202 Trash Loads Hauled Away So Far By Trucks

The five city trucks engaged in gathering up the trash stacked by Big Spring residents in the observance of Fire Prevention and Clean-Up week worked on the North Side yesterday, covering 70 blocks and hauling away 23 loads.

Dem, GOP Precinct Meetings Saturday

Howard Countians who wish to exercise a voice in party political affairs will be trooping to their precinct conventions Saturday.

All Democratic conventions have been called for 1 p.m., all Republican conventions for 3 p.m.

Whether there will be any unusual agitation at any of the local conventions remained conjectural.

And there are indications that the Taft-Eisenhower scrap might erupt locally, in the GOP camp.

Sawyer Urges New Attempts To Get Peace

Suggests Congress Pass Bill To Meet Similar Situations

WASHINGTON, May 1 (AP) — Secretary of Commerce Sawyer today called for new peace efforts by the steel industry and the CIO and urged that Congress provide a clear legal basis for the government to deal with big industrial disputes such as the steel strike.

But the situation now is so confused, Sawyer said, that he does not plan immediately to grant a wage boost.

"An obvious thing which should be done is for the Congress to consider promptly and present to the President a bill which will meet the demands of any situation similar to the one which confronts us—and the last of which we probably have not seen."

"We are now facing up to a situation which has long been impending where a titanic struggle between giant industry and giant labor results in a paralysis in which our whole economic and social life may be at stake."

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST WASHINGTON (AP) — Impeachment talk grew louder on Capitol Hill today as Congress considered giving itself power to halt strikes with injunctions.

Some Republicans heretofore lukewarm on impeachment proposals said continued refusal by President Truman to invoke the Taft-Hartley Act in the steel dispute might leave Congress no alternative but to impeach him.

As the court battle between the administration and the steel masters seared toward the Supreme Court, there were these other developments:

1. The House Armed Services Committee scheduled hearings starting probably next Tuesday on a new anti-strike bill which could block strikes indefinitely in emergency periods.

2. A technically prevented the House Judiciary Committee from going ahead today with a scheduled vote on 10 impeachment and related proposals.

3. Half a dozen committees busied themselves directly or indirectly with various phases of the steel controversy.

Hospital Management Changes

Dr. Sam Hoerster Jr., left, became acting superintendent of the Big Spring State Hospital here Thursday. He succeeds Dr. R. W. Syler, right, with whom he has worked almost two years. Dr. Syler will continue on the staff another month.

SUCCEEDS DR. SYLER

Dr. Hoerster Named State Hospital Head

Dr. Sam Hoerster Jr. took over Thursday as acting superintendent of the Big Spring State Hospital.

Appointment of Dr. Hoerster, clinical director of the hospital, was announced Wednesday afternoon in Austin by Larry O. Cox, executive director of the state hospital board. A permanent superintendent will be announced later.

He succeeds Dr. R. W. Syler, who was recently scheduled for re-election as the hospital head by the state board. Dr. Syler will continue on the hospital staff for another month.

He had been the superintendent for almost two years, having come here in April of 1950 to succeed Dr. A. M. Bowden, who was retired.

The board had indicated that it hoped to retain his services in any other capacity. Dr. Syler has not announced plans beyond June 1, but he does not plan to continue in the state hospital system. He is continuing here for the additional month because he has children in school.

Dr. Hoerster came here in September of 1950, being the first permanent staff member assigned to the Big Spring State Hospital after Dr. Syler assumed charge.

Senate Probes AF Technical Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate subcommittee said today it has been investigating Air Force technician training programs for several months.

A spokesman for a Senate Armed Services Subcommittee headed by Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) said the group has been looking into training methods and costs at Keesler Air Force Base, Miss.; Sheppard Air Force Base, Tex., and Scott Air Force Base, Ill.

Supreme Court Due To Decide Issue Of Executive's Powers

BULLETIN WASHINGTON, May 1 (AP) — The U. S. Court of Appeals by a 5 to 4 vote refused today to bar the government from raising wages while it holds the seized steel mills.

By NORMAN WALKER WASHINGTON, May 1 (AP) — The steel industry today pleaded — against vigorous government objections — for the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals to bar the government from raising wages while it holds the seized steel plants.

The court recessed without an immediate ruling. But Chief Judge Harold M. Stephens instructed lawyers for the steel companies to put into legal form their proposal to enjoin Secretary of Commerce Sawyer, the government boss of the mills, from changing wages or working conditions.

This might indicate that at least some of the judges inclined with favor on the steel companies' proposal.

The steel companies argued that a wage rise while the government holds their mills would cost them millions of dollars and would damage their bargaining position with the CIO United Steelworkers.

They asked a ban on a government-granted wage rise until the Supreme Court rules on whether President Truman had power to seize the mills.

Fighting against this, acting Atty-Gen. Philip Perlman told the court the steel strike would be over by now except for the industry maneuver.

"If it hadn't been for this very motion the forbid a wage boost the men would be back at work this morning," Perlman said.

Several judges immediately asked See STEEL, Pg. 2, Col. 1

Light Rain Fails To Boost Water Supply

Back in the days when Big Spring had its big spring it had what looked like a monopoly on water over a wide West Texas area.

Now it looks like Big Spring has a monopoly on the drought.

The light thundershowers that followed a sand-laden gust of wind into the area last night brought out a scant .05 inch of recorded moisture and not a drop of this drained into the lakes which are a part of the city water supply.

Widely scattered light showers or thundershowers are predicted for this afternoon however.

But the rain that fell last night did look like so much water to parched Big Springers that the game scheduled with Arisala was called off.

A small area north of Coshoma was unofficially and on an "estimate" reported to have received three inch. Light showers fell east of town and Knott reported a light shower about 9 o'clock last night. Lomax had a drizzle and Colorado City about .23.

Bruce Field; Mertzon a good rain. Big Lake and Rankin, sprinkles and Ozona a shower.

Widely scattered thundershowers brought rain to the northern half of Texas and were credited with saving the wheat crop in the Wichita Falls area.

By The Associated Press One man of a golf foursome at Morton was killed and another injured by lightning today.

Envoy Visits Oatis; Says Health Good

WASHINGTON, May 1 (AP) — The State Department reported today that the American ambassador to Czechoslovakia talked with William Oatis in a Czech prison yesterday and found him in good health.

Oatis, an Associated Press reporter, has been interned in the Iron Curtain country since April 23, 1951.

The department said the visit from Ambassador Ellis O. Briggs marked the first time since Oatis' arrest that Czech authorities permitted any American Embassy official to talk with Oatis.

In discussing the meeting with Oatis yesterday, the State Department said: "Mr. Oatis said that his health was good and that was supported by his appearance. He said he had recently received dental care, that he is allowed to read and write and that he gets sufficient exercise."

AIR BASE DEDICATION ALSO SET

All Services To Join In Local A-F Day Observance, May 18

Ceremonies dedicating Big Spring Air Force Base and an "open house" welcome on Armed Forces Day by representatives of all branches of the Armed Forces awaits visitors to the base area on Sunday, May 18.

Crash equipment from the base will be put through its paces with practical shows to demonstrate the new-type foam extinguisher.

Arrangements for them have not yet been completed. Attempts are being made to secure a band to join the dedication ceremony as well as to get still more representation in the form of equipment.

Shivers Asks Demo Support

Gov. Shivers announced he would make a radio bid tonight for popular support for his program for an unimpaired delegation to the Democratic national convention.

Rep. Tom Pickett of Palestine may be named executive vice president of the National Coal Association. Pickett, who has said he would not be a candidate for reelection to Congress, would be in charge of the association's Washington operations.

Soviets Are Told Harry Won't Run

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet readers were given their first picture today of the current United States presidential campaign, and their first announcement that President Truman says he will not run for reelection.

A lengthy and sober-toned article in the magazine New Times summarized the current U.S. political picture and evaluated the chances of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's candidacy for the Republican nomination.

New Times concluded that victory will go to the candidate who can best persuade the American voters he stands for peace.

Youth Grateful To Texans After Losing Limbs

LOS ANGELES, May 1 (AP) — Norman Brown is back home today from a hitchhiking trip. He left his left arm and leg in Texas but he brought back a heart full of gratitude for Texas hospitality.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lester B. Brown, of Wilmington, Calif., hurried to his bedside, to find the townspeople already caring for him. Someone loaned them an automobile. Local merchants refused their money.

The railroad men started a bank account for them. It soon reached $500. The teen-agers rallied to their help and gave Norman over $50. Then a committee of Disabled American Veterans, from Lubbock, Tex., some minus arms and legs, blind or otherwise maimed, brought him a radio.

When Norman was ready for plastic surgery, unavailable in Slaton, Commissioner L. E. Davis of Lubbock got busy with the Air Force brass on the telephone. They arranged for a Military Air Transport hospital plane. With an Air Force doctor, a nurse, and two medical corpsmen, it brought Norman and his parents here last night and he was taken to Children's Hospital.

"I've always known there were good people in the world," Norman's mother quoted him. "But I never did know that there could be so many of them all in one place."

45-Day Supply Of Gasoline Is Seen For Nation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government officials estimated today the nation has about a 45-day supply of gasoline but shortages must be expected if the oil workers strike is prolonged.

Earlier, industry sources reported gasoline stocks at an all-time high, and said the strike of 90,000 CIO, AFL and independent union oil workers in refineries, pipelines and distribution plants may cause only spot shortages in the near future.

Government officials said latest reports showed gasoline supplies April 28 were enough to last 45 days, but they could not estimate minimum working stocks which oil companies might figure they need.

Officials here said it is certain that reduction of current gasoline stocks by one-half would mean a nationwide shortage of major proportions.

Succeed Shepperd

AUSTIN, May 1 (AP) — Jack Ross became the new Secretary of State for Texas today. He succeeded John Ben Shepperd, who quit to campaign for the office of attorney general.

Several Texas newspapers pointed out to qualified voters that it was illegal to participate in both the Republican and Democratic conventions. Here is the way the Dallas News put it: "If you intend to vote for a Democratic nominee for President of the United States, attend your Democratic precinct convention, Saturday, May 3."

"If you intend to vote for a Republican nominee for President of the United States, attend your Republican precinct convention, Saturday May 3."

"It is a violation of the Texas Penal Code to participate in both precinct conventions on the same day."

Judge Rice ruled in Austin yesterday that only Republicans have a right to take part in Republican precinct conventions. The ruling, in effect, upheld the pledge by which Republicans hope to bind to their party those participating in its precinct conventions and to shut out outsiders.

The Hobson's skipper, Lt. Comdr. W.J. Tierney, managed to get clear of the wreckage before it sank Saturday in mid-Atlantic, but he was not found. One hundred and seventy-five of the ship's company went down with her.

Hobson Probers May Learn Why Wreck Occurred

WASHINGTON (AP) — A deck officer who escaped may help solve the mystery of the minesweeper Hobson's disastrous crash with the carrier Wasp.

A radioed dispatch from the damaged Wasp, steaming slowly for New York with 61 survivors of the Hobson aboard, disclosed that Lt. (j.g.) B.E. Cummings, one of those rescued, was junior officer of the deck at the time of the collision.

The Hobson's skipper, Lt. Comdr. W.J. Tierney, managed to get clear of the wreckage before it sank Saturday in mid-Atlantic, but he was not found. One hundred and seventy-five of the ship's company went down with her.

Of major importance to the naval court of inquiry, when it convenes at New York next week, will be what orders were given aboard the Hobson in the moments before the collision and what signals were exchanged between the minesweeper and the carrier. From them, the court may learn why the sweeper laid a course which brought her under the knife-like prow of the carrier.

Cummings may be the officer who can tell that story. The court of inquiry appointed by Adm. Lynde McCormick, commander-in-chief of the Atlantic Fleet, is a fact-finding agency and not a court in the legal sense.

The three rear admirals who comprise the court will seek to find out these things: 1. Was the collision caused by human error or mechanical failure?

2. Did either ship fail to signal a change of course when the carrier turned into the wind to take on 10 of her planes which were aloft in the night maneuver?

3. Was there misjudgment of the closing rate of speed and the course?

4. What was the precise visibility? Capt. B.C. McCaffree of the Wasp has said the night began "clear but very dark with overcast at 5,000 feet, seas calm and winds light."

Attend Only One Of Saturday Conventions HOUSTON, May 1 (AP) — About 25 Texas newspapers today urged participation by Texas voters in only one precinct convention.

A front page story in the Houston Post pointed out it is a violation of the Texas Penal Code to take part in precinct conventions of both parties on the same day. The story will ask voters to attend only one convention — either Democratic or Republican.

May Day Rioters Battle Jap Police

TOKYO (AP) — Twenty thousand club-swinging May Day rioters, shouting anti-American slogans, battled Japanese police today in front of the Imperial Palace.

Crowds stormed through the streets waving red banners and carrying pictures of Stella and other Communist leaders. Three times they stormed 1,000 steel-helmeted police. The police beat back the human waves of rock-throwing, club-wielding rioters with tear gas, clubs and guns fired into the ground.

At least 100 persons were injured. Some were Americans. Order was restored after five hours.

Twelve American-owned automobiles were overturned and burned. Americans were shoved and hit by rocks. Two U.S. sailors were thrown into the palace moat. The wife of a Navy man was mauled.

Two American photographers were roughed up. Associated Press photographer George Sweers was stoned three times. The brawling halted traffic for three hours in front of the palace and the Dai Ichi Building, for nearly seven years headquarters for an Allied occupation that ended three days ago.

Demonstrators chanted incessantly: "Go home, Yankees." About three million Japanese turned out throughout Japan for more than 400 scheduled rallies.

Tokyo was the only one to report violence. The trouble began at a Meiji Park rally that attracted 300,000. Two Americans—Socialist Norman Thomas and J. Philip Randolph, president of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters—were to speak. The meeting was broken up by a gang of North Korean and Japanese Communists. The speeches were cancelled.

Then the crowd was formed into two columns to march downtown. About half joined the march, but many fell out. One column was led to the residence of Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida, where it yelled and demanded that U. S. troops be sent home. Then the mob moved on to the plaza in front of the palace, although forbidden to go there by police.

Some Shortages Of Gasoline Are Noted

DENVER (AP)—The nation-wide strike of nearly 90,000 unionized oil industry workmen went into its second day today with shortages of gasoline for motorists already reported in scattered areas.

Some filling stations in the steel-producing area of Gary, Hammond and East Chicago, Ind., reported they were out of gasoline last night, less than 24 hours after the strike began. Other stations were expected to run out today. Similar shortages were cropping up in the Midwest.

The Oil Workers International Union (CIO) in Denver, representing refinery and pipeline workers and heading a coalition of 22 CIO, AFL and independent oil unions, said "the most promising" negotiations were going on in San Francisco.

Officials said the union in talks with Shell Oil had trimmed its original demand for a 25-cent hourly wage boost to 22 cents and "a lot of other compromises are being kicked around."

The average wage in the industry now ranges from $2 to $2.10 hourly. Cyrus S. Ching, chief of the Federal Mediation Service, had predicted a possible nation-wide pattern for settlement from an agreement he said was reached at Standard Oil of Indiana's Sugar Creek, Mo., refinery.

Between 250 and 300 members of the CIO union met last night and voiced protest of Ching's announcement. They said the reported agreement was false and put them in the role of strike breakers. The CIO union branded the announcement by Ching "an absolute untruth."

Ching had said the agreement provided for a 15-cent hourly wage hike and the union's differential demands.

Non-striking AFL union members in Northwest Texas last night agreed to a new contract with the Phillips Petroleum Company. The agreement grants a general wage increase of 15 cents an hour, retroactive to Oct. 1, 1951, and night differential pay ranging from 4 to 6 cents an hour in the afternoon to 6 to 12 cents at night.

Most of the struck facilities were closed down today. The closing came in orderly fashion, as requested by the unions.

Air transport was expected to feel the pinch of high octane gasoline shortage. Secretary of the Interior Chapman predicted it would be the first transportation industry to be hit hard.

The defense effort, railroading and private industry are not expected to be affected seriously.

Natural gas flow through pipelines is being maintained by supervisory personnel. The seven-state area serviced by Phandle-Eastern, however, reduced its supply to some 8,700,000 customers in Texas, Kansas, Oklahoma, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois and Michigan.

To West Point

Billy Wozencraft has officially been advised that he is to enter the U. S. Military Academy at West Point on July 1. He has successfully passed all tests during West Point preparatory work while stationed at Stewart Air Force Base, N. Y. He is to complete training there June 1, has a month's leave before reporting as a West Point plebe. Wozencraft had been advanced from an alternate to a principal candidate for the West Point appointment. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Wozencraft, 1000 Stadium, are expecting him home early in June.

FOR MIDLAND GIRL

Suit May Be Filed Over Transfusions

NEW YORK, May 1 (AP)—A spokesman for Jehovah's Witnesses says a damage suit may be filed as a result of blood transfusions given a Texas girl over the opposition of members of her family.

Hayden C. Covington, general counsel for the Watchtower Society, corporate name of the religious group, said the court action is planned by John and Ben Olliff of Brooklyn, who are Jehovah's Witnesses.

The Olliffs are brothers of Grace Marie Olliff, 20-year-old Midland, Tex., office worker who lies critically ill in an Odessa hospital.

Miss Olliff was given her fourth transfusion yesterday and was reported improving, conscious part of the time, but still in serious condition. She was hurt in a head-on car collision a week ago last Sunday.

The Olliff brothers and their father, William, 54, Midland trailer camp operator, had taken turns guarding the girl's Odessa hospital room door, declaring they would not permit doctors to give her a blood transfusion.

But the hospital administrator obtained a court order to prevent their interfering with treatment of the girl. Last Sunday, when doctors said a blood transfusion was needed, the two brothers were arrested and fined on charges of disturbing the peace.

Covington said court action, presumably against the hospital and doctors, would probably not be taken "for a few weeks," depending on the girl's condition. He said if Miss Olliff doesn't live, the brothers will bring damage action as heirs, otherwise the sister and the brothers will join in the suit under the Federal Civil Rights Act. Hayden said the amount of damages to be sought hadn't been determined.

Tarrant Jury Is To Be Reconvened

FORT WORTH, May 1 (AP)—Tarrant County's crime investigating grand jury, which has shown interest in the financial affairs of Nevada Gambler Benny Binion, was to be re-convened today.

Foreman Clyde P. Weed said yesterday a vote on indictments could be expected Saturday.

Binion, Las Vegas, Nev., has successfully resisted efforts to return him to Texas to face policy wheel operation charges.

U. S. District Atty. Frank Potter claimed at Dallas yesterday there was "a studied effort by Binion to indicate a deep conspiracy between his office and Nash Adams, Binion's attorney."

Potter and Adams conferred Tuesday, at the Tarrant County Courthouse. Potter said the meeting was merely a conference and not unusual between prosecutor and defense counsel.

Steelmen Await Murray Orders

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Striking steelworkers, confused by a court ruling making Uncle Sam boss of the industry again, held fast to their picket lines today awaiting orders from their leader what to do next.

It now rests with Philip Murray, president of the CIO United Steelworkers, whether some 650,000 men remain idle or go back to their jobs as employees, technically of the government.

Murray says he will have no comment until sometime today on the action of the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Washington, which restored government control of the steel industry.

The appellate court by a 5-4 decision stayed until Friday afternoon the effectiveness of an anti-seizure order handed down by Federal District Judge David A. Pine Tuesday.

Some well-posted sources said Murray may issue no statement before President Truman's weekly news conference today. It was speculated that Murray may wish to be guided by whatever the President tells reporters.

"There was no comment from the giant United States Steel Corp., bellwether of the industry. However, a close source that requested anonymity said:

"The next move seems to be up to Mr. Murray."

The steel plant shutdown, speediest in history, was accomplished with a minimum of damage to costly steel-making machinery according to all reports. A few plants still are closing off furnaces slowly to prevent damage. Some companies, like Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. in Pittsburgh, thanked their employees for helping prevent damage.

In Chicago, an ore boat—the E. J. Block owned by Inland Steel—was prevented from getting through the Indiana harbor canal to the big Inland plant. Pickets massed on a bridge, keeping it from being raised to clear the boat. It is now moored in the canal.

Meanwhile, many of the strikers are bewildered. Some are resentful. Leaders here and there scoff at what they call "in again, out again" decisions affecting the vital industry.

With defense production stalled in plants of nearly 100 basic steel companies, the strikers stuck doggedly to picket lines, asserting:

"What else can we do until we know for sure who's running the show?"

Most of the picketing is of the token kind—sparse rather than on extensive scales. It is orderly.

In Buffalo, N. Y., USW District Director Joseph P. Molony said:

"It is unlikely that the men will return to work until they find out just whom they are working for and who is going to give them a raise in wages. On Mondays the government runs the steel mills. On Tuesdays the steel companies take their turn. Here it is Wednesday, and look who's back in."

That sentiment was echoed in this steel capital.

From Buffalo, N. Y., it was reported that continuation of the steel strike might result in a serious slump of Great Lakes shipping. Shippers said dozens of bulk carriers might be affected. Already two ships were anchored in Buffalo harbor, unable to unload their cargoes at the Lackawanna plant of Bethlehem Steel.

The United States Steel Corp. laid off all its 14,500 coal miner employees for the duration of the strike.

650 Cattle In Ring At Livestock Auction

An estimated 650 cattle and 50 hogs went through the ring at the Big Spring Livestock Auction Company's sale Wednesday.

Fat bulls sold for 23.00 to 26.00, fat cows for 20.00 to 23.00, butcher cows for 17.00 to 18.00 and fat butcher cows and yearlings for 31.00 to 34.00.

Stocker steer calves went for 34.00 to 36.00, heifer calves for 33.00 to 34.50, cows and calves for 19.00 to 27.50 and butcher hogs for 17.00 to 17.50.

Bidders On Posse Facilities Are Told

Apparent high bidders were announced Thursday on six of 10 items on surplus property at the Air Base.

The items were structures and facilities of the Sheriff's Posse plant, taken over by the federal government in reactivating the Big Spring Air Base.

Offers were not accepted on two barns, a privy and the judges stand.

The high bidder on barn "A," a 47x191 structure with a 14x191 shed, was Ned Sanders of Big Spring. On Barn E, a 20x81 structure, Dr. T. J. Williamson was the top bidder. Dr. Williamson also bid in the 20x28 frame keeper's house, and Ned Sanders was top bidder on the 20x48 club house with 8x48 porch.

Melvin Choate was the best bidder on the 2,000 feet of one-inch and three-quarter inch iron water lines. K. H. McGibbon had the best offer on the underground butane tank.

The bidders have 30 days in which to move their purchases from the premises.

Col. Delbert Freeman, in charge of the Fort Worth district for the corps, said that barn "C," a 20x100 frame building with 7x100 shed; and barn "D," a 20x100 affair with 7x100 shed, might be negotiated along with the 6x8 privy and the judges stand. Offers on these were considered too low.

Col. Freeman announced that bids would be received to 2 p. m. on May 2 for construction of the AIO administration building, AIO shops and utilities at the Big Spring Air Base.

May 6 was announced as the date for receiving bids on the training group headquarters structures.

Bid date on additional utilities at the base are expected to be announced soon.

No contract has been awarded as yet on the psychological trainer building which was up for bids on April 18. The offer of $260,905 was too far in excess of the estimates of $214,905.

Vigorous Applause Greet Three School Band Groups

The bands—elementary, junior and senior high schools—won vigorous applause from a medium sized audience Tuesday evening at the senior high auditorium.

The beginners, playing their first public concert, were roundly cheered in playing two simple marches under direction of Harry Lee Plumbley.

The junior high band exhibited reasonably good depth in its four numbers, perhaps doing best on its second number, "An Overture," "Autumn Nocturne."

The senior high band, which of course carried the weight of the program, opened with assurance and finesse on a spirited concert march, "Emblem of Unity." The reeds here were exceptionally smooth, a quality they did not again exhibit until one of the Korsakov melodies and finally in the "World is Waiting for the Sunrise."

One of the better numbers was "First Swedish Rhapsody," and in this the band achieved a greater depth of feeling than elsewhere. The "Two Moods" overture was well done but the "Eroica" was a trifle heavy for the young musicians. There were passages where they faltered and were uncertain. The novelties—the cornet trio and the drum quartet were given long applause.—J.P.

Remington Seeks To Dismiss Indictments

NEW YORK (AP)—Former government economist William W. Remington has asked Federal Court to dismiss two indictments charging him with perjury. A hearing is set for May 5.

Remington was convicted in February, 1951, of perjuring himself when he told a federal grand jury that he had never been a member of the Communist party. The U. S. Court of Appeals, however, ordered that he be given a new trial.

A second indictment later was returned against him, charging that he lied on the witness stand during his first trial when he denied passing government secrets to a Soviet spy courier.

Piano Auditions Set To Start Saturday

Adjudication of 113 piano students of this region will begin Saturday when Mrs. Few Brewster of Austin arrives to preside at the hearings sponsored by the National Guild of Piano Teachers.

The auditions will be held at the First Presbyterian Church through May 7.

Mrs. Brewster, wife of the Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of Texas, received her degree in piano from Baylor University. After her marriage, she studied with Dr. Walter Gilweiss of Mary Hardin-Baylor College for about ten years.

Students auditioning Saturday will be the pupils of Jessie Willis. They include Sally Adair, Lynn Clawson, Mary Claire Kinney, JoAnn Horton, Nora Lee Horton, Nita Jo Hedleston, Joyce Horne, Freda Donles, Glenda Manning, Ginny Dee Scudday of Forsan, Jacqueline Smith, Marie Hall and Howard Sheats.

The auditions are non-competitive and students are rated on their own ability rather than on their ability in comparison with the others.

Thirty-two points are considered by the judge, including accuracy, rhythm, tone-quality, phrasing and pedaling.

The auditions are conducted privately and each pupil plays his selections from memory.

Monitors for the Saturday auditions will be Martha Winans, Janice Anderson and Lisa Jean Turner.

Membership Tickets On Sale For 1952-53 Concert Series

The extensive ticket drive launched sometime ago by the Big Spring Concert Association for the 1952-53 series among the clubwomen of Big Spring will close soon and tickets will go on sale to the general public.

Mrs. Shelby Reed is in charge of the ticket sales.

Dual tickets sell for $16, singles for $8 and children's for $1.25.

Two performances have already been scheduled for the season and the third will depend on the number of tickets sold.

Scheduled for presentation by the Concert Association is the opera "Carmen" to be produced by the Charles L. Wagner Opera Production Co.

The productions are under the artistic direction of Desire Defrere, stage director of the Metropolitan Opera.

The musical director is chosen annually as the conductor best suited for the work to be given.

Each production is fresh and clean both musically and scenically with carefully chosen young voices and attractive artists.

The other program already scheduled is a concert by the San Antonio Symphony Orchestra, now in its 13th season.

Conducted by Dr. Victor Alessandro, the orchestra was founded by Max Reiter and is an instrument of rare beauty, fine precision and unquestionable eminence.

Dr. Alessandro went to San Antonio from Oklahoma City, where he built a distinguished reputation as founder and conductor of that symphony orchestra.

The San Antonio orchestra has gained a reputation as the "premier" among major U. S. orchestras for so many accomplishments in so short a time.

Bookcase Headboard Fits French Provincial Style

What happened to the notion that a highly styled room wasn't as comfortable and convenient as a room that just grew, like Topsy? It faded when high style furnishings became more and more comfortable and convenient, and disappeared when comfortable and convenient items took on more style.

Comfortable studio beds and convenient bookcase headboards, for example, now fit to today's favorite French Provincial style.

A studio bed with a French Provincial flavor helps to style a French Provincial room while it turns a study into a smart guest room, or a bedroom into a double duty bed-sitting room.

The popular bookcase headboard, as new as the idea is, becomes appropriate to today's French Provincial type room on the drawing board of a skillful designer.

Curves that belong to the style adapt easily to the kind of simple, low headboard that's in fashion. These are shown both with and without upholstery and some come with panels which are easily removed for recovering.

Following the coronation, a dance program will be presented by pupils of the school.

Mrs. Fryar Endorsed For State HD Office

Mrs. Shirley Fryar of Howard County, vice president of District 6, was endorsed as a candidate for state secretary when the members of the Texas Home Demonstration Association of the district met in McCombe Tuesday for their annual spring meeting.

The state officers will be elected at the state meeting in Kingsville August 26-28.

Mrs. Fryar presided at the affair and others attending from Howard County were Mrs. W. H. Ward, a member of the education-expansion committee; Mrs. Cromwell Hooton, a voting delegate and a member of the credentials committee; Mrs. D. C. Zant, secretary of the county council; Mrs. Sam Armstrong, THDA chairman and voting delegate; Mrs. Bob Wrenn, voting delegate; Mrs. W. F. Hechler, county council reporter; and Mrs. Eugenia Toland, county agent.

The Park building was headquarters for the day's meeting. Mrs. John Goughly of Hico, state secretary, brought a message to the group from the state board.

Iris Davenport, women's editor of the Farm and Ranch-Southern Agriculturist, discussed "Mental Grooming."

During the afternoon, Mrs. Armstrong, chairman of the resolutions committee, gave one of the six committee reports.

Judge Clyde Smith of the Supreme Court of Texas spoke on "Our Youth and the Alcohol-Narcotic Traffic."

He told the women that the biggest safeguard for the youth of today against alcohol and narcotics is a strong home life with a generous supply of family love and affection.

He outlined four points for parents to heed: Limit children's spending money to a reasonable amount, restrict the use of the family automobile for pleasure, know where children are and know their friends and associates, provide more wholesome family recreation and entertainment as a unit.

Invitations were extended by the Montahans, Odessa and Iran clubs for the 1953 meeting. The site will be selected by the new district vice president and district agent after the officer is elected.

Attending the day's meeting were 31 voting delegates from 11 counties, 128 visitors, three staff members.

Rita Faye Wright Honored At Shower

Rita Faye Wright, bride-elect of J. C. Edwin Fort Jr., was honored Wednesday afternoon at a shower in the home of Mrs. C. W. Guthrie.

Cok-hostesses were Mrs. J. D. Jones, Mrs. C. W. Guthrie, Mrs. G. A. Barnett, Mrs. A. D. Webb, Mrs. B. A. Merrick, Mrs. W. D. Younger, Mrs. Lewis Merworth, Mrs. Charles Creighton, Mrs. Boone Horne, Mrs. Marvin Lawson and Mrs. Melvin Choate.

In the receiving line with Mrs. Guthrie was the honoree; Mrs. H. W. Wright, mother of the bride-elect; and Mrs. J. E. Fort Sr., mother of the prospective bridegroom.

The refreshment table was laid with an imported hand-made sheer linen cloth with organdy applique.

In the center was a large arrangement of pink snapdragons, pink stock and pink carnations. Extending from either side of the flowers were silver double wedding rings.

Crystal candelabra holding pink tapers flanked the arrangement.

Early in the afternoon and Judy Douglas served.

Mrs. Raymond Phillips presided at the guest register, where an arrangement of glameñas was featured.

The bride-elect was attired in a champagne linen dress with an orchid corsage.

One hundred guests registered and included Mrs. Floyd Boles and Mrs. Charles Sherwood of Midland.

All newcomers are invited to attend the Welcome Stranger tea to be given Friday at 3 p.m. at First Methodist Church by the United Council of Church Women.

Members of the Jewish Sisterhood will be hostesses. Mrs. Bernard Fisher is program chairman and Mrs. Les Kornfeld is in charge of tea arrangements.

The program will be held preceding the tea in the church sanctuary, and the tea in the parlors.

The main address, "The Miracle of Unity," will be given by Chaplain C. O. Hitt of the VA Hospital.

Purpose of the tea is to give women who have moved here within the past year an opportunity to meet the church women of the city.

Mrs. H. G. Stinnett, state president of the P-TA, of Pishview was honored Wednesday morning at a brunch in the home of Mrs. H. H. Stephens.

The meal was served buffet style from a table laid with a green satin cloth and centered with a kitchen arrangement of yellow gladiolus and yellow daisies.

Stevenson Might Accept Draft, Particularly If Taft Selected

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP)—A new move to "draft" Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois for a presidential nomination is under way among Democrats opposed to Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee.

The move has the backing of some national party lieutenants who have shown their ability in maneuvering for candidates of their choice in recent Democratic conventions, particularly in the selection of vice presidential nominees.

Stevenson has said emphatically he "could not accept" a presidential nomination since he is running for governor of Illinois.

But Washington friends believe the governor tempered that refusal by saying recently he would be "flattered" if the party decided he could be of more service in the White House.

His belief that Stevenson might be available—under some circumstances—is bolstered by reports that calls from party leaders here to the governor have not brought any flat refusal to accept a draft.

They think that, if the Republicans nominate Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, Stevenson would become a willing candidate.

As the situation stands, Sen. Kefauver seems likely to go into the Chicago convention with the largest number of delegates committed outside the South.

Sen. Richard Russell of Georgia may top him—with strictly Southern delegates—if Russell wins in a popularity test in Florida's primary next Tuesday.

The same day, however, Kefauver may be collecting a large chunk of Ohio delegates. He has a 32-vote slate running in the 51-vote Democratic delegation.

Former Sen. Robert Bulkley has a 54-vote slate in the field, so even if Kefauver elects all of his delegates, there will be 22 national convention votes left over.

Bulkley's backers have tried in vain to get Stevenson to let them link their slate to him. They also have failed to interest Gov. Frank Lausche of Ohio.

Some Democrats here believe that Kefauver's delegate total at convention time will not match the total of those who are opposed to having him as the nominee.

Sen. Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma, who thinks he will have more than 100 delegates by the convention in July, apparently is working on that theory.

Truce Talkers Meet Friday

By ROBERT EUNSON
MUNSAN, Korea (AP)—Truce negotiators scheduled a crucial session tomorrow to hear the Communist reply to the United Nations package proposal for reaching a Korean armistice.

The Reds today asked for the full-dress session after studying the secret Allied plan three days.

There was no indication whether the Communists would reject, accept or make a counterproposal.

Blocking progress in the nearly 10 months old negotiations were the issues of prisoner exchange, Russian participation in an armistice and rehabilitation of military airfields during an armistice.

Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckols, U.N. Command spokesman, said the Communists announced this afternoon they were ready to meet tomorrow. The offer was accepted in 10 minutes.

The meeting is scheduled for 11 a.m. Friday (9 p.m. Thursday, EST).

It may be the decisive conference of the lengthy truce talks.

After receiving the package proposal Monday in a secret session of top negotiators, the Communists asked for a recess to study it.

The package proposal is understood to make a sweeping solution to three remaining unsolved problems.

If the Communists follow their usual conference table tactics they will come back with a counterproposal.

The current interruption in the talks is the longest since Oct. 25, when negotiations resumed after a two-month breakdown.

Col. Chang Chun Sen notified security officers at Panmunjon that the Reds were ready to meet. Chang, chief Communist liaison officer, had sent the message to the truce site from Kaesong, headquarters of the Red delegation.

There was no written exchange.

Red Infantrymen Quiet As Big Guns Carry On A Duel

By WILLIAM C. BARNARD
SEOUL, Korea (AP)—The roar of artillery, planes and naval guns ushered in May Day in the Korean War. But Communist infantrymen stuck close to their bunkers.

Big guns blazed along the Western Front in an explosive duel, and rattled the Allied truce base at Munsan.

At the other end of the 155-mile front the battleship Iowa blasted Red artillery positions 16 miles inland with her 16-inch guns.

The U.S. destroyer Fox duelled with Red shore batteries yesterday. The Navy said the Fox scored several direct hits with 200 rounds, but the closest the Reds could come was 200 yards from the Fox.

The Fifth Air Force sent its planes out in force.

It reported Allied pilots shot down 41 Russian-type MIG-15 jets during the month, probably destroyed nine and damaged 44. Thirty-eight Allied planes were lost from all causes.

The monthly summary said Allied planes cut Red rail lines in 2,300 places, inflicted 1,180 casualties on Communist troops, and destroyed 1,836 trucks, 158 box cars, 13 locomotives and 224 gun positions.

The U.S. Eighth Army reported its ground forces inflicted 2,116 casualties between April 22 and 28.

A highlight of the public program will be a downtown parade at 2:30 p.m. Saturday.

A barbecue has been scheduled for 5:45 p.m. Saturday.

Legion Meet Tonight Will Elect Officers

Big Spring Legionnaires will elect new officers tonight in a meeting at the Settler's Hotel.

The session is set for 8 p.m. in Room No. 1 on the mezzanine floor.

A nominating committee headed by Chester Cathey will make its report, and then all post members present will vote on new officers.

All members of the Post are particularly urged to attend tonight's meeting and participate in the voting. Jack Pearson, post commander, said.

Critical Methodist Group To Be Ousted From Offices

By STEVEN V. DAVID
SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The unofficial Methodist Federation for Social Action, charged by opponents with causing a breach in the church by following leftwing policies, will be asked during the Methodist General Conference to vacate offices in the Methodist Building, New York.

The Committee on the State of the Church adopted a report yesterday linking this request with a demand that the federation drop the word "Methodist" from its title.

It was the opening gun in a campaign against the federation led by a group known as the "Circuit Riders." They contend the federation, originally formed to promote the social creed of the church, now follows policies far beyond the church's most liberal views.

The committee report declares the church has been "embarrassed by certain pronouncements" of the unofficial federation. It contends that "confusion has arisen in the minds of the public regarding the right of the federation to speak for the Methodist Church."

It stresses that it has no connection with the church.

The federation's president, retired Bishop Francis McConnell of Lucasville, O., told the committee the federation "is not a Communist organization."

"Goodness knows," he said,

"that the churches ought to have a radical organization occasionally. We have no quarrel with changing our name," he added. "We can change that all right. Only remember that we aren't the only unofficial organization of the Methodist Church that makes statements that are criticized."

Suggests Sanctions To Get Oatis Out

PANAMA CITY, Fla. (AP)—Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) said today the United States government ought to apply sanctions against Czechoslovakia in an effort to get Associated Press Correspondent, William N. Oatis released from prison.

In an interview, he called the Oatis case "a shame and disgrace," and added: "We ought to get tougher in cases like this."

A Bible Thought For Today—

And all men are our neighbors. It is hard to be precisely truthful about men whom we hate, so hate no one. "Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor." — Exodus 20:16.

Courage And Friendship Are Good Marks Of A Man Like T. S. Currie

When Bun Fisher walked blindly out of the State National Bank Tuesday afternoon, his eyes filled with tears in the knowledge that the chief architect of the bank's fortunes lay dying, he unashamedly displayed the feeling of all who had been closely connected with Mr. Temp S. Currie Sr. over the past four decades.

Mr. Currie was the type of a man who commanded respect because he earned respect. His contemporaries could, and occasionally did, differ with him on current issues, but they respected his judgment and his integrity.

He had built the bank upon personal integrity as much as any other quality. But he insisted upon an alter-dependability for the institution. He could suffer a personal loss through misplaced confidence complacently, but he dealt more sternly in the bank's affairs because he was always conscious that "we are handling other people's money."

Mr. Currie was a conservative banker. That is to say he closely scrutinized each appeal for loans and followed a sound policy of investment. But many a man found him willing to go beyond the bounds expected, provided the man himself had a reasonably good proposition and character to back up his request. That his conservatism was in reality sound caution is reflected in the substantial and steady growth of the bank. And Mr. Currie was personally responsible for much of that growth. As a key financial figure, he also had his stake in the community's growth.

A quality which he possessed and yet in which was not in the least ostentatious was a burning courage. This was a moral and physical as well as a spiritual courage. To know Mr. Currie, you had to understand this.

To know him also you had but to listen to the old timers who had known him all through the years and who found him a quiet but great friend, in hours of distress and grief, a person heard him ask almost gruffly if money was needed. And without question or security, they found money to their account. That's a good measure of a man.

One Issue On Which All Texans Should Agree Is The Tidelands

When voters go to the precinct conventions Saturday afternoon, their prime consideration probably will be in presidential matters. This is a perfectly natural development since the May precinct and county conventions come up only in presidential years and are calculated to develop some modicum of sentiment on the part of the people.

However, there is at least one matter that we believe most people will agree upon—whether Democrat or Republican and regardless of presidential preferences within the two parties.

Reference is to the tidelands question. The logical place to start with a resolution of this sort is in the precinct conventions. If precincts and then the county conventions all blossom out with resolutions strongly calling for a recognized status of state ownership of the tidelands, then the state delegation can in turn press for adoption of this resolution as a part of the party platforms.

Even if the effort were not crowned with ultimate and complete success, it would have a great influence upon the policy makers and upon the party leadership, whenever it might be.

We suggest that Saturday (2 p.m. for the Democrats and 3 p.m. for the Republicans) each precinct will come up with a resolution to this effect. It need not be long or involved. Perhaps it would suffice to say that it is the sense of this body that the principle of state ownership of tidelands be upheld and that appropriate legislation to secure title in the states be adopted, and that this party work toward this end.

Merry-Go-Round—Draw Pearson

City Bosses Fear Kefauver Win; He Would Control Justice Dept.

WASHINGTON. — Naturally you can't get any of the Democratic high command to admit it, but the frantic jockeying to sidetrack Estes Kefauver largely boils down to a deep and frenzied fear on the part of the big city bosses of having him where he could control the Justice Department.

That's the reason why a lot of Northern money is being sent down to Florida, gambling money and otherwise, to try to defeat Kefauver with another Southerner—Russell of Georgia. It isn't so much that certain Northern Democrats love Russell; it's that they figure Florida is a key state to set back Kefauver.

To understand exactly what this means you have to understand the cardinal strategy by which the Democratic party has won its victories in recent years.

This strategy is to control the big city machines. Such control does two things. First, it gives the party a huge block of votes to lead off in any national election; second, the power and patronage of the city machines is more important to some leaders than a national victory.

That is why Washington has long witnessed the paradoxical position of certain Brooklyn, Manhattan and Chicago congressmen who consistently vote for liberal legislation in Washington, then go home and vote conservative on local issues. What this means is that, in return for their votes on national issues in Washington, these congressmen aid these city machines as given complete power at home.

business, and Stone promptly was promoted to the Supreme Court—even though he was a very close friend and former Amherst classmate of Coolidge.

Ever since shortly after the Civil War, when the once radical Republican party became the defender of business, its campaign chests have received their main contributions from business. Simultaneously the Democratic party has received generous contributions from certain shadowy figures who support the big city machines. Jimmy Hines, the Tammany leader who later went to jail for his underworld connections; attended the Democratic convention in Chicago when Franklin Roosevelt was first nominated, and Frankie Costello, the gambling king was with him. Likewise the $300,000 shake-down which Boss Pendergast collected from Missouri insurance companies did not go into his pocket but into the party's campaign funds.

This gives an inkling of why certain leaders are so sore at Kefauver. It also gives an inkling of why control of the Justice Department is so important. In the case of the Democrats, they need control of the Justice Department's criminal division which has the power to put people in jail. In the case of the Republicans, they bank on control of the anti-trust division with its power to prosecute corporations.

The first Democrat since Frank Murphy who really disrupted this unofficial alliance between the Justice Department and the big city machines is now running for the Democratic nomination.

Kefauver had the nerve not only to push a criminal investigation through the Senate, but to probe such cities as Chicago and New York just before elections.

Kefauver was urged by Democratic colleagues to concentrate on Philadelphia, a city where crime was bad, but which was controlled by Republicans. Instead he began with the President's own home—Kansas City, then moved up to Democratic Chicago, and on to Democratic New York where he seriously embarrassed the ex-mayor of New York, Democrat William O'Dwyer.

Ordinarily, party bosses don't shy away from a winner. On the contrary, they rush in his direction. Results from all Democratic primaries prior to this Tuesday indicate that, measured in the terms politicians understand best, hard cold votes, they have a possible winner in Kefauver. For instance, total Democratic votes cast in all primaries prior to this week is 1,417,960, out of which Kefauver has won 1,124,804 or about 80 per cent.

Here is the break-down:

Democratic votes cast up until this week	1,417,960
Kefauver	1,124,804
Humphrey	102,527
Stevenson	88,913
Truman	55,502
Kerr	47,004
Russell	1,904
Harrison	1,563
Berkley	443

However, when the party bosses foresee a hostile Justice Department plus the possible threat of jail, then the normal appeal of backing a winner just doesn't count. The last thing they want is a Justice Department in the hands of another Frank Murphy

T-H Doesn't Ban Strike Indefinitely, Though Congress May Correct This

WASHINGTON (U.S.)—Through most of American history the courts could issue injunctions against unions, forbidding strikes. Organized labor fought this as an infringement on workers' rights and a one-sided deal for employers.

In 1933 Congress passed the Norris-LaGuardia Act, banning court injunctions against strikes. But employers still didn't have to bargain with a union. President Roosevelt's administration changed that in 1935 with the Wagner Act, which compelled employers to bargain.

But the Wagner Act didn't say unions had to bargain in good faith and employers now did the complaining. They said the act was loaded for labor unions. The situation remained unchanged until 1947 when the Republicans got control of Congress. They passed the Taft-Hartley Act, with the help of a lot of Democrats. This, among other things, now compelled unions to bargain in good faith.

The pendulum had swung the other way again. Union leaders denounced T-H. So did President Truman, who had and still has the support of many labor union leaders. It became a political issue.

With the Wagner Act, the government got neck-deep in labor-management relations. With T-H it was empowered to intervene even more because T-H covers so much more territory.

And T-H restored some of the old injunctive powers of the courts, but with a limit. It said when a strike threatened the national welfare, the President could get a court order stopping it for 60 days.

If there still was no settlement by then, the union could strike. So T-H doesn't permit an injunction forbidding a strike. It only delays a strike.

Came the present steel dispute. Instead of using T-H, President Truman tried persuasion. He got the steelworkers to delay their strike three months. By April 8, when there was still no agreement, they began to walk out.

Again Truman by-passed T-H. He seized the steel industry instead of using the T-H injunction to delay for another 60 days a strike which the workers themselves already had delayed for three months.

The President claimed constitutional power to take the mills, a view now being debated in court. While he held them, he asked Congress to help solve the problem.

Congress did nothing but criticize Truman while the workers stayed on their jobs.

Now the strike has started. And now there is agitation in Congress to do what it shied away from in T-H: ban a vital strike indefinitely and even let a judge appoint a board of managers to run a threatened industry.

That proposal came from Rep. Smith, Virginia Democrat, who also suggested that Congress get into the act by voting itself authority to step into a strike situation by asking for an injunction.

Although organized labor praised the Wagner Act and management damned it, and while management praised T-H and labor damned it, both acts meant less freedom for employers and employees and more government control.

This Day In Texas

By CURTIS BISHOP

Some 9,000 Texans, members of the Knights of Labor, went on strike on this day in 1896 in their first big labor dispute the state ever knew.

The strike came as a protest against the firing of a foreman in the Texas & Pacific Railroad shops at Marshall in direct violation of the workmen's contract.

Within a week the walk-out spread to the entire Gould system of the Southwest.

At Fort Worth where a freight train was forcibly stopped. Men on both sides were killed and property destroyed. Governor Ireland ordered state militia and Rangers to the trouble area and the disturbance soon subsided. Meanwhile the Texas and Pacific Railway had passed into the hands of a Federal receiver and a Federal Court ruled that the strike was in contempt of court.

The labor agitation became critical for Louis and also led to the famous Hay Market Square incident in Chicago, in which seven were killed and sixty wounded by a bomb.

Japan To Be Strange To Those Going There Now

WASHINGTON (U.S.)—So Japan is free. How will it be from now on between us?

I wasn't one of those who fought their way to Japan, island by island, stepping stones of bitterness. No Japanese sniper ever fired at me. I never stayed awake all night in a Pacific ditch worrying whether a little brown man would creep up and slit my throat.

All my memories of Japan are pleasant.

I invaded it in comfort in the late summer of 1945. It was the driest-footed amphibious landing ever made. I was with a bunch of Okinawa-trained Marines assigned to take an island in Tokyo Bay.

The Japanese had already waved the white flag, but there were three old gun positions on this island. And somebody decided that the island ought to be secured against the possibility that the Japs might pull a trick and try to sink the U. S. Navy.

So, cussing and praising the shores of Tripoli, the Marines loaded into the Higgins boats and roared off toward the island. The first object that came in sight was a bare-footed old Japanese lady prowling the beach with a basket of clams.

She heard the buzzing motors, turned—and there were the U. S. Marines rushing across the waves straight toward her, guns loaded.

There had been considerable bribery-through-entertainment of Americans by highly placed Japanese. There had been considerable needless throwing-around-of-weight by a number of Americans, suddenly eating higher on the hog than they ever had at home.

But, by and large, it must have been one of the lightest military occupations in history. The Japanese accepted it with such grace and dignity there really wasn't much to make an issue over. They never lost their polite smile.

There have been a lot of friendships made between Americans and Japanese over there in the last seven years. Some are solid, and will last a long time, because it is easier for different human beings to understand each other than differing nations.

But Japan will seem strange now to one who never knew her before the last war. The subtle change of power will be there. The little giant is free, loose in a wide world again, for better or for worse.

All that will be the same will be the smile. In Japan that never changes.

I suppose that one of the first things we'll have to do is go back to calling Emperor Hirohito by his proper title. The U. S. occupation troops always cheerfully referred to him as "Charley."

Somehow "Charley" had a friendly sound. I hope the echoes last.

Uncle Ray's Corner

There can be only a single bounce. In case of a tie for the top score, there is a runoff contest.

In another contest, the members of the party are divided into two groups of equal number. They line up along opposite sides of a room, and the person on one end of each line is given the outside case of a penny box of safety matches.

The box case is placed on the nose of that player, and he transfers it to the nose of the next in line without using his hands. The winners are those who first get their box clear down to the end of the row.

If the box case falls to the floor, the one who drops it must fall on his knees and get it back on his nose without using his hands.

Games Provide Fun During A Party

Birthday parties and other gatherings may be made merry with stunts and games of various kinds. Today I shall speak of a few which you might use next time you give a party.

There can be a "magazine race." Gather twice as many old magazines as there are persons who will take part. All of these should be of the same size, so that the race will be fair.

Make two lines, one for the start and one for the finish, and give each contestant two magazines. The distance between the lines may be 15 or 20 feet.

At the "go" signal, each contestant places one magazine on the floor and steps on it. Then he places the other magazine ahead of him at a distance of perhaps two or three feet, and steps on it. Turning, he picks up the other magazine and does the same with it, but he must keep his feet only on magazines during the whole race.

If he loses his balance and falls on his hands, or if he puts his foot on the floor or ground instead of on a magazine, he must drop out of the race.

The one who reaches the finish line first is the winner. It may be well to appoint judges, and to have the members of the party divided into groups of three or four each. The winner in each group may take part in a final race to decide who will win the prize.

A simple game can be played with an egg carton containing 12 pockets and a ping pong ball. The players stand about eight feet away, and each has four chances to bounce the ball into the carton.

Western Culture Shows Commies We Are Civilized

PARIS (U.S.)—Western culture sang of itself last night to show Communists the West is civilized and to show the victims of 20th century tyranny they have a champion.

The singing came in the opening concert of a month-long festival of music, art and literature called "Masterpieces of the 20th Century." It was held in the old Church of St. Roch before an overflow crowd.

The show was sponsored by the Congress for Cultural Freedom. Victims of tyranny, to whom the first concert was dedicated, were symbolized by 200 honor guests—former prisoners in Russian, German and Spanish camps.

You Can Have This Guy's Money, I'll Take Crosby And His Income

Ugh! That's what the man said. He doesn't like the way we dress nowadays.

A Fifth Avenue (New York) tailor, Ray Twyeffort, is upset over all this. And, he says, "When we took the starch out of our collars we took the starch out of our backbones. . . . Morale, manners and etiquette have disappeared, he went on to say. 'Men go without ties. Women rush to work wearing babushkas, looking like Russian peasants.'"

Then the man uttered his now famous remark: "Ugh!"

Fahaw, he's all wet, I think.

Although I'll bet Twyeffort was mighty slick in appearance with his double-breasted waistcoat, striped sack suit, black Homburg and starched collar, I'll wager he felt like hell.

It might have been cool up East, but I'd sure hate to wear such an outfit down here.

Take these warm West Texas days, for instance. Can you imagine how you'll feel under a broiling July summer sun? Why, you'll darn near dry up after the poundage shrinks off your body and what with our howling, dusty winds—you might just end up 100 miles from here.

Of course, Mr. Twyeffort says we are capitalists and therefore ought to look like capitalists. . . . like he does.

Goodness me, that's no way to act. Take a fellow like Bing Crosby, for example. Lord only knows, Bing's a capitalist, but did you ever see such loud casual clothes in all your life?

And, I'll bet Bing's a heckuva lot more comfortable, too.

Seriously, I never could reason out why we dress as we do. When most of us shop for clothes, particularly the casual type, we demand comfort and ease. Yet we turn around and practically kill ourselves when it comes to so-called dressing up garments.

By the same token, when we shop for furniture or household appliances, we seek something comfortable and practical to make life one of more ease and less work.

But we don't do it when it comes to clothing.

And, when we're all dressed up, means go up by the dozens over how tight collars are, stiff necks, aching backs, etc., all due to silly ideas about dressing up.

Comfort is the by-word and it's high time we realized this, I think.

I'm on Crosby's side. Even for these formal affairs.

FRED GREENE.

In Portugal, The Matador Lets The Bull Live After A Big Chase

By HOUSTON HARTE

PAMPLONA.—One of the differences between Portugal and Spain is the bull fight. In all the principal cities of each country you find the sport palaces consist exclusively of a "Plaza de Toros" or bull fighting arena. It represents a sizeable investment and the seating capacity ranges from 30,000 down to about 10,000.

But in Portugal the matador does not kill the bull. All the various steps that go to make up a finished bull fight are carried out—until the final stand when the matador is supposed to bury his sword deep between the bull's shoulders.

In Portugal they prick the bull, jostle him about, and run him ragged chasing after a red flag, but in the end the matador shows how he could have killed him but lets the bull live, ready to fight another day.

Some people read into this a fundamental difference between the Spanish and Portuguese nations. I don't know.

You hear three stories as to what happens to the bull when he gets out of the arena. One is that the bull is killed the next day and never gets into the arena again. A third is that if the bull has not drawn the blood of a toreador, a matador, or a horse, he is permitted to fight again. Under any circumstances, Anglo-Saxons appreciate the sporting spirit of the Portuguese.

and headed for the arena. In the street scores of young men and boys who aspire to be bull fighters wave red flags and start the merry chase of outwitting the bulls as they race through the center of town.

The boys are not armed and many of them are without any experience in bull fighting. They must be agile and either leap a barricade or dodge into a friendly doorway. Each year a number of participants are wounded and gored. Some years a few are killed. Naturally it attracts a great crowd and makes the "season at Pamplona" one of the best in Spain.

In an automobile drive from Madrid to Paris one is not impressed with Spanish cattle. The fighting bulls are usually black, but they are not large, although they look rugged enough. They appear to weigh about 1,200 pounds and have a much better forequarter than rear quarter.

At Zaracosa, John A. March of San Angelo was still trying his Spanish on the hotel room clerks and bell boys. The results were not impressive. But when he rolled a cigarette all of them picked up interest. We tried to get across the idea that he was a rancher. Finally we jumped up and down in imitation of a gallop. Quick as a flash they tumbled and a bright-eyed little bell boy made a quick draw from the hip and stuck out his finger and shouted "boom boom!" After dinner we brought to the table a man who could speak English and wanted to know if the boy could get a job on the March ranch.

When Texas was mentioned, the room clerk reached under the counter and brought out a copy of "Un Policia de Tejas," a book many Texans know by William McClellan. It was printed in 1930 and is a story about the Texas Rangers.

Tom Lea's "Brave Bulls" is on sale in Spain and Portugal. One sees it in all the book stores and particularly where guide books are offered. It is not a Carl Hertzog book, but it is not a cheap volume. The El Paso publisher, Hertzog, would not like the paper this volume is printed on, or the type chosen for the text.

T-H Doesn't Ban Strike Indefinitely, Though Congress May Correct This

WASHINGTON (U.S.)—Through most of American history the courts could issue injunctions against unions, forbidding strikes. Organized labor fought this as an infringement on workers' rights and a one-sided deal for employers.

In 1933 Congress passed the Norris-LaGuardia Act, banning court injunctions against strikes. But employers still didn't have to bargain with a union. President Roosevelt's administration changed that in 1935 with the Wagner Act, which compelled employers to bargain.

But the Wagner Act didn't say unions had to bargain in good faith and employers now did the complaining. They said the act was loaded for labor unions. The situation remained unchanged until 1947 when the Republicans got control of Congress. They passed the Taft-Hartley Act, with the help of a lot of Democrats. This, among other things, now compelled unions to bargain in good faith.

The pendulum had swung the other way again. Union leaders denounced T-H. So did President Truman, who had and still has the support of many labor union leaders. It became a political issue.

With the Wagner Act, the government got neck-deep in labor-management relations. With T-H it was empowered to intervene even more because T-H covers so much more territory.

And T-H restored some of the old injunctive powers of the courts, but with a limit. It said when a strike threatened the national welfare, the President could get a court order stopping it for 60 days.

Takes Money To Get Money Mining Uranium

By GORDON G. GAUSS

MOAB, Utah (U)—So you want to mine uranium—and get in on the atomic ore boom which is sweeping the vast Colorado Plateau, a rugged land far from cities.

Take a good look at the prospects and a second thought before you quit your job and head west. There's money to be made in the boom—for a few people—but it isn't easy.

Simplified, here's what you're up against: First, you'll have to have some money and some credit. Many mining men consider $5,000 an absolute minimum. There's always the possibility you'll lose every dime of your stake.

Then you'll have to get a claim to work. In many parts of the area—which embraces huge sections of Western Colorado, Eastern Utah, Northeast Arizona and Northwest

New Mexico—the cost of the claim is only a trivial filing fee—if you get it first.

Each claim is 600 feet by 1,500 feet. You can stake as many as you want. Then you make a filing at the nearest courthouse and find out about development laws.

That sounds easy, but remember, there isn't uranium-bearing ore everywhere. It's in only a comparatively few spots and the area is a lot bigger than all of New England. Mostly it is found along the rimrocks where canyons cut messes and these places are tough to get to. Almost everyone of those areas has been gone over by someone already. If you get on someone else's claim—you're headed for trouble.

Remember, too, that the government—through its Atomic Energy Commission—has withdrawn some 500 square miles of "explored" land from entry and even in spots which you may think a white man has never reached before you'll come across a neatly printed little metal sign, "Atomic Energy Commission. No trespassing."

If you can satisfy the AEC that you know what you're doing, you may be able to get a lease on some of this "proven" acreage. Known to contain uranium-bearing ores. You can go up to the AEC offices on the outskirts of Grand Junction, Colo., and make an application. They'll ask about your experience in the business and your financial status. A committee of six engineers and an attorney will check your application. The final decision will be made and a contract signed in Washington.

Maybe you'll go into partnership with an independent miner or sublease some land, but you had better know whom you're dealing with. A lot of phony claims being peddled to newcomers won't stand up in court.

Eventually, you're lined up on a claim. You know there's a showing of ore on it which makes the geologic counter tick, but you have to know whether it's there in paying quantities. You'll probably drill to find granted so far—three of them to companies and 19 to individuals.

Maybe you'd like to try the Navajo Indian Reservation, mostly in Northeast Arizona, which is being opened up by the Indian Service. There you have to work a claim already staked by an Indian and pay him a royalty, but first you have to get approval of the deal by the Navo Tribal Council. And men who know say the council is tougher than the AEC.

After you've figured out the ore pattern by drilling, you'll probably build a one-room shack to live in. You'll have to find some place to get drinking water—it may be miles away. And you'll have to lay in a stock of equipment, dynamite and canned food.

Finally, you get to blasting and digging out some ore. If you're lucky, you make your money then. If not, you try to get a new stake and start over.

There's a story, perhaps apocryphal, about a disillusioned stockholder in a hard-luck company, who said:

"I went through some tough battles in World War I. I went through a stretch in prison. I've been through the divorce courts. But I've never been in anything like this."

They are part of the biggest group of aliens ever to be deported from this area in one week—230.

The first batch left yesterday when 13 were flown to Miami, en route to Central and South America and the West Indies.

Today's travelers are headed for Mediterranean ports. The Immigration and Naturalization Service office here says most of the aliens are sailors who jumped ship.

Predicts Disaster In Formosa Invasion

TAIPEH, Formosa (U)—Maj. Gen. William C. Chase, observing his first year as head of the U.S. Military Assistance Advisory Group (MAAG) to Formosa, today predicted disaster for the Chinese Reds if they attempt to invade the Chinese Nationalist bastion.

"I feel if a large number of junk come, a large number will be sunk and there'll be a lot of dead Communists in the water," he said. Chase activated the MAAG with his arrival here one year ago today.

Accompanied by Chinese and American officers and newsmen, he watched Nationalist ground troops and antiaircraft firing practice near the northwestern tip of Formosa. New American guns were in use.

Yarborough Enters Governor's Race; To Back Dem Nominees

AUSTIN, May 1 (AP)—Former District Judge Ralph Yarborough of Austin today announced his candidacy for governor.

He is the only announced opponent so far of Gov. Allan Shivers.

Yarborough had been widely mentioned as a possible candidate for attorney general. His decision to run against Shivers instead came as a surprise in political circles.

"It is time for a change," he said in his formal announcement. "The people of Texas have it in their power to end the hegemony and domination of the closed clique of permanent politicians in Austin."

The 45-year-old attorney said he intends "to take this crusade for cleaner government in Texas into every corner of this state before the July primaries."

Yarborough served as judge of the 3rd District Court here for five years prior to World War II. He served three and a half years during the war with the 97th Infantry Division in the Third Army in Europe and in occupied Japan.

A graduate of the University of Texas law school, he once taught in rural Texas schools for three years, has practiced law in El Paso and Austin, and served as an assistant attorney general four years from 1931 to 1935 under then Atty. Gen. James V. Allred.

Yarborough said he decided to run for governor because "As I traveled over Texas, people asked me to run for governor and said they would rather see me run for that than for attorney general."

Asked if he had the assurance of support from the so-called "Loyal Democrats" faction which has been fighting Gov. Shivers on the loyalty pledge and unstructured national delegation issues, Yarborough replied:

"I am not running for governor because of their sponsorship. All political factions and beliefs have asked me to run. I hope to get everybody's support. I hope to get their 'Loyal Democrats' support."

He was asked if he believes as Shivers does that Texas should have an unstructured delegation to the Democratic national convention.

"Since I am seeking the governor's nomination on the Democratic ticket, I will support the nominees of the Democratic party," Yarborough replied.

Asked if he believes in a party loyalty pledge, he said:

"I think the pledge ought to be required of all candidates who go on the Democratic ticket," he answered.

Should a loyalty pledge be required of persons wishing to attend precinct conventions Saturday?

Yarborough ducked a direct answer on that question, saying: "I am running for governor of Texas. I'm not running for President or vice president." This was an apparent reference to past speculation that Shivers might be interested in becoming a presidential or vice presidential candidate.

Yarborough predicted he would have the support of enough people to make a strong campaign.

Coast Economy Hit Hard By Oil Strike

The oil strike was extended Thursday to a tenth big refinery along the Texas Gulf Coast.

Shutdown operations of the Shell Oil Company refinery at Texas City began at 2 a. m. Meanwhile orderly shutdown of nine other coastal refineries was almost complete. All were expected to be silent and cold by midnight Thursday night.

Merchants in coastal cities where oil workers' wages are a mainstay of local economy expected a siege of poor business.

The average motorist had these facts to console him:

1. Many smaller refineries, and some large ones, continued operating. These included Humble's big refinery at Baytown. Humble employees are represented by an independent union.

2. The strike came at a time when above-ground reserves of gasoline were at a record high.

Meanwhile, a Houston Chronicle survey showed the vast chemical plants along the Texas Gulf Coast may begin feeling the pinch of the strike in a matter of days. These plants, which employ more than 20,000 people, are dependent on raw petroleum products which come from the refineries.

Continental Oil Company's plant at Wichita Falls faced a noon closure while employees of a Phillips Petroleum Company plant at Borger were expected to approve a new wage contract.

The second 24 hours of the strike that struck a paralyzing blow at the great Texas industry found these other developments:

1. Gov. Shivers said two months continuance of the strike could put Texas' general revenue fund, now on the borderline of deficit, in the red, Shivers said he thought President Truman should invoke the Taft-Hartley law to the strike of Oil Workers International Union (CIO).

2. The Governor said if the strike continued he would "look closely" into the question of calling a special session of the legislature.

3. Bruce Wiggins, publicly chairman for the Texas Service Station Association, said in Beaumont that there will be no shortage of gasoline for motorists in that area although some stations will close immediately. Other reports of the gasoline supply conflict:

Some 25,000 of about 30,000 workers in Texas are out on the strike, but more than 12,000 showed up yesterday in the Beaumont-Port Arthur area to help shut down Gulf, Texas, Magnolia and Atlantic Company plants.

Nine Texas Gulf Coast refineries probably would be completely shut down by Friday night. A tenth, Shell, continued negotiations with the CIO, but had received a strike notice.

Gas pipelines showed no immediate effect from the oil strike. A spokesman for one company said, "It would be a long-range problem."

The tentative agreement for a new contract which Phillips Petroleum Company workers were to vote on Thursday at Borger called for a 15-cent hourly wage boost and increased shift differential.

The Borger local was reported not involved in the nationwide OIUW strike. Joint announcement of the agreement was made by J. M. Brush of the Phillips employee relations department and Howard Kelkush, union spokesman. Some 3,000 employees represent a wide range of workers in Phillips gasoline production, in natural gas and carbon black plants in the Borger area.

Elsewhere some smaller plants remained unaffected—at least for the time.

Tornado Damage In NW Oklahoma Light

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 1 (AP)—The threat of disaster loomed in Northwestern Oklahoma last night as tornadoes swirled in the air near Alva.

Two twisters struck the ground, one six miles west of Alva and the other at nearby Freedom.

The first hit an open field and did no damage. The other struck farm buildings and tore them up, including a $20,000 barn on the James Selman farm.

Fighting Airmen Released To Custody Of Air Police

A battling airman from the Big Spring Base went on a rampage last night and this morning there were some bloody shirts and faces marked by his teeth and fists in the Corporation Court.

Both witnesses against him were right husky men themselves. The fight started, so the evidence disclosed, when the airman pulled a civilian's hat down over the man's face in a cafe. Witnesses said the civilian was sitting in a booth with his back to the airman and did not have any warning of the attack, but after he got the hat off his face he arose to defend himself and he and the airman went into a clinch. While they were so engaged the airman bit a chunk out of the civilian's upper lip, but the man managed to hold him until the police arrived and arrested him. The civilian also had other marks of the encounter on his face.

After the airman had been placed in jail and the injured man taken to the hospital for emergency treatment, the airman attacked another prisoner in the jail and inflicted a long deep cut under the man's eye.

Police surrendered custody of the airman to the Air Police, but City Judge W. E. Greenlee warned a Sergeant of the Air Police detachment this morning that the city's agreement to surrender custody of military personnel to military authorities in such matters was based upon the presumption that fitting punishment will be imposed in cases where it deserved, or that the Corporation Court would hold such military personnel and try them.

Judge Greenlee said he had been assured by the Air Police that a full investigation will be made and that the proper steps will be taken in this and all other similar cases.

Other bloody shirts were seen in the court this morning as a result of what was described as a "fight" in a North Side cafe, but since the three persons charged in the affair knew less about it than anybody else, and one of them denied any knowledge of it at all, two were fined for drunkenness and the third was released as not guilty.

Four other persons charged with drunkenness were fined a total of $60.

"Do you just have to get drunk?" Judge Greenlee asked one of the quartet.

"No, your honor," the man replied, "but I sometimes make a mistake and get in here."

Infant Fannin Son Dies; Rites Friday

Funeral services for Cecil Lewis Fannin, day-old infant son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Fannin Sr., will be conducted at the Nailey Chapel at 2:30 p. m. Friday, with Rev. P. D. O'Brien in charge. Burial will be in the City Cemetery.

The baby died at about 7 o'clock this morning in a local hospital.

Survivors, in addition to his parents, include three sisters, Zora May, Jo Hazel and Juanita. Also his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Fannin of Sterling City; Mrs. H. maternal grandmother, Mrs. W. O. Daves, Rt. 2; and his maternal grandfather, J. H. Hollis, Seagraves.

Collision Reported

John Weeks Garrison, 507 E. 12th, driving a 1930 Ford pickup, and Weldon George Duke, 1103 E. 18th, driving a 1949 Plymouth, were hit during a police traffic report as the motorists involved in a collision at about 1000 Johnson at 5:35 p. m. yesterday.

Stalin Reviews Red May Day Parade; Berlin Area Is Tense

Riots, strikes and rival demonstrations by Communists and non-Communists flared around the world this May Day as the workers of the world—far from united—showed their colors and shouted their creeds in the cold war.

Tokyo was blooded with violent riots.

Communist troops, guarded by police and troops, staged rival demonstrations within sight of each other.

Soviet Prime Minister Stalin sanctioned pro-Red celebrations by appearing at Lenin's tomb to watch Soviet might troop through Red Square.

New York readied a parade down Eighth Avenue with 1,500 police and detectives alerted to watch. But Louis Weinstein, organizer of the combined Communist and leftist demonstration, was slated for another day in court, where he is on trial with 15 other secondary Red leaders.

Singapore was a contrast. About 3,600 Chinese, Indians and Malays observed the international labor holiday by saying prayers for the dead of the two world wars.

In Tokyo thousands of Communists, swinging clubs and throwing rocks, burst through police lines upon a peaceable non-Red crowd of 200,000.

Witnesses said more than 100 persons—some of them Americans—were injured. Two American speakers—Socialist Norman Thomas and the president of the American Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters, J. Philip Randolph—retreated from Meiji Park in Tokyo without having a chance to address the non-Red workers.

Communists stoned the Dai Ichi Building, until recently Allied occupation headquarters. Mobs tried to cram into the forbidden plaza before the Imperial Palace. Police drove them back with clubs and tear gas.

Americans were shoved and hit by rocks.

Soviet troops and workers paraded before Stalin. His son Yastin, a lieutenant general in the Red Air Force, led aerial squadrons in a thundering stream over Moscow's suitor Red Square.

Marshal Leonid Govorov made a violently anti-Western speech before the massed troops in the square. He accused the West of reviving imperialism in Germany and Japan and making a "handis" war" in Korea.

"The American barbarians have committed the greatest crime against humanity by using bacteriological weapons in Korea and in China," he said, reiterating charges which the West has repeatedly denied.

He promised the Soviet armed forces would deal a "devastating blow" if aggressors attacked Russia.

A shouting mob of about 5,000 blue-shirted Communist youths infiltrated the French sector of Berlin. Police drove them back over the border with fire hoses and well-aimed night sticks.

Another band of 50 to 80 Red youths got into the U.S. sector. Police chased them back. In all 55 arrests were reported.

The Red rally brought half a million marching down Unter Den Linden before pro-Moscow Communist leaders.

Hundreds of thousands of West Berliners streamed into the Platz der Republik before the burned-out Reichstag Building to hear West German President Theodor Heuss, West Berlin's Mayor Erhard Reuter and American Federation of Labor representative Irving Brown.

AREA OIL Driver Field Gets Extension With Completion In Glasscock

East of the Driver Spraberry field got a major extension with completion of the Humble No. 2 Huegler for a 24-hour potential of 203 barrels.

The location is C SW NE 33-36-4, T&P.

The flow was through a 24-44 inch choke out of perforations opposite the Spraberry at 7,655-506. The shut-in showed .1 per cent basic sediment and drilling water, but there was no formation water. Gas-oil ratio was 1,050-1, and tubing pressure 110.

Gas-oil ratio was 618-1, and flowing tubing pressure was 325. It was still flowing to test and clean out.

Win Damage Suit Against M-W Co.

Mrs. Juanita Sewell and her family were awarded nearly $35,000 Wednesday in Abilene by a U. S. District Court jury, which found Montgomery Ward and Co. had been negligent in a freight elevator accident which proved fatal to W. M. Sewell here July 17, 1950.

The jury awarded $27,000 damages to Mrs. Sewell, wife of the deceased, and her three minor children, plus $1,120.55 for her medical and hospital expenses, and $1,500 to Sewell's father, J. D. Sewell, 65. The agreement in judgment against Montgomery Ward amounted to $29,620.55.

Sewell was killed at the outside entrance to the elevator when the elevator began rising to the second floor. The victim had gone to Montgomery Ward to pick up five packages for Sunset Motor Lines, his employer.

Marines Take Part In Atom Explosion Test

LAS VEGAS, Nev., May 1 (AP)—An atomic bomb blast over the Nevada desert today gave the U. S. Marines their first experience in nuclear warfare maneuvers.

The detonation came at 10:30 a. m. (CST).

It was a weapon dropped from an Air Force bomber.

The flash was seen in Las Vegas, 75 miles southeast of the site.

This experiment was telecast locally by station KTLA, Los Angeles, to the Southern California area.

There was no sound heard nor shock felt in Las Vegas.

Observers said it appeared that the flash today was not as large as the big one April 22 in which Army troops participated.

But the big billowing mushroom atomic cloud, they said, seemed to be larger than the one last week. The cloud was tinged with pink and orchid coloring. It drifted in a southeasterly direction from the bomb site.

There was considerable public interest here this time, rooftops of the postoffice, some stores and hotel buildings being dotted with watchers. The Las Vegas Review-Journal had a dozen or more calls before the blast, inquiries about the expected time and direction of the blast from the city.

Two Marine combat battalions—totaling 2,150 men—were ready to advance from foxholes and trenches less than four miles away after the detonation.

The bomb was again scheduled to be delivered by an Air Force B-50 from Kirtland Air Base, Albuquerque, N.M. It was indicated that it might be exploded at 2,000 feet—1,500 lower than the blast in the Army maneuver.

Several hundred observers came from Marine Corps and other military installations in the continental U.S. to view the test from 10 miles away. Newsmen were not invited on the Atomic Energy Commission test site for this shot.

RAIN

was knocked down by a bolt of lightning Wednesday during a thunderstorm. Scott Hawkins, 33, Morton businessman, was dead on arrival at a hospital.

At 4 a. m. Fort Worth had a total of .91 of an inch in 30 hours. Some other 24-hour totals included: Abilene .54, Wichita Falls .50, and Mineral Wells .46.

A Production & Marketing Administration spokesman, Bob Crocker of Wichita Falls, said Wednesday night's rain there was worth thousands of dollars to farmers.

"The wheat crop around here is made even if no more rain falls until harvest," Crocker said.

Nearly three inches of rain fell at Snyder and precipitation at Del Rio, Elgin, Lubbock and Amarillo. Big Spring had dust that got visibility to a half-mile before the rain fell.

Maximum temperatures Wednesday ranged from 68 at Dalhart to 94 at Presidio.

Rainfall for the 24 hours ending at 6:30 a. m. Thursday included 2.14 inches at Cresson in Hood County. Other amounts: Abilene .64 of an inch, Austin .01, Waco .25, Del Rio .36, Fort Worth .51, Wichita Falls .92, San Angelo .28, Mineral Wells 1.02, Decatur 1.27, Borger 3.24, Clarendon .15, Aledo 2.14, and Boyd 1.46.

Water People Talk Their Oil Problems

Colorado River Municipal Water District directors and representatives of three principal oil operators in the district's lake basin in Southwest Scurry County explored possibilities today of closing the dam and the problems connected with it.

No action regarding the matter had been taken at noon. The meeting was held at the Settles Hotel. R. T. Piner, president of CRMWD, pointed out to the operators that the district's contract closed for closure of the dam starting May 5. To delay might relieve the contractor of his obligation for the closure and subject the district to an undetermined expense.

Shell Oil Company took exception to his suggestion that an 80-acre spacing would simplify matters and would reduce cost of supplying drilling mounds within the basin area. Shell announced it could not agree to an 80-acre spacing for various technical reasons.

A. E. Chentzer, Dallas, Magnolia Petroleum Corporation executive, and who had been with the company here in the early days of the Howard-Glasscock oil boom, said that Magnolia would be agreeable to the 80-acre spacing provided the allowable were doubled, as compared with 40-acre spacing.

L. E. Fitzgerald, Bartlesville, Okla., representing Phillips, said that his company would go along on the Magnolia proposal.

Shell could not object to closure of the dam on schedule, Joe T. Dickerson, Midland, declared. However, he raised a question of the hazard of increased cost due to possible inundation and the district's responsibility in relation to possible flooding.

While the district did not wish to shun its responsibility for providing for protection of oil recovery, Piner said that the district did feel in view that it had been a year since it had first met with oil operators and asked their cooperation that the district could hardly assume additional liability due to the loss of a year's time.

During the afternoon, district representatives and board members were to make an on-the-ground inspection of the lake basin.

Stolen Reports On Cars Aided By Title Papers

According to the Police Activities Book a citizen who reported his car stolen last night became very angry when asked to bring his registration and title papers to the Police Station in order that the police could get the information needed to put out a stolen report on the car.

The man appeared with the papers, according to the records, but told the officers on duty that he expected to call the matter to the attention of the city manager.

Police explain that such action is necessary since the stolen report must show all information such as license and motor number, color, model that is available only from the registration and title papers. It is also necessary for them to have an opportunity to examine these documents and have a talk with the owner, they explain, to avoid being imposed upon and putting out a false stolen report.

The officers explain they are always willing to co-operate in every way with persons whose cars have been stolen, but that they will also appreciate co-operation from the persons reporting the thefts.

Stolen reports may be made by telephone, they state, and the alarm will immediately be given all officers and cars as well as other towns, but add that persons making such reports will aid in the recovery of the cars if they will come to the station immediately with the registration and title papers.

ed him if he knew that for a fact. Periman said, "It is based on information that is pretty accurate."

The implication appears to be that CIO President Philip Murray had given the government some assurance he would end the strike if government seizure could continue and the government was free to give his 650,000 steelworkers a pay raise.

The Circuit Court acted last night to continue government seizure temporarily in effect until the Supreme Court says whether it will rule on the question of whether President Truman had authority to take over the mills.

The court stayed an order from U. S. District Judge David A. Pine that the mills must be returned to their owners. Pine had ruled the seizure illegal.

Periman told the Appeals Court that if the government was to be barred from raising wages "we might just as well have no stay order at all."

Actually, the steel strike was on in full force today. Union pickets were about the mills, even though technically they were striking against the government.

Murray was making no move to get the men back to work and said in Pittsburgh: "There is nothing I have to say."

Secretary of Commerce Sawyer, nominal government boss of the mills, conferred at the White House that Congress would not give the President specific power to seize strike-threatened plants.

But there is strong sentiment, particularly in the House, for a bill introduced yesterday by Rep. Smith (D-Va) to broaden the injunctive provisions of the Taft-Hartley Act.

Smith proposed that Congress empower itself to institute injunction proceedings to halt strikes, a power reserved to the President alone by the Taft-Hartley Act. The congressional power would be exercised through a non-vestable concurrent resolution of Senate and House.

As in the Taft-Hartley Act, the injunction would hold for 90 days while disputants sought an agreement.

Smith proposed an additional step, if, at the end of 90 days no agreement had been reached, court-appointed receivers would take over the property of both the industry and the union involved, with full operating power but no authority to change working conditions or wages. The cost of the receivership would be shared equally by union and management. Interference with normal operations during the receivership would be a federal offense.

The Smith bill, an amendment to the draft law, went to the Armed Services Committee. Chairman Vinson (D-Ga) said it would be used as the basis for hearings starting probably next Tuesday.

Republicans who had obtained a House Judiciary Committee agreement to vote today on procedure involving the impeachment proceedings were set back by a decision of Democratic and Republican leaders to convene the House early to debate the agriculture budget bill.

The committee isn't scheduled to meet again until next Tuesday.

Should the President invoke the Taft-Hartley Act in the steel crisis, it was generally conceded, impeachment talk would subside.

But if he doesn't, said House Republican Leader Martin of Massachusetts, Congress would have to consider action.

'Scatter-Pin' Night Moved Up

Rain, lovely rain forced postponement of the Artesia-Big Spring baseball game last night.

The two teams will play a single bout, starting at 8:15 o'clock tonight, and save the twin bill needed to make up the lost contest at a later date.

It will be Scatter-Pin Night again at the park tonight, an event that was originally booked for Wednesday. Brooch pins depicting ball players will be the club's gifts to the women fans.

Three such nights are planned, during which times the women will have a chance to complete their scatter pins.

The pins, incidentally, are gold-plated and set with rhinestone and other imported stones. The pins have catchers, batters and pitchers serve as models.

Frank Fernandez will probably hurt for Big Spring tonight. He's a rookie who has shown promise in relief roles.

Ernie Davidson, a limited service hurler, is due to toe the slab for the visitors. Davidson has a 0-1 won-lost record.

Earl Perry, the new Artesia skipper, has assembled a fine team and apparently the Drillers will make a spirited bid for a first division berth.

Joe Bauman, Perry's first baseman, has been in pro ball five years. He was one of the leading home run hitters in all baseball while at Amarillo a few years back.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

The Odessa Oilers seem to be doing all right in the Longhorn League race.

They might have done even better had Francis Mehal, a 17-game winner for Brownsville of the Gulf Coast League, checked in with Pepper Martin's team. Mehal decided to stay out of baseball this year. Mehal could change his mind, though. Baseballers have been known to do that.

Felix Gomez is playing right field down at Texas City. Felix was regarded as the best center fielder in the Longhorn League when he performed here.

Another ex-Bronc, Charley Lofland, is catching for Laredo in the Gulf Coast circuit.

Gulf Coast fans, by the way, are still slow to warm to baseball. The Longhorn League cities, although they aren't knocking down the gates anywhere, are outdriving the Gulf Coast clubs.

Frank Mormino, one-time Odessa backstop, is receiving the slants of the hurlers for Brownsville. Will Roca, ex-Bronc hurler, is with the same club.

Beau Jack, the Georgia scrapper mentioned here recently, still has designs on staging a comeback. He's only 31.

WASHINGTON STATE LOOKS DOUBLE TROUGH

Baylor may have picked the wrong time to play Washington State in football. The Bruins test the Cougars on the West Coast this fall and Washington State is due to make a major bid for the league title and a bid to the Rose Bowl.

The Cougars have a suicidal schedule, though. They play USC, California, Oregon, Washington, Stanford, Oregon State, Idaho, Oklahoma A & M and Ohio State, in addition to Baylor.

News that Clyde Lovellette decided to play basketball for the Phillips 66ers next fall overshadowed the fact that the Oklahomaers picked up another fine cager about the same time.

He is Chuck Darling of the University of Iowa, rated by many as nearly as good as Lovellette. He averaged 25.5 points a game last season.

WALT DAVIS GOOD BET FOR OLYMPICS

When you consider the fact that no American did better than 6-feet-4 in the high jump of the last Olympic Games, big Walter Davis of Texas A & M seems rather large in US plans this time out. Davis has been averaging 6-feet-7 or better on his leaps this year.

Sign of the times: The wrestlers have developed a new hold they refer to as "the atomic drop."

Stanky Returns To Card Lineup

By JACK HAND

Cagey Eddie Stanky picked the right spot to throw his "intangible" into his St. Louis Cardinal starting lineup.

Beaten Tuesday night by Preacher Roe for the eighth straight time and wandering two games under .500, Manager Stanky finally pulled the sheets off Second Base as a man.

Ever since Stanky signed to manage the Cards, fans asked two important questions: "Will Stanky play?" and "What will he do with Red Schoendienst?"

Stanky left them all guessing when he opened the season on the bench and Schoendienst remained on second. You knew it couldn't last. Stanky's ability to get on base, his inspirational leadership demanded a more active role.

Finally he made his move. Schoendienst went to third and the "brat" took over at second last night against Brooklyn. You have an idea Manager Eddie will be in there most of the time from now on.

The impact of Stanky's presence in the lineup could be seen in the very first inning. "Stanky walked," the play-by-play read. Before the first inning was over it also read, "Stanky doubled down the left field line, Westlake and Bilko scoring."

The Cards scored six runs in that first inning, knocking out Chris Cuyk with the violence of their attack.

Stanky walked twice more before the night was over while Gerry Staley, his ace, became the first four-time winner in the major leagues this season.

Schoendienst took to his new position like a duck to water. He handled four chances faultlessly and smashed a bases-loaded home run off Bud Podbielniak in the fifth inning.

Wally Westlake returned to center field and Enos Slaughter and Billy Johnson were benched in the new Card lineup.

Ted Williams entrenched the rookie-laden Boston Red Sox in first place in the American League with a two-run homer, his first of the year, to beat Detroit, 5-3.

The homer off reliever Dixie Trout in the seventh inning gave rookie Ivan Delock his second big league win. Delock replaced Mel Parnell in the seventh.

Despite a homer, double and single by Mickey Mantle, the Yanks lost the opener of a doubleheader to the St. Louis Browns, 9-4. Bob Cain received some fine relief help from old Satch Paige to whip the world champs.

"New" Browns jumped on Vic Raschi for four runs in the first inning. Marty Marion played brilliant ball at shortstop and rapped a single and two doubles.

Allie Reynolds earned the Yanks a split with a four-hitter in the second game, 4-1.

Elmer Valo, the league-leading hitter at .410, snapped the Philadelphia A's out of a seven-game losing streak with a three-run homer that beat Cleveland's Early Wynn, 3-1.

The Chicago White Sox swept a two-night doubleheader from Washington, 7-3 and 4-3, winning the second on Eddie Robinson's 11th-inning homer off Bobo Newnam.

Four-hit pitching by Billy Pierce and Harry Dorish checked the Senators in the opener.

The most impressive daytime performance in the National was Larry Jansen's three-hitter against Giants' 4-1 victory.

Bob Addis' double in the 12th was the final blow of the Chicago Cubs' 20-hit blasting of seven Philadelphia pitchers for a 9-5 edge.

The win put the Cubs in second place.

Pittsburgh finally broke its 10-game losing streak with an 11-5 decision over Boston.

Jacome Records Third Victory

By The Associated Press

Eddie Jacome of Midland made good Wednesday night on his second try at bagging the Indians' first win at home. Midland broke the jinx, beating Vernon 5-3, after losing its first four home games.

There was only one other game played in the rain-hampered league. In that one, Odessa hammered Roswell 11-3 on 19 hits.

Artesia at Big Spring and San Angelo at Sweetwater were postponed. The San Angelo-Sweetwater showdown for the league lead was put off, only to find the two leaders now faced with a three-club battle for the top spot.

Odessa moved within a half game of first place when Manager Robert (Pepper) Martin batted five-for-six in the Oiler hit parade on three Roswell hurlers.

Jacome won his third game for Midland. He gave up 10 hits and saw his teammates score twice in the bottom of the eighth to beat Vernon.

Top Hitter

Frankie Baumholtz (above), 32-year-old Chicago Cub outfielder, leads National League hitters with a .422 average. He is also first in hits with 18, fourth in RBI's with 11 and is tied for third in doubles with four and first in triples with two. (AP Wirephoto).

Honeycutt And Hines Attend Angelo Parley

SAN ANGELO—Officials of the Texas Six-Man Coaches Association met in San Angelo Wednesday to discuss plans for the organization's annual coaching clinic, which will be held here Aug. 14-16.

Plans were made to have printed programs for the school. The clinic is being jointly sponsored by the coaches association and the San Angelo Board of City Development.

Forsan was represented at the meeting by Frank Honeycutt, vice president of the coaching body, and Blacky Hines, member of the publicity committee and the Forsan Service Club.

Curt Linser, California coach, has been lined up to serve as an instructor of the school.

Joe Scrivner, Rankin, will serve as coach of the West team in the all-star game. Tom Martin, Hampshire, Tex., will tutor the East squad.

Troy Donnell will coach the East's all-star basketball team while a coach for the West has not been named.

Members of the all-star football and basketball squads will be selected by the districts. All players must be graduating seniors or finished with their high school eligibility.

Heights, North Win Decisions

College Heights and North Ward chalked up wins in Sixth Grade Ward School Softball League play here this week.

Central lost to College Heights, 10-5, while North was turning back Airport, 13-3.

For College Heights, Don Cannon went all the way on the mound while Randall Halbrook hit a home run. Tyrone Parrish and James Raley hit triples.

Charles Rockenbough hurled the North team to its victory.

In a practice game played Wednesday, College Heights walloped Airport, 22-7.

In that one, Morris Sewell hit a homer with the bases loaded for College Heights. Ralph Grantham produced a double with the sacks jammed. Parrish hit for two with two on and Allen Glazer hit a triple.

Rupp May Pass Up Coaching School

FORT WORTH, May 1 (AP)—Adolph Rupp, the colorful University of Kentucky basketball coach, may not be here to instruct in his sport at the Texas Coaching School Aug. 4-8.

It's because of the basketball scandal that has involved former Kentucky players. When Judge Saul S. Street in New York, in suspending the sentences of three ex-Kentucky basketball stars for shaving points, cited testimony of the players that Rupp had associated with bookmakers and condoned the association of his players with them, the Texas High School Coaches Association called for a discussion at the meeting of its board of directors.

The meeting will be held at Austin Saturday at which time it will be decided whether or not Rupp is to be retained as one of the instructors at the coaching school.

Marion Pleased With New Club

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP)—"I haven't been this happy in three-four years. I feel freer than ever before. It's just like a great weight has been lifted off my mind. I feel fine mentally and physically."

Marty Marion, lean as always, sighed contentedly.

"I realize more than ever now that I made a wise decision when I passed up the other offers for the one made by the St. Louis Browns," continued the former manager of the St. Louis Cardinals.

"We have a good, young team. I'm happy to be a part of it. I'm playing as well as I ever have. I think I can help the club, playing 125 games at shortstop."

Thus the former "Mr. Shortstop" of the National League summed up his first two weeks in the American League following 11 brilliant years as a player and one as a non-playing manager with the Redbirds.

POST TIME NEARS

Hill Gail, Blue Moon Get Heavy Backing In Derby

By ORLO ROBERTSON

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—The Kentucky Derby entered its stall-walking period today as owners and trainers of 18 3-year-old horses started entering their charges in the $100,000 added turf classic.

The famous mile and one-quarter run for the roses over Churchill Downs' racing strip is not scheduled to start until 4:30 p.m. Eastern Standard Time. Saturday, but racing Secretary Lincoln Plant began receiving entries at 7 a.m. today.

The trainers had some three hours to enter their horses today and a like period tomorrow before the draw is made for post positions. The policy of accepting entries 24 hours in advance was started last year.

The names of 16 horses are expected to be read for the post position draw around 10 a.m. tomorrow.

The probable field was swelled by one yesterday when Swoop from E. Burke's High Tide Stable left New York for Churchill Downs.

The unexpected appearance of Swoop today had no effect on the odds. The son of Sky Raider is expected to be one of the four horses coupled in the "field" betting at odds of 30 to 1 or longer.

Hill Gail, whose record-smashing mile in the Derby Trial changed the Derby outlook considerably, remained the strong choice. But there were many who figured A. W. Abbott's slow-starting but fast-closing Blue Man would wear the Calumet flyer in the long stretch drive.

With Eddie Arcaro confident he'll ride his fifth Derby winner, Hill Gail, whose record-smashing mile in the Derby Trial changed the Derby outlook considerably, remained the strong choice. But there were many who figured A. W. Abbott's slow-starting but fast-closing Blue Man would wear the Calumet flyer in the long stretch drive.

Jackie Robinson Speaker At Sportsmanship Banquet

Winners of the first annual Sportsmanship Awards, given to players on the Howard County Junior College and Big Spring High School basketball teams, will be honored at a banquet at the High School Cafeteria Saturday night. The program begins at 8 o'clock.

Principal speaker at the banquet will be Jackie Robinson, famed cage star of the Baylor Bears in years past. Robinson was named to the All-America and US Olympic teams about four years ago.

Robinson is now studying for the ministry in Fort Worth.

The Sportsmanship dinner was arranged by Ted Phillips, local business man. Phillips is presenting the awards. Several business men are helping meet the expenses for the banquet.

Some 35 high school and a dozen college players will be present. Those desiring to make reservations for the banquet can contact Larry McCulloch, high school coach. Tickets are available to the public at $1.50 each.

A committee decided the winners of the awards but the identity of the athletes will not be made known until the banquet.

Vernon Releases Weatherly, Green

By The Associated Press

Abilene, hard-pressed by second place Clovis, is making the most of its series with Amarillo, the cellar club, in the West Texas-New Mexico league.

The league-leading Rios Sox held onto a half-game lead Wednesday night by an easy 5-4 win over Amarillo. Tuesday night Abilene climbed into the lead by taking the first of the series from Amarillo.

Eulis Rosson of Abilene kept Amarillo hitless for six and two-thirds innings to plaster on the Golf Sox their sixth loss in seven games. Homers, two by Stan Machinsky and one by Julian Frazier, drove in all but two Abilene counts.

In the other games Borger edged Lamesa 5-5. Clovis ran in 10 runs one inning to outscore Lubbock 13-6, and Pampa beat Albuquerque 10-5.

Committee To Set Tournay Dates

FORSAN—Members of the Forsan Golf Tournament Committee will meet at the club house next Tuesday to set the dates for the annual Forsan Tournament.

There are indications that it will be set back to September.

Gail is expected to open at around 8 to 5. Blue Man is the second choice at 3 to 1.

Most of the trainers were not seriously concerned over the weather and track conditions. A few, however, saw more of a threat to Hill Gail's supremacy should the track be muddy or even sloppy.

Hill Gail has never raced over an off track but he had turned in some fine workouts in slop and mud, the most recent of which was shortly after his arrival at the Downs 10 days ago.

Bobby Maxwell Will Seek To Defend Links Crown

COLORADO CITY.—Colorado City's Annual Invitational Golf Tournament is set for May 29-30-31, at the Colorado Country Club.

Plans for Thursday, May 29th, call for qualifying, the Pro-Am tournament and a barbecue Thursday night, according to Blue Goodwin, tournament chairman.

Bobby Maxwell, Big Spring, is defending champion and will appear to defend his title, also there is a possibility that brother Billy Maxwell will attend.

On Friday, duplicate bridge for the visiting ladies will begin at 10 a.m., match play will begin and Friday night, Ray Maddox will play for a dance.

The trophy for the best aggregate qualifying score by an amateur team will be awarded again this year for a year. The trophy was taken by the Big Spring Muni team last year, and the Muni team is expected back this year to try for another leg on the trophy. Three wins gives permanent possession.

Tourney Chartered

WICHITA, Kans., May 1 (AP)—The National Baseball Congress today announced the chartering of another district championship baseball tournament in Texas at Texarkana, starting June 21. R. R. Lusk of Texarkana was named district commissioner, his appointment having been approved by Jerry Felle of Dallas, N.B.C. Texas State Commissioner.

Jayhawks Host 'Dogs Today

Howard County Junior College and Cleburne were to meet in a double header at Steer park, starting at 3 p.m. today.

The contests, of course, count in Western Zone standings. HCJC got off to a bad start in Zone play Tuesday, at which time it dropped a double header to Amarillo's Badgers in Amarillo.

The Hawks lost the first game, 6-4, and the last one, 2-1. Howard Jones hurled a no-hit game in the first go but had difficulty finding the plate with his last one.

HC will be at home tomorrow for a twin bill against Frank Phillips of Borger, winding up its season's play at that time.

Tabbies Retain Circuit Lead

By The Associated Press

The Fort Worth Cats' life in first place in the Texas League is a charmed one—they win with the lucky numbers.

Fort Worth last night slipped Beaumont out of the first place tie 8-4, rallying for seven hits and seven runs in the seventh inning to assure the win. The Cats mastered 11 hits in all.

Beaumont's loss dropped the Roughnecks into second place just 17 percentage points ahead of Houston as the Buifs were dividing two with Tulsa. Houston won the second game 3-2 after the Oilers nabbed a 1-0 victory in the first.

Two other double-headers were played Wednesday night. Dallas pitchers hurled two three-hitters against Shreveport, but the masterpieces were worth only a divided card. Dallas dropped the opener 3-2 and came back for 2-1 win in the second game.

Oklahoma City shoved San Antonio into the cellar by hogging a double-header in the Missions' park 14-6 and 5-0.

Fort Worth chased Beaumont starter Emil Patrick in the seventh inning with four straight singles, then got to his successor Dick Mitchell for three more in the big seventh frame. Patrick, who was tagged with the loss, earlier had homered as the Roughs went up front 4-0 in three innings.

Billy Maxwell Big Favorite At Athens, Ga.

ATHENS, Ga., May 1 (AP)—A massive collection of 132 golfers, including the National Amateur Champion, a pretty co-ed and three sons of goldfinch greats, open the Southern Intercollegiate today.

As befits the National Amateur Champion, Billy Maxwell of North Texas State is the favorite to defend successfully the Southern Intercollegiate title he won last spring.

Before he wins the 72-hole medal tournament, however, he must outshoot Miss Ann Twilly, a thy University of Georgia sophomore, and three golfers named Turnesa, Farrell and Picard.

Miss Twilly is the first girl to play in 15 Southern Intercollegiate.

The youngsters with such famed golf names as Joe Turnesa Jr., another in the long, long line of Turnesa champions; Johnny Farrell Jr., son of the 1928 National Open winner; and Billy Picard, son of Henry Picard, winner of both the Masters and the PGA.

Young Farrell and Turnesa play for Georgetown University in Washington and Picard plays for the Citadel.

Bad Debts To Parties Can Be Tax Deductible

By CHARLES F. BARRETT
 WASHINGTON (U)—The Internal Revenue Bureau is standing pat on its rulings that loans to political parties, if they cannot be collected, may be deducted on tax returns as bad debts.

The bureau is rejecting a suggestion by Sen. Williams (R-Del.) that its rulings in four such cases be reversed.

A bureau spokesman made this clear today, although Revenue Commissioner John B. Dunlap declined official comment pending an investigation by House tax scandal probes headed by Rep. King (D-Calif.).

The tax bureau said, however, that to be legally deductible, loans to political parties must be valid loans and every effort must be made to collect them. The spokesman said "certainly" the bureau would examine such cases closely to make certain they are not actually political contributions, which cannot be deducted.

Williams said in a Senate speech Tuesday that three wealthy men made contributions totaling $410,000 to the New York State Democratic Committee between 1940 and 1948 and the revenue bureau, in "special" rulings, counted the donations as unpaid loans that could be deducted from tax returns as bad debts.

Williams said the Democratic party was financing its political campaign "indirectly out of the Federal Treasury."

Dunlap released a letter to the Senate Finance Committee, dated April 8, in which he referred to inquiries from Sen. Williams on "special" rulings.

Dunlap's letter said: "The bureau does not make 'special' rulings. The decision of the bureau is based upon the application of the law to the particular facts of a given case and it applies only to those facts. The facts are subject to confirmation."

A revenue spokesman said the bureau has determined that in the four cases cited by Williams, the facts justified rulings that bona fide loans were made which could not be collected in full despite all efforts.

NEW YORK (U)—Adm. Alan G. Kirk says that the free world's best potential allies in the struggle against Soviet communism are the masses of the Russian people themselves.

The former U.S. ambassador to Russia, speaking last night at a Tolstoy Foundation dinner, described these masses as "communism's first and oldest victims."

Troubles X, 30 Of Them, Equals Mystery Virus X

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
 Associated Press Science Reporter
 BOSTON (U)—The mysterious virus X is really 30 new diseases. The doctors are not yet acquainted with most of them and so they call these troubles X.

How the wonder-drug antibiotics brought this to pass was described to the Society of American Bacteriologists today, in a symposium on viruses.

When antibiotics, such as penicillin, streptomycin, aureomycin and all others, save our lives, or cure serious illness, they kill a lot of our dangerous germ enemies. That leaves our bodies open to attack from a less dangerous but large host of viruses. Because of the antibiotics, the bacteriologists have been discovering them in rapid succession.

We always had them but they were lumped together under vague names like congestion, catarrh, summer flu and a number of bowel troubles. Now that they are out in the open they number at least 30.

The bacteriologists are worried about the antibiotics all of us are getting in our daily food. We get tiny bits from milk, due to giving them for cattle diseases. Also from pork because antibiotics are given to pigs to make pigs grow faster. From chicken and eggs for the same reason. Parenthetically, the Swiss cheese makers are tearing their hair because these antibiotics in milk interfere with making their holes.

The bacteriologists fear that these tiny quantities will sensitize us so that some cannot take antibiotics when ill. They also reported today that the antibiotics in milk kill some germs in our bodies which make vitamins for us.

Missouri GOP May Place Ike Total Over Taft

ST. LOUIS (U)—Missouri Republicans may put Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower ahead of Sen. Robert Taft in national Republican delegate strength today.

An Associated Press tabulation of the 708 delegates already chosen gave Taft 274 delegates to the Chicago nominating convention next July, and Eisenhower 270. The other 162 are favorable to other candidates, uncommitted, in dispute, or their views unknown. It will take 608 to nominate.

Four Republican district conventions are being held in Missouri today to choose eight more convention delegates. And Eisenhower forces claim all six of the delegates to be chosen in the St. Louis metropolitan area.

Missouri conventions are in the 11th, 12th and 13th Congressional Districts in St. Louis and St. Louis County, a fourth convention, in the Sixth District, is being held in Sedalia.

The first in the Missouri series of conventions was held in Salem Tuesday in the Eighth District. Eisenhower picked up one sure vote there and one probable. The general's Missouri managers claimed both delegates.

In the St. Louis area, Lawrence E. Roos, local Eisenhower manager, has predicted all six of the delegates to be chosen there would be for the general.

Girls PE Program Slated Friday Night

Folk dances, tumbling demonstrations, skating—all these will be packed by a cast of 350 girls into a fast moving program at the high school gymnasium at 8 p.m. Friday.

The occasion will be the annual physical education program presented by the girls in this department at the senior and junior high schools. In charge are Arah Phillips, director of girls physical education at the senior high school, and Anna Smith, the junior high director.

Prospects are that a near capacity crowd will turn out to witness this colorful event, which is free to the public.

This year's program fits into the 50th anniversary series of programs commemorating the founding of the Big Spring Independent School District in 1902. In this connection, Mrs. Zou Parks, Mrs. Clyn Keating, Mrs. Martha Moody, Mrs. Mae Hayden, Mrs. Claudia Adams, Mrs. Susie Coreoran, and Mrs. Florence McNew will appear in costumes of their teams of by-gone years.

The program will open with a square dance, "Golden Slipper," with 72 girls in the routines. Then comes "Jarabe Tapito," the Mexican hat dance with a cast of 200.

Barbara Bowen will present a tap solo, and then 36 junior and senior high girls will do a Serbian tap dance. This opens the way for the tumbling demonstration featuring Alice Boyter, Nancy Clark, Jane Reynolds, Nancy Smith, John Pettit, Patsy Baird, Juanita Witt, Kenda McGibbon, Christie Odell, Dolores Worthley, Marilyn Constance and with Karen McGibbon as the guest star.

After a folk dance with 250 girls participating, there will be three tap dances with 35 girls. The past and present girls teams will then give the 50th anniversary touch, followed by a skating demonstration by Patsy Morton and Charlene Wilson. A square waltz with more than 100 girls in the act will be the grand finale. These young women will be clad in formal attire.

Russell Lashes Out At Sen. Kefauver

PANAMA CITY, Fla. (U)—Sen. Richard B. Russell of Georgia says Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, one of his opponents for the Democratic presidential nomination, will take "anything, however socialist" that might be written into the party's platform.

Kefauver had said Tuesday he would run for President on the party platform regardless of what it contained, and criticized the Georgian for his stand against a compulsory FEPC plank.

AF Declines Offer To Ride In Rocket

WASHINGTON (U)—A Mexican youth today offered himself as a candidate for a rocket ride far above the earth—to "carry forward" American Air Force experiments already tried with animal rockets.

The Air Force, to which the offer was relayed, declined with thanks.

Former Nazi Seeks Return To West Reich

By HANNS NEURBOURG
FRANKFURT, Germany, (U)—Dr. Otto Strasser, the former henchman of Adolf Hitler who fled the Reich for his life in 1933, is asking the West German Constitutional Court to give him back his German citizenship.

An exile in Canada, Strasser for six years has waged a stubborn fight to re-enter German politics. He complains that West German authorities "do everything to prevent my return, knowing very well that in a few years time, we would be the strongest party in Germany."

Strasser's extremist followers here call themselves the "League for Germany's Revival." He directs them by remote control.

Strasser's court action is based on Article 116 of the West German Constitution which says that former German nationals can be re-naturalized on request—if they were deprived of citizenship during the Hitler regime on racial, religious or political grounds.

A court ruling is expected in a short time. Meanwhile the league is busy distributing circular letters from Chairman Strasser and Depsack, a grey-haired Munich tax advisor.

Wadsack, who became a leader of Strasser's "Black Front" after the split with Hitler, predicts Strasser will return to Germany soon.

"The Nazis working in the Bonn Foreign Office fear Strasser's knowledge (about the Nazi party) and, of course, they fear Strasser as a politician," Wadsack claims.

"This fight is the Dreyfus case of the 20th century."

The league's policy is "strictly national," Wadsack admits, although we recognize the German Constitution.

Allied authorities in Bonn repeatedly have emphasized Strasser is banned from Germany and are confident of keeping him out. But this may be difficult after conclusion of the Allied-German "peace contract."

Documenting their distaste for Strasser, Allied officials quote the following passages from Strasser's postwar circular letters:

"Even if five or 10 million Germans would be killed in a third world war, Germany's position would be strengthened because the number of Russians, Americans, French and Poles killed would be far greater."

"If a war should break out, the Allies most probably would exert strong pressure upon the Germans. But we have to survive and . . . every means by which you adapt yourselves to the Allies is justified because it serves the re-establishment of a new German Reich. We'll speak Russian in the East

THE SPRINGBOARD

News From Big Spring Air Force Base
By A-3C JEAN BROWN

WING EMBLEM

The 3560th Pilot Training Wing has a brand-new emblem. The design, submitted several weeks ago to USAF for official approval, is reported as having been okayed by the appropriate Pentagon branch. Designed by G. P. Howell, civilian chief engineer at the base, the emblem embodies a sky blue shield, white shaded cloud formation with yellow lightning flashes pointing toward the base. Set in the center of the shield are a sword, hit and pommel and lamp of knowledge, symbolizing power and knowledge.

CADETS

Class 52-D of aviation cadets has begun a new type of training at Big Spring Air Force Base. Working in close conjunction with the wing staff sections, the cadets are engaged in on-the-job training. The future officers learn the operations of all phases of base operation, including reports and forms, hospitalization, personal affairs and organization of the Air Force.

This on-the-job training for cadets will become standard procedure beginning with two classes currently stationed here.

HOUSING

More encouraging news for married airmen based here came this week from the FHA in Ft Worth. The allocation of 40 housing units especially for colored military personnel was announced with the additional news that building applications were being accepted now.

GROUND SAFETY

A warning of extra caution went out to all base personnel Wednesday concerning close observance of ground safety rules, especially auto driving. K. S. Shriver, ground safety director for the base, pointed out that military men killed on US highways are just as clearly casualties as those who died in Korean combat. A base-wide ground safety program is now under way.

SNAKES

Perhaps an odd subject for a military newspaper to cover, the snake situation on scenic Mountain gets complete treatment in a first hand account by one of the base reporters. Airmen are warned to exercise unusual caution in frequenting the wilds of the mountain, and to be watchful for the ever-present, sometimes deadly rattlesnake.

SPORTS

Softball, bowling and horseshoe pitching currently highlight the sports scene at the base. Recent-by the Airmen competed with the Cook Appliance Co., a member of Big Spring's Industrial League, in an exhibition softball game. The Airmen lost by a 2-7 margin.

Seek To Eliminate Red Tape In Travel

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK, (U)—A record number of Americans are expected to travel to foreign lands this summer. And a majority likely will find their feet tangled in red tape.

A drive is under way today to smooth their path. The drive actually is little more than a squawk as yet. But Congress is being urged to simplify customs rules, and other countries are being asked to cut away the costly and irritating red tape in international trade and travel. Uncle Sam, incidentally, is said to be one of the worst offenders.

First-time international travelers will be more numerous than ever—and the most likely to be confused and harassed—Sir William P. Hildred, director general of the International Air Transport Association, fears. He predicts that the new low-fare tourist service across the Atlantic which the airlines start tomorrow will bring trans-Atlantic passengers this year to 600,000, as against 340,000 last year.

"The procedures of customs, health and immigration inspectors will be entirely new and probably irksome to them," he says. He thinks the 11 airlines on the trans-Atlantic route will find it easier to transport this flood of new travelers than to soothe their tempers during the checks and delays of border crossings. He pleads for streamlining.

A businessmen's group—the United States Council of the International Chamber of Commerce—agrees. It appeals today to government officials, legislators, businessmen, farmers, workers and the general public to pressure governments everywhere to remove unnecessary red tape.

The council has ideas about what should be done. A passport should be all the identification needed. It says. Entry visas should be abolished where they are still used.

Police certificates of good conduct are just meaningless paper work, the council adds. Nor should governments continue the common practice of insisting on surrender of passports to government officials.

The period of vaccinations, inoculations and certificates of health should be standardized. Some government inspectors won't accept a smallpox vaccination as valid after one year, and some will up to three years.

Some of the complexities of foreign travel and trade are being tackled in a customs simplification bill which the U. S. House has passed and sent to the Senate. The trouble importers have with present U. S. customs procedure is noted today in the May survey of the Guaranty Trust Co. of New York.

The bill before the Senate Finance Committee eliminates "foreign value" as a criterion. The bank thinks there's a good chance the Senate will pass it this summer.

Rhubarb Adds Charm As Season Advances

When the first rosy-pink stalks of rhubarb appear on the market, many ways of serving it come to mind. Called "pie plant" and considered as a good spring tonic by our grandmothers, rhubarb is delicious in pies, tarts and puddings, but the most common way to prepare it is by stewing.

Strictly speaking, rhubarb is a vegetable; but it is generally served as a fruit, which is sold by the bunch or the pound. During the winter and early spring, many markets carry house rhubarb, the peak season for fresh rhubarb coming in May or June.

As spring advances into summer, the flavor of rhubarb changes also. The family may be pleasantly surprised if, during early-rhubarb time, the housewife adds high-flavored preserves from her pantry shelf, or uses grated orange rind in her rhubarb recipes. The grated rind is particularly good sprinkled on the top of an open lattice-top rhubarb pie.

Toward summer, fresh strawberries can be combined with the rhubarb. Then, by summer, the family will welcome the natural tart flavor of the rhubarb itself. These rhubarb chiffon pie and rhubarb parfait with chilled soft custard sauce will add a sweet-tart sparkle to any dinner.

Rhubarb Chiffon Pie
1 pound fresh rhubarb
1/2 cup cold water
2-3 cup sugar
1/4 envelopes unflavored gelatin
1/2 cup cold water
2 egg whites
2 cup heavy cream

Crumbs crust.
Cut rhubarb in 1-inch pieces. Add water and sugar; simmer 25 to 30 minutes. Soften gelatin in cold water; dissolve over hot water; add to rhubarb; mix well. Cool. Beat egg whites stiff; fold into rhubarb mixture. Whip cream; fold in. Spoon into 8-inch pie pan lined with crumbs crust. Chill in refrigerator until firm.

Crumbs Crust
Mix 1/4 cups fine crumbs (made from rusks, Graham crackers, corn flakes or "weebies"). Add 1/2 cup sugar, 1 teaspoon cinnamon and 1-3 cup melted butter or margarine; mix well. Press firmly into 8-inch pie pan. Bake in moderate oven, 250 degrees F., 8 minutes.

Rhubarb Parfait
1/2 pound fresh rhubarb
2 cups hot water
2 tablespoons minute tapioca
1/2 cup granulated sugar
2 tablespoons strawberry preserves or grated rind of an orange
1 egg white (or 1-4 to 1-2 cup whipped cream)

Soft custard sauce.
Remove the leaves from the rhubarb before weighing it. Wash and cut the rhubarb into inch-long pieces; add it to the water. Bring to boiling point, then lower heat and simmer until soft (about 5 minutes). Add the tapioca; stir over low heat until the tapioca is clear. Add sugar, then taste the rhubarb.

Early in the season, it may require the additional flavor of more sugar or strawberry preserves or grated orange rind. Divide mixture in two parts; use one to fill parfait or sherbet glasses. Fold into the other part either stiffly beaten egg white or whipped cream, and spoon lightly on top of the parfaits. Chill. Just before serving, a tablespoon of soft custard sauce may be added to each serving.

Spring is here, so the cook will want to make a pie to match the season. On occasions, she may even want to serve it in a different fashion, such as with rhubarb pastry strips. Rhubarb-apple or rhubarb-pineapple combinations may be used in the cook's favorite pie or cobbler recipes.

Rhubarb Pie Pastry
2 cups flour
1 teaspoon salt
2-3 cup lard
4 to 5 tablespoons water

Rhubarb Filling
1 pound rhubarb, cut in 1/4-inch pieces
1 1/2 cups sugar
3 tablespoons flour
1 egg, slightly beaten
1 teaspoon vanilla

Sift flour, measure, add salt, and sift again. Cut in lard until particles are about the size of dried peas. Add cold water, a little at a time, mixing quickly and evenly through flour with a fork until dough just holds in a ball. Use as little water as possible. Roll one-half the dough to about 1/4 inch in thickness and line pie pan.

Combine rhubarb and remaining ingredients. Place filling in unbaked pastry and cut into 5 equal triangular shaped pieces. Place over filling with points toward the center. Bake in a hot oven (350 degrees F.) for 10 minutes, reduce temperature and bake in a moderate oven (325 degrees F.) for 30 minutes. The pie is large enough for six servings.

Rhubarb-Apple Cobbler
4 cups diced rhubarb
2 cups sliced cooking apples

Spring Salad
"Spring is a time for salad," salads keyed to the ticklish appetites that seem to come with the first robin. Make a main dish salad with tasty frankfurters and serve for Sunday supper, lunch, or for any light dinner.

Frankfurter Vegetable Salad
1 pound frankfurters
1 medium onion
3 medium tomatoes
1 large head lettuce
1 clove garlic
French dressing

Slice frankfurters crosswise. Slice onions thinly and cut tomatoes in wedges. Mince garlic and break lettuce into bite-size pieces. Toss ingredients together lightly with French dressing, just before serving. Season to suit taste.

A Frank Reminder
Frankfurters are already cooked when you buy them, so remember that they need only heating through to serve.

2-3 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1-2 cup unsulphured molasses
2 tablespoons butter or margarine

Unbaked pastry for one-crust pie. Heat oven to 450 degrees F. Place rhubarb and apples in 10 by 6 by 2-inch casserole; sprinkle with sugar and salt, and drizzle with molasses. Dot with butter. Cover with pastry, rolled into rectangular shape, 1-8 inch thick. Trim, seal, and flute edge. Cut a design or gash in pastry to allow steam to escape. Bake 10 minutes; reduce heat to 350 degrees F. (moderate), and bake 30 minutes, or until crust is brown and fruit is tender. The yield is 6 to 8 servings.

Why not start the shortcake season with a rosy rhubarb combination? This tart-sweet fruit sauce joined with flaky biscuits baked to a tempting brown and topped with whipped cream is sure to be a highlight of the dinner table now and throughout the fruit season.

For a special touch, try substituting orange juice for part of the milk in the biscuit recipe. Or the cook may want to add a bit of orange rind to the sauce for an exceptionally fine flavor. For a spicy shortcake, cinnamon may be added to the dough.

Rhubarb Shortcake
2 cups sifted enriched flour
1 tablespoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons sugar
4 to 6 tablespoons lard
1-3 to 1/2 cup milk

Rhubarb Sauce
Whipped cream

Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Cut in lard until mixture has a fine, even crumb. Add enough milk to make a soft dough. Turn onto a lightly-floured surface and knead gently for 1-2 minute. Pat or roll 1-2 inch thick and cut with a biscuit cutter dipped in flour. Place on baking sheet and bake in a hot oven (425 degrees F.) for 12 to 15 minutes. Split biscuits and fill with thick rhubarb sauce and whipped cream.

The yield is 6 to 8 individual shortcakes.

The sparkling tartness of rhubarb is one of the season's treats. By itself, or in combination with other fruits, it makes a wonderful filling for pies and tarts. Raisins are a rich, sweet fruit to contrast with the rhubarb. Four rhubarb-raisin filling into unbaked tart shells, sprinkle with a crumble topping, and bake to tempting desert tarts. Use the standard pastry recipe given above; it makes four tart shells.

Rhubarb Raisin Tarts
3 tablespoons enriched flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 to 1/2 cup sugar
1 1/2 to 2 cups rhubarb, cut in half-inch pieces
1 cup raisins
2 teaspoons lemon juice

Mix flour, salt and sugar. Sprinkle lemon juice over rhubarb and raisins. Add fruit mixture to dry ingredients and mix well. Put into pans lined with unbaked pastry. Sprinkle crumble topping over fruit. Bake in hot oven (450 degrees F.) 10 minutes. Reduce temperature to moderate (350 degrees F.) and bake for 20 minutes.

Crumble Topping
3 tablespoons enriched flour
1/2 cup sugar
4 teaspoons melted butter or margarine

Mix well and use as topping for rhubarb-raisin tarts.

Here are two recipes, one for marmalade, the other for velvet sauce, that will make full use of the vegetable rhubarb's sweet-tart flavor combination.

Rhubarb Marmalade
2 pounds rhubarb
Rind of 2 lemons
2 pounds of sugar
Juice of 2 lemons

Wash rhubarb and lemons; dice rhubarb very fine, grate yellow layer of lemon rind. Combine rhubarb, lemon rind and sugar in a heavy kettle. Let stand overnight. Add lemon juice and cook, stirring frequently, until thick. Pour immediately into hot sterilized jars and seal at once.

Velvet Sauce
2 cups rhubarb
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup lemon juice
1/2 cup water

Wash rhubarb and lemons; dice rhubarb very fine, grate yellow layer of lemon rind. Combine rhubarb, lemon rind and sugar in a heavy kettle. Let stand overnight. Add lemon juice and cook, stirring frequently, until thick. Pour immediately into hot sterilized jars and seal at once.

WITH ONLY A FEW MINUTES TO SPARE ... Mrs. George Elliott hurriedly looks up quick recipe for hurry-up meal.

Finding Time To Eat Is Elliotts' Problem

Many women don't have time to cook. Others don't have time to shop for food.

But the biggest problem for Mrs. George Elliott, 1423 Stadium, is finding time to eat.

"Working one night a week as well as five days, attending the regular meetings and committee gatherings of the Exemplar chapter of Beta Sigma Phi, leaves me little time to just sit down and enjoy a meal," she said.

She is employed in Special Services at the VA Hospital and through that office pass all arrangements for the entertainment of veterans.

Her husband, field representative for the Midland Production Credit Association, has little time for food, too.

But they wouldn't trade places with the President!

The couple, married only a short while, have recently bought a new home.

"Our only regret is that we don't have more time to spend in it."

Frankfurters Star In Tasty Budget Dishes

For enjoyable, economical eating, flavorful frankfurters take the prize. Franks have a place on almost everyone's list of favorite foods ... Grandma likes slices floating in bowls of old-fashioned split pea soup, Junior wants "Hot Dogs" with plenty of mustard and pickles.

For a treat the entire family will enjoy, serve stuffed baked frankfurters topped with barbecue sauce. The stuffing may consist of bread dressing, sauerkraut or mashed potatoes. Here's a dish that's novel and unusually tasty—baked frankfurters stuffed with pineapple.

A juicy layer of crushed pineapple is sandwiched between thick, meaty frankfurters, and crowned with a spicy sauce.

Pineapple Stuffed Franks
1 pound frankfurters
1 No. 2 can crushed pineapple (2 cups)
1/2 cup finely chopped onion
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
2 teaspoons prepared mustard
1/2 teaspoon sugar
1/4 cup chili sauce

Split frankfurters not quite through. Spread out half the franks, cut side up, in a greased baking dish. Spread with partially drained pineapple. Top with remaining split frankfurters. Cook onion in fat until tender (about 10 minutes). Stir frequently so as not to burn. Add remaining ingredients and cook for 5 minutes. Spoon

Baked Corn Creole Is Different Dish
2 tablespoons chopped onion
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
Dash pepper
2 cups cooked or canned whole-kernel corn
1 1/2-ounce can condensed Cream of Tomato Soup, undiluted

Heat oven to 350 degrees F. (moderate). Sauté onion and green pepper in butter until tender. Combine with remaining ingredients. Pour into 1-quart casserole. Bake at 350 degrees F. for 30 minutes or until hot. Makes 4 servings.

For 2: Halve each ingredient; make as directed. Bake in individual casseroles.

Use Tape On Blinds.

Venetian blinds can be retaped by home owners using a new plastic tape which comes packaged 4 yards of tape (enough to tape one average two-tape blind with 2" slats). It is available in seven colors.

WHITE HOUSE HOPEFUL

Dick Russell Effected Economy In Georgia State Government

By BEM PRICE
RUSSELL, Ga.—Sen. Dick Russell, the one they had trouble keeping shoes on.

Mostly, though, folk around here and in nearby Winder remember Richard Bevard (for the North Carolina Braves) Russell as a sober-minded youngster.

The 34-year-old senator from Georgia, one of 13 children, announced Feb. 28 he was a candidate for the presidency on the Democratic ticket.

Russell thereby emerged as the South's leader of the defeat-Truman-at-any-cost movement and the intra-party battle to forestall enactment of the so-called civil rights legislation in Russell's candidacy is the threat to form a third party if necessary to block the anti-segregation forces.

Prior to his birth Nov. 2, 1897, his father, later to become a State Supreme Court chief justice, and his mother, Ina Dillard Russell, had had five girls.

When Dick was born his father, likewise named Richard B. Russell, charged from the house in pride and excitement and fired off both barrels of a 12-gauge shotgun.

As he grew up, Dick became, so the family stories go, the center of his father's ambitions. The old judge had wanted to be a governor and to go to the U. S. Senate. He was determined that his eldest son should fulfill his ambitions.

Dick was born in a nine-room, white frame house on a tree-lined street in Winder and lived there for six years. His family then moved to the country. As the family kept enlarging, Dick, as the oldest boy, was sometimes the No. 1 baby sitter while his sisters performed household chores.

Once, when President Theodore Roosevelt came to Atlanta, the judge bundled Dick aboard a train to see the great man.

For the occasion Dick was sternly told to don his new shoes. After he saw the President his duty was done. When his father stepped off the train at Winder, he carried Dick's shoes in his pockets.

O. B. Smith, now a prosperous seed merchant here, went to school with the senator and his chief recollection is that Dick left home in shoes and arrived at school shoeless.

"He'd stick 'em in an old drain pipe until school let out," said Smith.

One characteristic of these early days was Dick's interest in reading. He was fascinated by military history. Many an Army officer can testify that Russell, currently head of the Armed Services Committee, is well versed in the history of campaigns.

For lack of other play facilities Dick often could be found in the cotton field, charging back and forth, lashing at the stalks with a stick and talking to himself.

A farmer once noticed his activity and observed to the judge that his oldest son was acting "mighty peculiar."

The judge only laughed for he and everyone else in the family knew that Dick was just defending himself from enemy attacks.

Russell went to school in Winder until he was 13 and then transferred to the old Powder Springs Agricultural and Mechanical School. From there he went to Gordon Military Academy at Barnesville. Harvey Kennedy, who went to school with Russell at Gordon, remembers him as a man extremely popular with both cadets and instructors.

Russell graduated from the University of Georgia with a Bachelor of Laws degree in 1918 and promptly joined the Navy. He was in service 79 days before World War I ended and he was discharged. He went back to Winder and opened his law office.

A sister, Mrs. James H. Bowden, an Atlanta school teacher, said it was about this time, that the judge had a talk with his eldest son. The substance of the conversation was, "Don't marry, Dick. He travels the fastest who travels alone."

Dick has remained a bachelor and his work is his life. He is described as one of the hardest working men in the nation's capital.

Mother Russell, a powerful personality even at 84, remains his "best girl." She lives in a roomy, two-story house surrounded by magnolias within a hundred yards of U.S. Highway 29 and the mainline of the Seaboard Railway. This is the house Dick calls home.

Russell was incorporated by the judge shortly after the turn of the century. It has a population of 150 and Dick's brother, Dr. Alex Russell, is mayor. It has no Postoffice and no police force.

Dick first entered politics as Barrow County attorney and then, when he was 23, was elected to the Georgia House of Representatives.

By 1927 he was speaker of the House, the youngest in Georgia's history. It was here that he first began exhibiting his parliamentary skill. He never had a ruling reversed.

When Dick decided to run for governor he was just about broke and his father, who sent 12 of the 13 children through college, had very little money to spare.

Dick bought a second hand car and began stumping the state. Whenever he saw as many as three farmers together he stopped to talk and shake hands.

Alvin Uses His Feet

Having no hands is no problem to Alvin Morrison, who lives near Paris, Texas. He was born without upper limbs and only the lower part of his legs. But he is a first grader, picks up his books with his toes, writes and even uses scissors, as above.

Armless Youth Is An Independent Lad

PARIS—One of the happiest kids in the world has no hands. He hasn't even got any arms. His name is Alvin, and he's going to be a cowboy.

Alvin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Morrison, Route No. 2 Blossom, was born with no upper limbs and only the lower parts of his legs. Although he's been walking only since he was five, the two years he has been independent have meant new life for the spunky first grader.

In a class of 30 children, Alvin receives no special attention except getting to his seat.

"The things I like most about school," says Alvin, "are the boys and girls. I have so many friends, and we have a lot of fun playing cowboy."

Alvin has a toy gun which he handles better than lots of folks who have 10 fingers getting in the way.

With no trouble he picks up his school work between a couple of toes. He writes and he draws with his toes, too.

But writing is nothing at all to Alvin. He uses scissors to carefully cut out figures.

There are three brothers, David, Shelly and Jimmy Don, the latter a two-year old partially afflicted with cerebral palsy.

Both boys are treated in Dallas at Scottish-Rite and Carol Clinics. They are to be cared for until they are 21 and when Alvin is 12, he will be given a pair of arms by the Scottish Rite clinic if he needs them.

But his mother doesn't believe he will need the arms.

Traffic Deaths In Nation Show Rise

CHICAGO (AP)—Traffic deaths in the U.S. showed a slight increase in the first three months of 1952. The National Safety Council said today the toll for the first quarter of this year was 7,930, a gain of 2 per cent over the first quarter of last year.

The number of lives lost in motor vehicle accidents in March—2,700—was virtually the same as in March, 1951.

NEW AREAS TO GET IT Govt. Lifts Its Ban On New TV Stations

WASHINGTON (AP)—Television in every American community was a long step nearer today as the government lifted its 34-year freeze on new stations.

Big Spring Granted Tele- vision Channel

A TV channel available in Big Spring has been set aside by the Federal Communications Commission—along with 172 other towns in Texas—under a new assignment program.

The FCC plan makes use of the Ultra-High Frequency range, which is an untapped section of the radio spectrum. Use of this UHF band and expansion of the present VHF band should permit, in the opinion of the FCC, nearly 2,000 new television stations in every section of the nation. All the 108 TV stations now operating in the country are in the VHF range.

The FCC decision to use UHF for television was based on years of scientific research and on field tests. These tests indicated that UHF when properly allocated geographically and properly used, was comparable to service provided from the present VHF band.

Eventually 2,000 stations may be built throughout the United States and its possessions. Only 108 operate now, mainly in large cities. The Federal Communications Commission's "Unfreeze" order means TV reception for areas which do not have it now, a far wider range of programs in areas already covered, and a gold rush for the multimillion-dollar industry itself.

Only about half the American population can get television shows. The FCC, in announcing it will grant permits for new stations, opened the door to 2,053 stations in 1,891 communities scattered over the country.

To handle this many stations, the FCC had to increase the number of channels from the present 12 to 82. This was done by moving into the ultra-high frequencies (UHF).

Despite this technical change, present sets will not become obsolete. To receive the new channels, however, a converter must be installed at a cost estimated from $10 to $20, depending on the set and the number of channels desired. Later new-type receivers will be built to cover varied reception needs.

However, the FCC said it intends to give first attention to grants in areas that have never had any TV service, and to communities which will pioneer on the UHF channels. The FCC is anxious to get into operation.

By lifting the 34-year freeze on new stations—the FCC admits it underestimated public demand for the new medium—the government officially made the coming scramble for choice station locations a free-for-all.

Things are shaping up for that meeting between the business people and the farmers and ranchers, the purpose of which will be to undertake to determine whether or not the farmers and ranchers favor active continued participation in the rainmaking experiments operated by the Water Resources Development Corporation of Denver through a contract with the West Texas Western Improvement District of which Howard County is one of the original 11 counties.

If the farmers and ranchers signify their desire, through their representatives, for a continuance of the program the business men will co-operate in an effort to raise the additional $4,800 needed to meet this county's quota.

The business people realize that rain means as much to most of them as it does to the farmers and ranchers. They are willing to co-operate if their co-operation is wanted, but only if it is wanted by the farmers and ranchers. Any farmer or rancher who wants to express himself as favoring a continuance of the experiments may do so by going to the office of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce or the Howard County Fair Bureau and enrolling his land at the rate of one cent an acre for grass or three cents an acre for cultivated land.

The theme of the meeting will be that "paying for rain is no substitute for praying for rain" but that the praying may be supplemented with the paying. Many businessmen like many of the farmers and ranchers are advocates of both.

The Big Spring Municipal Auditorium has been tentatively reserved for an address by Dr. Irving P. Krick on the evening of May 11. The Grub Line Rider was told by a representative of the Krick organization a few days ago that Dr. Krick is now in Europe on an international weather problem, but that his return to this country in time to keep his engagement here is certain.

N. H. Stanley, co-operator with the Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District, who farms the E. T. Branham place at Luther, saved a lot of blowing on a 50-acre field by leaving the stubble standing. Last week he plowed this under with a one-way. This shallow plowing of the stubble left most of it on top where it does the most good in helping to control erosion and in conserving water, if and when it rains again. But it always has rained in West Texas and it always will.

Guy Guffee, who lives three miles north of Vincent, is thinking in terms of stock water insurance. He is enlarging an old tank on his place so that he may have more stock water and have it for a longer period of time. The cow business is a long range affair. Planning for

TV May Change Nation's Tastes In Popular Music

By WAYNE OLIVER

NEW YORK, May 1 (AP)—Composer-orchestra leader Gordon Jenkins says television, with its accent on the visual, may have a big influence on America's tastes in popular music.

"The record companies are still the makers of popular musical hits," declares Jenkins, musical director of "Royal Showcases" on NBC-TV Sunday evenings.

"But if television steps out and begins to make the hits, then the accent will go away from the disc jockeys, and the style of song writing will become a sort that lends itself to television production.

"It might be better if the field were narrowed down from several hundred disc jockeys to considerably fewer major television stations."

However, Jenkins emphasizes that phonograph records hardly will be affected—that they "make most of the hits and have done so for a long time."

"Television has not yet proved itself as a medium for developing popular hits, but it might well do so with the lifting of the freeze on television stations," he continues. "TV is using up a lot of music but, generally speaking, songs written especially for TV so far have not been big hits."

However, Jenkins' own musical written in 1945, recently made an impressive production number on "Royal Showcases."

One of the longest of its kind ever produced, it ran 17 minutes. It required 45 performers on stage, 48 members of Jenkins' orchestra plus 34 technicians who weren't seen by viewers, and nine more in the control room—or 134 in all.

Oklahoma Dries Map Plans To Get Total Outlaw Of Beer Sales

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 1 (AP)—Oklahoma still isn't dry enough for the United Drys.

The organization met yesterday to outline strategy that it hopes will bring the total outlawing of beer sales in the state.

The detailed plan includes the interviewing of all candidates in upcoming elections to win their support of a measure which will completely abolish beer.

But failing complete abolition, the organization agreed to try to get local county option and, as a last resort, limit trade to package sales.

US Courts In Reich Convict 100 Red Spies

By DON DOANE

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—U.S. courts in Germany have convicted at least 100 spies hired by Czechoslovakia and other Communist countries to spy on Allied forces.

Chief Justice William Clark said a waste of Communist time and money. He doubts—on the basis of trial evidence—that they obtained much information endangering the Allies or of value to the Kremlin.

As head of the U.S. High Commission Court of Appeals in Germany, Clark has handled many of these spy cases.

It looks to him, he says, as though "Soviet Russia apparently has assigned Czechoslovakia the job of spying in West Germany for all the Communist nations and the Czechs appear to be blundering badly."

"Most of these spies," he said, "don't know what to look for and they are getting caught doing it."

"Most of the information they try to sneak back behind the Iron Curtain could be got by reading the newspapers. Why the Communists waste time and money on these spies I don't know."

Spies have been caught with maps which can be bought at news stands, U.S. Army circulars which are widely distributed, records of ship arrivals at Bremerhaven, where anyone can see the ships come in, and drawings of highway bridges which thousands of motorists cross daily.

Spies don't make a lot of money, Clark said. Evidence indicates the average pay is only 500 marks ($119) a month.

Food Fair Marks 48th Birthday Of Furr Food Markets

Sales Event Lasts Through May 10th

Furr's Super Markets of West Texas and Eastern New Mexico will open wide its doors this Thursday morning with a gigantic food sales promotion, the Furr's Food Fair of 1952, commemorating the 48th anniversary of Furr's Super Markets.

This event will continue through Saturday, May 10 in the 15 cities and towns Furr's Super Markets operate stores, bringing to its consumers a tremendous program of special food values, harkening to the early day prices of the 1900s. Attractions for the consumer will be many during the 10 days of the Food Fair. Food prices, greatly reduced, are the main attraction for herein Mrs. Housewife will find her greatest savings.

For months now, executives of Furr's Super Markets have collected about them special offers for the consumer and have concentrated these during this promotion. Refreshments will be served throughout the period, off and on, in all of the 50 Furr's Super Markets of this area. Souvenirs will be given out periodically.

One of the main attractions in Lubbock, El Paso and Odessa is the appearance of Armour and Co. Miss Wisconsin, representing the famous Miss Wisconsin Cheese product of that company.

Creamery Turns Out Furr's Own Fresh Butter

Rich, creamy butter, — Furr's Butter, is manufactured in Furr's own creamery in Lubbock, at 18th and Avenue G. Under the supervision of Claude Brown, manager, this plant brings to the many Furr's consumers a fresh, country butter which competes with the best brands of the nation. Farmers of the local area are contributors to the manufacturing of butter. Daily their trucks are seen at the creamery.

Sanitary conditions are the best for the Furr's creamery is checked regularly by local and state authorities. In the bright blue and yellow carton, Furr's butter is choice No. 1 of many!

Amarillo And Lubbock Are Headquarters

The name of Furr's is a name well known to many a housewife in the vast area in which Furr's Super Markets are a part of the community.

Furr's, Incorporated, the Lubbock operation, operates not only thirty super markets in fifteen cities of West Texas and New Mexico, but maintains a meat packing plant, a creamery, a bakery, and an egg plant in Lubbock, but also three major warehouses. These include two, one for groceries and one for produce and drug supplies in Lubbock and one for all in El Paso. In this latter city, a wholesale house is in the picture, The El Paso Wholesale Company.

Lubbock has seven Furr's Super Markets, El Paso nine, Odessa two and each of the following cities one: Midland, Monahans, Littlefield, Snyder, Big Spring, Lamesa, Levelland, Brownfield, Plover, Childress and Hobbs and Roswell of New Mexico.

Key Furr's group of stores, headquarters at Amarillo, include twenty-seven in fifteen cities, spread in four states: Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Colorado and Kansas. Amarillo has ten, Pueblo, Colorado three, Clovis, New Mexico two and one each in Pampa, Berger, Dumas Hereford; Gaymon, Oklahoma; Tucuman, Portales and Santa Fe in New Mexico; Liberal and Dodge City in Kansas and Colony Springs, and Denver in Colorado. Under construction are stores in Tucuman to replace the present one, one in Amarillo and two in Denver.

Amarillo has a meat packing plant, bakery and warehouse in connection with its super markets. Directors of this corporation are Key Furr, president; Mrs. C. W. Furr, F. A. Sewell and John Sullivan, vice-president; J. L. Sparks, secretary and Homer Davis, treasurer, and Roy Furr, Lubbock.

Corporate Name

Furr's, Incorporated as the corporate name is now recorded, is not the original name of the company. The first name was the "M-System." In 1924 it was changed to Furr Food Stores, Incorporated and later to Furr's Super Markets, Incorporated before realizing its name of 1952.

First Unit In Furr System

Here is the first Furr's Super Market—the original Furr's store, the Kirkland Mercantile Company of Kirkland, Texas, near Childress. This was the first operation founded by C. W. Furr, 48 years ago, and from this unit has sprung the large group of Furr's Super Markets today.

C. W. Furr's One Store Of 1904 Has Grown To 57 Super-Markets

Back in 1904, the now deceased C. W. Furr, father of Roy and Key Furr, the two brothers heading the present Furr's operation, started a business which has blossomed into one of the leading industries of the Southwest.

Furr's Super Markets of 1952 has grown from that one store, the Kirkland Mercantile Company of Kirkland, Texas (near Childress) to the massive operation it is today. Today this giant food retailing business has expanded to fifty-seven super markets in thirty cities of five states, a leader in its field. The Lubbock operation, Furr's, Incorporated, has thirty units in fifteen cities while the Amarillo operation, Furr Food Stores, Incorporated, twenty-seven units in the same number of towns. Roy Furr is president of the Lubbock division, Key Furr heading the Amarillo corporation.

It was in Kirkland that the future of this business was foreseen by C. W. Furr, the "daddy" of the 1952 super! This was a combination grocery and department store from the beginning. The rear of the mercantile company building, a 25x30 foot establishment, was used for the Furr's home for almost a year. As the country grew about Kirkland, C. W. Furr added to his holdings, erecting several brick buildings and organizing several business firms including furniture, dry goods and groceries. In 1906 he helped organize the Kirkland State Bank and in 1915 was elected its president. During these three years he accumulated several farms and business property.

In 1925 he moved to Potter county, Amarillo, where he bought the M-System franchise in several counties in the Panhandle. Roy went with his father as a business aide. He saw a fertile field in Lubbock in 1929 and came to that city purchasing the M-System chain, six stores in all.

It was not until 1934 that the name Furr was given to the business and the chain, at that time numbering three in Lubbock and six in neighboring towns, became "Furr Food Stores"; in years later the corporation became Furr's, Incorporated.

ROY FURR THANKS MRS. HOUSEWIFE

"As we of Furr's celebrate this 48th year of business with the good people of West Texas and New Mexico, our thoughts turn in appreciation to our friends, old and new, who have stood by us loyally, realizing full well that it has been the confidence and support of these good friends which has made possible the growth and expansion of the Furr's organization," Roy Furr, president, said today.

"Throughout the years to come, as in the past, we of Furr's pledge ourselves to conduct the business in such a manner that we hope will continue to merit your confidence and good will. On this anniversary, we feel the Furr's organization, as an institution, is an integral part of this great section of our country and that personnel of the entire organization contributes both in loyalty and service to its progress," he said.

Company Directors Headed By Roy Furr

C. B. BOVERIE
Vice President

C. H. CUMMINGS
Secretary-Treasurer

DON FURR Personnel

Roy Furr, president of Furr's, Incorporated, heads a group of directors who govern the policies and path of progress for this corporation in West Texas and New Mexico.

Furr attended elementary and high school at Kirkland, Texas; spent two years at Clarendon College and his later years at the University of Oklahoma. He taught school for four years before joining his father in the food business. He was married in 1923 to Lela Close of Childress. The two reside at 3120 Twentieth Street in Lubbock and have three married children. These are: Don, personnel director of Furr's; Roy Junior, in school and partially employed by Furr's and daughter Mrs. Jack "Shelly" Hall, whose husband is in school and with Furr's part time.

Vice president is Clem Boverie who came with Roy Furr when the latter purchased the M-System stores in Lubbock in 1929. Secretary and treasurer is Clifton H. Cummings, a Texas Tech graduate and with Furr's since 1932.

Directors of the organization, in addition to Furr, Boverie and Cummings are Don Furr, A. R. "Chick" Arnold, branch manager at El Paso; Donovan Stafford, zone manager and Key Furr, president of Furr Food Stores, Incorporated of Amarillo.

Fancy Foods For Parties, Snacks, Found At Furr's

Going to have a party?—Well, don't worry your little head over fancy foods for snacks! Furr's Super Markets have just the foods you wish.

In the fish line, there are anchovies, smoked sturgeon or Rainbow Trout. For cheeses may be a cheddar in rum or wine might do or a Welsh Rabbit, Gruyere imported from England, a Camembert or Roquefort. For dressing for salads try a Caesar, a Poppy Seed or Chiev, or even Roquefort with pieces of cheese.

Um! Um! If it's wonderful tiny shrimps, truffles, rattlesnake meat or just plain pickled frankfurters, shop Furr's Super Markets and they'll either have it or get it for you!

Executive Group Assists Roy Furr

Tightly knit is the organization built around President Roy Furr of Furr's Super Markets.

Vice president of the company is Cram B. Boverie, in charge of retail operations, with Roy Furr since the advent of the stores in Lubbock, 1928. Clifton H. Cummins is secretary and treasurer, for many years in charge of the general office and company records.

Don G. Furr, son of Roy Furr, heads the personnel department located in Lubbock. Here records are kept of the many persons employed by the Furr's organization. He handles employment, hospitalization and many relations having to do with employees.

Working directly with Boverie in sales and merchandising are retail zone managers: Donovan Stafford, Clyde Knowles and A. R. "Chick" Arnold. These men head the western, eastern, and El Paso divisions, respectively. Stafford has ten stores under his supervision, Knowles eleven, and Arnold, nine.

With the zone managers in the Furr's picture are other supervisors. These include meat supervisors Ray Hoeter paired with Stafford; Earl Ham with Knowles and R. Q. Reed, with Arnold.

Bill Douville is in charge of the general office at El Paso, handling wholesale business as well as retail records there.

Advertising and promotion is headed by Jack O. Stone, in Lubbock, where the display department, too, is located, headed by Ray Collier.

Ray Johnson is manager of the packing plant in Lubbock. J. H. Hawkins is in charge of truck maintenance.

Monthly Magazine

FURR'S MAGAZINE is the publication edited and published monthly for Furr's personnel. Its contributors are personnel of the company; it carries many photographs of the activities of the company.

2 Warehouses Supply Furr Store System

Two major warehouses store the many food supplies which are fed into the thirty Furr's Super Markets of West Texas and New Mexico.

Lubbock's warehouse for groceries is located at 20th and Avenue E while El Paso's is at 3406 Durazo Street. In Lubbock, a produce warehouse is located at 17th and Avenue G, while frozen foods are stored at 23rd and Avenue G. John E. Brown is superintendent at Lubbock and Fremthy Remanure at El Paso.

The big Lubbock plant covers some 50,000 square feet. Here a large group of warehousemen maintain the big "Hysters," the two-motor rolling equipment and the big trucks which fan out each day, delivering worlds and worlds of groceries for West Texas and New Mexico consumers. The warehouse is completely "palletized," all case goods stacked on wooden pallets, loaded and unloaded by the "hysters."

Display Department Turns Out 35,000 Units Each Year

More than 35,000 units are turned out yearly by Furr's Display department at 1805 Avenue H in Lubbock.

Here under the direction of Ray Collier, department head, many, many signs are "silkscreened" for the windows and walls of Furr's Super Market. Here Collier is the artist who turns his fine right arm

Newspapers, Radio Stations In 15 Cities Tell Of 'Fair'

The people of West Texas and New Mexico will not lack in knowing all about Furr's Food Fair of 1952.

In all of fifteen cities in this sec-

'SPOTLIGHT' SALES TO BE FAIR FEATURE

One of the many features of Furr's Food Fair of 1952 will be "spotlight" sales, an innovation for super markets.

This type of sale will not be scheduled and can be expected at any hour of the May 1 to May 10 period of the 48th Anniversary sale. While shopping, should you hear the manager of a Furr's Super Market declare on the public address system, "Folks, for the next five minutes Furr's will sell Blank Cheese at Blank price, —hurry up and make that savings for you'll not regret it." That's a "spotlight" sale. It's good business to be about during the Food Fair!

tion boasting Furr's Super Markets, special newspaper sections are being published this week, from 12 to 20 pages each, while radio stations over the area will be "hitting the air" with many spot announcements.

The cities publishing newspaper sections, and the newspaper area: Lubbock, Avalanche-Journal; El Paso, Times Herald-Post; Midland, Reporter-Telegram; Odessa, American; Roswell, Record; Hobbs, News-Sun; Plainview, Herald; Big Spring, Herald; Monahans, News; Lamesa, Reporter; Levelland, Hockley County Herald; Brownfield, News; Childress, Index; Littlefield, Lamb County Leader, and Snyder, News.

Radio stations carrying time are: KFYO, KOBQ and KSEL, Lubbock; KISM, KROD and KEPO, El Paso; KCRS, Midland; KRIK, KECK and KOSA, Odessa; KWEW, Hobbs; KGFL and KSWB, Roswell; KVOP, Plainview; KBST and KTXC, Big Spring; KVKM, Monahans; KLVY, Levelland; KCTX, Childress; KVOW, Littlefield; KSNY, Snyder and KTFY, Brownfield.

Furr's Offers Full Drug Line

Should Milady need a home permanent in order to meet an afternoon appointment, she need not stir very far from her tracks in Furr's Super Markets for the drugs departments in these stores are adequate for her needs. Furr's, knowing the whims of Mrs. Housewife, stocks the fastest moving and most popular drugs and sundries. Most of these items are self-service, too, which gives time and savings for the shopper.

By drugs, Furr's doesn't only mean home permanents, shampoos or razor blades, but housewares of all types, soft goods to a degree, tobaccos and bakeries, too. You can have all these by shopping the most modern way, in a Furr's Super Market.

Dietetic Foods On Furr's Counters

Health foods you are looking for? Well, Furr's Super Market is the spot for finding these unusual and necessary foods.

Departmentalized, health foods are becoming more and more a necessity. If it's fruits or vegetables, you can find these on the shelves, or do you want some black-strap molasses or wheat germ? Furr's has it!

Cooking Schools

Cooking schools are held annually by Furr's Super Markets. Last year two schools were conducted in El Paso and Lubbock while in other years almost every town with a Furr's Super Market has held one type of school or another.

Bowling Team

Lubbock personnel of Furr's Super Markets determine a winning bowling team each year; playing Tuesday nights for some weeks during the winter months.

One-Stop Shopping Among Features Of Furr Stores

The housewife of 1952 doesn't fear the "jumping from one store to another for her shopping," for one-stop shopping is the most modern advantage of such super markets as Furr's Super Markets of West Texas and New Mexico.

Here in these giant supers, Mrs. Housewife need not fret about getting to the drug store, to the hardware store, etc. for additional needs. Here she has every need fulfilled as far as groceries, fruits and vegetables, meats, drugs and sundries, tobaccos, bakery goods and even some "soft" goods, such as clothing and hosiery.

Furr's features nationally known brands of merchandise, the best foods at the right prices.

General Offices Operate At El Paso And Lubbock

Records of the many thousands of items in Furr's Super Markets grocery, produce, meats, drugs, bakery, dairy and frozen food departments have a way of being kept at Furr's, for the general offices at Lubbock and El Paso have a trained crew of personnel on the job.

In Lubbock, the International Business Machine setup saves time and waste for the many items of merchandise. Here the punched cards retain an inventory, warn when items are near the scarce line and perform miracles many do not understand.

The Lubbock office has some twenty-two persons, including the IBM setup, the general auditing office and additional personnel.

HOLLY BIRD
Manager

Entire Nation Contributes Furr Produce

From the four corners of the earth, come the wonderful fresh fruits and vegetables to Furr's Super Markets produce departments.

Just point in any direction and you'll not miss some garden spot in the United States. Thurman Frost from which delicious fruits and vegetables pour into Furr's.

Trucks bring these products in daily to the produce warehouses in Lubbock and El Paso. From California, Arizona, Idaho, Washington, and Colorado in the West, Florida and Louisiana from the East; Wisconsin North and Texas to the South, foods for the tables of Furr's consumers come.

Chief buyer for the Lubbock division is Thurman Frost. In El Paso, buying from local houses is Phil Ayoub. These men are schooled in the art of knowing when fruits and vegetables are the best for eating. It may be strawberries today and artichokes tomorrow!

Bakery Turns Out Fine Breads And Cake Specialties

For the best in pastries, Mrs. Housewife depends on the many delicacies baked by Furr's Bakery, located in Lubbock at 18th and Avenue G.

Early in the morning, the bakers of this department are on hand for the daily baking. By the time the doors open each day, fresh pastry is in the shelves of the Furr's Super Markets.

Specialty cakes for weddings, birthdays, and special occasions; cookies of all kinds, brownies, jelly jons, breakfast rolls, sugar, angel food and devil food cakes are baked with a delicious taste are the handwork of Loyd Bresler, manager, and his crew.

BILL TWILLEY
Market Manager

Must Know Your Eggs, To Know They're Fresh

"Knowing your eggs" is important — take it from Mrs. Beulah Beckham, head of that department for Furr's Super Markets in Lubbock. The department is located at 17th and Texas.

Mrs. Beulah Beckham

Here all eggs are assembled as they come in from farmers of the nearby area, fresh to the laying! The eggs are candled, graded and packed in Furr's cartons, then delivered to stores for sale. The operation is a fast one and guarantees fresh eggs for consumers in Furr's Markets.

The operation of candling is a tricky one, and a person must know his "eggs," according to Mrs. Beckham. The grading is important for Mrs. Housewife learns to depend on the grade placed on the carton, and should a carton be mishandled, Mrs. Housewife is unhappy. During off seasons, that is when hens feel not up to laying regularly, Mrs. Beckham and her crew has a hard time to supply all stores and that is the season she shows more grey hairs for the experience!

Fast Expansion Keeps Furr Maintenance Dept. On Jump

So rapid has been the growth of Furr's Super Markets in bringing the newest of store layout to its customers, the Furr's maintenance department has played an important role in the expansion.

This department at 23rd and Avenue E. in Lubbock, is directed by Garth Glose. Here, with a crew of specialty men, all types of maintenance is their job. Should it be fixtures (shelves and gondolas, or even lighting) for a new super market; repair of air-conditioning; flooring, repair of doors or erection of a new "Kiddie Korner," this department is called in, and the job is completed in a hurry.

Truck maintenance is headed by J. H. "Red" Hawkins, housed in the same building in Lubbock as store maintenance. Here mechanics are busy on the many Furr's trucks which span out to many a point in these 15 towns covered by the group of stores. Gasoline and oil servicing is done here while major and minor repairs are not routine.

TENNESSEE DAIRIES was named after the home state of the founder who moved to Texas and started his dairy business in 1907. His family still operates this dairy, serving customers in many Texas counties.

Because—

It Tastes So Good!
Every drop of the milk is Creamed!

It is So Easily Digested!
Doctors say it is ideal for baby feeding and for older children and adults who sometimes have difficulty in digesting ordinary milk.

It is Enriched With Vitamin "D"
