Many Witnesses Summoned For Plaintiff and Defendant. Paving Program Being Held Up.

Taking of testimony in the Hodges Estate's suit against the City of Ranger, members of the city commission and W. E. Burke, paving contractor, started Tuesday morning in the 88th district court. The jury in the case was not selected until nearly 3 o'clock Monday afternoon and the rest of the afternoon was consumed in the argument of a long list of exceptions.

The names of all Ranger mentioned as prospective jurors were stricken by the attorneys for the plaintiffs. Turner Seaberry and T. R. Pearson are attorneys for the defendants. It is expected that the case will not go to the jury until Thursday morning at the latest. The plaintiffs have a long list of witnesses summoned and the city also will place a number on the stand, including some 15 witnesses of Ranger.

HORNED TOAD WINS FAME

BY MEREDITH KING

Far ou upon the Texas plains
Where life is beautiful—Where us, you-all and we'ems in the jackcaks thrive prolifical—
Some thirty years or more ago there 'rose a great contention
And all the tribe of horny toads was filled with much dissension:

For ages past their families had lived in greatest amity,
And now to have such strife arise—
it seemed a great calamity it seems that for some seasons they'd been lacking an ambition,
And this had brought the tribe to a deplorable condition.

For as years had passed, so decades and decades had passed to age,
No name of any horny toad
write on history's pages.
No horny seer or sage of them was noted for profundity,
And all the tribe could boast was the state of its feeblity.

And while the state of Texas had a turged population,
They had produced no leader who could merit approbation.
So now the elders railed around held a great convention—Determined that their progeny should have some public mention.

No more the tribe should labor
'neath this cloud of pessimism Which caused all lizards, snakes, and frogs to sneer at 'em and hiss 'em.

They laid a plan whereby a toad had startled all the nation;
And has caused all amphibians to strive for emulation.

And though it took three decades to achieve this epic mission, The cockeyed universe is now in shout of its fruition.
With fame as great as anyone this tumbling planet—
A toad has slept for thirty years upon a bed of granite!

Denied all intercourse with
with his kin o mingle,
He lay upon his granite couch outslept Rip Van Winkle.
While airmen flew from pole pole or skimmed the rainbow billow,
He lay and dreamed his idle dreams upon his stony pile.

No wonder they're as proud
we of alderman and senators, And shout aloud his merit and claim his wise progenitors—
This patriarchal leader of the toad
in this vicinity,
Is still a perfect specimen of toad ish masculinity.

HONOR COLUMBUS. The Pan-American Union is about to organize a campaign for popular subscriptions for a fund for the erection of a monumental clubhouse to honor the memory of Christopher Columbus.

The site selected for the lighthouse is on the coast of the Dominican republic, in the West Indies, near the capital city, Santo Domingo. Although the first land reached by Columbus was the island of San Salvador, and he did not reach San Domingo until more than six weeks later, the latter island was particularly associated with him in later years of his life, and it was on it that the first European settlement in the New World was established.

Surrounding the lighthouse will be a site for a modern airport. It is interesting to think that modern planes and dirigibles will swoop down from the sky, guided by a beacon erected in honor of the man who crossed the Atlantic in a creaky, inefficient little sailing vessel.

Justice is Done. William Edward Hickman is gone at last—hanged in San Quentin prison after a wealth of last-minute efforts to save him had failed.

Newspaper accounts of the business were depressing. Hickman sat in his cage on the night preceding his execution, in a nervous mood. He would lie down for a while, then he would go and play his victrola; then he would read his Bible; then he would lie down again; then he would talk to a guard; then he would look at flowers the warden had put in his cell.

But there is another picture to consider—the picture of little Marian Parker, whom Hickman murdered. Hickman's execution was a sorry and pathetic affair, surely; but the murder of the helpless little girl made the blood run cold. If ever a hanging was justified, this one was.

STAG BIRTHDAY DINNER FOR BOBBIE PERKINS

Little Bobbie Perkins, the interesting eight-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Perkins, was honored by his mother with a delightful stag dinner party at six o'clock, Monday evening, at the family residence, South Seaman Street.

The handsomely laid table was centered with a bit of Indian pottery. A vase filled with orange-hued cosmos, and candle sticks of the same were holding orange tapers, with small jack o' lanterns outlining the table. Favors for the little guests. Candle lighted pumpkins hung about the rooms in gleeks hung about the rooms in gleeks.

All were in clever Halloween costumes. After dinner, the large open fire place drew the little crowd, who toasted marshmallows, and listened to many thrilling ghost stories. Present were: Robert Gleason Perkins, host; Gilbert Clark, Billy Gupton, Temple B. Fe Clark, Billy Gupton, Temple B. Ferguson, Rex Gray, Roger Arnold, Bobbie Ferguson, Colon Gray Satterwhite and Jim Whittington Connelley, Betty Perkins, Dorothy Perkins.

It is hoped to stock it with a number of new volumes. Attractive features will be held in connection with book tag day. The public is urgently requested to keep this in mind and to donate as many books as they can that will be of use to the library, or send new books for which they will be very grateful.

JUNIOR PYTHIAN BAND AT SOUTH WARD SCHOOL

Many interesting things are happening in the South Ward school. Preliminary training has started in the organization of the Junior Pythian Band under the direction of Miss Green, who has had extensive training in that work as well as in other phases of primary and kindergarten elementary music. She has designed their uniforms to comply with the colors of the South Ward green and white, for which the material has been specially ordered. Several of the musical instruments have arrived, and the others will soon be here.

A program to be given for the Parent-Teacher Association, who so generously furnished the money to purchase the instruments. It will be presented in a few weeks. Few pupils realize that the study of rhythm by little folks is the foundation for their study of music. This training will be given practically to all of the first grade and of these most talented will be selected to make public appearances. There are sufficient instruments to equip a twenty-five piece band.

Parents are requested by Principal Layton of South Ward, to examine the printed reports of the children, and see for themselves the trend of the child's work. If it is toward failing, it is not too late now to locate the trouble and correct it.

BOOSTER CLASS HAS HALLOWEEN PARTY

The Booster Class entertained with one of the most original and novel Halloween parties they have enjoyed in some seasons. With many unique features arranged by the committee in charge, Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Collier, Misses Jessie Lee Ligon, Kate Kellum and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Crowell.

The class was received at the entrance of the main auditorium of the Methodist church by two ghostly figures, which conducted them to the lower assembly room, where the party was seen in full swing. Lights were shaded in yellow, with a lonesome skeleton darning helplessly from the center luster.

Novelty crepe paper streamers in gold and black, festooned the windows, forming a canopy from the ceiling corners to the center, where they were caught in the lights.

The witches brew was presided over by Miss Viola Doyer, at the entrance, where Messrs. B. M. Collier and Frank Crowell, the

Texas Mother Knew the Way

Every mother knows what it means when her child begins to get underweight, pale, listless, bilious, feverish and fretful, with bad breath, coated tongue and no appetite. What every one of them doesn't know is that it's dangerous to use harsh methods to start the little stomach and bowels.

There's no use experimenting in such cases. Millions of mothers have proved the merit and reliability of pleasant-tasting, purely vegetable California Fig Syrup. It gently clears up the most stubborn cases of constipation; stimulates the appetite; gives tone and strength to weak stomach and bowels so they continue to act normally, of their own accord; and makes pale, lifeless children, bright, rosy-cheeked.

A Texas mother, Mrs. O. A. Spraberry, 420 Warren St., San Antonio, says: "My little girl, Imogene, developed constipation. She became bilious, pale and fretful; had no appetite and couldn't digest right. She was losing weight. I had taken California Fig Syrup as a child, so I gave it to her. It regulated her quick. She began eating heartily and digesting everything. Soon she was her robust, happy self again."

Ask for California Fig Syrup by the full name so you'll get the genuine, endorsed by physicians for over 50 years.

in their calculations. The Bobcats tied the mighty Cisco Lobos 13 to 13. Just two days ago, it was Ranger. Abilene had played under cover so long, that the Bulldogs proceeded to make it a point that the Eagles stay under cover.

Abilene's line was solid Friday, but the secondary could not solve the passing attack directed by Lee Hammett, the off and on inelible quarterback of Eck Curtis' forces. Hammett threw three touchdown passes and kicked an extra point, the total effect of which equaled the successful scoring efforts of the Eagles.

Ranger, favored by a high wind, took the lead in the first quarter, and scored two touchdowns, and added an extra point, before the second was well started. The Eagles were back at them with a vengeance in the second period, tying the score 13-13 at the half.

Abilene went ahead in the third session, but Ranger tabulated again in the fourth stanza and playing constantly in Abilene territory kept the hundreds of Abilene fans terrorized.

Texas Ponies Aid In Polo Success By United Press. BROWNWOOD, Oct. 27.—Thomas L. Evans, of the Evans Polo ranch, near Brownwood, has just cause for taking an unusual interest in the recent international polo match between the Americas, North and South, which was won by the United States team. Of the 50 horses used by the North Americans in trimming the Argentines, representatives of South America, two were bred on his ranch here. Those two were "Lovely Lady" and "Chapp."

the leading polo players of the nation. But to have one or more horses selected for international polo matches is something worthy of mention. In 1927, the International polo committee, selected 50 horses to be used by the American team and of this 50, there were six Texas bred and raised horses. Two of these were from Mr. Evans' stables. Texas led all states for the year in the number of horses selected for the international team. New York was second with five.

Who will be professional men, business men, manufacturers and wholesalers of Eastland that will say

RETAILERS AND PROFESSIONAL SERVICE

Doubtless this question has occurred to the citizenship of Eastland when the wording first appeared "We Believe in Eastland." If you believe in Eastland and want your firm constantly before the buying public of Eastland it's nobody's fault but yours that your firm isn't with the leaders of their particular line of business!

Thousands of dollars go out of this trade territory—WHY? Just because we fail to let the public know who we are—where we are—and what they can expect by calling us.

By all means get in on the Booster Page of the leading business men of Eastland and say:

Whoofus Whiffletree's Woozy Wonderings

What does it take to make a great football game? The clash of undefeated teams who are struggling for survival and a chance at the district championship or an even higher honor—yes, that would not be a bad ingredient.

But one of the most important elements has not been named. It is something quite apart from the teams or the coaches. It is the CROWD.

Did you ever see a really and truly great game played in the presence of a hundred or two hundred fans? We never did. At least, the thrill was lacking.

On the other hand, if there is a big crowd, you are almost sure to enjoy the game. The noise, the color, the excitement, the roars of enthusiasm, the shrieks of wild ecstasy, the yells of the pep squads and the blare of the bands—all these give the game a setting.

The Cisco-Breckenridge game was not a great grid battle. It was too one-sided. Yet the presence of 5,000 made it seem a splendid spectacle until the score piled up and it became all too apparent that the Buckaroos had no chance.

Football, on such an occasion, weaves a wondrous spell. Not only is the eye focused on the field but the faculty of the mind is projected, as it were, out there.

These observations, vaguely perhaps, explain the popularity of football. They explain why every road leading into Breckenridge Saturday afternoon was choked with traffic.

What Will Happen to Joe? With all the talk about the transfer of Rogers Hornsby to Chicago—and it is certain that he will be transferred—there has arisen a sideline discussion to Joe McCarthy, manager of the Cubs, when Hornsby goes to work for him.

Those aware of the facts know that Hornsby could be indicted only on circumstantial evidence and that he didn't do any personal job-getting.

Nothing Will Happen It is quite certain that Hornsby will play ball if he goes to Chicago because he has played ball under any and all circumstances and that he will continue to play ball under McCarthy.

In this connection it is interesting to learn that negotiations were started by the Chicago officials because McCarthy told them that he wanted Hornsby and he asked that Hornsby be secured if the ball club didn't have to be wrecked to get him.

This surely indicates that McCarthy has no fear that Hornsby will start any insurrection among the players that would lead to his decapitation.

"Block That Kick!" Fans Yelled, and He Did

This remarkable action photograph shows Ick Abernathy, star end of the Vanderbilt eleven, following the orders of Vanderbilt supporters to "block that kick!" during the recent Tulane-Vanderbilt game at New Orleans.

Wrigley, who plays with the Cubs as a hobby, called his staff together and wanted to know why it was that a man of means, who was not looking for profit and who had a great love of his fans, could not get a pennant winner.

"Go and get them if a half million will do it," the boss said. "It's not them, it's him," the staff said. "All the better, who is he?" And the answer was, "Hornsby."

At the same time the negotiations started for Hornsby, Pittsburgh was sounded out about Glenn Wright and Barney Dreyfuss was willing to talk business until he heard about the Hornsby affair.

However, Bucky has been a rough neck in his day and many be able to recede to type for the occasion. He probably cannot give Tigers fans the extremes indulged in by Tyrus Raymond Cobb, but he is not, or was not, at least, too soft for wear.

Sports Matter

BY FRANK GETTY United Press Sports Editor

A few seasons ago there were few more promising ball clubs than the Detroit Tigers and few managers with the promise of Bucky Harris.

Now, for the 1929 season, Harris and Detroit have joined forces. It remains to be seen if the experiment is a success.

President Frank Navin of the Detroit Tigers is somewhat skeptical about Bucky's being an ideal manager.

However, Bucky has been a rough neck in his day and many be able to recede to type for the occasion. He probably cannot give Tigers fans the extremes indulged in by Tyrus Raymond Cobb, but he is not, or was not, at least, too soft for wear.

The Tigers won pennants under Jennings, but not under Cobb and Moriarty. They are not likely to reach the top immediately under Bucky Harris, although they belong back in the first division and he will certainly try to put the club there next year.

Harris has only a one-year contract, one of those "make good or get out" affairs. He was relieved as manager and put upon the reserve list of the Senators following the close of the 1928 season.

Senator Disappointed The Senators, pennant winners in 1924 and 1925, were a great disappointment this year. Part of the time they were dusting along in the cellar.

Harris will not have the same pitching material to deal with at Detroit. It may be that Navin will permit some winter deals which will strengthen the Tigers in the box.

Harry Rice, obtained from St. Louis in one of these trades Detroit would rather not think too much about, may prove a much better ball player in 1929 than he was in 1928.

The American League race next season should be tighter than it has been for some time. Walter Johnson probably will have some success at Washington in his first season as manager.

Life insurance is a simple plan that changes hopes into realities and makes dreams come true.

FANS STILL TALKING ABOUT THAT STRUGGLE

Tie With Abilene Is Thriller for the Story Books.

By BOYCE HOUSE Games will come and go but one game I know will live as the game of games.

It will be a long, long time, in all probability, before Oil Belt fans see such a thrilling struggle as marked the clash Friday between the proud Eagles of Abilene and the battling Bulldogs of Ranger.

When the Bulldogs gained a two-touchdown lead and then, within 10 minutes, saw that lead fade to nothing, that was a situation calculated to have the fans of both sides gasping and giddy.

But a huge loss when the snapback from center was missed forced Abilene to punt. The Bulldogs obtained the ball on the Eagles' 48-yard line and swept to the four-yard line—only to see opportunity fade on an incomplete pass over the goal line.

But, heart-breaking as this was, the Maroon and White did not give up. After Abilene had punted to the 50-yard line, the Bulldogs started again—and this time they were not to be stopped until that last white line had been crossed on Hammett's beautiful pass and run by Whitehall.

Even then those fighting Bulldogs were not through but actually swung down the field till the ball was nesting on the Eagles' eight-yard line. Here they were stopped so Hammett tried for an all-important field goal that would spell the difference between victory and a tie.

Score is Unsteady. Yes, sir; the Bulldogs were ahead 6-0 at the end of the first quarter; they were ahead 13-0 early in the second quarter; they were tied 13-13 at the end of the first half; they were behind, 13-19 when the third period ended, and they were back in a tie 19-all when the game closed.

Those Bulldogs didn't give up though and Hammett's punting—one kick for 77 yards—and his far superior returns on punts as compared to Abilene's work in that department enabled the Bulldogs to look dangerous again. In the meantime, Hinman had started walking slowly up and down the sidelines, still being aided by two men however. Then he was able to hobble along by himself and at last a mighty cheer rent the October air as he gamely limped back into the struggle—going into the line.

Hammett, on fourth down, with the ball on Abilene's 43-yard line, decided to try a long pass over the goal line. If completed, it was a touchdown and victory. If completed, it would be the same as a punt and the ball would be brought out to Abilene's 20-yard line. Unfortunately, the toss lacked a yard of sailing over the goal line so the Eagles were awarded the ball on their own 43-yard line.

It looked as though this break would ruin the Bulldogs' chances. But a huge loss when the snapback from center was missed forced Abilene to punt. The Bulldogs obtained the ball on the Eagles' 48-yard line and swept to the four-yard line—only to see opportunity fade on an incomplete pass over the goal line.

Even then those fighting Bulldogs were not through but actually swung down the field till the ball was nesting on the Eagles' eight-yard line. Here they were stopped so Hammett tried for an all-important field goal that would spell the difference between victory and a tie.

Those Bulldogs didn't give up though and Hammett's punting—one kick for 77 yards—and his far superior returns on punts as compared to Abilene's work in that department enabled the Bull-

cotton doesn't change any faster than that! There was no fluke about the Bulldogs' tie. As far as playing was concerned, everyone conceded that Ranger proved itself the superior team. In first downs, the Bulldogs made 12, one more than Abilene. In ground gained from scrimmage, the Bulldogs' total was 290, which was 84 yards more than Abilene gained.

But it was A GAME.

A PLAIN, unvarnished statement of fact: "Mild enough for anybody and yet they satisfy." If you will light a Chesterfield and smoke it critically you will find no hint of harshness, but a certain mildness, with a rich, wholesome flavor. Chesterfields satisfy without being harsh. They're mild without being insipid or tasteless.

 "The game's not worth the of it? A lot of cheap talk, and a bunch of headlines. Did she ever tell you about the reporters stomping the place when someone tipped them off that there had been a secret marriage? And that story about 'expecting the stork!'" Tad groaned aloud.

 "Of all the sickening innendoes!
 The stork! And they dressed up their yarn like a saccharine bedtime story."
 He lapsed into mournful silence
 Craig blew thoughtful rings.
 "If the thing could be done half decently," he said, "I think Sybil would marry me."
 Tad appraised his friend belliger-ently.
 "And do you know what people would say?" he demanded.
 Craig shrugged. "No—what would they say?"
 "Val's mother had the nerve to tell me the other day that the kid which she supposed the society edi-

 "Well, Sib, you let yourself in for that sort of thing—insisting that the kid be called Thorne. You know how the wise-crackers ate that up. By the way, Tad was elaborately nonchalant. "I wonder what Val sees in Dolly West-

 "Oh, Val's all right, Taddy," Sybil made her voice reassuring.
 "Did you know she's helping me choose my dress this afternoon?
 And we're having tea together af-

Valerie adored the child.
 "I'd have one myself," she declared, "if it wasn't such a trouble.
 Ugh! I do love babies—but it's so unesthetic, getting them."
 She crinkled her nose in a way that Tad had found entrancing some two years before.
 "Unesthetic your grandmothtrouble with you."

French War Hero, Totally Blind, Is Poker Player

 Such a man is Maj. Georges Scapini, totally blinded on the battlefields of France, now famous as one of the outstanding members of the French bar and a member of the chamber of deputies, representing the Paris district.
 Major Scapini, an honored guest at the American Legion's national convention here recently, will make a tour of principal cities of the United States before returning to Paris early in November.
 "You do not believe I play cards?" asked Major Scapini.
 "Hand me that deck of cards and I will show you."
 In quick succession he turned the cards, correctly calling them throughout the deck, his sensitive fingers recognizing the Braille dots, language of the blind, as rapidly as the eye could follow.
 "And I play a good game of

COOKING SCHOOL NEWS

Mrs. Milholland points a way to better cooking flavors

MRS. Jennie L. Milholland is one of the hundreds of women who have written us, after following our suggestion to test Crisco by tasting
 it—just as a careful cook tastes her butter and milk.
 You'll be interested in what she discovered.

"I have been doing my own family cooking for more than forty years. Many years ago I discovered the good qualities of Crisco by tasting it in comparison with other cooking fats. I taste everything I cook, and I am guided solely by tasting until I have the right ingredients compounded to my taste.
 I use Crisco because I have for many years considered it the sweetest and most wholesome of all cooking fats."

Now, everything we cook is judged by its taste.
 But how can we expect our foods to taste good unless the things we made them of taste good, too?
 Compare the taste of Crisco with that of other cooking fats. Had you imagined there could be such a difference? Think what an improvement Crisco's sweet, wholesome flavor will make in the taste of your own pies, cakes, muffins, biscuits and fried foods!

Standard Pie Crust Recipe
 Amount for one-crust pie (or baked shell) For medium size two-crust pie 1½ cups pastry flour 2 cups pastry flour
 ½ cup Crisco ¾ cup Crisco
 ½ teaspoon salt ¾ teaspoon salt
 4 to 6 tablespoons cold water 6 to 8 tablespoons cold water

Sift pastry flour and salt together. Cut shortening in with two knives until the consistency of small peas. Add only enough ice water to bind. Roll. For baked shell, cover bottom of pie plate. Leave enough edge to fold back to make it firm. Prick well with a fork to prevent bubbles. Bake in hot oven (450° F.) for 15 minutes.

Pie-plant Pie
 Use standard recipe for medium size two-crust pie.
 Filling:
 2 cups pie plant 1 grated orange rind cut small ½ teaspoon salt
 ½ cup sugar 1 teaspoon pastry flour
 1 egg beaten

Cook pie plant until tender. Drain. Cool. Add sugar, salt, pastry flour and orange rind, mixed together. Last add beaten egg. Cover pie plate. Add the filling. Cover with top crust. Bake in hot oven (450° F.) until a rich brown.

Strawberry Cream Pie
 Use standard recipe for baked shell.
 4 cups strawberries 4 tablespoons cornstarch
 1 cup sugar ½ pint cream

Mix half the sugar with the berries. Bring to boil in a saucepan. Then add the rest of the sugar mixed with the cornstarch. Stir until it begins to thicken. Then cool and turn into the baked shell. Cover with sweetened whipped cream. Chill before serving.

Japanese Lemon Pie
 Use standard recipe for baked shell.
 Filling:
 4 egg yolks beaten Grated rind and
 1 cup sugar juice of 1 lemon
 ½ cup sugar ½ teaspoon baking ½ teaspoon salt powder
 4 egg whites

Mix egg yolks, sugar, salt, lemon juice and rind. Cook in double boiler stirring until thick. Cool. Beat egg whites stiff, add baking powder. Fold into first mixture. Turn into baked crust, set in moderate oven (350° F.) to brown.

Doctor Found What is Best for Thin, Constipated People

As a family doctor at Monticello, Illinois, the whole human body, not any small part of it, was Dr. Caldwell's practice. More than half his "calls" were on women, children and babies. They are the ones most often sick. But their illnesses were usually of a minor nature—colds, fevers, headaches, biliousness—and all of them required first a thorough evacuation. They were constipated.

J. B. Caldwell M.D.
AT AGE 93

In the course of his 47 years' practice (he was graduated from Rush Medical College back in 1875) he found a good deal of success in such cases with a prescription of his own containing simple laxative herbs with pepsin. In 1892 he decided to use this formula in the manufacture of a medicine to be known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and in that year his prescription was first placed on the market.

The preparation immediately had as great a success in the drug stores as it previously had in his private practice. Now, the third generation is using it. Mothers are giving it to their children, who were given it by their mothers. Every second of the working day someone somewhere is going into a drug store to buy it. Millions of bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin are being used a year.

Its great success is based on merit, on repeated buying, on one satisfied user telling another. There are thousands of homes in this country that are never without a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and we have got ten many hundreds of letters from grateful people telling us that it helped them when everything else failed. Every drug store sells Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, but you may try it free by using this coupon.

Cheaney is a real busy place just now, as the peanut harvest is on in full blast. Lots of peanuts to dig yet. The Earl Strickler thresher has been running steadily for a week.

James Howard is the separator man for Mr. Strickler and they are doing good work.

The Scott & Weeks thresher has not started yet, but will soon. Cheaney people turned out and dug J. O. Snell's peanuts, as Mr. Snell is still crippled from a fall off the Jess Blackwell store while doing some roof work. The Strickler thresher will thresh the peanuts Thursday.

Mrs. Lena Ayers was on at the Ranger hospital several days ago and is reported doing fairly well. The Cheaney ankylosis communities will dig Mr. Akers' peanuts for him Thursday.

We are getting fine hay, as our community got no rain last night. Peanuts are fairly good.

The railroad has put in a switch for Cheaney, so we will be able to save hauling. Now we want some buyers to come here and buy. We could load a car or two most any day.

School started again Monday. Nearly all the farmers have finished digging peanuts and the children are not needed for threshing, which is no child's work.

J. C. Leebhart and family on the day Sunday with R. E. Horton and family at Hunter.

Sunday school and preaching was fine Sunday, but the attendance was light owing to the thresher running and some visiting, which just had to be done.

A little storm Sunday night blew down Wash Walton's vacant house north of Cheaney.

B. F. Weeks of Merriman was at Cheaney recently preparing to thresh.
The Redwine Brothers of Salem are hauling hay around Cheaney.
The health of the community is generally good at this time.

Wanted to Pay The Note on Home; Shot In a Bank Robbery

FORT WORTH, Oct. 29.—Funeral services were conducted in Mineral Wells yesterday for a Fort Worth man whose initial embarkation into crime ended in his death Friday at Addison, Okla. He is Floyd Coffey, 30, who with his wife, resided in a little home they purchased a year ago on Gordon street.

He was shot over the heart as he fled from the First National Bank of Addison on Friday with $600. Police searched their files in a vain attempt to find a record of other acts which would style Coffey a "criminal" in the accepted sense of the word, but they concluded he had not been "handled" before.

Enjoying the reputation of a respected oil field worker, Coffey was able to meet all the monthly payments on his little home except one due several days ago. And he promised the real estate agent he would be able to pay that one in a few days.

The overdue note on his little home is the only known motive of his effort single handed to enter the Addison bank. He entered the bank, where he knew there was more than enough money to pay off the note which might cause him to lose his home and all he had put into it.

While a companion waited outside to drive him away in an automobile, he faced the cashier of the bank as he had read it had been done before and succeeded in convincing the keeper of funds into allowing him to gather up the money.

He ordered the cashier out of the vault into which he had backed him but for some reason, possibly a suggestion of an amateur in Coffey's action, the cashier remained. Even a shot fired by the robber failed to frighten the cashier into obedience. But having the $600 in his hand and an even chance of getting away in the waiting automobile, Coffey fled.

He probably would have made a dash for the door if not for the fact he was heard by a man who started in pursuit. After Coffey and his companion abandoned their car to seek safety on foot, the seeker of a home at the cost of being a robber was felled mortally wounded.

Former Director Of Census States Races Segregated

DALLAS, Oct. 29.—Separate working rooms were provided for negroes in the Census Bureau of the department of commerce and that plan of segregating the white and negro races was adhered to until Herbert Hoover became a candidate for the Republican nomination for the presidency, it is alleged in a telegram given out at Texas State Democratic Headquarters. The telegram was from United States Senator William J. Harris of Georgia who declared that he, as Director of the Census Bureau under President Woodrow Wilson, put into effect the original segregation order. The telegram was offered by State Democratic Headquarters as proof of the abolition of segregation by Mr. Hoover as Secretary of Commerce and in answer to denials that have been issued by former Democratic National Committeeman Thomas B. Love and former Governor O. B. Colquitt. Both men have declared in published manifestos to the people of Texas that no segregation order was ever effected in the bureau.

Through all of the controversy and the printing in the Congressional Record of letters from white women employees of the department protesting at the Hoover order, the candidate for the presidency has entered no denial, it was pointed out by W. A. Thomas, state campaign manager for the Texas Democrats.

The telegram from Senator Harris follows:
"The white and negro races were segregated in the Census Bureau as a result of an order issued by me during my term as Director of the Census by appointment from President Wilson. When I took office I found negro and white working side by side in the bureau. With the approval of President Wilson, I issued an order requiring that the negroes be segregated and placed in rooms to themselves thus relieving the white men and women of the necessity and embarrassment of working side by side with negroes. This order remained in effect throughout President Wilson's administration, through all his resid in Harding's administration and all of President Coolidge's administration until Mr. Hoover became a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination and contested the Ohio delegation with the late Senator Willis.
