Democrats on the Firing Line

Is the democratic party dead? Is the donkey sleeping his last sleep? Will the followers of Jefferson and Jackson and Cleveland and Wilson come back in 1937? Why ask the foolish question? The democratic party had its birth when the American republic had its birth. The republic will continue to function for centuries to come and the democratic party will function, regardless of disasters at the polls and continue on the firing line while there are people who believe in a government of and for the many and not of and by the few.

National Chairman John J. Raskob and leading democrats of the nation held a conference in the city of Washington. Chairman Raskob announced he had succeeded in reducing the party deficit of $1,550,000 to about $800,000 "with every indication of a further reduction to under $500,000 within the next fortnight." He declared he had no intention of relinquishing his post and expected to be very active in party affairs.

When the leaders announced that the best interest of the party can be advanced by the opening of permanent and adequate headquarters in Washington "and the conducting of active organization work 365 days in the year." All the regulars attended the conference. Sen. Joseph Taylor Robinson and Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt were in evidence. Joeett Shouse of Kansas was named as chairman of the executive committee to carry out the programs and the Kansan will devote his entire time to this work. Office space will be established at headquarters for all democrats who may visit Washington. Chairman Shouse has taken an active part in the last five democratic national conventions. He was a leader of the movement to nominate William G. McAdoo in 1920 and again in 1924 and in 1928 he gave his entire time to the campaign to elect a Smith-Robinson ticket.

For years Shouse was a leading member of congress, as well as a member of the house banking committee. His committee framed the federal reserve and federal farm loan act. When Carter Glass was secretary of the treasury Shouse was assistant secretary. Woodrow Wilson named him at the request of the famous Virginian who is not only prominent in the newspaper world as a publisher but prominent as a senator from Virginia and one of the leaders of the regulars of the democratic party.

This is a two-party government and this is the mission as well as the work of the Shouse organization: "Everything will be done to build a strong, country-wide democratic organization, that will be a virile, going institution, functioning at all times in the interest of democratic political doctrine as set forth by such great democratic statesmen as Thomas Jefferson, Andrew Jackson, Grover Cleveland and Woodrow Wilson."

This announcement and request was made by Ed Layton, principal of the Eastland South Ward school.

YAQUI INDIANS FINALLY UNDER MEXICAN RULE

By GESFORD F. FINE
United Press Staff Correspondent

MEXICO CITY—Mexico's fiercest warriors, the Yaquis at last have agreed to be commanded by non-Yaqui leaders. For 400 years—300 under Spanish rule and 100 under Mexican—the Yaquis maintained their independence, refusing to be conquered. Beaten at the end by the government, with their country in ruins, they now go one step further in becoming Mexicanized by their acceptance of a "foreign" commander. Four hundred Yaqui soldiers are at Fort Perote, a mountain near Orizaba in the state of Vera Cruz. This is the group which for the first time in history has submitted to a non-Indian leader. The war office's announcement of a change in the organization of this Yaqui force was regarded as signifying the disappearance of Yaquis as separate units. Hereafter they simply will be part of the army.

Col. Enrique Morfin Figueroa has been assigned to the group under the new arrangement.

The actual conqueror of the Yaquis Gen. Francisco Manzo, one of the leaders of the present rebellion who recently crossed the United States border at Nogales to escape falling into federal hands. The Manzo campaign against the Yaquis undertaken three years ago was organized with 13,000 troops and equipment which included nine airplanes.

Controlled River Valley

At that time the Yaquis controlled a region extending a hundred miles north of Guaymas in Sonora and which included some of the best lands in the republic. The stretch under Yaqui ownership extended under along the Yaqui river valley in a district larger than the Imperial Valley of California and with water resources three times as great as those of the Imperial Valley.

Today the only Yaqui country left in Yaqui power is in the Bacata mountains. But the power is small. All the warriors are gone or killed. Women and children and old men predominate in the last citadel.

As in the present revolution the rebel Indians in Yaquiland lost their fight partly through the government's use of the most modern arm of war—the airplane. The nine planes that Manzo had on his front flew again and again over Yaqui territory, bombing and spreading terror. The federal planes drove the inhabitants of Bacatete, the capital, into the mountains and finally destroyed it.

Wanted Own Chief

Amunition ran low after the war had raged incessantly for many months, the plane raids continued unceasingly, and finally cut off from the world, and beleaguered from the air and all points of the compass, the Yaquis surrendered. Their surrender, however, was conditional. They agreed to take service in the Mexican army provided their own chief General Ignacio Mori should be permitted to continue as their head.

Their liberty curtailed by the rigid discipline of the army, the Yaquis were not always good soldiers although their valor in fighting was unquestioned. The group at Perote was for this reason, perhaps little better off than prisoners.

The Yaquis still preserve their ancient language and customs. Although they are Christians, in common with other Indian tribes of Mexico, they have mixed the symbols of Catholicism with the signs of the old gods.

While the Mexican government had to all but exterminate them in order to pacify them, it seems likely that the Yaquis fighting tradition which has existed for 400 years will continue in Mexican memory at least for a long time to come.

AIMING AT THE CHAMPIONSHIP OF THE STATE

Ranger Pistol Experts Turn In A Remarkable Score.

(Ranger Times)

Four marksmen tied for first place with a score of 97 at the weekly shoot of the Ranger Pistol club Wednesday.

Police Chief Jim Ingram, G. J. Moore, F. P. Brashier and C. B. Osteen turned in the 97 scores. J. T. Hughes made 96. Other scores were: W. C. Blackmond 93, Joe Dennis 93, Rip Dill 92, B. E. Rigby 88, Ernest Brumlow 86.

Just how good a score of 97 is may be realized from the fact that the winning individual in the shoot of the state police chiefs and city marshals convention last year was 97 and the winning team's average was a fraction better than 87.

As a team consists of five, Rangers could have placed a team in action Wednesday with an average of nine points better than the 1928 state championship team and this city could have placed four marksmen in action, each shooting well enough to tie the state champion of last year.

The day was ideal for shooting, there being no wind or bright sunshine.

Ranger has hopes of winning the championship at the state chiefs and marshals convention this year and the marksmen are practicing diligently. All interested should see Chief Ingram.

Ranger will have some pistol shots at the Southwestern Pistol tournament in Dallas May 25-26. Several individuals will take part in the individual competition and it is probable that a team will be taken.

A trapshooting team will represent Ranger in the tournament in Breckenridge during the state convention of Elks. The team will be composed of Dr. Logsdon, Dr. Jackson, Joe Harness, W. C. Blackmond, Pearl Cox and Chief Ingram. The tournament is restricted to members of the Elks.

Church of God
Valley and Lamar.

Sunday school, 9:45; preaching, 11:00; C. G. Y. P., 7:00; evening service, 8:00; prayer testimony Wednesday, 8:00; Ladies' Auxiliary, Tuesday, 8:00; Teacher's Training Class, Friday, 7:30.

Rev. H. M. Sell began last Sunday night preaching on Genesis. The service was well attended and many remarked of the good several sermons from Genesis, under the subject: "Know You Bible."

Both sermons next Sunday will be taken from the Book of Genesis. The morning subject, "A Woman's Place in Life; Not Only the Place She Is to Fill, But the Place She Has Filled." Rev. Mr. Sell lost his mother at the age of 12, but his affliction when a boy caused him to be in closer touch with her than the rest of the family. The memory of his devoted mother is much cherished by him and he has always made Mother's Day a special day in his pulpit. Do not fail to hear his message on next Sunday. It is planned for mother and father to come with their families as much as possible, and to sit together in the same pew. Sunday evening the C. G. Y. P. will pay honor to mother with special songs and readings from 7:30 to 8:00. Sunday night Rev. Mr. Sell will speak from Genesis, on the subject "Is Evolution Antagonistic to the Bible." Don't fail to hear this great message.

First Presbyterian Church

Worship hour 11:00 a. m., the sermon subject will be one appropriate to Mother's Day observance. Mrs. Leonard will sing a solo which because of the circumstances of its composition and musical setting will be of very special interest. Sunday school will convene at 9:45 a. m., with Mr. McDonald as superintendent. Let us keep up the nice attendance record of the Sundays past. On Sunday, 8:00 p. m., this congregation joins with the congregations of the Methodist and First Christian churches in the Union Sacramental service at the Methodist church. On Monday, 8:00 p. m., will be held at our church the Pastoral Installation Service, under the auspices of the Presbytery of Abilene. The moderator, Rev. J. Wood Parker, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Post will preside; Rev. Fred S. Rogers of Stamford, state clerk of the Presbytery will propose the Constitutional questions; Rev. F. B. McDowell of Breckenridge will preach the sermon; Rev. E. B. Surface, D. D., of Abilene will deliver the charge to the pastor, and Judge P. H. Dyer of Breckenridge will deliver the charge to the congregation. The pastor-elect and the congregation extend a cordial welcome to our friend of Eastland who we desire to attend the installation service. Choir rehearsal will be held on Wednesday of next week at 7:30 p. m.

Christian Church

Sunday is Mother's Day. It will be observed all over the world. It will be fittingly observed at Christian church at 11 o'clock hour. Why not plan now to attend in honor or memory of your mother. Write your mother a letter if she is living and separated from you. If she is with you give to her some definite expression of your love for her. If she has passed out of world do something worthwhile in memory of her. Come to church Sunday. No service at night at this church.

St. Francis Xavier Catholic Church

May 12th, mass will be at 10 a. m., by Rev. M. Collins. This is known as the Sunday within the Octave of the Ascension and the gospel of today is taken from the gospel of St. John XV, 26, 27, XVI. The words of the gospel of this day, like those of the three preceding Sundays are a small portion of the farewell address of Christ to His disciples on the eve of His passion. Immediately before this He had told them that He had come to the Jews and announced to them the word of God, yet notwithstanding the many and great miracles wrought for the confirmation of His doctrine, He had found no faith, but reaped only hatred and persecution. These words were anything but encouraging for the apostles; they must have thought: As the Jews do not believe Christ, but persecute him, we, his disciples, can scarcely hope to be successful in the preaching of the gospel. Christ explains to them, in the gospel of this day, that another time was coming, and that with the aid of the Holy Ghost, in spite of all persecutions, it would be possible for them to preach his gospel with great success and to gain many souls to heaven. When Christ died on the cross he proved he was man and when with his own power he rose from the dead he proved he was God, by his miracles he showed that he was more than man, by testimony from the Old Testament he showed he was the promised Messiah and now he will send the Holy Ghost to confirm all he taught.

Abilene Man Now Works All Day Without Tiring

Gets Up Every Morning Now Feeling Fit—Gains Daily On Orgatone.

"I actually don't remember when I ever felt as strong and well as I do now," said E. A. Craig, caretaker for the Ed S. Hughes estate, living at 2050 N. First St., Abilene, Texas, in a recent statement regarding the benefits he has derived from Orgatone.
"For twenty years," he continued, "I had been in a general run-down condition. I had no appetite and never enjoyed the little I did eat, there were very few things I could eat without suffering afterwards and I was badly constipated and felt sluggish and tired all the time. I couldn't get any sound sleep and would start my work in the mornings feeling as tired and worn out as if I had worked hard all night. I was losing ground continually and had so little energy it was hard for me to take proper interest in my work. I wasn't sick enough to stay in bed, but I felt miserable all the time and was in just that condition that makes work a burden."
"I have taken three bottles of Orgatone and I couldn't begin to figure the good they have done me. I sleep as sound as a dollar every night and get up every morning feeling as fresh as a young boy, and my day's work every day don't tire me a single bit. My appetite is so big I can hardly eat enough to satisfy me and it seems to me every thing tastes better than it ever did. I'm not constipated any more and all my no-account, tired-out feelings are gone. I have gained in strength and feel so much better than I have in years that I hardly know how to tell it. My friends have noticed my improvement and are asking me what did it and I just come right out with the facts and tell them Orgatone. I am glad to endorse Orgatone and I will tell anybody what it has done for me."

Genuine Orgatone, the new scientific treatment containing no alcohol or other false stimulating drugs may be obtained in Eastland at Toombs & Richardson, phone No. 1, where a special Orgatone representative direct from the laboratory is explaining the therapeutic actions of Orgatone. Out-of-town customers are being supplied promptly by mail upon receipt of price one bottle $1.25 or six bottles $6.25.

STRAWN LIONS CLUB WILL BE RANGER GUESTS

Will Attend Next Thursday Session of Ranger Lions.

The Strawn Lions club will be guests of the Ranger Lions at the session here next Thursday, an invitation being voted to the Strawn members today at the regular meeting of Ranger Lions.

After Lion Roy Gilbreath had nominated Lion A. N. Larson for president, Lion Larson, with equal generosity nominated Lion Gilbreath for the same position.

Then when Lion Hall Walker nominated Lion Charlie Moore for vice president, Lion Moore manifested corresponding magnanimity by nominating Lion Walker for the vice presidency.

Election will take place later.

The importance of all members wearing the Lion emblem was emphasized in an address by Roy Gilbreath. Lion E. A. Ringold, who arrived ahead of the crowd; distributed neat folders about the Ranger Building & Loan association.

Lion O. G. Lanier was in charge of the entertainment and he presented the Spanish Troubadors, Misses Younce, Head and Glazner, who gave piano, violin and tambourine numbers, their final selection being "La Paloma." The numbers were greatly appreciated.

H. C. Wilkinson, assistant cashier of the Commercial State bank, was elected a Lion.

"When a feller needs a friend" was exemplified when the presiding officer called on two delegates to the state Lions convention for a report, both delegates being present. The state convention opened today in San Angelo and they were unable to attend. However, Ranger is represented at the convention by Bill Clardy.

Lion A. J. Ratliff introduced his guests, Tom Carpenter, local manager for Superior feeds, and E. C. Slight of Fort Worth, general sales manager for Superior feeds. G. E. Robinson presented tion. But when he came to the open he edged gradually over to the right, though not suspiciously slowing up behind the trucks. He dodged round them when necessary.

The green light was with them when he drove out from under the elevated. He was not compelled to stop in the center of the street with room for the other car to draw up beside him on the right.

He knew why Freen did not want that. The detective, himself seated on the right, would have a far better opportunity to use his gun on anyone at the left.

Three blocks farther on the lights changed. Again fortune favored those in the leading taxicab. A huge truck stood between it and the sidewalk.

This did not suit the men in the second cab. They'd discovered Freen's presence in Oerndorf's taxi before Stephen entered it. But they had no means of knowing that Freen was there for any unusual reason.

To them it was natural enough that Stephen, knowing he had been framed, should desire protection. But that he could get in regard to him seemed improbable.

They gave no thought to the adage, "cherchez la femme." There are people who will "seek the woman," whenever there is trouble, and other who will say it before. These men would have done well to remember that a woman was interested in Stephen. For one of them, at least, there was no excuse in failing to do so inasmuch as it was he who had warned Mildred against trying to make Harold talk. Likewise it was he who had reported to Huck that she was visiting Stephen in his cell.

Had it not been for Mildred's love for him Stephen would at that moment have been completely at the mercy of Huck's villains.

"We've gotta go through with it," they'd decided upon seeing Freen. "We got the break."

"And I'd like a chance to pay off that flatlie for running me in," one observed viciously.

"Better keep your mind on your business," his companion warned him. "You ain't here to even up any old score. If we fall down on this job it ain't gonna be healthy for us in Connor's neighborhood."

As the signal light changed to green and their car started forward, both Stephen and Freen felt that something was due to happen soon.

At the next change of signal the first taxicab ran through, the second stopped and left a block behind. But the second car came tearing along close upon him, though only narrowly avoiding a collision with a truck that had nosed out for a quick start across the avenue.

The first car was compelled to come to a stop at the next intersection of streets. Crosstown traffic had got too well under way there to allow the driver to go on. Besides, had he tried to get through it would have been proof to the men following that he was trying to shake them off, thus letting them know they could not hope to pull off a surprise attack.

The second car came along more slowly. Freen gripped his gun with a firmer hold. He sat like a graven image, but keyed and waiting to act.

This was the moment. Whatever was to take place surely must take place now.

Freen felt he had the advantage. The other car was forced to approach on the left. There was of course, the danger that the gunman picked to do the shooting—Freen believed that would be the plan—might alight in the rear and come up on the right.

But such a course of action would place him too far from his taxi, Freen reasoned.

The shots would be fired from the car. He was sure of that.

Oerndorf was wishing he had heeded Stephen's suggestion and hailed an officer. No doubt, as he had said, such a move would have precipitated the trouble, but at least it would have been over by now. It was damned uncomfortable waiting to be shot at.

"Keep over," Freen said tensely, to him and Stephen. "Don't get in my way."

Oerndorf shrank further into the corner. Stephen pulled himself up and looked into the special mirror that provided anyone in the tonneau seat a rear view of the road.

He saw the second car quite close, coming up alongside of them. Freen, watching, hawk-eyed, saw it too. He leaned forward and lifted his gun until it was pointing through the window of the cab.

The other car rolled into position but did not come to a full stop. Just as it was a few feet in advance of Oerndorf's cab a man's head and shoulders appeared suddenly at the open window on the right.

He raised an arm and thrust a gun directly at the occupants of the Oerndorf cab.

Two shots were fired simultaneously. One, aimed at Freen, passed through the back of the seat between him and Oerndorf. The gunman had meant to get the detective first and let Stephen have his second shot.

An instant too late he had seen the gun in Freen's hand. The one shot Freen fired caught the gunman in the wrist, shattering the small bones and wringing a cry of anguish from his lips while his pistol went clattering to the pavement.

His driver did not even look around. The car was in second gear and he lost not an instant in taking advantage of the flying start that allowed him.

With the front wide open he went roaring away and out of sight around the corner before anyone could make a move to stop him.

Freen leaned from the window to take a parting shot but the danger of hitting some other motorist in the cross-town traffic was too great to risk.

The driver of the car that pursued the fleeing car but precious seconds were lost in getting away from a full stop. And in these few scant seconds the street intersection had become a scene of confusion.

People were running, some for shelter, in fear of a gang was shooting, and some to see what was happening. A policeman appeared, but not in time to get anything but a garbled account of what had occurred.

For a block or two the pursuing taxicab managed to keep within sight of the other, but then the gunmen got away in downtown traffic on Second avenue.

When Freen realized that he could not overtake them he stopped his own cab and got out. By telephone police headquarters and turn in the license number of the other car.

It was no surprise to him to be told that 10 minutes before the same number had been turned in as being that of a stolen car.

He went back to Stephen and Oerndorf to tell them the grim significance of this bit of news.

AT 72, HE WOULD FIGHT DUEL WITH GOV. LONG

BATON ROUGE, La.—"Pistols and coffee for two!"

It has been a long time since that chant of the duellist has been heard on the floor of the Louisiana House of Representatives. Duelling has come out of fashion, here as elsewhere.

But Judge Gilbert L. Dupre, for 20 years a representative from the St. Landry-Evangeline district, would revive it.

One cup of coffee and one pistol would be for him; the other would be for Governor Huey P. Long, who is now the focal point of an impeachment whirlwind.

Judge Dupre is 72 years old and stone deaf. But he is descended from a race of duellists. He clings to the old code, under which there are certain insults that can only be replied to by a challenge to mortal combat. Such an insult, he feels, Governor Long has hurled at him.

Speaking in Opelousas the other night, Governor Long ripped into Judge Dupre, who has been one of his severest critics, and cried: "Some people think they are honest just because they are deaf."

Judge Dupre arose in the House of Representatives next day and shouted his reply:

"He's crazy. He came to my home and slandered me. Every statement made by Long was as false as the chimney of hell itself. He is on his way to the lunatic asylum or the penitentiary. I don't know which. I fight in the open. I don't believe I am afraid of God, man or the devil. And I don't carry a concealed weapon, as Long does."

"But, so help me, I will fight it out with him or shoot it out until he hollers 'enough.' Governor Long has got the wrong man by the ear."

The venerable representative is quite in earnest about his challenge.

"I'm ready—let him select the time and place," he cries.

For twenty years he has been representative from his district and before that he served as a district judge. In 1909, it is recalled, he challenged another representative to fight a duel, but friends intervened and the affair was patched up somehow.

HONORS FOR JOAN D'ARC

ORLEANS, France.—Five hundred years ago, on May 8, 1429, a gallant shepherdess, Joan d'Arc, at the head of a nondescript army of peasants and soldiers obliged the English to lift the siege of Orleans, and on May 8 all France paid tribute to the memory of the little girl who nine years ago was canonized a saint.

Orleans has kept the maid's memory alive through five centuries with annual ceremonies to observe its deliverance, but none has ever had the éclat which was given this official ceremony. For more than four centuries, Joan has been venerated in Orleans and by peasants within leagues of that old city but this is the first time that the entire nation joins in the celebration.

In Paris the maid's statue in the rue de Rivoli, a rather gaudy gilded replica of the girl on horseback, is hidden under flowers. In Domremy, where she was born in 1412 in a house which still stands, thousands of pilgrims have gathered to pray at her birthplace.

The French government has made a national fête of Joan's day of glory, and the church, which long ago made her a patron saint for children, has ordered special masses read in 8,800 churches in France. French historians have completed histories of every phase of Joan's life, and it is now possible to account for every minute of her time from the days she tended sheep on the wooded hills of Bois Chesu until she died a victim of British vengeance on a pyre at Rouen.

It was in the winter of 1428 that she received the call to aid her king, Charles VII, hearing the

That on or about the 18th day of October, 1928, he purchased from the Defendants, T. S. Whitley and wife by their general warranty deed, all surface rights in and to the above described tract of land and were lying upon the warranty set out in said deed and in good faith and in due time attempted to enter upon and take possession of said land, but that the Defendants, J. H. Ferguson, Mrs. Mattie E. Claitt and Mrs. M. M. Finley and J. G. Finley were then in the possession of the land and premises or a part thereof, refused to permit plaintiff to enter into possession of the same, claiming to be the owners thereof as a part thereof. And this plaintiff does not know the full nature of their demands which, however, are a cloud upon his title to said land.

Plaintiff further alleges that in the event the court should find that said defendants, or either of them, are the owners of any part of said tracts of land, then this plaintiff should have his judgment over against the defendants, T. S. Whitley and wife for the value of the acreage so decreed to such other defendants, calculated on the basis of $15.59 per acre, the purchase price paid by plaintiff to the defendant, T. S. Whitley for said land. And that said sum should be credited upon the deferred consideration evidenced by the deed made by plaintiff to T. S. Whitley and which are alleged to have been assigned by Whitley to the defendant, H. G. Hendrick who holds the same for the use and benefit of said Whitley.

This plaintiff prays in the alternative that should the court find in his favor, or either of the above stated counts, that any part of the same be assigned to him by deed, and wife, by deed, that CHASE ZELMENT over AND, O., amount to purchase be assigned to for use on the premises between him and the wife, by deed, that the amount to be assigned to him will be the amount of the purchase price paid by him to the defendant, T. S. Whitley, for said land.

RECOUNT VOTES

TEXAS U. ELECTION

AUSTIN, Tex., May 9.—Re-check of the vote in the student election at the University of Texas is being made today with possibility that Spurgeon Bell of Abilene may be supplanted as student president by Robert Payne of Malakoff. Bell led on first returns. Partial recount shows Payne six votes ahead. Bell is a fraternity man and if he wins will be the first frat man to head the student association in 30 years. Recount may also change the managing editor of the Cactus. William Stuart of Houston led on first count but James Rutland of Austin is now reported likely winner.

WASHINGTON LETTER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

NEA Service Writer
WASHINGTON—Not everyone in Washington kowtows to the official social racket.

There are a few—though very few—who don't give a whoop about the social precedence of the vice president's sister or even their own.

There are a few men—though very few—who refuse to droll up in stiff shirts and black evening clothes for anybody.

These few keep out of the social racket altogether.

The conspicuous social rebels who pass up the official and semi-official functions altogether are in Congress. There are several.

Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska is the outstanding example. He is the simplest, most unpretentious man in the senate. He is the one who wrote that delightfully sarcastic letter to Secretary of State Stimson the other day urging that the question of Mrs. Gann's precedence be submitted to the world court.

"I've got a dress suit," Norris told your correspondent one day. "At least, I think I have. It's a long time since I've seen it. Maybe it's been thrown away."

Anyway, Norris has no use for such a thing. For years he has refused to go to any function where he has to dress up. His social life consists of visits or dinners with friends at which no consideration is given to official or social position.

"If I had been a society man I couldn't have done my work and furthermore, I would have been dead long ago," Norris says.

"You can't eat that food and drink those cocktails and stay up late every night at those social functions and still do your best work and keep your health."

"I'm not finding fault with those who do go in for society, but I decided at the outset that I didn't want to do it."

Norris studies and reads nearly every evening and goes to bed by 10 o'clock or 10:30.

Despite his strong sense of humor, which was given free rein in his letter to Stimson, Norris can speak in passionate anger about the Washington social racket, with all the picturesque language in his condemnation which Vice President Curtis used in privately discussing the State Department's rating of Mrs. Gann.

"I wouldn't care if it were a mere matter of society determining where people should sit at a dinner table," he says. "What enrages me is that the government of this country, which is supposed to be a democracy, actually assumes that prerogative."

"I wish we had a president who would say: 'All these social rules are in the discard insofar as I'm concerned. If I want to put a stenographer at my right hand at dinner and an ambassador's wife at my left that's my own darned business.'"

"I think the president should say: 'This is a democratic government and we don't believe in caste. Our ambassadors and ministers abroad will be directed to live within their salaries and I'm going to stop handing out diplomatic posts to millionaires, who are now the only ones who can afford them.'" or economic significance. Such a special tax should be handled with the utmost care.

COMBATING EXORBITANT "GAS" RATES

The petroleum industry is to aid the motorist in warring on the steadily rising gasoline tax. It is estimated that if this campaign is successful automobile owners will be saved $150,000,000 yearly.

At the present time gasoline taxes are from two to six cents a gallon and the record is one of constant increase. The situation has reached a point where the tax is becoming a serious burden.

Neither the industry nor the wise motorist opposes a fair tax when it is all used for highway purposes. But a tax which is out of proportion to the price of gasoline or which is used for other purposes than road building and maintenance, is highly discriminatory and unfair.

Because the gasoline tax is easily levied and collected many State Legislatures have increased it without regard for its fairness.

CHICKENS PAY GROCERY BILL FOR FARMERS

STAMFORD, May 9.—Chickens are paying the grocery bill in some places in West Texas according to B. M. Whiteaker, agriculturist in charge of the West Texas chamber of commerce upon returning from a short trip into the Lower Panhandle district of the territory served by the regional organization.

He reports that cotton is being planted in a number of places, and the prospects at this time are that a crop equaling the one of 1928 will be realized. The indications are that with 40 more days in which cotton may be planted a great acreage will be given over to the fleecy staple before June 15.

"Electra has done a wonderful lot of work along agricultural and live stock lines, and in cooperation with the chamber of commerce of which Robert P. Hill is secretary a bull circle, the first in the county has been organized. Quanaah is booming since the building of the new railroad, the Quanaah, Acme & Pacific, and many permanent and substantial business houses and residences are being built. The whole town of Silverton is watching with interest the activities of the vocational agricultural class of which Mr. Gunley is instructor. The boys of the class recently entertained their fathers at a banquet at which more than 100 guests were present," was Whiteaker's report.

Munday, Seymour, Vernon, Chillicothe, Matador and Roaring Springs were towns visited which reported the intention of sending a delegation of citizens to the Lower Panhandle district convention of the West Texas chamber of commerce to be held in Seymour May 16.

FARMER'S SON DREAMING OF OPERA FAME

A farmer's son who dreams of becoming a grand opera star is John R. Miller, of Montgomery county, Pennsylvania, the first young man to enter the 1929 National Radio Audition. The entrance papers of this farm lad have been received by the Atwater Kent Foundation and he will be given his first opportunity to demonstrate the quality of his voice in the Eastern Pennsylvania auditions to be held during the early summer.

From the time his voice changed—only a few years ago—young Miller's ambition has been turned toward opera and concert. Born near Norristown, Pa., where his father, Harry Miller, Jr., still cultivates the land for his living, the young man has seized every opportunity to develop his natural talent. He has had considerable church choir experience at Bryn Mawr and has directed another choir for six months.

Believing a singer needed a liberal education, after being graduated from the Lansdale High school he entered the night classes of the University of Pennsylvania and later of Temple University. In his high school days he took an active part in all musical activities of the school and sang the leading roles in the high school musical plays.

Miller entered the National Radio Audition because he says, "I offer young men situated like himself their best opportunity for vocal recognition and advancement. Twenty-five thousand dollars in cash benefits and ten musical scholarships are being offered by the Foundation this year to the best ten young singers discovered. Local auditions are now being organized in every section of the country and in the fall, state and district auditions will bring together the winners of these local tests, so that five young women and five young men, one each from each district, will participate in the national finals to be held in New York next December. All of the finalists will receive cash awards and scholarships.

DANGEROUS—HEROIC—BUT "ALL IN A DAYS WORK" WITH LONE STAR

"Grab'er, Bill! THIS LINE'S GOTTA BE BACK IN BEFORE DAYLIGHT!"

A rushing slotsam of driftwood struck a Lone Star pipe line which irrigation workers had exposed when digging a channel near Bonham, Texas. Trouble shooters bearing tools and fittings rushed sixty miles through the storm to repair the damage. Arrived, they must walk across a slippery ten-inch pipe which spanned the torrent of raging water. A single slip meant death. Over this pre-cazious "bridge" of pipe they carried a three-hundred pound fitting, and repaired the breach on that winty night by the light of blinking lanterns. Without food for twenty hours, without heat, often up to their necks in icy water, but no complaints . . . . .

These trouble-shooters are the personification of a Lone Star ideal. Unremembered by the very public they serve, they offered during those dreadful hours, a touching tribute to that ideal.

And from the president on down, we of Lone Star wish to make this public acknowledgment of our gratitude to our trouble shooters!

a run-down condition. My complexion and eyes had turned an unhealthy yellow. Everything I ate gave me trouble, instead of strength. Constipation kept my system from throwing off poisons. I was almost hopeless.

"Sargon did more for me in less than a month than all the medicines I used in five years. My friends say they have never seen such a remarkable change in anyone in such a short time. Every trace of indigestion is gone. My food gives me the proper nourishment and I have gained five pounds. I feel good all the time.

"Sargon's Sol Mass pills overcome constipation in a natural way. They not only have rid me of constipation but have driven the malarial poisons out of my body.

"I take the greatest pleasure in telling all my friends about it."

Dozen Groups in Southern Asia Are Awaiting Solar Eclipse to Have Five-Minute Totality May 9

EDITOR'S NOTE: When, for a few minutes on May 9, the moon passes between the sun and the earth and a solar eclipse becomes visible in parts of Southern Asia, it will be an important moment to scientists and astronomers gathered to observe the phenomenon. In following, the first of two articles, are described scientific preparations for the event. The second article, to appear tomorrow, will deal with the effect the eclipse is expected to have upon the Einstein hypothesis.

By PAUL W. WHITE
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, May 7.—On the other side of the globe twelve groups of scientists today are preparing their instruments for a rare manifestation of nature—on Thursday the moon will pass between the sun and the earth, engulfing the latter in a thick, dark shadow.

The brief and somehow eerie blackness of a solar eclipse will appear in the Indian ocean to Sumatra, and there in a period of about five minutes, move eastward through the Malay Peninsula of Kedah, Southern Siam, Southern Indo-China, the Islands of Java and Cebu in the Philippines and then out over the Pacific where it will be dissipated.

The layman the eclipse is only a rather awe-inspiring spectacle and rather awesome spectacle. Before the darkness comes is a faint, yellowish light like a calcium glow than sun. The moon's shadow on the west as does a dark shadow. Birds go to roost. Animals are frightened. The sphere is distinctly chilled and all.

Travels 40,000 Miles to the scientist an eclipse is an event which even in its limited scope gives opportunities to the secrets of the universe, for speculation on cosmic tests for the ingenuity of scientists and astronomers.

It is why, for instance, Dr. S. Mitchell of the University of Chicago has travelled 40,000 miles less four solar eclipses and these journeys have afforded only 11 minutes of observing.

That also is why the 12 expeditions representing six nations, assembled in the countries affected. Months of preparations of expeditions expended money and travel all will be wasted if clouds or rain prevent the view for those few minutes.

With so many scientists so spaced along the route of duration it is hardly likely that will fail in their attempt to observe, photograph and record the phenomenon. And with five of dozen expeditions setting out to check the Einstein theory it is that the truth or falsity of the noted German hypothesis is proved.

Sumatrans in Sumatra are assembled in Swarthmore college (under leadership of Dr. J. A. M. from Potsdam, Germany from Harvard, one from and one from Australia. Many penicula are from Greenwich Observatory from Göttingen, Germany. There will be separate camps for the representing Cambridge University and the other the University of Kiel.

At the tip of Ceylon the astronomers from the Bureau of Longitudes set up their instruments. In the Philippines, the United States Naval Observatory from Hamburg, Germany, will observe. The Observatory expedition erected a 65-foot camera which to photograph the shadow of the corona. The Swarthmore College scientists have similar camera in Sumatra and make the same use of it. As the shadow reaches the Philippines an hour after it has left Sumatra it is hoped that the photographs taken by these two American stations will show any differences that occur in that luminous circle surrounding the sun.

Ruler to Watch Eclipse The moon's shadow this year will be observed by one member of the royal family. King Rama VII, ruler of Siam, will visit the British station at Pattani, thus following in the steps of his progenitor, King Rama IV, whose knowledge of astronomy gained while he was a Buddhist monk enabled him to calculate with extraordinary accuracy the time and place of the eclipse in 1888.

There is a good yarn in King Rama IV or King Mongkut, as he is popularly called. His dominion was his chief diversion. He cared for the state and he presided over the government. He did not be totally visible in his fellow scientists of the event. He was convinced he was in error.

As the appointed day neared he called his entire court and officials of state to the east coast of Siam. There, in the path of the expected shadow, he erected a three-story wooden structure surrounded by innumerable bamboo houses. The ruler and the scientists who doubted him assembled near the structure. The first contact was invisible because of clouds. The sun pierced through and men to be seen slightly away from the converging moon.

Cheer for King Then the skeptics were unseated because their own figures against the possibility of the shadow of the sun. The shadow of the sun and the sun. The shadow of the sun and the sun. The shadow of the sun and the sun.

DEATH AND RUIN IN WAKE OF TORNADOES

The worst tragedy of all the southern storms is pictured here. At Rye Cove, in far southwestern Virginia, a teacher and 11 pupils perished with the destruction of a consolidated school building. At the upper right, you see some of the 52 injured children and teachers put aboard a special train to be rushed to Bristol, Va., hospitals. The total demolition of the schoolhouse is shown below. A grief-stricken mother is pictured upper left as she leaned, weeping, against the wreckage that once was her home.

SOME WEATHER PROVERBS HAVE MORE OR LESS TRUTH

While scientific meteorology still looks askance at the possibility of making seasonal forecasts, proverb meteorology—the old sayings about the weather that have grown up through hundreds of years' observation on the part of those who live out of doors—a great deal of the time—is ready to venture a guess as to what effect various types of weather will have on agricultural crops, particularly on fruit.

For example, a continuous or nearly continuous covering of snow, incident to a cold winter, not only delays the blossoming of fruit trees until after killing frosts are probably over, but also prevents that alternate thawing and freezing so ruinous to wheat and other winter grains. So the Weather Bureau of the United States Department of Agriculture points out that such proverbs as "A cold April the barn will fill," and "A late spring never deceives," contain more or less truth. There are a number of other meanings practically the same thing—that an unseasonably early growth of vegetation is likely to be injured by later frosts. "January blossoms fill no man's cellar," "March damp and warm does farmer much harm," "Thunder in March betokeneth a fruitful year." The last requires special explanation. Since a thunderstorm seldom occurs in the early spring except when a cold wave follows and breaks up a spell of mild weather, thunder in March implies cold weather to follow, and hence the prevention of the threatened too early appearance of vegetation. Ordinarily, however, although winter is one of the most conspicuous of weather phenomena, it has but little value

TWO DIE AS WIND TOPPLES JAIL WALL

Two prisoners were killed and nine injured when a 70-mile-an-hour twister ripped off the wall of the city prison and workhouse at Columbus, O., as shown above. The fury of the wind lasted for only a moment, tearing off roofs in the vicinity and uprooting large trees. Prisoners helped firemen and police with the rescues of the injured.

AN OVERWHELMING SUCCESS: THIS STORY A CONGRATULATION

The Merchants Musical revue in vaudeville, was presented under auspices of the Eastland Music club last night to a crowded Connellee theatre audience. The performance was successfully staged and directed by Mrs. Joseph M. Perkins, chairman of revue, assisted by Mrs. Steele Johnson and Miss Ima Ruth Kelley. Incoming patrons were met by the president of the club, Mrs. T. J. Pitts, and Miss Gretchen Overton, secretary. Ushers were young girls of the McDowell Junior Music club, who wore across their pretty frocks a green ribbon band lettered in white, "McDowell," displaying the music club colors.

Splendid cooperation was given by the Connellee theatre management. Manager Roberts was untiring in his efforts throughout the performance and for several days prior to the show. Mrs. Jackson was presented a tall basket with high arched handle, that was gorgeous in colors and flowers tied with a flaunting blue tulle bow that attached the white and gold card, reading, "With love and appreciation, the Music club."

The program was presented in 25 or more specialties and in combined acts, featuring the Merchants announcements, about 44 in all. At close of vaudeville revue, Mrs. Perkins, with the general chairman of Music Week and the committee, thanked the merchants on behalf of the Music club of Eastland, for the cooperation; the public for its response; the Connellee management; Bobby Bates, and all those who had assisted the Music Week committee and general chairman, Mrs. Jackson; and Mrs. Steele Johnson, Pitts, Wayne Jones, E. C. Satterwhite, J. M. Mouser, H. O. Satterwhite, A. J. Campbell and V. T. Seabery, committee, in presenting Merchants Musical revue, especially those who assisted the committee from Music club as well as other kind friends.

The curtain dropped. A splendid program was rendered by Campbell band during part of showing of the screen version of the Merchants Music Week annual announcements in the Music club's special screen edition of Music Week.

Murmurs of admiration were heard when card after card was flashed on the screen. The introductory announcement stated "The Music club of Eastland presents a Fifth Observance of Music Week for Eastland. Merchants Musical revue and special feature film, 'Jazz Mad.'" Mrs. Joseph M. Perkins, chairman of revue.

The second club announcement presented names of officers of the Music club and the personnel of the Music Week committee. Below, the list of special chairmen for other Music Week events, Mrs. Grady Pipkin, Mrs. R. L. Perkins and Mrs. Steele Johnson, not committee members, and announced Mrs. W. K. Jackson general chairwoman for Music Week. The succeeding cards presented the Merchants' announcements in the order of their financial club benefit for the special edition. The slides were the clever work of Dee High, and were very handsomely hand lettered and decorated. Forty-four cards were exhibited on the big screen and each one showing was a silent testimonial to the loyal support by Eastland merchants of the Music club's annual Music Week special vaudeville edition and Merchants revue.

This is but an "appreciation" of the entertainment offered last night. The list of specialties and personnel of those in the revue will be presented in Sunday's Telegram. Order your extra copies in advance.

CUSTOMS AND COSTUMES PAST AND PRESENT

Perhaps no Thursday Afternoon club program has presented an original and attractive lesson such as was arranged by Mrs. C. U. Connellee for yesterday's club meeting, when a charming "Period Fashion show" illustrated "customs and costumes, past and present," in historical epochs dating from 1492 to 1929. Brief descriptions of the period of history to be illustrated were presented by Mrs. Connellee. Period music was adapted to the epochs with Mrs. Joseph M. Perkins at the piano.

America, 1492: Indians in dance. Authentic costumes, children taking part. Bruce Pepkir and Dorothy Perkins.

Pilgrim history, 1630: Eloise Johnson and Ray Jean McDonald, in quaint Quaker garb and with a Bible in the hand.

Colonial history, period 1776: Alma Williamson and Edna Clark, in hoop skirts, fichu and ann panners.

Texas pioneers, 1882 epoch: Regular Texas costumes; Patsy Cabery and Dick Martin.

Civil War epoch, 1865: Hoop skirts and pantelet, long neckerchief and stove pipe hat; Alice Jones and Thomas Dahney.

1900, America: Shirt waists, long skirts, hair poupedored of ladies; Mary Jane Harreil and Patsy Wiegand.

Epoch of 1914, World war: Lucy Beal Smith, Red cross nurse, Jas. Dabney private soldier.

Interlude: Texas cowboy and girl in ranch costume; Bill Amyx and Ruth Hart.

1929, Flapper period: Jazz song, jazz costume; Josephine Martin, Evelyn Hearn Lucile Brogdon and Harris. Each group presented the staid minuet, the Indian dance, the caftans, the tango, and other forms of courtship or in march of the epoch under discussion. The costumes were delightful and the children adorable in their grave and careful assumption of character. Mrs. Perkins presided over the business session the last regular meeting in her regime as president of club.

The motion to use the Club House (Community) for miscellaneous entertainments passed favorably with the rider that the proposed entertainment be at the discretion of Club House board.

The resignation of Mrs. A. H. Johnson as club member was regretfully accepted. Mrs. Johnson was elected to honorary membership and also honorary member of the Library Club House board.

Mrs. Joseph M. Perkins board, as representation of club on Club House board. Mrs. Earl Conner's resignation was accepted. Club elected Mrs. Conner to associate membership. The resignation of Mrs. Theodore Ferguson was also regretfully accepted. The reports of the president, the vice president and the second vice president were accepted. Report of Mrs. Johnson, chairman of library board committee, showed 2,543 books in the free public library, (sponsored by the Thursday Afternoon club) of which 460 were acquired this year.

Several reports were not given owing to lack of time. These, and the delegate's report, will be heard at the next meeting for two weeks hence at Community Club House. Guests of the afternoon were mothers of the children taking part in program, who were not club members present were Mrs. Mullings Steele Johnson, Bickerstaff, B. M. Collier, Guy Patterson, A. H. Johnson, James Horton, J. A. Caton, Earle Ohnson, John Turner, Wrecher, E. R. Townsend, J. M. Ferrell, H. O. Tatun, J. M. Armstrong, Joseph M. Perkins, W. P. Leslie, Carl Springer, W. E. ### A BRIEF HISTORY OF MUSIC WEEK

By Lonnie McGlamery, Music Chairman, 1st District P. T. A. Written for Music Week observance of P. T. A. of Eastland High School.

From the earliest days of civilization man has set aside certain times for special celebration—occasions for commemoration, jubilation and thankfulness. Usually these periods are only one day in length.

It was not until the period of the world war that the "Week" idea came into being. There was so much to be done, when the big war drives were on that more than one day's time was required for obtaining the object was desired. The "week" then, might be termed a "hangover" from the war, and many people believe it developed into a distant liability; for now almost every conceivable kind of "week" is forced on us by innumerable organizations throughout the country.

Although the general public rebels against many of the designated "weeks" Music Week is an exception to this. The reason is that Music Week is so different from all the other special weeks. It is a "drive" for music by the friends of music; but it is also the occasion for participation in and receiving of pleasure, thus making it independent of any compelling force from behind it. It gathers its momentum as it goes along from the enjoyment it brings. Its strength comes from the universal, yet sometimes unconscious human need for music.

Indeed, human beings suffer for lack of music even as they suffer for lack of food and shelter. The longing to hear, to make and to enjoy music is deep-seated in the human heart.

Consequently the appeal of Music Week is irresistible and it entered into more wholeheartedly and spontaneously than any of the special weeks observed during the year.

Texas claims the credit of originating the idea of Music Week. In the fall of 1919, Mrs. A. L. Harper, a music teacher of Dallas, suggested that Dallas have a Music Day, in which all the musical people would participate. From this beginning, Music Week was developed.

The response to the idea of Music Week has been so far reaching that it is now more than a national affair; it has become an international one. Many countries around the world are now observing Music Week at the same time that it is observed in the United States of America.

What a wonderful and inspiring picture this brings to our minds! An ensemble of the nations during Music Week! Of course this can result in nothing but closer and more friendly relations. And thus the road to world peace may be shortened to some extent. What could be more appropriate than that music, the universal language, should serve as a means to this glorious end?

Let me close with a quotation from Theodore Roosevelt: Let the love of literature, painting, sculpture, architecture, and above all, music, enter into your lives."

INSTALLATION OF OFFICERS HIGH SCHOOL P. T. A.; SENIOR STUDENT PARODY PLAYLET AND MUSIC WEEK OBSERVANCE

The high school Parent-Teacher association had an unusually large attendance at yesterday's session when a splendid program included the parody of the high school faculty, a clever playlet and a special program honoring Music Week, featured by a voice number, "Son of Mine," solo, by Vera McNew Bickerstaff. During the installation ceremony Mrs. Bickerstaff sang the adopted song of the P. T. A., "A Little Child Shall Lead."

The installation of officers for 1929-30 was conducted by Superintendent of Schools Mr. Bittle.

Officers: Mrs. J. LeRoy Arnold, president; Mrs. McGlamery, first vice president; Mrs. C. C. Ligon, second vice president; Mrs. J. S. Grisham, third vice president; Mrs. S. P. Rumph, corresponding secretary; Mrs. T. J. Cunningham, recording secretary; Mrs. B. L. Mackall, treasurer.

RINGOLD SPEAKS AT ROTARY MEET

The advantages of building and loan were described in an address by E. A. Ringold, principal speaker at the weekly session of the Rotary club at noon today at the Gholson hotel. Musical numbers were given by Misses Hunt and Dixon. Roy Speed was program chairman.

Grady Pipkin of Eastland was the only visiting Rotarian. Other visitors included: Desmond Jones, of Ranger; L. H. Flewellen of Mississippi, guest of J. L. Chance; Mr. Holt of Dallas, guest of C. E. May, and Mr. Thorp of Breckenridge, guest of James E. Matthews.
