HOURS FOR DRINKS.

"Drunkenness has decreased on the eight-hour day," say English drys. "Think how much better it would be on the two-hour day."

"Yes, but look at the bootlegging in America," say those on the other side.

And there you have it. That the old-fashioned saloon and dispensing methods were wrong and no one wants to go back to them, is a decision practically unanimous. But that prohibition in its present form is an unqualified success, almost everyone doubts.

What America wants is less drinking with more freedom; especially freedom from moonshining, rum-running, graft, bootlegging, hijacking and the attendant crimes.

There is no value in hot argument as to the success of the present form of prohibition. What we have is a problem to be solved. If both wets and drys would stop argument and abuse, and put their best thought on methods of working out a sensible solution, better results would soon be attained.

THE AVIATING SNAKE.

Movie audiences would have snickered at such an adventure as befell "Happy" Wiggins, amateur air pilot. Imagine being attacked by a rattler and engaging in a life-and-death struggle a mile up in the air. Yet that did happen to Wiggins.

He had a worse time with that venomous stowaway than he might have had with a gunman bent on killing him and stealing his plane. How the serpent was finally thrown overboard, and the wounded flyer succeeded in making an emergency landing in a farmyard and getting aid, will long be one of the classic stories of the air.

Bees, which make so much trouble for motorists, don't seem to take to airplanes. They would make less trouble in planes than in autos, because a plane has more room to wobble around in.

Imagine what would happen to an automobile while a driver and a snake were fighting for its possession. Fortunately snakes don't seem to get into cars.

STAY IN SCHOOL.

At this time of year thousands of boys and girls are debating whether they shall continue in school or look for jobs. The only sound advice for any normal young person is, in case of doubt, remain in school. There are good reasons for this which are applicable at any time.

Does the pupil want to make money? The best way to "put money in his purse" is first to put learning in his head. It has been discovered that the average worker who leaves school at 14 is far worse off at 25 than the worker who continues his studies until he is 18. The former at that age is making only $668 a year and the latter is making $1,550 a year. Although the former has had four years' start, the latter has made $2,225 more in seven years than the former has made in 11 years.

There are, of course, human satisfactions that cannot be rated in dollars, from the additional knowledge, interests and outlook gained by the better educated person.

At present there is a special reason for sticking to books. It is hard to find a job in dull times. Do not add needlessly to the army of unemployed.

AIR LIMITATION.

Two admirals, one American and one British, have told the Institute of Politics at Williamstown, Mass., that the rules of aerial warfare must be modified.

This is no news, but will stand a good deal of repetition. We have limited battleships, cruisers and submarines, but the powers are still free to do about as they please in the air. For naval competition we substitute airship competition.

There may be a race of air fleets at any time. That would be costly and dangerous in itself, and would undo the progress made in regulating other war craft.

Boxing Association Gives Ruling On Worlds Champions

OMAHA, Neb., Sept. 16.—A decision announcing W. L. "Young" Stribling as leading contender for the heavyweight boxing crown of Max Schmeling caused considerable comment today at the annual convention of the National Boxing Association.

Another decision of interest was that reinstating Primo Carnera, giant Italian, as a "ranking contender." The convention passed a motion holding that Carnera had not been guilty of participating in "fixed fights."

The following champions were named, and a leading contender for each division:

- Heavyweight — Max Schmeling; W. L. Stribling.
- Light Heavy Weight — Maxie Rosenbloom; Jimmy Slattery.
- Middleweight — Championship vacant; Dave Shade.
- Welterweight — Tommy Freeman; Young Corbett.
- Junior Welterweight — Kid Berg; Baby Joe Gans.
- Lightweight — Al Singer; Kid Kaplan.
- Junior Lightweight — Benny Bass; Pete Nebo.
- Featherweight — Bat Battalino; Kid Chocolate.
- Bantamweight — Title vacant; Al Brown.
- Flyweight — Frank Genaro; Midget Wolgast.

ATLANTA, Sept. 16.—Jim Londros, claimant of world heavyweight wrestling honors, defeated Paul Jones, Texas, 59:50, body fall and airplane spin; Bill Bartush, Chicago, defeated Charlie Fox, Cleveland, body block, 26:06.

Sportsmanship

THE other night at a banquet in Chicago, Knute Rockne gave about as good a definition of sportsmanship as I ever heard.

"Sportsmanship," said the Notre Dame coach, "is a practical application of the Golden Rule. It is difficult to define precisely in words. It must be understood."

Rockne went on to cite what he regarded as an example of sportsmanship. The incident occurred during the Northwestern-Notre Dame game last fall.

"One of the Notre Dame players had suffered a torn cartilage of the ribs," said Rockne. "Before the game Northwestern's trainer walked into our quarters with a special appliance for the protection of the injury."

"As the linemen crouched for the opening scrimmage of the game, the Northwestern player opposite our injured man asked him where he had been hurt. Our player told the Northwestern man.

"After the game, the Notre Dame player told me that not once during the game was he hit on the side that was hurt. That is the kind of sportsmanship I think is worth while."

The only player we can remember as suffering a torn rib cartilage before that game was Captain John Law. One Northwestern man who played opposite him in the line that day was Harvey Anderson.

Playing Weaknesses

ROCKNE cited a wonderful example. It would have been an advantage to get Law out of that game. Law was tough, a bruiser, a hard man to handle. It would have been to Northwestern's advantage to incapacitate Law, figuring that Law's substitute wouldn't be so rude.

Law entered the game at a disadvantage. In such a game as football, he could expect no mercy, because the other fellow is trained to look for the breaks and snatch them when they come. In prize-fighting the boxer plays for his adversary's weak spot. So does a football team. If the quarterback

Prize Money Goes Quickly

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 16.—The proverb that wealth easily acquired is destined to be easily spent has been justified by the experience of five Englishmen who in December, 1927, won the first prize in the Christmas lottery here. They won 2,000,000 pesos, approximately $800,000, and today, with two exceptions they again are poor men.

No. 1 died before he could enjoy his new-found wealth. No. 2 became enamored of greyhound racing in England lost his money backing his fancies, and is now shaking cocktails in a Rio de Janeiro bar. No. 3 invested his money in a London cinema house and is reported to have lost the greater part of his capital because his theatre is not equipped for talkies. No. 4 became involved in commercial speculations which went wrong

Chicken Thieves Turn Modern

"No repairs in 22 years," says home owner

"Visitors are delighted with the noiseless operation of my doors," says a home owner of Monongah, West Virginia. "The locks and hinges have been in active service 22 years, and during this time I haven't spent a cent for repairs. I've never used anything but 3-in-One Oil."

Many housewives who pride themselves on the spotless appearance of their homes are careless about the lubrication of hinges and locks. Try a few drops of 3-in-One Oil today and see how quickly it brings out rust, dirt and squeaks. For 3-in-One, a blend of animal, mineral and vegetable oils, is distinctly different from ordinary oil: it cleans and protects as well as lubricates.

For 35 years 3-in-One has been recognized as the best oil for sewing machines, vacuum cleaners, lawn mowers, hinges and general household lubrication. Insist on 3-in-One Oil. At good stores everywhere, in 15c and 30c sizes. For your protection look for the trade mark "3-in-One" printed in Red on every package. Adv.

Milton Sills Dies Of Heart Attack At Hollywood Home

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Sept. 14.—Milton Sills, the actor is dead. An attack of heart disease, occurring soon after he finished a game of tennis with his daughter last night, caused his death.

Sills, who was a college professor before he achieved fame as a screen actor, had suffered from heart disease before and twice had been forced to retire temporarily in order to regain his health.

His wife, Doris Kenyon, herself a well known cinema player, was watching Sills and his daughter, Dorothy, on the tennis court at their Brentwood Heights home near here. Suddenly the actor dropped his racket and motioned to the girl.

Dr. Jack Steel was summoned, and restoratives were administered. But Sills was beyond help. With his wife, their small son Kenyon, Mrs. James B. Kenyon, his mother-in-law, the daughter and Jack Goodrich, a friend of the family, at his bedside the actor passed quietly away.

Sills was in excellent spirits and apparently in good health when he began the tennis game. He had not been working for some time owing to his heart trouble, but it was believed he was recovering rapidly.

Maison Poiret Style Exhibit Emphasizes Modern Spirit

By JOHN WHITE
United Press Staff Correspondent

PARIS, Sept. 15.—Singular in that there was little romanticism during a season when epochs run rife and become entangled with one another, the collection of the Maison Poiret emphasized modernity. Here there were few ruffles, not much of the medieval spirit. Surfaces were "plane" and cylindrical coat collars showed cool curves.

Yet the group receiving loudest applause in the Poiret salons curiously was old-fashioned—named "Bouquet et Quelques Fleurs." The bouquet was a white chiffon dress with romantic full skirt, and girdled over one shoulder by varicolored flowers. It was accompanied by two other frocks of pale green and yellow net, their skirts covered with tiny posies.

There was, in spite of an effort to keep the collection modern, an out-cropping of this year's old-fashioned tendencies in evening clothes. And they seemed to attract the most attention, "Sapho," a short evening wrap of rose velvet, shirred, its little back peplum split, being notable, while Herizta, an evening gown of pale pink panne velvet with cape-throw, scalloped skirt, and zathers down one side, also was applauded.

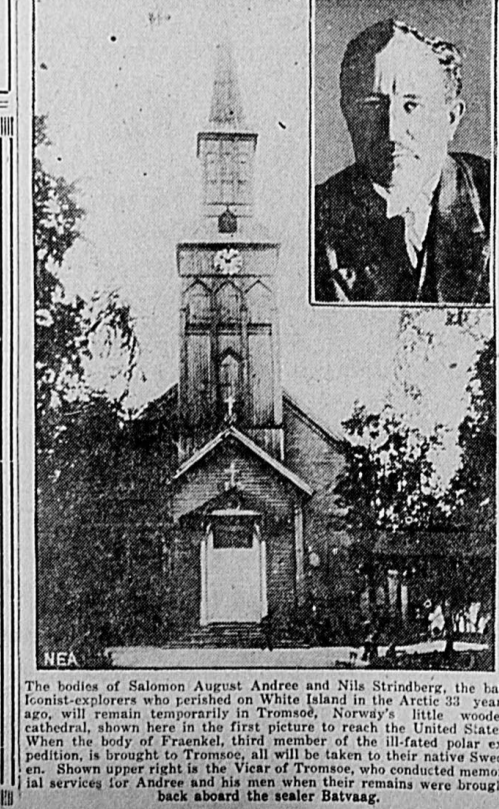

Poiret's coats, with their round head in back, furnished a silhouette almost unknown in Paris, this year. Their flaring skirts, closings on the side, sometimes with only one button at the top near the neck, and their wide gauntlet cuffs, were the spirit of "sur-realism."

There was another motif in coats too, illustrated by the model called "Esquimaux." Of brown and white tweed, this coat had a wide hood collar outlined with ermine. Crushed, the collar seemed only ample bundling around the neck; pulled up it formed a hood.

This brown and white mixture of tweed was often shown at Poiret's, "Paris sur le Neige," an ensemble of dress and coat was cut from it, belted with a wide leather piece the same color brown and serving for both coat and dress, and trimmed with wide beaver cuffs set on in large triangles.

Shiny furs like brettechwanz and gallic often were used on the modern Poiret coats, since their glossy sheen amplified the spirit of the design.

Navy General Board Outlines Building Plan

By WILLIAM W. CHANCE
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—Final consideration of the navy's future construction policy was entered upon today by the navy general board, which is understood to have reached tentatively a decision to recommend building up to the full quota of the London naval treaty in every category except six inch gun cruisers.

The program virtually decided upon provides for another five-year building project, it was learned. Failure to recommend building up to the full quota of the London naval treaty in every category except six inch gun cruisers.

The board in agreeing to recommend that in tantamount to a full scale program, it was learned, did so with the knowledge the program would be reduced in view of presidential requests for economy, the United Press was informed. The attitude of the board has been that "half a loaf is better than none," one officer said.

Failure to recommend building up to treaty limits in six-inch gun cruisers was attributed to the board's desire for further experiments with these.

Under the treaty, 25 per cent of the 143,000 tons allotted in the six inch category may be equipped with airplane landing decks. In its forthcoming program, the general board is expected to ask for an authorization of several of these ships, some to be of the "hybrid" cruiser-airplane carrier type. The balance would be requested later, it was said.

Rare Fossils Are Found in Colorado

By THE UNITED PRESS

CHICAGO, Sept. 15.—The fossil of a remote ancestor of the common morning glory that bloomed 21,000,000 years ago, and the feather of a bird of the same period have been discovered by the Field Museum geological expedition in the vicinity of Florissant, Colo.

The deposits from which the fossils were obtained are of the Miocene age and have yielded a number of previously unknown species of prehistoric insect and plant fossils.

Throckmorton — Miner Avenue opened for traffic.

Crowell—Controlling interest in First State Bank purchased by R. R. Waldrop.

Speculation is active, now that the democratic convention is out of the way, over several remaining appointments to be made by Gov. Dan Moody in the final four months of his term, and of the original "cabinet" appointments of Nominee Ross S. Sterling.

It is believed that the capital that Gov. Moody will within the next few days appoint Adrian Pool, El Paso, as a member of the board serving beyond his term awaiting control, to succeed R. B. Waldrop. Nef's appointee who is now in the selection of his successor.

Should Claude D. Teer be invited from the board of control to some other post, thus creating a second vacancy on that board. Rep. John E. Wallace of Teague, who declined the comptrollership, is reported as the prospective selection, either for appointment by Moody or Sterling, according to the time of Teer's retirement from the post.

At the close of the state convention, when Mr. Sterling was officially declared the nominee for governor, he had not tendered his resignation as highway commission chairman. It seemed probable he would remain in office at least through the September commission meeting next Monday and Tuesday, before retiring from the job he has held for three years and eight months.

D. K. Martin, San Antonio, close friend of both Gov. Moody and Mr. Sterling, is most discussed for the post. He is a former highway commission member. Along with Mr. Martin's name, that of Rep. R. M. Hubbard of Bowie county, former highway commission chairman, is being frequently mentioned.

In case highway Commissioner Cone Johnson declines reappointment that is sure to be tendered him in January, then both Mr. Martin and Hubbard are considered as prospective material for the road board.

Some of the notables who are missing and missed from the democratic state convention were the venerable former Attorney General M. M. Crane, Dallas, who was temporary chairman of the 1924 convention at Austin and a dominant figure at many in the past; Jed C. Adams, democratic national committeeman from Texas; Mrs. H. H. Sevier of Austin, national committeewoman; and James V. Allred, recent nominee for attorney general of the state.

Mr. Allred telegraphed his acceptance of the formal tender of his nomination, and his message was read to the convention by Charles I. Francis, his fellow-townsmen.

Find Them Strong Sex

By UNITED PRESS

BERLIN, Sept. 16.—Herr Wilhelm Ruge, a Berlin business man, has completely revised his previous notion that women are the weaker sex.

One evening a short while back Herr Ruge went into a small eating house and ordered a glass of beer. He was accompanied by a woman, who was engaged in conversation and asked him to stand them a glass of beer. Ruge obliged them and shortly afterwards left the place to walk home.

As he was walking along he perceived that he was being followed by four women. Shortly before he reached his house they made a spur, caught him up and without more ado set upon him. Herr Ruge was knocked down by four powerful sets of female fists and while lying on the ground two of them rifled his pockets, removing his wallet.
