

Supreme Court Upholds Federal Wage-Hour Law Old Ruling On Child Labor Is Reversed

Apprentices Now Has Full Power To Regulate Labor

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—The supreme court held constitutional today the administration's wage-hour law which fixes minimum pay and a maximum work week for employees in industries affecting interstate commerce.

Justice Stone, who delivered the opinion, asserted:

"The act is sufficiently definite to meet constitutional demands. One who employs persons, without conforming to the prescribed wage and hour conditions, to work on goods which he ships or exports to ship across state lines, is warned that he may be subject to the criminal penalties of the act. No more is required."

The opinion was on a challenge of the far-reaching legislation by Fred W. Darby, operator of a lumber company at Statesboro, Ga.

In another important decision bearing on labor matters, the court held that officials of the carpenters union are not liable for prosecution under the Sherman anti-trust act for activities growing out of a jurisdictional quarrel with another union.

The wage-hour case opinion specifically overruled the supreme court's famous 1918 decision which held unconstitutional a statute prohibiting the interstate transportation of child-made goods.

Apparently the decision would permit the federal government to regulate child labor under provisions contained in the wage-hour law. That would make unnecessary further action by the states on the pending constitutional amendment to abolish child labor.

The justice department had asked in the wage-hour constitutionality case, that the supreme court overrule the 1918 child labor decision and the 1936 Guffey coal act. Those decisions held that manufacture and mining were subject to state and not federal control.

Justice Stone said that the "doctrine" enunciated in the 1936 Guffey coal decision was "limited in principle" by later supreme court decisions.

Referring to the child labor decision in the famous case of Hammer vs. Dagehart, Justice Stone said:

"In that case it was held by a bare majority of the court over the powerful and now classic dissent of Mr. Justice Holmes setting forth the fundamental issues involved, that congress was without power to exclude the products of child labor from interstate commerce.

"The reasoning and conclusion of the court's opinion there cannot be reconciled with the conclusion which we have reached, that the power of congress under the commerce clause is plenary to exclude any article from interstate commerce subject only to the specific prohibitions of the constitution."

"The conclusion is inescapable," Stone added, "that Hammer vs. Dagehart was a departure from the principle which has prevailed in the interpretation of the commerce clause both before and since the decision and that such vitality, as a precedent, as it then had has long since been exhausted. It should be and now is overruled."

The opinion on the carpenters activity bore vitally on the justice department's current anti-monopoly campaign, which has been directed at unions as well as business firms.

Youths Arrive At NYA Center

Approximately 50 youths from a 20-county area were due to arrive here Monday for induction into the NYA resident center here.

Joe B. Harrison, supervisor, said that all boys assigned were to report during the day and be issued equipment as soon as they are inducted.

Initial meeting will be at the 5:30 p. m. meeting and there will be a regulation conference Monday evening. Most equipment, with the exception of coveralls for the enrollees, was on hand. Three Big Spring youths submitted application for inclusion in the center's personnel Sunday and there were additional applications at the district office in San Angelo, according to the supervisor.

Legion To Meet

Big Spring's American legionnaires meet tonight at 7:30 in the chamber of commerce offices. Bruce Frazier, vice commander of the body will take over duties left vacant when J. B. Neill, elected commander of the Legion, went to Camp Woodson, Mineral Wells.

Seven Persons Ask Places In Defense Class

Seven applications had been received at the Big Spring Independent school district administrative office Monday noon for places in the defense training program scheduled to start soon at the high school building.

Five Stanton youths had asked admission to the out-of-school youth division for those between 17 and 24 years of age. They were W. R. Pursar, James Webb, John Paul Cook, Stanley Smith and Billie Glen Smith.

Two Big Spring men had applied for supplementary training in the refresher course division. This unit requires either three years experience in a machine shop or one year's experience as a welder, and the applicant can be either employed or unemployed.

School officials, anxious to get a representative enrollment quickly in order to insure training in welding, urged interested youths to write, telephone or apply in person, giving their name, age and address.

Those for the refresher class unit were asked to do likewise, except furnishing information on experience in addition to name and address.

Later, a course in machine tool work is contemplated if response to enrollment pleas warrants it.

Meanwhile, the advisory committee for the program was to meet at 7:30 p. m. in the administration building for an important session.

NIA boys, being mustered in to the resident center here today, will be ready to start instruction as soon as details can be arranged, Joe B. Harrison, supervisor, said.

Mrs. A. Smith, Churchwoman, Teacher, Dies

Mrs. Annie L. Smith, wife of Algie Smith, stockman and farmer, and for many years a teacher in the Big Spring schools, died at 2:30 o'clock Monday morning at her home, 1004 Gollard.

Funeral will be held at East Fourth Street Baptist church at 1:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. The body will lay in state there for an hour in advance of the services. Conducting the funeral will be the Rev. R. Elmer Dunham, pastor, assisted by W. C. Blankenship, school superintendent and Dr. W. B. White, president of Hardin-Simmons university.

Following the service here, the body will be carried in a Nalley coach to Snyder, where brief services will be conducted at the grave under direction of the Rev. G. W. Parks, pioneer Roscoe Baptist minister.

Mrs. Smith was born in McLennan county on March 6, 1888. She was married to Algie Smith November 12, 1927, and had lived in Big Spring 13 years.

For the past 12 years she had been teaching in the Big Spring schools. She was superintendent of the primary department of the East Fourth Baptist Sunday school, and was active in all other divisions of that church's work.

Death followed an illness that had been serious 30 days.

Survivors include the husband; four brothers, Arthur and Dee Hull of Lamesa, Alva Hull of Floydada, and Alvia Hull of Spur; three sisters, Mrs. J. B. McBrien, Floydada, Mrs. L. D. Stripling, Carrizo Springs, and Mrs. E. M. Inman of Snyder.

Palbearers will be King Sides, J. A. Coffee, L. Dean Bennett, Alvin Smith, Edgar Stringfellow and George O'Brien.

Honorary palbearers will include all members of the board of deacons of East Fourth church, W. H. Morrison, S. H. Morrison, W. E. Carrick, Dr. G. T. Hall, Bob Wren, Flem Anderson, L. A. Coffee, Walter Grice, Temp Curry, B. Reagan, Shins Phillips, Cecil Long, Denver Yates, Hollis Lloyd, John R. Rutto, J. P. Phillips, Alvin Shroyer, G. M. Thornton, Walter Morrison, R. M. Smith, Otto Couch, Syd Wood, A. W. Page, Chester O'Brien and the following from Snyder:

Horace Eiland, J. H. Harpo, Lyman Wren, Elmer Bentley, Fred Alexander, A. P. Morris, Fred Grayum, Dr. A. C. Leslie, J. A. Woodfin and J. M. Newton.

City Collects 85.6 Percent Of 1940 Roll

The city of Big Spring was the first local tax collecting agency to come under the wire Monday with a report on current tax collections, showing 85.6 per cent of the roll in hand or in sight.

Through the deadline Friday midnight, a total of $28,344.87 had been paid into the city treasury by ad valorem taxpayers. In addition there was $3,099.21 reasonably certain of collection in not yet due half and quarter payments.

This brought the total current collection possibility to $96,284.08, or 85.6 per cent of the roll. City Tax Collector H. W. Whitney said that this varied only a fraction of a per cent from the per centage last year, but that the dollar volume was up approximately $4,000 due to a gain in valuations.

Both county and school district tax offices were working out from under a pile of mail and indicated tentative figures by Tuesday. The county was writing up poll taxes, payments for which were postmarked before Friday midnight.

Flies To Move To San Angelo Tuesday

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 3 (AP)—A total of 779 officers and enlisted men will leave Kelly field here tomorrow morning for the new basic training air school at San Angelo.

Two hundred and sixty five will travel by train and the remainder by automobile. A total of 378 of the men will be from the 64th Air Base group and 200 each from the 67th and 68th school squadrons.

One hundred men from Kelly field are already stationed at the San Angelo flying school.

FLAT SAVES LIFE

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 3 (AP)—A flat tire probably saved the life of a 3-year old Elmdorff baby near here today. When the child's parents enroute to San Antonio stopped to repair a tire they discovered the baby unconscious in the rear of the car, overcome by escaping gas fumes. Artificial respiration at a nearby inn revived the youngster.

RAF Officials Believe They Can Stop More Numerous Nazis

LONDON, Feb. 3 (AP)—Germany's first line air strength will be "measurably in excess" of Britain's on March 1, but Britain "will again beat back any return to mass daylight bombing as a preliminary to invasion" with superior aircraft and pilots, a high-ranking officer of the Royal Air Force declared today.

The officer said the recent lull in the German offensive against Britain was not "the lull before the invasion storm" but was due, first, to "dreadful flying weather," second, to repair and overhauling of a large number of German bombers damaged in night operations and, third, to diversion of a "considerable number" of bombers to the Mediterranean fighting zone.

"There is no doubt," he said, "that the Germans are suffering a higher percentage of losses due to weather than the personnel of the squadrons like."

The Germans are "not sending bombers over if the weather survey indicates fog over airfields in the early morning when they return," this authority continued.

He added that many airfields from which the Luftwaffe is operating against Britain are "primitive and unsuitable for heavy bombers."

"Have not developed fighters superior to those of the British which beat them last summer, while we have gone steadily on."

He said the end was not in sight on either side in night bombing, but in the long process of experimentation "we are a little ahead."

There is no danger of the supply of pilots lagging behind the supply of aircraft, he reported, since "the fighting is over our own country and we manage to save a good many." The rate of consumption of aircraft was described as "far higher" than of crews.

Bill Proposes Legislature Name Auditor

Appointment Now In Hands Of Governor; Senate Studies Change

AUSTIN, Feb. 3 (AP)—Picking up where it left off two years ago, the senate today made possible immediate consideration of a bill authorizing the legislature, instead of the governor, to name the state auditor.

The bill, recommended by Governor W. Lee O'Daniel, is similar to one which passed the upper chamber at the last general session but died in the house.

Its author, Senator Weaver Moore of Houston, said it was intended to give the legislature, which appropriates money for state expenditure, an opportunity to find out where the money goes.

Under present law the auditor reports to the governor whereas under Moore's proposal he would submit his findings of departmental expenditures to a joint legislative committee who would appoint the auditor.

The senate's action came two days before State Auditor Tom C. King is to appear before that body and present evidence on which he made reports to the governor who asked for a housecleaning in state government.

In urging the switch in selecting the auditor, the governor asked further that the chief executive be empowered to appoint a budget director. Currently the board of control serves as a budget advisory body.

Police Probe Negro Shooting

One negro was held for questioning by authorities Monday after another, Jackie W. White, suffered a bullet wound in his shoulder.

The shooting occurred at 4 a. m. at the Casa Grande cafe as White was leaving the place, according to officers. White was not seriously hurt.

Police took Clyde Allen, negro, into custody for questioning and turned him over to the sheriff's department for questioning.

Marlin Wicks, negro, was released under bond, on an assault to murder charge growing out of an incident in a north-side cafe Saturday night.

The sheriff's department reported Wicks surrendered himself with the assertion he had shot a Mexican. Officers said that when a gun had been fired, Andres Centocros fell at the feet of Fabian Gomez, who also was near a negro, who fled after the gun was discharged. Actually Centocros was unhurt.

George Berry, negro, was charged with disturbance by police when a group of frightened companions called police. Officers explained that a negro "had an empty shotgun, but those negroes didn't know it was empty."

Lamesa C Of C Ready To Dine

LAMESA, Feb. 3 (SpI) — Arrangements were complete here today for the annual Lamesa chamber of commerce banquet, slated for 7:30 p. m. Tuesday in the basement of the First Methodist church.

Chamber officials predicted a "full house" for the affair, which will be addressed by L. P. Bloodworth, El Paso. The speaker is familiarly known as a "good will ambassador."

F. T. McCollum, Guy Weekes, Dee Hull, J. H. Harp and Conway King are on the arrangements committee; Weekes and Dr. J. M. Harrington on ticket sales; M. C. Lindsey, Weekes, Dr. Harrington, W. D. Arnett, R. J. Baskin, Bill Boyd, Henry Norris, Owen C. Taylor and M. E. Boren on the reception committee. Toastmaster is to be M. C. Lindsey, veteran Lamesa civic worker.

French Expected U. S. Help, LaFollette Tells Senate

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—Philip F. LaFollette, former governor of Wisconsin, testified today that Edouard Daladier, former French premier, had told him in 1939 that France expected the United States to aid it "with money, materials and men."

Testifying before the senate foreign relations committee in opposition to the administration's aid-to-Britain bill, LaFollette said he had called on Daladier in March, 1939, and "asked him just what aid they expected from us."

"He replied without a moment's hesitation," the witness recounted, "that they expected money, materials and men. And he said that we are going to need them and expect them soon."

Senator Johnson (R-Calif.) asked whether "the French expectations have been justified by events."

"The money and materials are in this (British aid) bill," LaFollette replied, "and I have no hesitancy in saying that the president would be justified in regarding this legislation, not as an authorization, but as a mandate to carry out the full implications of entrance into war."

Previously LaFollette had told the committee that the legislation would "rest in one man the decision over peace or war in this country."

He declared that the bill also "defines weapons of war so broadly as to include virtually every piece of property in this country," and "allows the president to acquire this property and dispose of it to foreign countries on any terms he sees fit."

"This bill," LaFollette continued, "confers the most far-reaching grant of power ever proposed for one man."

With his brother, Senator LaFollette (Prog-Wis.), listening at the committee table, the former governor declared that the "logical consequence" of American foreign policy would be the conveying of shipments to Great Britain. He added:

"If the convey of shipping demanded by the British public does not involve us in war—and it is difficult to see how any other consequence is possible—then on exactly the same logic and reasoning, we shall be urged and yes, expected, to go to war when our resources are exhausted and can fight no longer alone."

LaFollette said he used the word "Hessians" in the sense that the British now are fighting our battle, as Hessians fought for Britain during the revolution.

"I want to underline my 'no,'" the witness continued, "to those who, not selfishly, but unwisely, would launch this nation on a course whose only logical outcome can be our total involvement in war in Europe."

Witness Says Daladier Said That In 1939

BERN, Switzerland, Feb. 3 (AP)—Political leaders in Paris, where a new pro-Nazi "people's committee" was formed Saturday, were reported today to have rejected overtures of the Vichy government thereby threatening a speedy showdown in French-German relations.

Press dispatches from Berlin to Geneva declared that Admiral Jean Darlan, French navy minister, had sought unsuccessfully to arrange a conference with political leaders in German-occupied Paris on recent "developments" there.

Darlan was said to have been advised that any such talks would be useless in as much as the Vichy government had failed to "draw clear conclusions from the present situation."

This was interpreted here as apparently a reference to recent comments by authorized sources in Berlin, who said last week the Germans considered the present Vichy regime's policy "anglophilic"—friendly to Britain—and that collaboration could not be resumed under present conditions.

Spence Confers With CAA Officials

City Manager E. V. Spence was in Fort Worth Monday conferring with Civil Aeronautics Authority officials concerning the Big Spring airport project.

Application for a big WPA job for expanding and developing the port is now in Washington for action.

Meanwhile, all but about 50 acres of land needed for the port has been secured, city officials said. They hoped to clear up this portion of the program soon.

SOLDIERS STOP HERE

Officers and men of a regular army motor transport unit from Maryland and en route to El Paso was quartered in the community center barracks Sunday night. The convoy consisted of Capt. Engler, his second-in-command, and 46 men. Twenty-five pieces of wheeled material completed the unit.

J. E. (Elmer) Terry went on trial in 70th district court Monday morning on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

He entered a not guilty plea to an indictment charging drunk driving on Nov. 28, 1940.

Judgment nisi was entered a week ago when Terry failed to appear and his $1,500 bond was ordered forfeited. However, it was indicated that since the defendant reappeared voluntarily this action would be revoked by the court.

Grand jury of the court will convene Wednesday to consider half a dozen new criminal complaints, according to District Attorney Martelle McDonald.

JOHN N. GARNER WANTS TO PLAY HERMIT ROLE A YEAR

AUSTIN, Feb. 3 (AP)—John N. Garner, former vice president, wants to "isolate" himself for a year.

The Uvalde, Tex., capitalist disclosed that desire in a letter to the Texas house of representatives declining an invitation to address the house. The letter was read to the representatives today.

"Prior to ending my services Jan. 20," the white-haired Garner wrote the house speaker, "I decided definitely that I would eliminate myself from all public appearances for 12 months. In other words, Mr. Speaker, I want to isolate myself for that period of time."

"Many organizations, magazines, journals, etc., have sought my expressions upon whatever subject I might care to discuss, and of course, I appreciate those but hope them so much so, this invitation you and other friends in the Texas house have extended, but once having established a rule I must adhere to it. So please extend my grateful thanks to the membership."

Agordat Falls To Advancing English Force

New Part Of Italy's African Empire Shows Signs Of Crumbling

CAIRO, Egypt, Feb. 3 (AP)—British troops were reported driving today toward Amara, capital of Italian Eritrea, after capturing the important rail center of Agordat and taking "many hundreds" of prisoners.

The fall of Agordat, announced yesterday after two days of sharp fighting, capped a series of week-end successes claimed by the British on all fronts of the far-flung African war zone.

In northern Ethiopia the Italians were reported in "full retreat" toward Gondar, closely pursued by fast British mechanized units, while intensified patrol operations were said to have caused a "general falling back" of fascist forces on the Somali-Darfur frontier.

In North Africa the British said the concentration of their forces west of captured Berma was "pre-empted smoothly"—presumably in preparation for an assault on Bengasi, capital of eastern Libya.

(The Italian high command yesterday reported hard fighting around Agordat and the area to the south, in which fascist warplanes were said to have "participated ceaselessly"—with attacks on British ground forces. Action in Libya was limited largely to aerial operations, the Italians said.

(The Germans reported their combat planes in the Mediterranean on Saturday attacked "with great success" several harbors on the North African coast serving as British supply bases. Three merchant ships were said to have been sunk and three others damaged. The Italian high command also reported that on Friday German air units sank a 10,000-ton ship in the port of Bardia, one of the Libyan strongholds the British have won from the Italians.)

Capture of Agordat, where the Italians were said to have offered stubborn resistance, placed the British about 70 miles from Amara and 100 miles from Massawa, important Red sea port.

Agordat, 80 miles from the British jumping-off point on the border of the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, is linked with both Amara and Massawa by rail. A town with normally a population of about 3,000, it also is strategically important as the hub of a network of motor highways leading east, west, north and south.

A terrific aerial bombardment paved the way for capture of the town by British and Indian troops, British reports said.

Within a few hours after its fall, the British said, their mechanized units were in close pursuit of the retreating Italians, who were reported withdrawing toward Keren, 40 miles east.

Military circles in Cairo said that the British progress from Agordat toward the Red sea might be slowed, however, because of the hilly terrain, which lends itself readily to defense.

Uprisings of Ethiopian tribesmen were said to be aiding the British advance in that colony.

Opposition To Lease-Lend Opens Debate

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—Representative Fish (R-NY) opened opposition debate to the aid-to-Britain bill in the house today with a prediction that the United States will be involved in war in Europe and Asia within six months if the measure is approved without change.

He also predicted that the government would take over vital industries, that civil rights would be suspended and that "we will have a dictatorship in America comparable to the nazis and communists."

Fish was the first republican speaker after Chairman Sabath (D-Ill) of the house rules committee formally opened a week of debate on the measure with the assertion that it was "purely a defense measure" rather than a war bill.

"I am absolutely certain and positive that this is not a war measure but a bill to prevent war," Sabath said. "It is purely a defense measure—for the defense of the United States."

Senator Johnson (R-Calif.) asked LaFollette whether the "French expectations have been justified by events."

County's Draft Board Credited For Enlistments

Howard county's selective service board is now receiving credit for regular army enlistments through the local recruiting station, according to notification from the state headquarters office at Austin.

Under the plan that has gone into effect, each county will be apportioned a certain number with relation to the total registration, but actual calls for one year's training under the selective service act will be decreased as the central office checks off three-year recruits. As a result of this system, Howard county, instead of sending at least twenty men into active duty, is supplying seven selectees on February 11 as its share of the state's quota.

The board had been notified that it will be called on to furnish 12 men on February 26 as its part of the fifth call for selectees. These men will go to the Fort Bliss induction station and then into actual training instead of going first to the reception center at Lubbock.

Since 1915, Library Work Here Has Been Steadily Growing

Editor's Note: This is the first of a series of stories of the inception, growth and need of further development of a library in Big Spring.

Through hard times, depression, evacuations and war, the Big Spring library has struggled and triumphed to maintain a standard of excellence. And from most humble beginnings it has found its way to a permanent abode with an increased number of volumes each year.

The history of the library is intermingled with the history and growth of Big Spring and one is hard to separate from the other. The guiding spirit behind most of the town's improvements in Big Spring was the old, now defunct City Federation. This group then composed of a handful of workers set about to make Big Spring safe, sanitary and beautiful.

And among its first projects was a rest room for both town and country women. The matter was first mentioned in a meeting on March 2nd, 1915 and a committee composed of Mrs. T. Marzer, Mrs. W. Rix and Mrs. W. Clark were appointed to investigate the matter of location.

Since the federation met at the Y.M.C.A. building, the rest room was established there. But once it was opened, the women found it needed furniture, curtains and finally magazines.

Although the women didn't realize it, they were laying the foundation for the present Big Spring library. From donations of clubs and other organizations, old and unwanted books were collected and placed in the rest room and visitors were even encouraged to take home magazines that they wanted to finish.

For a year the rest room grew in popularity and the book situation was more or less taken for granted. Then in January, 1916, the group decided to get at least 25 books to be used as a traveling library to be sent to schools throughout the school communities. They did better than they thought. They got together 25 volumes.

But the popularity of the books in the rest room began to overshadow the initial purpose of the place and women were beginning to ask, "Why not have a library?"

So another committee was delegated to hunt for another location. A frame school building was suggested but the women lost out when it was decided to use it for an auditorium.

One place after another was discarded for various reasons until January 2nd, 1917 when a room in the city hall was obtained. The federation spent $60 fixing up the room and then for its maintenance voted to charge $1 a year for membership.

The library was to keep open on Saturdays. The present membership fee has remained the same. Only new books may be got every afternoon from 3 o'clock to 5 o'clock.

Two ladies were appointed to care for the library with their only pay the appreciation of the town.

Tomorrow: The story of how the library books were bought and the struggle to keep new books on the shelves.

By MARY WHALEY
This is a note to the city fathers. Please heed!

Getting about a town is really a simple matter—if you have lived most of your life there. You can go as the crow flies to almost any given place, even if you have to take a short cut through somebody's back yard.

But there are strangers who come to live in towns. And people like us to whom the four directions are a closed book of knowledge.

After losing three 112 m. s. of an evening because somebody moved an old trash can, our only landmark, we send forth a plaintive wail—how about some street signs?

You know, ones with letterings fore and aft, so you don't have to climb a tree to find out where you are. These, (as long as we are asking) boys about a light overhead so folks don't have to go about at night equipped with flash lights and boxes of matches to light their way.

Of course, if you see a Daniel Boone at heart, you probably like starting off, flying blind, and arriving on time at your destination.

But some of us are such second rate explorers. We would be lost till yet, if somebody hadn't happened along to lead us out of a maze of streets that wander around with a mind of their own.

Colorado City, Midland Will Play Tonight

COLORADO CITY, Feb. 3 (Sp) Showing improvement in every game recently, the Colorado City Wolves are due to meet Midland on the local hardwood Monday night to begin a week's schedule which will include two other major games, one with San Angelo there on Tuesday night and one with Sweetwater here on Friday night.

The Wolves defeated Midland Wednesday night 23-26. They have already played San Angelo once on the local court, losing 23-31. They defeated Sweetwater at Sweetwater 15-14 in a previous encounter.

No Reconciliation, Says Elaine Barrie

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 3 (Sp)—On the word of Elaine Barrie, her hectic romance with John Barrymore is over—there will be no reconciliation.

Arriving from New York for her first visit since she and the "great profile" were divorced in November, Miss Barrie declared:

"I am now in pursuit of the ideal play. I am not looking for any ideal man. Of course, if he comes along..."

"And please don't say that I'm through with men and marriage. I don't want anyone to get the wrong impression."

It Looks Like Army For John Kimbrough

COLLEGE STATION, Feb. 3 (Sp) To the multiple troubles surrounding the future of Jarrin' John Kimbrough, can be added the possibility that he won't even be able to play professional football next fall.

For the general information of all concerned, Kimbrough is on the last lap of a scholastic career that may lead him straight into Uncle Sam's army.

Right now Kimbrough's name is linked with nothing else but the purported offer of $37,500 by Douglas Heris, owner of the New York Yankee pro grid team.

Rather stoutly Kimbrough insists that the $37,500 talk is "newspaper stuff." Furthermore, he is hung on the matter at the moment because Heris won't bank $15,000 in cash as a down payment.

School officials at Texas A. and M. now reveal that Jarrin' John's future with the U. S. Army depends entirely upon the grades he makes in the final semester.

Kimbrough has an R.O.T.C. con-

TCU Keeps Bottom Spot In Southwest

By FELIX E. McKNIGHT DALLAS, Feb. 3 (Sp)—Mired on the bottom of Southwest conference basketball standings, settled in a spot it has occupied for six seasons, is Texas Christian.

It's a strange and rather sad story—this familiar position of the Christians.

If the records are correct, the Christians have been on the bottom of the basketball heap some six and a half seasons now. And it begins to look as if they will run the season out to make it seven in a row.

Over that period the Christians have won something like seven league games. It all sounds pretty terrible—on paper.

But it isn't. The T. C. U. basketball teams, bluntly put, just don't have basketball players—outstanding basketball players.

Only six years ago, back in 1934, the Christians were rulers of the Southwest conference circles.

Some of the nation's finest players once flipped baskets for the Christians. Ad (Too Tall) Dietzel, the giant who still holds the conference scoring record, is the brightest graduate. He has starred for many years as one of the country's foremost semi-pro players.

No coach in the conference works harder at his task of providing a winner than Mike Brumbeled. Basketball talent has just been lean around the Christian campus. Fundamentally the teams are sound; well coached.

But an amateur's eye could catch the lack of real, native talent. Not in the past six seasons has there been a genuine spark on a Christian team.

This season the Horned Frogs have played good basketball. They have scrapped to the finish in every game; lost some very close ones. But the "something" needed just isn't present.

But to make a prediction: The Christians will win a conference game this season, and it may be expected at any point from now on in.

Meanwhile, Arkansas continues along as the coasting pace setter. The Razorbacks have been winning for two weeks while poring over mid-term exams. They brushed up a bit Saturday night by walloping the Pittsburg, Kas. Teachers, 71-45. And the Pittsburg Teachers, you know, won the all-college invitation tourney at Oklahoma City just prior to the conference schedule by thumping University of Texas in the finals.

Next Friday and Saturday nights at Fayetteville, the Porkers take on Baylor, draped in third place with Texas now after spilling hapless T. C. U., 48-30, Saturday night.

Before taking to the Arkansas hills, Baylor moves in against Southern Methodist at Dallas Tuesday night. Theoretically, S. M. U. is the only team left in the titular running with Arkansas. It has won three and lost one and must stop Baylor to remain in the chase.

But Baylor stopped them earlier in the season, 34-30.

Texas Christian will try again down at Austin next Saturday night in a duel with Texas to round out the week's schedule of four games.

It Costs $25, And Then $500 - - High Ranking Golfers Of '40 Have Bad Year

AP Feature Service LOUISVILLE, Ky.—Have you a little blooded horse around your home that you think could have outrun Man O' War at his best? Would you like to nominate him, her or it for the 1941 Kentucky Derby on May 3?

Do you have $25 you don't need to meet defense taxes? And could you get the rich uncle to cough up $500 if the nag can make the entry grade?

It isn't necessary to be a C. V. Whitney, a Mrs. Ethel V. Mara, a Warren Wright or an E. R. Bradley to get your hay burner into the Churchill Downs classic. The only requirements: The blooded animal must be registered with some recognized agency—such as the New York Jockey club or in the English Stud book or some corresponding agency in other countries; the runner must be three years old on January 1, the universal birthday of thoroughbreds.

You'll Need $25 And... The nominating fee of $25 is all you'll need until the day before the race. Then $500 must be plunked down to start. If you scratch the horse — you have upuntil about noon before the start — then you lose the whole sum. Send your nomination to Colonel Matt J. Winn, impresario at The Downs, together with the $25. He'll do the rest.

Nominations throughout the long history of the classic average slightly over 100 a year. The number that actually run may be down to seven or eight or might run to a dozen.

If you have the fodder-burner that wins you get a rather comfortable fortune, provided you sell the horse right then, hide the money in a safety deposit vault, never bet on a horse race or own another nag, and faultlessly invest your riches.

Last year, winner Gallahadon brought to his owner $60,150 and a $5,000 gold cup.

Up until 1940 the Derby "added" money was but $20,000, now it is $75,000. The "added" is a sum added to the nominating fees and starting fees.

In 1940, for the first time, it was specifically provided that the trainers and breeders would get a share of the money. Owners of the second, third and fourth horse get $8,000, $3,000 and $1,000, respectively. The trainers of the winner, second and third horses receive 3,000, $2,000 and $1,000, with the breeders getting $2,000, $1,000 and $500.

Originally it cost $50 for a subscription so your horse could run in the Derby and it was pay or play. In other words, that was your outlay and if the horse didn't go to the post you lost the $50.

The present system has prevailed since 1898—the nominating fee and no other payments except the starting $500.

Distance Shorter The distance has changed also. From 1875 to 1885 the bangtails ran a mile and a half. Ben Brush in 1896 took the first mile and a quarter jaunt. That's still the distance.

When Aristides won the first Derby in 1875 he brought in $2,000. Until 1885 money was awarded only to the first two horses. The first three to finish went into the money through 1915 with the fourth horse getting the entrance fee back. Since that year the first four have been counting the shekels.

Behind Hogan's second place $2,550—he and Nelson tied and divided second and third money of $1,200—was another man who didn't do so well last year, blond Craig Wood of Mamaroneck, N. Y., winner so far in 1941 of $2,150.

He is followed by: Leonard Dodson, Kansas City, Mo., $1,655; Clayton Heafner of Livonia, N. C., $1,425; Johnny Revoita, Evanston, Ill., $1,091; Oliver, $1,000; Jimmy Thomson, Chicago, Mass., $950 and Sam Sneed, Hot Springs, Va., $900. Last year Sneed and Nelson shared more than $9,000 while Jimmy Demaret, who yesterday lost his western open crown, won some $8,800 in 1940 and now is far off that winning pace.

Lookin' 'em Over WITH JACK DOUGLAS

Bob Phillips, chief at the Settles hotel, kicks in with the first suggestion for the recently acquired Big Spring baseball club. Phillips ventured forth with "Buffaloes" as the monicker nomination. Bob also points out that the name can be changed to "Bisons" or "Buffs" without a Bismont's quibbling and dicker-ing.

A series of matches between district champions from Big Spring, Lubbock and Odessa were announced at the close of the Golden Gloves finals here last Monday night, but due to a mix-up of plans, dates, etc., the show was called off before it got started.

Another night of boxing might have drawn customers—and it might have not. These boys who have won titles in Big Spring's district have completed actual Golden Gloves preliminaries for the state meet at Fort Worth, and, since the tournament opens Feb. 15, it was considered a good idea to avoid any possibilities of cuts or harmful bruises before the pay-off season starts.

This paper has gained its objective—namely, to make up a bit of money for a donation to a Big Spring charity. And besides, we're not fight promoters in the first place.

The Major-City basketball league is now in its second week of competition, and, although the crowd attending has been on the thin side, the players-for-the-heck-of-it are displaying a wallowing good style of ball hustling. Top dog of the heap appears to be Phillips' Tiremen but the rest of the loop members are not to be left out in the cold.

In order to keep out of a scramble for dates, the league is scheduling its games only a week or so ahead. According to the present lineup, Wednesday night of this week finds the Doughboys and Ward's Clerks in a match, a Gasser-Servicemen tilt on the list, and a Chafe-Tiremen set-to.

Although the recent rains have dampened the ardor of Big Spring golfers somewhat, the good work is still going on at the Munny course—that is to say, the bent grass is doing all the good. With a few more of these spells of rain hitting Big Spring, Munny's Harold Akey should be able to present greens to the local devotees that can bear up under the load without causing a strain on the city waterworks.

Oldtime Baseball Players Honored

NEW YORK, Feb. 3 (Sp)—Baseball honored two of its most beloved Bobs—J. A. Robert Quinn and Robert William Andrew Fuller—at the annual dinner of the New York writers and they in turn honored baseball.

After a lot of levity in the show produced by the scribes, the dinner settled to serious business last night and two plaques were presented—one to the Cleveland Indians' pitcher as the player of the year and the other to Quinn, president of the Boston Bees, for "meritorious service to baseball over a long period of years."

Fuller unburdened himself of quite a speech.

"The first time I came to New York," said young Bob, "I was so scared of the tall buildings I wanted to run home to Iowa. And it wasn't long until I was running to the showers. I think I faced five bathes."

Quinn, who was a catcher in the days before catchers even wore gloves, and since has been an executive of many clubs in the major and minor leagues, praised the sport with even more emotion.

"I hope I'll be able to continue to do something for this game for many years to come," said old Bob. "It is strictly an American sport and we should be proud of it and proud of what it has done. It has been a great thing for the poor boy. I hope it lives not just for 10 or 100 years, but for eternity."

Golden Gloves Workouts Will Resume Today

Bob Stinnett, Big Spring Golden Gloves' trainer who coached five local amateur boxers to district championships, said Saturday that workouts in preparation for the state tournament at Fort Worth will be held at the American Business Club park's recreation building beginning Monday night. Stinnett plans to have the lads in tip-top shape by the time they leave for the clouting meet on February 13-17.

With Truett Fulcher, Colorado City ring tutor, putting that city's three district titleholders through their paces, the Big Springs district is due to send a fairly efficient crew for the last-go-round.

Big Spring's offering includes Heavyweight Clifton Patton, Light Heavy J. W. Coates, Middleweight Brady Piper, Featherweight Blackie Patton, and Flyweight Ynez Xaner. On the Colorado City list are Welterweight James Cooper, Lightweight Charlie Watson, and Bantamweight Jimmy Harrison.

Watson, a district T. A. A. F. title-winner at Abilene last year, is touted to make a standout showing when the Simon-puras gather in Fort Worth. He took over the Big Spring light weight division when Blackie Patton, and Flyweight Ynez Xaner. On the Colorado City list are Welterweight James Cooper, Lightweight Charlie Watson, and Bantamweight Jimmy Harrison.

Attention, coaches—Here are a few tips from Red Sanders, who did a mighty good job at Vanderbilt last season... Red told Freddie Russell of the Nashville Banner that coaching success depends on the following: Material, 80 per cent... Luck in weather and injuries, 10 per cent... Coaching strategy, nine per cent... Master-mining and magic, one per cent... Well, Red went right out on the limb there... Some guys may agree with him but most of the coaches won't... When you take away the master-minding, you're robbing them of their supper... We asked one famous coach about it... He said: "Give me the material and the luck and you can have the rest of it... Moreover, I'll beat you often than you beat me."

Truck Overload Fines Increase

AUSTIN, Feb. 3.—December truck overloading fines totaled $25,443.45, a slight increase over total fines for the preceding month but far below the average for the year, according to officials of the Texas Motor Transportation Association.

Most unusual feature was the complete absence of fines on December 26 as well as Christmas Day, the only times on record during the year when two consecutive days in any month passed without some fine against violators of the load limit law. Another unusual feature was the presence of a single fine of $14.15 on the record for December 15, the lowest day's fine total during the year.

During the last eight months of the year, Texas truckers paid out $232,229.40 in overloading fines alone. This was an average of $28,778.30 a month, or just a little short of $1,000 a day.

Doughboys, Tiremen Will Meet Tonight

Judging from the record-book the Vaughn's Doughboys-Phillips' Tiremen tilt is due to take top billing on Monday night's Major-City basketball league card. First game of tonight's program goes on the boards at 7:30 instead of 8 as was the case in the initial week of the loops' race.

The Tiremen are slated to have the edge on the Doughboys, having marked up two wins as many times on the hardwood during last week's roundlays. The Bakers are batting .500 for their standings book, having dropped their first tussle and finished in the lead in their second.

Cities' Servicemen open the festivities with the Crystal Show, while the Tiremen-Doughboy show gets started at 8:30 p. m. To ring down the curtain, Montgomery Ward's Clerks tangle with the Emplde Gassers.

High Ranking Golfers Of '40 Have Bad Year

PHOENIX, Ariz., Feb. 3 (Sp)—Golf's trail of gold this season is proving a bumpy 'detour' for some of the game's big money winners of 1940.

With five of the big winter tournaments in the record book—the last entry being the western open championship which ended yesterday with Ed Oliver of Hornell, N. Y., the $1,000 first place winner—only one of the four biggest winners of last season is among the upper bracket purse takers this year.

He is little Ben Hogan, the Texan now registering out of White Plains, N. Y., who tied Byron Nelson of Toledo, Ohio, for second place yesterday. He was the 1940 leading money winner with some $10,650 earned with the magic of his clubs.

Right now, however, he has to take second place to Johnny Hollis of Chicago. But one of the big winners last season, Hollis to date has pocketed $3,900, picking up $400 yesterday by finishing in fourth place.

Behind Hogan's second place $2,550—he and Nelson tied and divided second and third money of $1,200—was another man who didn't do so well last year, blond Craig Wood of Mamaroneck, N. Y., winner so far in 1941 of $2,150.

He is followed by: Leonard Dodson, Kansas City, Mo., $1,655; Clayton Heafner of Livonia, N. C., $1,425; Johnny Revoita, Evanston, Ill., $1,091; Oliver, $1,000; Jimmy Thomson, Chicago, Mass., $950 and Sam Sneed, Hot Springs, Va., $900. Last year Sneed and Nelson shared more than $9,000 while Jimmy Demaret, who yesterday lost his western open crown, won some $8,800 in 1940 and now is far off that winning pace.

Shaughnessy Plan Retained In Texas Loop

HOUSTON, Feb. 3 (Sp)—The annual Texas league meeting ended here yesterday without club owners considering officially any proposal for a change in the Shaughnessy playoff system.

Fred Ankeman, president of the Houston club, who had planned a campaign against the system, polled other members before the meeting and found them opposed to a change.

Showing hearty interest in a suggestion that baseball be revived in Texas high schools, the members went on record as endorsing a plan whereby individual clubs would aid moves by groups interested in developing such teams.

The league adopted a schedule of 154 games and an April 13 opening date at the first session Saturday. Adoption of an official ball, the naming of hotels, and clearing of minor business, wound up the meeting.

Navy Will Get Gift of Planes

VICKSBURG, Miss., Feb. 3 (Sp)—Three persons, including a bride returning from her honeymoon, were fatally injured in a highway collision Saturday night near Port Gibson. They were Charles Tunney, 35, of Jackson, Mrs. James L. Schwem, 27, of Vicksburg, and Willie Weaver of Tillman.

The crash occurred a half mile from the spot where Mrs. Schwem's first husband, George Holder, was killed in a similar accident last April. Schwem, with whom she was returning from a Florida honeymoon, was injured seriously, as was Mrs. Tunney.

"BACK STREET"

A brief peep at some of the scenes from Universal's picturization of Fannie Hurst's story starring Charles Boyer and Margaret Sullavan.

Miss Sullavan meets Charles Boyer, and falls deeply in love.

This is to the despair of Richard Carlson, who has loved Margaret for years.

Their romance progresses. Both are very much in the throes of a tender love.

Due to a trick played by Frank Jenks, she is late to an appointment with Boyer as he is due to leave town. The romance is shattered.

Years pass. She resumes her friendship with Boyer in Paris. Boyer's son, Tim Holt, berates her, causing a crisis.

Max Factor's HOLLYWOOD Glamour Hints

Nervous hurry is fatal to feminine charm, particularly if the person witnessing the flurry knows that the occasion really demands a rush at all. Rushing of the unneeded sort brings on an almost complete loss of poise, and with this gone, personal glamour naturally goes, too.

We may observe the working of this rule in nearly every activity known to womanhood. Some women make the drinking of a cocktail a very charming rite. Others don't. Or smoking a cigarette can be a very intriguing bit of poetry in motion—or a series of nervous gestures which are far from soothing to the onlooker.

It all sums up to one conclusion. A great many women could be much more charming and appealing, and more intriguing companions, if they would but calm down and cease being in a nervous dither about practically all of their activities.

This consideration of the glamorous advantages of calm poise was recently inspired by some observations I made of Rosalind Russell while she was busy at the make-up table in her dressing room at MGM studios.

All of Miss Russell's movements in applying her make-up were swift and efficient, but none was nervously jerky.

When she had finished with her make-up, Miss Russell smoked, and I interestingly noted her technique in handling a cigarette. It was a graceful and semi-languorous process. She did not nervously flick the cigarette's ash, or viciously batter out its ember when she had finished with it. Miss Russell efficiently took her time.

Then, at the luncheon table, I noted this star's outer composure in eating and drinking. So many women—some by necessity, I know—are too completely the victims of the gnash-through-a-sandwich technique of the lunch counters during rush hours. The latter procedure may be nourishing enough, but it still is not a very charming one to witness.

I realize that some women are irritatingly hurried even in their most trivial activities, mainly because they actually do have to accomplish too much in too short a space of time.

George Fisher's "HOLLYWOOD WHISPERS"

If what Paul Muni is telling his friends is true, don't be surprised if the noted film star retires from the screen for two years. Since finishing his Warner Brothers contract, during which time he won two Academy Awards, Muni has been considering his wife's plea for him to drop picture-making for two years. During that time, he understands, Muni will rest and write, and look for important stories to make after his sista. I don't know that this is a fact, but again I repeat, don't be surprised if Muni steps out of the film spotlight soon.

Tommy Harmon, the Michigan football flash, is considering a movie and radio contract which would net him twenty-five thousand dollars in 1941. Harmon is on his way to Hollywood to discuss the contract with Bing Crosby, who has put in a bid for his services!

Dining last night in one of Hollywood's quieter cafes—one seldom visited by reporters, I was rather surprised to see Paulette Goddard and Anatole Litvak rush in and make a beeline for the empty bar-room, where they dined alone. Hollywood rather suspected that this twosome had broken up, but evidently they are still making the rounds together, only I suspect that they'll frequent the quieter spots hereafter.

Laraine Day is still wondering how she ever got out of her car alive the other day. Enroute to the studio for her appearance in "Trial of Mary Dugan," Laraine was suddenly in the midst of what appeared to be a cloudburst. Actually, a retaining wall broke just at the moment she was driving by, and the two-day Hollywood down-pour flooded over Laraine, completely submerging her car. She managed to extricate herself and although she almost drowned, she escaped just in the nick of time. Shooting, of course, was suspended for the day.

Few people know that Roscoe Karns, the screen's popular comedian, has a son, fewer people know that twenty-year-old Roscoe Karns, Junior, has been quietly preparing himself for his movie debut. After several seasons in stock theater, young Karns yesterday signed a contract with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, and today starts his first picture, "Andy Hardy's Private Secretary," playing the second lead to Mickey Rooney. Studio executives, after looking at young Karns' screen test, decided that he is the most promising bet on the studio lot and predicted top stardom for him in five years. When it came to a matter of a screen name, Roscoe Karns, Senior, vetoed the use of his name and rightly so. "I've still got five years to go in Hollywood," said the elder Karns. "So I think it is better for my son to be known as Tod Karns—at least when he makes good it will be on his own name! So, when you see Tod Karns billed in the next Andy Hardy picture, remember he's just carrying on the tradition of his family: to be a good actor, a fine man and a credit to Hollywood—just like his Dad!

"Kathleen," originally intended as Shirley Temple's first M-G-M picture, will now be her second film, with her first vehicle slated as a musical. Shirley will be featured with Mickey Rooney and Judy Garland in the picture which will start shortly after the first of the year!

When Broderick Crawford was married to Kay Griffith, I am told that one of his wedding presents to Kay was an "enchore." Now that may sound funny—but it started a Hollywood fad; for on all sides the film-drom friends of Crawford's are also giving their numerous girl friends an "enchore." The enchore, however, is not a request for a second performance, as you might think, but is a bottle of French perfume—which is sweeping the town.

I hear from very confidential sources that Clark Gable is pouting with M-G-M over his role in the forthcoming "Road to Rome." Trouble evidently is that Clark doesn't want to wear a toga, which his part calls for. He has suggested that Robert Taylor be cast in the part, because it was in a toga that Bob made his first screen test for Samuel Goldwyn. When Goldwyn saw the test, he told Bob, "Your face is alright, but your legs are too thin. Go away and fatten up."

A famous star is planning a personal appearance tour in conjunction with the openings of his new film, but he has advised his press agent he wants little or no publicity. Gene Autry, Jimmy Durante and lovely Ann Miller in Republic's "Melody Ranch."

"MELODY RANCH" starring Gene Autry, Jimmy Durante and Ann Miller. The film should click in a big way with all Autry fans and movie goers generally who like their heroes virile, their comedians funny, their villains villainous... all topped off with a dash of feminine pulchritude. Mr. Autry is the hero, Jimmy Durante, the comedian, Barton McLane and Joe Sawyer do the heavies and the shapely Ann Miller provides the pulchritude and a plenty of some swell tap dancing. Gene plays a cowboy who has made good as a Hollywood radio performer, who when invited back to his home town as honorary sheriff for a Frontier Days celebration, suddenly finds that easy living has softened him up to a point where he is pushed around by a gang of local racketeers, headed by Barton McLane. How he baffles the tuffies and wins the job of sheriff as well as the girl, makes for the best picture Mr. Autry has ever made. "MELODY RANCH" is excellent movie fare and should bring many dollars to Republic's coffers. And take the children.

"LOVE THY NEIGHBOR" ... starring Jack Benny and Fred Allen with lovely Mary Martin supplying romance... and some excellent singing. The plot is pretty thin, depending too much on exploiting the two comedians' famed feud, and, inasmuch as it was written by Jack's radio writers, rest assured that he gets all the best of the breaks... with no more scene steals on the part of Rochester. Mary Martin sings the "My Heart Belong to Daddy," song which, after enamoring hard-boiled New Yorkers, brought her a Paramount contract. Bright spots are also contributed by radio's Merry Macs and the Marjell Abbott dancers. Frankly, "LOVE THY NEIGHBOR" is not up to the quality of Benny's last picture, but all Benny and Allen fans, and they are legion, will get a bang out of radio's two top comedians.

"SECOND CHORUS" ... the new Fred Astaire film in which Paulette Goddard co-stars with Ginger Rogers' former dancing partner. The film is Producer Boris Merros' first for the studio where he formerly headed the music department. Of course, it's a musical, what with Artie Shaw and his band... but the music has been made incidental to the story, which concerns two hot trumpet players, Astaire and Burgess Meredith, who compete throughout the film for a break... both professionally and romantically. Great judgment was used in not over emphasizing the dancing ability of Miss Goddard. She had never done professional dancing before being cast in this picture, but hard practice enabled her to go through one routine with the agile Astaire... and do it well. Charles Butterworth, missing too long from the Hollywood scene, appears in another of his frustrated roles and is so riotously funny that one wonders why he isn't seen oftener. "Second Chorus" has not been produced with the usual lavishness of the usual Fred Astaire musical, but it loses nothing from this, and will stand up well as class A movie entertainment which the whole family can and will enjoy.

"HER FIRST ROMANCE," starring little Edith Fellows and Wilbur Evans. This Monogram picture was adapted from Gene Stratton Porter's well known novel by Adele Comandini, who incidentally was the author of the Deanna Durbin smash hit, "Three Smart Girls." The film is a smart romantic comedy into which six musical numbers are interpolated. Miss Fellows, who is just seventeen, is already a Hollywood veteran with a record of over two hundred and fifty pictures. Her performance is excellent and her voice shows the result of her vocal study of the past four years. Mr. Evans is a newcomer to Hollywood. A well known concert baritone, he scores effectively and has a more than pleasing voice.

"HER FIRST ROMANCE" is recommended to all members of the family for an hour and twenty minutes of clean, spritely comedy and really fine music.

Barney Oldfield in Hollywood

By VICTOR BOESEN

The winner crossed the finish line with as much flash as the slightly muddy terrain of a cow pasture location track would allow; the crowd surged toward the champion; cameramen rushed up with ancient cameras. Eyes gleamed with excitement.

One man standing off to the side looked on with a nostalgic eye. The man who has had "more crashes than any other race driver alive," a legend in American sporting circles, a man who cheated even the hospitals, was re-living a day out of the past.

Barney Oldfield's memories of sixteen years at the wheel of a racing car, from 1902 to 1918, came crowding back. For him the big outdoor set of "Universal's" "Back Street," starring Charles Boyer and Margaret Sullavan, was reminiscent of magnificent bouts with flames and crashing steel. Oldfield raced against the best and beat most of them.

We sidled up to him. As technical director of the picture, he would not be amiss in a column devoted to movie personalities. Besides, his own story will soon be presented on the screen. Entitled "Speed Was His Destiny," the 467-page book of his life is headed for the publishers and is already being bid for by the studios.

It will be packed with episodes such as few drivers could tell except from the grave; for example, the time, driving a car enclosed like a peanut, when he slammed through a wall and into a fence, coming to rest with a rail jamming between him and the back of the seat, another just grazing his leg, a jet of flaming gasoline licking wickedly from a broken fuel line, and the door held shut by a twisted frame.

They could never keep him in a hospital. A bruise here, a little cut there, that was all. To drive in 500 races in sixteen years there was no time to lie around in a hospital.

Having Oldfield on the set is a tribute to the realism sought after by the movies. It was all there, even to one of Barney's old cars, the speed wagon he drove 80 miles an hour in 1908, that and the inevitable cigar.

Bundles for Britain occupy much of the attention of Hollywood these days, so much, in the case of Penny "Blondie" Singleton, that she had very little attention left for herself last week. Penny contributed some old jewelry to a war relief rummage sale and also attended the event after her Monday broadcast. Furthermore, Penny made a purchase. A clip, which sounds perfectly normal until you discover, as she did a moment later, that the clip was one of the items she had contributed. Said Penny, "So I'm consistent! I liked it when I first got it, and look! I liked it again."

Eddie Cantor brought his program from New York to Hollywood so he could see his family during the holidays, so Dinah Shore could have a screen test, so Bobby Sherwood's band could play a club date... A studio audience is invited for the filming of "Pot O' Gold," in which Jimmy Roosevelt is starring Paulette Goddard and Jimmy Stewart with Horace Heidt, which previously was unheard of... Richard Cromwell, portrait painter as well as actor, has just finished a new painting in oils of Cole Porter which he'll get as a gift.

Al Pearce will star Raymond Wadcliffe in "Black Tie and Tails, or How Green Was My Valet," as soon as somebody writes the sketch. Al's local-station-guest-star from Pittsburgh, Rita Ray, was feted by former Pittsburgher, Dick Powell and Joan Blondell... Irene Rich plays a tough gal in "Queen of the Yukon," which Monogram is filming... It will take Edward Kaye, music master for Monday's "Those We Love," two years to fill his contract for 800 slot machine films... Connie Bennett helped Walter White find homes for youngsters on the "Nobody's Children" show during the holidays... Women journalists of Theta Sigma Phi honor "Big Town's" One Munson at their next banquet... Bing Crosby sang the whole thing when he did the loudly praised "Ballad for Americans" on his holiday show.

CARY GRANT—Who was originally christened Archibald Leach after his birth at Bristol, England, on January 18th, is considered astrologically as a native of Capricorn, and symbolically known as the Goat, but far from it that Cary Grant at any time might play the part of the goat in actual life. He happens to be faithful, persevering, painstaking, grave, reflective and unusually possessed with high moral qualities and knowing no fear where "right" is concerned.

Having quite a bit of endurance, tenacity and singleness of purpose, he overcame family objections to an acting career and joined a circus troupe.

As for the year 1941 the indications are for great outpourings from the inner nature, which will open up opportunities for the use of his creative capacities giving him a most extraordinary year for activity.

Looking forward towards the longer range, it would be wise for Cary Grant to be careful in matters of decision and action, for whatever is done during this coming year will have a great influence in the future.

The ruling planet of Capricorn is Saturn.

The most fortunate day is Saturday.

The color which is lucky for Capricornians is Dark Green.

The fortunate Gem is the Turquoise.

That Charlie McCarthy is fast in his comebacks isn't the only thing in which Edgar Bergen wants speed. Edgar is one of Hollywood's most enthusiastic 16mm filmers. He's never lost the beginner's urge to have his films developed in the shortest possible time that he may see them screened. Recently, before going to New York, he shot a reel and left it with a processing lab to be developed and forwarded to him as rapidly as possible. When Bergen arrived in Manhattan the finished reel was awaiting him...

Al Pearce of radio fame practically sleeps with a camera under his pillow. He looks undressed if his camera is not under his arm. Every place he goes, Al takes movies of almost everything he sees and his collection of interesting reels is one of the largest in Hollywood. About the only time he isn't shooting movies is when he's before the microphone. It's a cinch bet, however, that Al has shot his show many times while off-stage between turns at the mike.

If you'd like to know just how completely the amateur movie making habit grips one ask lovely Irene Rich. While on the Coast recently, Miss Rich bought a movie camera for her daughter, then in New York, as an anniversary present. A letter of thanks arrived. The junior Miss Rich shot her first pictures. Coastward flew a deluge of wires and special delivery letters pleading for a projector, screen, filters and lenses. Miss Rich was thrilled that her daughter had gone for the hobby hook, line and sinker.

We knew it would come to this. Certain pranksters in Hollywood enjoy showering outlandish Christmas gifts upon their intimates. The more ridiculous the offering, and the bigger, the more appropriately it fits into their scheme of things. Heretofore one of the wags has had difficulty in convincing listeners to his tall tales of the surprises and amazement with which recipients reacted to his presents. This year, planning a bizarre carnival of giving, he is going to photograph his Santa Claus tour with his movie camera and thus have proof of his fun.

Making titles for your movies isn't such a difficult job. Shots of road direction signs and highway markers make ideal titles for travel and vacation pictures. They may be filmed as you go. Newspaper headlines are made to order titles for news events you may have been fortunate enough to catch. A surprising number of titles for all types of movies will be found in books of poetry and rhymes.

Germans Say Six Ships Hit

BERLIN, Feb. 3 (Sunday) (AP)—Authorized sources said early Sunday that six ships totalling 26,000 tons had been "successfully attacked" in the Mediterranean by German bombers on Jan. 31.

Another announcement said a German bomber had blown up a ship "in a Mediterranean harbor."

British reports said two invading planes were shot down Saturday in a raid on the British mid-Mediterranean island base of Malta. Whether the planes were German or Italian was not established. They said bombs were dropped in a raid Friday night but that none fell in the Saturday attack.

German sources did not disclose where the bombings occurred but stressed that all were done in one day and said that of the total attacked 26,000 tons of shipping could be reckoned as lost.

Diving German planes also were said to have raided the British military airport at Milidenhall, southeast of Cambridge, Saturday, destroying three Blenheim bombers and sweeping seven other planes with machine-gun fire.

Grocery Firm Pays Back Wages Claim

Restitution totaling $254.83 has been made to fourteen employees of the Furr Food Stores, Inc., chain grocery stores, Amarillo, representing the difference between wages and overtime pay received and what they were entitled to under the Fair Labor Standards Act, it was announced today by Gus C. Street, Jr., Dallas, regional director of the Wage and Hour Division, U. S. Department of Labor, for Arkansas, Texas, Oklahoma, and New Mexico.

In announcing the payment, Street pointed out that the company made restitution without the necessity of court action. This policy has been approved by the administrator of the Wage and Hour Division, in cases where investigation discloses that employers did not intentionally or willfully violate the law and where no aggravated circumstances of any kind are present.

Calvert Distillers Name Sales Manager

NEW YORK, Feb. 3 — Tube Resnik has been appointed general sales manager of Calvert Distillers Corp., it was announced today by W. W. Wachtel, president, at a meeting of all the divisional managers of the company, held at the Hotel Roosevelt. A dinner in Mr. Resnik's honor will be held tomorrow at the Waldorf Astoria.

Resnik joined Calvert in May, 1939, as manager of the eastern division. For the previous ten years he had been with McKesson & Robbins, having risen from the position of salesman to head the western wholesale division, including both pharmaceutical and liquor departments. He had had four years of selling experience on the coast before joining McKesson & Robbins.

Savings And Loan Associations Do Record Business

LITTLE ROCK, Feb. 3—New high records in total assets and in the volume of business done were established during the past year by the 119 insured savings and loan associations in Texas, the Federal Home Loan Bank of Little Rock reported today. A compilation of the year end statements, just completed by the bank, shows that the Texas home financing institutions now have total assets of $101,291,886, being a gain of $9,385,518 over the figures of a year ago.

The statistics include the figures of the First Federal Savings and Loan association of Big Spring by which the local area is served.

Wages Will Vary With Living Cost

DETROIT, Feb. 3 (AP)—Automatic wage adjustments whenever a selected cost of living index fluctuates as much as 2 per cent are provided, a CIO official announced today, by a contract clause signed by officials of the Detroit plant of the Eaton Manufacturing Co., and the United Automobile Workers (CIO).

Morris Field, UAW-CIO international representative, expressed belief the contract was the first ever drawn to make adjustments automatically.

He said it provides further for a 5-cent hourly wage increase for 600 workers, estimated to total $60,000 annually, and for vacation bonuses ranging up to $52.

Britain Will Get 1,000 Planes Soon

LONDON, Feb. 3 (AP)—A reliable source said today the British expected 1,000 American-built bombers to be flying across the Atlantic for Great Britain monthly by May.

This figure will be well over the United States production rate this source said, but will include planes built in the winter months.

Mad Bull Puts Police In Boots And Saddles

LEROY, N. Y.—The LeRoy police force abandoned its motorized equipment for boots and saddles when answering an emergency call.

It all happened when a maddened bull went on a rampage on a nearby farm. Unable to capture the animal and fearful it might kill or maim someone, farmers put in a call to headquarters for aid.

Nonplussed, law enforcement members formed a "posse," borrowed horses from a riding academy and galloped off in pursuit of their quarry.

After an hour of arduous chasing the versatile "cowboys" cornered and shot the bull.

New Pontiac Metropolitan Torpedo Sedan

Pontiac has added this new Metropolitan Torpedo sedan to its 118-inch wheelbase De Luxe line. It is the lowest-priced 4-door, 4-window sedan Pontiac has ever built, and follows in almost every detail the higher-priced smart 122-inch wheelbase Custom Torpedo 4-door sedan. It is available with both six and eight cylinder engines. Advertised delivered price of the six is $921—the same as the six-window sedan. Eights available for only $35 additional.

Chevrolet Sales Hit New Record

DETROIT, Feb. 3—During the second 10-day period in January, Chevrolet dealers bolstered the record sales report submitted in the previous 10-day period by establishing new sales marks in company history, both for the period and for the first 20 days of the month, it was announced here today by W. E. Holler, general sales manager.

In the period, dealers sold at retail a total of 30,479 new passenger and commercial cars, a gain of 20.3 per cent over the comparable period last year and an increase of 6.7 per cent over the preceding 10 days this year. Combined sales during the 20 days totalled 58,978, a 24.4 per cent advance over the same period in 1940.

Used car sales in the 10-day period were 47,498, an increase of 22.7 per cent over the same period last year and a gain of 16.9 per cent over the preceding 10 days this year. The 20-day report shows used car sales 26 per cent in advance of the same period in 1940.

Retail truck sales also held to the upward course established since the new models were introduced last fall, advancing 36 per cent over Jan. 1-20 last year, with total sales being 12,356 for the 20-day period.

Auto Salesmen Go To Meeting

STANTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—G. W. Alsop and John Holder left Thursday night for El Paso to attend the annual banquet given by the Chevrolet Motor Co. of that city to the dealers and 100-car club members. Alsop is a member of the dealers planning committee.

As a young man Kelsey had studied art, and this came in handy when he became a photographer. He does all the color retouching and painting for the studio.

Mr. and Mrs. Kelsey have built up a considerable following among high schools that publish year-books. He does a large volume of work for newspapers, recently getting pictures of navy bomber survivors who were doomed to death on a California mountain peak hours later. His shots won honorable mention at an Associated Press Texas exhibit recently.

General E. E. Wood (left), Chairman of the Board of Sears Roebuck Company of Chicago, tells Keith Morgan (right), National Chairman of the Committee for the Celebration of the President's Birthday at New York Headquarters of the 1941 "Fight Infantile Paralysis" campaign, that thousands of retail merchants and store executives are enlisting for the appeal for funds. General Wood has accepted the chairmanship of the National Retail Committee of the campaign. General Wood's Committee will supervise the distribution, installation and collection of coin boxes in retail stores from January 15 to January 30. Coins deposited in these tiny boxes will comprise one of the big features of the campaign's "March of Dimes."

After Hard Fall, Kelseys Built Up Thriving Business

Charles Kelsey took a hard fall and came up in a new business. It was a literal fall, one that put him to bed for two years while there appeared doubt that he would ever walk or again have complete use of his body. But he did get up, and when he did, he and Mrs. Kelsey were in the photographic business.

Since 1932 the Kelseys have resided in Big Spring. Born in Colorado City and schooled largely at Abilene, he was stationed here by a tobacco company. One day while tacking up one of those periodic flashy displays, he fell and seriously injured his back.

For two years he was confined to his bed and home. Meantime, out of necessity Mrs. Kelsey had established the foundation of a studio business, taking pictures and developing film.

When Kelsey gained back his strength, the two pitched in and began building a thriving business. Neither had followed photography as more than a hobby, but they made serious study of the art. Bit by bit, as their following grew, they added more and modern equipment.

Three years ago they moved their studio from the location across from the high school to 900 Runnels street, building the business in conjunction with their home. This called for still more equipment and the expansion of facilities.

While Kelsey does any sort of commercial work, both he and Mrs. Kelsey have right to be proud of their portrait studio. Mrs. Kelsey goes in for more serious work and has won recognition in international shows, entering them in preference to American exhibits because they do not require surrender of copyrights.

As a young man Kelsey had studied art, and this came in handy when he became a photographer. He does all the color retouching and painting for the studio.

Mr. and Mrs. Kelsey have built up a considerable following among high schools that publish year-books. He does a large volume of work for newspapers, recently getting pictures of navy bomber survivors who were doomed to death on a California mountain peak hours later. His shots won honorable mention at an Associated Press Texas exhibit recently.

Knickerbocker Thinks US In Great Danger Of Invasion

Britain not only is America's first line of defense, but also is this country's only line of defense for the next two years, H. R. Knickerbocker, veteran foreign correspondent told a large crowd at Odessa Sunday afternoon.

Many Big Spring people were in the audience at the school auditorium to hear the reread, native Texan gives his views on the international situation, based on 17 years of foreign reporting.

Knickerbocker, pointing out that high officials often spoke in veiled language due to weight of their offices, exercised his full rights as a private citizen by speaking plainly.

He believed that if Hitler wins in Europe, he will attempt invasion of the United States and "on the eastern seaboard and not indirectly through South America." Far from being an impossibility, he said Knickerbocker, this presents a probability for the Nazis would then possess control of 50th of the world's shipping.

Today America has only 75,000 trained troops comparable to 7,500,000 Germans; she has only 500 tanks to 12,500 possessed by Hitler, according to Knickerbocker.

Crux of the situation is to keep the RAF going, he felt, recalling Churchill's epochal assertion that "never in the history of the world have so many owed so much to so few."

Certainly Knickerbocker advocated full and complete aid for Britain. "I do not advocate declaring war or going to war," he explained. "I simply advocate making war."

None of his remarks were more caustic than those concerning Col. Charles Lindbergh, and he got a big hand from the crowd every time he turned verbal barabbas on the flier whose sole qualification as a source of expert opinion was performance of a feat similar to "doing four flips over an elephant when no one else had ever accomplished but three."

Only certain thing about the war, continued Knickerbocker, is that "which ever way it goes, Italy will lose." Stalin's policies for Soviet Russia are motivated by "paralytic fear" of Germany and if Hitler so dictated Stalin would not hesitate to help him invade Turkey, thought Knickerbocker.

More than 500 persons heard the journalist speak. He was introduced by his cousin, A. B. Knickerbocker, Odessa.

Enemies of the trans-oceanic cables are the teredos, worms that bore into the wire.

Popular Wrestler Dies In Amarillo

AMARILLO, Feb. 3 (AP)—Hundreds of sorrowing friends packed the Central Presbyterian church here Saturday to pay final tribute to Dutch Mantell, veteran wrestler, colorful showman, and boys' friend who died yesterday morning.

Dr. R. Thomsen, the minister, praised this man who was mourned by no living relatives as having had more friends to weep at his passing than any he had ever known who had been so lonely a figure in his life. Mantell left his native Luxembourg when a mere boy and when he died he was the last of his clan.

Members of the Maverick club and boys' ranch, two widely known projects for underprivileged boys which Mantell had fathered in recent years, attended the services en masse.

Texan Thinks Nazis Shooting Fireworks

AN EAST COAST CANADIAN PORT, Feb. 3 (AP)—Lee Sullivan, 20-year-old youth from Hillsboro, Texas, has arrived here after nine months of piloting Royal Air Force bombers in 48 raids over Germany and France.

The young Texan told reporters he believed the Germans were using fireworks in an effort to make the raiders believe their anti-aircraft defense is stronger than it actually is.

"Sometimes," he said, "the skies would be lit up like one of those churches."

Graham Man, In Royal Air Force, Visits At Home

PORT WORTH, Feb. 3 (AP)—Capt. Harold C. Phillips, Graham, Tex., pilot who has been in England, was in Texas today for a visit, on leave from duties with the Air Transport Auxiliary of the Royal Air Force.

Phillips met him as he arrived here last night by train from Memphis, Tenn., where rainy weather Saturday had grounded the airlines plane on which he traveled.

Erroneous reports last October that he had been killed in action started with two former pilots who returned to the United States.

He discounted effectiveness of anti-aircraft fire. "If they get to shooting at your level you just move up and wait until they find your new range," he said.

Since his first plane ferry trip last August Phillips has delivered planes from factories to air bases as the RAF requisitioned them. He obtained a furlough to come home at the first opportunity and flew the North Atlantic last week. His assignment now is to transatlantic ferry work.

Mitchell Pool Receives 10th Producing Well

COLORADO CITY, Feb. 8 (Sp) Nearly 2 years after its first oil test was marked up as a failure, the northwestern Mitchell county area now designated as the Dockrey & Robbins field acquired its tenth producing well this week.

The first test in this area was drilled in 1922, the Gulf Petroleum company's No. 1 Crawford. It went to 3,885 feet, crooked hole, tried to pump casing to plug back to 1,800 feet, and was ruined by two casing breaks.

Convicted that any successful well in the area must stop at the shallow pay and must be shot with moderately big logs, F. Robbins of Big Spring and Rance Dockrey of Colorado City blocked acreage for the first two successful tests which were started in the last days of 1939.

FORT SILL, Okla., Feb. 8 (AP)—Major General W. S. Key announced today the 45th division had been ordered to move within ten days after Feb. 28 to Abilene, Tex., where a new camp is being built to house the inducted guardsmen from four states.

THE WAR TODAY

Secretary of the Navy Knox's statement before the senate foreign relations committee that he is gravely concerned as to whether we are too late to save Britain, makes one wish he had amplified this from his undoubtedly great knowledge of the inside facts.

Further concrete indication of how seriously the Britons regard the situation is to be seen in the big daylight aerial attack against the nazis yesterday by the Royal Air Force. The raiders devoted their assault to the channel ports which not only act as U-boat bases but will unleash the invasion fleet if and when the Germans strike.

Wool Market BOSTON, Feb. 8 (AP)—Very little interest was being shown today in offerings of domestic wools in Boston. Occasional inquiries were received for country-packed three-eighths and quarter-blood semi-bright fleeces at around 60 cents, grease basis, delivered east.

"The water will hold you up," said David. "All you've got to do is stand on that fine old leg of yours, and learn the breast stroke—Don't dorry about that, boy. We'll manage—over and I."

"You're doing swell," David encouraged. "Exercises is all you need. In no time at all you'll be kicking practically all the water right out of the pool!"

"You mean you're going to leave us now, Polly?" Peter asked. "Yes, Peter, honey. I've got to get Aunt Susan's supper, you know."

"I'll never be able to do it that well," said Margo. "You beautiful-beautiful-beautiful man, you, she thought. You ought to have an audience, other swimmers and divers, women to exclaim over your magnificent body, men to envy your diving and swimming ability."

"This water sure feels good," Peter said. He took hold of David's hand. "I'm going to keep on trying until I'm as good a swimmer as you and Polly."
