WOMEN KILLED AND MANY INJURED IN ACCIDENTS

Fitzgerald Gets 8 Years For Attack On Kilborn

ALSO GETS 2 YEARS ON 2ND CHARGE

Given a Total of 16 Years on Three Charges, Six of Which Are for Forgery.

Walter Fitzgerald, 19-year-old Oklahoma youth, will have to serve two years in the Texas penitentiary for his assault upon E. P. (Jack) Kilborn, Eastland county clerk and veteran peace officer, on May 26 when he struck Kilborn over the head three times with a "billic" when the officer went to the cell to feed Fitzgerald and other prisoners, according to a verdict returned by a jury in Judge George L. Davenport's district court this morning.

Fitzgerald will also have to serve two years in the state penitentiary for attempting to aid Clyde Thompson, charged with murder and under conviction and death penalty for the death of an Shook who was killed in Eastland county last September, to escape from the Eastland county jail.

He will also have to serve six months on a forgery charge, for which he was being held in jail at the time of the attack on Kilborn, making a total of 16 years in all.

Fitzgerald, according to Assistant County Attorney W. B. Collier, made a confession in which he admitted his attack on Kilborn and also admitted trying to let Thompson and other prisoners out of jail. He pleaded guilty to the charges and asked for the mercy of the court.

In his confession to County Attorney Collier, Fitzgerald, Mr. Collier stated, said that he took a cup given him to eat and boiled it until it hardened. This he put in a sock, making a "billic" out of it. When the jailer came to feed him he threw snuff in his eyes and then hit him three times over the head with the "billic." When he had the officer partially knocked out he attempted to work the levers of the cell doors and release the other prisoners, including Clyde Thompson.

Local Prairie Oil & Gas Adopts Daylight Saving

The Prairie Oil & Gas company announces through its local manager for Texas, John M. Mouser, the following change in time schedule of working hours, which has been put into immediate effect.

7:30 a. m., to 12 noon; 1:00 p. m. to 4 p. m. Daily except on Saturdays, when hours are 7:30 a. m. to 11:30 a. m.

The new schedule will permit the men to get out before the real heat of the day, and have their golf, tennis, or other sports, to keep in condition for the strain of working during the hot months.

It also gives time for many a man to collect his family and go to some nearby cool and shady spot, and have their supper, at the regular hour.

Leaving a Note Explaining Her Act, Young Woman Jumps From Hotel Window.

CHICAGO, June 6.—A torn diary and a seven-word declaration of love told the story today of the 12-story death leap of Miss Barbara Cole, show girl who played in "Rose Marie," and Ziegfeld's "Blue Boy."

Miss Cole took the receiver from her phone last night in her luxurious north side apartment and called for the hotel operator.

"This is Miss Cole. I am going to jump from my window," she announced calmly to the startled operator.

Convict Stabbed To Death In Pen

WACO, Tex., June 6.—Relatives of Bill Lawler, convicted at Hillsboro for murder of the Rev. A. J. Motley, his father-in-law, today sought an explanation of his death Monday at one of the state's penal farms.

Lawler was fatally stabbed by someone unknown to relatives and was buried Wednesday. Neither the governor's office nor prison officials at Huntsville offered to throw any light on the matter.

It was reported that Lawler had been stabbed by a cellmate. The prison physician at Huntsville, however, was quoted as saying he knew nothing about the matter. Relatives are endeavoring to find out where the stabbing took place so as to learn the details of the slaying.

STALLWORTH MURDER CASE TESTIMONY IN

Defendant Makes Plea of Self Defense In the Killing of Mrs. Morrison In Amarillo.

AMARILLO, June 6.—A jury in district court here today had only to listen to the closing arguments of attorneys before passing judgment on Mrs. Levi P. Stallworth, charged with the "love shooting" of Mrs. Grace Morrison on a downtown street here May 15.

Attorneys for the defendant rested their case late yesterday after Mrs. Stallworth testified that "I fired because I thought Mrs. Morrison was going to attack me." Her statement from the witness stand was the first she had made since the night of the shooting when she was overheard remarking to Chief of Police H. L. Gaither, "I shot her because she was running around with my husband."

"She threw up her hands and it looked like she was going to jump me," Mrs. Stallworth testified. "I saw a flash and thought she might have something in her hand to attack me. So I fired. I don't know how many shots."

The woman declared that Mrs. Morrison had grappled with Mrs. E. M. Stallworth, the defendant's mother-in-law, and that she believed that Mrs. Morrison was going to strike her next.

How she had gone to the rooming house of the slain woman on the night of the shooting expecting to find her husband there and how Mrs. Morrison, angered, threatened her with a pistol, made up the most sensational part of the evidence heard during the closing hours of the trial.

Robert Stallworth, brother-in-law of the defendant, testified concerning efforts of himself and his mother to get Mrs. Morrison to "go back to her husband in Plainville" and stay away from them.

Evidence in the trial was concluded at a night session last night and the case will be argued today.

Third Victim Dead, Abilene Gas Explosion

ABILENE, Tex., June 6.—With the death of Mrs. Gene Lawler, the toll in Abilene's gas explosion had mounted to three today.

Efforts to save Mrs. Lawler were futile and she died in a hospital last night.

Her husband and year old baby, Doris, were the first victims of the explosion.

The family had gone to inspect an apartment and when Lawler struck a match the explosion followed. Lawler and his daughter were badly burned and Mrs. Lawler was hurled through a window.

Authorities investigating the blast said that gas which had accumulated in the apartment likely became ignited when Lawler struck the match.

The Lawlers formerly lived in Dallas. Lawler was employed here by the Southern Cotton company.

THE HOUSE DEBATES CHARGES AGAINST LAND COMMISSIONER

AUSTIN, June 6.—Various lines of action by the legislature against state land Commissioner J. T. Robinson had been proposed and none adopted after a full morning session in discussion of land office affairs.

Impeachment resolutions offered yesterday were withdrawn by Rep. Grady Woodruff. He substituted for them a list of 20 charges described as "preliminary to impeachment." Reading of these charges was followed by a resolution calling for an investigation by the house as a committee of the whole.

Rep. Homer Dewolfe of Goldthwaite proposed instead that the house reprimand the land commissioner for the manner in which he had handled the land office affairs.

Rep. Fred Minor of Denton, who was chairman of the legislative committee that investigated the land office, declared all these proposed steps were premature. He declared that the house should wait for action by the attorney general.

The attorney general was requested by the report to Minor's committee to file suit for an accounting. If that account shows money due the state and the judgment was not paid, Minor said, then other steps would be in order.

"Nothing that the committee found could constitute an offense or an act of moral turpitude," said Minor, "except the manner in which the one-cent an acre fund of the United States to the other. He is survived by his mother, Mrs. P. L. Crossley, his children; Mrs. L. A. Pruitt, Duncan, Okla., and Cecil Crossley of San Antonio. His brothers, J. R. Crossley and Arthur Crossley of Eastland, Virgil Crossley, Carbon, George Crossley of Crane City, Pitt Crossley of Plainville and his sister, Mrs. Sally Kitchens, of Westbrook.

THE POULTRY INDUSTRY IS GROWING NOW

Bankhead Association Spent Approximately $200,000 In Eastland Past 12 Months.

Eastland and Eastland county, long famed as the "Egg Basket of Texas," is again making strides forward in the poultry industry. During the past two years dealt the producers a staggering blow, but the past twelve months have witnessed a gradual comeback, culminating the total production of approximately 1,500,000 baby chicks and 250,000 young turkeys.

The statistics on poultry for the past twelve months show the greatest increase in five years in the amount handled by the Bankhead Poultry Producers' association.

The following figures will give the reader some idea of the volume of business being handled by the association and the value of the products handled by it.

Eggs from approximately 50,000 hens—6,400 cases—valued at $65,000.

Live poultry—46,000 birds—valued at $36,160.

Turkeys—33,000 birds, weighing 396,000 pounds—valued at $93,000.

Total amount paid out by the association in Eastland $194,760.

Armour & Company is now operating the local poultry plant. A new building and plant is contemplated along with the establishment of a modern dressing plant.

It is the company's plans, according to C. H. Colvin, secretary of the Eastland Chamber of Commerce, to make Eastland the concentrating point for a large district and regular carload shipments of dressed poultry will be made from here to Eastern markets.

(Mineral Wells Index) Last Thursday Eastland county dedicated its new $300,000 courthouse. It is a beautiful structure...

A few months ago Stephens county dedicated a new county building. It, too, is an imposing building.

Throughout West Texas old courthouse buildings are being torn down and new ones are replacing them.

Today Palo Pinto's courthouse almost a relic of pioneer days. It is unsightly and borders on being ugly. It is out of style and antiquated. It is obsolete.

It is too small for the needs of officials of the county. It is not modern.

Palo Pinto county needs a new courthouse. It needs it to keep pace with progressive counties of West Texas. It needs it because the one now being used has served its time, and is an unsightly blotch on an otherwise attractive countenance.

A bond issue should be extended to the people. The time has come to tear away that old historic building at Palo Pinto and replace with a modern structure.

A courthouse as large as those of Eastland and Breckenridge would not be necessary in this case, perhaps. But a modern building, attractively constructed of beautiful stone, of adequate size should be started.

said, he (the captain) would have been liable to the extreme penalty if he had put Tallman in irons. Until the Admiral Benson reached Half-Moon bay Tallman was not locked up and was escorted to meals by the chief steward, the captain said.

Miss Josephine Martin is spending this week with her sister, Mrs. Young, in Abilene.

Mrs. Alexander of Waco who has been the guest of her sister, Mrs. W. Beall Smith, the past ten days, expects to leave Sunday for her home.

Mrs. Allen D. Dabney and Miss Geraldine Dabney when en route home from Fort Worth, in their car Tuesday, were halted at Mineral Wells by the severe illness of Mrs. Dabney's little daughter, Wanda, who was taken to the hospital there for treatment and relief.

The radio operator was last seen about 9 o'clock last night when he was served dinner in the stateroom where he was held captive.

At that time the Admiral Benson was about 200 yards off-shore in Half-Moon bay.

New evidence, through which police hope to identify William L. Tallman as the renter of the "love apartment" in which Mrs. Virginia Patty was murdered, was unearthed today by C. Morton Booth, attorney for Frank D. Patty, husband of the slain woman.

Booth said he had described several men's garments found in the apartment to Mrs. Patty's mother, Mrs. T. P. Scott, in Sioux City, Ia., and that she had said they corresponded to the clothing worn by Tallman when she last saw him three months ago.

Booth turned the garments over to the police.

Meanwhile, the murder was being reconstructed, bit by bit.

Elaine Tipton, stenographer who occupied the flat beneath that one where the pretty Mrs. Patty was murdered, said she had heard screams early Saturday.

On Saturday, the landlady said, "W. C. Johnson," who rented the flat, asked her to clean the apartment only once a week. It was on Tuesday that the landlady entered the apartment and found Mrs. Patty's body hanging by the dress in the clothes closet.

Additional evidence was given by Ray H. Millholland, roommate of Tallman, who said that Mrs. Patty had visited Tallman in San Francisco and that the couple lived alone in an apartment there for a week.

Five Men and One Woman Held On Hijacking Charges

DALLAS, June 6.—Five men and a woman were held here today awaiting filing of charges against them in connection with two recent hi-jackings here.

Three of the men police believed to be hijackers who held up A. Boffman's grocery store Wednesday. The other two men and the woman were suspected of implication in the robbery of the Dallas Milk company Monday in which $1,800 was taken.

One of the men held for the grocery store holdup signed a statement admitting his part in the robbery and implicating the other two.

The arrest of the six suspects came as the result of raids on hotels, clubs and rooming houses of ill-repute late yesterday.

The three men held in connection with the grocery store holdup were identified later today by Sam Roffman, manager of the store, as those who held him and two customers up.

When Rothman came to the jail today he was told to pick out the three who robbed him from a group of 30 prisoners. Without hesitation, he pointed out the three who had been arrested its suspects. They were George Pratt, his brother, Sam Pratt, and Aubrey Seely, who signed the statement admitting his guilt. Seely and Sam Pratt are former Texas penitentiary convicts.

Ed Goerner on Trial For His Wife's Death

CALDWELL, Tex., June 6.—Defense counsel after a conference with witnesses late Wednesday, resumed its battle today for Ed Goerner, charged with murder of his wife, near Bastrop in April, 1927. The state rested its case Wednesday.

A jury which has figured prominently in the case was the subject of a bitter controversy between opposing counsel.

Fred D. Thompson, newspaperman, then of Austin, told from the stand of seeing Goerner pick up the purse, while searching through the attic of his house, put it under his jumper coat, walk down stairs, then come back and announce that he had found the purse.

Goerner denied when confronted with this statement at the trial. He said he had never seen the purse, and that he had never seen the woman who had been charged with the murder.

Goerner's attorney, Raymond D. Thorp, then an Austin fingerprint expert now police chief there, corroborated the news writer's story in that he said Thompson told him of the incident immediately after he claimed to have witnessed it.

and lock, but at last she was at the instrument, panting.

"Hello! Hello! Oh! Yes, Mr. Morgan! . . . Yes." She was almost sobbing. "Nothing's the matter. Just out of breath. Ran to answer the phone. . . . Yes, I've just been to dinner. I thought I'd work on the Lois Downs case; refresh my mind."

"I'm coming down, too," Morgan's deep, pleasant voice was saying. "It's rather lonesome at home, with Iris gone. But I promise not to keep you late. There are one or two points. . . ."

Nan hardly heard him, her heart was pounding so. Iris hadn't left a farewell letter. Did that mean that she was really going to New York only on an innocent pleasure trip, that she and Crawford had broken off their illicit relationship? Oh—did it mean that Iris had protected herself from pursuit by waiting until she was safely at a distance before breaking the news to her husband that she was not coming back?

For five days those questions hammered at Nan Carroll's brain. And then, when she was beginning to believe that all of her agony and suspense for Morgan had been wasted and foolish, and that Iris would come back to the security and honor of being John Curtis Morgan's wife, those questions were answered as she had known in her heart that they would be.

Because Ward had a perfect alibi, and because Lois Downs had been the only person with the invalid the night of her death, the nurse's arrest and indictment for murder had followed.

Morgan had listened to the girl's story, had believed her innocent and had, with Nan's enthusiastic help, worked up the defense which Nan was reviewing the afternoon of Iris' departure for New York.

Becoming absorbed, she worked steadily until six o'clock, then went out for dinner at a restaurant in the neighborhood. But her anxiety for Morgan made it impossible for her to eat. She left a tip beside her plate of almost untouched food, paid her check and ran through the cold, windy business street to the office building. She could stand it no longer; she must know something.

The telephone was ringing with shrill insistence when she reached her office. Her suddenly icy hands fumbled interminably with the key

Bill, the Peanut Pusher, Pushes a Peanut Uphill

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., June 5.—Dawn today found Bill Williams, the big peanut man from Texas, with just five miles to go in his "roll-a-peanut-up-Pikes-Peak-or-bust" derby and with six days to do it.

Bill's noseometer read today: Miles travelled: 17.6. Days worked: 16. Gloves worn out: 18 pairs. Peanuts worn out, lost or stolen by squirrels: 102. Mileage per peanut: 5.79 plus.

Added to that was a total of 7,993 persons who escaped alive after asking: Bill whether it was easier to push a peanut up a mountain or work for a living.

"MONTH OF BRIDES" WILL HAVE THREE WEDDINGLESS DAYS

DALLAS, June 5.—There will be three wedding-less days in Texas

this month—traditionally the "Month of Brides."

Between June 14 and 18 no weddings will take place in conformity with the new state marriage license law which goes into effect June 15. This law, designed for the purpose of preventing hasty marriages, specifies that three days' notice of intention to wed must be filed with the county clerks of the different counties.

During the three days of June 15, 16 and 17 the county clerks can only receive "notices of intention to marry."

No licenses can be issued until the morning of June 18.

It's Sure Been a Surprise to Me, Says Breckenridge Man.

Retired Jeweler States He Never Saw Anything in His Life That Gave Such Relief as Orgatone.

"It's the honest truth, before I had taken this Orgatone a week I was feeling so much improved that I could hardly believe it myself," said E. O. Greene of 390 E. Dyer St., Breckenridge, Texas, a well-known retired jeweler and optician the other day.

"I had a very bad case of stomach trouble that had been with me since I was a small boy," he continued, "that about every 30 days knocked me out so I simply wasn't worth a cent as far as my feelings were concerned. My stomach was in such an awful fix everything I would eat disagreed with me and made me miserable all the time. I would get deathly sick during these spells and develop a very severe case of constipation. Sometimes I would get so dizzy I was just like a drunken man and tried doctors and everything I could hear of without any relief.

"One of my friends had been taking Orgatone and told me it had done him a world of good, so I got me a bottle to try. Well, sir, it sure surprised me for I began to feel better right from the very first dose and before the week was out I was feeling like a different person and have been improving ever since. I never saw anything in my life before to give such relief as this Orgatone and I haven't had a single symptom of my old trouble since I finished my third bottle."

Genuine Orgatone is not a so-called patent or secret remedy but a new scientific bile treatment and is sold in Eastland exclusively by Toombs-Richardson Drug Store, who are direct laboratory agents.

DALLAS, Tex., June 5.—A United States district court jury last night found W. A. Stockard, former president-secretary of the First National bank of Rice, and B. F. Bartlett, a director, guilty of charges of misappropriation of funds of the bank and not guilty on charges of making false entries.

The maximum penalty for violation of the national banking laws as charged in the indictment is five years in prison. Sentences probably will be passed Saturday.

IS REFUSED BAIL

LUFKIN, June 6.—Tom Cunningham, charged with murder of Charley Morris, near the Neches river between Diboll and Corrigan, several weeks ago, remained in jail today, bond having been denied him late Wednesday at a habeas corpus hearing.

At the hearing, before district Judge C. A. Hodges, witnesses gave versions of the shooting. They swore Morris was shot in the back and after falling was shot four more times, besides being kicked and struck with the butt of a gun.

From evidence offered by the defense it was indicated that a self-defense plea will be made at the trial.

WEEKLY SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By H. W. Wrye
 THE STORY OF THE RECHABITES

Golden Text—"We will drink no wine." Jer. 35:6.

Jer. 35:5-11: "And I set before the sons of the house of the Rechabites pots full of wine, and cups, and I said unto them, drink ye wine. But they said, we will drink no wine, neither ye, nor your sons for ever: Neither shall ye build houses, nor sow seed, nor plant vineyard, nor have any; but all your days ye shall dwell in tents; that ye may live many days in the land where ye are strangers. Thus have we obeyed the voice of Jehovah the God of Israel: for we said, Come, let us go to Jerusalem for fear of the army of the Chaldeans, and for fear of the Syrians: so we dwell in Jerusalem." History of the Rechabites

The Rechabites came from the line descending from Abraham and Keturah. They were a branch of the family of Kenites, descendants of Jethro, the father-in-law of Moses. They allied themselves with Israel in the wilderness wanderings, and were faithful to Israel in all the conquests. Jonathan, the son of Rechab, was one of their chief leaders. He modeled his clan under the Nazirite ideal to insure its more thorough separation from the wickedness that prevailed at the time under the dynasty of Ahab. Jonathan endeavored to carry out the Mosaic injunction in regard to teaching his children morning and evening the great principles of life. His influence upon his own household is shown in this lesson. Following his recommendations, they abjured wine, built no houses, cultivated no ground, planted no vineyards, repaired all that was associated with a settled life, and withdrew to tents far from the corruption of idolatrous Samaria.

Thus we note a challenge in the long ago luxury and vice that is an outstanding protest against the sins of the day. Jeremiah's Test of the Rechabites The Rechabites had fled from their tented places of abode to Jerusalem, because they feared the Chaldean and Syrian armies that were invading Canaan at the time of this lesson. Here was seen the precious wisdom of Jonathan's command; they could at a moment's notice emigrate, having no land possessions to tie them. Many today are "cumbered about much serving," and rather than flee to the place of protection guaranteed by Jehovah, they stay with their goods and surrender to the army of Satan. Jeremiah was instructed to bring the Rechabites to a certain chamber in the temple. Here the Lord purposed to use the loyalty of these people to the ideals of their father as a rebuke to the faithlessness of the people of Judah to their God. When they were gathered together, the prophet set before them bowls of wine and drinking cups, and commanded them to drink wine. They promptly replied: "We will drink no wine; for Jonathan the son of Rechab, our father, commanded us saying, Ye shall drink no wine, neither ye, nor your sons, forever." Jonathan had so indoctrinated them with the principles of total abstinence from intoxicating liquors that they refused to touch a drop even in surroundings where every reason for not drinking might be excused. The demand came from the prophet did not shake their obedience to Jonathan. Manly and fashion stoop to things that are wrecking their morals, and deadening their influence in righteous endeavor. "The modern abomination of desolations, the cigarette business. How far down that proven road to inefficiency must we go before someone lifts his voice in protest? The cigarette is not one whit less harmful now than it was 20 years ago." Its effect in three vital life centers—brain, heart and lungs—is direct and deeply detrimental. The human race is being stamped by the tobacco companies, and the man who dares to demure is a silly fanatic, likely to be trampled to death. But there are the Rechabites." The Eastland Telegram, June 4, carried a news item from Austin, Tex., that should be read by parents with the deepest concern. "Girls smoke cigarettes because it seems stylish. Few women smoke because they like it. All admit that the smoking habit is acquired in time, by stampeding with girls smoking, he believes, Mrs. Claude Van Watts, president of the W. T. C. U., has declared against women smoking, against the sale of tobacco to any minor. "It is an insult to womanhood," she said, "to have these appeals put before them, appeals to beauty, and such things, as an incentive to smoke." Della Thompson Lutes, another etiquette authority, says, "A man who would let the smoke of his cigar or cigarette blow into the face of a woman, is simply not a gentleman." Surely church leaders should exhort against these great evils with all the strength their voices possess.

Application of the Lesson to Israel. Jer. 35:12-17: From the interesting test, Jeremiah went forth and the Word of God came to him charging him to go to the men of Judah saying, "Will ye not receive instruction to hearken to my words saith Jehovah." He declared also that the Rechabites had adhered most tenaciously to the principles instilled into them by their father and had refused to deviate therefrom. Having made this statement, the prophet indicted the nation, saying, "But I have spoken unto you, rising up early and speaking; and ye have not hearkened unto me, I have sent also unto you all my servants the prophets saying, Return ye now every man from his evil way, and amend your doings, and do not after other gods to serve them, and ye shall dwell in the land which I have given you and I will incline your ear, nor hearken unto me." The contrast between the loyal Rechabites to their great progenitor, and the disloyalty of the men of Judah who had enjoyed marvelous blessings from God, is most striking. If men give heed to their earthly fathers, much more should they give heed to their heavenly father. The words found in the Bible are the very messages of God, is certain from infallible and indisputable facts. God knew what was best for man and He always spoke for his good. The surrendered will gladly receive any and all things that God says. Only the unregenerated and rebellious hearts ignore or reject what God commands. Every transgression and act of disobedience brings its certain reward, just as every act of obedience to God brings its blessings. If the Rechabites still live, so, also, do the recreant children of Judah.

high in the Texas league it looked like they had the pennant clinched, went down another notch with its third consecutive loss at Houston. Harris, Waco twirler, was pounded for a home run, two triples, three doubles, and two singles. Foreman relieved Myres on the mound for Houston and held Waco safe during the last seven innings. The score was 5 to 4. Waco is only one game above the 500 mark.

San Antonio, behind 10 to 2, staged an 11-run rally in the seventh to defeat Beaumont 13 to 11. Easterling, Beaumont center fielder, made two home runs, making a total of eight for the season.

Unsteady pitching by both teams produced a wild riot of hits and walks, Fort Wichita finally coming out ahead of Wichita Falls 11 to 6. Swenson, Oilers' third baseman, had a bad day in this field with three errors.

Rain prevented the Dallas-Shreveport game from being played.

MAJOR LEAGUES Yesterday's hero: Rube Walberg Philadelphia southpaw, who held the St. Louis Browns to four hits and enabled the Athletics to increase their lead in the American league to six and a half games with a 5 to 2 victory.

Two of the four hits were home runs, one by Melillo and the other by Kress, keeping Walberg from a shut-out. The defeat dropped the Browns to third place.

The New York Yankees moved up another notch by checking Cleveland, 6 to 5, in a 12-inning game. Lazzeri sacrificed with the bases full in the last of the 12th to score the winning run.

Washington attacked three Detroit pitchers for 10 hits to score an 8 to 2 victory at Washington. The Tigers were unable to solve the pitching of Fred Marberry, who allowed only five hits.

Boston pounded Chicago all over the field to score a 17 to 2 victory at Boston. The high spot of the comic travesty came in the eighth, when, after eight runs had been scored off Dugan, Manager Lena Blackburne took the mound for the White Sox to retire the side.

Most Beautiful Among 900

Most beautiful of nine hundred college girls! That's the distinction paid Miss Evelyn Satterwhite of Crockett, Texas, in her first year at the College of Industrial Arts (Texas State College for Women). She has been chosen to represent the nine hundred freshmen of the school in the Daedalian annual, college year book.

Ordinarily, we sympathize with newspaper men but we have no patience with the scribes who are trying to find Lindbergh. We hope the Lone Eagle and the heiress to the Morrow millions elude the news hawks.

Dallas failed to grasp its golden opportunity. Sunday when the Steers were in first place, they ought to have split the season right then. They got back on top Tuesday—maybe they'll think of it this time. They may never get in first place again.

The three leading hitters of the American league up to Tuesday were all members of the Philadelphia Athletics. Which may shed some light on why Connie Mack's team is setting the pace.

The Chicago Cubs have slumped—lost three in a row to the Giants. But don't count McCarthy's men out of the race. Hornsby and Wilson will start hitting the ball again to keep Stephenson company.

We have heard no talk about splitting the Texas league season since deaunounced it a few days ago. We can settle everything except our own bills.

ARMY FUND TO EXPIRE JULY 1st

RANGER, Texas, June 6.—Seven senior and 22 junior soldiers comprise the present membership of the Ranger corps of the Salvation Army, Miss Deborah Rice, captain, states.

Meetings attended by the soldiers and open of course to any one else interested in the work of the local corps are held at the Salvation Army hall, 325 South Austin street, on Tuesday, Thursday, Saturday, and Sunday nights of each week. Tuesday night's meeting is given to the Young Peoples' League, a supplementary organization of the Army Sunday school. Sunday school services are conducted each Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Funds which were raised by the Home Service Drive last fall will expire this month, Captain Rice says. The full quota for Ranger was not raised, she states. The funds have covered a period from last December to this month. Miss Rice has been captain of the local corps since Jan. 1. Donations to the corps will be received at the Army hall.

Lions Will Elect Officers Thursday

RANGER, Texas, June 6.—Election of officers will occupy the Ranger Lions club at the regular luncheon in the green room of the Gholson tomorrow. Lion Meroxy is program chairman. The election is expected to be of exceeding interest to the members, since the new president will be sent by the club to attend the Lions International convention at Louisville, Ky., June 19, 20, 21.

Bradford Gets Six Stills At the Same Place

Six stills—all at the same place—were captured by Cy Bradford, veteran peace officer of Strawn, in a recent raid in the country out from Thurber.

Officers declare that it is almost an unheard of thing for as many as two stills to be found together and the capture of six at one time is unparalleled, so far as known, in this section of Texas.

Two of the stills were in operation, Constable Bradford said.

The stills were at a house, some of them being in the house and the others were outside. A Mexican was arrested. Eighteen gallons of peach brandy and eight barrels of peach mash also were confiscated.

Public Utility Bill Opposed

AUSTIN, Tex., June 5.—A blow at the public utilities commission bill and increases in appropriations were the response of the state Senate today to Gov. Dan Moody's address yesterday. Moody had urged the public utility bill as the most important measure before the legislature. He had urged decreased appropriations.

The adverse action on the utility bill consisted in withdrawing it from the civil jurisprudence committee and re-referring it to the committee on state affairs. The significance of this is the state affairs committee has acted unfavorably to the bill twice at former sessions, while the civil jurisprudence committee has as its chairman Sen. Walter Woodward of Coleman, author of the utility bill.

Judiciary appropriations were under consideration when the Senate again went counter to the governor's advice. Items in the bill were raised $30,000.

In the House judiciary appropriations also were under consideration. Effort there to increase expenditures failed. Among them was a proposal to give the Dallas court of civil appeals two stenographers on the claim that one stenographer cannot take all the work of the three judges.

Rep. T. R. Bond of Kaufman asked if it were not true that the court averages only 22 decisions per judge per year or less than one a week per judge. An effort to increase the allowance for furniture for the Court of Civil Appeals at Eastland was also voted down.

Dempsey will return to the ring. The old ballyhoo seems to have already started. Jack's secretary has become so upset that he is liable to start seeing things in the dark. The bogey man'll get him if he don't watch out. It seems that Jack's life is in danger, great danger, all because a bird with a gruff voice called up Jack's secretary and told him "Dempsey can't get away with it."

The plan seems to be just now to match Jack for a fight in Old Mexico, over the California line. Two hundred thousand dollars is the lure but rumor says that Dempsey wants half a million. So do we. But Jack will probably get his. If not in Old Mexico then somewhere else. The public will flock to see the one-time Manassa Mauler in action once more. Personally, we would like for the fight to be staged in the Southwest, if Dempsey re-enters the ring.

Why not have the fight in Austin with Dan as the referee? Now you tell one.

If Harry Sinclair and Al Capone could meet in jail, say, it might be the beginning of a beautiful friendship.

USED TRUCK TRADE-INS

NO truck seller in this territory can offer any buyer a more honest or more advantageous allowance than we can, on his used truck.

We will not make an excessive allowance. We will not lead him into any haggling or "hoss trading" tactics.

He will get a full, fair allowance—based on the actual re-sale value of the used vehicle in this market. But no more than that.

There is not a drop of "water" in General Motors Truck prices; no "padding" in anticipation of unsound trade-in allowances. Extra value, instead, is built into each truck. This way the buyer can spend his time and energy judging actual value, buying wisely, instead of "bargaining" against a padded list-price margin.

This is another of the safeguards that operate for every man who buys a General Motors Truck. Another big reason why it will pay any man to see these trucks before investing.

How Eastland County Treats Dairy Cows; How Dairy Cows Treat Eastland County

By MRS. J. W. BAIRD
Special Writer for The Semi-Weekly Farm News

Eastland county has been converted to the idea of inducing the dairy cow to earn more money for the farmers of the county and of displacing some of the too many cotton and peanut fields with cow pastures. And being sincerely converted, the people of Eastland county are acting upon their convictions in the most energetic and sensible manner imaginable. They are inviting royally distinguished Jerseys to make their homes in the county; they are persuading less acceptable cows to leave the county; they are providing the most approved dairy quarters—including practically all-the-year-around grazing fields—and the best known combinations of dairy cow feed for the fortunate inhabitants of their dairy barns; they are sending dairy products to market in the most up-to-date fashion, and they are working toward a permanent dairy product market that shall take care of so large an amount that no fear of surplus need annoy the farmers of the county.

Sweet cream routes which practically cover the county have been established, traveling daily between farm communities and the creamery and ice cream factory markets. Bull circles have brought ten well-bred animals into civic ownership and thirteen others have been purchased by individual farmers. And if present plans are developed, whole milk plants and cheese factories very soon will demand a large volume of milk and more farmers will have to buy more cows—which they are willing to do when these projects become certainties.

And all this dairy interest has been developed within the last two years. Farm Agent J. C. Patterson and home agent, Miss Ruth Ramsey, held a series of one-day dairy schools throughout the county and E. H. Varnell, vocational teacher of the Cisco schools, co-operating with J. E. T. Peters, secretary of the Cisco Chamber of Commerce, commenced an active dairy program out of which have grown what promises to be a permanent and greatly improved change in the farming program of the county.

Five Chambers of Commerce
Eastland county enjoys the somewhat unique situation of having five towns which are supporting chambers of commerce and vocational school teachers. In actual practice this means that the county and home agents are given active cooperation in all their agricultural work throughout the county by towns of Cisco, Eastland, Ranger, Rising Star and Cisco. For the chamber secretaries and vocational teachers of all these towns are keenly alive to the agricultural interests of the county in general and their own trades territories in particular and in consequence spare no time or labor in helping to advance county agricultural welfare.

During a recent visit in the county, the writer heard an interesting story from the chamber secretary, Mr. Peters of the part Cisco has taken in the dairy promotion campaign. Cisco was pioneer in inaugurating vocational training in its city schools and has led in the dairy enthusiasm of the county. At the close of school in 1927, Mr. Varnell, the new vocational teacher, made a dairy products investigation which revealed that 72,000 pounds of creamery butter had been shipped into Cisco the previous year. The result of this definite information led to the addition of a butter-making plant to the local creamery, thus providing a sweet cream market for farmers in the surrounding country.

The next step was to acquaint farmers with their opportunities in the dairy cow business, and to this end the Cisco chamber arranged a series of community meetings in which Mr. Peters and Mr. Varnell were assisted by the county agent and specialists from the A. & M. college in giving farmers were then, how much milk they were giving, how much could be sold and how many cows each farmer expected to buy if the whole milk plant should be established.

And Cisco went one step farther. The chamber requested the farm and ranch department of the A. & M. college to send economists to the county to examine conditions and give a report concerning the possibilities of dairy farming in that section. This was done and every fact that could have a direct or indirect influence upon the business of dairying was tabulated and expert conclusions were drawn. Weather, soils, crop production, live stock experience—nothing was left out in determining what farmers might depend upon in launching out as large or small-scale dairy farmers. One of the several summaries embodied in this report was a crop-production survey Mr. Varnell had made to enable him to chart a five-year planting program for dairy farmers to produce economical feeds and as nearly a year-round pasture as the climate permitted.

Cream Routes and Bull Circles
The interesting creameries, establishing cream routes and organizing bull circles came next. Mr. Varnell got the first cream route for Cisco in operation last spring, a second one in the fall, and now a third is in demand. Farmers are receiving 80c per pound for butter fat and approximately 8,000 pounds comes into Cisco each day.

In the meantime other sections of Eastland county had been correspondingly active in dairy promotion. Vocational teachers had been secured for the schools of the four towns having chambers of commerce and these teachers with the chamber secretaries and the county agent were carrying on dairy promotion programs in their trades territories.

Milk testing in order to weed out unprofitable cows from farm herds became the next problem. The vocational teachers were qualified to undertake the testing and could do so as classroom instruction with their pupils, but how to get the milk to the schools regularly and systematically was perplexing. Finally, last December the vocational teacher in Ranger, Ben Whitehouse, inaugurated a plan which has been successfully used in Wisconsin for several years and had been given a year's trial with complete satisfaction by County Agent C. Metz Heald of DeWitt county. This was to send milk from farms to the schools by parcel post. Mr. Varnell put the plan to work in Cisco the following month and both teachers are finding it an acceptable plan. Each month each farmer having cows which he wishes to test, is mailed a wooden box containing as many small sealed cans as he has cows to test. These cans are filled with milk, each properly labeled with the cow's name or number and are mailed to the vocational teacher, who has the milk tested at the small charge of 10c per cow per month.

Another step in dairying for success was a dairy show held in Cisco last fall when 65 fine Jerseys were on exhibition. This was the first of what is hoped will be an annual affair.

With such intelligent and sensible methods—being sure they are right before going ahead—the future for dairy farming in Eastland county looks bright, indeed.

LAKE NEMI TREASURES

ROME.—Now that the time is approaching when the Roman galleys in Lake Nemi will yield up their 2,000-year-old secrets, archaeologists and historians here are speculating as to what is likely to be discovered.

A couple of feet of wooden poop of the larger galley already shows above the water of the lake, and it is now only a matter of a few months before the galleys will be high and dry, or at any rate entirely accessible and explorable.

The galleys are generally supposed to have been luxurious houseboats of the Emperor Caligula, but historians, as a matter of fact, are not in agreement on this point. Some think that they belonged to Tiberius. Fragments of the galleys brought to the surface during the last 50 years have revealed the names of both emperors. A piece of lead piping taken from the larger galley, and now in the Rome national museum, has Caligula's name on it, while some tiles used for an ornamental pavement in the same vessel which were brought to the surface are marked with the name of Tiberius. It is recognized that possibly both emperors used the famous pleasure-boats.

It is the firm conviction of many archeologists that the vessels at the bottom of Lake Nemi, or the larger one at any rate, possessed handsome libraries, composed of papyrus, papyrus and wax writing tablets, bound in silver and ivory, such as the wealthy Romans used. These papyri were often enclosed in metallic cases, called "sapsae," and there is a fair presumption that this form of protection may have saved the curiosity of the "modern world" floating library.

Another object known to be in the larger ship is the emperor's strong box called the "arca ferrea." Cardinal Colonna attempted as far back as 1446 to salvage this, but the rudimentary means available at the time were quite inadequate to the task. This strong box may well contain a treasure available for the improvement of the empire at the time of the emperor Rome on the lake.

put your Telephone on Half-pay during Vacation

You'll save money... and spare yourself inconvenience when you return.

The Rumseys are going vacationing. The milk's been stopped, the ice man has been called off, and the Man Who Delivers the Newspaper has been instructed to bring no more until further notice. But the telephone will be left at home, drawing full pay in an empty house! Something should be done about this!

Vacation rates for idle telephones

One solution (provided you're planning a vacation of 30 days or more) is to place your telephone on vacation half-rates while you are away.

It's a convenient way to save money. And—this to folks who sometimes have their telephones taken out—it spares you inconvenience on your return.

That's because:

1. You pay just half the regular rate.
2. Service is reconnected quickly after you return—usually within 24 hours after you notify us.
3. You keep your present telephone number. (You'd lose it if you had your telephone removed!)
4. Your name remains in the telephone book.

If you wish, while you are away we will refer your calls to another telephone—that of relatives, for instance.

Vacation rates are available for periods of more than 30 days, but not over four months.

"Something should be done about this."

To obtain them, mail the coupon telephone the business office.

The Wednesday Afternoon Bridge club was entertained by Mrs. W. L. Gupton yesterday and the quaint and original theme of the club meeting showed her artistic tendencies whose love of the unusual and ye olden times, is well recognized.

Throughout the pretty home, the arrangement of the flowers and their choice, was in harmony with rag carpet and quilted hand-work speech.

Delicious old fashioned bouquets of pridelias and bachelor buttons adorned the living room, and the bedrooms were dressed in dahlias of varied hues.

The bridge table appointments were carried out in tallies, of quaint peasant women designs, and score books were in keeping.

Club favor for high score, one of those delightful hand-quilted handbags, was awarded Mrs. Homer Brelsford, Jr.

The delightful quaint blues of the design of the bag made it a very attractive article.

At close of afternoon, refreshments of a delicious club sandwich, with pickles, olives, preserves and iced tea was served.

The next meeting of the club will be held with Mrs. Theodore in which the Piggy Wiggly store and all those assisting with the recent food sale held there, including the Telegram for publication were thanked in formal fashion.

A committee was appointed to have the new electric light fixtures installed in the church. Mrs. Wilkins and Mrs. D. P. Leary.

The contest was an animated one with the favor for best score, a blue crepe bouffant pillow, embroidered in rose, going to Mrs. Wilkins.

The hostess served a dainty iced fruit punch, with apricot sherbet and cake.

Several members were absent, friends of the Dakan family, who attended the funeral of the late Judge Dakan.

Those in attendance were Mmes. Brady, Root, Leary, Wilkins, Miss Maloney and a guest, Mrs. Davis.

BRONZES FOR UNIVERSITY ON DISPLAY

AUSTIN, June 5.—The heroic bronze figures to surmount the Memorial Gateway at the University of Texas are now on display in the rotunda of the state capitol. They are figures of Robert E. Lee, Albert Sidney Johnson, Jefferson Davis, John H. Reagan, James Stephen Hogg and Woodrow Wilson.

The figures were made by Pompeo Coppini, sculptor, who was here this week for conference on completion of the memorial structure.

The gateway is provided for in a bequest of $250,000 left by the late Major George W. Littlefield, H. A. Wroe of Austin and Will Hogg of Houston are trustees for this fund.

Advance of building costs since the gateway was planned necessitated some changes and the conference here was in regard to these.

As prepared, the plans call for the most pretentious memorial yet erected in the state. Jefferson Davis is represented as proclaiming states rights and Wilson as representing the League of Nations covenant.

The complete edifice will have a frontage of 100 feet and will extend back 200 feet. A 50 foot plaza will form the foreground.

There are to be two terraces. The first, about 18 inches above the walk will have its center in a lower basin which receives water from a central fountain. The second will be some two feet above the first terrace. There will be a central figure of a woman representative of America with her guards and riders of sea horses, leading the way to the "sea" toward the south.

Water will be discharged from the nostrils and forefins of the horses, and hidden conduits will discharge it against their sides. A perpendicular ring will throw the water upon which "America" stands, thus giving it the appearance of being in motion. The water is to flow in cascades from the upper to the lower basin.

On each side of the pool, at the side extremities of the memorial, will be placed on pedestals the bronzed figures, two on the right and two on the left. Wilson and Davis will be placed immediately in front of the 35-foot pillars at the back of the structure, and will form the gateway to the university.

At the end of the sculptured group, in the center of the pool, will be placed a bronze memorial tablet bearing the names of persons represented in the figures, and other data.

Back of the pylons, curved stairways will lead to higher levels on the campus. At the head of the stairs, which will be some five feet in height, a life size bust of the donor of the bronze memorial tablet will be placed.

when thrown or dropped with proper precision.

The thrill of throwing out the little disc and sensing it climb back up the string dexteriously has put the city agog.

Bell boys forget their tips to yo yo. Guests forget to pay them. News boys yo yo instead of sell papers. Street cars are alive with the toys shooting out in all directions. School teachers have desk drawers full of them. Dances and club meetings have turned into yo yo tournaments.

From whence came this freak of man's construction? It was invented, so salemen say, by Pedro Flores, bus boy in a hotel at Santa Barbara, California. Pedro improved on an idea brought from his native country, the Philippines, and whittled out the tops for his own amusement. Hotel guests were fascinated.

Soon there was a demand for the home-made toys. Pedro bought a wood lathe to hasten their construction. Then he hired several men to assist. Now the former bus boy operates two factories in Los Angeles which are still unable to supply the demand. As yet, it has been introduced in few places.

Pedro discovered he was the boy Thomas Edison had sought.

Meanwhile, the 25 cent toy began to be elaborated upon. Some were inlaid with costly mother of pearl.

Fascinated by the freak toy which captured adult and child alike, persons have begun to wonder if the craze will continue to spread. An international convention helped it along. More popular here than chewing gum, summer vacations, or Linsbergh, the yo yo may be in early stages of subduing the world.

YO YO CRAZE IS SWEEPING DALLAS NOW

DALLAS, June 5.—Dallas has the yo yo craze.

Be it disease, hobby, or simply fad, every one has caught it. How to stop it, no one knows.

More contagious than influenza, the yo yo habit spread from Dallas citizens to 10,000 Rotarians convention guests, their wives, and children. Scarcely a visitor left the city without at least one or two of the little germs in his pocket.

What is the yo yo? It is a toy something like a top. Only it never leaves the string. The little wooden disc at the end climbs back up the string automatically the blossoms have formed.

The plant has been the occasion for much curiosity on the part of the public. One Sunday afternoon between the hours of 4 and 5 fifty-one care were driven to the place in the rain. Many people who have seen century plant in bloom elsewhere say they have never seen one just like the Rinehart plant.

Fourteen groups of blossoms radiate from the summit of the plant. These are spread in fan-like clusters, very much like an open hand, from a stem that puts forth horizontally from the main stem. These horizontal branches are spread about 15 inches apart. Below them the column is bare of foliage, of a tough, fibry, wood-like consistency, very smooth. It bears, lower down, the scars of hallostones which fell here several weeks ago.

The blooms are tinted a mixture of green and yellow. They will remain on the plant for a week or so before shedding.

Another unusual sight at the Rinehart home is afforded by a rosebush. A large stem extends three feet or more from the main bunch, branching off into smaller stems each of which end in a cluster of seven blossoms. There is a similar plant known as the "Seven Sisters" but the Rinehart rose is not of that species. Mrs. Rinehart said this bush has been in her yard for several years and that this is the first time it has formed in the manner.

Reading Epitaph On a Tombstone Man Drops Dead

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 5.—An old man sat in Forest Hill cemetery and peered with aged-dimmed eyes at an inscription on a tombstone at his side which read: "Susan Carter, 1855-1925. C. C. Carter, 1855-"

A bunch of flowers he had placed on the Grace memorial, were withered.

Under the inscription was a
