WASHINGTON By George Durno

Coming—Inflationists, attention! By early October your desires for dollar shrinkage will begin to be gratified unless all signs fail.

After moving merrily forward for several months the inflation caused by sheer talk has begun to mark time. Those whose ears are close to the ground say President Roosevelt is about ready to take his next big step toward putting the dollar back to a 1924-25 level and pegging it.

But don't ask us just what form the inflation will take. The administration is living by the minute. All six of them bring forth new situations and new ideas.

According to those behind the scenes it is quite probable that an announcement of intention couched in general terms will precede the act.

White House advisers have pointed out that if Mr. Roosevelt issues an early date he intends to apply inflationary measures a month hence, this simple gesture will start prices booming again.

In the interim the Brain Trust can get together on the exact method.

Thomas Again—

If the President doesn't act pretty soon he can expect to hear from the inflationists. Senator Thomas, Democrat of Oklahoma who fathered the inflation law as yet unused, will be their chief spokesman. Behind Thomas is that highly efficient and well-heeled propaganda organization known as the Committee of the Nation.

The Oklahoma Senator is deadly serious in his fight against what he calls the "dishonest dollar," an abnormal, unworkable and irresponsible value or buying power.

Should by any chance, and there doesn't seem to be much, the administration fail to report to actual inflation by next January you can bet your last dollar Thomas will be leading a very strong bloc in Congress to make it compulsory.

Lobby—

The campaign for definite inflation is at high pitch now. Thomas recently wrote an open letter to Fred I. Kent, the New York banker, castigating the latter for a magazine article attacking dollar shrinkage. The Committee of the Nation paid a high-pressure publicity organization to get Thomas' letter national circulation.

The Committee of the Nation is headed by James H. Rand, Jr. and other men of affairs. The Committee has spent a pretty penny here in Washington on entertaining and doing the other customary things that accompany an intensive lobby.

Tenacity—

Thomas' elevation to the role of spokesman for those demanding cheaper dollars is somewhat of an anomaly.

When the Oklahoma first began to register on the national scene he was recognized by the money interests as a wild man and a lightweight. Since first inspection a number of the financial big shots have changed their notion of the man. Thomas is devoid of humor and lacking in forensic brilliance but they found him to be a most painstaking student of every subject he tackled.

And, most important, they discovered he is a gentleman of the utmost tenacity.

Dilation—

One thing alone seems pretty certain in connection with inflation. There will be no immediate move actually to devalue the dollar by reduction of gold content. Labor is represented by some astute economists. If President Roosevelt should thin out the gold backing of our currency before NRA lapses many more men back at work than at present, the unions pay would demand pay increases in approximate ratio to the devaluation.

Look for devaluation along in December just, before congress meets. As previously predicted in this column expect the dollar to be toned down to 40 or 65 cents.

The dollar, according to those who want it shrunken had a 200 per cent value in February of this year. They maintain it hasn't come down much yet despite price movements.

Further almost two billion dollars were withdrawn from circulation between March 9 and August 8, they charge. Finally, the Federal Reserve credit loss in that same period amounted to over $1,400,000,000.

Property Ownership Not Necessary For Vote On Relief Bonds Saturday

AUSTIN (AP)—Otherwise qualified voters can vote Aug. 26 on the constitutional amendment to authorize state relief bonds without the requirement that they be property taxpayers. It was ruled here today.

The qualified voter must be 21, a resident of the state for 12 months, of the county where he or she votes for six months, and must have paid a poll tax or possess a poll tax exemption.

Dependable drug stores—Cunningham & Phillips—adv.

Farmers of this section have faced distressing conditions in the past. Each time it has been for the farmer to lift himself by his own boot straps, as it were, out of economic ills.

Reports filed by 2,216 farmers in eight drought stricken West Texas counties, picture a crisis for the farmer. Three years of miserably low prices for cotton and feed stuffs have literally taken the very boot straps from the farmer, and this time drought has weakened him to the point he will obviously be unable to better his lot.

In other words, these reports filed with C. T. Watson, manager of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce, and with State Senator A. P. Duggan, Littlefield, and A. B. Davis of Lubbock, indicate the farmer must have relief, immediate outside relief.

Of the number submitting financial reports, 1,655 are renters and the remaining 611 probably have their lands mortgaged beyond its actual value.

Expected Income—Most chaotic of all is the amount of anticipated income for this year. Consider how far $168,702.60 expected income will go among these 2,216 farmers and their 10,000 dependents.

The situation is all the more depressing in the light of actual needs for the next year, which aggregate $1,015,477.54, or nearly one million dollars more than the farmers expect to get.

Add to this the debt the farmer is obligated to pay during the next twelve months, $1,473,332.56, and you find the farmer falling short by two and a quarter million.

The only thing to offset this is the inventory submitted by farmers. This total, arrived at by estimating values of horses, mules, hogs, milch cows, poultry, farm implements, meats, fruits, vegetables, and feed stored, amount to $1,089,333.00.

This, however, cannot be calculated.

Radio Station Operators Under Federal Charges

Broadcasts Continue At Local Studio

Eighteen West Texans Named In Complaints Filed Tuesday

Ed. F. Houser and E. W. Brown, operators of a radio broadcasting station here, were among 18 West Texans against whom complaints were filed in federal court Tuesday evening charging violation of Section 18, title 47, of the United States code pertaining to licensing of radio stations.

Others charged were Rev. Sam Morris, Baptist minister of Stamford, and Mrs. Morris; Curry F. Jackson, Abilene; A. F. McClellan, Stamford filling station operator, and Bill Adams of Stamford; C. A. "Dauger" charged with operating an unlicensed station from a fundamentalist church there; Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Jackson; Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Meier, E. K. Van Antwerp, Ed Pierce, Willis Brooks and F. W. Burson of Plainville.

The charges resulted from operation of small unlicensed radio stations, programs of which allegedly were heard across the state line in violation of federal law.

Complaints, prepared under the direction of W. I. Abbot of Dallas, inspector for the federal radio commission, were filed with U. S. Commissioner Victory H. Lindsey of Lubbock.

Penalty for violation upon conviction is a fine of not more than $5,000 or imprisonment for not more than five years, or both.

Broadcasting of programs over the local station, operated by Brown and Houser, continued Wednesday as usual. Brown, asked if he had any statement to make in comment upon filing of the complaint, said that "it is known through personal contact with government employes at the local station that no interference has been caused." "Broadcasting on a wave length of 680 kilocycles, it may readily be seen that no interference due to harmonics is possible. It is also impossible to interfere with any licensed station coming into Big Spring on that wave length at the time this station is on the air. Upon close checks in nearby towns we have every reason to believe that our signal has never exceeded the state boundary. It is not definitely known as yet whether the station will continue to operate or will discontinue as has been suggested in the past few programs. The fact that complaints had been filed was not known until newspapers reported them. No warning or statement, in regard to charges being placed, has ever been issued to us personally by any federal radio authority. We have not been asked to close."

Jackson, owner and operator of the station VOA, the "Voice of Abilene," told a newspaper there Tuesday.

Death Overtakes Pecos Man Near San Angelo As Ambulance Speeds On 800-Mile Route For Treatment

San Angelo As Ambulance Speeds On 800-Mile Route For Treatment

Speed of an ambulance which started an 800-mile journey from Pecos to Houston Tuesday evening was beaten by death for William W. Dean, 35, Pecos insurance man, as the ambulance neared San Angelo after averaging 65 miles per hour on the 217-mile journey.

Dean was stricken with infantile paralysis Saturday and his condition grew worse rapidly. Physicians decided he must be placed in a respirator. Efforts to charter a plane to take him to Houston, where an "iron lung" had been prepared for him were unsuccessful and he was placed in an ambulance for the long journey.

The ambulance passed through Big Spring shortly after 7 o'clock Tuesday evening, sirens shrieking. An attendant was standing over the patient, his arms moving rhythmically as he applied artificial respiration. A woman sat beside him. The ambulance flashed on along highway No. 3 at top speed. But Dean died as it reached a point about nine miles northwest of San Angelo.

Music Award By Lions Club

Mmes. Meiner, Galbreath And Kirkpatrick Entertain Wednesday

Lions Wednesday were impressed by the power of music, then trailed off into a lighter vein to witness a mock trial in which Lion Rev. W. G. Buchsacher figured as defendant.

Mmes. M. N. Meiner, J. H. Kirkpatrick, and R. S. Galbreath effectively presented "A Cycle of Music," with which they have won wide acclaim locally.

Taking a boy from his cradle days, the trio played such selections as fitted into his developments and the spirit of the times in which he lived.

From "School Days" to "College" they took him. Then he meets "Wild Irish Rose," but she clouds elaborate the romance and "Over There" drowns out sweet romantic strains. "My Buddy" goes west, dreary days follow, then armistice.

The bridal march rings joyously and the two plan that "Cottage Small," and then to sing "Rock-a-Bye." "Silver Threads Among the Gold" is a prelude to the time when, cold and still, "Rock of Ages" is softly sung over his bier.

Mrs. Meiner the singer, and Mrs. Kirkpatrick the pianist, and Mrs. Buchsacher was unexpected served with a warrant for his arrest, charging a heinous offense. Friends persuaded Deputy Sheriff Andrew Merriek to let the club try him, and Clyde Thomas, a visitor, graciously consented to prosecute.

STOCK GAMBLING RESTRICTED

Governors of the New York Stock Exchange wisely have imposed new and drastic rules designed to curb unbridled stock speculation against which there has been so much protest.

Margins, heretofore left for determination by individual brokerage houses, hereafter must be at least 5 per cent for accounts up to $5000 and 30 per cent for larger accounts. Complete information on pools and syndicates must be furnished weekly. Customers' men may not solicit business at customers' homes without written permission.

The margin requirements of course will not save investors or speculators from losses. They will, however, discourage outright gambling with capital which represents only a small portion of the value of stocks "thought"; they will check the tendency to overtrade; and they will tend to prevent the pyramiding of paper profits. Regulation of pools and syndicates will make juggling more difficult, since operations will be discontinued if they tend to create "unsound values."

And pool operators will not find it so easy to unload on a gullible public which has been lured into the market.

Taken together, the rules should make less probable such spectacular collapses as the one recently witnessed. There seem no little doubt that this incipient panic was brought on by pure gambling.

Adoption of the rule marks a change in front by the men, who control the world's biggest security market. Heretofore they have resisted agitation for changes designed to do the very things now being attempted. The Exchange, which is not incorporated, has consistently held that it was not unlike a private club and that Congress was without power to regulate it. Congress has refrained from enacting many proposed measures to minimize stock gambling, although the Glass-Steagall bill, passed at the last session, strengthened the power of the Federal Reserve Board to keep funds out of speculative channels.

Time will tell whether the new method of operation will eliminate the practices against which so many complaints have been made. If voluntary action does not succeed in eliminating them, it seems a safe prediction that the government will step in.

Protecting Consumers

Consumers who have been somewhat disturbed by the rapid rise in the prices of food and other necessities will welcome publication by the government of a weekly "fair price" list for their protection. The list will show what farmers get for raw commodities, what labor gets in increased wages under the industrial program and what farmers must pay for the things they buy.

It is logical that the government having stimulated prices, should

SIGN-POSTS

IMAGINE yourself on an unfamiliar highway at night in the country. You want to go to Allison. You come to a forked road. No signs! Which way? You turn left and come to a crossroad. No signs. You turn right. You come to a town. It proves to be Liberty. You go back to the fork and turn left. A mile or so farther on you come to another crossroad. A sign pointing right says "Allison three miles."

But for that sign-post you might have traveled miles—spent hours, and come short of your destination.

Imagine yourself in need of hosiery, clothing, breakfast foods or anything else, and this newspaper without advertisements! Think of the number of stores you would have to visit, qualities and prices to check, reliabilities to consider.

Advertisements are sign-posts. They are information. They save you from wandering aimlessly from store to store. They keep you advised of the newest products; of the latest values. They save you time, and put greater buying power in your dollars. They assure you of quality and service in merchandise, for only honest goods honestly advertised can stand the spotlight of publicity.

Isaac Jalonick Of Dallas Is Buried
DALLAS (UP)—News of the death of Isaac Jalonick, 65, native of Galveston and for the past 30 years a prominent insurance man of Dallas, was received here. Jalonick died in a Hollywood, Cal., hospital early Tuesday. Funeral services were to be held Wednesday. A few minutes after George W. Jalonick, brother of the dead man, received word from Hollywood a nephew, Edison C. Jalonick, boarded an airplane to attend the funeral. Burial of Jalonick in California is in response to a wish he made several years ago. Educated at the Jacob Bickler Academy for Boys at Austin and later at the University of Texas, Jalonick started in the fire insurance business in 1887 at Wichita Falls. In 1903 he organized the Commonwealth Fire Insurance company of Texas with home offices here. Later he and his brother, George, merged the Commonwealth company with the Republic

Racket Probe Continues In N. York City

NEW YORK (UP)—United States Attorney George Z. Medalle, the soft spoken Republican prosecutor of this democratic stronghold, went before the county grand jury in an extraordinary proceeding to give evidence of the subservience of several powerful politicians to gangsters and racketeers. The scope of his revelations, it became known, had only been hinted at in his testimony before the senate racket committee when he said he knew of at least four political leaders under underworld control. Before he entered the grand jury room, it was reported, he had brought enough evidence to warrant "the indictment of a hundred." The inquiry, unique in that it was started by the grand jury over the head of the district attorney's office opened in an atmosphere of mystery. Before Medalle was summoned, Crain, aged Tammany sachem, entered the grand jury room with two of his assistants. Why he was called was not revealed.

clearing paraffin from the wells. He said such trouble was experienced little when the minimum production for pumping wells was 40 barrels a day.

Answering Commission Chairman Lon Smith, Holman said that running 50 barrels one day then remaining idle three days would not help the situation. He said pumping as continuously as possible was most effective in keeping down the paraffin.

Most Arrested Man In Administration Is New Aide To Labor Chief

WASHINGTON, (UP)—Edward McGrady, just sworn in as assistant secretary of Labor probably has been arrested more often than any other member of the present administration.

McGrady has been in the thick of many union strikes. He was jailed and was driven out of the "Happy Village" in eastern Tennessee during the textile mill disorders there several years ago.

He had gone to Elizabethton, Tenn., to help organize the workers in a German controlled rayon mill. The plights of thousands of mountaineer men, women and youth working at low wages had aroused his sympathy.

When he reached Elizabethton, in the heart of the valley, he arranged to speak before the executive committee of the chamber of commerce.

A few hours after he spoke, he was escorted out of town by a cavalcade of 20 automobiles. Left on a desolate mountain roadside, he was told "foreigners" were apt to be killed in the valley and it would be better for his life and limb he stayed out for good. McGrady went back the next day.

The room is level with the street and passersby at night report that generally from suppers she can be seen seated in an easy chair, puffing nervously on a cigaret and rummaging through a pile of letters and documents.

Sports Parade

By HENRY C. McLEMORE United Press Staff Correspondent NEW YORK (UP)—The only thing more rapid than the birth of a sports hero is his death.

Take Henry Ellsworth Vines of Pasadena, Cal., for example. (Everybody else is taking him these days, so we might as well.) Starting from scratch, Vines rose to the top of the tennis world in two years. It appears he is going to cut that time in half coming down. He started his return trip in Australia last fall, and he has yet to stop for a red light of a one-way street.

A twelvemonth ago Ellsworth had more titles than the Prince of Wales. Today he's got but one—that of national champion. And if you believe the tennis experts (a tennis expert it might be explained is any fellow who doesn't wear a hat) he won't have that one after the boys get through with him at Forest Hills next month. We say next month advisedly, for the pals seemed destined to stay out there until Christmas, what with the rain and Dorothy's Round's resignation.

But to get back to Vines comma Ellsworth. What do you suppose ails him? You can't pass him off as a flash in the pan, for during his ascension he played a game of tennis the like of which nobody ever played before. And that's not our opinion. That's what Henri Cochet said after Elly took him in straight sets in the finals of the national last year.

That match with Cochet, incidentally, was the beginning of the end. From Forest Hills Vines went to Australia on that cock-eyed junket sponsored by the wise fathers of the U.S.L.T.A., and in the land of down under he was kicked by Jack Crawford, which was alright, and by one Vivian McGrath, which wasn't. Returning to this country he was licked in several tournaments by players he was expected to chase off the court. Then came Wimbledon and his loss to Crawford, and after that the interzone Davis Cup finals with Great Britain, in which he played like a duck and was trounced by Fred Perry and Jimmy Austin. Last week Frank Shields took him in straight sets at the Newport Casino tournament.

14,000 Texans In Chicago Wednesday

CHICAGO (UP)—More than 14,000 Texans arriving on 41 special trains were here to celebrate Texas Day at a Century of Progress, Wednesday.

The program for the visitors began with a dinner at the Hotel Sherman Monday attended by 800 guests. A reception was held Tuesday.

Wednesday's ceremonies will begin with a military reception and will follow with the dedication of the Texas state exhibit in the Hall of States. Speaker at the exercises include former Governor Pat Neff, Col. Claude Carter and Col. Joe Ed Winfree, all members of the Texas delegation. Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson and Vice-President John N. Garner were unable to attend due to the Texas vote on prohibition repeal next Saturday.

Betty Mowker, of San Antonio, the "Voice of Texas," will sing cowboy songs at a musicale following the reception Wednesday and Mrs. Alice Coleman Pierce of Waco will give a classical program.

The climax of the day's activities will be a performance of "Aida" at Soldier Field to be given by the Texas Grand Oper company. The cast will include more than 1,500 persons, most of whom came from Texas. The singers arrived in two special pullman trains yesterday. The cars were drawn upon a siding near the field and the performers are living in the pullman village.

Paraffin Chokes Marginal Wells Say East Texans
AUSTIN (UP)—The 20-barrel limit on production of pumping wells, which has been in force since June 14, is causing paraffin to choke the wells, it was testified at a hearing before the state railroad commission here. The hearing was on application of Jenkins Oil Corporation, Dallas, for increased allowable on 14 wells. Tomas Pollard, Tyler, intervenor, offered a statement that the average loss on a pumping well at the 10-barrel allowable is $472 a month. Attendants at the hearing estimated the total number of such wells in the field at around 400. Ralph D. Holman, production foreman for the Jenkins company, told of the practical difficulties in

What the Blue Eagle means to you and how you can get it

The President's Reemployment Program is advancing to complete success. No such sweeping demonstration of the unity of a whole people against a national danger has ever been made. • In this vast surge of patriotism it is necessary to keep our common purpose always clear. When 125,000,000 people attempt to act as one man there are sure to be some misunderstandings. It is time to restate as clearly as possible the aim of the whole endeavor and the duty of each individual. • That is the purpose of this message—to state officially, briefly and clearly the simple rules for common guidance. • It is an evidence of the self-sacrificing service of the whole country that this newspaper has donated this space. In that spirit the whole country is acting. • This plan depends wholly on united action. That unity is almost complete. In the next few days let us close up every gap in the ranks and nail the flag of the Blue Eagle on the door of every man who works another man.

OFFICIAL EXPLANATION OF THE PRESIDENT'S REEMPLOYMENT AGREEMENT

(Sometimes miscalled "The Blanket Code")

This Agreement binds you to put its terms into effect from the time you sign the Certificate of Compliance until December 31, 1933; but when the President has approved a Code for your trade or industry, that Code takes the place of this Agreement.

Child Labor

(1) After August 31, 1933, not to employ any person under 16 years of age, except that persons between 14 and 16 may be employed (but not in manufacturing or mechanical industries) for not more than 8 hours per day and those hours between 7 A. M. and 7 P. M. in such work as will not interfere with hours of day school.

This means that after August 31, 1933, you agree not to employ any children under 16 years old in any kind of business. You may employ children between 14 and 16 years old, but only for three hours a day and those hours must be between 7 in the morning and 7 at night, and arranged so as not to interfere with school. You agree not to employ any children under 16 years old in a manufacturing or mechanical industry, at any time.

Minimum Wages

(5) Not to pay any of the classes of employees mentioned in paragraph (2) less than $15 per week in any city of over 500,000 population, or in the immediate trade area of such city; nor less than $14.50 per week in any city of between 250,000 and 500,000 population, or in the immediate trade area of such city; nor less than $14 per week in any city of between 2,500 and 250,000 population, or in the immediate trade area of such city and in towns of less than 2,500 population to increase all wages by not less than 20 per cent, provided that this shall not require wages in excess of $12 per week.

This sets out the schedule of minimum wages which you agree to pay all employees, except factory or mechanical workers or artisans. The wages are set out in terms of dollars per week, but if your employees are paid by the hour, you may use the following schedule:

Place of Business:	Minimum Wage:
(Population by 1930 Census)
In cities of 500,000 or over.....	37½ cents per hour
In cities of between 250,000 and 500,000.....	36¼ cents per hour
In cities of between 2,500 and 250,000.....	85 cents per hour

If your business is in a town of less than 2,500 population, you agree to raise all wages at least 20%. If raising all wages 20% causes you to pay over $12 per week, then you need only pay the $12 per week.

If there is any doubt in your mind as to whether your business is in the "immediate trade area" of a city, you should ask your local Chamber of Commerce or other similar organization for a decision on the matter. The general rule is that the "immediate trade area" is the area in which there is direct retail competition.

Maximum Hours

(2) Not to work any accounting, clerical, banking, office, service, or sales employees (except outside salesmen) in any store, office, department, establishment, or public utility, or on any automobile or horse-drawn passenger, express, delivery, freight service, or in any other place or manner, more than 40 hours in any 1 week and not to exceed the hours of any store or service operation to be below 52 hours in any 1 week, and not to exceed such hours less than 52 hours per week before July 1, 1933, and in the latter case not to reduce such hours at all.

This means that you agree not to work any of the kinds of employees listed in this paragraph (except outside salesmen) for more than 40 hours a week. This paragraph covers all employees except factory workers, mechanical workers and artisans. However, no limit on hours and no minimum wage applies to purely agricultural labor, domestic servants, or persons working for you solely on a commission basis; but, if you have persons working for you who are guaranteed a base pay in addition to their commission, then their base pay plus commissions must equal the minimum wage.

This Agreement sets no maximum on the number of hours you may keep your business open. You agree not to keep your wholesale, retail, or service establishment open less than 52 hours a week unless it was open less than 52 hours a week before July 1, 1933. Even then you agree to keep it open as long as you used to keep it open before July 1. Of course, if you have always kept your store open shorter hours in the summer months you can continue to do so this summer, but you should pay your employees the same amount each week that they will get when you keep your store open full time.

The stores with more than two employees which remain open the longest are contributing the most to carrying out the purpose of the Agreement. The stores with two or less employees which can be open only the minimum number of hours required, are doing the most to fulfill their part.

(3) Not to employ any factory or mechanical worker or artisan more than a maximum week of 35 hours until December 31, 1933, but with the right to work a maximum week of 40 hours for a 6 weeks within this period; and not to employ any worker more than 8 hours in any one day.

This means that if you are employing factory or mechanical workers or artisans, you agree not to work them more than 35 hours a week and not more than 8 hours in any one day.

When you have more than the usual amount of work to do and can't get additional workers, you may employ this class of employee up to 40 hours a week in any 6 weeks, but even in this case you must not work them more than 8 hours a day.

(4) The maximum hours fixed in the foregoing paragraphs (2) and (3) shall not apply to employees in a managerial or executive capacity, who now receive more than $35 per week; nor to employees on emergency maintenance and repair work; nor to very special cases where restrictions of hours of highly skilled workers on continuous processes would unavailably reduce production but, in any such special case, at least time and one-third shall be paid for hours worked in excess of the maximum. Population for the purposes of this agreement shall be determined by reference to the 1930 Federal census.

This means that there are certain employees whom you may work longer hours than are allowed by paragraphs (2) and (3). P. R. A.

If your business is in a small town (population less than 2,500 by the 1930 census) and you do not employ more than two persons, the limit on hours does not apply to these employees. If your town is really a part of a larger business community, the limit on hours does apply to these employees.

The limit on hours does not apply to your employees who are wholly or primarily managers or executives, as long as they receive $35 a week. Professional persons, like doctors, lawyers, registered pharmacists and nurses, are not included without any limit on hours.

Where employees are doing emergency job of maintenance or repair work, they may be kept on the job for

(6) Not to pay any employee of the classes mentioned in paragraph (3) less than 40 cents per hour unless the hourly rate for the same class of work on July 15, 1929, was less than 40 cents per hour, in which latter case not to pay less than the hourly rate on July 15, 1929, and in no event less than 30 cents per hour. It is agreed that this paragraph establishes a guaranteed minimum rate of pay regardless of whether the employee is compensated on the basis of a time rate or on a piece-work performance.

This fixes the minimum wage which you agree to pay factory and mechanical workers and artisans. The following schedule may help you to find out the proper rate: If the rate for the same kind of work on July 15, 1929, was:

More than 40c an hour.....	40c an hour
30c to 40c an hour.....	The July 15, 1929 hourly rate
Less than 30c an hour.....	30c an hour

Instead of paying by the hour, you may pay by the week at a rate which gives the same weekly earnings for a week of 35 hours. For example, instead of 40c an hour, you may pay $14 per week.

If you had a contract on or before August 1, 1933, with a learner or apprentice, you do not have to pay him the minimum wage, but no one should be classed as a learner or an apprentice who has ever been employed as a regular worker in your industry.

(7) Not to reduce the compensation for employment now in excess of the minimum wages hereby agreed to (notwithstanding that the hours worked in such employment may be hereby reduced) and to increase the pay for such employment by an equitable readjustment of all pay schedules.

Two official interpretations—No. 1 and No. 20—have been issued, explaining this paragraph. You can get copies of these at your local Chamber of Commerce or from the nearest N. R. A. representative.

Anti-Subterfuge

(8) Not to use any subterfuge to frustrate the spirit and intent of this Agreement which is, among other things, to increase employment by a universal covenant, to remove obstructions to commerce, and to shorten hours and to raise wages for the shorter week to a living basis.

This is the heart of the whole Agreement. The President's Plan is to cure this depression by increasing purchasing power. You can help him put this plan over by voluntarily signing this agreement to shorten hours and raise wages. There is no force to compel you to sign this Agreement. It is not law. It is a personal agreement between you and the President. The President expects you to do everything in your power to carry out the spirit of the Agreement after you sign it. This means wholehearted cooperation by really earning the Blue Eagle—not by just getting it and then not doing your part.

It would be a "subterfuge to frustrate the spirit and intent of this Agreement" to sign it and then put all of your employees on a strict ration basis—or any other trick to avoid doing what you promise to do.

WE DO OUR PART

HOW TO EARN THE BLUE EAGLE

1. Sign the President's Reemployment Agreement (P.R.A.).
2. Shorten Hours of factory workers to 35 hours per week, and of all other employees to 40 hours per week. (See paragraphs 2, 3 and 4, P.R.A.)
3. Raise Wages. (See paragraphs 5, 6, and 7, P.R.A.)
4. Don't Employ Child Labor. (See paragraph 1, P.R.A.)
5. Cooperate with the President. To do this:
 - (a) Live Up to the Agreement. (See paragraph 8, P.R.A.)
 - (b) Don't Profit. (See paragraph 9, P.R.A.)
 - (c) Deal Only with Others "Under the Blue Eagle." (See paragraphs 10 and 12.)
 - (d) Get a Code in by September 1st. (See paragraphs 11 and 13, P.R.A.)

HOW TO GET THE BLUE EAGLE

1. Sign the President's Reemployment Agreement.
2. Mail the Signed Agreement to your District Office of the Department of Commerce.
3. Put the Agreement into Effect (as outlined above in "How to Earn the Blue Eagle").
4. Sign a Certificate of Compliance. This is a slip distributed with the Agreement. It says: "I/we certify that we have adjusted the hours of labor and the wages of our employees to accord with the President's Reemployment Agreement, which we have signed."
5. Deliver the Certificate of Compliance to Your Post Office. The Postmaster will give you your Blue Eagle.

EXCEPTIONAL CASES

1. Where a Code Has Been Submitted. (See paragraph 13, President's Reemployment Agreement.) If your whole Trade or Industry is unable to live up to the President's Agreement, you should get together at once, with other employers in your Trade or Industry, and, in a group, submit a Code of Fair Competition to N. R. A. in Washington. Since it takes some time after a Code has been submitted for it to be finally approved, your group may petition N. R. A. to substitute the wages and hours provisions of your Code for the wages and hours provisions of the President's Reemployment Agreement. If N. R. A. finds that the Code provisions are within the spirit of the President's Reemployment Agreement, it will consent to such substitution. If N. R. A. does not consent there will be an official notice in all papers. You may then put the substituted provisions into effect in place of the indicated paragraphs of the President's Reemployment Agreement. In this case you should add to your Certificate of Compliance the following clause: "To the extent of N. R. A. consent as announced, we have complied with the President's Agreement by complying with the substituted provisions of the Code submitted by the Trade/Industry."
2. Where a Code Has Been Approved. If a Code of Fair Competition for your Trade or Industry has already been finally approved by the President, you need not sign the President's Reemployment Agreement in order to get the Blue Eagle. The same is true if you are subject to a Code which has been put into effect temporarily by agreement between the President and representatives of your Trade or Industry; but in either of these cases, you must sign a Certificate of Compliance, adding to it the following statement: "We have complied with the operative provisions of the Code for the Trade/Industry."
3. Cases of Individual Hardship. (Paragraph 14, President's Reemployment Agreement). If there are some peculiar reasons why a particular provision of the President's Agreement will cause you, individually, a great and unavoidable hardship, you may still get the Blue Eagle by taking the following steps:
 - (a) Sign the Agreement and mail it to your District Office of the Department of Commerce.
 - (b) Prepare a petition to N. R. A. setting out the reasons why you cannot comply with certain provisions, and requesting that an exception be made in your case.
 - (c) Have this petition approved by your Trade Association. If there is no Trade Association for your business, have your petition approved by your local Chamber of Commerce or other representative organization designated by N. R. A.
 - (d) If the Trade Association, or other organization, approves your petition, send it to N. R. A. in Washington with this approval.
 - (e) Comply with all the provisions of the Agreement except the one you are petitioning to have accepted.
 - (f) Sign the Certificate of Compliance, adding to it the following clause: "Except for those interim provisions regarding wages and hours which have been approved by the Trade Association," Deliver this Certificate of Compliance to your Post Office. You will receive a Blue Eagle, but before displaying it, you must put a white bar across its breast with the word "Provisional" on it. If your petition is finally approved by N. R. A., you may take the bar down. If your petition is not approved by N. R. A., you must comply with the Agreement in full.
4. Union Contracts. If you have a contract with a labor organization calling for longer hours than the President's Agreement allows, and this contract was made in good faith by collective bargaining and cannot be changed by you alone, try to get the labor organization to agree to a reduction to the maximum hours allowed by the President's Agreement. If the labor organization will not agree, you may apply to N. R. A. for permission to work your employees as many hours a week as the contract calls for. Send to N. R. A. a request for this permission, with a certified copy of the labor contract and any statement of fact you desire. This application will be handled by N. R. A. in the same manner as an application for relief in cases of individual hardship, filed under paragraph (14) P. R. A.; but it will not be necessary to obtain the approval of a trade association or other organization. If N. R. A. approves your application or is able to bring about any modification of the contract, you will then be granted permission to work employees in accordance with the contract as originally written or modified, and can then sign the Certificate of Compliance adding to it the following: "Except as required to comply with the terms of the Agreement in effect between the undersigned and the (Name of Labor Organization)."

Anti-Profitting

(9) Not to increase the price of any merchandise sold after the date hereof over the price on July 1, 1933, by more than is made necessary by actual increase in production, replacement, or invoice cost of merchandise, or by taxes or other costs resulting from action taken pursuant to the Agricultural Adjustment Act, since July 1, 1933, and in setting such price increases, to give full weight to probable increases in sales volume and to refrain from taking profiteering advantage of the consuming public. The object of this paragraph is to prevent profiteering or speculation, so that prices will not rise faster than purchasing power, and destroy the President's plan. The danger to be avoided was pointed out by the President on June 16, 1933, in the statement which he made on signing the Recovery Act. He said, then:

"If we now inflate prices as fast and as far as we increase wages, the whole project will be set at naught. We cannot hope for the full effect of this plan unless, in these first critical months, and even at the expense of full initial profits, we defer price increases as long as possible. If we can thus start a strong, sound upward spiral of business activity our industries will have little doubt of blacking-out operations in the last quarter of this year. The pent-up demand of this people is very great, and if we can release it on so broad a front, we need not fear a lagging recovery. There is greater danger of too much feverish speed."

If you were setting your merchandise on July 1, 1933, below cost, you may take your profit into account on the basis for determining the allowable increase under this paragraph.

Cooperation

(10) To support and patronize establishments which also have signed this Agreement and are listed members of N. R. A. (National Recovery Administration).

The success of the President's Reemployment Agreement Program depends upon public support going to those who raise wages and shorten hours in accordance with this Agreement, in order to repay them for the extra expense which they have incurred in doing their part.

Codes

(11) To cooperate to the fullest extent in having a Code of Fair Competition submitted by his industry at the earliest possible date, and in any event before September 1, 1933.

This Agreement is a temporary measure to tide over the time from now until all employers and employees can live up to a Code of Fair Competition under the National Industrial Recovery Act. You agree, in this paragraph, to do all you can to have a Code submitted for your trade or industry before September 1, 1933.

Appropriate Adjustments

(12) Where, before June 16, 1933, the undersigned had contracted to purchase goods at a fixed price for delivery during the period of this Agreement, the undersigned will make an appropriate adjustment of said fixed price to meet any increase in cost caused by the seller having signed this President's Reemployment Agreement or having become bound by any Code of Fair Competition approved by the President.

This Agreement will, usually, increase the costs of those who sign it. The purpose of this paragraph is to pass any such increased costs along from one signer to another, and so on to the consumer.

If you have a contract made before June 16, 1933, to buy goods at a fixed price, you agree to make an arrangement with your seller so that you pay him for the extra cost to him caused by his having signed this Agreement or having come under a Code approved by the President.

In some cases the final buyer is the Government, which, under existing law, is generally not allowed to pay more than the contract price. The President has announced that he will recommend to Congress that appropriations be made to allow the Government to pay its part by paying Government contractors who have signed this Agreement for their increased costs. The President has also appealed to the States and cities to take action permitting them to do likewise.

You should have no fear that, because your buyer has not signed, you will be the one who pays the increased cost on you alone. The President expects every employer to sign this Agreement.

Substitutions

(13) This Agreement shall cease upon approval by the President of a Code to which the undersigned is subject; or, if the N. R. A. so elects, upon substitution of a Code to which the undersigned is subject and substitution of any of its provisions for any of the terms of this Agreement.

As pointed out in the explanation of paragraph (11) P. R. A. above, the President plans to have all business governed itself under Codes, and therefore Codes should be promptly submitted. If N. R. A. finds that the wages and hours provisions of a Code which has been submitted are within the spirit of the Agreement, N. R. A. will authorize your industry to operate under those provisions rather than under the wages and hours provisions of this Agreement.

Exceptions

(14) It is agreed that any person who wishes to do his part in the President's Reemployment Plan by signing this Agreement, but who asserts that some particular provision hereof, because of peculiar circumstances, will create great and unavoidable hardship, may obtain the benefits hereof by signing this Agreement and getting it into effect through the decision of such investigation. This Agreement is entered into pursuant to section 8 (a) of the National Industrial Recovery Act and subject to all the terms and conditions required by sections 7 (a) and 10 (b) of that act.

If you really want to do your part in the President's Reemployment Program, sign this Agreement. If some particular part of this Agreement causes you, as an individual employer, great and unavoidable hardship, you may obtain relief by taking the steps outlined under the heading "Cases of Individual Hardship."

Save this sheet as your official source of information. If there are any problems in your mind which are not cleared up by this explanation, get in touch with the official N. R. A. representative in your community.

NATIONAL RECOVERY ADMINISTRATION

Campaign Against 'Chiseling' And 'Cheating' Opened By NRA

Unjustified Hiking Of Prices Subject Of Stern Warning By Johnson; Miners' Leader Says Administration Is 'Holding Back'

WASHINGTON—The beginning of a nation-wide campaign to prevent skyrocketing prices and to wipe out "chiseling and cheating" practices in business was outlined Tuesday by Hugh B. Johnson the NRA chief.

Turning momentarily from his fast-moving negotiations to bring the bituminous coal and automobile industries under codes of fair competition, the recovery administrator went before the national retailers with a stern warning against flouting the blue eagle. Unjustified hikes.

John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, said after a meeting of district leaders, the recovery administration had not yet "laid its cards on the table."

Automobile Code Under the law direct Johnson, conferences were going forward looking to an agreement upon the automobile code.

Particularly vexing in the trade plan for the automobile industry—outside of the doubts surrounding the next move by Henry Ford, who has been silent on his attitude—was the labor question.

After giving informal approval to the section as included in the code stating that the industry "may" continue its open shop operations, the administrator was confronted with the view of Richberg that it should be stricken out.

Richberg said with the coal negotiations occupying most of Johnson's time, he had not been able to take the question up for final settlement. In addition to these two major codes, Johnson was represented as desirous, also, of pushing through the retail code within a few days, since it will affect some 5,500,000 persons—more than are employed in any other industry.

As it lacked the controversial differences between labor and capital, which have delayed other important codes, the administrator was of the opinion that an agreement upon the retailers' "constitution" could be reached within a few days. With these out of the way, he planned to turn to the actual enforcement of the by-laws which have been laid down for those business as houses displaying the Blue Eagle of the NRA.

Setting there would be no "tug of war" with the NRA, he said. "I know there is a lot of it now," he added, that where violations of agreements were found "we are going to move in there and take that Eagle off that window."

"We are going to do it under such circumstances that the whole world will know why we have taken it off," Johnson said, "and that we have taken it off fairly."

It was disclosed that the administrator was turning his attention to the possibility of tariff boosts being necessitated by the rising costs of production in this country under the codes.

Franklin O. Billings, formerly assistant director of valuations in the New York customs office, was established at the NRA headquarters to receive complaints of manufacturers of imports flowing in harmful to their business.

While Billings has been designated to keep abreast of the developments, it was said President Roosevelt had not yet delegated to him or the administration the authority provided in the recovery act for increasing duties or clapping on an embargo if an investigation shows the need.

"brain trust" to match Prof. Raymond Moley and others of the national administration.

The Texas government expert is Prof. George C. Hester of Georgetown, member of the legislature and instructor in government in Southwestern University.

While others connected with the state government were crying out the need of new revenues, Prof. Hester put the figures to the test and discovered Texas is pretty well off.

"The figures that have been quoted by state officials are OK," Prof. Hester says, "but the conclusions reached from them are not right."

When it was announced the maximum tax rate, which was fixed by the automatic tax board, would only be half enough to meet the real needs, Prof. Hester took issue.

Taking up the state school fund he said:

"Its income during the next year will be $18,000,000, according to the comptroller's report to the board of education. This estimate is based on the low revenue returns of the last 12 months and does not include the possibilities of a business upturn, nor the possibility of a beer tax to bring about $1 per alcoholic, nor the collections to be made from the $20,000,000 of delinquent taxes now due this fund.

In short it is probable that the school fund will have an income of $18 or $20 during the year with which to pay off the deficit and operate. A part of the deficit could be carried over to the following year which make its payment still easier.

"As to the general fund the prospective deficit August 31 will be $9,944,755.21, by the same report. This represents accumulated deficits over several years, plus nearly $3,000,000 in claims which the legislature voted, which had also accumulated over several years. To assume that this entire indebtedness must be paid in one year is absurd. If $10,000,000 of new revenues were levied to liquidate it in one year, it would mean that the same revenues would create a treasury surplus of $10,000,000 the second year. What an indictment this would be for squandering."

One state office in Texas can be held only by a married man. It is that of oculist for the state institute for the blind.

Adrian Pool, board of control member, said he understood the provision had been put in the act by friends of an aspirant to the position. He was married and his leading opponent for the place was single.

The cleverly designed plan did not work. The unmarried applicant married, qualified and got the position.

While this is the only office requiring a married person by statute, there are a number of places that are given to married couples.

The board of control has placed a man and wife at the Waco school for dependent children.

Efforts were made several times to disqualify the late S. M. N. Marrs state school superintendent. Time and again it was proposed to place qualifications about the office that would automatically bar him. Legislators defeated the plans. One proposal was to require a master's degree for the state superintendent. Marrs, despite his long years in educational work, never had this college degree.

Places on the state industrial accident board are restricted so that one must be held by an attorney, one by an employer and one by a person who was an employee when appointed. Former governor Pat M. Neff laid his secretary, Miss Espe Stanford, was an employee within the meaning of the law and made her the employe-member. Industrial workers have no member on the board, strictly speaking.

Speaking of legal qualifications, few know that all judges need not be lawyers. A county judge in Texas need never have practiced law.

on the chance on the market that she had, she might not find it so easy to dismiss the subject from her mind. "I don't think it is even second nature with me," she replied. "It is just about my whole life."

"It wouldn't be a bad idea for you to get some tips from Mary and invest some money for yourself, Bonnie," Foster suggested. His wife shot him a glance of disgust and contempt. He threatened to disown her because she wanted to gamble at bridge, then suggested that she should play the market. To her, it was all the same, for she would have refused to exert her mind over either. She would have lost in stocks with the same incognitance and indifference that she lost at bridge.

Guests began to arrive a little before ten o'clock. The house was soon alive with high-pitched laughter, affected accents, bizarre gowns and personalities, bizarre perfumes and music which nobody heard. Bonnie had by this time effected her own coterie from among Foster's wide and eligible acquaintance. He reflected, during all these years, he had not been aware of having about him such a superior conglomeration of human nature. His contacts with them had been casual and infrequent. Now that their entertainment was his continual obligation, he was amazed at them. Surely there were those among his associates who would make more desirable friends; but he had never given much thought to the younger set. Of course, Bonnie had selected youthful friends; she had not considered her husband's preference for maturity and mutual interests.

Mary was somewhat bewildered. She found herself paired off with her brother-in-law more than once. She didn't quite "belong," she knew. Neither did she like the way Bruce Jameson followed Bonnie about and danced with her most of the time. Young Jameson didn't appeal to her, anyway. He was thick-set and heavy eyed, sensuous and bland. But Bonnie led him about with coquettish glances and provocative laughter. Mary noticed that Foster scowled at them several times during the evening. She sighed. Would Bonnie never cease to be a problem? She had thought that marrying Bonnie to us, can we?" he smiled at Mary as if he enjoyed sharing something with her.

Mary thought, if Bonnie had tak-eccentric objection to a woman gambling at cards, until he threatened to disown her; then she flirted with a younger man in his own house and before his very eyes. Somehow, she must convince Bonnie of her folly and the inevitable results.

It was three o'clock before all the guests had gone. No sooner had the last thanks-giving people left than Bonnie willed into a chair like a prick and bobbing balloon that is gayed suddenly and deflated. She had not changed with marriage, Mary regretted. She had been just like that, always; vivacious and charming with others, moody and disagreeable with her immediate family. Mary wondered why Bonnie couldn't see that such tactics didn't pay, that it was far more necessary and profitable to be agreeable to the ones with whom one lived every day than to impress those whose lives only touched one at intervals.

Foster looked tired and discontented—and old. Mary contrasted his appearance with that of the buoyant, happy, confident bridegroom who had stood on the Pullman platform three months before—and was sorry for him—Bonnie might have done better, she thought, with everything in her favor.

"Well, I'm tired," he confessed. "If you girls will excuse me, I think I'll call it a day."

"No one will stop you," from Bonnie. She yawned. "I'm dragged out, myself. Your breakfast will be brought to you about noon, Mary. I won't be up before, so don't set the alarm from force of habit. Won't the boys miss their Sunday waffles, though?"

"Who said waffles?" Foster's face lighted.

"Oh, Mary bakes waffles every Sunday morning at home, just because the boys are crazy about them."

"I'll be over to have breakfast with you next Sunday morning," Foster invited himself.

Mary laughed. "Any time you wish. Why not have waffles tomorrow morning? I'll join you. I couldn't sleep until noon and I never breakfasted in bed in my life."

Bonnie frowned. "Don't you two get reckless and cause trouble with the perfectly good chef I just captured. I wouldn't dare to interfere with his menus, and you had better not."

"Well, I will if he keeps serving me poached eggs on toast when I despise them. I want my eggs scrambled up and cooked done, with crisp bacon. Where does he get the invalid diet idea, anyway?"

"Well, you might be glad of anything to eat, if you had the trouble with myrants I have had these two months."

Poor Bonnie, she seemed to be always in trouble, thought Mary. Yet what an easy life she could have, and did have—if she only knew it. The trouble with Bonnie was that someone had always shouldered her responsibilities. Never having experienced the real difficulties of life, she had nothing with which to compare her imaginary and self-inflicted ones.

The two girls talked for awhile after Foster had retired. Bonnie tried to persuade Mary to tell her how she was going to obtain the money, but Mary assured her that she would manage it all.

"I think I'd rather go out home in the morning, honey. It will be a long day for Mom, and you will want to sleep late. I'll have breakfast by ten, anyway."

"All right," indifferently. "I'll have Smith drive you out any time you say."

"Oh, don't bother sending a car. I don't mind the train."

"You wouldn't. But there's no need of your taking the train when Smith has absolutely nothing else to do."

So Mary drove home in state, and was glad to be back there with Mom and the boys again. She felt real and vital once more. She could appreciate wealth and a beautiful home, but there was a difference between a home and a house. A home could be either humble or luxurious; but a mere house—whether bleak or sumptuous—was a wretchedly empty place. To be a home, any house had to have love abiding there.

The first three days of the week dragged interminably. In spite of being busy, Mary thought the hours never would pass. Tuesday seemed longer than Monday and Wednesday was as exasperating as a slow motion movie.

Merchants Warned To Follow Signs Leading To N.R.A.

DALLAS (UP)—Stop signs for merchants in following the NRA codes have been set by the Better Business Bureau here.

From the many questions asked the bureau by the business men the following "don't's" were compiled as a guide for those desiring to abide by the terms of the recovery program agreements.

1. Don't fail to sign the President's agreement at once.
2. Don't display the NRA insignia unless you have signed the agreement and the compliance slip and are complying with the terms of the agreement.
3. Don't purchase stamps, stickers or other NRA insignia from anyone who can not prove beyond doubt that he has authority from the government to print and distribute them.
4. Don't sign petitions that require you to pay money in connection with the workings of the NRA.
5. Don't purchase consumer signature cards from anyone, since these can only be collected and distributed without charge by the Postoffice Department.
6. Don't contribute to racketeers who promise to arrange codes for business men and report such individuals immediately to the authorities. Prepare your code by consulting other firms in your industry and if your industry has an association, join it and assist in working out a code.
7. Don't pay money to racketeers seeking to capitalize on patriotism and don't pay to get your name on any supposedly official list of NRA.
8. Don't, if you are unemployed, pay money to persons seeking to place your name on a list to obtain jobs which they state they can get for you at some future date.

The bureau also urged the public as well as employers to report all NRA racketeers to the federal district attorney or to the Better Business Bureau itself, either in person or in writing.

GIRL IN FIGHT WITH OCTOPUS

Leona Douglas, Menlo Park, Cal., invented a periscope camera to take pictures under water, and decided to test it on a wrestling match with an octopus. A specimen stretching 12 feet from arm to arm was procured and Douglas' daughter, Florence, 17, volunteered to fight the sea monster in a tank. Above pictures show the battle with the girl approaching the octopus and later as she was enmeshed in its tentacles. A few minutes later it took the combined efforts of several men to free the girl. Henry

Henry Ford may well turn out to be the toughest nut Recovery Administrator Johnson ever tried to crack.

Those who know the flivver king intimately say he is apt to shut down his plants completely rather than be sandbagged into adherence to a code. He did this back in 1922 when railroad and coal strikes continued to hamper his production.

Such a move would throw over 100,000 men out of work and most certainly not be in the spirit of NRA.

Ford's argument is that he was the pioneer in giving the working man a living wage. He forced other auto manufacturers to the same practice and won their undying hatred.

His champions say that signing a code could have only one effect on his business. It would possibly force him to abandon his beloved open shop and listen to dictation from the unions.

Persiflage

Myron Taylor, chairman of the board for U. S. Steel, and Charles M. Schwab, who functions likewise for Bethlehem, left their White House conference with President Roosevelt the other day in highly creative mood.

"Come clean," finally demanded one of the White House correspondents of Taylor, "were stockholders in your company?"

"What an elegant setting for a stockholders' meeting," Schwab answered to Taylor.

What the pugnacious reporter failed to reveal to Taylor was that he and the other White House news men wealthy enough to own U. S. Steel Common had bought it at 98 1/4.

Notes

Alexander Sachs, chief economist for NRA, admits in his off-job moments that signing a code is no small task to ask of an industrialist.

"It's like asking a man to play a violin," Sachs says. "But first asking the man to make the violin and write the music."

Secretary of Agriculture Wallace's move in purchasing 5,000,000 hogs is a significant indicator to the imminence of further inflation. Wallace frankly said he hoped to increase the purchasing power of the farmer considerably thereby.

"Inflation is aimed at relief of the debtor class and word from the agricultural regions indicates they want it badly."

NEW YORK

By James McMullin

Big Stick

New York knew that the decision to use the big stick on oil and steel was the President's own.

Administrator Simpson had tried every brand of diplomacy he knew. General Johnson did his best to influence the man to cooperate and help up his vocabulary in the process. But there were too many forty-minute eggs to deal with among the opposition. Finally patience ceased to be a virtue if the Blue Eagle wasn't to become a stick instead of a lightning bolt.

New York workers who were in on the play who that the President took off his

MRS. COSTELLO FREED BY JURY IN POISON CASE

Mrs. Jessie E. Costello, comely 31-year-old widow, was acquitted by a jury which heard her charged with the poison slaying of her husband, Fire Captain William Costello of Peabody, Mass. She is shown in the front seat of an automobile as she was driven from the county court house at Salem, Mass., a few minutes after the jury had returned its verdict. She returned to the cottage in Peabody where her husband was found dead last February and was greeted by her father and her three children. (Associated Press Photo) day night he believed the regulation under which he was charged does not apply to his station. He said he will continue to operate unless and until he receives orders from the proper authorities to close. Admitting that his station is not licensed, Jackson contended federal authorities have no power to interfere with an intrastate broadcasting unit, as he termed the WVA. There are no state laws governing radio broadcast.

From Stamford, the Abilene newspaper was told that the Sunshine radio station, operated by Rev. and Mrs. Sam Morris, has never had a report of going across a state line or interfering with other stations. A representative of Morris said, "In virtually every broadcast we always ask for reports of our having been heard over the state line or having interfered with other stations, offering in either case to reduce our power or change our frequency. Not for one hour would we knowingly operate in violation of the law."

Rev. Morris, who went to Lubbock on being notified the charge had been filed, said to newspapermen there that he will "fight the case to a finish."

The pastor said the station would be on the air again Wednesday and daily until "the courts settle this case in the final stage." He intimated he would broadcast from a Mexican station and the whole world about the "unfair methods of federal men in their investigation."

The Sunshine station, which has a frequency of 1,430 kilocycles, will have been in operation six months, on September 5. It is operated in connection with the First Baptist church, of which Rev. Morris is pastor.

Hoover Says He Will Not Talk To Jury

Former President Declines Request Of Detroit Bank Probers

DETROIT—Officials of Detroit's one man bank investigating jury announced Tuesday night that they would issue a statement Wednesday regarding what further action they would take as a result of Herbert Hoover's refusal to come to the city as a witness in the inquiry into the closing of the First National bank. Detroit and the Guardian National bank of Commerce.

Next Step Uncertain
 Appraised of the former president's decision a few hours after they had sent him an "earnest request" for his testimony, Prosecutor Harry E. Toy and Circuit Judge Harry B. Keidan, who constitute the one-man grand jury, went into conference.

"I have nothing to say tonight in connection with Mr. Hoover's message," said Judge Keidan. "I shall consult Mr. Toy and study the telegram carefully and my further plans will be announced in the morning."

"Whether any further attempt will be made to obtain what information Mr. Hoover has, or whether any deposition will be taken from him in California, I cannot say yet," said Prosecutor Toy. "I will make no decision until I have conferred with Judge Keidan."

Mr. Hoover telegraphed his refusal to Prosecutor Toy, explaining that, while he had no objection to furnishing any information which he properly could, such information would be only general and was "mostly second hand." He said he believed it insufficient to warrant a trip to Detroit.

State Seeks Penalties Of Oil Companies

Violations Of Proration Orders In East Texas Are Alleged

KILGORE (UP)—Penalties amounting to $704,000 are sought by the Texas Railroad commission for alleged violation of its production orders in the East Texas field, according to Travis L. Goley of the commission's oil and gas division.

One of the larger suits is against the Lide-Taylor Oil company charging overproduction of oil during May and June from four wells in the Young lease of the Pru survey. The other involved the Lide-Rowe Oil company, charged with exceeding allowable in four wells on the Young lease in Rusk county during the same months.

Part Of Money Missing From Bank Recovered

GIDDINGS (UP)—Part of the money missing from the vault of the First National bank here was returned but authorities had found no trace of an absent 27-year-old official and a Rice Institute co-ed with whom he had been keeping company.

The missing man's brother brought $2250 in cash to the bank, saying he found it in his mother's garage. President Ed R. Sink confirmed earlier reports that the total missing sum was $11,500.

The shortage was discovered Monday morning when the vault was opened. The young official closed the vault Saturday. Officers of the bank were told that he had gone to Austin.

The girl with whom the banker had been keeping company has not been seen since last Friday when she visited friends in Houston.

She doesn't know how you do it!

YOU feel a little embarrassed and sorry for her. She looks so admiring and helpless, so envious, and so—so—ineffective!

Her clothes are always so bad, poor little thing. And she pays too much for them. Her home is furnished with all the wrong things. She seems to have a genius for wasting money. When she goes out to buy anything, soap or silverware, or lingerie or lamps, she's sure to turn up with something nobody ever heard of before and doesn't want to hear of again.

She is that eager, but not very bright, little woman who, "my dear, doesn't ever read advertisements." Who doesn't know what to buy, or where to find it, or what to pay for it. Who doesn't know values and can't compare them. Who doesn't know that when a new style, or a new convenience, or a new anything arrives, one sees it first in the advertisements.

One really gets a little vexed with her—

But let's not waste too much time on her. It's about time for you, dear lady, to have your daily look through the advertisements.

Jobless Teachers May Receive R.F.C. Funds Hopkins Rules

AUSTIN—Harry L. Hopkins, federal relief administrator, telegraphed Lawrence Westbrook, director of relief in Texas, that government funds could be used to pay relief wages to needy unemployed teachers in rural counties.

Hopkins said the Texas rehabilitation and relief commission could use funds now available "to pay work relief wages to needy unemployed teachers or other persons competent to teach and assign them to class rooms up through the sixth grade."

It was made a provision of the authority to use funds in this manner that the teachers be "assisted by the relief offices to appropriate educational authorities who will have entire supervision over their activities; that they are assigned only to those schools which prior to this date have been ordered closed or partially closed for the coming school year because of lack of funds."

Hopkins advised Westbrook that the funds also could be used "as work wages to needy unemployed persons competent to teach adults unable to read and write English." This applies to cities as well as rural counties, the relief administrator stated.

"Under no circumstances should relief funds be used to relieve counties of their proper responsibility for education—not should these activities permit the substitution of relief teachers for regularly employed teachers," Hopkins' message stated.

Three Arrested, Six Automobiles Returned To Owners

SWEETWATER — Three men have been arrested and six stolen automobiles have been returned to their owners as officers of three West Texas counties uncovered what they described as a highly organized auto theft ring extending from Fort Worth to a half dozen West Texas counties.

At least two more cars, now in the hands of innocent Nolan County purchasers, are known to be stolen but their original owners have not yet been found, officers said.

The cars, in each instance, were found in the hands of innocent purchasers and have been returned to the following owners: R. B. Hill of Dallas, stolen at Fort Worth; Mrs. Edith Monig, Fort Worth; Ted Casner, Stamford; H. O. Wooten, Groceries Company, Wichita Falls; Ellis Royd Motor Company, Fort Worth; O. T. Smith, Fort Worth.

The auto theft bureau at Dallas is attempting to trace ownership of two other cars.

Some of the cars were found in possession of prominent Sweetwater persons who had bought them through a man who operated as a used car dealer and who is now under $1,000 bond in connection with the case. Two other men were jailed at Haskell. In some instances the cars had changed hands several times, and officers said some complications resulted as the "owners" sought compensation from those from whom they had purchased the cars.

Motor numbers of the cars had been changed, and registration papers and bills of sale had been forged or obtained under false pretense to make the deals appear legal to prospective buyers, officers said.

The operations of the ring first came to light with arrest of a man in Stamford in connection with a car theft there. Questioning of him led to two more arrests and recovery of the six cars in this county.

A. L. Duncan, president of Texas Electric Service company, and A. E. Thomas, vice president of the same company, of Fort Worth, were business visitors in Big Spring Wednesday.

Texas Hog Raisers To Receive Less Than Chicago Area

FORT WORTH—When the buying of hogs under the agricultural adjustment administration emergency plans begins at Fort Worth August 23, producers of hogs in Texas and Oklahoma will not receive as much for pigs as producers in the Chicago area. Different market centers will pay on the Chicago basis less a differential that varies from 10 cents a hundred for Milwaukee, St. Louis and national stock yards to $1 for Georgia and Florida pigs. The differential for Texas, Oklahoma and all Rocky mountain and Pacific coast states is 60 cents a hundred pounds under the Chicago basis, or as follows:

Pounds	Per 100 Lbs.
25 to 30	$5.90
31 to 35	8.85
36 to 40	8.40
41 to 45	8.15
46 to 50	7.90
51 to 55	7.65
56 to 60	7.40
61 to 65	7.15
66 to 70	6.90
71 to 75	6.65
76 to 80	6.40
81 to 85	6.15
86 to 90	5.90
91 to 95	5.65
96 to 100	5.40

These differentials are subject to change at any time on agreement between the government and the Institute of American Meat Packers.

These prices are applicable to pigs that are in good health, show normal growth and no body deformities at the time of delivery. Inferior pigs will take a $3 per hundred discount under the Chicago price wherever they are marketed.
