County Hay Show September 25

Hay producers in Eastland County are encouraged to enter a sample of hay in the Eastland County Hay Show. The Hay Show is being planned by the Eastland County Rural Development Committee.

They emphasize that it will cost the producer only one bale of hay and in return he will get a protein analysis of his hay and will find out how it classifies in terms of quality. This will help the stockman know how much protein supplement will be needed with his hay feeding this winter.

A producer must enter his hay by September 10th. He can leave it at any one of the sponsoring agri-business stores in the county. These stores are: Tex Farm, Inc., Jobe Implement Co., and Brown's Feed Store in Gorman; Squiers Farm Store, Perkins Implement Co., C&D Feed Store and Eastland Grain and Seed in Eastland; Clyde Johnson Store in Desdemona; Ratliff Feed and Seed in Carbon; Winfrey Feed and Peanut Plant, Jones Feed and Seed, and Shults Implement Co. in Rising Star; Thornton's Feed Mill and Farm and Ranch Supply in Cisco.

Any grower may enter one

From The Living Bible
So Eliphaz the Temanite, and Bildad the Shuhite, and Zophar the Naamathite did as the Lord commanded them, and the Lord accepted Job's prayer on their behalf. Then, when Job prayed for his friends, the Lord restored his wealth and happiness! In fact, the Lord gave him twice as much as before! Then all of his brothers, sisters, and former friends arrived and feasted with him in his home, consoling him for all his sorrow, and comforting him because of all the trials the Lord had brought upon him. And each of them brought him a gift of money.

bale in each class. The classes include coastal Bermuda grass, Love grass, Sudan and Sudan hybrids, Johnson grass, oat hay, and Alfalfa. If a producer has hay that does not fit into these classes he is encouraged to enter it and a new class will be set up.

The hay show will be held at the Eastland County Livestock Show Barn, A.C. Novosad, Extension Pasture Specialist will classify the hay and award ribbons for hay that scores over 50 points. On the day of the hay show Novosad will discuss hay quality and ways of improving hay quality.

The entry deadline was set for September 10 so there will be time to get protein analysis made before the hay show.

The Rural Development Committee is composed of De Gordon, County Agent; Lynn Gibson, Soil Conservationist; Charlie Henderson, FHA Supervisor; and David Martin ASCS Director.

Laugh-A-Day

Two politicians of opposing parties were discussing their strategy.

The Democrat says, "I'm for promoting. For example, whenever I take a cab, I give the cabbie a large tip and say, "Vote Democratic."

The Republican says, "My approach is similar. Whenever I take a cab, I don't give any tip at all, and I leave him with: "Don't forget to vote Democratic."

A Prediction On Meats

What factors really caused the current "shortage" of meat - the boycott earlier this year or the government price ceiling?

"The old concept that a producer is a price taker rather than a price maker is undergoing a rapid change in this instance," pointed out Dr. Ed Uvacek, livestock marketing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. He emphasized that while the boycott in April was real and probably did have an impact on the total price of beef, yet it may have caused the producer to pull back on production, thus creating shortages.

"We have moved from the boycott phase to just the opposite viewpoint where consumers are concerned," Uvacek added, pointing to trends of hoarding meat. After the meat price ceiling is lifted on September 12, fed cattle prices are expected to rise and then fall back to about 51 cents per pound during the pass-through phase, noted Uvacek. "This price rise, however, may actually already have been anticipated and therefore realized," he added. His prediction for November saw fed cattle selling from 52 to 53 cents a pound, with the price range for the first quarter of next year prevailing around the 50 to 52 cent level.

"Feeder animals - those weighing 600 to 700 pounds - are currently selling from $5 to $7 a hundredweight above the comparable fed steer prices. By this fall, however, feeders should move more in line with finished cattle prices and should range from $2 to $4 per hundredweight above fed cattle prices," Uvacek forecast.

"Cow prices should follow along with feeder trends, but here we are talking about salvage value, since there are few cow offerings," added the specialist.

Many Counties Granting Tax Reductions

While city and school taxes have increased steadily in the past several years, most Texas counties have experienced comparatively lower cost increases, notes Charles E. Lawrence, county officials program specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. In fact, many counties are granting tax reductions.

The ability of county governments to contain their costs is the result of their unique structure, explains the Texas A&M University System specialist. Since all executive department heads are elected by direct vote of the people, they have a personal stake in seeing that their respective offices function with maximum efficiency and at reasonable cost.

"The Commissioners' Court, a five-member executive body, as well as the other elected county officials, have occasionally been unjustly criticized," says the specialist. "Although they are more limited in authority by statute than municipalities, counties have had an excellent track record in rendering high quality service at a very modest cost."

"The fact that county leadership is collective rather than singular does not seem to impair its effectiveness in responding to public need," adds Lawrence.

"On the whole, office holders whose tenure depends upon the direct action of the voters tend to be much more sensitive to public demands than are non-elective public servants. With more than 5,000 Texans holding elective county positions, it is only natural for Texas county governments to operate economically," says Lawrence.

BETTER TIMES SEEN AHEAD FOR 10 MILLION AMERICAN WORKERS

An injured woman employee, who for two years had worked as an order filler at an automotive parts warehouse, developed her capabilities to get a more rewarding position. A disabled worker with limited background and education was rehabilitated and returned to society with better training and more opportunity for advancement than before the accident. A 42-year-old press machine operator who lost his arm while cleaning a hydraulic press was able to follow up his interest as an inventor by reaching an early and satisfactory settlement of the case.

These cases illustrate the type of care and rehabilitation which can be made available to some 10 million American workers who are now shortchanged when they are injured on the job, according to the Insurance Information Institute. These people are hampered by outdated workmen's compensation laws which fail to provide them with adequate wage benefits, medical care or rehabilitation when they are hurt at work.

After a year's study, the National Commission on State Workmen's Compensation Laws found widespread inequities in the protection provided. It found, for example, that in 15 states, less than 70 percent of employees were provided with protection.

"Inequity," the Commission determined, "also results because the employees not covered are usually those most in need of protection; the low-wage workers such as farm help, domestics, casual workers and employees of small firms." It found at least some shortcomings in the workmen's compensation systems of all states.

The Commission concluded that a workmen's compensation system operating under a modern state law is the best way to do the job of providing quick, complete, responsive financial protection for injured employees. It set out recommendations which the states should follow, with the warning that if the states did not adopt changes then the federal government should intervene.

There already has been some progress, according to the Institute, and better times will come for an increasingly large number of workers as state legislatures continue to improve their workmen's compensation laws over the next few years.

The improvements already made in some states can be attributed at least in part to an all-out effort on the part of legislators, employers, labor and the insurance business to implement changes recommended by the National Commission.

An estimated 500,000 employees throughout the country are likely to be providing workmen's compensation protection for their employees for the first time during the next two to three years.

Because of these improvements, more and more injured workers will be rehabilitated and returned to a useful, meaningful place in society.

From The Living Bible

Then the angel spoke to the women, "Don't be frightened!" he said. "I know you are looking for Jesus, who was crucified, but he isn't here! For he has come back to life again, just as he said he would. Come in and see where his body was lying. . . And now, go quickly and tell his disciples that he has risen from the dead, and that he is going to Galilee to meet them there. That is my message to them." The women ran from the tomb, badly frightened, but also filled with joy, and rushed to find the disciples to give them the angel's message.

The first police force in America was called the "Rattle Watch!"

Eastland to Get Food Stamp Plan

EASTLAND — Eastland County will begin Nov. 1 to participate in the Federal Food Stamp Program, Eastland County Judge Scott Bailey said.

The federal program is administered by the Department of Agriculture in cooperation with the state through the Department of Public Welfare.

Under the county's present setup welfare recipients are issued surplus food through the county's dispersing point in Eastland. Judge Bailey said this system costs the county about $10,000 per year. The county presently hires a surplus food administrator and five other employees, who will be phased out by November 1, Judge Bailey said.

When the county begins its new plan in November, the stamp plan will be administered by two case workers and a secretary headquartered in Eastland.

There presently are about 1,200 Eastland County citizens participating in the surplus food program. When the program is changed, Judge Bailey said about 900 of those who receive state welfare checks will receive their food stamps with their checks. The remaining 300, who are classed as non-public welfare and low-income families, and who are receiving Social Security checks, will be required to buy their food stamps through the post office.

Food stamps purchased in this manner will cost the buyer about 50 per cent of what the same amount of food would have cost the purchaser at the supermarket if paid for in cash.

Less than two percent of the junior and senior class students nationwide are awarded this recognition.

Jean is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Williams of 603 S. Halbryan in Eastland.

She is active in Eastland Maverick Concert, stage and marching band, FHA, Spanish Club, and church activities and has also been fire theme winner twice, Junior play usher and FHA officer.

In addition to having her biography published in the book, Jean will also compete for one of ten $1,000.00 scholarship awards funded by the publishers and will be invited to participate in the firm's annual "Survey of High Achievers" later in the academic year.

Jean plans to attend Cisco Junior College or a business school upon graduation in June.

E.C.W.B. Tuesday

The Eastland County Women's Bowling Association met in the private dining room at the beautiful Ramada Inn Tuesday evening at 7:30 for their fall meeting.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Lozell Johnson and minutes from the last meeting were read by the secretary Sandra Holloway.

Rules and plans for the fall season were discussed and amended to be governed by the E.C.W.B. Tournament.

The City Tournament was voted to be the 6th and 7th of April, 1974, at the Fiesta Bowling Lanes.

Delegates were elected to attend the State Convention in Wichita Falls in March and to the International State Bowling Convention in Houston April 23 - 24 in 1974.

Those delegates elected were Mrs. Lozell Johnson, Bertie Butler, Jackie Humphry and Myrtle Aaron.

Employment On The Increase

Employment in the private sector of the Texas economy totaled 3,125,175 in March 1972, an increase of 132,762 from March 1971, and payrolls amounted to $5.2 billion, up $521 million, according to a report issued this week by the Bureau of the Census, Social and Economic Statistics Administration, U.S. Department of Commerce.

Harris County had the largest employment, 674,070, an increase of 28,074; and payroll, $1,296.1 million, up almost $134.8 million.

The report, County Business Patterns, 1972, Texas is the latest in a series of annual reports providing first quarter economic statistics for States and counties. It presents data by detailed industry classification on mid-March employment, first quarter taxable payroll, and the number and employment size of reporting units for those private, non-farm business firms reporting to the Social Security Administration under the Federal Insurance Contributions Act (F.I.C.A.). A special mail survey is conducted to obtain industry and county detail not reported to the Social Security Administration.

About 3/4 of all employees in the United States are covered in the reports for the 50 States, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, American Samoa and Guam, and the U.S. Summary.

BUSY JAYCEES served 2,738 travelers on Eastland's outskirts this past Labor Day Weekend of 78 hours. Callers represented 28 different states and four foreign countries. It's a public service feature of the club in providing a comfortable, refreshing pause for travelers.

'73 Mavericks Looks Bright For Friday

"Prospects bright" is the word from the Eastland Quarterback Club as the Mavericks open season '73 Friday night at Haskell against the Indians. The Quarterbackers are presently 291 strong. President

Eastland County Is Sportsman's Paradise

Proving again that Eastland County is a sportsman's paradise, Game Warden Kenneth Payne was program chairman for the Lions Club

W.J. Stone reports and an active season is on hand.

First off the Club voted to make it a little easier for the team in traveling to the distant games.

The Mavericks will go by Greyhound charter to the Haskell, Hamilton and Olney games, rather than by the traditional yellow school bus, thanks to the Quarterback Club paying the difference in cost.

The club has also issued a check in the amount of $340 to be used by the newly organized EHS Pep Squad and its 34 members who will help spread the Maverick spirit. Mrs. Vernon Mahan is director.

Membership Chairman John Morren is still signing up members and has issued the word that many more are welcome and needed.

Deer season opens Nov. 17 and is open through Jan. 1. Limit is two deer of either sex. Eastland County is one of the few remaining antlerless counties in this area, he said. "There'll be lots of deer, if the night hunters would let up."

The deer archery season is from Oct. 1 through 30 and the law is very specific, he said, that no firm arms of any kind are permitted on the person or in the camp or vehicle of the bow hunter.

A special teal season opens here Sept. 15 through 23 for greens and blues, with duck season split: Nov. 10 through 25; and Dec. 8 through Jan. 20. The 100 point system remains in effect.

One important law change for deer hunters is that heads must remain on the carcass until the deer is at its final destination.

Fishing licenses are now $4.25 and hunting licenses are $5.25; or a combination deal for $8.75. Licenses must be brought from deputies (ten in the county; two in Eastland (Wanda's 7 - 11, and Western Auto) two at Lake Leon.)

New Water Safety Law requires coast guard approved equipment in all boats 16 feet and over.

Program next week will be on agriculture economy.

R.C. (Doc) Anderson, "Red" Berry and John Shaw discuss oil investments in Eastland County.

World-Known Psychic Says County Will Boom

BY PAT COLLINS

One of the world's greatest living psychics, R.C. (Doc) Anderson, of Rossville, Ga., paid a visit to the county Thursday afternoon and related just a few of his documented claims of prophesying.

Doc Anderson is psychic advisor to many well known personalities including Doris Day, Eddie Albert and Denver Pyle.

His life reads like a novel; his search for the meaning of his psychic gifts; his years as a ballfighter; his years as a boxer, strong man, and merchant marine.

His powers include discovering oil wells by stigmata; breaking glass by concentration; prophecies printed long before their occurrence; assisting police in solving of crimes and "reading" people's pasts, and advising them on their future, with astounding accuracy.

Anderson is an associate of John Shaw and Associates, an oil well drilling firm now located in Eastland.

Anderson first noticed his psychic gift at a very young age. His older brother joined the army in Canada during the war between Germany and France. One evening he "saw his brother walking along a clump of trees and heard a shot, saw his brother turn around a couple of times and fell dead". He ran to his mother and told her of what he had visioned. He stated he received a very thorough tongue lashing.

A few days later his family received word their soldier son had been killed. He related other visions he had seen that proved to be accurate.

He discovered his first oil well in 1968 in Jones County. He and Shaw were looking over oil leases. Anderson said he extended both hands palms down, walking slowly around and over obstacles - then he stopped. His outstretched hands trembled. His countenance changed. Anderson's palms turned up and grew bright red. Huge drops of blood formed, ran down his hands, onto his wrists and splattered in the dust before him. A TV cameraman was a witness to this great event and recorded it on film.

Anderson said in 1944, he had visions flashed before him "like a movie". The visions included President Roosevelt's funeral and a newspaper headline dated the 13th of April, 1945; a newspaper showing a date of May 7, 1945, with the words, "Germany Surrenders"; a cartoon - like picture of a big bear, standing upright behind "Uncle Sam", his claws extended on forepaws, ready to rip him apart; a map of Germany being torn apart; a plane dropping a single bomb, an explosion, and a mushroom-shaped cloud. That scene appeared twice in succession. Then a picture in which Japanese military people were handing over a sword to Uncle Sam. The date, August 14, appeared after the surrender scene; a picture of an unusual plane apparently without propellers. The plane flew by swiftly - then, seconds later - a roar followed. The sound was that of "tornado force" winds; several pictures of huge "Buck Roger - type" rockets pointed toward the sky, landing on the moon, and circling the planets - accompanied by the numbers 58 and 68.

A map of the Middle East, with a large green area surrounded by brown, dusty looking territory. The green had a twinkling Star of David in the middle; the number 69, and a scene of a man talking on the phone and watching a tiny movie screen. On the screen was another man talking on a phone. The men were watching each other on screens and carrying on a conversation; and the numbers 91 and 92, accompanied by a white dove carrying a banner with "peace" written on it. This was followed by a voice that said, "One Government; One World; One Universe".

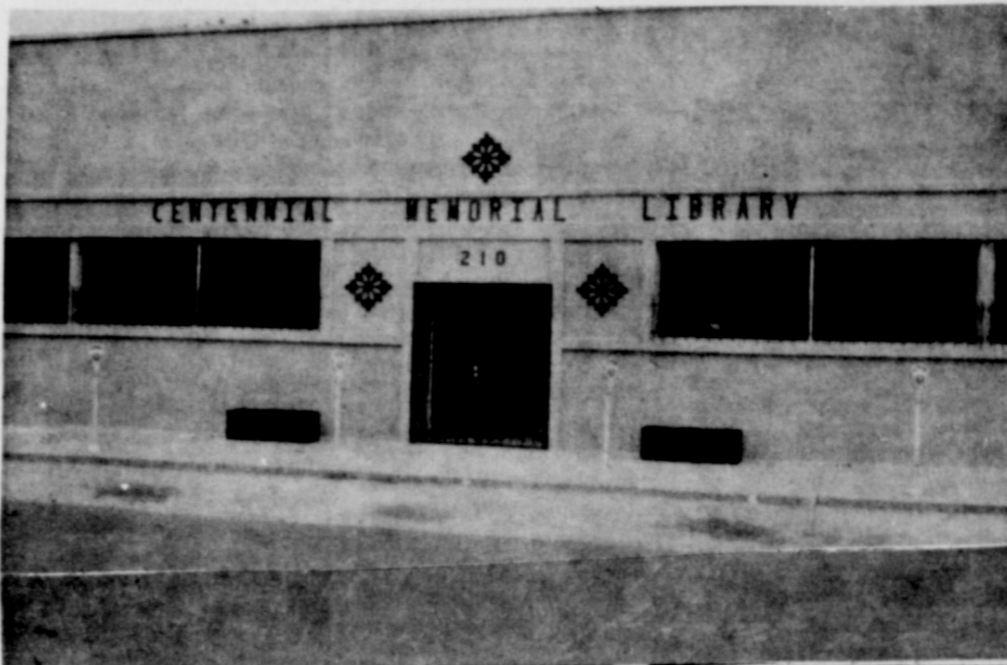

Anderson said he could see Eastland county in the future as being another great oil boom area. He said only fifty percent of the oil in this area had been located and when asked about the "Watergate" scandal, he said, "Friend, only the surface has been scanned. One of Pres. Nixon's top aides will squeal louder than an eagle and Nixon will squeal also like an eagle, before he receives emule."

Anderson was also asked who the next President of the United States would be, he answered, "George C. Wallace".

THE FACT

The Thursday Afternoon Club in its project to develop a first-class library still needs public support

The Centennial Memorial Library is DEFINITELY taking beautiful shape as is evidenced by this before and after sequence -- but -- there's a long way to go, and public support is still needed.

Contributions may be made to Treasurer Mrs. Inez Bourdeaux at Eastland National Bank.

SEEDS FROM THE SOWER

By Michael A. Guido, Metter, Georgia

There was a little girl on the train who was at home with everybody. No one knew to whom she belonged, because she talked and teased with everyone.

But soon the engine roared into a dark tunnel. In a moment she ran to a woman who embraced her lovingly and held her tightly. Then the passengers knew she was her mother.

So in the days of prosperity, there may not be much to tell to whom one belongs. But let that one go into a dark tunnel of trouble or despair, and it is seen to whom he belongs.

The Psalmist was going in to a dark tunnel. Death stared him in the face. He was frightened and sad. Then he turned to the One to whom he belonged. "Lord," he cried, "deliver my soul." And He did!

His prayer was precise. One stone thrown hard at its mark is better than a handful of loose gravel. Every petition should be pointed. His prayer was passionate. If it is intense, it will not be ineffectual. It is the earnest prayer that has great power and wonderful results.

Troubled? Try praying. If it is rightly offered it will be richly answered.
