic fallacy in a sense and the order perished of its own weight.

In Alabama the remnants of the organization selected J. T. Heflin as their candidate for senator and when the ballot counting is completed the fiery hotspur of the Yellowhammer state will stand defeated. He had the backing of the republicans and many Heflin democrats. He was shut out of the democratic primary because he bolted the Smith-Robinson ticket in 1928 and then on election day failed to cast his ballot for the Hoover elector. He went all the way with his silver tongue but when he came to the bridge he neglected to cross over, and vote the republican ticket.

HOOVER THE GREATEST MAN ON EARTH

Pres. Hoover promptly branded Ralph S. Kelley, who presented the oil shale land charge against Secy. of the Interior Curtis Wilbur, as not only a falsifier but a political scandal monger. Then in a speech over a national broadcasting chain the secretary of the interior asserted "if we were to seek the world over for the men most competent to help us in our present situation we would find him in the White House." The president and the secretary were college class mates and life long friends.

In his address Wilbur appealed to the American voters to elect a republican congress to uphold the hands of the greatest living citizen and the most competent to be found in the wide world over. Going some, it will be admitted. Staggering to the mind of the population of the world, it must be conceded. In conclusion the secretary of the interior said, "Two years from now we can shift captain and crew if it seems wise but now we must not commit the folly of defeating ourselves by paralyzing our leader."

But back to the oil shale land charges. Ralph S. Kelley had been a trusted employe of the interior department 25 years. He resigned when he made his charges. His resignation was not accepted. He reiterated his charges and called for an investigation by a congressional committee.

If the great oil companies have captured the shale lands of Colorado and adjoining states, why shouldn't the people be given all the facts? This regardless of the hasty investigation made by a government official on the eve of an important election and the Kelley verdict that it was a whitewash from beginning to end. Let justice be done to all concerned. If the oil kings are shown to have clean hands, then let the verdict be returned in their favor. Now Kelley is out. He was "fired for cause."

UNCLE SAM AND HIS MILLIONS

Pres. Hoover's administration has promised to spend seven million dollars on world war veteran hospital buildings this winter and give employment in this field to 4,500 hand workers. In December contracts will be let for the $1,500,000 veteran's hospital in Waco. During the Christmas holiday season, 250,000 extras will be employed by the post office department the country over. As for the regulars they will not be rushed to death while the season is on.

At the close of the World war the American people cared for millions of hungry and homeless ones in the war ridden country of France. Indeed, vast sums were appropriated by our government for the relief of those unfortunate victims of the most costly war in history under foreign skies.

Now there are thousands of former service men idle in the industrial centers of America and in the sections which are not the centers of great manufacturing industries.

These men who bared their breasts to the bullets of the enemy in the darkest hour in the history of the world should not be overlooked by their government now that their pockets are empty and their stomachs pinched by hunger. It cost the American people 35 billions of dollars for its participation in a foreign war and after the armistice had been signed American banks and bankers loaned European governments or individuals 16 billion dollars. There should be jobs for all who need bread and shelter and are worthy under American skies. If charity begins at home then Americans should respond to the appeal of Americans as the Yuletide season draws near. Home first; the world afterwards.

Pat Neff, governor who "never shot a gun or baited a hook," has found congenial company in some of his characteristics in some of the characteristics of the railroad tobacco... neither of the three commissioners smokes or chews tobacco... neither drinks... even coffee;... nor, it may be added, does either cuss.

A small-claims court, to be recommended by the civil advisory council, would be one of the minor litigants could go into without attorney for informal adjustment of their controversies... It is not to be a new court, but a modified procedure for part of the operation of justice courts, council members have said.

The biggest financial boost of recent years promised the University of Texas was the new leasing law that put the sale of oil and gas leases on competitive bidding basis which, two steps to increase its revenues have been taken within the past few weeks. The regents materially raised the prices of grazing leases on its millions of acres of land. And the railroad commission has shut off the waste of fuel gas which has amounted to $5,000,000 already in one oil field in one county.

State Tax Commissioner F. C. Weiner has suggested that regardless of the constitutional amendment to pay taxes on university owned lands in West Texas, that the seven-eighths interest in these lands, under oil and gas leases is unquestionably private property, and subject to taxation.

An equally prominent insurgent, Gifford Pinchot republican candidate for governor in Pennsylvania, was in a close race early today with one M. Hemphill, anti-prohibition democrat.

Pinchot claimed the election. Returns were incomplete.

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

NEA Service Writer
WASHINGTON—The United States has elected about a dozen women to Congress in the last 14 years. Canada's House of Commons has had but one. She was elected in 1921 and has been re-elected three times since.

In the last election she had a comparatively narrow squeak because she and her party stood for very friendly relations with the United States. Canada has been rather sour toward the United States since the Hawley-Smoot tariff bill was enacted, and the lady saw her last previous majority dwindle from 1842 votes to 216.

Her name is Miss Agnes Campbell MacPhail, and she was here the other day to attend a meeting of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom. Your correspondent talked with her and considered her rather a superior person. She is somewhat less than middle-aged.

"Our stupidity of 1911 when we rejected reciprocity has now been equalled by your country's stupidity in passing its new tariff act," she said. "You know, we have always been your best customer, and in the last calendar year bought nearly a billion dollars worth of goods from you.

Canada is now diverting her trade just as you'd divert a stream of water. It will take a long time to overcome the bad effects of this situation. Trade naturally flows north and south on this continent, and here we are interfering with the natural process, acting as if trade were undesired. It may result in bringing up an economic union in the British Commonwealth."

Once Taught School
Before she was elected from Grey County, Ontario, she taught school. She took a great interest in agriculture and went through a school of agriculture and concerted action among the farmers, preaching the theory that no one would ever help them if they didn't help themselves. She was always interested in other public questions, but thought it especially important that Canadian farmers be saved from peasantry.

Then one day 400 farmers—all men—got together at a convention of the United Farmers and nominated her for Parliament. She became a leader in the farm bloc at Ottawa, which now has about 25 members, and such reports as we get in this country indicate that she is regarded as a very able citizen. She specializes on economics and agriculture, international peace and good will.

"I found my first season very trying," said Miss MacPhail. "There was deep resentment over the fact that a woman had at last broken in. But the fellowship of the Commons has since been extended to me, and it is a precious thing."

She has tried to get a government Department of Peace, without much help, and still hopes for active official co-operation from some government agency with the peace movement.

"Talk Peace, Girl for War."

"Our governments talk peace and spend their money for war," she says. "All forward, liberal things are now suffering in a period of reaction partly caused by depression. Things look gloomy all over the world. But the tendency toward human unity, though slow, is continuous. We started in the days when certain tribes first became friendly, and now we have come to the point where nations recognize their interdependence."

"What are women doing with the vote?"
"Progress by women in politics seems slow, but they're really doing well," said Miss MacPhail. "The only comparison I can think of dates back to 1832 in Great Britain when the workmen of the country first got the vote. It was almost a generation before they took any apparent interest in it. We're not proceeding so slowly as that. Women are studying national and international affairs, digging deeply into them; which means that they're seriously interested."

Massachusetts
BOSTON, Nov. 5.—Anti-prohibitionists scored decisive victories in yesterday's elections both in Massachusetts and Rhode Island where the dry issue was carried directly to the electorate.

Massachusetts overwhelmingly repudiated its "baby Volstead act" and the prohibition enforcement law, returns from more than half the state showing a wet vote of 325,288 compared with 196,619 dry ballots.

New Mexico
ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Nov. 5.—Incomplete returns from the majority of New Mexico's precincts today further increased the democratic pluralities.

Senator Sam G. Bratton led his republican opponent by nearly 12,000 votes with only a few scattered votes to be tabulated.

Dirigibles Safe When Helium Gas Is Used

BERLIN, Nov. 5.—Dirigibles will become as "safe as baby's carriage" through the use of helium for lifting power and crude oil for fuel, Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the Graf Zeppelin, has predicted.

Dr. Eckener revealed in a speech at the annual banquet of the American Chamber of Commerce last night, that the Zeppelin works had changed plans for the country's newest airship to conform with the latest safety requirements after being advised that the United States would supply as much of the non-inflammable helium as would be required.

Three boys entered a village confectionery. The rather gruff old proprietor said to the first boy, "What do you want, my boy?"

"A dime's worth of bull's eyes, please."

The old man climbed a ladder, brought down the jar that contained the bull's eyes, made up the packet and returned the jar to the shelf. Then he asked the second boy what he wanted.

"A dime's worth of bull's eyes, please," was the answer.

"Why didn't you say so before?" said the old man irately, as he went for the ladder again. "Do you want a dime's worth of bull's eyes too?" he demanded of the third boy.

"No," replied the third boy.

The old man climbed to the shelf again, brought down the jar, made up the second packet of bull's eyes, restored the jar to the shelf, and once more put the ladder away.

"Well, my boy, and now what do you want?" he asked of the third boy.

"A nickel's worth of bull's eyes," came the answer.

AUSTIN, Tex., Nov. 5.—Texas' return to democratic party regularity, hardly contested by the republicans in this by-election, probably means the finish of the "double experiment" of two-party competition in the state.

But Texas, like other states, will in the next presidential election, find very strong cross-currents running athwart each party. Some people even think it means the reshaping of two new parties out of opposing elements of the present parties.

William Gibbs McAdoo recently has come to life in an apparently well-pressed-away way. This is about the time for presidential boomlets to have the air applied. With Roosevelt defeated in New York, Mr. McAdoo's friends prop-

Christian Science; Purpose And Method

By PETER V. ROSS, C. S. B.

Thoughtful observers are impressed with the apparent imperfection of things as they pass before us in the panorama of life. The plant is twisted, the beast vicious, while man, the noblest of earth's inhabitants, seems so deplorably prone to disease and evil that he is described as mortal and fallen.

May not all this supposed imperfection rest in our mistaken sense of things rather than in the things themselves? Unquestionably the Creator has made all things perfect and permanent. Otherwise the universe could not endure. The source of the difficulty, then, must be sought in personal sense or in the human mind and the remedy must be applied to this mind and a correction therein wrought to the end that a perception be attained which sees man and the universe as God made them.

The human mind, because it is human, catches at most only faint glimpses of what is going on even in the so-called physical realm. Small wonder, then, that it gets a grotesque sense of spiritual realities, and, instead of seeing them in their glory and perfection, renders them sickly and ugly.

The Mental Realm

So it is not surprising that the human mind should misinterpret, should belittle man. And this is precisely what the human mind does. Divine Mind, or God, creates and sees man spiritual and perfect, above and beyond disease; but the human mind, unable to comprehend man in his fullness and perfection, visualizes him as physical, as a finite form or figure, swayed by evil, tormented by disease, always limited and imperfect. Thus it is that evil, disease, and imperfection have their source and abiding place in the human mind or consciousness. Hence their cure must there be brought about.

Material things, the human body included, seem very real and tangible. But actually matter is only a mistaken sense of things as dense and heavy, as having weight and ends and sides. For the human mind is, so to speak, shortsighted. It gets a blurred sense of things as dimensional and ponderous. This restricted sense of things constitutes matter. Matter will therefore disappear as mortal sense, under the influence of truth, gives way to a right perception which sees things as they are in spiritual perfection. The disappearance of matter does not mean that the foundation of things will slip away or that the individual will disappear or lose his identity. It means that our heavy, awkward, lumbered, suffering sense of ourselves and of things generally, will give place to the buoyant, free, spiritual—the true sense of things and of ourselves.

We live, then, in a mental realm. All things are mental, man himself being an aggregation of thoughts, an individual of consciousness, instead of an aggregation of cells or a physical body as physiology declares. And it is toward consciousness rather than corporeality that Christian Science treatment is directed. Science, by declaring perfection in all things and in all phases, operates to eliminate from human consciousness its beliefs that matter is actual, that disease is present, that evil is attractive. It sweeps from consciousness the heavy, sickly sense of man, and brings out the true sense of man as healthy and holy, as spiritual and perfect.

Christian Science accomplishes this by presenting the facts to the individual and arousing him to the true situation. It declares to him that the presence of God who is Love and Life leaves no place or possibility for disease and suffering; that man as the reflection of God is as perfect in a degree as God is; that man is an expression of perfect Life and Mind and therefore that he is well and knows that he is well. The effect of these truths, as they are accepted by the individual, is to work a change in consciousness whereby his sense of pain or unrest, which is false, gives place to a sense of health and peace, which is true.

The Great Discovery

It will be remembered that Jesus, early in his ministry, healed all sorts of diseases and even raised the dead, through spiritual means. Finally, three days after his crucifixion, he came from the sepulcher, and appeared not once but several times to his friends and talked with them during a period of forty days. Then he ascended, that is, became invisible to the physical senses. He had demonstrated that individual life is indestructible and continuous.

It might be thought that the significance of such a stupendous accomplishment would never be forgotten; but within two or three centuries, it was, very largely, until some sixty years ago, when, here in America, a spiritually minded and deeply religious woman, apparently approaching the end of mortal existence as the result of an accident, turned to her Bible for consolation. While she was reading one of the gospel accounts of healing performed by Jesus, a sense of strength and freedom stole over her. She arose dressed and presented herself to anxious friends, sound and well.

But she was not content with this. She must understand the process of spiritual healing. To this end she searched the Scriptures and devoted her life. She found that Jesus, in overcoming disease, setting aside material laws and abolishing death itself, invoked absolute Science which he understood and which others can understand.

In order that the world at large might profit by her discovery, she set forth the fundamentals of this Science in her great book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures." Afterward she established the Christian Science Church with its periodicals and other means for disseminating and guarding the truth. Thus it was, in brief, that Mary Baker Eddy became the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science and earned the right to be called the Leader of the Christian Science movement.

Firemen Patrol Canadian River Watching Fires

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 4.—Firemen and volunteer workmen patrolled the meandering course of the North Canadian river today beating out fires which spread along the stream following submission of the wild Morgan-Stout oil gusher.

Waste oil, spouting from the unrecracked gusher at the rate of thousands of barrels daily, flowed along the top of the river. The brown seum became ignited at more than 40 points late yesterday. The towns of Harrah, McCloud and Spencer were threatened.

The Warner bridge near Spencer, named in honor of Paul and Lloyd Warner, the baseball stars, was destroyed by the fire.

Workmen had prevented serious spread of the flames.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Mitchell, 17, is a Baltimore boy who has lived with her mother, Margaret Rogers, in New York. The boy is divorced and Mrs. Rogers is a widow following a marriage.

Barney Shields, young newspaper photographer, is in love with Mitchell. Mitchell asks Evelyn Parsons, a beautiful widow, to introduce her to other young people. Parsons agrees, considering Celia a means to win Mitchell's affections.

Soon becomes jealous of the schemes to get rid of her and encourages a romance between Celia and Tod Jordan, father of a dubious character. Though Mitchell forbids Celia to go about with young men frequently, she goes with him. Lillian, a girl of Celia's age, becomes her loyal friend. Shields goes to New York to work for a graphic service and meets her. She tells him she has lost heart to Jordan.

Realization that it is really the young man who is imprisoned in the burning building. He escapes, except for a broken arm. Parsons, who pretends to be shy to Shields, goes to Mitchell and tells him Celia is meeting young man surreptitiously. Afternoon Celia and Shields are strolling together when Mitchell appears.

ly in front of them, scarcely 10 yards away. The boy and girl walked slowly. Barney was speaking and Celia raised eager eyes to his.

Suddenly she saw her father. John Mitchell was striding toward them briskly. The girl stopped, uttered a low cry.

"It's father!" she exclaimed. Barney Shields looked at her, puzzled. Before he could speak Mitchell had reached them. John Mitchell's face was a mask for his emotions, coldly formal, but there was a glint in his eyes which startled the girl. She had seen it once before.

"Why, father?" Celia began, "what a surprise to meet you here!"

Mitchell halted. "And a surprise to meet you, too," he said evenly. "Won't you introduce me to your friend, Celia?"

"Of course! Father, this is Mr. Barney Shields. My father."

Her father's laugh added to the instead of decreasing her appearance of embarrassment. "I was just wishing I had company for my walk when I met Mr. Shields. Wasn't that fortunate?"

"Very. How do you do," Mitchell said curtly, offering his hand.

Barney took it eagerly. "I'm certainly glad to meet you, Mr. Mitchell. Celia's told me a lot about you."

"Really? Have you—known my daughter long?"

"Oh, yes," Celia spoke up. "I knew Barney before I came to New York. He's a photographer, father. Makes pictures for newspapers. He goes to the most exciting places!"

"Newspapers?" Mitchell glanced at the young man quickly. "Interesting, indeed. Celia, I must ask Mr. Shields to excuse you if you don't mind. I have some things I wish to talk over with you. Matters of importance. You'll pardon me, Mr. Shields?"

It was done suavely, but there was unquestioned finality in the icy tone.

Both of the young people showed surprise. Tod color came into Celia's cheeks. Shields stared for an instant, then he stepped back. "Why, certainly," he said. "Then, to the girl, he added, 'Excuse me, won't you? I'll see you later.' The young man hesitated a moment, tipped his hat, and walked away in the opposite direction."

her father's eyes followed him. A flash of resentment overcame caution and she whirled toward her father.

"Why did you do that?" she demanded. "Why did you send him away? It sounded as though you were deliberately trying to get rid of Barney."

"I was."

"But he's my friend and I won't see him humiliated. He came here today because I particularly asked him to!"

"Or? I thought you'd do two just happened to meet?"

She saw what she had done and colored more deeply. Celia was angry and Mitchell, taking exactly the wrong tactics, prodded her. His own face was white and he spoke carefully, attempting to control his voice.

"I will not have you meeting young men in a park or any other public place. Your home is the place for you to receive guests, and you know that. No respectable young man would stoop to such a thing as a park. I am very interested in you, Celia. This thing is never to happen again! As for Shields—your acquaintance with him is ended."

"Father! You wouldn't—you don't mean that!"

"I certainly do mean every word of it! I insist upon it! You are not to see this young man again."

Anger and dismay filled the girl's eyes as she stared at him. Slowly Celia shook her head.

"You've no right to say such a thing. You don't understand. Why—you wouldn't even talk to Barney a minute. Oh, how can you be so unjust!"

She turned to hide the tears that would not stay back. John Mitchell did not trust himself to speak.

The man waited an instant, then said in a low voice: "We can't stay here. Come—I'll get a cab."

Celia dried her eyes and walked along slowly, but she would not look at her father. A fresh outbreak of tears seemed imminent. Neither of them spoke. They came to the drive and Mitchell signaled a cab. The driver halted and the two got in. Mitchell gave the address of Mrs. Parsons' apartment. He would have delayed conversation, but Celia's weeping was ended. Indignation succeeded chagrin.

"I have a right to choose my own friends!" she said determinedly. "Barney Shields is a fine young man. When you know him

FAMILY MENU

BY SISTER MARY

INSTEAD of serving the proverbial chicken patties, chicken à la King or some equally banal main dish for your next "party" luncheon, consider the possibilities of veal, lamb, eggs and mushrooms.

Nowadays the smart hostess plans meals that reflect a tendency toward restraint in foods which makes for a pleasing simplicity. Figures and health are regarded as too important to risk upsetting by over-lavish menus.

Every dish planned is, of course, prepared from the very best materials available and the whole meal is served faultlessly. Whether a rather formal course luncheon or an informal "plate" luncheon is wanted, the entire service must be perfect in every detail.

The main dish is usually accompanied by one or two green vegetables of contrasting flavor and texture. Potatoes are sometimes served, although it is better to keep away from this vegetable in a company menu as much as possible.

Veal collops are out of the ordinary and deliciously savory. Served with squash, croquettes and spinach timbales followed by French endive with Roquefort cheese dressing and a fruit ice for dessert, they make an attractive and delicious luncheon.

 One and one-half pounds veal steak cut 1-2 inch thick, 4 slices bacon, 4 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 2 cups stock, 1 onion, 1 carrot, 1-2 turnip, 2 blades celery, 6 peppercorns, 1 clove, 4 sprays parsley, 1 bayleaf, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-4 teaspoon pepper.
 Cut the meat into small rounds about 2 inches in diameter. Use bones and trimmings to make stock. Lard the collops on one side with strips of bacon cut 1-4 inches long and about 1-8 inch wide. Melt half the butter in a sauce pan and add peppercorns.

BREAKFAST—Orange juice, cereal, cream, soft cooked eggs, toast, milk, coffee
LUNCHEON—Cream of onion soup, croquettes, apple and cheese salad, rolled oats pudding, milk tea.
DINNER—Breaded veal cutlets, potatoes au gratin, spinach in lemon sauce, grape sherbet, plain cake, milk, coffee.

clove, parsley, bayleaf and vegetables sliced. Plate collops on top of them and cover closely. Saute slowly for ten minutes. Add stock and cover with buttered paper before closely covering pan. Cook in a moderate oven for one hour. When veal is tender, remove from sauce pan and put into a hot oven to brown and crisp the bacon. In the meantime melt remaining butter and when bubbling stir in flour. Cook and stir until beginning to brown. Strain liquor from sauce pan over prepared butter and flour ("roux") and cook and stir until thick and smooth. Pour sauce over collops and serve. Eggs scrambled with mushrooms and served on toast make a delightfully simple concoction. This should be served with green asparagus tips and creamed cauliflower. Grape fruit and green pepper salad with French dressing makes an excellent salad, with mint parfait with hot chocolate sauce finishing the menu.

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS

Banker's Kidnap Is Caught

While Earl L. Yocum, wealthy bank president, returned to his home at Galva, Ill., and let people think that his family had paid the $50,000 ransom demanded by his kidnapers, all of the evidence he had was in the hands of the Illinois authorities, who seized two of the gang of four and wrung a confession from one of them. This picture shows Police Chief J. D. Krumtinger, of Kewanee, Ill. (left), with Verne Ahlgren, prisoner who has confessed.

Here are Mr. and Mrs. Yocum, photographed together after the banker's return. She directed the negotiations for his release and duped the kidnapers.

Better Breakfasts

GOOD coffee and good breakfasts have become almost synonymous. Bismarck is said to have gone to great lengths to get a cup of good coffee. Sitting at a boulevard table in a Paris restaurant one morning, in 1876, he ordered a cup of chicory—and then another and then another. After some dozen or so cups the waiter approached him in despair. "But monsieur," he said apologetically, "we have no more chicory."
 "Good," the famous general replied, rubbing his hands together with satisfaction. "Now bring me a cup of coffee!"
 "Whether we have good coffee or whether our good hot beverage, breakfast may be a good meal if it is planned with thought and executed with care. This menu is appealing for the season when days grow shorter and appetites longer:

for old-fashioned auctions of farm products and such other items as the farmers have to sell or exchange. For instance if a farmer has some turkeys he wishes to turn into cash, bring them in to the auction when it is announced, and they will be sold to the highest bidder or sold for a stated price as the owner may direct. Anything from a half dozen eggs to a cow and calf or a wagon and team will be offered for sale if the owner brings them in for that purpose. Also farm implements, tools of all kinds, etc., will be offered for sale or exchange for the farmer at no charge to them.

Man Found Shot Through His Head

DALLAS, Tex., Nov. 5.—Funeral services will be held this afternoon for Henry Lewin, 23, who was found shot through the head in the bathroom at his home late Tuesday afternoon. Lewin died an our later.
 Other members of Lewin's family thought him at work in the credit office of a Dallas department store when the sound of shots attracted their attention.

By Blosser

eleven counties comprising the fourteenth district gave Wurzbach 8083; Dielman (D) 6,673.

All other Texas congressional races were conceded to the Democrats.

Ross Sterling, Houston publisher and capitalist, polled an overwhelming majority over his republican opponent. Returns from 144 of Texas' 252 counties gave Sterling 93,144; Talbot (R) 19,615.

Democrats

Alabama
 BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 5.—Senator J. Thomas Heflin, who bolted the democratic ticket in 1928 and ran for re-election as an independent this year, had been defeated today by John H. Bankhead, democratic regular.

The entire state democratic ticket appeared to have won by an overwhelming majority.

Arizona
 PHOENIX, Ariz., Nov. 5.—Arizona appeared to have returned to the democratic fold today with George W. P. Hunt holding a lead over Gov. John C. Phillips, republican incumbent. Hunt has been governor of the state six times.

Colorado
 DENVER, Col., Nov. 5.—Edward P. Costigan, democrat today was conceded election to the United States Senate from Colorado.

George H. Shaw his republican opponent, admitted defeat, and extended congratulations as the majority continued to increase for Costigan, a former member of the federal tariff commission.

Victory also was conceded for Governor W. H. Adams, democrat, seeking a third term.

Idaho
 BOISE, Ida., Nov. 5.—With more than half the precincts tallied it seemed reasonably certain early today that Idaho would return its famous senior republican senator and two republican congressmen to congress by substantial majorities.

There still remained a mathematical uncertainty as 402 of the 823 precincts have yet to be counted.

Kansas
 WICHITA, Kas., Nov. 5.—Senator Henry J. Allen, in a telegram today to his opponent for the U. S. Senate, George McGill, democrat, congratulated the latter on his victory and conceded it was a close one.

Returns coming in slowly from rural precincts had steadily increased McGill's lead over the junior Kansas senator after a race which was extremely close throughout the night.

Missouri
 ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 5.—Missouri, which went republican in 1928, appeared today to have elected democratic congressmen from at least nine of its 16 congressional districts.

In three other districts republican incumbents were trailing by scant margins, with the possibility that republican seats from that state would be reduced from ten to four.

Montana
 BUTTE, Mont., Nov. 5.—Early returns today indicated that Montana will not change her representation in the house of representatives.

In the first district the incumbent, John M. Evans, democrat (wet) led his republican opponent, Mark D. Fitzgerald, by nearly 7,000 votes.

Minnesota
 ST. PAUL, Minn., Nov. 5.—Minnesota voters apparently turned their backs today on republican candidates for the offices of U. S. Senator and governor for the first time since the Civil war.

Not during the past 70 years have both senators and the governor been of a party other than the GOP but indications shown in tabulations of yesterday's votes pointed strongly to the selection of a democratic senator, Einar Holde, and a farmer-labor governor, Floyd B. Olson. The present senior senator, Henrik Shipstead is the only farmer-labor member of the upper house.

Nebraska
 OMAHA, Nov. 5.—Nebraska Tuesday elected a republican senator, a democratic governor, four democratic and two republican congressmen and the entire republican slate for minor offices.

Senator George W. Norris' margin over Gilbert M. Hitchcock, his democratic opponent, was approaching the 50,000 mark at 7 a. m. The count was tabulated by United Press from 1362 precincts out of 2,040 in the state gave Norris 170,351; Hitchcock 126,163.

Nevada
 RENO, Nev., Nov. 5.—Although the race was close, returns from yesterday's election indicated a republican victory in Nevada.

Samuel S. Arenta, representative in congress, was leading his democratic opponent by approximately 1,000 votes and Gov. Fred B. Beilar, seeking re-election, held a similar lead.

New York
 NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—A plurality which may reach the unprecedented total of 750,000 votes today had returned Franklin D. Roosevelt as governor of New York and had made of him one of the outstanding figures for the democratic presidential nomination in 1932.

It was a notable triumph which Roosevelt scored over Charles H. Tuttle, the former United States attorney in New York City and the republican candidate. During the campaign Roosevelt had been beset with charges that he lacked vigor in his investigation of alleged official graft and office buying in New York City, particularly in Tammany circles. His wet stand was countered with an equally wet stand by Tuttle.

Oklahoma
 OKLAHOMA CITY, Ok., Nov. 5.—Returns from 2,226 precincts of Oklahoma's 3,365 today gave for governor: Murray (D) 190,563; Hill (R) 120,161.

Returns from 2,203 precincts, gave for senator: Gore (D) 162,613; Pine (R) 125,534.

South Dakota
 PIERRE, S. D., Nov. 5.—Governor W. J. Bulow, democrat, republican candidate, led Senator W. H. McManis, republican, with
