College Drama Is Romantic Play Of Pioneer Life

"Green Grow the Lilacs," which will be presented by the Masquers of Ranger Junior College at 8:00 p.m. on October 27 and 28 in the Recreation Building in Ranger, is a romantic play of pioneer life on which the musical comedy "Oklahoma" is based.

It is a tender and beautiful love story told in the colorful language of cowboy life. Curly, the cowhand, loves Laurey, but a dark-minded ranch hand, "Jeeter," is also in love with her. His presence threatens the romance. Curley and Laurey are married. On their wedding night the jealousy of the ranch hand breaks out, and in a fight Jeeter is killed.

Lynn Riggs, the American dramatist who wrote "Green Grow the Lilacs," was born near Claremore, Oklahoma, which was then Indian Territory. His father was a cowpuncher. Young Riggs became familiar with the vanishing species of cowboys and the open range. He was educated in the public schools and the University of Oklahoma. He wrote his first play in 1921.

A few of his past productions, other than "Green Grow the Lilacs," are the following: "Knives from Syria," in 1925; "Big Lake," in 1927; and "Russet Mantle," in 1936. "Lynn Riggs," wrote Barrett Clark, "has been able on occasion to look at the world about him through the eyes of a child. He has taken the folk material and the idiom of his native district and skillfully made of them a rich medium of expression."

Research Paces Oil's Progress

There are three reasons why America's petroleum industry has been able to supply the ever-increasing demand for energy called for by our mechanized way of life: 1, it has fearlessly invested its capital in the hazardous search for oil and gas; 2, it has steadily expanded its facilities; and 3, it has conducted endless research to find better, more efficient ways to make the oil products America needs.

Research! That's the key to the petroleum industry's progress. And the Humble Company assures itself a place of leadership in this field with two great research laboratories.

In the Humble Research Center in Houston scientists and engineers study all phases of finding, producing, and conserving oil and gas.

In the Research Laboratory at Humble's Baytown, Texas, Refinery, highly skilled technicians seek to develop new and better petroleum products, to improve those we already have, and to develop methods for making these products more efficiently.

Just as America's progress depends on oil, so oil's progress depends on research.

Civic-League-Garden Club Opens Season With Program Featuring Editor's Address, Varied Music

Eastland's Civic League and Garden Club — which often busies itself with highly practical projects for the community — gave evidence Wednesday of its interest in the practical at the very outset of this club year, yet speeded its program with the artistic, also.

Featured on the luncheon program, at the Connelley Roof Garden, were an address by Financial Editor Harold Monroe of the Fort Worth Star Telegram and a musical program presented by Ranger Junior College Prof. Al Lotspeich. Mrs. Arthur Murrell, president of the club, presided and introduced the program numbers.

Mrs. Arthur E. Hartwell offered the invocation. Mr. Lotspeich played a cello number, a reverie "After a Dream" (Faure), accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Donald L. Kinnaird. He then presented Janis Little, Eastland High School senior, who sang two German songs — "Request" (Robert Franz) and "Solvejg's Love Song" (Greig), accompanied by Mrs. Kinnaird.

Mr. Lotspeich introduced Bobby Martins, drama major at Ranger Junior College, who announced the forthcoming presentation of the production, "Green Grow the Lilacs" at Ranger Gymnasium at 8 p.m. Oct. 27 and 28. Mr. Martins played his electric guitar as he sang two cowboy numbers from "Green Grow the Lilacs."

The comedy theme was carried out, also, in the decorations which included redwood prairie schooners whose wheels and wagon covers were of black wrought iron. These were filled with fancy-leaf calladium leaves, coleus leaves, vinca blossoms and princess feathers and were used at intervals down the center of the speakers' table and of the other long tables, where covers were laid for more than 100 members and guests.

In introducing the speaker for the day, Mrs. Murrell, who had formerly graciously welcomed the members and guests to the re-assembly luncheon, said Mr. Monroe, a native of Massachusetts, had worked on newspapers in San Francisco and Denver before going to Fort Worth and is a widely experienced business writer.

Mr. Monroe said nearly every shopping decision is either made by the woman of the house or is so strongly influenced by her that the producers had better convince her and that more than half the equity in more than half of all the corporations in America is owned by women.

Capitalism is the only system that has been devised by men that effectively distributes the natural wealth of the world to the greatest number of people. It provides the means of making it possible for money to earn money, which is important because money that is not working loses value, he said.

It provides the tools that American workers use to produce constantly more goods with constantly increasing effort and for constantly increasing wages. It brings benefits to everyone in more and better quality of goods at lower prices and to more people.

A study of the stock market is a fascinating and a profitable one, Mr. Monroe added and all women would do well to study it, as women own the corporations to a large extent.

They have the power to influence corporations toward an even greater social awareness of the needs and aspirations of all the people. They have the political power to influence government in the direction of letting this unequal system work at its full efficiency in the people's interest. The women of America largely control consumer spending. Their decisions can and do make the difference between depressed business and prosperous business," Mr. Monroe concluded.

Mrs. Murrell thanked Mr. Monroe for bringing such a wealth of information to the club and expressed appreciation, in behalf of the club for his coming from Fort Worth to address the group. She introduced Mrs. Monroe who, at the invitation of the club, had accompanied her husband to Eastland for the program-luncheon.

The president then introduced Mrs. Horace Horton, first vice president and yearbook chairman, who arranged the luncheon and its decorations, assisted by members of her committee as follows: Mmes. James Horton, Sidney Seale and Ed Algood, who were recognized.

Mrs. Murrell thanked Mrs. Frank Castleberry, second vice president and chairman of the ticket committee, and the members of her committee, as follows: Mrs. W. B. Brewer, treasurer; Mrs. Milburn S. Long, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Sidney Seale, historian.

Mrs. W. F. Davenport and Mrs. Leann Bassell, Club House board members; Mrs. Floyd W. Casebolt, publicity; Mrs. W. H. Hoffmann, Mrs. Jack Frost, Mrs. Hubert Westfall, Mrs. W. C. Crone of Olden, Mrs. Long sold more tickets to the luncheon than any member of the committee, it was announced.

Mrs. Frower distributed the yearbooks. The president urged all present to become members of the Civic League and invited them to come back to the meetings at 3 p.m. the second Wednesday of each month at the Woman's Club.

She announced that the Civic League would sponsor a luncheon at the Woman's Club the last Wednesday of each month, beginning Oct. 26. The committee for this first of the series follows: Mmes. W. E. Chaney, Milburn S. Long, Clyde Grissom, A. F. Bendy, Jack Muirhead, M. L. Keasler, Don Pierson, Charles Freyschlag, J. F. Collins and J. E. Freese.

Mrs. W. E. Brewer, she said, would be the permanent reservations chairman for the luncheons. Those who attended the luncheons may stay to play games afterwards or leave after lunch as they desire, the president announced.

Mrs. Frank Sparks announced that the club is selling copies of a cake recipe which belongs to the Queen of England. The cake is one which the Queen herself bakes frequently and is being sold for 15c a copy. The funds from this will go into the club's civic fund. Mrs. Sparks asked that each member sell two copies of the recipe and that no member, ever, give away the recipe.

As Mrs. Murrell, who wore a corsage fashioned of an enormous white spider chrysanthemum on her modish black faille coat dress, brought the meeting to a close, she thanked all who had a part in it and urged the women to attend the Civic League-sponsored luncheons the last Wednesday of each month.

HITS TO GO ON VACATION

Mr. and Mrs. Harold L. Hitt are leaving this weekend for their vacation and plan to spend two weeks with relatives in Texarkana and visit in Arkansas.

Many changes and improvements are being made, and more and better trained employees are being added, as time goes on, in order to improve patient care.

AROUND the TOWN

By Fay

EMILY GLEASON PERKINS on leaving for the East recently (as recorded in The Telegram Oct. 6) wrote the following note: "Clippings: Just to prove Eastland folks excel! In Kingsville last week I saw BOB McGLANERY, former Eastlandite, now on the paper there and a civic leader. He was a captain during World War II. JUDGE and MRS. J. E. HICKMAN visited us in New England and on their return trip on Lookout Mountain, Tenn., met the Rev. PHILIP W. WALKER, formerly of Eastland and Denton, and in Philadelphia called on HELEN BUTLER HOFFMAN and her children in Westchester. When we have such celebrities from our town, aren't we proud?"

Indeed we are proud of them and of our own Emily Perkins who has carried our name afar product, who is on the faculty at and served as distinguished emissary from Eastland in various capacities in Texas Federation of Women's Clubs and the Texas Cancer Society; also she has served for many years as an "ambassador" for her state, representing it officially at regional and national meetings of the cancer society and of the General Federation of Women's Clubs. She is a board member of both the Texas and General Federations of Women's Clubs and is vice president of the Texas Cancer Society.

One of the clippings is about DR. JUNE HYER, an Eastland who has carried our name the University of Houston and was sent to Germany a few years ago for study and another is a clipping about MRS. VERA McLEROY and a picture of her with the Business and Professional Women's Club's president, Mrs. Elise Cole, of Midland.

Mrs. McLeRoy was named Midland Career Woman of 1955 at the emblem breakfast held by the B&PW Club there. She is a native of Louisiana, started work in 1916 for a railroad company in Shreveport, La. She also has worked in New Orleans, Cisco, Dumas, Eastland, Oakland, Calif., Corpus Christi and Midland. For most of her working years, she has been employed as a legal stenographer and now is employed with Western Clinic, Midland.

Mrs. Perkins' notation on this article in the Midland Reporter-Telegram of Sept. 26 says Mrs. McLeRoy "used to be in Little Theatre plays here." The long article and outlines to the picture pay high tribute to Mrs. McLeRoy.

The article in a Houston paper about Dr. Hyer has to do with Mexico's government offering 16 grants to United States students for study in that country and Dr. Hyer as a Fulbright adviser at the University of Houston made the announcement.

Another clipping which she sent has already been published in The Telegram (page 1 Oct. 6). It is about the former Eastland twins — DELMER and ELMER BROWN — trainer and track coach for Texas Tech and trainer and associate track coach for TCU, respectively, from a write-up in the Dallas News by Frank X. Tolbert, about their cracking-wise before the TCU-Tech game.

Marines Adopt Six Month Training Program

Captain Ralston P. Haun, Jr., Platoon Leader of the Eastland Marine Corps Reserve Unit announced today that the U. S. Marine Corps has adopted the six months training program recently authorized by Congress.

The provisions of the program are that young men between the ages of 17 and 18 1-2 may enlist in the program and spend six months on active duty and then spend 7 1-2 years in the Organized Reserve which meets weekly.

There is a special provision for men still in High School which authorized them to enlist in the program, participate in the Organized Marine Reserve and then upon graduation from High School, take their six months active duty training, Captain Haun said.

This is a limited program in that only a certain percentage of men may take advantage of the program. The Abilene, Marine Corps Reserve Unit, together with the Eastland Platoon has a quota of 4 men during the month of October. For further information contact Captain Haun, at the American Legion Hall in Eastland, every Monday night at 7:30 p.m. when the reserves are having a weekly meeting.

Cheaney Chatter

Mrs. Bill Tucker

These cool mornings we are reminded that this is the time of year that 'The frost is on the pumpkin and the fodder's in the shock.' This is true partly for shocks of feed are in several fields.

Harvesting operations are shaping up with J. D. Rogers being first to take up several acres of peanuts and also to begin cotton harvesting.

Recent rains have helped the row crop grain to mature fine for threshing.

Late watermelons ripening in the cotton patch are equally as good and tasty as the ones grown earlier in the season.

We even helped thresh pecans one day—to keep the crows and squirrels from slowly harvesting the entire crop.

Doesn't all this sound like autumn?

Clyde Entwine, ministerial student from Abilene Christian College, was the speaker for both morning and evening church services Sunday at the Church of Christ. He was the dinner guest of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Blackwell and family.

tended church at Cheaney with them Sunday morning.

Mrs. Joyce Underwood visited the parental Will Underwoods Saturday at Alameda and reported everyone well as usual.

Henry Ferrin is reported suffering a relapse from a recent heart ailment, but not in critical condition.

Mrs. Enola Pratt plans to return this week to her home in California. She has spent the past six weeks at the bedside of her mother, Mrs. J. H. Freeman. Mrs. Freeman is by no means recovered but is sitting up some in a chair.

Mrs. Jimmy Greer is here for an indefinite stay with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Love. Her husband is employed at Lovington, N. M., where the couple reside.

Mr. and Mrs. Billy A. Tucker and Garland of Crane are here for their two-week vacation. They are visiting in the homes of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Joiner near Gorman and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Tucker of Ranger Route 1.

IT'S THE LAW
★ in Texas ★
RESPECT SCHOOL TRAFFIC

Thousands of school children are trooping back to school. Many of them will be transported by school buses. Fortunately most people are careful when approaching a school bus which may be standing beside the road or school to pick up school children or allow them to alight. But, nevertheless, we have had some very bad accidents because a child or a motorist, or both, were careless at that very time.

Most Texans are aware of the law which requires a driver to come to a complete stop when overtaking from the rear a school bus which has stopped to receive or discharge school children. After stopping immediately behind the bus, he is then allowed by law to proceed past at a speed "which is prudent, not exceeding ten (10) miles per hour, and with due caution for the safety of such children."

What many persons do not realize is that the very same rule applies when MEETING a stopped school bus. While everyone is interested in protecting our children, unthinking violators of this simple safety rule greatly outnumber those who comply. Failure to follow the law in this case can lead to fines up to $200.00 even when no accidents occur. Following an accident in which some child is injured or killed, the penalties are naturally much more serious.

Although the above rule does not apply when passing a stopped school bus in a business or residential district of a town, the necessity for extreme caution even in those locations is obvious. When it comes to overtaking and passing moving vehicles, exercises of ordinary common sense will generally keep a driver within the law. For instance, when passing a car it is only common sense to proceed on past it a safe distance before cutting back to the right side of the highway. Also, any driver would realize the danger of increasing his speed while another is attempting to pass him.

In the same category is the prohibition against passing on the right under most ordinary conditions. Of course, you may legally pass on the right in a few specific instances, such as when the vehicle overtaken is making or about to make a left turn, or upon a one-way street with two or more lanes, or upon a four-lane highway.

However, our traffic laws state that even when passing on the right is allowed, it shall be done only under conditions permitting such movement in safety. And, in no event should such passing be accomplished by driving off the pavement or main-traveled portion of the roadway.

Familiar to all the no passing zones designated by dash lines placed to one side of the center stripe on our highways. Not so well known are the restrictions against crossing the center line when approaching within 100 feet or when traversing any intersection or railroad grade crossing. A driver should never cross the center line of a highway when the left side of the road is not clearly visible and free of oncoming traffic. Generally speaking, when not engaged in passing another vehicle, one should not drive to the left of the center of the roadway.

Tears—The Key To Wisdom, Health

Tears at the right time can actually benefit your body and even help you think better. Morton M. Hunt points out in the October Reader's Digest.

But bottled-up sorrow can cause asthma, migraine headache and many other ailments. Dr. Erich Lindemann, psychiatrist-in-chief of the Massachusetts General Hospital and a pioneer investigator of human grief, cites the case of the young nurse who had tended her father through long months of illness. When he died a well-meaning friend sternly forbade her to cry in order to spare her mother's feelings and weak heart.

Inside a few hours she began suffering from intestinal distress and after a few days had a raging case of ulcerative colitis. Her body, denied its natural relief, was corroded away from within by the disordered impulses of her nervous system. Eventually she died — the victim of pent-up emotions.

By contrast many patients with complaints ranging from a painful shoulder to recurrent nightmares have been dramatically cured by learning to weep. In her book Fight Against Fears, Lucy Freeman tells how she suffered for years from chronic colds and sinus troubles which vanished when her tears flowed.

Philosophers once contended that emotions and thought were antagonistic to each other. But modern medical science holds that release of our feelings often increases the ability to reason clearly.

"Tears do not mark a breakdown or low point but a transition to warmth, hope and health," the author says. "And wisdom; for in the state of physical release induced by tears, our thoughts can flow freely — bringing us insight and understanding we never knew were within our grasp."

Chicken In The Basket—Perfect For Serving To The Whole Family

Want a good excuse to pick up your chicken in your fingers? Then serve the chicken in a basket!

Chicken-in-the-basket (some times called chicken-in-the-rough) has long been a favorite at roadside restaurants. But why not have this popular eat-it-in-your-fingers-meal at home sometimes? All you need are a number of small wicker baskets — or wooden bowls — or even small cardboard boxes.

Line these with heavy paper napkins — and in each one put a couple of pieces of crisp fried chicken, a handful of potato chips, a hot buttered roll and a bunch of crisp garden relishes (carrot strips, celery, green of psychology and counseling, onions, radishes). Then carry your baskets out to the porch or to the backyard if it's still warm enough — and fall to!

To make sure that everyone gets the kind of chicken he likes the best, the thing to do is use those convenient packages of quick-frozen chicken parts. Buy drumsticks or thighs if the folks like dark meat — breasts or wings if they are white meat fanciers. Or get some of each and divvy them up.

Remember Passing Events—

... like the first dime you ever made, the winning touchdown by the home team or the tears at high school graduation? Yes, we do, just little things and trival, but how they do linger in our memories! And we remember the big events, too, like the Texas City explosion, last June's hail storm in Eastland or the more recent tropical hurricanes on the coast. These familiar disasters pose another question, who pays for them? That's insurance. Don't get caught without it.

Texas Wells Energize the Nation

America's high standard of living is keyed directly to consumption of energy — 67% of which comes from oil and gas. Texas produces 43% of the domestic crude oil and 53% of the natural gas which powers U. S. machinery ranging from lawnmowers and automobiles to giant electric generating plants and factories.

The dependability of this supply of energy is tied directly to the success of the men who hunt for new oil supplies. This seek-and-develop program is in itself a billion-dollar-a-year industry in Texas.

Conditions which stimulate the development of Texas petroleum reserves benefit Texas and the nation as well.

PIPE LINES...

POWER LINES...

Lifelines of Progress

Pipe lines, power lines and the oil and electric industries of which they are parts have long played important roles in the growth and development of West and Northwest Texas.

Oil and gas are important factors in the production of electricity, and electric power performs an equally important function in pumping oil from the ground, refining it and moving it by pipeline to the markets of the world.

And just as the oil industry has expanded and improved its facilities to provide more and better products for its consumers, Texas Electric Service Company has planned ahead and built ahead to assure abundant, low-cost electric power for the area served.

So, Texas Electric Service Company and its 2,400 employees salute the men and women of the oil industry as partners in progress... working together to help build for the future.
