CITIZENS GO TO FLATWOOD TONIGHT

Endurance Fliers Encouraged By Bonus Raise

Plane Has Now Been Aloft For Nearly 3 Weeks

addition of $60 Per Hour May Be Factor Which Will Keep Them Flying For Many Days Yet.

CHICAGO, July 2—Activities among the ground crew and officials as the "City of Chicago" ended its 502nd hour at 10 p. m. C. D. T. did not indicate that the Hunters had made any decision to come down within the next few hours at least.

CHICAGO, July 2—The Hunter others now are being paid at the rate of $1401.60 a year for keeping the "City of Chicago" in the air.

Their current earnings were increased today from the $100 an hour that has been paid them by oil company since they broke an endurance record last Sunday $160 an hour. The dollar-a-minute increase came from a mail concern and prompted Al Hunter, one of the others attending to the refueling of the job, to say: "It may be a long time. I don't know how long and Kenneth will not let it up there, but when they figure out that total salary may decide to stay in the air till their beards get tangled in the controls—and Walt and I'll be glad to help them."

CHICAGO, July 2—John and Kenneth Hunter will broadcast from their endurance plane City of Chicago twice daily as long as they stay up, it was announced today by the Columbia broadcasting system. They will be on the air at 12 noon and 6 p. m. D. T. talks over a nation-wide hookup of stations through a microphone lowered to them from an army bomber plane.

ST. LOUIS, July 2—Dale "Red" Jackson and Forest O'Brien are going forward with their plans to extend their endurance record established here last summer, and taken last Sunday by the Hunter others in their plane, "The City of Chicago."

A barograph for installation in the St. Louis plane has been ordered from Washington by the National Aeronautic Association, it is learned here today.

Jackson and O'Brien announced several days ago that they planned "take-off" from Lambert-St. Louis Field here July 13, in their attempt to recapture the record.

By United Press
HOUSTON, Tex., July 2—Mrs. E. Chandler, wife of a steamship agent, was charged with assault to injure her husband, and Miss Ruth Higgins, 23, was in a hospital with a bullet hole through her chest following an affray at a filling station here yesterday afternoon.

Firecracker Diet Does Not Agree With Dallas Boy

DALLAS, Tex., July 2—Louis Fordley, 9, had seen the carnival man eat fire, so he thought a firecracker wouldn't be bad for breakfast, especially since the Fourth of July is so close at hand. He lighted a "baby giant" and put it in his mouth. The explosion staggered him. Emergency hospital doctors treated powder burns on his face and said he had three loosened teeth.

Flatwood Now Has Two Of Best Community Clubs

Flatwood is one of the most progressive of the many rural communities in the county, not only in reference to the clubs that are doing fine work, but the community is also one of the first to have a community fair and to have one every year since these events were first staged in the county. There are two fine clubs in Flatwood. The boys' and girls' 4-H Club is one of the most active and progressive in the county and the Home Demonstration Club, in which the women of the community are members, has also done splendid work during the several years that it has been operating. Flatwood is to have a community fair again this year, the date having been set for September 18.

Son Shoots And Kills His Father

SALLISAW, Okla., July 2—E. Denton, 53-year-old farmer, was dead today because he whipped his son.

County officers investigated the eye witness account of James Williams who said the shooting "may have been justified." William said the son, Elijah, Jr., shot his father after he had been beaten "unmercifully." County Attorney R. O. Ingle said today.

No charges will be filed and the boy will not be held, Ingle said. "I did the only thing I knew to do and feel greatly relieved for we all have been living in fear," Eugene said. Two younger brothers and a sister told the same story of the shooting.

Father and mother separated and father had been mean with whisky since that time, the boy told the county attorney. "He started whipping me when I refused to set him more whisky. I couldn't stand it any longer and went to the house and got a gun with which I shot him."

TANNER'S DOG WAS POISONED

The dog was found in the driveway where it had died of poisoning from strychnine. It was said this morning that several dogs had been poisoned in Eastland within the past few days.

Blind 30 Years, Sees Wife Again

His sight began to return gradually a few days ago.

Lax Living Among Women Was Evangelist's Subject Today

Mrs. R. L. Flowers spoke to a large crowd of women this morning at 9 o'clock in the morning at a revival now being conducted at the Methodist church. She said: "Has there ever been such a day in this country as we now witness. Irreverence, graft, racial hatred, undisciplined youth, lax living among women—these are some of the things that should startle us into doing some wise thinking and sane living. Only vicious women of the streets were ever seen drunk a dozen years ago. Think today, scolded decent women are seen drunk and drinking. A dozen years ago a woman to step from the narrow path of living was forever more discarded. Today she can do anything she chooses and no stigma of shame is attached to it. One of the first signs of decay in a nation is her women. Read history and find out what happened to Rome before her decline. No nation can long endure when her women lose their great ideal of living."

Rain Falls Over East Texas Area

Opportunity Again Knocks For Us

(An Editorial)

The local post of the American Legion has secured a government emergency landing field consisting of 115 acres near the city limits of Eastland, which the government will light, grade, mark and maintain. But in order for this field to be of greatest benefit to Eastland it will have to be taken over by the Legion, the city or some other public spirited organization as the government will permit only government or mail planes to land here except in cases of emergency.

The Legion has been informed that should it see its way clear to operate the Eastland airport it will be designated as a regular landing field by two passenger lines which will take on and discharge passengers who are going to other towns in this vicinity. And it is possible that other lines may use the Eastland field in the near future.

There is no need to offer proof of the value of such an airport to Eastland. Any citizen who does not realize the benefits to be derived by the town from such an airport is so far behind the times that it would be useless to try to explain to him. The thing now before us is that we must help the Legion to take over the airport and to do so we must raise $30,000. The government is going to spend more than $12,000 on the field, and since as many contracts as possible will be let locally, more than the $3,000 needed will be re-spent right here in Eastland for labor and in contracts.

The only thing that should be considered now is how quickly we can raise the cash—not can we raise it. It must be raised.

"We have trailed long enough—let's lead from here on."

Reward Offered For Slayer Of Mesquite Man

DALLAS, Tex., July 2—Seven Mexicans were being held in the Dallas county jail this morning while county officers continued their roundup in "Little Mexico," hopeful of finding the four men who late yesterday shot and killed Constable J. T. Davis at Mesquite, near here. Sheriff Hal Hood said the roundup would continue until information leading to the arrest of the right Mexicans is obtained. It is possible some of those held may have been implicated, it is said. Constable Davis was disarmed and shot through the heart by the Mexicans when he and deputy Constable T. Gardner Jones arrested the quartet in the act of stripping an automobile. The Mexicans at first quietly submitted to arrest, but when they were put in an automobile they suddenly turned up on their captors, disarmed them and killed Davis. Jones was powder burned when a pistol was fired near his face, and severely beaten by the Mexicans. The quartet then fled toward Dallas. Jones ran to a farm house to a telephone and sounded the alarm. Jones said he can identify all four of the Mexicans if they are apprehended.

The first shot hit him, and he fell to the ground. The rest of the shots missed, and he grabbed the gun while the neighbor was attempting to re-load it.

Police Battle With Gangsters On Busy Street

One Innocent Bystander Is Killed in Exchange of Shots. Gangsters Escape in Smoke Screen.

CHICAGO, July 2—Gangland was one up today in its battle with police for supremacy in the city of Chicago. Choosing the world's best light-thoroughfare, State Street, as their battle ground, gunmen late last night attacked a police squad car in which a notorious gangster leader was being escorted across the loop. They exchanged volleys of shots with the officers, threw hundreds of passersby into a panic, killed one innocent bystander and wounded another, and escaped through a dense smoke screen fired from the exhaust of their auto. Jack Zuta, notorious member of the Moran-Aiello north side gang, apparently was the target of the (Continued on Page 2)

The Okra ice cream supper was a decided success from every standpoint and the people of Eastland were as well pleased with the outcome as were the citizens of the Okra community. It is expected that the Flatwood supper will be more of a financial success as well as drawing a larger crowd from Eastland.

Editorials All Hail the Glorious Fourth

All hail the glorious Fourth, Independence Day of the greatest republic that the hand and brain of man ever created.

It is going to be a big day in Texas. All the candidates for high place and scrub place with a salary attached, are scheduled to turn loose the scales and the standards and tell the story of how the patriots of old drove the minions of foreign despots into the Atlantic and made this republic 'the land of the free and the home of the brave'.

Low and behold, just the other day 'The Wasp of Texas Politics' grew weary of waiting for Lynch, who is his political idol, to make a declaration and he jumped from his own handcar to the Thomas B. Love freight train.

Lynch was drafted; 'The Wasp' stepped aside and waited and then waited again. Then he turned his famous political somersault and landed on the knees of Sen. Love.

It is said Texas has a population of 6,000,000 men and women and boys and girls and babes in the cradle and nondescripts who are unclassified. Take a day off. Good times are coming.

There are men who say that it has lost its virility and that the constitution is a dead letter. If so, it is time to restore virility to the Declaration of Independence and to make the constitution the guiding torch of American freedom.

two men who started the gun battle.

Zuta and three companions, one of them a girl, had just been released on bond after being held for 24 hours for questioning in the case of Alfred 'Jake' Lingle, Chicago Tribune reporter who was murdered in a subway three weeks ago last Monday.

Zuta, Solly Vision, Albert Bratz and Leona Bernstein, all arrested in a raid on Moran gang headquarters, were released from jail at 10:25 last night, C. D. T. They obtained their release under bond through a court order that they could not be held longer than 24 hours without booking.

As they started to leave the detective bureau, Zuta asked for a police escort across the loop, explaining that once he and his companions reached their own north side they would be safe, but that he feared he never could get across the loop alive if they went alone.

Lieut. George Barker offered to act as escort and the four got into his sedan. Vision sitting beside Barker, while Zuta huddled between Bratz and the girl in the rear seat.

As the car rolled along State Street at about 15 miles an hour, a dark blue sedan swung from behind, drew alongside and a tall man stepped to the running board, drew a pistol from a shoulder holster and began firing. Seven bullets embedded themselves in Barker's car before he could stop it, jump to the street, draw his gun and begin returning the gangster's fire.

expended $6,096.41 of the $8,000 that may be lawfully spent in the first stage of the race.

His contributions have also been greatest, totaling $6,871. The largest single contribution is from E. J. Dunningham through Mel Davis and Mrs. Mel Davis contributed $500 each.

The envelope in which Small's report was received shows a post-office registry mark at Fort Worth on July 1. The communication inside is dated 7 3 28. The election law says such reports must be filed not less than 25 days prior to the date of the election.

The American Legion airport drive started off this morning with a bang, more than $600 being raised in the first hour of the campaign.

A great number of the solicitors did not report this morning because of pressing business, and these are expected to report later in the day to begin working on the airport fund.

Many of the citizens of the town have no doubt been overlooked by those who made out the budget on which the solicitors will work. Those who have not been called upon to donate funds are requested to bring their contribution to 522 Texas State Bank building and not wait until the committee calls on them.

Francisco Carpio, 18, lost his life in the melee, said to have been led by family trouble. Juan Hernandez, 25, is critically hurt. The Mexican held in jail refused to give his name.

A lot of people get a great "kick" out of seeing others rapped in this column. "Pour it on em," they say. But just wait until we have an occasion to lift about a quarter's worth of their hide and they'll sing a different tune.

Dr. and Mrs. H. B. Tanner had a Fox Terrier which had been their pet for many years and of which they were very fond. Some one poisoned the dog. If there is a corner in hell that is hotter than all of the rest of the place combined the person who would torture dumb brutes as this dog was tortured should be placed in that corner.

Suppose we get the local American Legion post to tackle the proposition of ridding Eastland of that awful odor one experiences as he enters or leaves the city to the east.

Have't seen any preparations being made for a "clean-up" campaign in Eastland.

We can't see any excuse for complaining about the hot weather. It gets this way about this time of year and we knew it was coming.

Texas Leads U. S. In Production Of Gas-Carbon Black

Texas now leads the United States in production of carbon black, with 62 per cent of the country's total, and in several of the gas fields of the state are new carbon black plants turning out a large part of the 300,000,000 pounds now annually produced from natural gas.

feet of gas are burned every day in the production of carbon black. Formerly, practically two-thirds of this huge amount of gas was wasted, for though useful, it was sometimes merely a troublesome element incident to getting oil out of a well.

Carbon black is absolutely essential in producing an ink which will dry almost instantly, for use on high-speed presses printing newspapers and other large circulation periodicals.

Theoretically, it is possible to extract 35 pounds of carbon black from 1,000 cubic feet of natural gas, but the best that the industry has been able to do to date is an average of 1.4 pounds, and unless research, costing thousands of dollars, has not yet shown a way to increase the yield without giving a product which has few of the desirable physical and chemical properties of true carbon black.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

With Grant, beautiful artist's shares her Greenwich Village apartment with Chummy, a young girl whose mind was a blank ever since her Alan Steyne, disappeared years ago. Steyne returns, Chummy fails to recognize him, and he and Judith fall in love. He tells Judith he never loved Chummy, but when Chummy's memory finally returns he recognizes him and feels in bound to ask her to marry Judith, to get out of their apartment. Judith accepts the offer of rich Gideon, who is infatuated with her, to become a star in a show he is to promote, and studying dancing. Bastien, a young artist who loves Judith, tells Steyne she is "getting Gideon's clutches," and Steyne warns her against him; but she tells him to mind his own business.

Alan he disappointed. Are you din- nywhere? Mr. Gideon is calling for ere at eight o'clock." hen come to dinner at least, dy could hardly refuse. She sed quickly, and when Alan came to fetch them she was ready. She had managed to buy herself a new dress of rich red gold, with a hint of bronze in it. It matched her hair and subdued the paint on her face—such a wonderfully eager little face!

The dinner at the Malaya was rather a silent affair. Chummy had explained to Steyne that Judy had already accepted an invitation from Bruce Gideon. Alan made no comment.

There was a slight restraint upon them. Judy and Alan had not met since the day when he had ventured his ill-timed warning. Chummy was frankly disappointed, and already looked upon the evening as a failure, because it had been planned to give Judy pleasure.

Neither of the girls wanted to eat. Steyne was hungry, having been for a tramp in the country after several days of unsuccessful effort at the art school. His appetite was almost the only topic of conversation. Judy joked about it, and Chummy gently encouraged him to eat. Over the coffee they grew more gay, and Judy forgot the time. She started up at a quarter to eight.

"My, I shall be late! I must get back!"

Steyne rose, too, and bent and whispered something to Chummy.

"Yes, that's a splendid idea," she exclaimed. "Why didn't I think of it before? I'll stay here for a minute or two, Alan, and then I'll walk over to the theater. It's only a few steps. It's not worth while my coming all the way back."

Steyne assented and paid the bill. Then he followed Judy out of the restaurant.

"I'll drive you back, if I may," he said. "I'm going back to see if Clara Jenks is at home and would like to see the show. It's a pity to waste our third seat."

"Oh, she'll love it!" Judy cried. "I do hope she's there!"

In the cab they hardly spoke. Judy felt a little frozen by Alan's attitude. His voice was the essence of polite friendliness. She concluded that she had offended him beyond pardon the other day. In deed, she had been very rude and flippant; but then, he shouldn't have interfered with her.

He asked her how she was getting on, and she said, "Very well." She asked him what he was painting, and he told her he had again come to the conclusion that he couldn't paint at all. He was thinking of giving it up and going in for farming.

Judy said she was looking forward to the fancy dress ball at the Lemon Grove, 10 days from that very day. It was to be a real artists' and models' ball, like the famous Julian's ball in Paris. What was he going to wear?

He didn't know. What was she going to wear?

Oh, she wasn't sure, but a Columbine was the cheapest, she thought. She had quite decided that Chummy ought to go as Diana. That was what everybody who knew her liked her to, Chummy thought the costume too scanty, but Judy was trying to persuade her.

She saw Alan frown slightly, and she rejoiced bitterly, thinking she had shocked him. The more she could shock him the better for everybody.

Gideon's big car was at the door, waiting for the party. The outer door was still open, and he was standing just inside, smoking a cigar. There was no help for it. Judy had to introduce the two men with a brief explanation. Then she turned to Alan.

"If you like, I'll run up and find out about Clara. I could tell her to get dressed as she can, and I could help her."

Before he could demur she was gone.

Gideon turned to Alan with a smile, and offered him a cigar, which the young man declined on the plea that he was going over to the theatre as soon as Miss Jenks came down.

"You may as well dismiss your taxi, then," suggested Gideon. "We'll all go together."

Again Steyne declined with cool politeness. Miss Jenks might not be ready immediately, and he knew Miss Grant did not want to lose a moment of the ballet.

"You're engaged to Miss Morley, aren't you?" was Gideon's next question. He adopted a slightly patronizing air, with which mingled a smothered hostility that must have been instinctive. "You were away when I met vious frigidity. "I trust you forgave Miss Morley for her rudeness, Mr. Gideon," he said. "Perhaps you did not know at the time that she was not responsible for what she said."

"Of course, I thought nothing of it," replied the rich man, chuckling. "I was vastly amused. It's only too true. I know I'm no Apollo. I admired Miss Morley immensely, and was fascinated by her romantic story. You must allow me to say how glad I am that it is to have a happy ending."

"Thank you very much," replied the young man, with an inward groan.

Just then Judy ran down to say that Clara was overcome with joy and would be down directly. The chauffeur opened the door of Gideon's car. Judy gave Alan a smile and disappeared into the luxurious interior. For a moment he saw her bright hair and vivid lips against dark cushions. Gideon followed her, with a slightly effusive farewell.

As Alan stood and watched the car glide away, a deadly hatred of Bruce Gideon and a conviction of his own evil purpose were born in his heart.

In the vestibule of the opera house, after the performance, Steyne saw Judy again. She looked half wild with excitement; her eyes had the amethyst sparkle in them that meant extreme elation. Alan had seen her look like that before, when she had sat in a box at the musicale with him, and they had seemed to be the only people in the world.

He knew that she would not be responsible for what she did in that mood. The wonderful dancing had gone to her head. She was living, for the time, in another world. He registered a vow that she should not leave the opera house alone with Bruce Gideon.

In the crowd he became separated a little from Chummy and Clara Jenks. He looked back and told Clarissa, by a series of signs, that he saw Judy and was going to fetch her, so that they might all go to the Cafe Turc together. Chummy nodded assent.

When he did find Judy, she was alone. She seemed to be waiting. Most of the crowd had passed on.

"Come along, will you, to the cafe?" he asked her. He did not know how harsh and dictatorial his voice was. The look of her filled him with despair. "Clara and Chummy are at the door."

"Oh, thank you," she said, "but I am waiting for Mr. Gideon."

"Where is he?"

"Talking to his sister, Madame de Toros."

"Why are you not talking to her, too?"

"I don't know her."

Steyne's look burned into her brain. Her pride became a sort of fury.

"And I won't come to the cafe, thanks!"

"Yes, you will," said Alan. "Clarissa wants you to come along."

"Another time, then, thanks." Judy's voice was contemptuous. "I am waiting for Mr. Gideon."

"Judy, you'll come with us, please!" He looked round and saw the rich man's bulky form coming toward them. Gideon was smiling. The gross lines of his face and the pin points of his cruel little eyes made the young man feel sick. "You'll come with us, Judy," he said again in a hoarse whisper, and his mouth set itself into a line of inflexible determination.

LIQUEFIED PETROLEUM GASES MAKE TREMENDOUS INCREASES

Marketed production of liquefied petroleum gases during 1929 reached a total of 9,525,689 gallons, an increase of 120 per cent over the 4,522,899 gallons marketed during 1928, according to the United States bureau of mines, department of commerce, following the completion of a survey conducted by E. B. Swanson, acting chief petroleum economist, through which the first quantitative data on this recent development in the petroleum industry have been assembled.

The production of Pintsch gas, a compressed gas made by cracking oil and used principally as an illuminant; the manufacture of Blaugas, a liquefied petroleum gas made from gas oil; and the extraction and liquefaction of a relatively small scale of some of the lighter fractions of casinghead gasoline, constitute a background, extending over approximately half a century, for the recent developments in the commercial manufacture and sale of liquefied petroleum gases.

In the present stage, the natural gasoline extracted from natural gas wells is the principal source of the lighter hydrocarbons suitable for liquefied petroleum gas manufacture, although the refinery gases resulting from various oil distillation processes constitute a potential source.

The need of petroleum refiners for more stable grades of natural gasoline necessitated the removal of more volatile fractions of the raw casinghead gasoline. This was accomplished originally by "weathering," in which the major portion of these volatile fractions was lost, but in recent years the use of fractionating columns for the separation of the fractions has permitted their recovery and utilization for domestic and industrial purposes. These lighter hydrocarbons occupy the intermediate zone between the so-called "permanent" bases and liquids. They remain in liquid form when under pressure but are gases at atmospheric pressure and normal temperatures. Consequently, they may be stored and transported as liquids under pressure in special cars, tanks, wagons, and cylinders and used as gases at atmospheric pressure. Propane and the butanes form the compounds in the liquefied petroleum gases now definitely established, but pentane, a liquid at average temperatures, was included in the survey to the extent that it is marketed for purposes similar to the two lighter fractions.

The record of the production of liquefied petroleum gases may be extended as far back as 1912, when Blaugas was established as a commercial product, but as such a record would in part indicate the operations of individual companies, the record of marketed production is extended only through 1922, the period during which three or more companies were annually engaged. The annual marketed production of liquefied petroleum gases is given in the following table:

Marketed Production of Liquefied Petroleum Gases. (1922-1929) Table with columns for Year and Gallons. Data: 1922: 222,641; 1923: 276,863; 1924: 376,488; 1925: 403,674; 1926: 465,085; 1927: 1,091,065; 1928: 4,522,899; 1929: 9,525,689.

The use of liquefied petroleum gas as a domestic fuel in territories not served by gas mains was the first important development in the use of the product. Propane, self-vaporizing at temperatures above minus 44 degrees F. and with a heating value of approximately 2,500 B.t.u. per cubic foot, is most widely used for this purpose. In the two-drum system of service, two cylinders of fuel are installed in a special cabinet outside the customer's residence and the gas is piped through a regulator to the appliances. Upon the exhaustion of one cylinder, the second is turned on and the empty cylinder is returned to the bulk station to be re-charged. In the one-drum service, a single cylinder is furnished the customer. This cylinder is periodically recharged from a service truck, the cylinder being weighed before and after charging, and the customer is billed for the actual amount of fuel used. Cylinders are of several different sizes—25, 35, 40, 50, 60, 80, 100 and 150 pounds—but the more common sizes are 60 and 100 pounds.

Under Old Law Reds Face Chair

Facing possible execution under a law nearly 70 years old, M. H. Powers, 25, above, and Joseph Carr, 19, below, both Communists, were to go on trial for their lives at Atlanta, Ga., on June 17. Alleged to have organized an indoor unemployment meeting of white and negro workers, they were charged with "attempting to incite to resurrection" under an old statute of Reconstruction days which carries the death penalty. Powers is the father of two children.

The number of customers served with "bottled gas" increased from about 20,000 in 1928 to approximately 55,000 in 1929, according to the reports submitted to the bureau of mines during the survey. Although all states were included in the national distribution of this fuel, the major portion of consumers were in the north Atlantic and north central states, California, and the southern states of the Atlantic seaboard. The price paid to the consumer in the Pacific coast territory ranged from 9.5 to 10.5 cents, while east of the Rocky mountains the price ranged from 11.25 to 14.5 cents per pound, according to the distance of the consumer from the source of supply.

Special attention has been given to the utilization of liquefied petroleum gases in conjunction with the gas industry; to replace gas oil in carbureting gases of relatively low thermal value to the required calorific standard; as a base material for manufactured gas; for the re-carburation of gases to offset the loss of thermal value in high pressure transmission systems; to meet peak load conditions and as a protection against interruption in service; and as a source of gas supply to communities which are not large enough to warrant the installation of manufactured gas plants or the extension of distribution systems from nearby centers. Propane, butane and pentane have been used for these purposes.

The first plant employing the butane-air carburation process began operations at Linton, Ind., in June, 1920. By the close of 1929, similar plants were operating in Sheridan, Ind.; Galois, Me.; Watertown, S. D.; Mapleton, Iowa; Harrisonburg, Va.; North Manchester, Ind.; and Moorpark, Calif. At the end of May, 1930, additional plants were operating in Shenandoah, Iowa; Cleveland, Tenn.; Kerrville, Texas; Hendersonville, N. C.; Sheldon, Iowa; Harrisburg, Ill.; and Chadron, Neb., while similar plants were under construction in Clarinda, Iowa; Columbia, Tenn.; Maryville, Tenn.; Eldorado, Ill.; Murfreesboro, Tenn.; Onset, Mass.; Maryville, Mo.; Goodland, Kan.; Missouri Valley, Iowa; Bath, Me.; Moultrie, Ga.; Bemidji, Minn.; and Chisholm, Minn. Plans for the extension of similar service to a number of communities in California have been announced. The experience gained in piping propane-vapor to small groups of houses has been applied to distribution systems for communities which are not suitable for the profitable operation of butane-air carburation plants.

Liquefied petroleum gases also have been applied to a number of industrial purposes. Several industrial plants have installed butane storage equipment as a standby to guard against the interruption of their normal fuel supply. Propane is being used as a fuel to heat the adsorbers in iceless automatic refrigeration cars and its use in a somewhat similar way for ceiling railroad passenger cars has been suggested. In the metal and allied industries, liquefied gases are being used for heat treating, hardening, annealing, gas carburizing, enameling, core baking, metal cutting, forging and similar operations. In commercial laundries, these gases are used for operating collar and cuff pressing machines, mangles, hand irons and washing machines, while in the food industries they have been applied to the canning of milk, fruits and vegetables and the roasting of coffee and peanuts.

In school, industrial and hospital laboratories, propane is being used for operating burners, hot plates and sterilizers and, in industrial plants, for heating soldering irons, bench furnaces, for heat treating small tools and for the melting of soft metals, such as copper, brass, bronze and lead. Other industrial applications include glass annealing and the burning of ceramic ware; for singeing, drying and heating calendar rolls in textile mills; for heating type-melting pots in printing plants; glass blowing and working; carbonizing radio tube plates; lead burning and the production of distilled water at battery service stations; as a refrigerant in gas-fired refrigerators; for pilot lights on oil and culverized coal burners; for paint burning; for incubator heating and egg candling; pre-heating for holding; and the operation of heavy-duty cooking equipment in hotels, clubs, restaurants, road stands, dining cars and boats. The industrial application of these liquefied gases is being extended continually through experimental studies.

In its survey of the liquefied petroleum gas industry, the bureau of mines received the complete co-operation of the following producers: Bradford Gasoline company, Bradford, Pa.; Carbide and Carbon corporation, 30 East 42nd street, New York; Hope Construction & Refining company, 545 William Penn Way, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Lone Star Gas company, 1915 Wood street, Dallas, Texas; Mars company, Oil City, Pa.; Northwestern Blaugas company, St. Paul, Minn.; Philfuels company, General Motors building, Detroit; Mich.; Shell Oil company, Shell building, San Francisco, Calif.; Shell Petroleum corporation, Shell building, St. Louis, Mo.; Skelly Oil company, El Dorado, Kan.; Sloan and Zook company, Kan., Pa.; Standard Gasoline company, 225 Bush street, San Francisco, Calif.; and Viking Gasoline corporation, Charleston, W. Va.

A list of marketers of liquefied petroleum gases, including the location of main and branch offices, territory served and date on which distribution was begun, is available and copies may be had upon request to the Petroleum Economics Division, United States Bureau of Mines, Washington, D. C.

WASHINGTON, July 2.—Likelihood of a great earth in the Mississippi Valley is latest reason advanced for "reservoir system" of flood control on the "Father of Waters."

In a radio speech last night, Rep. Stone, Repn., Okla., recalled the disastrous Mississippi quakes of 1811 and 1812 and dictated another one soon if the error system is not installed. According to scientists, he said, the vast deposits of silt brought each year to the mouth of the stream result in earth disturbances. This cause could be remedied, he explained, by storing at the river's source. Stone there was general dissatisfied in the Mississippi Valley with present "Jadwin plan" of control.

WITH THE TEXAS LEAGUE

Houston and Wichita Falls, leaders in the race for the second championship of the Texas league, both lost their games today, the Buffs bowing to Waco while "Old Pete" Alexander Hughie Willingham, Steerch hitter, took the measure of Spudders.

Alexander held the Spudders, champions of the first half, to six and two runs in the eight innings he pitched. With the Buffs trailing by one run, Willingham, batting for the veteran Steerch, hit a home run with two outs on bases, giving Dallas a 2 to 2 win.

The Waco Cubs pounded four of the league-leading Buffs nine to win, 13 to 8, in night game. The Cubs made 21 runs. Stein held the Buffs to 12 runs.

A home run by Perry, Shreveport right fielder, in the tenth inning with two mates on bases gave the Sports a 9 to 6 victory over St. Louis after Starg, Shreveport catcher, had hit a homer in the ninth to score two runs and tie the game into extra innings. The San Antonio Indians made two straight over Beaumont, ending out 18 hits off Oliver Mitchell, Pacific Coast hurler, to win, 10 to 7. Beaumont scored five runs in the last half of the ninth.

With The Majors

The Chicago Cubs and Philadelphia Athletics, leaders in the turbulent 1930 Major League pennant race today prepared to defend on extended road trips the honors lined during their current home stands.

The Cubs complete a 15 game home stay today with the New York Giants and then take the road for a 23 game tour of the seven rival National League cities. The Athletics close their series with Detroit today and after meeting New York in a single game Thursday, go on tour until July 28.

Dibrell Williams' home run with two mates on base and Lefty Grove's pitching gave the Athletics a 4 to 1 victory over Detroit yesterday. Grove allowed only 1 hit in five innings played before rain ended the contest.

New York Bars Fouls Claimed On Blows Below Belt

BY UNITED PRESS
NEW YORK, July 2.—Fouls from low blows have been legislated out of existence in boxing contests in New York State as a result of the most drastic action ever taken by a boxing commission.

The New York State Athletic Commission has ruled that each boxer must equip himself with adequate abdominal protection and continue fighting no matter where he is hit. If a blow lands below the belt and a fighter goes down, he will be counted out exactly as if the punch landed above the belt.

The new rule, passed yesterday by the three commissioners, James A. Farley, William Muldoon, and J. J. Phelan, will go into effect with the Sammy Mandell-Al Singer lightweight championship bout at Yankee Stadium July 17.

For striking an illegal blow, or a punch below the belt, the only penalty under the new rule will be the loss of the round in which it occurred.

"It is now up to every boxer to wear a protector which will render a low punch harmless," said Chairman Farley. "It has been demonstrated that such protectors are available. If a boxer goes down claiming foul now he will be counted out. If he gets up he will be scored in his favor."

Under the new rule Max Schmeling would have been counted out when he failed to answer the bell for the fifth round, and Jack Sharkey would have won by a knockout.

The new rule is the outgrowth of tests made by Sammy Mandell and Al Singer wearing a "Taylor Cup," and both found that the protector was foul-proof.

NEW YORK, July 2.—The New York Athletic Commission's new anti-foul legislation was approved today by men associated with the boxing game.

Some of the comments were: Frankie Genaro, flyweight title claimant—"It's great. The commission solved the problem of fouls. I don't hit them and have been able to take them without yelling for help. No fight should end in a foul."

Frank J. Bruen, vice-president Madison Square Garden—"The commission is to be commended on its action. The decision to recognize no more fouls is sure to end the evil."

Tom McCardle, matchmaker, Madison Square Garden—"The foul hitters and foul-criers have seen their day. The decision to recognize no more fouls assures boxing of regaining its old mark of popularity."

Bobby Jones Is Accorded Great Welcome Home

By FRANK GETTY
United Press Sports Editor
NEW YORK, July 2.—In the days of old, when Greece was in her glory, the populace tore down the walls of the city to make a triumphal pathway for a victorious athlete returning with the symbolic laurel wreath.

New York city will compromise today by tearing up its ticker tape and newspapers to make a triumphal shower for Bobby Jones as he rides up Broadway, home from his conquest of the English links, bringing with him the British open and amateur trophies.

Up the tall cavern between down-sky-scrapers, Bobby will ride in triumph through a maelstrom of cheers and a maze of fluttering bits of paper, to be welcomed at city hall with unusual honors.

Bobby's birthplace, Atlanta, Ga., is just a little jealous of all this hurrah being made by a northern city, and about everyone who could get away steamed into town on a "Bobby Jones Special." They boarded a special boat this morning, heading down the bay to get in the first rebel yells of welcome when the S. S. Europa reached quarantine this afternoon.

Grover Whalen, former police commissioner, will sit beside Bobby on the ride up Broadway to city hall, where Mayor Jimmy Walker will do the honors. Then the fellow-townsmen can have their fling, and it promises to be a merry one.

Major John S. Cohen headed the Atlanta reception committee, assisted by the Sas Candler, Dr. L. M. Brittain, president of Georgia Tech, one of Jones' alma maters, and a number of leading citizens of the South.

As young Bobby is a genuinely modest young man, he may spend a rather uncomfotable day. But his golfing achievements permit of no lesser welcome.

The Atlanta now has won eleven national championships, seven American and four British, since 1923, an unprecedented and well-nigh unapproachable record. At the moment he holds the American and British open titles and the British amateur, something no man ever did before. Bobby will be guest of honor at a dinner tonight and then will leave immediately for Minneapolis, where he will defend his open championship at the Interlachen Club on July 10.

In Business On 18 Cents

BETHLEHEM, Pa., July 2.—Anyone interested in securing capital to go into business might well profit from the example set by a stranger the other day.

Ensign C. A. Schuerholtz was stopped on East Board street by a stranger a few days ago. "Hey, Cap, what's the chances for borrowing 11 cents?" the stranger queried.

"What's the idea? Are you thirty?" Schuerholtz replied. "No I want to start in business. I have seven cents and I need 11 more. I don't know anyone here so I thought I'd ask you."

Schuerholtz furnished the additional capital and two days later was surprised when his protégé came back with the 11 cents and thanks.

"You see, Cap, I needed 18 cents to buy two cans of wallpaper remover. After I bought them I made a canvass of homes and earned $5 that afternoon. Now that I've got a start I intend to stick to it. You don't need much capital if you really want to work."

Found Dead

DALLAS, Tex., July 2.—George C. Campbell, 6, book keeper, was found dead in the garage behind his home strangled to death by a rope he apparently had tied around his neck. The body was found hanging by relatives and police were called.

Justice of the Peace Ben H. Fly investigated but has not yet returned a coroner's verdict.

The water board asked appropriation of $25,000 each year to continue underground stream surveys. Its total budget request was $242,300 the first and $248,300 the second year.

The topographic survey program on which $25,000 a year is now available, is predicated as the forerunner of extensive future irrigation development. It would map available storage sites for irrigation projects.

THE VALUE of SOUND DESIGN

New Ford engine gives outstanding acceleration, speed and power without sacrificing reliability or economy

THE GOOD PERFORMANCE of the Ford car, so apparent on every highway, is due largely to the sound mechanical design of the engine. It has outstanding acceleration, speed and power, yet that is only part of its value to you. Greater still is the fact that it brings you all these features without sacrificing either reliability or economy.

That is the reason the Ford car has given such satisfactory service to millions of motorists all over the world and has been chosen by so many large companies that keep accurate cost figures. In every detail of construction it has been carefully planned and made for the work it has to do.

The design of the compression chamber is an important factor in the efficiency of the Ford engine. It is built to allow free passage of gases through the valves and to thoroughly mix the fuel by producing turbulence within the cylinders during compression. The spark thus flashes quickly through the whole fuel charge, resulting in quieter and more effective engine performance.

Other factors are the direct gravity gasoline feed, the specially designed carburetor, the new hot-spot manifold, aluminum pistons, chrome silicon alloy valves of larger diameter, statically and dynamically balanced crankshaft and flywheel, simplicity of the electrical, cooling, lubrication, and fuel systems and accuracy in manufacturing.

"human interest" stories to get going a willingness to help. Pennsylvania has put out a publicity leaflet asking questions, the answers to be found in the local institution. Rhode Island and Tennessee are reading and planning. Utah is concentrating on "how they get that way" and "what standards are we aiming for anyway?" with their state chairman ready to give them a comprehensive view of the situation for the asking. Washington proposes that each club shall present one prison program next year, and by sending a questionnaire to each club it's education is subtly contrived in finding out the answers. Pardon and parole is the major study of Wyoming. Kansas has spotlighted her convention with prison posters. Iowa and Maryland's fixed up prison labor.

Many states concentrate on women's reformatories.

But to know the situation "with their own eyes" is wholly the program of many states. California clubs women, for instance, are learning of their jails and road camps by blinking nothing, and Georgia clubs with the excellent blue-book "Jail standards in Georgia" in hand, go too, to jails and camps and "take their number."

And shall all this amount to the "tattle fury" which was thrown in their teeth as the fruit of women's club labors? Just now it looks very unlikely. In fact placing bets on women's going after what she wants is rather safe. Just now she is busy still finding out what she does want in prison matter. Thereafter, gang way.

The Farm Road Situation

Of the 6,250,000 farm owners in the United States, 1,988,704 are served by roads which have been improved to some degree, according to the American Farm Bureau. Over 2,747,700 live on roads which are practically unimproved and are usually impassable during many months of the year. One million have traveled roads. Less than 500,000 American farmers are assured of all-year highways.

Here is the problem that must be adequately met and solved by every state if agriculture is to progress and prosper to the fullest degree. At the end of 1928, there were more miles of unsurfaced roads in the United States than in 1914, and most of these served farming areas.

Most of us, thinking of the fine highways that stretch between the sizeable cities of the United States, are under the impression that we have a complete nationwide system of improved roads. What we do not see are the thousands upon thousands of miles of dirt and mud upon which millions of farmers must rely.

Those who have made thorough studies of the farm situation and the need for relief, are almost unanimously of the opinion that one of the preeminent factors in any permanent and practical program must be the construction, on a large scale, of economically paved, all-weather, year-round, farm to market roads.

Many Attractions Signed For July 4th At Abilene

ABILENE, Tex., July 2—With the compiling of an automobile and motorcycle race card which includes drivers of national prominence from several states, the stage is set for this city's annual Independence Day celebration.

Entries from a number of cities will participate in the bathing revue which will officially crown the "Miss West Texas" of 1930. The revue, at Lytle Beach, will begin at 7 o'clock and will be followed by an elaborate fireworks display.

The track program at Fair Park will begin at 1:20 Friday afternoon. The races are being sponsored by the West Texas Fair association under regulations and sanction of the American Automobile association and the American Motorcycle association.

Six speed cars and their pilots are coming to Abilene from California. In the group will be Francis Quinn who Sunday took first money in the Los Angeles dirt track classic, and Walt May, who, in the same race, set a new record for that trial on that west coast track.

He steered around the five-eighths mile course in twenty-seven and one-third seconds. If he repeats that performance when he comes to Abilene, May will better the prevailing record here.

Other California race car chauffeurs who will drive the 100 laps around and around the Fair Park speedway are: Robert Rasor, Speed Hinkley, Carl Ryder and Arvol Brummier. Included in the early line-up of visiting drivers are: Cotton Grable, Houston; H. D. Hill, Oklahoma; Earl Lovendon, George Barringer, both of Duncan, Okla.; J. Y. Davis, Tulsa; R. O. Graves and Dick Graves, Arkansas City, Kansas; Bob Latham, Clovis, N. M.; Harry T. Wilburn, Fort Worth and Frank Whitty, San Antonio.

Entrants in the five and ten mile cycle event are: Rural Murray, Ranger; Geo. D. Shaw, Oklahoma City; C. L. Rhoads, Tulsa; Griffin Kathart, Waco; Don Smith, Fort Worth; Kenneth McNamara, Oklahoma City.

An early roster of bathing beauty contestants follows: Juanita Evans, Elizabeth Rothwell, Addie Mae Brown, Dixie Frost, Virginia Emmons, Louise Logsdon, Ruth Carter, Eblene Luton, Dorothy Frost and Anna Lou Wallick, all of Abilene; Francis Gunn, Lubbock; Dolie Osborne, Elgin, and Zora Mae Webb, Cross Plains.

Race admission prices are $1.00, $1.50 and $2.00. Reserved seats are on sale at Montgomery Drug Company in Abilene.

WOMEN'S CLUBS SCAN PRISONS

By MRS. FANNIE SAX LONG
Commission on Penal Institutions
State of Pennsylvania
(Written for the United Press)

WILKESBARRE, Pa., July 2—The day has not passed when some one individual makes fools of all women by her attentions toward some criminal, but if there is one thing that the Women's Clubs do not do in this day, it is to grow mattidn and motherly over prisoners and the prison situation.

Just now there is little doubt that prison affairs will be the 1930-31 model in club concern.

But women have come to make that model the fashion, not only because of the intensive appeal of recent events, but because in their old interest in child welfare and their new study of human behavior all roads seem to lead to the reformatory.

Now and increasingly hereafter, the return to society of inmates from penal institutions is to have the platform of women's clubs. And in these "after-jail-what?" interest much consideration will be given to "before jail what and why?" how he got there, what sort of a place it is, what resources there are, and what more there should be in the institution to develop whatever of the educable and social yet remains in a prisoner.

Women's Club are ready to ring down the curtain on the old brutalities, the expensive neglect, the stupid indifference. In proving the point that Women's Clubs will major in prisoner rehabilitation there is at hand a careful and intelligent report of such work from all but two or three of the state. It was assembled by the Chairman of the Division of Correction of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, Julia K. Jaffray. Whereas her 1928 report lists the activities in about twenty states, the one made in 1930 includes forty-five states, and the District of Columbia.

In Washington for years representatives of women's clubs have pushed and pulled for legislation that should curb the penance system and end contract prison labor, presented by them as unfair to free labor and cruelly exploiting prisoners for the benefit only of the contractor. At a recent Prison Industries Conference in Richmond, Virginia, for the passage of the Hawes-Cooper, affecting prison-made goods and effective in 1934, women's clubs were held responsible or given the credit, depending on the point of view of some very hard boiled prison officials.

Women have indeed learned the value and uses of organization in, but even more out, of politics. Club-togetherness has helped to obstruct reactionary legislation as well as to plow through with constructive measures in the District of Columbia just now pressing hard for an approved system of parole and indeterminate sentence. Indiana clubs are interested in legislation bearing on international exchange of prisoners. Michigan wanted legislation to create prison farms, and nothing daunted by defeat in 1927 are educating away toward bills for some future assembly. Montana clubs helped push a bond that appropriated for prison industries. New York club women may take a large share of credit in the success of much fine recent legislation, they did yeoman service. Anne believe it or not, no clubs have worked harder than Ohio's for good and sufficient laws; failure has not discouraged and now the tide is with them, after the terrible cost. Pennsylvania is trying to make use of a fire law already on the books which creates a Board of Visitation in each county whose duty it is to know all county institutions for minors and a strong effort is making to have a state-wide network of such boards.

Clubs in many states give expression of interest by providing for the devastating leisure in penal institutions, books, books and more books. In Delaware a whole program of recreation, even with a swimming pool, is the project. California has a real circulating library scheme on. Illinois clubs provide books and magazines and in Louisiana every club in the state was asked to give books for her institutions. "Big Sisters" could find no better position than at the door of her Reformatory as Delaware club women are demonstrating. Other clubs provide the minor but obvious needs of their prisoners, here too Delaware is right there with supplies, sterilizer, a flag, clothing, shoes. And Illinois gives all sorts of clothing. Colorado clubs are on the "education" band wagon. Idaho is studying, and in particular its own problems of prison labor. Kentucky is talking up prison farms and new buildings. Louisiana uses the clubs state publication to press ways of helpfulness. Missouri carries prison staff regularly in the state club organ. Maine uses the radio to stir individual concern. Massachusetts clubs have staged conference with officials really to learn at first hand the problem from the non-theoretical angle. Michigan is making her clubs ready to push with such changes as the Hawes-Cooper bill will make necessary. So too with the New Hampshire clubs. While Nebraska wisely builds on the College boys here and there who have been wearing campus shorts since the advent of hot weather have met their match in co-eds attending summer sessions at Marshall College, Huntington, W. Here are a few of the girls as they appeared in their abbreviated garb—and it was so hot that college officials didn't have the heart to object.

TERRIER FINDS OLD HOME AFTER FIVE YEARS AT SEA

GEORGETOWN, S. C., July 1.—For five years "Happy Jack" rode a lumber-laden schooner on its weekly run from New York to Charleston. He saw his bit of life with the rest of the hearties, but the time came for him to seek his home port. Even a dog may be pardoned for expecting a vacation, especially when one remembers that he has two pairs of sea-legs to rest.

"Happy Jack" was leading the usual life of an indolent terrier when the schooner "Georgiana Weems" started coming to Georgetown. The hull marks seemed to possess a peculiar fascination for the tiny terrier. As soon as he sighted them above the roofs and tree tops, "Happy Jack" would dash down to the wharves to bark appreciation and applause.

One morning the first mate pulled him up the gangplank and let him poke his inquisitive nose into every corner of the ship. Soon the dog included the mate in his enthusiasm for the "Georgiana Weems," and the two became constant companions as long as the schooner lay at the wharf. When the ship put out to open sea, "Happy Jack" commenced his career as a sailor. His mistress, being a woman wise in the ways of dogs and men, had consented to part with her little terrier.

"Happy Jack" won't forget his ship, she promises to the mate. "He'll come back yet."

"Happy Jack" did come back. One day his mistress heard sharp scratching at the front screen door. Thinking the mouse was made by a cat, she did not cease drinking her coffee until a low prostration and applause.

Wading in a Sea of Beer

There's no use crying over spilt milk—or beer either, for that matter—here the scene that was enacted when Chicago prohibition agents, wearing rubber boots, raided a big beer-making plant and emptied every barrel in sight. The plant was valued at $100,000 and had a capacity of 500 barrels weekly.

NEA Chicago Bureau

Successful level accused her cutting.

There as the door stood "Happy Jack"—a bit wobbly on his sea legs, to be sure, but certain of a welcome in his home port. As yet "Happy Jack" has found no way to explain how he remembered his old home in Georgetown. Perhaps the students of animal psychology can explain.
