U. S. AND AXIS RELATIONS ARE DETERIORATING

WASHINGTON, April 4.—Relations between the United States and the axis powers deteriorated at an accelerated pace today as a result of American ship seizures and axis threats of retaliation.

Decisions on how to meet any situation that might arise as well as on expediting aid to Britain, Greece and perhaps Yugoslavia were being formulated on the basis of what occurred at an extraordinary White House conference in which the "war cabinet" and heads of the army, navy and marine corps participated.

Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, Jr., told a press conference today that all legal aspects of the ship seizures, including their possible forfeiture to this government, were under study. He said the seizures had evoked letters of commendation "from all sources."

"If they hadn't damaged the ships, the chances are we never would have taken them," he said. Asked whether axis diplomats had ordered the sabotage of the vessels, Morgenthau replied that "the facts speak for themselves."

These major developments caused official circles to believe portentous events were imminent.

Berlin dispatches suggested that American property in Germany might be confiscated in retaliation for the seizure of 28 Italian and two German ships in United States ports. This would almost certainly cause retaliation by this country, perhaps the promulgation of a long-prepared treasury order "freezing" axis assets in the United States.

At least eight American citizens were arrested and detained for several hours in Berlin. German authorities conceded that the arrests might have "some connection with German reprisals" for the ship seizures. They ostensibly concerned passport regulations. The state department withheld comment pending an official report.

There were increasing indications that the government may soon requisition the 30 axis and 39 Danish vessels taken into "protective custody" last week-end. Maritime commissioner engineering experts were surveying sabotaged Italian and German vessels to determine what repairs they need to operate.

German and Italian anger over the ship seizures was emphasized by the filing of new notes of protest before state department replies had been issued to the first ones, and by the German embassy's action in releasing the text of its original protest.

Sir Arthur Salter, British shipping expert seeks to hasten the transfer of American merchant ships to Britain under the lend-lease law. Officials forecast early transfer of American tonnage.

No details were known here, but considerable significance was attached to conversations in Manila between Air Chief Marshal Sir Robert Brooke-Popham, commander-in-chief of all British forces in the Far East, and high U. S. army and navy officials. Observers believed a general discussion of British-American cooperation in defense of joint interests in the Far East was in progress.

Isolationists' fears that the United States might soon convoy supply ships to Britain were reflected in the introduction of several bills in congress to forbid convoys.

Further efforts to weld strong western hemisphere defenses were seen in the navy department's invitation to naval chiefs of 11 Latin-American countries to inspect U. S. naval activities.

PLANTS BUILT AT HIGH SPEED FOR DEFENSE

DETROIT, April 3.—Put up the defense plants quickly, the army, navy, automobile and aircraft people shouted between the cylinder strokes of industrial emergency. So Albert Kahn, architect, gave them speed—and the details they told him to handle himself.

Kahn, one of the many men who have been tossing together steel, concrete and roofs to make high-gear defense factory buildings, drew a deep breath today and said he was just over the first boom of defense construction.

Details? "Well, the government asked for bomb shell protection," Kahn said. "We believe we have this solved by placing our locker rooms and cafeteria in the basement, protected by more than 12 inches of reinforced concrete."

Plant blackouts? Kahn uses two systems, the windowless factory favored by some because temperatures and lighting can be maintained at even levels 24 hours daily, and the regular glazed wall type. On the latter, which takes advantage of daylight, Kahn provides clips on the window sash to which sheets of galvanized iron may be secured when a blackout is needed.

Women workers? Most of the plants include a women's division which may be expanded if men employees are needed elsewhere, Kahn said.

"We feel our share of excitement in this atmosphere of war production," the gray-haired architect said. "Near our Chrysler tank factory we're putting up a sound-proofed building which will be the first indoor firing range for tanks."

Kahn has completed plans for new Curtis-Wright plants in Buffalo, Columbus and St. Louis, each with more than 1,000,000 square feet; the Wright Aeronautical plant in Cincinnati; two new plants for the Glenn L. Martin company at Baltimore and Omaha; one for the public Aviation corporation at Farmingdale, N. Y.; an airplane engine plant at Buick at Chicago; a plant for Thompson Aircraft products at Cleveland; extensions of the United Aircraft plant at Hartford, Conn., and the Naval Gun plant for the Hudson Motor car company at Detroit.

All plants are the same to Kahn when he sets his 450 architects and engineers to work. They turned out 1,650 drawings in seven months when the navy wanted Kahn to handle construction drawings for the new naval bases in the Pacific and Atlantic. They put up a plant of 440,000 square feet floor space in 11 weeks for Glenn L. Martin company at Baltimore, which is an unchanged record for steel and concrete construction.

"Everything seemed to click," Kahn said.

Purebred Gilts For Eight County 4-H Club Boys

Eight purebred registered gilts are to be given to 4-H club boys of Eastland County, by a mail order company, according to John A. Wright, Assistant County Agent.

In order for a 4-H club boy to qualify for one of these gilts, he must write and submit an essay. The essay is to have a maximum of five hundred words.

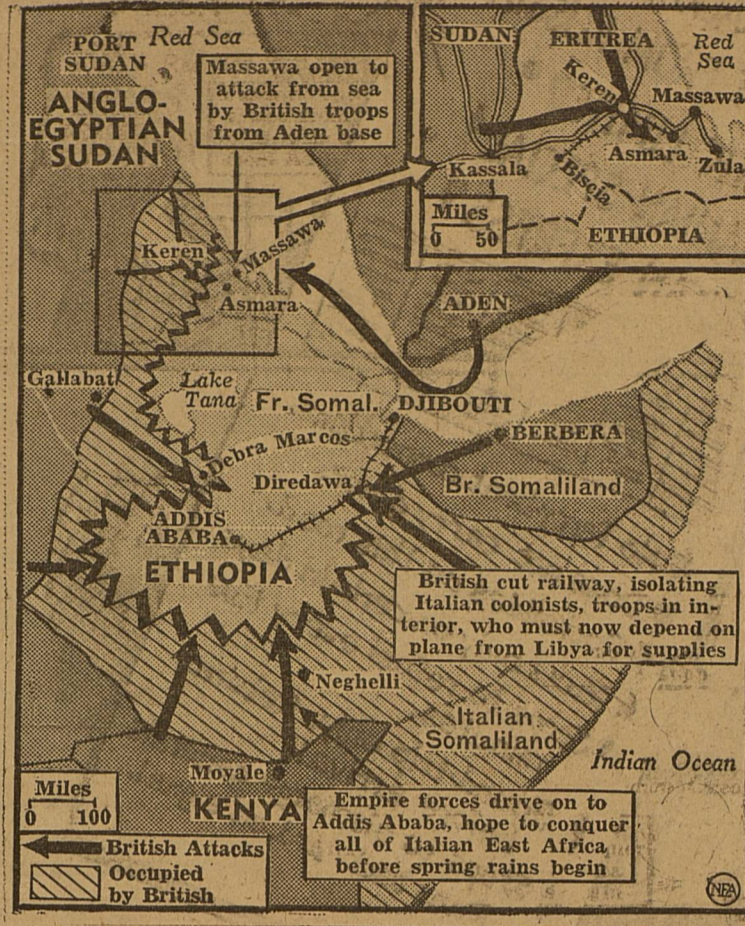

Each essay must be accompanied by an agreement blank, which is available in the County Agent's office. The agreement blank must be signed by the boy and his parents in which they agree to feed, care for, breed the gilt properly, and return to his county agent for similar distribution the following year one choice gift from the first litter on or after the age of ten weeks.

The essay contest will be judged by a committee appointed by the county agents, and the eight winners will be required to go to Abilene after their gift and return with her in the fall and enter her in the Annual Hog Show.

In the county show the following prizes will be awarded. First prize will be given a purebred heifer; second prize, 100 baby chicks, third prize, 75 chicks, and fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth, 50 baby chicks.

This contest will be explained in more detail to the 4-H club boys in each community at their regular meetings.

British Trap Closes on Italians

Roosevelt Might Act To End The Labor Disputes

WASHINGTON, April 4.—President Roosevelt indicated today for the first time that he might take direct action in the defense labor disputes.

He told his press conference today that the Allis-Chalmers strike in Milwaukee was holding up production on $45,000,000 in defense materials, and that this was the most serious tieup in defense plants. He said he may act unless the controversy is settled soon.

Other federal agencies working to settle the strike against the Ford Motor Company at the River Rouge, Mich., plant as 400,000 miners were awaiting the result in New York of negotiations on a new contract for the soft coal industry and in 15 other disputes of a minor nature.

A. & M. Fliers Wont Be Without Landing Field Any Longer

By United Press
COLLEGE STATION, Tex.—Civil aeronautics authority students at Texas A. & M. College won't have to "borrow" airports or use cow pastures any more.

Four government agencies have seen to that.

Authorization to start construction of a $229,907 training field and hangars has been received from Works Projects Administration headquarters at Washington. Cooperating with WPA are CAA, the War Department and the Navy Department.

Rated Class 3, the airport will have runways with a minimum length of 4,085 feet, and the longest will stretch 5,660 feet, and all may be extended later beyond 5,000 feet.

The project has been dedicated to Jesse L. Easterwood, a former A. & M. student from Willis Point, Texas. He attended school from 1906 to 1909 and served with the United States Navy's aerial service during the first World War. Attached to the Royal Navy of England, he made numerous bombing forays over the German lines.

Italian Destroyers Scuttled by Crews

LONDON, April 4.—The Admiralty today reported that two Italian destroyers had been scuttled by their crews off the African coast, after fleeing from an Eritrean port.

House Again Kills Security Aid Bill

AUSTIN, April 4.—The Texas House of Representatives today refused to re-instate Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel's $26,000,000 appropriation for social security, which he urged should be "frozen" from other state funds to pay security benefits.

ITALY'S ARMY WAS BETRAYED BY PRO NAZIS

BOSTON, April 4.—Italy was on the verge of collapse from "army vs. party" conflict and military "dry rot" even before she attacked Greece, according to Staville R. Davis, former Rome correspondent of the Christian Science Monitor.

The army, led by "anti-German" Marshal Pietro Badoglio, chief of the general staff, was "betrayed from the rear" by the pro-German fascist party, Davis wrote in the Monitor.

Also, Davis said, the army had failed to work out the supply lines and coordination necessary to a modern war. As an example of the bad generalship of Gen. Rodolfo Graziani in Libya, he said, the Italian troops frequently were found in trenches "so deep that they couldn't look out to see the enemy coming."

Badoglio was opposed to the entire war, Davis wrote. He knew that his soldiers weren't ready and he tried to persuade Premier Benito Mussolini to delay the Greek expedition.

But Mussolini, Davis continued, demanded immediate action, saying, "We are going to occupy Greece. I have spent $7,500,000 bribing the Greeks in key positions. They will not resist."

Then, according to Davis, while Badoglio was waging a war that he had opposed, the pro-German fascists led by Roberto Farinacci of the fascist grand council saw a chance to smash the "old guard" leaders.

Farinacci first waged a quiet campaign accusing Badoglio of being a traitor who wouldn't fight on Germany's side, Davis wrote. Then, "when the bribery in Greece failed and the army was in shambles, Farinacci saw his chance to pin the blame on his arch enemy. . . . He prepared an article for his newspaper (Regime Fascista) denouncing the chief of staff for 'incompetence.' Davis said that when Badoglio

Eastland County Delegates To Be At Short Course

DENTON, April 4.—More than two thousand home demonstration and 4-H club members from 35 North and East Texas counties, including delegates from Eastland County are expected to attend the fifteenth annual Short Course and Field Day at Texas State College for Women Friday, April 18.

Directed by Fred W. Wescott, head of the rural arts department of TSCW, the conference is sponsored in cooperation with the extension service of Texas A&M College. The program is not limited to demonstration and 4-H club members, but is open to anyone interested in extension work.

National Defense will be the general theme of this short course, and main speakers on the program will be Dr. Errel Eppright, director of the TSCW home economics department, in the morning, and Miss Sally Hill, home editor of the Progressive Farmer Magazine, in the afternoon.

A feature of the day's program will be the dedication of the Science Window in the Little Chapel-in-the-Woods, which was paid for by 75 former students who are now employed in the state extension service. Included in this group are Miss Mildred Horton, vice-director of the state extension service and state home demonstration agent, and Miss Bess Edwards, assistant state home demonstration agent.

State extension staff members and agents from the Texas A&M extension service are expected to attend. A picnic will be held for guests at noon.

School Trustee Election To Be Held Saturday

Tomorrow is trustee election time for the Eastland Independent school district. Three trustees are to be elected at this time for the places now held by K. B. Tanner, E. H. Jones and Frank T. Crowell, whose terms expire.

The above three members of the seven member board consented to stand for re-election if it appeared to be the will of the voters in the district, and, since no one else filed for the places, they filed with the secretary and therefore are unopposed on the ticket to be voted Saturday.

Saturday's election will be held at the Eastland county courthouse in the Justice of the Peace's office in the basement. The polls open at 8 a. m. and close at 7 p. m.

Holdover members of the school board are John W. Turner, Frank Sparks, R. S. Railey and R. N. Wilson.

Father of Ranger Legion Commander Dies On Thursday

D. D. Jones, 72, farmer and stock raiser of Callahan County, and father of Granville W. Jones, post commander of the Carl Barnes Post No. 69, of the American Legion, Ranger, died Thursday at Putnam.

Although he had complained of not feeling well earlier in the day, Jones had been in good health and his death was unexpected. He succumbed about 1:30 p. m. after a walk to town and back to the Gunn home, where he and Mrs. Jones had been visiting.

Besides his wife, he is survived by six children, Mrs. Hodge Bowne of Miami, Ariz., Granville Jones of Ranger, Mrs. H. A. Prug of Putnam, and Warwick Jones, Bertram James and Mrs. Evelyn Dennis, all of Moran; and four brothers and three sisters.

The rites will be held Saturday with burial at Moran. Jones was born May 19, 1869, in Nashville, Ark., and came to Texas in 1888. He was married May 15, 1893, to Adella Gunn, at Troy, Texas, and the couple lived there until moving to Callahan county in 1912. Their home since that time had been in the Pueblo community, 10 miles northeast of Putnam.

School Election For Ranger To Be Held On Saturday

Three Ranger school trustees will be elected Saturday, when citizens of the town vote on four candidates who have filed for the three positions.

Vacancies caused by the expiration of the terms of Dr. W. L. Jackson, J. E. Meroney and F. P. Brashier, are being sought by Dr. C. L. Jackson, Lloyd L. Bruce, B. A. Tunnell and L. W. Meador.

In all school elections the high men are declared winners of the campaign for school trusteeships, and there is no runoff election held.

BRITAIN AND NAZIS READY FOR BATTLES

Britain and Germany moved toward major combat today on two land fronts—the North African desert and the rugged mountain country in the South Balkans.

In Africa the Royal Air Force is pounding the Germans along a 625-mile line of communications from Tripoli to the spearhead of the recent Nazi thrust near Benghazi, which the British abandoned yesterday to defend the mountainous country further on.

Belgrade, reported heavy troop movements to the south continued through the night and in Budapest, Rumania, it was reported that nazi bombers are already poised on Yugoslavia's frontiers, ready for Hitler's command to go into action.

An unconfirmed rumor in Hungary said that a number of Hungarian officials, including Regent Admiral Nicholas Horthy, are about to leave for Yugoslavia, following the suicide of Premier Count Paul Teleki yesterday.

Borders Are Being Watched for Aliens

By United Press
SAN ANTONIO, Tex.—Uncle Sam's borders are being watched more closely than ever before for the entry of aliens who might hamper the defense program.

Officials of the U. S. Immigration Service disclosed today that their San Antonio personnel has increased 200 within a year.

Many of the 200 are border patrolmen. They were said to be more numerous along the winding course of the Rio Grande, traversing 600 miles of boundary-line, than at any time in the nation's history.

"More friendly relations with Mexico" was another objective in increasing the number of immigration employes. Delays in tourist travel had caused the exchange of unpleasant notes between United States and Mexican consulates. Now the immigration staff is ample to move the traffic rapidly.

What has been extra cost for the government represents a bonus for San Antonio business. The 500 immigration workers here bring in an annual payroll of more than $1,000,000.

Good Fellows Club Is 100 Years Old

By United Press
NEW ORLEANS.—A large white building, situated in one of the busiest blocks on broad Canal Street, soon will ring to the toasts of frock-coated merry-makers and the boys in ordinary business suits.

It's the home of the Boston Club—a men's group organized 100 years ago and dedicated to good fellowship. It was founded in 1841 and reputedly is the third oldest club of its type in the United States.

The club is noted for many things—not the least of which is its bit of garden and lawn in the heart of the city's business district. Women probably won't be allowed to attend the celebration—the members' wives get in only once a year, at Mardi Gras. They have to come through the club to reach the special stand where celebrity witnesses the parades.

Membership is not restricted to local men. There are several members who come to the city during the year on business and like a place to relax besides their hotel room.

Girl Has Attended School In 15 Cities

NEW ORLEANS.—Thirteen-year-old Beverly Strickland, who has attended 24 schools in 15 cities, would like to settle down. Although she never has lost ground because of her numerous transfers, Beverly has become confused at times. After she finished the seventh grade at Louisville, Ky., she began junior high school at Memphis, Tenn. A few weeks later her family moved to Nashville, where grammar schools have eighth grades, and Beverly "went back" to grammar school.

Then the Strickland family came to New Orleans and the girl became a freshman in high school because there are no eighth grades and no junior high schools here.

There's one silver lining: Beverly need never fear a geography test.

Stirring Sermons Are Announced For Holy Week Services

As the "Abundant Life Services" now in progress draw to the close of the first week, a marked increase in the attendance is noticeable.

Both the mid-morning and the evening congregations have grown to proportions which indicate the interest is gaining momentum. Subjects for the second and concluding week, which close Easter Sunday, include "When Jesus Came to Eastland," "Life's Cost," "Fighting With the Stars," "The Divine Surgeon," "Finding God Through Prayer," and others with equally interest compelling titles. A song service precedes each service in which the congregations have a part in singing old familiar hymns, also an opportunity for individual testimony is being offered to those who care to make it. The public is especially invited to make this coming week, which is Holy Week, a joyous one by attending these services. This coming Sunday night the congregation is to be treated to some excellent choral music to be presented by a body of students from John Tarleton College of Stephenville. This should be a real treat to music lovers and friends of the college.

Lloyd Howen McEwen Wins Highest Honors In Solon Exhibit

On Wednesday night, at a banquet in the Texas Hotel Crystal Ball Room in Fort Worth, Lloyd Howen McEwen, Eastland portrait photographer, had conferred upon him the most distinct honor of having his work recognized by nationally famous photographic artists.

Mr. McEwen studied in New York under John Hutchins, internationally known artist and the most prolific salon exhibitor in the United States.

Most of the country's greatest photographers and pictorial portraitists have labored, and studied for many years before their work has been thus recognized, and in this day of keen competition in the photographic field such early success is amazing.

LOVE ON DIMES

CHAPTER XXIII

THE orchestra was a famous "Big Name" band, and when you danced to their music, you understood exactly why.

"Our production assistant, at Simon's," Vera explained. "She means goat and burden bearer," said the boy.

He brought her over. She was a stenographer and pretty. She danced with Anthony, and Beatrice danced with her boy-friend.

Vera teased Sam McArdle. "So you work with figures. How strange. So do I. My own figure. Hey, hey, wait a minute, don't blush! I was only trying to be cute!"

Once Anthony clutched Beatrice and whispered, "There goes a Budge Fashion or I'm blind."

But that was bad, because it made him remember.

THERE was no terrace to which they could wander, but they managed to be satisfyingly alone in that crowded, noisy place just the same.

She smiled secretly. "Here

Sam McArdle off into a corner. "You really like this?" Anthony asked.

"Of course they'd let you in! Don't be silly! You'd be an ornament."

"You're so beautiful, Bee. I like the way your nose turns up. And your mouth's so tender."

"Just made for kisses, I suppose," she jeered. "Go ahead, if you want to."

"I always want to." "Especially on sidewalks, and in a crowd, and just anywhere like that, where it's so suitable."

"Then you should stop looking so lovely! Oh, Bee, every time I look at you, you've grown more beautiful." He stooped and kissed her forehead, tenderly.

"I feel it burning," she whispered. "Like a star on my forehead."

A girl passing by glanced at them quizzically. "Ain't love grand," she murmured to the man behind her.

"I ought to die of shame," she thought. "But I love him so. I want to shout it from the rooftops. I love him. He's mine."

Where was the controlled, poised Beatrice now? Where was the self-assured, queenly girl who could sail into the most exclusive night club and make the head-waiter quail?

"Bee, will you mind waiting? It may be a year—it may be two years, or three..."

"You'll get tired. You'll meet someone else. Oh, darling, I couldn't bear it if that happened! Look here, promise me you'll never look at another man."

"Build a fence around me," she teased. "Put blinders on me."

"Don't," he groaned. "I love you so, and when will we be able to get married? We'll be old and gray before Huntington's pays me enough!"

She smiled secretly. "Here

come Toby and her Sam. Look cheerful!"

At 1:30, Vera announced reluctantly that she had to leave. "Us professional beauties," she said, lifting her chin and looking down her nose.

"We'll have other parties," he said quietly. And somehow, Beatrice realized, it had all been settled. Right there.

Anthony held her coat as if it were the mink he'd never seen. A thought struck her, and she clapped her hand to her mouth.

"What hit you?" Anthony asked. "Remember something?"

"Yes. I—I think I left something in the lounge." She scurried off and came right back. That coat bore a label. But perhaps someone had appropriated it.

TERRY insisted on singing in the subway. The other passengers didn't mind, so Terry warbled in a pretty fair tenor.

Anthony and Beatrice sat close together, without talking. Her eyes were heavy. She tried to keep her head from sliding down to his shoulder and finally gave it up.

Anthony's gentle shaking awakened her. "We're almost there, Bee. Wake up!"

She stirred sleepily, and struggled to open her eyes. Then suddenly she was blinking in the light, and across the aisle, something was vaguely familiar.

Anthony rose, and helped her to her feet. All at once, she looked again. The tabloid! Why, that was her own picture, staring her in the face!

"For heaven's sake!" cried Toby Masters, shrilly. "Look at that!"

CHURCHILL GOT GUSTO FROM A U. S. GRANDAD

By United Press

SCHEENECTADY, N. Y.—Prime Minister Winston Churchill of Great Britain is no more colorful than was his American grandfather, Leonard K. Jerome, who installed fountains spurting cologne and champagne in his stable, according to Dr. Dixon Ryan Fox, president of Union College.

Dr. Fox recalls the career of the wealthy financier, sportsman, and co-publisher of The New York Times, in the Union College Alumni Monthly.

Fox mentions that Jerome served as United States consul in Trieste after leaving Union, and then returned to this country and New York City. He goes on:

"Then by a series of lucky strokes, especially in the panic days of 1857, he became the acknowledged 'King of Wall Street,' seeing millions back and forth, running railroad stocks to high peaks and selling out, organizing mysterious auxiliary financing corporations..."

Jerome founded the famous Jockey Club and three racetracks. The historian quotes from an obituary when Jerome died in 1891:

"His passion for the theater and opera was exceeded only by his fondness for horses. He built his stable before he built his house. It was of brick faced with marble, three stories high..."

Except for the Emperor's Mews in Paris, it is doubtful if any stable in the world surpassed Jerome's. Black walnut, plate glass, duction Center at Eastland. Mrs. Lina Satterwhite, supervisor, will work with the committee.

Their specific concern will be the health and recreation of the NYA girls.

Five Towns Dark Because Of Flicker

By United Press

FORDYCE, Ark.—Five towns in Southern Arkansas were without lights from 1 P. M. until 10 P. M., and engineers at the Fordyce power plant said it was just a "flicker."

And a "flicker" it was. A yellow-hammer woodpecker, more often known as a flicker, flew between two high-tension wires at the power plant and caused a 110,000-volt arc. A thousand dollars' worth of equipment was destroyed at the plant, and a nine hour blackout resulted in the territory.

The flicker was electrocuted.
