Mavericks and Buckaroos Meet Friday Afternoon

EASTLAND HIGH WILL PLAY AT BRECKENRIDGE

Will Be First Conference Game of Season In Oil Belt. Game Expected To Draw Big Crowd.

The Eastland Mavericks will usher in the race for the championship of the Oil Belt district, Friday afternoon, on the Breckenridge field, when they meet the Buckaroos, the traditional opening game opponents.

Interest in this clash is at fever heat in Eastland and the town is going to look mightily deserted tomorrow afternoon, while the stands on the Maverick side of the field will be packed with cheering fans.

As this is the only conference game until next week in the entire district, a great attendance is expected from almost all parts of the district—Ranger and Abilene, as well as smaller cities that are not members of the Class A loop but are keenly interested in the race. Cisco probably will not be so strongly represented, as the Lobos will be meeting the El Paso Tigers in an inter-sectional game that has drawn attention throughout West Texas.

"Who's gonna win that game?"—swinging back to the Maverick-Buckaroo battle.

The Buckaroos have the advantage in weight and experience. But they have had those advantages every year and they have not defeated Eastland since away back in 1924.

Furthermore, the weight difference may not be so great, as there are well-confirmed reports that at least one and maybe two of the largest members of the Breck team are injured and cannot play tomorrow.

Anyway, Eastland fans are not worried about size. A few weeks ago saw the huge Salkeld, all-state end of last season, playing against an "unknown" from the little town of Anson and that tackle hit him so hard and so often that Salkeld did almost nothing during the game and finally was taken out on account of injuries.

An local fans remember last season that little Joe King, who didn't get to play much until near the end of the year on account of illness, hammered in a great big all-district guard so terrifically that the big fellow was borne off the field.

If the Mavericks have that old hustle and fight, they're liable to surprise the district tomorrow.

SHERIFF HART SEEKING SEED COTTON THIEF

Sheriff John Hart is seeking a thief who stole about 600 pounds of seed cotton from a farm near Eastland, carrying it away in sacks. He has made no arrest, but said he had a definite clue which he purposes following. He recovered the cotton.

Mother Accused In Boy Murders

Here's the latest available picture of Mrs. Louise Northcott, arrested in Calgary, Canada, on charge of complicity with her son, Gordon Northcott, 21, in the murder of several boys at the Northcott chicken ranch near Los Angeles. The son, sought all over the west, was arrested in an isolated British Columbia hamlet.

HONOR SYSTEM MAY BE ENDED IN UNIVERSITY

Declared No Hindrance To Dishonest Students and May Tempt the Weak.

AUSTIN, Oct. 4.—Abolition of the honor system at the University of Texas is pre-eminently now, after a conference called by President Benedict last night which was attended by about 150 student leaders who voted, practically unanimously, to abolish the present system and take some other method for prevention of cheating.

A committee of five students was appointed to study systems used in other schools and they will report back next Monday at another called session. Professor Benedict declared last night before the gathering that the honor system at the university now "is no hindrance to dishonest students and tempts the weak."

Will Hogg Revival In Cisco Closes

CISCO, Oct. 4.—The greatest revival in the history of Cisco closed last Sunday night. The Will Hogg evangelistic party led the churches of the entire town in the campaign. It is said that Dr. Will Hogg is the greatest preacher ever heard in Cisco. Great crowds attended from Cisco and surrounding territory. Hundreds of members have been received into the churches of the town.

The evangelists who work with Dr. Hogg are the Rev. S. J. T. Williams, advance man and business manager, and Mr. Earl S. Rodgers, chorister.

OSAGE INDIANS ARE GOLF ENTHUSIASTS

ARKANSAS CITY, Kans.—At one time many of the Osage Indians here constituted a civic problem.

They had an annual income of between $9,000 and $50,000, depending on the amount of personal oil royalties. That was a lot of money and although much of it went for flashy motor-cars and jewelry entirely too much was spent for bootleg whiskey.

But that was before they took up golf. Over the hills where his forefathers once chased buffalo the Indian is now swatting a gutta percha ball. He found that drinking interfered with his pursuit of par so he abandoned the drinking.

HEAR A BOOST FOR AL SMITH FRIDAY NIGHT

Hon. Guinn Williams of Decatur, Congressman, Mason of High Degree, To Speak At City Hall.

Guinn Williams of Decatur, representative in congress from the 13th Texas representative district, will be in Eastland Friday night to speak in the interest of A. Smith, Democratic candidate for president. He will speak at the City Hall at 8 o'clock.

Mr. Williams is known to be an eloquent, forceful and convincing speaker. He is a past grand master of the Texas Masons and one of the two thirty-third degree Masons in Texas.

Many are expected from Cisco, Ranger, Breckenridge and other towns to hear Mr. Williams and all are invited to hear him so long as they can find a seat in or crowd into the city hall auditorium.

RISING STAR BOY SCOUTS GET AWARDS

Hold Court of Honor, At Which Time Many Merit Badges Are Given For Effective Work.

The first court of honor for Rising Star was held last Friday night with F. W. Roberts, chairman, Fred V. Tunnell and D. Henson presiding over the court.

Scouts Russell Day, J. R. Livingston and Lionel Lee received their second class badges. Charles Rutherford came up for his first class badge.

Many merit badges have been won. Charles Bucy was awarded first aid to animals, leathercraft, work, firemanship, bookbinding and personal health.

Charles Rutherford, Jr. came up for the firemanship merit badge. Wayne Sellers received printing, firemanship and bookbinding. Wayne holds the only merit badge in the council for printing, so far.

Walter Clem Conway received carpentry, firemanship, wood carving, leathercraft and bookbinding. Walter has recently moved to El Paso and his certificates will be sent him by Mr. Venable the scoutmaster.

James Irbey came up for civics, firemanship, swimming, pathfinding, public health and bookbinding.

Charles Rutherford, James Irbey and Charles Bucy were each awarded their 10-hour civic service bars.

Horace Shumate received his Junior life saving red cross badge which he won at the summer camp. He is the only scout in Rising Star who has won this emblem.

Scoutmaster Otha Venable introduced Mr. Wilcox, the new Assistant Scoutmaster for the troop. Mr. Sellers and G. N. Quirl, scout executive, were present.

Elks Rehearsing Minstrel Flashes

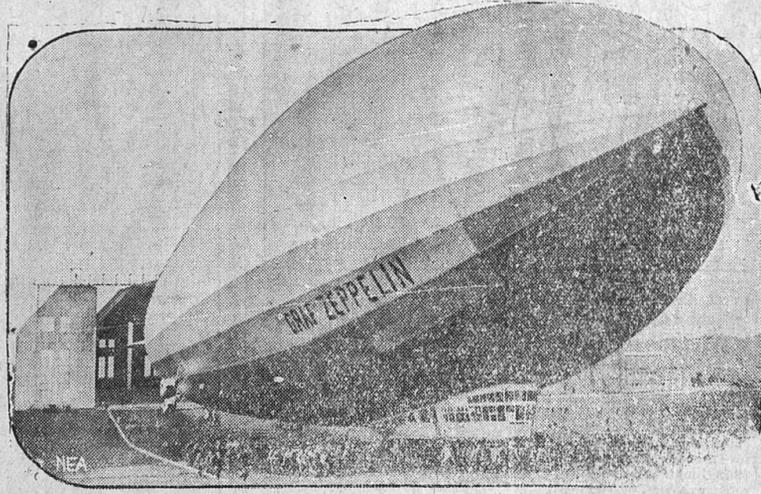

The rehearsals for the Elks annual charity benefit, "Minstrel Flashes," are now beginning to swing into something like routine under the expert management of Director "Buck." The music for the Flashes is new and catchy, and the dances are delightful.

There is still need, however, for several boys and girls to assist, and the Elks are reminding them that this is the time when their coming in and helping put this benefit play over, will be the one moment of thanks from them, for the many courtesies and privileges the brotherhood is always extending them.

Rehearsals each night at 7:30 p. m., club rooms. You are invited to join.

Football Fans Still Talking About Maverick-Buckaroo Grid Game In 1925

One of the greatest games that the Eastland Mavericks ever played was in opening the conference season in 1925 when—in a brilliant victory over the Breckenridge Buckaroos—the Eastland team shattered a jinx that Breckenridge had exercised over them for several seasons and in return put the "Indian sign" on the Buckaroos—for since that fateful October day, the Breckenridge team has never been able to defeat Eastland.

The two teams met in 1924 at Breckenridge and the Buckaroos won, 28 to 3. When they played in 1925, the lineups of each team were almost exactly the same as the year before. Therefore you would naturally think that the score would be about the same. And it was—27 to 3. But this time it was in favor of Eastland. The reason? Fight! Spirit! Play the game for all they were worth!

The 1925 struggle opened in a manner that indicated it was going to be a victory for Breckenridge. Early in the struggle, Ham Harrison, 200-pound fullback, plowed the Maverick line for nine yards. He hit for seven more. He made four on the next play. And then the Mavericks began fighting. They stopped him at the line of scrimmage on the next play. Zaratonicis, a fast ball-carrier, tried an end-run but was smeared. Then he tried the statue of liberty fake but the man taking the ball was stopped cold. Fourth down, 10 yards to go and the ball on Eastland's 18-yard line. So Zaratonicis kicked a field goal, giving Breck a lead of 3-0. Breckenridge kicked off. Volney Day, Maverick end, caught the ball on his 20-yard line and raced down the sidelines with Ed T. Cox and John Ross Williamson running interference and when he was brought down, he had run 78 yards and the ball was on Breckenridge's two-yard line. On the next play, Cox plunged through for a touchdown.

But this was only the beginning. Touchdown followed touchdown for Eastland, until the Mavericks had rolled up 27 points. On the other hand, Breckenridge could never get started. The speedy Zaratonicis, when attempting end runs, would be smothered by from one to four men and though he had a reputation for being as strong as a block of granite, he was dazed and started wandering off the field. Time after time the Mavericks tackled so hard that the Breck ball-carriers fumbled and Eastland recovered.

If the Mavericks could have played such inspired football in every game that season, they would have won the championship of half the state.

The members of the 1928 Mavericks were mere lads when that game was played but they saw it and they will be fighting Friday to uphold the traditions of the Mavericks of 1925-26-27 who kept Eastland's record free of defeat at the hands of the Buckaroos.

Seven Men Held For Investigation Following Thefts

DALLAS, Oct. 4.—Seven men are being detained at police headquarters on suspicion in connection with a series of thefts from the warehouse of the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co. here. The total of the thefts will probably approximate $10,000 worth of merchandise.

Police said the goods were disposed of by associates of the men who made the thefts.

EPISCOPAL CHURCH SERVICES IN CISCO

Special to the Telegram. CISCO, Oct. 4.—Evening prayer service of the Episcopal church will be held next Sunday night at 7:30 o'clock in the Church of Our Savior, Cisco.

The service will be conducted by Rev. Mr. Beasley, newly appointed rector for the Oil Belt who will also have a communion service in the same church at 8 o'clock on Monday morning.

Arrangements have been made for similar services the first and third Sunday in each month.

Flyers Start On Journey Home

COPENHAGEN, Oct. 4.—Bert Hassell and Parker Cramer, Rockford, Ill., flyers, said for home today.

As the Scandinavian-American liner Frederick left the dock, the Americans were cheered by a large crowd. A band played the Danish and American national anthems.

Hassell and Cramer started in the airplane "Greater Rockford" from Rockford in mid-August for a flight to Sweden via Greenland. They lost their way over Greenland and came down near Mr. Evans.

LYNCHING CASE AGAINST REESE IS DISMISSED

State Prosecutors Believe Evidence Too Weak To Justify Placing First Defendant On Trial.

HOUSTON, Oct. 4.—The case against T. J. Reese, charged with participating in the lynching of Robert Howe, negro, was dismissed in district court here today.

Reese's case was the first of seven to be called for trial. The charge against him grew out of the kidnapping of the negro from a hospital bed here by a band of masked men shortly before the Democratic National convention last June, and the subsequent hanging of the negro from a bridge on a lonely road near the city.

The motion for dismissal of the case was made jointly by Assistant District Attorney W. J. Barnes and Jacob F. Wolters, special prosecutor named by Governor Moody.

Barnes explained that the only witness against Reese was Jeffrey McCarthy, negro orderly at the hospital, from which Howe was kidnapped. McCarthy was indicted by the grand jury last Monday on a burglary charge. Barnes told District Judge Boyd today that the state believed the trial of Reese without sufficient evidence to make a conviction probable would injure the state's case against the other men indicted for the lynching.

The robbery occurred shortly before the bank's closing time. The two officials were forced to open the vault. A posse of citizens and officers took up the chase but soon lost trace of the outlaws.

Burning Gasoline Tanks, Beaumont Are Spectacular

BEAUMONT, Oct. 4.—A spectacular gasoline fire that did little damage attracted 2,000 people to the railroad yard here last night and caused the injury of a man and a woman.

City fireman J. D. Howard was overcome by gas and heat as he fought the flames and Mrs. Matilda Campos, 36, was badly bruised when the porch of her dwelling from which she and several other persons were watching the fire collapsed. The blaze was in two tank cars loaded with gasoline. It started from flares left on the track.

About 9,000 gallons of gasoline were destroyed and other damage done to bring the total loss to about $20,000.

Seeking Relatives of Man Found Dead

GALVESTON, Oct. 4.—Efforts were being made today to locate relatives of a man known here as H. A. Burton, who was found dead in the clothes closet of his room in a local hotel late yesterday.

The man had evidently gone into the closet, opened a can of ethyl gasoline and quietly died. He had been dead about four days. Justice Kupsa rendered a verdict from asphyxiation.

Relatives of the man are believed to be in Kansas City and Pennsylvania.

Mr. Cearley has filed a motion for a new trial and, in the event it is denied, will carry the case to the court of criminal appeals, he said.

SPLENDID WELL IS BROUGHT IN NEAR EASTLAND

S. A. Hopkins and Associates Get Fine Gas Producer At 3,580 Feet, Winning Out After Difficulties.

S. A. Hopkins and Associates have completed their No. 1 well on the N. H. Jones farm, Sec. 43, Blk. 4, H. & T. C. Ry. Co. survey, about three miles northwest of Eastland, for five million wet gasser in the lower Ranger lime at 3,580 feet.

The Consolidated Gasoline Co. of Eastland has extended its six-inch line to the well and is now taking the gas into its Eastland plant. A test shows this gas to contain a very nice percentage of gasoline. The well have a rock pressure of more than a thousand pounds and should be a consistent producer for several years.

This well has had quite a checkered career, having been spudded in by the contractor on January 27th of this year and a great deal of time has been lost on account of fishing jobs, one fishing job lasting from March 16 to June 25. Although drilled in territory surrounded by wells drilled to the Marble Falls lime formation during the boom days, this well's pay formations have logged one hundred feet higher from the Caddo lime down, making it more or less a wildcat.

A showing of gas was had in the Olden sand; gas and oil in the Parson's sand; small wet passed up in the Caddo lime; nice showing in the Marble Falls lime; small quantity of gas in the Eastland lake sand, and finally picking up this nice wet gas well in the lower Ranger formation.

Mr. Hopkins, who is from Boston, but who has been residing in Cisco for the past year, deserves a great deal of credit in completing this well, as several of the fishing jobs looked almost impossible to clean up and were very costly, and in addition to this he was forced to take the well over from the contractor on May 7th and later to buy a string of tools in order to complete it.

Ben Mackall, of Eastland, his tool pusher, also deserves credit for his knowledge and stay-with-it-ness, having stayed as high as eight days and nights on the derrick floor without leaving.

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—The New York Americans today won the first game of the World Series from the St. Louis Cardinals, 4 to 1. One of the largest crowds ever seen at a world series game attended today.

The Yanks scored two runs in the first inning, when Babe Ruth first batter up, knocked a twq-zagger and Gehrig duplicated it a few minutes later. Babe Ruth also made the last put-out of the game.

Hoyt and Bengough composed the battery for the Yanks. Sherdel and Wilson for the Cardinals.

LIFE IS DRAMATIC. Life abounds in melodrama. In your daily paper you can read happenings as bizarre as are chronicled by novelists.

Only a few days ago, a New York capitalist's will was filed for probate. The document gave specific instructions that "books and papers" stored in two safe deposit vaults in London should be burned "in a large furnace" without being read. What a story these papers, destined to go unread into the flames, might reveal! Perhaps love letters or sentimental keepsakes, too sacred for other eyes. Perhaps damning documents that were kept as a weapon to hold over the head of some business rival. But the secret will never be known.

A story of heart-ache and forgiveness was revealed in a few words when another will—that of a well-to-do New York woman—became public recently. "I forbid anyone, to wear mourning for me after my death and I forgive all neglect on the part of my children and hope that my children's children will make them very happy." But perhaps most remarkable of all the episodes chronicled by the press recently was that of a man whose father-in-law had for 37 years thought him dead and now that the younger man has been discovered a live and rated as a millionaire, the father-in-law is suing for a sum equal to the amount spent in rearing the daughter of the man who vanished.

Thirty-seven years ago, the man quarrelled with his wife, knocked her unconscious and, believing her dead, he fled, pursued by his wife's father to the riverside where the husband leaped into a boat and rowed away. Shortly after the separation, a daughter was born. The wife re-married. Three weeks after the marriage, another woman came forward with proof that she was the second husband's wife. Nine years later, the woman married the third time and became the mother of five children.

In the meantime, the first husband, in another state, had changed his name, rose from manual labor to the contracting business, and made a fortune. He married again, was divorced, and married a third time.

Sixteen years ago his daughter learned of his existence and she and her father through all those years corresponded, without her mother or grandfather learning of it until a short time ago.

Match that story from real life with anything in the pages of Dumas, or Dickens if you can.

GRAND JURY INVESTIGATING "MURDER FARM"

By United Press. LOS ANGELES, Oct. 3.—Sanford Clark will appear before the Los Angeles grand jury today to tell his story of the Riverside county "murder farm."

Clark will appear as a witness for the state, which seeks indictment of Gordon Stewart Northcott and his mother, Mrs. Louise Northcott, held in connection with the murder of John Doe, a Filipino, the district attorney said.

Clark, who accused Northcott of crimes and murders, told authorities the Filipino was killed in Los Angeles and his head taken to Riverside county where it was burned. The headless body was found on a road near Puente.

Officials declared the case against the mother and son was complete and that extradition papers would be prepared to bring them from Canada where they are held.

MADISON—Madison county will make carload shipment of hogs on October 8.

CIVIC LEAGUE PLANS ITS WORK FOR AUTUMN

The Civic League of Eastland held a well attended session in the Community Clubhouse, Wednesday afternoon, opening their year's program with a clinic entertainment that very clearly expressed the desire and will of the city officials to co-operate in the work of the league and to labor in harmony with them on all public enterprises for the upbuilding of the city. The session was opened by the president, Mrs. Earl Johnson and followed by the usual routine. City Manager H. O. Tatum opened the session with an extended and extensive description of the ambition for the department work, touching on tree planting, on the streets, the school, the homes and general upbuilding of city park, in a clear and splendid fashion.

C. H. Colvin, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce expressed his appreciation of the Eastland County Fair, and the part taken in it by the Civic League, which was of untold benefit. He said the Chamber of Commerce will seek the co-operation of the Civic League and proffered the chamber's service in undertakings of the League. His remarks were very interesting, and gave a glimpse of the work being accomplished by both civic bodies.

The library board reported that the debt on the Community Clubhouse had been reduced to $120 and that the annual dues of the four federated clubs will take care of this.

County Judge Pritchard has authorized the statement it was announced, that the county will purchase new furniture for the Rest Room, to be located in the northeast corner on the first floor of the new courthouse, in a quiet, retired part of the structure ideally located for this purpose.

Mrs. G. W. Dakan and Mrs. T. L. Fagg, chairman for the rest room, will select the furnishings and other appointments. A splendid report of the Civic League cook book now in process of assembling, was given by Mrs. W. C. Chaney, and her general committee, who will have the book ready for distribution on Flower Show day.

man of the better babies department, and responsible for all its public engagements. She hopes that the seventy-five babies who were registered in the spring will be returned for the clinic, so that their improvement may be noted and recorded.

It was decided that the League will give twenty-five birthday trees to the twenty-five home owners that first apply for them for their babies. The Leagues found it desirable to limit the number of trees to be given each year, and also to insist on the home ownership clause.

The Flower show date was set for November second and third, Friday and Saturday. This will be the annual flower show of the Civic League and is always an outstanding event. The chairman, Mrs. C. U. Connellee, assisted by Mrs. Jack Williamson, the general committee, will announce the committees for the various departments later, together with the various chairmen of departments.

Patrons of the flower show may order their Dutch bulbs from those in charge at the flower show. It is hoped those purchasing bulbs will wait until this time, as the bulbs handled by the league are a fine, imported variety, no higher priced than the ordinary kind, and very handsome bloomers.

New members present were Mmes. Joe Driskell, Glasscock, Wolf and Bert McGlamery. There were twenty in all in attendance.

BETHANY CLASS HAS "HARD LUCK" PARTY

The "Hard Luck" party that amused the members of the Bethany class at its meeting yesterday afternoon was hostessed by Mmes. R. L. Perkins, H. T. Johnston, J. L. Molarkey, Harry Sample and E. B. Baldwin. The church was tastefully decorated with many bouquets of bright blossoms. A brief business session was conducted by the president, Mrs. J. LeRoy Arnold.

Joyous contests in games were the order of entertainment. An animal game, when ricknacks were forfeited, was evolved by each contestant fashioning an animal or likeness thereof from chewing wax, this feat being accomplished by Mrs. N. N. Rosenquest.

A Hard Luck parade led by Mrs. J. H. Ashley, displayed the costumes of threadbare clothing, worn out shoes, summer dresses with big sleeves and pinched waists, and all the diversity of styles the past years have covered. The afternoon was a jolly and friendly one. Dainty refreshments of devil's food, and white cake squares with brick ice cream, were served by the hostesses.

The Bethany will meet again in one month, and hostesses will be Mmes. James Horton, G. W. Homer and Charles Winston, with place of meeting to be announced later.

Guests of the afternoon were: Mmes. Frank Beatty, H. O. Tatum, J. K. Seph, N. N. Rosenquest, Wilbert Irons, T. J. Stern and new members attending were, Mmes. C. R. Johnson, Rose Moorhead, M. O. Taylor, and S. W. Strickland.

Others present were: Mmes. J. B. Gwower, Frank Bond, W. C. Baker, George E. Cross, J. L. Cottingham, E. W. Corts, L. W. Hart, Mar-ina Hart, G. W. Homer, M. C. Raskob Denies He Is Bulling Market

By United Press. NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—John J. Raskob, Democratic National Chairman, and former chairman of the finance committee of the General Motors Corporation, today denied reports that he had been active in the current bull market on Wall Street.

"Newspaper statements and gossip which have accredited recent spectacular advances in certain securities to my activity in the stock market are entirely without foundation. "Since I have taken this position as Democratic national chairman I have not been near my office and have not purchased any stock whatsoever," he added.

Immense Gas Well Is Under Control

JACKSONVILLE, Texas, Oct. 4.—The Roberts Well No. 1 drilled by the H. O. & R. Co. near here was brought under control today, after gas masks brought in by airplane from Houston had been used by workers to control the gasser. Officials estimated the well was producing 50,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily. When the well came in early Wednesday morning, the gas fog was so thick that all lights in the neighborhood surrounding the well were ordered extinguished. Drillers have reached a depth of 3,600 feet and may go deeper if the well fails to produce oil at the present depth.

She looked at Sybil apprais- ingly.
"I don't believe you're a bit in love with him, either. And I know girls who'd give their right eye for him. It's a funny old world."
"You said it," conceded Sybil, laconically.
They had their deck chairs moved under the awnings, and appraised their fellow passengers in- terestedly.
Sybil clicked them off on her fingers.

ings about this operation, 98 per cent of those who have it performed want it kept secret.
Whether anyone wants to live more than a normal span of life is a question not to be decided here, but Dr. Voronoff has produced a fascinating story of his efforts to defy death.
"Our Favorite"
If you are one of those who seek ready to the nearest book- store as soon as a new P. G. Wodehouse is published you can appreciate this reviewer's feelings on reading "Money for Nothing" (Doubleday, Doran) which is, if anything, better than ever. Wode- house can always provide chuckles and make us while reading him extremely unpopular with the rest of the family.

For it's the sort of book that makes others want to slay you in cold blood because of your inability to read it quietly. There are parts that you feel you simply have to share with someone.
This is the story of Hugo, who wants to start a night club, of Mr. Lester Carmody, his stingy uncle who doesn't want him to of John and Patricia, whose love affair is not helped by Hugo's effort to throw them together; of "Soapy" and Dolly Malloy who are not all they seemed at first; and of Emily, a dog who says just what she thinks.
It's a grand entertainment.
A Matson Scores.
An unusually fine novel has been written by Norman Matson in his "Day of Fortune" (Century) which traces the history of a Norwegian-American family from its emigration to America to its final dissolution in San Francisco.
The book is really a series of comparatively brief sketches of different episodes in the lives of the Cheznests but in spite of this it flows along smoothly and leaves no impression of choppiness or disorder.
In this reviewer's estimation, the most remarkable part of the novel are those portions devoted to the childhood of Peter Cheznest which are written with unusual clarity and sensitive appreciation of a child's observation of life. Peter's later years are recorded faithfully and with this same understanding. Matson has proved himself a writer of distinction.

Humor, Mystery, Biography and Science Themes of New Books.

By PAUL W. WHITE. (United Press Feature Editor) The Limberlost Lady.
The life story of Gene Stratton-Porter, a popular authoress who died in 1924, has been published by Doubleday, Doran under the title "The Lady of the Limberlost. The Life and Letters of Gene Stratton-Porter." It is sympathetically written by her daughter, Jeannette Porter Meehan.

Many of the same qualities to be found in her well-known books, among them "Freckles" and "The Keeper of the Bees," are seen in the life of their author. She was a kind, gentle woman, beloved by her family and always eager to help her friends. The story of her life begins in the Limberlost cabin where she spent her childhood and follows her through marriage, motherhood and a literary career to the evening when an automobile accident ended her life. Much of the story is told through let- ters.

A Good "Thriller."
"Werewolf" by Charles Lee Swain is a mystery story built to order for those readers who like baffling, gory, and more or less hair-raising tales. It is one of the most recent Crime Club offerings by Doubleday, Doran and in this instance justifies Mastermind's judgment.

What with eerie folk calls in the night, murders by a fiend leaving a strange mark on the throats of his victims, and a family curse that is more than ordinarily blood-thirsty, there are thrills enough to go around. In addition the characters are likable, recognizable humans and the love interest is more plausible than in most de- tective fiction.

Gland and Glycerin.
Dr. Serge Voronoff, who claimed in 1919 before the French Surgical Congress that he had found a method for prolonging life, has explained his theories to the layman in "The Conquest of Life," which has been translated by Dr. George Bibier Rambaud, former director of the New York Pasteur Institute. The book is published by Brentano's.

Beginning with a comprehen- sible explanation of the functions of the various stimulative glands (thyroid, pituitary, parathyroid and suprarenal), Dr. Voronoff then goes on to tell of his various successes in gland transplantation in animals. The translator as- serts that it is his opinion that the Voronoff method will soon be- come more generalized in human beings and explains that at present, owing to erroneous popular ideas about this operation, 98 per cent of those who have it per- formed want it kept secret.

HOW TO AVOID CORNS.
STOCKHOLM.—"Put your feet in our X-ray cabinet and see for yourself if your new shoes fit," the clerks in one of Stockholm's leading stores say in having their customers assure themselves of foot comfort.
All a customer has to do is to mount a platform, peer into an opening on a cabinet on this feet will be revealed to him, showing whether his toes are crowded or if the shoes in other ways is not meant for his foot.

Corpus Is Scene of Great Fishing
CORPUS CHRISTI, Oct. 3.—With the coming of the autumnal equinox and the consequent rising of the tide in the Laguna Madre and Corpus Christi bay, the fall fishing season in Corpus Christi is now well under way and the most experienced fishermen along the water front predict that fishing will be unusually good during the fall months.
Both red fish and speckled trout are being caught in large numbers near the Alta Vista reef which is located about three miles off the shore in Corpus Christi bay; they are being taken at Indian Point reef and along the many channels skirting Flour Bluff to the south.
Fishermen returning to Corpus from short trips across the bay to Shamrock Cove, the Bulkhead, Kate's Hole and the Packery channel report that trout and reefers are biting and that pile of the large variety are being taken in more limited quantities.

CREOMULSION FOR THE COUGH FROM COLDS THAT HANG ON
Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and in- hibits germ growth.
Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the ir- ritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.
Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfac- tory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not re- lieved after taking according to direc- tions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

GIRL'S LETTER FINDS MOTHER AFTER 2 YEARS
Town Postmaster Succeeds in Dis- covering Parent for Little Girl.
DES MOINES, Ia.—Thirteen-year-old Mildred Hewitt wanted to find her mother whom she had- n't heard from for two years.
"Grandma don't want me any- more," she wrote to Postmaster Edwin J. Frisk here, explaining the situation at the home of her grandmother in Detroit and asked the postmaster to help her find her mother.
"I haven't any money but a stamp," Mildred wrote. "So I can't hire a detective to find her. Will you help me?"
Despite limited clues, the post- master located the girl's mother.
When told that her daughter was looking for her, the mother was overjoyed.
"For two years I have been writing to her and she never an- swered. I guess Mildred didn't get the letters," she said.
Mildred's father and mother were divorced several years ago and the mother is married again to a Des Moines man. Mildred has three half-sisters she has never seen who are anxiously waiting for their sister in Detroit to come to Des Moines.

FLIES AT 91 AND LIKES IT

FRESNO, Calif.—Mrs. Jane Tilley has just realized an ambition of many years standing. She took an airplane ride on her 91st birthday.

But Mrs. Tilley, who came to California in 1852 in a covered wagon wasn't completely satisfied. She told Pilot Pack Schneider she was coming back to the field and enjoy another trip before long.

"Like it?" said Aunt Jane.

"Why, it's just wonderful and was the most enjoyable ride I ever had. And it was safer than riding in a buggy."

"I had wanted to ride in an airplane for a long time," she continued. "I have ridden in and on everything from a horse to a high-powered automobile and I wanted the thrill of a flight in the clouds before I left this world."

Mrs. Tilley was accompanied on her sky trip by the youngest of her five children.

CHAIN STORES HAVE NOT ALL THE ADVANTAGE

Able and Industrious Independent Business Men Said To Have Equal Opportunity for Success.

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer.

WASHINGTON—The Department of Commerce is trying to throw out a life line to a million or more small retailers who are more or less menaced by expansion of the chain store systems.

Dr. Julius Klein, director of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, has made plain that the department does not agree with those who predict the eventual elimination of the small manufacturer and merchant.

"The resourcefulness and freedom of action of the individual will always go far toward offsetting the advantage of large-scale operations of the more complicated organizations," he says.

"In fact, these characteristics are the most important factors in maintaining American business."

The independent merchant, according to Klein, will hold his place in proportion to his efficiency and service to the community. The same goes, in effect, for the middle man. The big concern has undoubted advantages in certain types of business, but the independent retailer has the advantage in others.

Klein declares: "The vast majority of independent business men with native ability, with a willingness to work, to utilize new methods, and to take advantage of new conditions, and with a reasonable amount of new capital, have as great opportunities for success today as ever before—in fact, a greater opportunity because of the steady advance in our living standards and buying power."

Curtailed of unnecessary costs is the answer to some of the small merchants' gravest problems. Studies conducted by Klein's bureau indicate that his profits are often lost through such wasteful and needless practices as accumulation of dead stock, soliciting of unprofitable customers, striving for volume of business without regard to costs, uneconomic credit practices or excessive delivery service. Larger operators usually avoid these mistakes.

There are, one learns, more than 750,000 retailers each with sales less than $25,000 a year, and almost 150,000 manufacturers with yearly production below $100,000.

Specific instances are cited by Klein in a pamphlet to show present wasteful practices of the wholesalers. An analysis showed that whereas the wholesale gross studied carried 2100 items in his inventory, representative chain store warehouses included as many as 700 items. The latter had an annual stock turnover of 20 times; the former only seven. Serious disproportionate allocation of inventory investment of space in relation to sales, were found.

U. S. Government in Year Gives Aid to 8,184 Miles of Road

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—With the co-operation of state highway departments, 8,184 miles of federal aid highways were improved in the fiscal year 1927-28, and 2,014 miles that had been previously improved by federal aid were given surfaces of higher type, according to the bureau of public roads, United States department of agriculture. This work was done at a total cost of $205,043,784, of which the federal government paid $88,056,984, or 43 per cent, and the states paid the balance.

Under supervision of the bureau, 251 miles of national forest roads were improved, bringing the total improved mileage of these roads to 3,775 miles. The national forest road system embraces, at present, a total of 13,911 miles.

In the federal aid system, there are 187,753 miles of interstate and inter-county highways, of which, on June 30, 71,074 miles had been improved with federal assistance and 1,285 miles were undergoing stage construction, that is, were being given a higher type of surface than when previously improved with federal aid.

The 8,184 miles improved in 1928 include 2,182 miles of graded and drained earth roads; 844 miles of sand-clay; 1,836 miles of gravel; 92 miles of water-bound macadam; 464 miles of bituminous macadam; 136 miles of bituminous concrete; 2,533 miles of Portland cement concrete, and 42 miles paved with vitrified brick. There were 54 miles of bridges and approaches.

Federal aid highways are the most heavily traveled in the country. Increased demands of a growing traffic are shown by the greater increases in the types more suitable for heavy traffic. The mileage of high types of pavements built, such as bituminous macadam, bituminous concrete, Portland cement concrete, and vitrified brick, increased 19 per cent in 1928, while the mile-

One Masculine Job Women Can't Take Is Cartoon Work

NEW YORK.—The ladies—bless 'em—may spurn the home to become presidents of coal companies, governors, railroad engineers and transoceanic flyers these topsy-turvy days, but there's one male job they can't fill—they can't cartoon worth a hoot!

"There are some who make doll sketches to illustrate the comic ideas of others, but I do not know of a single one who may be classified as a cartoonist," declares Fontaine Fox, one of the foremost comic artists.

Oddly enough, Fox believes that women fail as humorists because they can't take humor seriously. "Where humor is concerned, men are the sterner sex and women are the light-hearted sex," he asserts.

"If a man tells a story or gets off a gag of any kind, usually he does it solemnly in the intense manner of an Indian trying to spear a fish through a hole in the ice. The man is thinking of the effect on his audience.

"But when a woman does this, she bursts out with gay little phrases before she is half through. 'You'll die when you hear this,' she will say. 'This is just screaming.' As she finishes she will challenge you by demanding, 'Don't you love it!'"

"Most women, I am willing to bet, laugh over their typewriters or their drawing boards when they essay humor. No male humorist does that. He is more likely to weep."

Moreover, a woman's sense of humor is spotty, according to a syndicate editor who sells the comic drawings of the foremost humorous illustrators. The home and married life are among the richest sources for comic material, he points out, "but no woman can see anything funny in married life. To women, it either becomes boring or tragic after a few years. And they cannot understand the lives of small boys well enough to transform their activities into daily laughs."

Fox maintains that being funny in pictures is one of the world's most serious callings. He admits that he cannot be funny day after day. Usually he tries to cram the week's work into three good days so as to escape the dull ones.

Juror's Excuse Is Unsuccessful

DALLAS, Oct. 3.—Judge W. H. Atwell, presiding over Federal court, heard a novel excuse, when jurors were being questioned to sit before a case.

One man said that he had "nervous spells" and that he had had a spell only the day before.

"You may serve until you have an attack," Judge Atwell said. "Then we will excuse you."

Lyle Womack, who is suing Ruth Elder for divorce, tried to join the Byrd expedition to the south pole. The pole, undoubtedly, would be as nothing after that cold reception he got at the New York pier a few months ago.

A sobbing woman, according to dispatches, held up a poker game in New York the other night and got away with $2000. That's new; still, many and many a poker player has been relieved of all his winnings after the game by a sobbing woman—and she didn't need a pistol to do it, either.

DOUBLE-BREASTED COAT WILL COST HERB VOTES

By FRANK SULLIVAN.

Mr. Hoover wears double-breasted suits. Governor Smith wears single-breasted suits. This means that all voting males who have struggled vainly with the intricacies of a double-breasted coat and who therefore resent same bitterly, will vote for Smith.

This will mean 7,420,000 additional votes for the New York governor, which, in addition to the votes from the 41 other states he will carry, will make sure his election by a slight majority.

Never trust a man in a double-breasted suit. Smith comes frankly before the people in a single-breasted suit, with the coat left open. It is impossible to conceal a Teapot Dome lease in the pocket of a single-breasted suit when the coat is open. The people know that all Governor Smith has in his vest is a watch (his own watch, not one obtained by republican methods), a few cigars and a little address book containing numbers he has got at one time or another, for instance those of young Teddy Roosevelt, Ogden Mills, Tom Hefflin, and the New York republican legislature. Mr. Hoover, on the other hand, wears his double-breasted coat tightly buttoned. Open that coat, Herbert Hoover! The American people like to see their presidential candidates' vests.

Humantarianism of Smith Lauded

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—The humanitaristic side of Governor Alfred E. Smith, as interpreted in terms of legislative enactments in the state of New York is presented impressively by Mrs. Harry B. Hawes, wife of the Missouri democratic senator, and recently notified by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt of her appointment to serve on the women's advisory committee during the presidential campaign.

"One of the finest things that Governor Smith has done," Mrs. Hawes says, "has been the limiting of the hours of labor for women and children in industry and correcting many of the evils of such work. Another thing that has impressed me in his legislative record was the child welfare act he helped to place on the statute books of New York state, providing for pensions for widowed mothers, enabling them to keep their children in their homes instead of putting them in institutions."

EL PASO WILL GIVE CISCO A GENUINE TEST

Game With Heavy, Experienced Westerners Friday Getting Attention.

—EL PASO, Oct. 3.—Approximately 10,000 spectators Saturday night saw the smooth-running high school Tiger football machine pound and batter its way to a 26 to 0 victory over the Sul Ross sub-college Cubs from Alpine.

The huge crowd almost filled the big bowl to capacity, and hundreds of other fans stood on "Poverty Hill" during the evening to see El Paso's first night football game at reduced prices. The field was lighted perfectly and every play could be seen without difficulty.

The Bengals were in top form, and while the Cubs put up a stiff battle, the young charges of Coaches Ed "Doodlebug" Wafer and "Kewpie" Clyde Wafer were never in real danger.

"Nig" Osborne, co-captain of the Tigers, grabbed the lion's share of the honors during the evening, crashing through the Cub line and skirting the ends for consistent gains.

The Tigers as usual, were offering splendid interference and "Wee Willie" Schreffler, at quarter, handled the team capably in addition to turning in several flashy runs.

By whitewashing the Cubs the Tigers managed to keep their slate clean this year, as no team has yet succeeded in scoring on them.

"Koots" Simon, Tiger half, started the fireworks with a neat 48-yard gain on a "cut back" play soon after the first quarter was under way, being caught by the Alpine safety man after he had placed the ball within striking distance of the goal.

BULLDOGS PLAY AWAY FROM HOME

With the first district game just in sight, the Ranger Bulldogs will meet the Winters high school eleven Thursday in the final game before the "game that counts" with Eastland Friday week.

While other teams in the Oil Belt are engaged in hard games—one a conference struggle and the other an inter-sectional affair—the Bulldogs will go to foreign territory to whip into shape for the first conference tilt.

A hard week of scrimmage with the junior college team has placed the Bulldog aggregation in better shape than heretofore. The members of the squad have gone through a stiff week's practice since the Central-Ranger game last Friday and are ready for the final invasion of Class B territory.

Coach Curtis said last week that due to the number of games in the Oil Belt this week, including the Breckenridge-Eastland, and the Cisco-El Paso and the Simmons-Texas Christian University games, his crew would remain idle over the week-end. He decided, however, that one more dash away from home wouldn't hurt the Bulldogs and he matched the game with the Winters team.

This game will give several of the prospective Bulldogs a second, and even a third, baptism of fire, will put too a fine edge on those who have already cinched places on the team, and will bring out the results of a week's workout since the Central game, in which the Bulldogs showed up unfavorably without the aid of their captain, Garland Hinman, who was out part of the game.

The starting lineup which Curtis will launch against the Winters team will be practically the same as in other games: Whitehall and Hamilton, halves; G. Hinman, full; Hammett, quarter; Mills and Bowden, ends; Bumpers and Mitchell, guards; T. Hinman and Love or Blackmond, tackles and Bohannon, center.

The Winters bunch is strong in its circle and is expected to give the class A representation a fight on its home territory.

The team will leave here Thursday morning. The game will start about 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

Fast Backfield to Start Saturday in Game With Simmons

FORT WORTH.—Hard scrimmage was on the program for the Texas Christian University Frogs the first part of this week. Coach Matty Bell is driving his charges through long hours of practice, whipping his team into shape for their game Saturday with the Simmons Cowboys at Breckenridge.

Reports from the Abilene camp show that the West Texas team will have one of the strongest combinations in years and with Coach Frank Bridges, former Baylor mentor, dictating plays and defenses, it is certain that the Purple will have a merry battle.

Emerging from their 21-0 victory over the strong Daniel Baker Hill Billies, the Frogs are anything but over-confident. The first quarter play of the Christians last Saturday was disquieting to Frog fans, and Coaches Matty Bell and Ed Kubale will put in some hard licks during the practice periods this week to iron out some of the difficulties.

There is still a great indecision as to who will start for the Frogs. Matty has several men for each position, and in most cases it is a toss-up as to which one will get the first call. It is probable that he will start his "fast" backfield, sacrificing some weight to speed and passing ability.

Hooks and Slides

Fast Company for Gene Dr. James A. Babbitt, an eminent eastern educator at Haverford College, is also one of the best authorities on athletics in his section.

He gave a talk recently in New York at a gathering of football directors, coaches and officials and he said that there were three men he considered to be outstanding leaders in achievement, forces for good and moral influences for the young.

The three highly cited personages were Colonel Lindbergh, Commander Byrd and Gene Tunney. Their virtues, he said, were courage, mastery of their profession and all the requisites of a true gentleman.

Me and Lindbergh Tunney probably would take a bow right along with Lindbergh and Byrd. In conversation while he was training at Spetacular for the Heeneey fight he paralleled his own place before the public with that of Lindbergh.

"The big difference between Lindbergh and me," he said on one occasion, "is that Lindbergh had sense enough to keep his mouth shut, and I seem to have made myself misunderstood by talking."

Tough for Tex Tex Rickard found himself in a tough spot recently when, at the same moment, he had to act as host to Jack Dempsey and Jimmy Bronson when they happened to drop in to pay their respects.

Dempsey has a violent hatred for Bronson, who acted as Tunney's master mind in his two fights with Dempsey. And Bronson, with nothing but mischief in mind, has played on the sensitive spot in the hide of the former champion.

Single Rooms Rickard had a spot Dempsey in his private office and entertain Bronson in another room. Bronson knew what was up and deliberately prolonged his visit so that Dempsey had to go out a back door when he was leaving.

Dempsey blames Bronson for all his trouble about the war business. Bronson was handling Bob Martin at the time. It was good publicity for Bronson to emphasize that his man was a soldier, but Dempsey always has thought that it was personal malice against him.

What Else Had She to Hurl. Umps Guthrie had a little situation on his hand in a recent game between the Yankees and the White Sox in Chicago.

Metzler gave him an argument about a decision and he had to give him the gate. The fans didn't like it and gave him the berry.

One daintily dressed woman in a box seat was so infuriated that she arose in her wrath, pulled off one of her shoes and heaved it at the official.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—Fordham is the "Fighting Irish" football team of New York. . . . And three of the nobles on the team this year are named Piculewuz, Wysniewski and Stuscavage. . . . And Wysniewski is six feet seven inches high. . . . And Pennsylvania has a great charger in the backfield named Gentle. . . . Der Colonel Chake Ruppert will get a cut of 410,000 paid admissions that will see nine football games in his stadium this fall. . . . Larry Lajoie recently won the golf championship at his club in Cleveland. . . . With a snappy 76. . . . Alderman John Coughlin of Chi spurned an offer of $125,000 for his Roguish Eye. . . . And he still roars that his Roguish Eye was jobbed out of the Futurity. . . . But refuses to say anything about it. . . . Umps Glesel used to be a police reporter on an Indianapolis paper. And Umps Jorda overruled Umps Rigler on a called strike in a recent National League game.

Sports Matter

If ever two ball clubs deserved their share of the rich rewards of the world series, this year's contenders fill the bill.

After surviving two of the greatest pennant races in the history of baseball which carried them, crippled and exhausted, into the final week of September before they won out, the series participants are entitled to what they will receive.

In series of the past, as when the New York Yankees romped in with a nineteen game lead last year and took their time about preparing for the games which found their National League opponents worn out from a stretch fight, it has seemed to some as though the players hardly earned their money.

Miller Huggins' 1927 club had such a walk-away that it was able to rest and "point" for the world series weeks in advance. The Pittsburgh Pirates, on the other hand, were carried right down to the wire by their rivals for the National League flag, and entered the post-season fray in no shape to do their best.

No Easy Time "A fighting ball club" we said of the Corsairs, ignoring the fact that they had left their fight behind them on the playing fields of the senior circuit and were ripe for the thorough beating administered by the Yankees.

This year, neither contender in the series has had anything like an easy time during September. In mid-season, it looked as though the Yankees were going to coast home a dozen games out in front, instead of which they slumped and lost a 13-1-2 game lead to the Philadelphia Athletics and had to fight to the last week to get the lead back at all.

There has been little advantage either way as far as the 1928 series is concerned, for the National League champions only won out after one of the closest races in history, a race which left them and the runners-up practically worn out. But while the second place team could sit back and enjoy its share of the proceeds, at any rate, the pennant winners had to face the Yankees at New York within a few days.

Lapses Are Expected The slump into which Babe Ruth most unexpectedly fell last summer had an important bearing on the pennant race, in that it enabled the Athletics to overtake and pass the Yanks early in September.

The decline of Mr. Ruth may also have an important bearing upon the outcome of the world series. Both clubs are so exhausted that it would only require a few home run slams such as the Babe delivered on occasions to cause the opposition collapse.

When the Cards and Yanks met in the world series of 1926, the Babe's bat kept the American League champions in the running. One sunny afternoon at St. Louis Ruth walloped three homers out of Sportsman's park, establishing a post season record.

As a result of the strain of the two pennant races, ragged fielding and occasional mental lapses may be expected in the present world series. The occasion is ripe for some players or the "iron man" type, with nerves of steel, to distinguish himself while his more temperamental teammates are cracking.

Schissler Won't Have a Captain For His Team

The Oregon Aggies, since the advent of Paul J. Schissler as head coach, have not had a regularly-elected captain of the football team and this practice won't be broken this year. Coach Schissler, above, appoints one of the seniors of the team a captain for each game. He is afraid that college politics might enter into electing a captain as it has at many other schools with the direct result that the eleven would suffer.

Family Menu

BY SISTER MARY
BREAKFAST — Whole wheat cereal cooked with raisins, cream, creamed spinach on toast, apple sauce, cinnamon toast, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON — Tomatoes filled with eggs, prune bread, poor man's pudding, milk, tea.
DINNER — Cream of mushroom soup, croquettes, chicken croquettes, scalloped sweet potatoes and apples, lima beans, pumpkin pie, milk, coffee.

A cream soup is suggested for this dinner menu because the meat course is light. However, the cream soup and pumpkin pie make up for the light croquettes and bring the meal into balance. Raw carrot straws and crisp celery could be served to advantage on occasions to cause the opposition collapse.

Pumpkin Pie One cup sifted pumpkin, 3-4 cup brown sugar, 1 tablespoon flour, 1-2 teaspoon ginger, 1-2 teaspoon cinnamon, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1 egg, 2 cups milk.
Pastry: 3-4 cup flour, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1-4 teaspoon baking powder, 4 tablespoons lard, 2 tablespoons cold water.

Mix and sift flour, salt and baking powder. Rub in lard with tips of fingers or pastry blender. Add water, cutting in with a knife.

Are You Ready When your Children Cry for it

BABY has little upsets at times. All your care cannot prevent them. But you can be prepared. Then you can do what any experienced nurse would do—what most physicians would tell you to do—give a few drops of plain Castoria. No sooner done than Baby is soothed; relief is a matter of moments. Yet you have eased your child without use of a single doubtful drug; Castoria is a vegetable product. So it's safe to use as often as an infant has any little pain you cannot pat away. And it's always ready for the crueler pangs of colic, or constipation, or diarrhea which must be checked without delay. Twenty-five million bottles were bought last year.

Fletcher's CASTORIA

Roll on a slightly floured molding board into a sheet between 1-8 and 1-4 inch thick. Fit in pan and crimp edge.

The pumpkin should be cooked until dry before rubbing through colander. Add sugar, flour, salt and spices to pumpkin and mix thoroughly. Beat egg well and add milk to first mixture. Mix well and turn into prepared pie pan. Bake in a hot oven for 10 minutes, reduce heat and bake 50 minutes longer. About 375 degrees F. is a good temperature for long slow baking.

Buffs Win Dixie Series, Defeating Birmingham, 5 to 1

Special to the Telegram
BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 4.—By defeating the Birmingham Barons, Southern League pennant winners, Wednesday, the Houston Buffs, Texas League pennant winners, captured the 1928 Dixie Series championship. The score was 5 to 1, giving the Buffs four games of the series. The Barons took the first two and the Buffs took the next four. Barnes and Lindsey pitched for the Buffs, Wells and Judd for the Barons.

Frank Barnes, Houston south-paw, who was called upon to do a quick rescue in the first inning, when two of the first three Barons to face Lindsey got hits, completely stopped the Barons until the ninth, when Jimmy Johnson hit a home run for the lone Birmingham score.

Cheaney

Cheaney is getting a little rain just now that will be beneficial to peanuts and turpentine patches and for grain sowing. There is more grain than usual being planted around Cheaney.

Cheaney had two Sunday school classes and two sermons last Sunday. Brother Skaggs preached at 11 o'clock and was followed by Brother Maddox. They preached on the same subject. All went home well satisfied.

A good many attended the fair at Eastland Thursday, Friday and Saturday and most all pronounced it a grand fair. Cheaney won many places and failed on many places, so we think it right to live and let live. We are most all determined to try again next year. If the fair managers will just put the rural communities in a bunch to themselves, we would all enjoy it much better. They should give us judges from rural communities. We just can't compete with the cities.

AVIGNON.—The municipality of Avignon proved today that, in France at least, tradition is stronger than progress.

Navigating companies operating barges on the Rhone asked that the famous Saint Benezet bridge here, almost as well known in song and history as London bridge, be torn down because it was a hindrance to ships.

The municipal council met and decided that the bridge was a national monument and the ships must get under it the best they could. So French children in their nursery songs will continue to repeat:

"On the bridge of Avignon, All the folks dance round and round."

Cooking Expert To Explain Science of Cooking Poultry

"In choosing poultry, select those that are fresh and fat and the surest way to determine whether they are young is to try the skin under the leg or wing," says Mrs. Myra Dougan, domestic science expert, who will conduct the Eastland Telegram cooking school here starting Oct. 15th at the City Hall.

"If it is easily broken," Mrs. Dougan continued, "it is young. If the joint yields readily it is tender. When poultry is young the skin is thin and tender, the legs smooth, the breast fat. Old turkeys have long hairs and the flesh is purplish where it shows under the skin on the legs and back. About March they deteriorate in quality.

"Young ducks and geese are plump, with light, semi-transparent fat, soft breastbone, tender flesh, leg-joints which will break by the weight of the bird, flesh-colored and brittle beaks, and windpipes that break when pressed between the thumb and forefinger. They are best in fall and winter. "Young pigeons have light red flesh upon the breast, and full fresh colored legs; when the legs are thin, the breast very dark, the birds are old. "Fine game birds are always heavy for their size; the flesh of the breast is firm and plump and the skin clear; and if a few feathers be plucked from the inside of the leg and around the vent, the flesh of freshly killed birds will be fat and fresh colored; if it is dark and discolored, the game has been hung for a long time. The wings of good ducks, geese, pheasants and woodcock are tender to the touch. The tips of the long wing feathers of partridges are pointed in young birds and round in old ones. Quail, snipe and small birds should have full, tender breasts.

"Poultry should never be cooked until six or eight hours after it has been killed, but it should be picked and drawn as soon as possible. Plunge it in a pot of scald-

In Strange Triangle

Here are the principal figures in West Virginia's strange legal triangle in which a man's life is at stake. At right, Clyde Beale, convicted by a jury of murder, whom Judge R. D. Bailey (upper left) fears may be innocent and refuses to sentence to death unless Governor Howard M. Gore (lower left) will agree to commute the death sentence to life imprisonment. Governor Gore is silent.

By NEA Service. PINEVILLE, W. Va.—Clyde Beale has been convicted of murder in the first degree, the penalty for which is death.

Yet in all West Virginia no one is fighting harder to keep him from being electrocuted than Circuit Judge R. D. Bailey, the official who, under the law, must sentence him to the electric chair. Declaring that "the cruel and diabolical destruction of this human life" would be more than he could bear, Judge Bailey declares he will never pronounce sentence on Beale. It may be necessary for him to resign from the bench to avoid it.

As a result, one of the strangest tangles in the state's legal history is presented.

Convicted 18 Months Ago. Beale was convicted some 18 months ago of the murder of Mrs. Rissie Perdue here. A change of venue was obtained and he was tried in Williamson, with Judge Bailey presiding. He was quickly convicted and sentenced, by Judge Bailey, to death. An appeal for a new trial was denied at the time.

A little later, however, Beale succeeded in carrying his case before the state supreme court, winning a stay of execution. This brought a delay of over a year. Not long ago the supreme court overruled his request for a new trial and sent the case back to Judge Bailey. Under the law, Beale had to be re-sentenced because the stay of execution had nullified the old death sentence.

In the meantime, however, Judge Bailey had been pondering the evidence on which Beale had been convicted. It seemed to him, he says, that the facts presented to the jury were, in the light of reflection, "beyond reason." In addition, new evidence came to him. One of the state's leading witnesses, he says, virtually admitted that she had perjured herself at the trial.

Judge Bailey, accordingly, became convinced that Beale should not be sentenced to the electric chair. "But what could he do? He could not grant a new trial at this date; the supreme court had already passed on that, and had remanded the case back to him for formal re-sentence.

So, a few months ago, Beale appeared before Judge Bailey—and the judge sentenced him to 99 years in prison. "That might have ended it. But prosecuting attorney Lafe B. Chafin did not share Judge Bailey's views about Beale's possible innocence. He pointed out that when a West Virginia jury votes a first degree murder conviction and does not recommend mercy, the death sentence is mandatory and the judge has no option. So the prosecutor went to the state supreme court and asked a mandamus writ to compel Judge Bailey to pronounce the death sentence.

Judge Bailey told the court what he had learned about the case since the trial ended. The court, however, confined itself to the question of law involved, and the other day it ordered Judge Bailey to bring Beale before him and sentence him to death.

And Judge Bailey says he will never do it.

If he were sure that Governor Howard M. Gore would commute Beale's sentence to life imprisonment, he says, he would impose the sentence. But Governor Gore is maintaining silence. The only other courses open to Judge Bailey are: to send Beale to the electric chair, or to resign from the bench.

He says he will resign, if necessary, to avoid passing the death sentence. Beale is scheduled to come before him in November.

Prisoner Carried Jail Key. Beale's case has been unusual from the start. He and a companion, Levi

Layne, were arrested for the murder of Mrs. Perdue, whose body was found in Tug river. Beale was transferred to Williamson for trial. Afterward, while his case was before the supreme court, he was brought to Pineville.

At the Pineville jail Beale was treated more like a guest than a condemned murderer. For months he was allowed to go and come as he pleased, even carrying a key to the jail so that he could let himself in and out when he chose. He kept faith with the authorities, spending every night in his cell and making no effort to run away, although friends offered to advance him money for train fare. When the supreme court killed his last chance for a new trial and he was ordered back to jail at Williamson, Beale went there alone and unattended, reporting promptly to the Williamson authorities for imprisonment.

Beale often declared that he would never be electrocuted.

"God in his mercy would not let an innocent man be executed," he used to say. "If the lies that were sworn against me at my trial were true, I would want God to take my life. But there is a just God, and he can't help but save me."

Levi Layne, Beale's alleged partner in crime, is due to go to trial next month.

More Publicity, But Less Pay for Women Attorneys

DALLAS, Oct. 3.—The disadvantages to a woman in the active practice of law far outweigh the advantages, according to Mrs. Sarah C. Menezes, assistant United States district attorney.

If a woman would be successful with a career she must be able and willing to fight her own battles with those who would impose upon her because she is a woman, she told members of the Dallas Women's Law Study club.

"You will find that the biggest men are the most willing to accept you, and the most gracious," Mrs. Menezes said. "It is the mental pee-wee, the two-by-four man who will not accept you."

Women lawyers have ceased to be a novelty, she said.

"That is a blessing, although even at the present time, the woman receives more publicity than the man and less pay for the same work," she added.

Every man, as well as every woman, should have a fair understanding of the structure of the United States government, Mrs. Menezes said. This understanding should include what efforts are necessary before an amendment to the constitution can be nullified, what powers states have, what laws congress can and cannot pass, and what the constitution provides.

BROWN VOTES ROAD BONDS

BROWNWOOD, Oct. 3.—The Brown county road bond election here Monday gave a majority of 4,181 for to 1,423 against a bond issue of $1,650,000 for paved

Federal and state aid will about double the road money.

When New York relaxes it is not so unlike the small town. In the rear of one of Fifth Avenue's most fashionable apartment the other day I saw two waiters and a bus boy pitching horseshoes. That in itself perhaps isn't so bad, but where did they get the horseshoes?

Mild enough for anybody... and yet THEY SATISFY*

*THINK what that means: "Mild enough for anybody... and yet they satisfy!" Mild—yes. But something more—a quality of leaf, a skill of blending, that brings out the natural taste and goodness of the tobacco themselves.

Tobacco goodness, and without over-sweetening; mildness with character—that's the Chesterfield difference. And it's the most important difference any cigarette could offer!
