WHAT: Eastland County 4-H and FFA Field Day.
WHEN: 9:00 a.m., August 31, 1974
WHERE: Cisco High School
GUEST SPEAKER: Dick Vestal, Vocational Ag. Teacher, Baird.

Activities for the day will include selection, feeding, fitting, showing, livestock judging and a work session with beef cattle. Every 4-H and FFA boy and girl in Eastland County interested in livestock is encouraged to come and bring their parents.

This includes the price of the tag and the picture.
A picnic lunch will be held on the grounds at noon, and everyone is asked to bring a covered dish of their choice. We are looking forward to seeing everyone at the Field Day.
Mr. Bert Herridge, owner of Eastland Ranch Equipment, will furnish the Field Day with all the necessary equipment for tagging and handling the steers. Pens, alley ways, and a squeeze chute will be used for steers not halter broke.

Donations

Hospital Board Establishes Policy

Helga Tiner, Administrator of Eastland Memorial Hospital, advises that the Board of Directors of the hospital has established a policy regarding donations to the hospital to assist with the purchase of new equipment for the expanding and remodeled facility.

This action was taken in response to numerous inquiries and comments received by the directors and hospital personnel, in which local citizens have been expressing a desire to in making such contributions.

A plaque with donors name and appropriate information will be furnished by the hospital for placing on doors of rooms for which furniture has been donated. The new furniture for patient rooms will include an all-electric bed, bedside table, overbed table and chairs. The cost of furnishing a room for purpose of donations and placing of plaque has been set as $750.00.

A list of equipment needed by the hospital has been prepared and other donations toward these items will be accepted and appreciated. This equipment will be purchased according to need and as the budget permits. Most of the equipment in the hospital has been in use twenty years or more, as some equipment was purchased from a closing hospital-clinic in Kilgore when the Eastland Hospital was first built.

One of the items with highest priority on the equipment list was a new delivery room table and light which have just been installed for immediate use in the existing delivery room, but to be relocated soon. The table being replaced is estimated to be at least 40 years old.

Several donations have already been received and have been placed in a special fund, established by Board of Directors for this purpose.

Donors to date are Mr. and Mrs. Troy Ray, First Baptist Church in memory of Ellen Cantrell, and Mr. Cyrus B. Frost, Jr., in memory of Mr. Wendell Siebert.

The family and friends of the late Mrs. Bula B. Butler have donated funds to build and furnish a chapel in the new hospital.

Anyone desiring to make a contribution of any size may do so by contacting members of the Board of Directors or the Administrator of Eastland Memorial Hospital.

Eastland Memo:

Coming from the nest building in our last article, qw can project the Robins 3- 4 Eggs will incubate in 11 - 14 Days. , while Mr. Robin stands guard in the area. The Parents spend from daybreak until dark gathering food for the young ones, while at the same time ke keeping an eye out for cats, dogs, snakes and hawks. The young robins feature a spotted breast which denotes their real identity as a Thrust. The Robin's song is not as complete as other Thrushes, but his cheerfully, cheerily, cheerily is a welcome sound. The Robin's morning and evenings songs are almost like religious observances.

At one time Robins were threatened with rapid reduction in numbers, in certain areas. Audubon reported that when the Robins came south in the summer, and in large numbers, hunters with guns, bows and arrows, and other implements of mayhem to the birds, would hunt the Robins as game birds. These waves of flocks arriving dorn south provided Fat, juicy birds, for the tables. Seeing the sad result of such activities, alert persons sponsored laws, and had them passed, against killing robins, which no doubt saved other species also.

Today the amount of insecticide used on lawns, gardens, grassy areas, trees, etc is said to pose a threat to our Robins. The insecticide after being washed into the ground , shows up in the worms shows up in the worms eaten by the birds. Hopefully this threat will subside with all of our awarness, and not diminish our friends. We must retain for posterity the scene of Robins cavorting under a sprinkler on the lawn, and for being being noted as harbingers of spring.

RETIREMENT NEEDS PLANNING

A successful retirement must be planned, contends economist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Retirement planning is especially important for farmers and ranchers and other self employed people who often work past the age of 65. When they do retire, it's often due to poor health or adverse business due to poor health or adverse business conditions. With Social Security providing only for the bare living essentials, additional income may come from renting the farm or ranch, selling the farm and investing the money from the sale, or making an installment sale of the farm ranch.

EBAAs Enlarges Plant

EBAAs Iron Inc., located four miles southeast of Eastland at the Leon Industrial Park, has announced plans to enlarge its operations.

Total expenditure will be $519,000.

Plans call for purchase of additional land, erection of a new building, purchase of new equipment, and creation of jobs for an additional 38 persons. The plant, which now employs 66 persons, makes iron castings.

Funds for the proposed additions will come from a $292,000 Small Business Administration Loan, $155,000 via a bank loan and $72,000 from the Eastland Industrial Foundation.

The plant is located in facilities formerly owned by the Texas Electric Service Co. When TESCO closed the plant several years ago, it gave the property to the Eastland Industrial Foundation as an incentive to bring heavy industry to the area.

EBAAs Iron, formerly headquartered at Frisco, moved its base of operations to Eastland last year after extensive remodeling. Earl Bradley is president of the firm.

S&W Industries, formerly of Cisco, moved into the adjacent area in the Leon Industrial Park this past week. Owners are Jim Williamson and Roland Schraeder.

The firm manufactures a variety of products including epoxy and glass lined metal tanks, septic tanks, hay racks, feeders and oil field equipment.

Buenos Dias Del Espana

Greetings to my friends in Eastland from Puerto, Spain, where I am visiting my daughter, Sue, son-in-law Cliff and granddaughter Carl. My son-in-law Clifton Henchel is a pilot in the U.S. Navy and is stationed here.

A little about my trip: I flew from Dallas to New York, changed planes in Madrid and Sue and family met me in Seveill. Quite a trip for a country girl like me.

They were living in Puerto when I first arrived, but have since moved to the base here. It is a little warm when the wind blows in from Africa but mostly its cool winds from the Bay. We are in walking distance of the beach.

Here on base it is like being in the States, but everything so different when you leave out the gate.

I went on a bus tour to see all the sights in Sevilla, the palace, Cathedral, had a Spanish dinner, very enjoyable. The two hour drive there is beautiful. Every inch of ground is used. There are grape vineyards all over and "Bodegas" where they make and store the wine. I had never seen fields of cultivated sunflowers before. Sugar is another big crop, also cotton, corn, oats or wheat, olive groves all over and oranges.

It is really an experience to go to Farmers Market in Puerto. We buy all our vegetables there and they are so nice. They have no sacks here, you carry your own bags. They don't have black eye peas or okra, so I planted some in Sue's back yard. Their weight is by kilo which is 2 lbs. 2 ozs. and can None can speak English but Sue has learned enough words to get by.

All the cars are so small they look like bugs. Sue has a Renault. Spain is a land of flowers. They are everywhere and I love flowers.

I am trying to learn a little Spanish. I am having a wonderful time, but of course I miss my kids back home and my sis and brother-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Burgess Downtain. Wish they could have made this wonderful trip with me.

Adios for this time Ruby Earle McGough

DALE O. BAKKER

Dear friends,

Man is basically a social creature who lives his life in fellowship with others. At no time does he need an expression of this supporting fellowship more than at the time of mourning. Jesus said, "Blessed are they who mourn for they shall be comforted". He certainly was referring to the comfort afforded by our relatives and friends as He was God's supporting presence.

Respectfully,

Dale O. Bakker

Returns Home

Mr. and Mrs. I.E. Talley returned home from a three day trip to Mineola and Golden where Mr. Talley attended school when he was a small boy. Thursday they visited a nephew and his wife in Lufkin, Stanley Duckworth. They all rode out to see Sam Rayburn Lake and all the pretty brick homes. There were lots of beautiful pines there. On their way home they took lunch with a cousin in Franklin. Mrs. E.M. Sanders. She had just returned home from a tour of Europe. They enjoyed all her pretty pictures she had made over there and her pretty rock crystal and lots of other things she had brought back with her.

They headed for home. When they arrived at home they found Mr. Talley's brother and wife and sister and husband waiting for them. They played golf, 42, talked, watched TV, enjoyed some real watermelon, ice cream and cokes in their own back yard.

REA To Guarantee Loans

WASHINGTON--An agreement signed permits the Rural Electrification Administration (REA) to guarantee loans to be made by the Federal Financing Bank (FFB). The arrangement calls for an initial commitment of $1.5 billion in loans by the FFB through Dec. 31 under 100 percent guarantee by REA.

Signing for REA, in the U.S. Department of Agriculture, was REA Administrator David A. Hamil. Jack F. Bennett, president of FFB, signed for that agency.

The funds in the beginning are expected to be used primarily for rural electric generation and transmission projects. Four commitments totaling $975 million already have been made by REA this year.

Under the arrangement, REA borrowers may obtain either long-term or short-term loans from the FFB. Long-term loans will be for 34 years. Short-term loans will cover periods from two to seven years. Interest rates on the FFB loans will be determined at the time each advance of funds is made and will be based upon cost of money to the FFB.

The REA loan guarantee authority was provided in the May 1973 amendment to the Rural Electrification Act. This authority is in addition to the regular REA loan programs for rural electric and telephone borrowers made from a revolving fund in the U.S. Treasury.

USDA'S Rural Development Tools At Work

Increasingly, people want to live and work in rural America, and rural people and communities are using credit from the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) to improve living conditions and enhance employment opportunities. Will Erwin, assistant secretary of agriculture for rural development said today.

He pointed out that USDA's Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) channeled nearly $3.6 billion in loans into rural development in fiscal year 1974 to help achieve these national goals:

1. More food and fiber for the nation: In 88,830 loans to help family farmers buy and operate farms, FmHA made more than $1 billion available to supplement regular commercial credit.

2. Improve rural housing: FmHA made loans of nearly $1.8 billion to construct, purchase or improve more than 100,000 homes and apartments for rural residents of low or moderate income.

3. Modernize small towns and rural communities: FmHA made 1,326 loans totaling nearly $470 million to help build water and waste disposal systems. Another 102 loans amounting to $49.8 million were made for other essential community facilities.

4. Provide more and better rural employment opportunities: Under new authorities of the Rural Development Act, FmHA made 399 loans totaling nearly $200 million for business and industrial development, providing an estimated 19,300 jobs in rural areas. This program was the leader as FmHA began to change from lending agent to guarantor of loans made and service by private, commercial lenders.

Varied employment opportunities have been provided through the business and industrial loan program—a building supply and lumber yard, 37 jobs; a plant manufacturing steel wire for tires, 147 jobs; a maker of wooden boxes and other wood products, 50 employees; pottery making and sales, five workers; and many others—processing plants, retail stores, a laundry, a grain elevator, and a farm supply and equipment store. The diversity of projects shows how readily the program adapts to community needs, Mr. Erwin said.

For the second straight year, FmHA made loans of more than $1 billion to family-size farmers. Operating loans were at a record high with 1525 million being loaned to 53,865 family farmers. This included $15 million in loans made to about 5,000 boys and girls younger than 21 under a new program of Youth Loans authorized by the Rural Development Act.

Under the long-term program for farm ownership, FmHA advanced $352.2 million to 11,997 families. In these two programs, private lenders cooperated to provide FmHA farmer borrowers with an additional $496 million, making it possible to serve about 6,000 more low income farmers.

Farmers whose production was disrupted by natural disaster received 22,434 loans amounting to $128.3 million. The agency also made over $17 million in farmer-program loans for purposes such as grazing associations, soil and water improvements, irrigation, drain-nage and soil conservation, and Indian Land Acquisition.

Through all FmHA housing programs, the agency provided financing for homes for approximately 390,000 rural residents. More than 94,000 individual home loans were made for $1.589 billion, and over 6,000 apartment units were financed at $173.3 million.

Under the expanded community facilities program, a wide range of municipal and civic needs of communities are being met—an 80-bed hospital in Maine at a cost of $4.5 million; construction of a county home for 120, $1.0 million; expansion of city gas lines in an Oklahoma town, $100,000; a nursing home in Pennsylvania, $1.9 million; an expanded library serving five counties in Wisconsin, $200,000 and construction of many community buildings, fire stations and other needed facilities.

FmHA's $470 million of loans for construction of water and waste disposal systems exceeded the previous high under the program, attained in FY 1973, by $70 million. About 330,000 families will be served by the new system approved the past year. The agency also provided over $20 million through 58 loans for watershed development and Resource Conservation and Development area projects.

FmHA conducts its lending operations through more than 1,750 county offices. Most loan funds come from two sources: Sale of certificates of beneficial ownership to investors, or from regular, private lenders with FmHA guaranteeing a portion of the loan against loss.

The table shows in detail the program services for FY 1974.
