

County's Dem Delegates Not Sure Of Slate

The tidelands hold paramount interest among Howard County delegates to the State Democratic Convention which meets Sept. 9 in Amarillo, but a majority of local delegates have not arrived at a conclusion on the best course to pursue.

Pennsylvanian Urges Texans Support Adlai

A Pennsylvanian who fought in Congress for state title to the tidelands urged Texas' governor and attorney Saturday to string along with Presidential Nominee Adlai Stevenson.

Meanwhile, Texans were busily choosing sides in the presidential race. Both Gov. Allan Shivers and Attorney General Price D. Tel, who won the Democratic primary race for U. S. senator, oppose Stevenson because he favors federal ownership of off-shore oil lands.

Rep. Francis E. Walter, Pennsylvania Democrat who was a leader in a fight for laws granting state ownership claims, sent Shivers and Daniel a telegram asking them to change their minds.

President Truman has vetoed legislation already passed by Congress, and Stevenson told Shivers

Reviewing The Big Spring Week With Joe Pickle

Howard County's first bale of cotton from the 1952 crop came to gin last week. Indicative of the severity of the drought, Ralph White, grower of the bale, estimated he might get another off his 1,200 acres this season.

Temperatures let up after a prolonged blistering siege and a few phenomena, reported by the oldest old-timers to be clouds, floated in. The weather bureau actually reported .4 of an inch precipitation, but the east side of town got nary a drop.

Schools get underway Tuesday here and at most points in the county. Enrollment here should hit 4,000 first rattle out of the box and may climb steadily. Rural areas might lose this year, for tenant farmers have vacated the land.

City officials are pondering whether to boost taxes by 11 cents or to seek more funds from another source. The route is important, all right, but John Q. pays the bill whether it comes out of the right or left pocket.

Prospects are that Big Spring will have its municipal water pressure eased within this week. The CRMWD is due to link its line with the city's today and by mid-week water may be at the city gates from the well field. There may be an initial spurge, but the lateness of the season and the absence of laws to save likely will knock the edge off any sustained tremendous demand.

The annual 4-H Club Junior rodeo, billed as a three-day affair, crowded in about six days of activity in that space. Contestants were so numerous they almost outnumbered the spectators. Officials worked of electors pledged to Republican Nominee Dwight D. Eisenhower would be advisable. One delegate, C. W. Guthrie, was out of the city and could not be contacted. Two delegates expressed themselves as being absolutely opposed to a Democratic slate pledged to the Republican nominee, while one said he would favor such a slate if it is feasible and another expressed a willingness to follow the recommendation of Gov. Allan Shivers. Some others said they wanted to confer with state party leaders personally before reaching a decision.

Of the six who had not yet reached a conclusion, however, most of them felt that the tidelands should be given prime consideration and they expressed opposition to the administration's stand on that issue. Meanwhile, there were reports that Gov. Shivers' request for an expression by the people on the matter was getting good response here. Indications were that many individual letters had been mailed from Big Spring, and there were reports of some petitions being forwarded to the governor.

The Howard County delegates lined up as follows: Mrs. Norman Reed: "I don't intend to vote for anyone who is against state ownership of the tidelands. However, I'm undecided on whether a Democrat for Ike's ticket is the best course."

Arah Phillips: "I've never voted anything but the Democratic ticket, but I'm almost persuaded that Texas can hardly be led to support a course that will mean loss of the tidelands. Yet I don't know if I would be any better with the Republicans, although the best I can tell from the papers Eisenhower says he is for state ownership. I am not yet decided."

A. Mack Rodgers: "I haven't completely made up my mind. I plan to wait and see Price Daniel at Amarillo and listen to any suggestions that are made then and reach a conclusion."

J. Gordon Bristow: "Most of my friends, including many of the boys in this county I have coached and taught now have nice homes, and they have made their money the hard way—working with their hands. I do not intend now to forsake the interest of these working boys. In 1928 my car broke down and I walked nine miles to vote a straight Democratic ticket. The people already have an opportunity to vote for Gen. Eisenhower and I think that's fine. But I don't want any Republican on the ticket or near it at Amarillo."

Mrs. J. Gordon Bristow: "This is one time when my husband and I are in complete agreement. I think anyone who wishes to vote for the Republican nominee should feel

Solon Wants Clark To Quit Top Court

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30 (AP)—Rep. Gross (R-Ia) demanded today that Associate Justice Tom C. Clark resign at once from the Supreme Court—and that President Truman call for his resignation if he fails to submit it.

Gross said in a statement that a House hearing yesterday disclosed "additional unsavory activities" by Clark when he was attorney general, and declared:

"Clark has shown beyond a doubt his unfitness to sit on the Supreme Court."

Clark could not be reached for comment. His name was mentioned many times in yesterday's testimony before a House Judiciary Subcommittee investigating a Detroit war fraud case finally dropped by the Justice Department after more than six years of delays and postponements.

Clark was one of three men who headed the department while this case, involving Norman E. Miller and Associates, Inc., was awaiting action.

Spearheads Of Campaign

These three men have accepted with enthusiasm the task of heading up the 1952 campaign of the Howard County Community Chest. Elmo Wasson (center) is general chairman, while his top assistants are Dan Krausse (left) and Gil Jones. They shortly will be setting up organizational procedures for the fund campaign which will take place in October.

CAMPAIGN GOAL IS $49,952

Wasson, Krausse And Jones Head Community Chest Push

The Howard County Community Chest Friday put its train on the main line for the 1952 run, got a crew of officials, and marked its destination.

Heading up the annual combined fund-raising campaign, which means operational support for five welfare and service agencies, will be Elmo Wasson, business man here for a quarter-century and long active in civic affairs. His co-chairmen will be Dan Krausse, production engineer with Cosden, and Gil Jones, attorney.

They were voted full support of the Chest directorate at a meeting Friday which also determined the campaign goal of $49,952.

This sum was accepted upon recommendation of the Chest's budget committee, which had heard budget requests from all participating agencies.

The Chest is adding to its solicitation this year a sum for the USO—or rather for the establishment of a local servicemen's center. Efforts for the establishment of such a facility have gone along here since Webb Air Force Base was opened, but request for support was withheld in order to combine this with the Chest drive.

The Chest's goal for this year is up just $3,600 from a year ago, and this entire increase is accounted for in the addition of the servicemen's program.

All other agencies were assigned the exact amounts as set up for them last year, although most of them had asked increases. The budget committee, headed by R. L. Beale, explained that Chest officials felt that current conditions necessitated keeping the campaign request to the minimum level. His report said in part: "The Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, Salvation Army and YMCA had each increased their activities by a large percentage during 1952 and hope to continue to expand. Budgets as received with the exception of the Girl Scouts, reflect this increase in activity. Because of the drought conditions in this area, it is felt that the total should be kept to an absolute minimum. For this reason, the committee reduced the budgets, as presented, to the 1952 figures. A new member, USO, is to be included this year, and it presented a very modest budget." Beal noted that the Chest had a $900 deficit last year which is not a requirement this year, and also that every effort will be made to reduce campaign expenses below the 1952 cost.

Wasson, Krausse and Jones are to start organizational activities soon, with establishment of headquarters, arrangement of office detail, and completion of workers' set-up. Actual drive dates will be in early October.

CRMWD COMES TO CITY

'Water' Party Set For Friday

Big Spring is due to have a sufficiency of water before the week is out, and an informal celebration is slated for Friday night to note the new era.

Cascades of water are due to stream from fire hose as the climax of a city-wide party to be held at Steer Stadium beginning at 7:30 p.m. The novel showers will be symbolic of free-flowing water for the city—while at the same time will be giving the turf of Steer Stadium a soaking.

Occasion is the delivery of water to Big Spring by the Colorado River Municipal Water District, whose lines from the district's well fields are to be connected the first of the week. Testing and cleaning out should make water available for all normal uses by Friday.

The public is invited to join in the celebration, which also will be marked by a declaration from Mayor George W. Dabney of the end of water restrictions.

Formalities of the program will be brief. Frank Kelley of Colorado City, president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, and an active supporter of the CRMWD project, will speak.

The Big Spring High School band under direction of J. W. King, will start the program, with a concert at 7:30. At 8 p.m. the national anthem and invocation by Dr. P. D. O'Brien will launch formalities.

Joe Pickle, as master of ceremonies, will introduce members of the CRMWD board, visiting mayors and Chamber of Commerce officials, and other guests. Following will be remarks by Kelley and Mayor Dabney, and then teams of firemen will open up the water from the city mains to make the "speakers" will be on trucks in-

Hurricane Roars Into S. Carolina, Power Lines Hit

No Estimate As Yet Of Initial Damages

CHARLESTON, N. C., Aug. 30 (AP)—Hurricane Able slammed into the South Carolina Coast tonight. Power lines were ripped out in the areas of the blow and there was no estimate of the initial damages.

The Atlanta Weather Bureau said its Savannah observer reported the eye of the hurricane moving inland over Beaufort at 10:20 p.m., EST. Beaufort is about 70 miles southwest of Charleston. Power lines in the town were down and it could not be reached by telephone.

Power lines also were going down at Charleston, where 60-mile-an-hour winds were reported. Charleston was buffeted by 60-mile-an-hour winds as the storm approached.

Highest winds reported at Beaufort were 70 miles an hour before the lull. The hurricane appeared to be proceeding in a northeasterly direction towards Charleston, traveling about 14 miles an hour and gradually decreasing in intensity. Heavy rains whipped through the entire Southwestern coastal area of the state.

As the storm came nearer Charleston, winds increased to 65-75 miles an hour. The Weather Bureau here said it expected the winds to increase to about 90 miles an hour.

Plate glass windows in Charleston were smashed and roofs were blown from several buildings. No lights could be seen in the city.

City streets were ankle-deep in water and even deeper along the waterfront.

John A. Cummings, U. S. meteorologist, said from the Customs House overlooking the harbor he could see the ships riding hard at anchor as winds whipped up the waves.

Residents along other sections of the coast were making feverish preparations for the storm. Officials at Pawley's Island, near Georgetown, ordered all persons to leave the island at once. Baptist and Methodist churches in Georgetown were opened for evacuees.

H. E. Hicks, chairman of the Red Cross Disaster Committee at Wilmington, N. C., asked all residents of nearby Wrightsville and Carolina Beaches to move inland. The chief of police at Wrightsville Beach stopped all traffic

Iran Premier Rejects New Offer On Oil

TEHRAN, Iran, Aug. 30 (AP)—Premier Mohammed Mossadegh flatly rejected tonight a three-point proposal from President Truman and Prime Minister Churchill for settlement of the Iranian oil dispute that would have put millions of dollars in Iran's nearly bankrupt treasury.

In a broadcast communique, the frail but iron-willed Nationalist leader explained that United States and British diplomats had handed him the proposal. Then he said: "I told them 'this government can never agree to this message.'"

He deferred a formal answer to the offer, which would have involved World Court arbitration of compensation due the British-owned Anglo-Iranian Oil Company for nationalized oil properties and negotiations with the AIOC for resumption of the flow of Iranian oil to world markets.

"The government believes," Mossadegh told the Iranians, "that both houses of Parliament should be called to consult on the necessary reply to the message."

His Nationalists dominate Parliament. Extremists among them want no dealings whatever with the British and object to World Court arbitration in any form, particularly since the British-American proposal would raise the question of the validity of Britain's oil concession of 1933 which Iran cancelled.

The World Court itself ruled 9-5 July 22 it was not competent to pass upon a suit by Britain for compensation and damages.

Despite some Iranian snubs in the past, the United States offered to give Iran 10 million dollars to bolster the government in its immediate crisis. Britain proposed to relax her blockade and other sanctions and help the Persian Gulf kingdom sell its oil abroad.

Drought Effect Is Reflected In Report Of TEC

The effect of the drought on Howard County is reflected in the records of the Texas Employment Commission, according to Leon M. Kinney, manager of the Big Spring office of the TEC.

In August of 1951, Kinney says, 941 agricultural workers and 256 non-agricultural workers were placed in jobs through the local office.

This year not a single agricultural worker has been placed and only 129 non-agricultural workers.

Kinney says he believes there is substantially as much construction going on here as at this time last year but that calls on his office for workers are far below those last year. He attributes this situation to the fact that many farmers, some of them from as far away as Sweetwater, have moved in and gotten these jobs for themselves without the assistance of the TEC services.

He says that this month his office has only placed 14 persons in employment in wholesale and retail trade while 51 persons were placed in such employment in August last year.

This year there will not be any farm labor specialists assigned to the Big Spring TEC office, Kinney says, although in previous years there have been three or four of these workers here on temporary status.

During the TEC's fiscal month, just closed, Kinney reports 1,646 office visits; 83 new applications for jobs, and 197 persons referred to jobs with 129 of these being placed in employment.

During the month, he reports, 86 weekly claims for unemployment compensation were filed, and he said 14 of these were initial claims the balance being continued ones. Eighty-six claims, he points out, does not represent persons since new claims must be filed by each claimant each week.

THE GRUB LINE

With Franklin Reynolds

The date has been set for the ninth annual auction of the Howard County-South Plains Hereford Association, it has been announced by Leland Wallace, president.

The day is Thursday, January 8, 1953 and the sale will be held in the new Howard County Fair Building, in the southwestern part of Big Spring.

Colonel Walter Britten will again be auctioneer with O. R. Peterson of the National Auction Company of Fort Worth assisting with arrangements.

"This summer the Farm Bureau urged Congress to cut funds for ACP payments from 256 million dollars to 100 million, and the Grange said the whole amount should be eliminated. Senator Russell of Georgia evidently expressed the legislative viewpoint when he asked if such economy would not be political suicide in an election year. Congress voted only a six million dollar reduction. . . . So taxpayers furnish farmers for another year with checks for which neither of the two leading farm organizations asked. Farmers have a new problem, said Senator Anderson, former Secretary of Agriculture: How to stop politicians from making them accept subsidies which the farmers know the nation cannot afford."

Two farmers in the Knott Community, E. L. Roman and Larry Shaw, are believers in the cover crop program. Roman has a 30-acre stand of peas and 20 acres of Guar, the latter for cover, soil building and cash from the seed. Shaw has 45 acres of cover crops, mainly peas, but with some Guar.

Railroad Offer Makes Board Chairman 'Mad'

DALLAS, Aug. 30 (AP)—Alva Sanders, chairman of the board of the Texas State Railroad, said today the Texas & New Orleans Railroad's offer to re-lease the state line "makes me mad."

T&NO has offered to pay $1,000 a month for operating rights on the road, which runs from Palestine to Rusk in East Texas. It was built originally for use by the state prison system in hauling iron ore.

Sanders said T&NO has operated the line since Nov. 1, 1921. Since then, he said, the only profit to the state has been $3,166.82 from Nov. 1, 1921, to Feb. 1, 1922.

He said the state auditor's reports show that T&NO claims to have lost $941,470.15 in its operation of the line.

IT MAKES A DIFFERENCE

It's A Lot Cooler On The Shady Side

By JOE PICKLE

How hot is it? That depends a great deal upon where you happen to be when the question is raised. A hurried temperature sampling Friday—which with my typical luck, happened to be pretty much of a heat dud along side of most any day in this torrid August—proved the point. Just to keep the record straight,

G. A. McGahen, meteorologist in charge of the U.S. Weather Bureau here brought along an official bureau thermometer. A last minute mix-up, however, resulted in use of a Centigrade thermometer instead of the conventional Fahrenheit. This led to the necessity of conversion of Centigrade to Fahrenheit. (Multiply by nine, divide by five, add 32, in case you're interested.) All during the expedition my arithmetic kept Mr. McGahen both amazed and confused. The figures used herein represent the revised, revised revision.

Shade makes a substantial difference in temperatures. For instance, shortly after 2 p. m. McGahen put the thermometer against the west side of the Settles Hotel at the Third Street intersection. The sun kept dodging in and out of a cloud, which of all the brazen hours in August now had to wander on to the scene, but finally it rose to 106.2 degrees. Considering that the official temperature at that time was somewhere around 95, this was a pretty warm spot. But across the street, on the east side of the Douglass Hotel, the shaded area showed 95.2 degrees.

Although the in-and-out sun antics kept the overall temperatures down, the sidewalk showed a 107.6 figure.

At the outset of the odyssey, we took the temperature inside our office. The reading was 85.5. McGahen stepped outside in the shade and the reading never got above 82.5. When he circled the building and came on the west side of the building, the thermometer zoomed to 102.4.

From this, you can note that the temperature downtown is higher than at 9th and Main, where we are located—106.2 versus 102.4.

And there's a difference in 9th and Main and on the high southern slopes of the city. Bare ground across from the Herald registered 98.1 (cloudy), and at 15th and Main bare ground (also cloudy) registered 95.2.

Across the street where Dr. Alen Hamilton has had water hauled in almost daily to keep his front lawn alive, the soil temperature was only 90.5. Thus, the grass is five degrees cooler, even under cloudy conditions, than barren ground, and it proved about the same amount cooler than the official atmosphere reading at the moment.

There's more difference in temperatures when the sun is behind a good cloud than you think. During one of our readings, McGahen had established a maximum of 102.4 in the sunshine. Then a cloud moved in and, presto, the mercury column shriveled to 96.4. At another point when he had a maximum reading of 106.2, the sun ducked out on us again and the temperature fell off to 100.8. Even if they don't bring rain, clouds apparently do some good.

Scooter, Cycle Noise Brings Few Complaints In City

Motor scooters and motorcycles without mufflers being operated late at night on residential streets have caused a number of recent complaints, County Juvenile Officer A. E. Long reported Saturday.

Long reminded that scooters and motor bikes are required to have mufflers, horns, lights, brakes, etc. like other motor vehicles. Any type of cut-out or by-pass of the exhaust is illegal.

Local officers plan to do some checking on such vehicles, Long said, in advising youngsters to see that their scooters and motor bikes are properly equipped. The juvenile officer also said he suspected that some youngsters are operating their scooters and bikes without drivers licenses. In fact, some of them may be too young to obtain licenses, he said.

Some checking on this also may be expected, Long said.

Stay On The Sunny Side

Not if you want to keep cool. There can be a lot of difference in the temperature. Friday afternoon when the reading was 95.2 on the shady side of Runnels at the Third Street intersection downtown, it was a sizzling 106.2 across the street, left, where G. A. McGahen of the U.S. Weather Bureau, may be seen taking a reading. Below, McGahen puts the thermometer just above the sidewalk and finds it to be a still warmer 107.6.

Possibility Of Arson Seen In Fire At C-City Church

COLORADO CITY—Possibility of arson is being investigated by city authorities following the loss by fire of an addition to the Pentecostal Holiness Church, 829 Pine, early Saturday.

The addition, a storage shed being attached to the rear of the church, became ignited three times Friday before it was consumed by fire. Kerosene-soaked rags were found at the scene of the fire.

Police Chief Sam Hume discounted the possibility of spontaneous combustion, declaring that he thinks the fire may have been started by a "spontaneous match."

The building first caught fire about 10 a. m. Friday and neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Chapel, extinguished the blaze with a bucket of water. At 2 p. m. they saw smoke coming from the structure again and put out the fire for the second time.

About 7:30 a. m. Saturday, the fire department was called out to extinguish a third blaze which had destroyed the shedroom, but hardly damaged the asbestos shingled church building.

Mrs. Albert Mash, pastor, could offer no explanation for the fire. "We have no enemies as far as I know," she said.

Mrs. Mash is to move to Dallas as soon as a successor is secured for the local pastorate. Her husband is employed in the North Texas city.

Seven Dublin Papers Resume Production After Seven Weeks

DUBLIN, Aug. 30 (AP)—Dublin's seven newspapers, shut down by a labor dispute since July 11, resumed publication today with a quick fill-in on world history during the past seven weeks.

All newspapers carried summaries of world news since their last publication date. Five thousand printers and circulation men had been on strike. A labor court decision granted the printers an increase of 16 shillings ($2.28) in their average weekly wage of 10 pounds ($28) and gave the circulation men a 12 shillings and one penny (86 cents) boost over their average weekly wage of seven pounds 15 shillings ($21.20).

Buildings Can Stand Impact Of Atom Bomb

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30 (AP)—The government announced today it now is possible to design buildings that can take the normally devastating punch of an atom bomb.

The buildings take it like a boxer takes it—by rolling with the punch.

Details of such buildings are discussed in a new manual put out by the Federal Civil Defense Administration: "Widowless structures, a study in blast-resistant design."

"New buildings," the agency said, "can be designed to take advantage of the fact that the pressure of the atomic blast drops to zero in less than a second. It is during that fraction of a second that the blast delivers a blow—that makes the ordinary, prestressed design loading (resistance to blast) insignificant.

The new methods design a building to survive a blast by yielding—without coming apart. The building goes with the blow, slugs it, and absorbs it, while the peak of the blast goes past."

As the result: "The building is left somewhat deformed," the defense people said, "but otherwise intact."

Just how this is accomplished isn't spelled out for the layman. But the list of those who contributed to the study looks impressive. It includes a firm of consulting engineers, Ammann and Whitney of New York, and Professors N.W. Newmark of the University of Illinois and John B. Wilbur, Charles H. Norris and Robert J. Hansen of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Now, suppose you're inside one of these buildings and an A-bomb falls?

Well, even though a building has been rocked by a bomb, the design "completely protects the occupants and equipment."

And, the authors say reassuringly, "work can continue."

Labor Day Words Of Texas Leaders Told

AUSTIN, Aug. 30 (AP)—The President and Secretary of the Texas State Federation of Labor issued Labor Day statements today hailing past accomplishments but warning of perils labor may face in the future.

President William J. Harris of Dallas called Labor Day "a day devoted to re-examination of the position of labor and to planning for the future."

Federation Secretary Paul C. Sparks of Austin warned organized labor not to take its gains for granted.

Sens. Johnson, O'Mahoney Are Aviation Men Of Year

DETROIT, Aug. 30 (AP)—The Air Force Association tonight designated two Democratic senators, Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas and Joseph C. O'Mahoney of Wyoming, as aviation men of the year.

The association convention presented its H. H. Arnold trophy to the senators for their "statesmanship of the highest order." Last year's trophy winner and aviation man of the year was General Curtis LeMay, chief of the Strategic Air Command.

James H. Doolittle, a founder of the organization of Air Force veterans, presented the awards to Johnson, Chairman of the Preparedness sub-Committee of the Senate Armed Services Committee, and O'Mahoney, chairman of the Armed Services sub-Committee of the Senate Appropriations Committee.

The citations said that Johnson helped bring to light many valuable military facts upon which sound air power legislation could be based, and that O'Mahoney provided "brilliant and courageous leadership in contributing to a stronger and more efficient air power program."

General Carl Spaatz, an association director, presented another top honor, the Air Age award, to General Hoyt S. Vandenberg, chief of staff of the Air Force, for distinguished military statesmanship in advancing the cause of national security and world peace.

General Says Korea Air War Is Not All-Out

DENTON, Aug. 30 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Roger M. Ramey, Air Force operations chief, said today heavy new UN air raids in Korea are signs of a "stepped-up air offensive" but not an all-out air war.

"There can't be an all-out war with the enemy who is offered sanctuary within a few hundred miles of the front lines," Ramey told the Denton Record-Chronicle in an interview.

The general, former Eighth Air Force commander, is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Ramey of Denton.

Ramey said the Communists have a potential air superiority over the Yalu River area "which they have not seen fit to use."

The UN still has air superiority over the front lines, he added. Commenting on a varied list of topics, Ramey:

1. Discounted reports that Russian-built jet fighters in Korea are better than U. S. Sabre jets.

2. Said, when asked to comment on charges of waste by the military made by Texas Senator Lyndon Johnson's Preparedness Subcommittee, that Johnson's inspections and reports are welcomed by the Air Force "and we do our best to comply with them."

3. Described the public's excitement over "flying saucers" as regrettable. "As for the superiority of Russian-made jets, 'any plane that does away with any safety, pilot convenience and accuracy features can achieve a weight-thrust advantage over a plane which incorporates these features,'" the general observed.

Ramey said he is sure there have been instances of higher than normal costs because of the necessity of rushing military construction.

"But in instances where the Air Force or the Army have made mistakes, they will do their best to correct them as soon as possible."

One of the Air Force's experts on flying saucers, Ramey reported that 80 per cent of the objects can be explained, five per cent of the reports are lies or hoaxes and another five per cent are "hallucinations."

Only 10 per cent of the reports of mysterious aerial objects cannot be pinpointed to specific objects or reasons, Ramey said.

Coahoma Teachers Set For Opening

COAHOMA—Teachers here were prepared for the opening of school on Tuesday following a faculty meeting Saturday.

Superintendent H. L. Miller announced that Ford Lane had been employed as band director for the 1952-53 school year. Lane will come to Coahoma from Waxahachie, where he has been band director for the past six years. Only one vacancy remains on the faculty. Miller said he was still trying to locate a public school music teacher.

Reds Roused From Manchurian Hideout, Lose 5 Planes To UN

By MILO FARNETI
SEOUL, Sunday, Aug. 31 (AP)—American Sabre pilots reported they shot down five and possibly six Communist jets Saturday and damaged 17 of a force of 100 MIGs over Northwest Korea.

The Reds apparently were roused out of their Manchurian sanctuary by Friday's massive air blows against the Red Korean capital of Pyongyang.

The U. S. Fifth Air Force said 79 Sabre pilots fought 19 separate battles with the larger MIG forces over Northwest Korea.

The new score gave sharpshooting pilots of the swift Sabres one of their best months of the war. Their August tally with one day to go, stands at 32 MIGs destroyed, three probably destroyed and 43 damaged.

They shot down one MIG Friday and damaged two.

The Air Force said the Red jets shot down only one Sabre in August air battles prior to Saturday.

Allied losses Saturday, if any, will be listed later in a weekly summary.

Some of the Sabres in Saturday's roaring battles were piloted by British and Canadian fliers. A British and a Canadian pilot each scored a damage claim.

Capt. Clifford Jolley of Salt Lake City, one of the two U. S. jets still in Korea, got one damage claim Saturday.

The MIGs roared across the Yalu River boundary into Korea in numbers rarely matched in recent months. They seemed goaded into an effort to block off further air blows by the mighty Allied air strike one day earlier against Pyongyang.

Planes of four Allied nations attacked the Red capital from dawn to dusk Friday in record numbers. Australian, South African and South Korean airmen joined U. S. Air Force, Navy and Marine pilots in the 1,645-plane strike.

They turned Pyongyang's underground Red headquarters, supply depots, troop centers and airfield into an exploding inferno. The Allied airmen dumped 618 tons of bombs and 4,000 gallons of burning gasoline and pumped 52,000 rounds of ammunition into the blazing capital.

The Pyongyang radio, Red Korean propaganda station, was silent Saturday for the second straight night.

The station returned to the air Sunday morning with a very weak signal. A monitor for Kyodo News Agency said the opening Red broadcast did not mention Friday's big raid on the North Korean capital and gave no reason for going off the air.

Communist jet pilots for the most part stayed on the Manchurian side of the Yalu during Friday's mighty air strike. They had shown little activity prior to Saturday during the past two weeks, a period of bad weather.

But they battled heavily and hotly against the U. S. Sabres in the first two weeks of August.

Ground action continued light Saturday. The Communists fired about 500 rounds of artillery and mortar fire early Saturday around Bunker Hill on the Western Front and sent out small probing forces.

Airman Visits Daughter After Mercy Flights

SIoux CITY, Ia., Aug. 30 (AP)—Air Force Tech. Sgt. Charles R. Buggy, flown to his tragedy-stricken family from a military transport at sea, smiled once, very faintly, as he visited his 8-year-old daughter Kathleen, ill with polio.

The flicker of a smile was the first time the 25-year-old photographer had displayed in public anything but a grim face of grief since his return from occupation duty in Germany.

Little Kathy and her father did not embrace when he entered the hospital room the girl shares with three other polio patients. She set aside the comic book she had been reading in favor of the books and a spelling game her father brought her and told him she felt "pretty good." She showed him one of her new dollies.

There was no mention made of her brother Charles Jr., 4, who died of polio last Tuesday in the same hospital. Kathy is unaware of her brother's death.

Neither did Kathy ask about her mother, who relatives said was still too distraught to make the visit today. Buggy's wife Hannah, 26, who may have to undergo a critical spinal operation soon, remained at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Belt of nearby Winnebago, Neb.

Kathy was admitted to the hospital Monday with a mild stiffness in her neck. Hot packs have taken away most of the stiffness and the hospital says she is in good condition but will remain there for a while.

Last rites for the Buggy's son will be held tomorrow.

The husky sergeant, who served with the Air Force during World War II and re-enlisted in 1947, arrived at Sioux City Air Force Base aboard a B25 which had flown him from Beverly, Mass. He had been lifted from a military transport 500 miles at sea yesterday by a Coast Guard plane.

Stevenson twice has proposed creation of a state Fair Employment Practices Commission but has been unable to obtain action on the proposal in the state Legislature, the last session of which was controlled by Republicans.

The Negro leaders said in their statement that the Republicans offer only "empty promises" and a candidate woefully insensitive to the fundamental rights of liberty for all Americans.

In a Labor Day proclamation, Stevenson said the United States is the strongest and richest nation on earth "in large part because the American labor movement has fought that exploitation of labor which stunted economic growth in many lands."

He used the occasion to urge all Americans to vote, saying that it was "shocking" that only about one-half the eligible voters participated in the 1948 presidential election.

IN FIGHT WITH REDS Stevenson Will Tell Truth About Future

By JACK BELL

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 30 (AP)—Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson asserted tonight that even if it costs him the election in November he will tell the people the "hard, distasteful truths" that there are dangerous truths ahead in the battle with communism.

The Democratic presidential nominee said in a broadcast recorded for the armed forces he does not believe a third world war is inevitable "but neither is peace inevitable."

Stevenson's statement was released here after he had received assurances from a group of Negro church and civic leaders that they will support him and his running mate, Sen. John Sparkman of Alabama.

Earlier Monroe Sweetland, Democratic national committeeman from Oregon, emerged from a conference at the executive mansion—where the governor spent the day working on a series of Labor Day speeches he will make in Michigan Monday—to predict the Democrats will sweep the Northwestern states.

Sweetland said he believes Stevenson will carry Utah, Idaho, Montana, Washington and Oregon.

"Four months ago I said I thought Eisenhower might carry all five," the Oregon committeeman said. "Today I'm sure he won't carry any."

The Negro group issued a statement which they "unconditionally endorse" Stevenson on the basis of his record as governor of Illinois and on "the far-reaching performances of the Democratic administration over the past 20 years."

Bribery Charged In Vet Housing Program

By FRANCIS J. KELLY

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30 (AP)—A congressional committee charged widespread irregularities, including bribery and favoritism, in administration of the huge veterans housing program.

The charge was made in a report by a House select committee which investigated educational training and loan guaranty programs under the GI Bill. The group is headed by Rep. Teague (D-Tex.).

The committee said irregularities turned up by the Veterans Administration's own inspection and investigation service included:

"Acceptance of gifts and gratuities on a widespread basis.

"Acceptance of bribes and participation in conspiracies by some loan guaranty officials.

"Purchase of homes by some loan guaranty officials under questionable circumstances.

"Favoritism to certain fee appraisers and fee compliance inspectors in some offices.

"Favoritism to certain builders by expediting handling of their cases, granting unjustified price increases, and authorizing deviations and substitutions favoring the builder.

"Interests in outside activity such as real estate sales, construction and lending companies, when such activities tended to conflict with the interest of the government."

The report said one appraiser at Detroit acknowledged that his Christmas presents from persons doing business with the loan guaranty division included five bottles of whiskey, a basket of fruit, a chafing dish filled with fruits and nuts, a punch bowl filled with Christmas goodies, four turkeys, two hams, a carving set, a bottle of wine, a fruit cake, some linens, and gift certificates totaling $95.

The committee recommended that the loan guaranty officer of the regional VA office in Washington, D. C., be removed and the loan guaranty division be reorganized immediately.

The official was identified as Morgan B. Callahan by Oliver E. Meadows, the committee's staff director. Callahan could not be reached for comment today.

The report said that "inefficiency, deliberate favoritism, and misapplication of the basic functions of the loan guaranty division" had cost veterans millions of dollars in this area.

Legislature Is Asked For More Money In Year

By BO BYERS
AUSTIN, Aug. 30 (AP)—Everybody in the state government wants more money from the next Legislature—about 33 per cent more on the average.

That's the finding of Gov. Shivers' budget division experts who are in the process of hearing pleas for money.

All the requests for the next biennium (Sept. 1, 1953-Aug. 31, 1955) add up to $279,837,007. That is $76,776,371 more than the last Legislature coughed up.

The biggest increase is sought by institutions of higher learning—including 17 colleges, the University of Texas, M. D. Anderson Hospital for Cancer Research, and the general revenue fund. This is $2.6 million dollars, or 45 per cent, more than the last Legislature allowed them.

State hospitals, special schools and correctional institutions also are urging a big increase. They seek $62,653,508 compared with $44,313,692 appropriated by the 52nd Legislature. The request represents a 41 per cent jump.

State departmental requests total $46,138,140, which is roughly 9½ million dollars more than the current biennial appropriation. The state court system wants a budget of $7,487,901, little more than half a million dollars above the present budget.

The Legislative Budget Board and the governor's budget division will hear the pleadings of all these agencies of government before the Legislature meets in January. The budget experts will make their recommendations.

Then the schools, the hospitals, the departments, and the courts renew their arguments before the appropriations committees of the House and Senate. That's when the scrap over how much to spend for state services really gets hot.

The committees try to reach a satisfactory compromise. Then the appropriation bills go to the full House and Senate for floor debate. When the two Houses finally get together, their recommendations go to the governor, who has the final say-so.

Experts On Rocket Travel Slate Meet

STUTTGART, Germany, Aug. 30 (AP)—World experts on rocket travel through space—perhaps to the moon and Mars—will meet here Monday in the Third International Astronautical Congress.

Two hundred scientists from 15 nations are expected for the 15-day sessions. Dr. Werner von Braun, creator of Germany's war-time V-rockets, will speak on "Space Travel—a Common International Task."

Dr. Von Braun, secretly whisked to the United States in 1945 to help in the American development of rocket weapons, holds that mankind is on the threshold of interplanetary voyages.

Stolen Money Orders Found; Two Arrested

RENO, Nev., Aug. 30 (AP)—Stolen money orders, potentially worth as much as a quarter-million dollars, were recovered here today because two young men went broke at Reno's gambling tables.

Jim Darwood Kennedy, 22, of Fairfax, Okla., and Johnny Edward Watson, 26, of Little Elm, Tex., were caught last night in a chase that ended in the chill waters of the Truckee River after they tried to cash one of the money orders.

Sheriff George Lothrop said the men, each with a Texas prison record, admitted that they broke into the Postoffice-general store last Tuesday at Monmouth, Calif.

They got away with two safes containing $4,500 in cash, many stamps and war bonds, and a large batch of blank money orders and an official stamp machine to validate them.

The Sheriff estimated that the loot would have been worth $250,000—if all the money orders had been cashed at top value.

After the burglary, Sheriff Lothrop said the men told him, they bought a car and new clothes and drove to Reno.

Somewhere along the way in California, they stopped and made a bonfire of many stamps and some bonds, the sheriff related.

In Reno, they sought out the gay spots and wine and dined. They met Mrs. E. B. Kennedy of Alexandria, Va., no relation to Jim Kennedy. She was arrested at their motel early today.

Visiting various gambling places, Watson and Kennedy said, they kept making the wrong bets until their money vanished.

Kennedy had $1.53, Watson a dime, and Mrs. Kennedy $1.91. The men decided to cash one of the money orders for $100 at a gambling club.

News of the burglary had not been made public, but the cashier had been tipped to watch out for suspicious postal money orders. He telephoned the sheriff's office. The two men ran.

Trapped in an alley, Watson was seized quickly. Kennedy led officers on a hot two-block chase before he plunged into the Truckee River, which runs through Reno. Then he climbed out meekly and surrendered, teeth chattering from his plunge.

The Bingham Dance Studios will open its fall classes Tuesday, Sept. 2. It has been announced. Previously, the date of opening had been listed as Sept. 22.

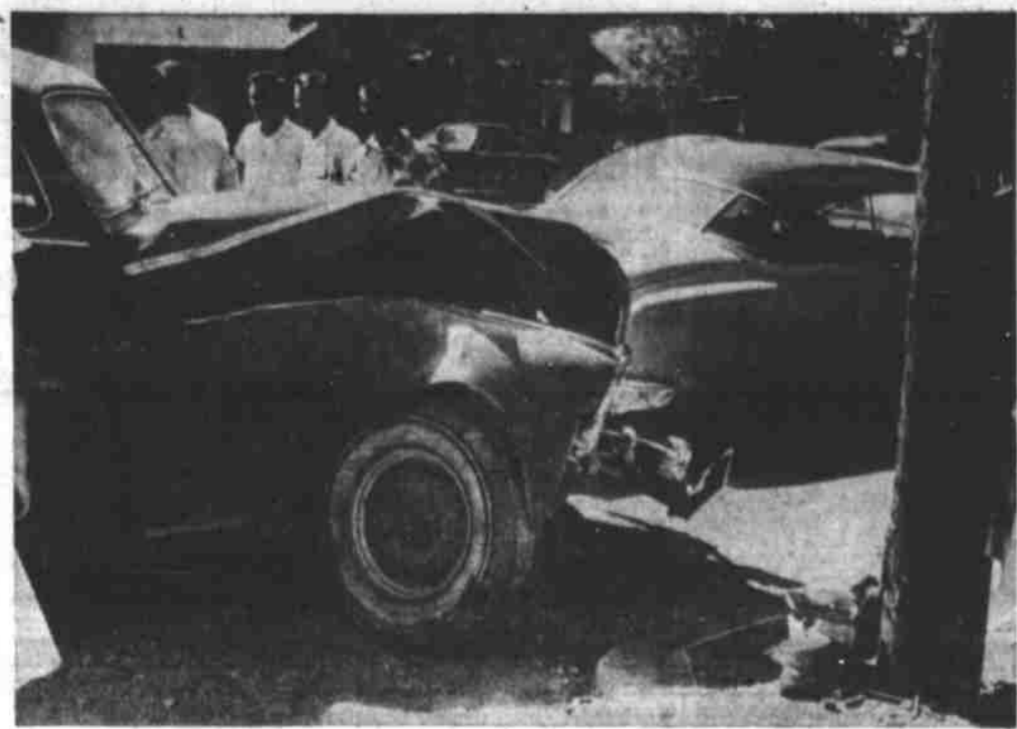

Charter Is Granted To Westex Oil Co.

Charter for Westex Oil Company, Inc. of Big Spring has been issued at Austin, Jack Ross, secretary of state, announced.

Capital stock was listed at $20,000 and incorporators are Ted O. Groehl, Mrs. Esther Groehl, and Carson Hamilton.

Groehl, head of the concern, said that this represented a move to give Westex Oil Corporate status. Four corporations have been set up—the West Texas Oil Co., Inc. to serve here as the transportation and accounting unit. Another will handle distribution and merchandising in the Big Spring and Midland area; still another activities in the Odessa region; and a fourth at Hobbs for that general sector.

Key associates of Groehl are being included with working interests in the business under the new arrangement, said Groehl.

After The Crash

Stove-in front of a 1942 Pontiac is only part of the results of a traffic collision which occurred at Fifth and Runnels Saturday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Gus Cavet, El Nido Courts, and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hughes, Webb Air Force Base, received injuries in the mishap. None were believed serious, although Mr. and Mrs. Hughes were taken to the base hospital where report on their condition was unavailable. The Cavets' Pontiac was in collision with a 1949 Mercury operated by Hughes. Both vehicles were badly damaged.

WILL IKE PASS ADLAI? Pace Of Campaign Is Worth Watching

By JACK BELL
NEW YORK, Aug. 30 (AP)—Are Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson re-enacting the old race of the tortoise and the hare?

Will Stevenson's flying pace at the start of the presidential race slacken and will Eisenhower pass him at the wire in November?

These questions are worrying both political camps. The next month of campaigning may begin to furnish the answer.

At the traditional Labor Day breakaway for intensive traveling by the candidates, most politicians think Stevenson has made much more progress than Eisenhower.

It is something of a handicap contest in which the Illinois governor had to start far back of Eisenhower because he isn't so well known to the general public outside of his home state. But as the Democratic nominee he has behind him a party accustomed to winning national elections and pretty well steeped in political know-how.

Eisenhower has told visitors he deliberately has slowed the pace of his campaign to conserve his ammunition until the battle gets heated.

Most observers are inclined to think that the outcome of any presidential election begins to take form early in October. President Truman's 1948 victory, which seemingly was manufactured in the last two weeks before election day, was the exception.

Sen. M'Carthy Hits Truman's Wisconsin Trip

By EDWIN B. HAAKINSON
WASHINGTON, Aug. 30 (AP)—Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) charged today that President Truman is neglecting the affairs of the nation to campaign against McCarthy in Wisconsin.

"It is common knowledge that the principal objective of President Truman's Labor Day speech in Milwaukee is to try to defeat me in next week's Republican primary," McCarthy said in a statement, adding:

"Wisconsin will be interested to find that the President feels that my opposition to his policies is of such importance that he is willing to lay aside the many crucial foreign and domestic matters, to which he should be attending, and journey to Wisconsin to participate in a Republican primary."

The White House hasn't mentioned McCarthy in connection with Truman's scheduled speech at Milwaukee Monday night. The speech, under AFL-CIO auspices, is to be the President's first major address of the presidential campaign.

McCarthy, back here for a medical checkup following a major operation, said earlier he was getting ready to return the fire of Truman, Gov. Adlai Stevenson and other critics in a few days.

In his statement, the Wisconsin senator referred to a recent Saturday Evening Post article which charged Truman fooled the farmers in 1948 by blaming the Republican-controlled 80th Congress for a fall in grain prices shortly before the election.

Eisenhower's associates say that the August headlines aren't worth anything in November. The general himself has been quoted as telling some visitors he wants to keep himself physically fresh for the last grueling weeks.

At 61, he may need more hours away from the grind than the younger Stevenson. At 52, Stevenson gives every sign of being able to go at top speed until November, despite a recent kidney operation. He says he expects to be elected in November "running like a singed cat."

Neither campaign is very effectively organized as yet. Neither candidate, for instance, has the sure-footed stride and split-minute timing that marked Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's effort in 1948. But the relative political amateurs may win where Dewey was denied a victory.

A simple question can get you an argument in the Eisenhower camp.

This reporter asked one of the top men in that group, "Who's running this campaign?" The answer was "Adams" — Gov. Sherman Adams of New Hampshire.

On the other hand, only a day or so before, Arthur Summerfield, the Republican national chairman, had assured me that he was the top manager of the campaign.

That illustrates the confusion in the Republican camp. The indications are strong that Eisenhower himself has taken over the direction of his campaign — that he is beginning by now to believe that even his short indoctrination in practical politics since last April has put him in the position to make the mechanical as well as the policy decisions for his race.

In the Democratic camp, Stevenson is depending on relatively untried amateurs. Wilson Wyatt, his campaign manager, has been around the Washington scene but he has to make up in enthusiasm what he lacks in national campaign experience.

Despite President Truman's obvious belief that the "give-'em-hell" technique is the way for a Democrat to win, Stevenson thus far is having nothing of it.

The Illinois governor, from all signs, is running his own campaign and in his own way. He deals in subtleties scarcely recognized and hardly appreciated at the White House. He probably will continue to do so.

District Court Set For Garden City

GARDEN CITY—The September term of 118th District Court will open here Tuesday morning. Judge Charlie Sullivan has delayed the start of the new term, which ordinarily opens on Monday, because of the Labor Day holiday.

A grand jury is scheduled to report at 10 a. m., while a petit jury to hear civil cases also is scheduled to report. Judge Sullivan has set several civil cases down for trial during the September term, which promises to be one of the busiest terms of court in Glasscock County in some time.

Miss America Test Slated This Week

By JOHN BAUSMAN
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 30 (AP)—Next week 52 pretty girls will show what they have in the way of beauty, talent and personality—all in a try for the title of Miss America of 1953.

They will compete in the 26th annual Miss America Pageant. The winner will get a $5,000 scholarship, $4,000 in cash, an automobile, gowns, presents of all kinds. In addition she has a chance to earn a tidy sum in personal appearance fees.

The pageant headquarters, which handle all Miss America bookings, reported that the 1952 queen, Colleen Kay Hutchins, earned more than $40,000 above expenses during her reigning year.

Seeking the national beauty title are girls from 45 states, four big cities (Chicago, New York, Philadelphia and Washington), Canada, Hawaii and Puerto Rico. They will register for the pageant Monday.

Only states not represented in this year's contest are New Mexico, Arizona and Washington.

The pageant opens with a fancy boardwalk parade Tuesday afternoon. It is the first chance the public has to view the girls, except for glimpses as they bustle around town with their chaperones, getting settled for the five-day contest.

This year the pageant has added a new feature to the parade. Movie actress Marilyn Monroe will head the procession as its grand marshal.

Past marshals have been city officials. The switch to Hollywood glamor seemed more appropriate for a beauty parade, pageant officials reported.

But pageant beauties must have more than good looks. Ever since 1945 talent and personality have figured in the judges' scoring. Half the score is based on beauty, judged with equal emphasis on how the girl looks in a bathing suit and in an evening gown.

Other half of the score is weighed equally between talent and personality, the latter determined at breakfast meetings with judges.

Singing is again the most popular talent, having been picked by 13 contestants. Ten will give dramatic readings and seven will dance. Other girls will twirl batons, give a speech or play musical instruments.

Preliminary contests are held Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, with girls alternating in bathing suit, evening gown and talent competition. The top 10 scorers compete all over again in finals Saturday.

Adlai Lauds Labor's Role In America

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 30 (AP)—Gov. Adlai Stevenson said today the United States is the strongest and richest nation on earth "in large part because the American Labor movement has fought that exploitation of labor which stunted economic growth in many lands."

In a Labor Day message, the Democratic presidential nominee said free enterprise and freedom of economic opportunity are "indissolubly linked with the freedom of workers to organize."

"Free men can produce more, and achieve more, for themselves and for society," he said.

Stevenson said that in this election year "we will do well to remind ourselves that free elections are the greatest of all safeguards of our liberties."

"The gains that labor has won through the years could never have been achieved without them."

"Yet in the election year four years ago, barely one-half of the eligible voters bothered to cast a ballot for President of the United States. The percentage of the population who actually vote has been declining steadily in recent years."

"Certainly the men and women of organized labor have a great stake in strengthening the democratic institutions under which we have made such great forward strides since Labor Day was first observed in 1882."

Fines Decrease In Corporation Court In Week

Corporation Court fines amounted to only $539 during the past week, a noticeable drop from the $800 to $1,000 aggregate levied in previous weeks.

Drunkenness continued as the most prevalent offense for which fines were assessed. Twenty-six persons were fined a total of $310 as a result of intoxication charges. In totaling $95 on failure to answer drunkenness complaints.

In second place was speeding, a violation for which five persons were fined $47.50. Four others were fined $23 for vagrancy.

Indecent exposure cost two persons $10 each and fines of $50 and $10 were levied against two found guilty of reckless driving.

A $25 fine was assessed for disturbance and a similar levy resulted from a charge of driving without license.

Other fines included two for $2.50 for illegal turns, three for $5 for violation of stop signs, one for $2.50 for passing in a no-passing zone, and one for $5 for excessive noise.

One person charged with driving while intoxicated and another charged with assault with a deadly weapon were transferred from Corporation Court to custody of county authorities.

Fire Damage Light

Rear door to the Bud Green Grocery, 1000 11th Place, was damaged by fire Saturday afternoon when a quantity of trash became ignited in the back of the building. City firemen said a discarded cigaret apparently started the blaze which was reported at 12:20 p. m.

Fall brings a hundred questions that must be answered. Will the kids be all right? What about new teachers? Traffic conditions near the school? Lunches? Transportation? School Board rulings? Health precautions?

To find the answers you turn to your newspaper—naturally! Because the newspaper has the kind of information you're looking for.

Facts about everything! Facts about schools... the state... the town... the world. Facts about features, fun, and back-to-school bargains in stores downtown.

Facts you can carry in your pocket—to read whenever you choose... wherever you choose. All the facts—so that you can read as much as you choose.

That's why nearly everybody reads the newspaper nearly every day.

• That's why so many people who sell advertised products insist that they be advertised in newspapers.

Because in newspapers an advertising message has a chance to reach all people who can buy. Not just sports fans or quiz fans or music fans... but everybody.

That's why all advertisers—both "national" and retail—invest more money in newspapers than in any other form of advertising.

The newspaper is first with the most news... first with the most people... first with most advertisers.

Surveys To Be Run In Glasscock Test, Another Is Shutin

Surveys are being run in Sinclair No. 1 G. T. Hall, northern Glasscock County prospect just south of the Lomax community. This wildcat, which has had several modest shows, blew out Thursday. There was considerable oil and gas in with the light mud the operator has been using on this test. The test then lost circulation. The zone to be checked is roughly 1,900 to 9,400. Current total depth is listed at 9,521 in lime. Several drillstem tests have been taken in the section which merges from the basic Permian into the top of the Pennsylvanian. A gamma ray survey was to be taken and possibly other logs to determine more precisely the location and porosity of the section involved. Location is 1,980 from the north and 660 from the west line of section 6-34-28, T&P.

WEEK'S REVIEW

Andrews And Pecos Final Discoveries

By JOHN B. BREWER
SAN ANGELO, Aug. 30—Three counties, Andrews and Pecos, finalized discoveries this week as a second pay, the Canyon, in the Poe (Strawn) field in northwestern Runtels County, was indicated. These developments topped the West Texas oil news. County Ellenburger discovery, Standard No. 1-A Claude Owen, was completed for a daily flowing potential of 105.6 barrels of 38.5 gravity oil plus 4.5 per cent salt water. Gas-oil ratio was 346-1. Production was from open hole between 9,851 feet, where seven-inch casing was cemented, and 9,920 feet, the plugged back total depth. Total depth is 9,900 feet. The producing section was treated with 7,500 gallons of acid. Location is 660 feet out of the north-east corner of section 2-C4-G&S-P, 14 miles northwest of Sheffield. A Devonian discovery in north-eastern Andrews County, Texaco No. 1-Z University (State), was completed for a daily flowing potential of 377 barrels of 43.9 gravity oil, gas-oil ratio of 162-1. Production was from perforations between 12,339-500 feet in the Devonian, topped at 12,540 feet. The section was treated with 1,000 gallons of acid. Location is 1,980 from south, 660 feet from west lines of section 2-24-University, 7-1-2 miles northeast of the recently-opened one-well Maguet field, which produces from the Ellenburger.

Dawson Venture High On Marker
Cities Service No. 1-B Leverett, wildcat 10 miles northwest of Lamesa, has topped the San Andres slightly higher than the El Tee No. 1 Briley, discovery of the Mungerville-Pennsylvanian pool. This shallow marker, which is not considered conclusive for deeper tests, was picked up at 4,510, a datum minus of 1,443. This is 37 feet high to the El Tee No. 1 Briley on the San Andres. The well currently is preparing to drill plug and deepen from 4,550. It is C NW SW 3-4 Cunningham survey. Sinclair No. 1 Scott, another exploration in the general area and C SE SE 10-1-M EL&RR, was at 12,816 in dolomite, likely Mississippian. Lawton Oil Corp. No. 1-A G. W. Martin, 660 from the south and east lines section 41-34-4n, T&P, three miles southeast of Sparenburg in southern Dawson, drilled past 5,761 in lime.

Wakefield Due Back
AUSTIN, Aug. 30 (AP)—Brig. Gen. Paul L. Wakefield, State Selective Service director, will resume his official duties Tuesday after a two-month absence because of serious illness. He was stricken in early July and underwent two emergency operations for ulcers. He has been confined to his home since, especially in view of the serious alteration and modification of these properties by drilling fluid, is the best way to obtain the desired information. Consequently, considerable research on improved logging methods continues, he said. There is always the possibility that a combination of two or three logs can be found which will virtually eliminate the need for others, he pointed out in discussing the divergent types of logs for various information. "The somewhat embarrassing fact is that, despite the number of logs now available or under development, there is still no direct oil indicating instrument," he observed. Stripling is a member of the Magnolia Petroleum Company field research laboratories at Dallas.

Well Logging Detailed By Former Big Spring Man
Allen A. Stripling, here with his family from Dallas to visit his father, Fox Stripling, and other relatives, is author of a paper recently published in World Petroleum. The article, "Well Logging Instrumentation," has been reprinted. It is a general discussion of various types of well logging, including some of the latest developments and some of the immediate possibilities. It covers the span from well cuttings to the newer methods such as magnetic susceptibility, total magnetic field log, acoustical logs, and the dielectric constant log. Noting that preponderance of the surveys now down are of the electric log type, Stripling observed that "there is no reason to believe that the measurement of the electrical properties of the rock,

Ector Wildcats Have Promising Wolfcamp Shows

Two wildcats in northeastern Ector County were giving promise of production and of opening a new pool in that area. They are located a mile and a half apart and are 11 miles north-east of Odessa and 21 northwest of Midland. One is the V. A. Brill, et al No. 1 Faska, which was swabbing to cleanout and test on perforations in the Wolfcamp from 8,650-8,730. That zone and two below at 8,730-8,810 and at 8,810-8,890 have all shown possibility of production. They will be tested separately and altogether. Total depth was 10,314 in dry Pennsylvanian lime where a bad fishing job developed. Operator plugged back to 9,750 and cemented 5 1/2-in. at that point. Location is 467 from the south and 2,179 from the west lines of section 17-42-1n, T&P, four miles east of the shallow North Cowden pool. The second is the Herman Brown, et al No. 1 Raliff, one mile south and half a mile west of Brill No. 1 Faska. Operator swabbed on perforations in the Wolfcamp from 9,696-9,706 and was to clean out to test. The section had flowed oil at the average rate of 11 barrels per hour two weeks ago, and the test started showing water in the section. On the theory the water was coming in from above, operator ran a squeeze job and perforated at substantially the same point where the flow was made. The test originally went to 13,874 in dry Ellenburger. It had some shows in the lower Pennsylvanian, in the tests the well flowed at times and then would not yield anything. Location is 660 from the North and west lines of section 11-43-1s, T&P.

Borden Test Drilling
Superior and Infex No. 14-598 Jordan, et al, C SE SW 398-97, H&TC, northeastern Borden wildcat four miles north of Fluvanna, was at 4,770 in sandy lime and shale. An indicated Scurry County Mississippian discovery, Texaco No. 1 M. A. Fuller, will test the section between 7,588-606 feet where the perforated oil at the rate of 42 barrels in one hour on a 14-hour drillstem test. Gas-oil ratio was 438-1. Location is 467 from south, 1,450 feet from east lines of section 62-5-H&GN, 18 miles northwest of Snyder. First oil production from the Wolfcamp in Hanley Co. of Dallas No. 1 Dr. C. V. Headlee of Odessa, northeastern Ector County wildcat, was developed during the week. An average of seven barrels of new oil hourly was swabbed for an extended period through casing perforations at 10,985-120 feet. No. 1 Headlee kicked out some oil at the surface while swabbing but would not flow. Preparations were being made to re-treat the perforations with a larger amount of acid. The wildcat failed to develop shows in drilling to 11,127 feet in the lower Pennsylvanian. Location is C NW NW 39-1a-T&P, 10 miles west of Midland. A 1/4-mile west extension to the Eikhorn (Ellenburger) field of Crockett County has been indicated by Continental No. 25-A J. M. Shannon. The project flowed at the rate of 23 barrels of oil hourly on a test between 7,375-428 feet in the Ellenburger. Recover on another test between 7,327-374 feet, tool open one hour, was 15 feet of slightly oil and gas-cut mud. The project then drilled to present total depth of 7,428 and tested between 7,375-428 feet with the above flow being logged. Location is 2,010 from north, 2,089 feet from west lines of section 21-17-G&S&P. A western Runtels County wildcat one mile south of Maverick flowed oil to pits on a test and prepared to run casing and make production tests. Thomas D. Humphrey of Dallas No. 1 D. O. Lee flowed oil to pits for eight minutes in an unestimated amount on a drillstem test from 5,108-114 feet. Recovery from the drillpipe was 1,800 feet of oil, no water. Location is 330 from the southeast, 3,470 feet from the north line of Joseph Farwell survey 313. Recovery of oil on six drillstem tests between 2,911-3,011 of the Canyon apparently has assured second pay for the Poe (Goens) lime field in northwestern Runtels County three miles east of Wilmett. The prospect, Humble No. 3 G. W. Poe, Tract 3, 1,320 feet south of the discovery, Humble No. 1 G. W. Poe, was preparing to drill ahead at 4,312 feet in the top of the Capps, first member of the Strawn. It is scheduled for completion as the third Goens well in the field. If it falls in the Goens, it will plug back and attempt completion as a Canyon discovery. Gulf No. 1 McElroy-State, western Upton County wildcat C NE SW 182-E-CC&R&GNG, took a five-hour drillstem test between 10,614-100 feet and recovered 150 feet of gas-cut mud, 90 feet of oil and gas-cut mud, of which 20 per cent was oil, and 90 feet of oil and gas-cut mud of which 30 per cent was oil.

Progress Made In Search For Cheaper Synthetics
By CHARLES HASLET
WASHINGTON, Aug. 30 (AP)—Reports of progress came today from the government's search for cheaper and more efficient methods of making synthetic oils and gasoline from coal and oil shale. Experiments with oil shale in the plant at Rifle, Colo., promise a "fairly revolutionary" method, Dr. W. C. Schroeder, assistant director of the Bureau of Mines, told a reporter. One process tried at Rifle would require use of considerable water—scarce in that area—for condensing vapors. But the latest method being tested does away with the need for any large quantity of water, Schroeder said. In the bureau's Louisiana, Mo., experimental plant, the hydrogenation process has been used to extract oils from coal but Schroeder said more extensive work is planned in gasification of coal, followed by gas synthesis, to obtain synthetic liquid fuels. Schroeder said the United States already is an importing nation and domestic oil production may have to be supplemented in the future, especially in an emergency, with synthetic fuels. Coal and shale processes could play an important part in supplying the crude oil supply, he said. The Bureau of Mines contends that synthetic fuels can be supplied at just a few cents above the cost of products from crude. East and Gulf Coast must step up production of kerosene, home heating and diesel fuels if a shortage is to be averted this winter, the Petroleum Administration for Defense (PAD) says. The outlook was discussed at recent conferences with refiners in Houston and New York. "It looks like crude oil runs are about what they should be but the yield of distillates is not," one PAD official said. Great is expected to be broken in October for a new 140 million dollar pipeline which will carry fuel oil, gasoline and other petroleum products to Middle and North Atlantic states from Texas and Louisiana refineries. The pipeline, to be built by the U. S. Pipeline Company of New York, is designed partly to ease the fuel oil situation in the Northeast. But PAD said unless there is a marked change in the steel outlook, the line will not be completed for more than year.

Effort And Manpower Cut By Air Pipeline Patrols
By KEITH K. KING
TULSA, Okla., Aug. 30 (AP)—One of the rarer and newer jobs in the oil business is that of the pipeline air patrol pilot, the chap who keeps his eye out for trouble in the petroleum transportation network. These fliers skim hundreds of miles at an altitude of 300 feet on each trip, scanning a line they know is there but actually see only at intervals. Flying between 70 and 100 hours monthly at an average speed of 95 miles an hour, one pilot does the job it required probably 20 men to do afoot only a few years ago. Service Pipe Line Co., for instance, has four regular fliers and a relief pilot watching its 5,000 miles of main right-of-way bearing 12,000 miles of pipe. Service, the transport subsidiary of Standard Oil Co. (Indiana), moves oil through a network from Wyoming, the Gulf Coast and New Mexico to the Great Lakes. Its pilots patrol a marked course, glimpsing the pipe itself only when it outcrops from under ground—roughly, every 40 miles—at junction points, pump stations or stream crossings. They look for costly oil leaks showing on the ground, for live stock dead or ill on the right-of-way and for erosion which could damage the pipe line or other property. When trouble shows, a sandbag-weighted message is dropped at the nearest pump station to send maintenance crews into action. To speed such work, Service is installing a short wave radio system in its cars and trucks. When it is complete, the planes will be able to "talk" repairs to the trouble scene and eliminate many men and truck-miles of searching. Service's air patrol is only six years old. It replaced the foot inspectors who trudged all kinds of terrain, doing makeshift emergency repairs with whatever they could devise. These men had it rough. They climbed fences, waded streams and slogged through gumbo mud, menaced by insects, reptiles and animals. The air patrolters have their hazards, too. To C. B. (Pete) Nicols, Service's flier on the Tulsa-Gulf Coast run, his greatest is buzzards. They abound below the Oklahoma-Texas border and collision with one of the slow-flying scavengers is a constant danger. Nicols is based in Tulsa, as is H. W. Taber, who patrols between here and Whiting, Ind. R. H. Murphy, flying out of Wichita, Kan., covers the run from New Mexico to Kearney, Neb. J. M. Wolfe, from Casper, Wyo., handles a stretch from Wyoming to Kearney. At Taber and Murphy were World War II military fliers. Occasionally something relieves the patrolter's monotony. On one of Nicols' trips he noted oil flowing in a creek emptying into the Red River where a herd of cattle was drinking. He located the leak, messaged the closest pump station, then buzzed the rancher's home to drop a note warning the animals were endangered by drinking the polluted water. Then back to the cows he flew, diving his plane repeatedly to frighten them from the stream. "Scared 'em all off but one old cow," he recalls. "But even she got well. We didn't lose a cow."

Tom Green Test Flows From Reef
Humble No. 1 Wilson, northwestern Tom Green wildcat, flowed 93 barrels of fluid, mostly new oil, in 12 1/2 hours from perforations opposite the Pennsylvanian reef lime. At the end of the period of the flow from the perforations in the 5 1/2-in. casing at 5,845-5,856, operator started swabbing to test and try to induce it to flow again. The flow came after treatment with 2,000 gallons of acid. Previously 500 gallons of acid had been used with 1-3 barrel of new oil per hour being swabbed. After the larger charge, the well kicked off with 500 pounds flowing tubing pressure, which diminished to zero at the end of 12 1/2 hours. Most observers said that the oil is new with no water. A 22-64 choke has been used and there is a small amount of acid residue along with a little of the oil load. The test, located two miles north of Carslad and 1,263 from the north and 660 from the east lines of the W. W. Harris survey No. 6, is the old Bridwell, Perkins and Prothro No. 1 Wilson which was abandoned at 6,440. Rocky Mountain bighorn sheep come down from their lofty crags only when forced by heavy winter snowdrifts.

Completions Take Dive
AUSTIN, Aug. 30 (AP)—A continuing slackening of the drilling pace saw only 163 oil wells and 3 gas wells brought in this week. The year's total of oil wells, at one time nearly 500 ahead of last year's figure, now stands at 7,553 compared with 7,256 a year ago. There have been 605 gas wells completed compared with 562 last year at this date. Wildcat operations led to 12 oil wells and 67 dry holes. Plugged were 118 dry wells, 1 gasser, and 53 oil wells. The total average calendar day allowable as of today was 2,983,770 barrels, up 9,584 from a week ago.

Mitchell Wildcat
Scurlock Oil Company No. 1 W. R. Powell, south central Mitchell County wildcat, had drilled to 4,380 in lime and shale Saturday. It is located 60 from the north and 1,980 from the east lines of section 83-97, H&TC.

Caudle To Testify
WADESBORO, N. C., Aug. 30 (AP)—T. Lamar Caudle, who was fired by President Truman as the government's chief tax prosecutor last winter, said today he will testify Tuesday before a House Judiciary Subcommittee investigating the Justice Department. He said he will tell "them whatever I can" about the St. Louis Grand Jury case. Several committee members charged Thursday the Justice Department dragged its feet in handling last year's tax fraud scandals in St. Louis.

NORTHWESTERN HOWARD WILDCAT PROJECTED TO THE ELLENBURGER

A rank wildcat two miles southwest of the nearest production in the Vealmoor pool has been announced for northwest Howard County. It will be the Pan-American No. 1 Pauline Hamlin and will be located 2,290 from the south and 660 from the east lines of section 43-32-3n, T&P. Projected depth is 8,500 to the Ellenburger. Operations will start soon. This venture is 15 miles north of Big Spring and is five miles north and east of the Stanolind No. 1 Burton, the lone Pennsylvanian producer in north-central Howard. Cosden No. 1 Read, which is drilling below 4,855 in lime in the northeast Howard, called tops on several formations, including the Gortietta at 3,028, Clear Fork at 3,220, the Spraberry at 4,315. Elevation was not given. Stephens No. 1 Simpson, C NE NE 431-31-3n, T&P, 17 miles north of Big Spring and a Vealmoor outcrop on the southeast side, drilled below 5,001 in shale and lime.

Lynde Named OIIC Chief In Southwest Area
The petroleum industry's public relations program in Texas, New Mississippi and Alabama has a new head man for its field operations. He is W. T. Lynde, headquartered in Dallas. Lynde's appointment as Gulf-Southwest district representative in charge for the Oil Industry Information Committee of the American Petroleum Institute, was announced jointly in Houston and New York by Madison Farnsworth, OIIC district chairman, and E. W. Esmay, OIIC acting executive director. Promotion of Lynde came with the resignation of Don Agnew, a key field man in the OIIC program since its inception five years ago, and includes responsibility for operation of OIIC field offices in New Orleans, La., and Jackson, Miss. Lynde has been a district representative working out of the Dallas office since November, 1950. He has had 12 years' experience in public relations and the newspaper business, beginning as editor of the weekly Crane Co., Chronicle upon graduation from the University of Missouri school of journalism in January, 1940. Subsequently, the 37-year-old Coshocton, Ohio, native worked for the St. Louis Star-Times Associated Press and was in public relations posts in New York City and El Paso, Texas, before moving to Dallas five years ago to handle press relations for the Texas & Pacific Railway. In that capacity he visited Big Spring frequently. He also came here in connection with his OIIC work.

Drilling Indicates Activity Increase May Be In Offing
Oil well drilling activity picked up in several West Texas Counties during the period between August 10 and August 25. That was revealed by the semi-monthly survey of active rotary drilling rigs in the Permian Basin of West Texas and Southeast New Mexico which is compiled by Reed Roller Bit Company. Despite the fact the number of active operations in several counties increased during the 15-day period, the total of turning rotary rigs decreased in the entire area. There were 489 active rotary rigs working in the Permian Basin on August 25. The figure for the region on August 10 was 500 active rigs. On August 25, 1951 there were 662 active rotary rigs in the Permian Basin. Practically all of the drop in drilling activity from a year ago and from a month ago is attributed to the shortage of oil field tubular goods. The steel strike during June and July is blamed for that shortage. Present indications are that the drilling activity will begin to show a gradual upward climb in the near future and continue to increase until it gets back to the high mark it had reached before the steel strike caused many companies and independent operators to curtail their activities. The county breakdown for the Aug. 25 report with comparisons for Aug. 10 shown in parentheses, follows: Andrews 31 (35), Borden 11 (14), Cochran 15 (6), Coke 9 (4), Crane 8 (7), Crockett 12 (11), Dawson 9 (8), Ector 21 (21), Gaines 24 (19), Glasscock 12 (11), HOWARD 9 (10), Kent 9 (8), Martin 1 (3), Midland 19 (20), Pecos 13 (11), Reagan 37 (38), Schleicher 12 (11), Scurry 14 (17), Terry 3 (3), Tom Green 4 (4), Upton 46 (51), Ward 14 (11), Yoakum 16 (12), Lea Cos. 15, N. M. 108 (118). The Spraberry trend showed 82 wells as against 98 on the previous report. The report is only on rotary rigs actually drilling Aug. 25 and does not cover those testing, etc. nor is it complete for all the basin territory.

Five Local Linksters Move Up In Big Spring Tourney

1951 Champion Winner Twice

Favorites fell right and left in the 21st annual Big Spring Invitational Golf Tournament Saturday but the defending champion, Bob Wortman of Midland, still rode high.

Wortman had a tough time in his first match but finally won over R. S. McCullough, Big Spring, 1 up 19 holes. He then fanned out J. C. Davis, Big Spring, in the afternoon, 6-5.

Among the favored entries who won't answer the call in the third round this morning are Olie Bristow, Jake Morgan, Jerry Scott, Red Roden, Bob Craig, Marvin and Bobby Wright. All but Craig and Roden are from Big Spring. Craig hails from Colorado City and Roden from Odessa.

Bristow was measured in the first round by J. C. Davis, 5-4; Morgan won his first test but then ran afoul of Barney Barnard, Odessa, 2-1.

Scott was victimized by one of the top favorites in the meet, Elton Dozier of Big Spring, 6-5, in second round play. Red met his master in Roan Platt, Midland, also in the second round. Craig yielded to Dozier in first round play, 2 up.

Marvin Wright, last year's finalist, was thumped by Platt in the first round, 3-2. Bobby Wright was beaten by his good friend, Bobby Maxwell, 4-3, after he had won his first match.

Wortman and Dozier are in the same bracket and are favored to meet in the quarterfinals this afternoon. Wortman tangles with Barnard this morning while Dozier tests Luke Thompson, Big Spring.

Platt tangles with Tommy Hutto, Big Spring, this morning while Maxwell has it out with J. R. Farmer, Big Spring.

Hutto pulled a mild surprise by beating Bill Craig, Colorado City, in his second match.

Dozier and Platt were medalists in the meet. Each had a one-under-par 71 Friday. Dozier is a past champion while Platt went to the semi-finals a year ago.

Semi-finals and finals will be unfeared Monday.

Shaw, 3-1; Rovia Womack over Ed Alexander, 5-4; Don Van Wye, Lamesa, over Jeff Walker, 5-3.

SEVENTH FLIGHT

Captain On The Tee

EARL REYNOLDS CAPTAIN

Hall And Bennett Trophy Retaken By Home Team

The Hall and Bennett trophy, which has been passed around all over West Texas in recent years, came home to stay Friday.

Earl Reynolds' resident forces saw that Reynolds' team won from the visitors, captained by James Pritchett of Colorado City, 7 1/2 to 4 1/2. Last year's match resulted in a deadlock and the trophy, as a result and as per custom, went to the visiting captain, Amos Howard of Lubbock.

Reynolds himself had a hand in the victory, teaming with Jake Morgan to score a 2 and 1 win over Pritchett and Red Roden, Odessa.

E. B. Dozier, Jr., and Bobby Wright, Big Spring, subdued Bill Craig, Colorado City, and Bobby Maxwell, Big Spring, 1 1/2 to 4 1/2. A. G. (Barney) Bernard, Odessa, and Bob Bean, Lamesa, lost to Marvin Wright and Tommy Hutto, Big Spring, by a margin of 2 and 1.

Roane Puett, Midland, and Joe Ed Black, Lamesa, scored the only win for the visitors with a 2 and 1 triumph at the expense of E. G. Griffin and Jerry Scott.

Peeler Is Hired As Grid Mentor

Earl W. Peeler has been hired as a Junior High School football coach here, Sept. 7. C. Blankenbush has announced. Peeler was at Colorado City last year.

He succeeds James Walker of Merkel, who took the job but then was drafted into the Armed Forces.

Mike Patton over Frank Powell, 3-2; A. J. Reubart over R. H. Simmons by default; Al Bolder over A. P. Baker, 2-1; Ervin Daniels over L. B. Pritchett, 2-1; Glen White over Allan Underwood, 2-1; M. C. Boyd over Bill Ayers, 2 up; Orl Hardest over Curtis Boyd, 4-3.

TENTH FLIGHT

In Bookkeeping Department

Guerra Records 24th Triumph In Odessa, 3-2

ODESSA—Gil Guerra, Ovie Alvarez and Buddy Grimes teamed to lead the Big Spring Broncs to a 3-2 decision over the league-leading Odessa Oilers here Saturday night.

The victory moved the Steeds within 2 1/2 games of Odessa and protected their one-game bulge over Midland in the battle for second place.

Guerra went all the way, giving up only five hits, as he achieved his 24th triumph of the season.

Wes Ortiz started for Odessa but Evillo Ortega came on in relief and for the second time in two nights failed to hold the Broncs.

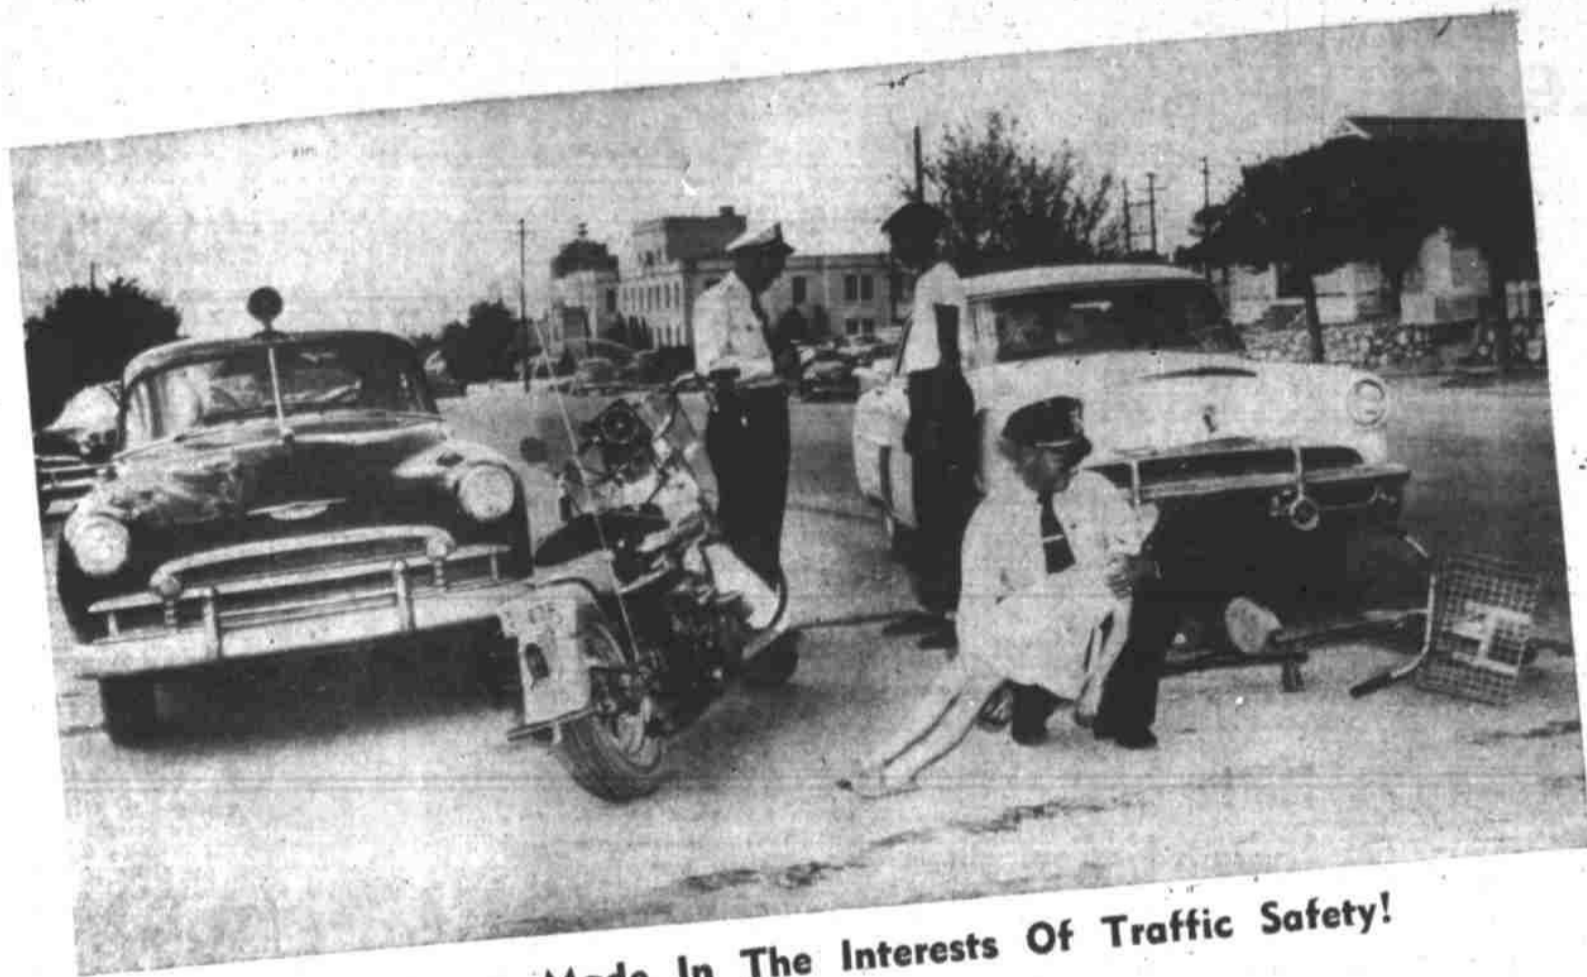

Grimes collected two doubles in the nine-hit Big Spring attack and drove in two runs. Alvarez batted in the other tally.

Bill Cearley hit a sixth inning home run for Odessa, after Pepper Martin had batted in the first Oiler tally.

The two teams tangle here again Sunday night, then move to Big Spring for a Labor Day contest. The Monday game starts at 8:15. The two teams wind up their play for the year here Tuesday night.

Tonight's win was the tenth for Big Spring over the league leaders. The Broncs have lost seven times to Odessa.

A Posed Picture Made In The Interests Of Traffic Safety!

DON'T

Let A Tragedy Like This Happen To You

You Are Responsible For The Safety Of Our Children!

DRIVE WITH CAUTION

DANGER! School children ahead! GO slowly . . . STOP accidents! School will be opening this week, and it's the time of year when every motorist must redouble efforts to drive safely and make the streets safe for our school children. Let's take a pledge to make this school year one that is completely accident-free. This means giving full cooperation to officials who are on duty to protect human life. It means paying close attention to laws and signals—driving at safe speed always—and giving proper signals. When you see the "School Zone", always proceed with extreme caution. The little fellows are safety-minded, too, but sometimes in their enthusiasm they forget to observe all the laws of safety. It is up to you, the driver, to be on guard . . . to make our streets safe for our school children. Keep in mind to be extra cautious in watching for bicycles, motorcycles and motor scooters. And work vigorously to train the young riders of these vehicles that SAFETY must come FIRST! Let's outlaw the traffic tragedies. Don't YOU be caught up in a tragedy. Be RESPONSIBLE, be CAUTIOUS, be SAFE!

County Records 15th Polio Victim Of Year

Howard County's 15th case of polio this year was reported Saturday, but public health officials refused to disclose the name of the disease's victim.

A private physician said only that the polio patient is a 35-year-old local woman. The infection was described as mild, with no paralysis resulting.

The Big Spring-Howard County Health Unit listed the polio diagnosis on its weekly communicable diseases report along with 22 cases of diarrhea, 6 virus throat infections, four cases of gonorrhea, and one case each of lymphocytic meningitis, amoebic dysentery, and virus pneumonia.

25 County School Buses Get Ready For New Term

A fleet of 25 school buses, all of them new or "renewed," will hit Howard County roads early Tuesday morning to start a nine-month grind that will register thousands of miles on their speedometers.

The buses take hundreds of pupils to their respective schools and return them to their homes daily—one of the most vital tasks involved in the operation of the county's public school systems.

No figures are available as to the number of miles the vehicles will travel each day, but bus routes reach into every section of the county. The 25 buses (two of them station wagons) will serve 16 schools: Forsan, Knott, Coahoma, Big Spring, Gay Hill, Elbow, Vealmoor, Midway, Cauble and Center Point. County School Superintendent

Walker Bailey reports all of the school buses are in top mechanical condition for the start of the 1952-53 school year Tuesday. Two of the machines are new and the remainder have been reconditioned during the summer months. None is older than a 1946 model, and several were used for the first time a year ago.

Bailey expects all of the buses to sport motor vehicle inspection stickers by Sept. 6, if not by Tuesday.

Value of the 25 carriers is in excess of $75,000, Bailey estimates. They range in size from the station wagons to 54-passenger jobs. Their combined capacity is approximately 1,000 students, and the total number of passengers hauled in a school year probably will approximate 400,000.

No extensive driver training program is planned on a county-wide basis; however, Big Spring High School drivers will familiarize themselves with their routes and vehicles on test runs Monday, according to Pat Murphy, business manager.

The buses will be made available for certain extra-curricular activities requiring transportation for pupils, such as band, athletic squad and other trips.

The number of buses in service this year represents a gain of two over '51-'52. One has been added to the Coahoma fleet and the Cauble School has its first school bus.

Of the total, Forsan has four, Knott four, Coahoma six, Big Spring three, Gay Hill two, Elbow two, Vealmoor, Midway, Cauble and Center Point, one each.

Some Residents Jump Gun On Watering Of Shrubs In The City

Some Big Springers apparently are getting in the habit of jumping the gun on the city's limited shrubbery irrigation schedule. City police had to delay watering efforts at four addresses Friday afternoon. Four residents started their hoses running shortly after noon in the area west of Runnels Street where irrigation was scheduled to start at 2 p. m.

Officers advised the subjects to stop watering until start of the designated five-hour period.

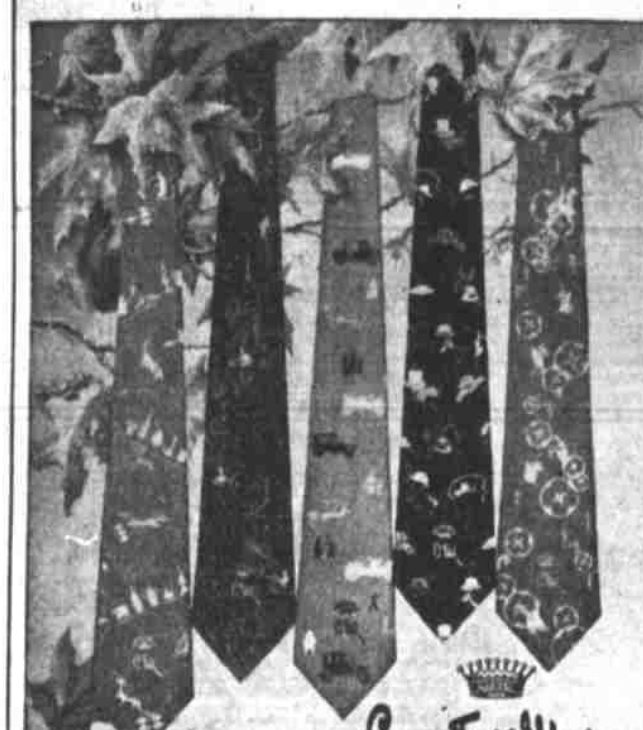

Three Local Firemen Return From Course

Three Big Spring firemen, including Chief H. V. Crocker, returned late Friday night from College Station where they attended the annual firemen's training school conducted by Texas A&M College.

Attending the school in addition to Crocker were Capt. A. D. Meador and Fireman Jake Tranham. Chief Crocker reported an enrollment of some 900 firemen at the week-long school.

Drought May Lower Load On School Bus

Business Manager Pat Murphy of Big Spring High School is wondering what effect the current drought will have on the "pay loads" for city school buses.

A number of vacant houses—where local school pupils lived last year—now dot bus routes, Murphy found on a survey last week. He expects the number of students riding buses this year will be a little lower than the 135 who took advantage of the free transportation last year.

Big Spring bus routes are virtually the same as last year, although a run out the Snyder Highway to the Gall Road intersection at 8 a. m. has been added to the Cosden route. Both Hartwells and Fairview buses will cover their usual territories.

The vehicles will cover an aggregate of 170 miles per day (on both morning and afternoon runs). Drivers will take their vehicles over the roads Monday on familiarization trips. A safety and driver-education clinic also will be conducted Monday by Lee Ashley, driver foreman, to bring drivers up to date on safety and operational rules and regulations.

All of the buses already have passed the motor vehicle safety inspection and are in prime mechanical condition for the start of school, Murphy reports. One has a new motor, and starters, generators and batteries on all of the machines have been put in top condition.

Drivers this year, in addition to Ashley who operates the athletic bus, are Billy Johnson, A. F. Bearden and Boss Moore. Johnson is a full-time driver last year. Bearden was a substitute bus operator, and Moore was added to the staff for the 1952-53 school year.

First Timers In Halls Of Learning Prepare For Ring Of School Bells

When the schoolbells ring Tuesday the 14 students pictured on this page will be enrolling for the first time in schools new to them, ranging from kindergarten to Howard County Junior College.

Some are eager to make the transition while others, like the two small boys just starting in kindergarten, are reluctant to bid goodbye to summertime pleasures and submit to the confinement of a disciplined classroom.

Whatever their feelings, opening day will find them in their places, making new friends, renewing acquaintances and settling down to the serious business of getting an education.

MRS. HAROLD PARKS HITT

Ellen Dean Eastham Becomes Bride Of Harold Parks Hitt Friday Evening

Ellen Dean Eastham became the bride of Harold Parks Hitt in a ceremony Friday evening at the First Baptist Church.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Eastham, 1015 Nolan, and Chaplain and Mrs. C. O. Hitt, 1301 Pennsylvania.

Chaplain Hitt performed the semi-formal, double ring ceremony as the couple stood before an archway entwined with greenery. Baskets of morning kiss gladioli, pink crinum lilies and asters decorated the altar.

Mrs. C. W. Norman, organist, played the traditional wedding marches. She also accompanied Mrs. Leonard Shipman who sang "Because," "Always" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Entering on the arm of her father, the bride wore a frosty white lace and nylon net bridal gown. It was designed with a strapless lace bodice edged with a tulle ruffle and topped with a tiny lace tippet jacket. The very bouffant demi-lasser length skirt of imported net over crinoline petticoats was accented with a lace apron edged with a tulle ruffle and extended into a ruffle peplum in the back.

Her tiered finger-tip veil of imported illusion fell from a lace bonnet trimmed with lilies of the valley.

She carried a white Bible topped with an orchid surrounded by white carnations and streamers. In carrying out the bridal tradition, the bride wore a Roman penny in her shoe for something old, something new was her dress, something borrowed was the Bible belonging to Mrs. M. T. Kuykendall and blue was her name embroidered in her dress.

Maryilyn Carpenter was maid of honor. She was attired in a pastel green nylon tulle demi-tasse length gown fashioned with a sweetheart neckline and a stole. She wore a halo of pink crinum lilies in her hair and carried a crescent bouquet of pink crinum lilies showered with pink ribbon.

Charlotte Williams was the bride's other attendant. She was attired in a pink nylon tulle demi-tasse length gown designed like that of the maid of honor. She wore a halo of pink crinum lilies and carried a crescent bouquet of matching flowers showered with pastel pink ribbon.

Dr. P. D. O'Brien served as best man.

The brothers of the bridegroom, Ben Hitt and Bowling Hitt, the latter of Seminole, were ushers.

Douglas Eastham, brother of the bride, and Donnie Bryant lighted the candles.

When the couple left on a wedding trip to New Mexico, the bride wore a brown fallie suit with matching accessories.

Upon their return, they will make their home in Brownwood.

Mrs. Hitt is a graduate of Big Spring High School where she was a majorette, a member of the Latin Club and president of the Home Economics Club. She attended Howard County Junior College where she was a cheer leader and member of the Science Club.

Her husband is a graduate of the Lancaster High School where he was captain of the football team, senior class president and favorite. He attended HCJC where he served as secretary-treasurer of the Athletic Club, was class favorite, and a member of the Science Club.

Both young people will enroll in Howard Payne College, Brownwood, for their junior year.

Following the wedding, a reception was held in the church parlor.

In the receiving line with the couple were their parents and the bridal attendants.

The entertaining suite was decorated with arrangements of pink asters and morning kiss gladioli. The refreshment table was laid with a white imported organdy cloth and the three-tiered wedding cake was topped with a miniature bride and groom.

Presiding at the table were Mary Felts, Lois Beagan and Jewel Neel. Mrs. Wayland Yates was in charge of the guest register.

Lecturer Prefers Use Of Homegrown Flowers And Simplest Containers

Flower lovers in this area will have an opportunity to see demonstrated lectures by an expert in flower arranging, table setting and corsage making during the landscaping workshop to be conducted Wednesday and Thursday at Howard County Junior College.

Mrs. Albert Morrow of Morton will give demonstrations each of the two days from 1 to 2:30 p.m. in the college auditorium.

A nationally-accredited judge of flower shows and teacher of flower show schools, Mrs. Morrow is a member of Texas State Garden Clubs, Inc., and the National Council of Garden Clubs. She served for two years as Garden Club counselor of District 1, composed of 52 counties in the Panhandle, South Plains and West Texas.

Although she has studied with teachers who work with greenhouse exotics and elaborate containers, her compositions are primarily of materials which can be grown in home gardens in this section of the country and she prefers to use simple, basic containers which any homemaker is likely to find among her possessions.

"The designs in my compositions are suited to the small, modern home," Mrs. Morrow says, "and easily executed by following a few principles of design, by using a little imagination and by practicing the art."

Mrs. Morrow grows most of the flowers she uses in her work and has won many blue ribbons in horticulture as well as in flower arranging.

In flower arranging she discusses mechanics, designs, color harmony, and Oriental and Occidental designs, all with demonstrations. In relation to table setting, she takes up color harmonies, design of flowers, and appropriate china, linen and crystal for buffets, teas, luncheons and dinners.

In addition her repertoire includes the design and technique of making corsages for all occasions, flower show practice, landscape design, horticulture, soils and plant families.

Any interested person is urged to attend the landscaping workshop. A fee of 25 cents will be charged for registration to help defray expenses, and since the same program will be given both days, a person may get the entire program by attending a day and a half.

The workshop is being sponsored by the A&M College Extension Service, the Garden Club, HCJC and the U. S. Experiment Station.

A Bible Thought For Today—

But murder and wrong doing existed there just the same. Those who seek world empire by whatever name and by whatever means are on the wrong road. The Golden Rule does not require uniformity of any kind. It is as simple as that. "And the whole world was of one language and one speech." — Gen. 11:1.

People Should Express Themselves On Courthouse Square Landscaping

One of the more informal columns on this page recently advocated a program of beautification of our Courthouse grounds, rather than to chop up the lot for what would be limited parking accommodations.

This is a proposition to be regarded seriously, and The Herald feels that the people at large should give sober consideration to some long-range planning of the Courthouse area.

The Courthouse program has not been blessed with the best of planning. A large segment of sentiment did not favor placing the building on the present public square, and even though this represented a heavy majority in a "straw poll," it was disregarded.

There has been some criticism of the design of the building, although it is probable such criticism would be heard regardless of the style of architecture employed.

But these issues are past, and decisions on both have been accepted generally with tolerance.

What is important now is whether Big Spring and Howard County shall create—for the years to come—some downtown outdoor civic spot for the public use, benefit and enjoyment. It is difficult enough, at best, in this West Texas country, to take advantage of any place for park purposes, and the few places that are available ought to be taken advantage of. Most cities are proud of their parks. They are a badge of civic development, and visitors always remember them distinctly. Citizens always enjoy them immensely.

Downtown parking admittedly is a problem, will continue to be one. But the system contemplated for the Courthouse square is not going to accommodate the general public to any appreciable extent, and the parking problem demands its own long-range planning, too. It has a better solution.

This is a proposition upon which the people ought to express themselves. The county officials ought to be advised of public desires, and to have suggestions from the people who pay the bill, who will be living here to enjoy, or regret, what is done now.

Gallup Poll

Ike Runs Ahead Of 1948 GOP Vote In Mid-Atlantic Area

PRINCETON, N. J.—When General Eisenhower opens his formal campaign in Philadelphia on Thursday, he will appear against a geographical backdrop of considerable support today in the Middle-Atlantic states.

The six states which comprise this section of the country are: Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey, Maryland, Delaware and West Virginia. They constitute the biggest northern block of electoral votes in the nation.

Eisenhower's following in today's survey shows a net gain of about 3 percentage points over the proportion of votes which Dewey received in this section in 1948.

Five of these states gave Dewey his biggest block of electoral votes in 1948. In that election, the section gave Dewey 48.4 per cent of the vote, Truman 46.9 per cent and Wallace 4.7 per cent.

West Virginia was the only state in the Middle-Atlantic area which did not wind up in the Republican column in 1948.

A cross-section of voters in all walks of life living in this section were interviewed during mid-August by reporters for the Gallup Poll who asked each voter this question:

"If the presidential election were being held today, which party would you like to see win—the Republican party or the Democratic party?"

The views of all those questioned who indicated a preference or expressed a "leaning" are as follows:

Republican 52%
Democratic 42
Undecided 6

Analysis of the 6 per cent who were undecided shows that a majority of those in this group voted Democratic in the last presidential election and therefore probably will return to the Democratic party.

When those persons who voted Democratic in 1948 are allocated to the Democratic party and those who voted Republican to the Republican party, leaving 2 per cent who did not vote in 1948, the figures are:

Republican 53%
Democratic 45
Still undecided 2

The figures in today's survey represent sentiment for the entire Middle-Atlantic region and cannot, therefore, be applied to any one state.

Today's survey findings contrast sharply with results of an Institute study in the East North Central section of Ohio, Indiana, Michigan and Illinois which were published Friday.

In the home territory of the Democratic standard-bearer, Governor Stevenson of Illinois and General Eisenhower were found running neck-and-neck today, as follows:

E. NORTH CENTRAL STATES
Republican 49%
Democratic 48
Still undecided 2

In fact, in this section of the country, Eisenhower showed no gain over the proportion of the vote in 1948 which Dewey received.

Section an Ike Stronghold
It was the Middle-Atlantic section of the country which was strongest in the pre-convention support for Eisenhower's nomination.

Institute surveys consistently showed Eisenhower leading Sen. Robert A. Taft for the G.O.P. nomination by a good margin among Republican rank and file voters in this section.

The importance of this section in the coming election can be seen from the fact that together the six states represent a total of 113 electoral votes.

Political observers are agreed that it will be virtually impossible for Eisenhower to win without carrying a majority of the six states.

Two of the nation's largest states, New York and Pennsylvania, are particularly crucial. Dewey won New York in 1948 by 46.3 per cent of the vote, with Truman polling 45.4 per cent and Wallace 8.3 per cent.

Uncle Ray's Corner

Sunday Talk: Autumnal Equinox

A boy named Wesley HaM writes: "Would you please answer these questions in your column? What is the September equinox? When does it begin? What causes it?"

The equinox in September is known as the autumnal equinox. It marks the calendar opening of the autumn season north of the equator. This year autumn is to start (officially) at 24 minutes past nine o'clock on the evening of Monday, September 22.

There are two equinoxes in each year, one in March and one in September. The equinox in March opens the spring season north of the equator.

The word "equinox" means "equal night." Many persons say that darkness and daylight are of equal length at the time of an equinox.

Before I go into the facts about darkness and daylight, let me answer the question about why there is such a thing as an equinox.

The earth is tilted on its axis at an angle of almost 23 and a half degrees. In its yearly trip around the sun, there are times when each haM of the earth has "long days." Our longest days come in June, but people in the southern half of the earth have their longest days in December.

Twice each year, the earth's equator is in direct line with the middle of the sun. When that happens, it brings an equinox.

An equinox fails to provide an exactly equal division of daylight and darkness. Sunrise and sunset may be 12 hours apart, but there are twilight periods.

Surely it would be a mistake to call twilight a time of darkness. We can see clearly enough for a period after the sun vanishes at sunset, also before it appears in the morning. If we figure twilight as being half daylight and half darkness, we still have more daylight than darkness in a day with 12 hours between sunrise and sunset.

There is another point related to this subject which I plan to take up in September, near the time of the equinox.

Spotlighting A Week Of News

Texas Governor Makes It Known He's Not Going To Support Gov. Stevenson

By FRED GREENE

The political cauldron continued to boil this week as the flames were fanned primarily in Texas and New York.

Gov. Allan Shivers of Texas saw a fellow Democrat, Gov. Adlai Stevenson, candidate for President, and didn't like what the Illinois chief executive had to say, particularly about the touchy issue of how to settle the Tidelands problem.

Shivers, an arch-foe of federal control of the oil-rich lands, contends the revenue from these lands belongs to the state of Texas under the state's annexation agreement.

States rights are a problem to Shivers and while he himself may support Stevenson despite a variance of views on other subjects, the Texas governor just won't back Stevenson unless he's "right" on the Tidelands.

Stevenson, on the other hand, says he is abiding by the Supreme Court decision giving the federal government control of the Tidelands. Stevenson wants a compromise, but made it clear he will not sign a measure giving the states control of their Tidelands.

Besides Texas, two other states are involved. They are California and Louisiana. In the case of these two states, their claims are not as valid as in the Texas claim. The Lone Star state has a contract, in black and white, supporting its claim.

The solution is a hard one to find. Stevenson admittedly must go along with the Supreme Court, but his rejection of any measure such as the one President Truman vetoed does not help him in his drive for Texas votes.

In the meantime, Texas Republicans, recognizing their opportunity, endorsed Gov. Shivers, Atty. Gen. Price Daniel and other state candidates on the Democratic slate.

As a result, the GOP cross-filled under the new Texas election law. Nobody has yet declined this support. The purpose of such support would be to win Democratic votes for Gen. Eisenhower in November. It could be, too, that a deal is in the fire to secure Democratic party support for Ike in another cross-filing move. This possibility arose early this week as Texas got embroiled in a hot argument over support for Stevenson.

In New York, the Illinois governor unleashed his heavy artillery and blasted the GOP as "unfit" to gain public office. The governor spoke in a series of speeches in New York. He appears to have taken the offensive in the presidential campaign.

Gen. Eisenhower, GOP candidate, talked moral issues but did not directly fire the heavy guns as did his opponent.

Ike, as a result, found himself the target of critics from his own party for not landing heavier blows. Ike promised he would not be long in doing so, said he is building up to the big push.

It must be recalled, too, that Gov. Thomas Dewey in 1948 took off the wraps early in the campaign, slowed down at the end and lost the election.

Maybe Ike is smarter? United Nations warplanes continue to take the Spotlight in Korea. This week the Allied bombers ripped Pyongyang in the war's mightiest air blow. More than 400 planes from four nations took part.

In the meantime, Korea truce negotiators met, then quickly recessed as Red delegates launched a propaganda tirade. The UN has warned the Communists that they will walk out arbitrarily unless they get down to business.

For a change, the Big Four powers reached an agreement. This

By Gollies, There Actually Are Smokey Rooms At A Convention

The opinions contained in this and other articles in this column are solely those of the writers who sign them. They are not to be interpreted as necessarily reflecting the opinions of The Herald.—Editor's Note.

You are now in communication with what is known as a political observer. I have observed politics on what we might classify as a higher level. I watched the Republicans in Texas have themselves a convention.

Do you remember the first time you ever witnessed, as a balcony visitor, the Legislature, or the Congress, in session? You turned away in utter bewilderment, wondering how the devil anybody knew what was going on; and muttering, "No wonder our country is in such a jam."

Now a party convention can be just as bewildering. Particularly if you show up just at the start of the formal meeting without having known what's been going on in group maneuverings for the preceding two days. It's the same as watching the Legislature without realizing that a lot of work had already been done in committee rooms.

Yes, believe it or not, they had smoke-filled rooms at the GOP assembly in San Antonio. I know, because I got into 'em. Just walked in. Don't know if it was because I looked like I was on the right side, or just too dumb for anybody to care whether I was there or not.

One room in which the smoke was wafting was crowded by that group labeled as the Old Guard. The Old Guard was fighting a rear-guard action, this time. This was two nights before the convention, and it looked like somebody would have to snatch some votes out of thin air, if not out of the opponents' pockets. But the Old Guard spokesmen were full of fight. The old boys held forth for hours on the sterling qualities of true Republicanism in Texas, and what would happen if the sanctity of the party was besmirched. They talked of bolting, and of setting up their own convention. I left while they were still talking.

Up in another suite, here was another smoky session. I don't know what Guard label these people wore, but they were after a third party. They wanted to put Old Fade-Away MacArthur in as the presidential candidate. They had literature. They had banners. They talked a lot. They thought the decency of Republicanism in Texas was being dirtied up by Old Guard and New Guard alike. They didn't talk of bolting. They talked of a whole new system of locks. I left while they were still talking.

A few blocks away, in another hotel, was the headquarters of the New Guard. Their rooms were smoke-filled. They had a lot of people running around, filling out forms, lining up workers, arranging for distribution of buttons. They did more scurrying than they did talking, but come to find out next day this scurrying was lining up some votes.

The New Guard felt itself in charge, had a complacency that contrasted with the desperation in the other smoke-filled rooms. They had counted their votes, decided they had enough. They were just being nice to visitors, but pretty rough on all adversaries. There was a lot of talk with each delegation that filed in. I left while some of them were still talking.

So, by convention eve, a simple observer like yours truly had decided that the next day would bring forth a mighty ruckus, with bolts and counter bolts, harsh words and dead-cat tossing.

The New Guard, sure enough, had the votes, and calmly took control and pushed things on through with dispatch. The keynote didn't even have to keynote for more than four minutes. After some of the organizational proceedings droned on, the chief candidate of the Old Guard appears and announced his withdrawal. That did it. From then on, it was just a matter of winding up the business for the record and everybody getting out of there. There wasn't even much use of letting the various districts have their little caucuses, although this did give the delegates a chance to get up, stretch their legs, to get a coke and shake loose some of the weariness. It was nice for the districts to caucus; very pleasant, but not very effective.

Well, they finally called it a day. Nobody was clamoring for more speeches. What I decided was that by the time a delegate passed through all the smoke-filled rooms for two days before the principal gathering, he was so whipped down that he cared not a whit about what went on on the floor. Maybe this is the strategy. It works.

Merry-Go-Round—Drew Pearson

Pearson Guest Writer Unloads Some Observations On The Truth

(Note: During his vacation, Drew Pearson invited several public figures with whom he has taken issue to write guest columns, guaranteeing them complete freedom of expression. One of these was Governor Fuller Warren of Florida, whom Pearson has criticized for receiving large campaign contributions from members of the gambling fraternity.

Pearson informed Governor Warren that he would print anything he wanted to write in reply to Pearson's criticism, and herewith is offered Warren's guest column, in referring to Pearson as "Colonel," Governor Warren presumably has in mind that on his inaugural day he appointed Pearson an honorary colonel on his own staff.

By GOV. FULLER WARREN TALLAHASSEE, Fla.—Col. D. Pearson, the conductor of this coruscating column, has invited me to fill the space today. I am grateful for his generous invitation.

Little can be said for Col. Pearson's prowess as a pugilist, but much can be said for his capacity as a chronicler. He perhaps has had no peer in the field of English fiction since Chaucer, or maybe since the translator of Grimm's fairy tales. Like all gifted men, Col. Pearson has a few failings. Shortly after General William Tecumseh Sherman toured Georgia, a homeless citizen of Atlanta remarked that the general was a great man but a little careless with fire. Something similar could be said about Col. Pearson. Beyond cavil, he is a clever and cagey writer, but a little careless with facts. President Roosevelt went so far as to say he was a "chronic liar." I can't go quite that far. Col. Pearson sometimes tells the truth. Occasionally, the truth creeps into his widely read column. It may not be intentional, but it's there.

Col. Pearson usually mangles the fair form of truth when he turns his column into a vehicle of propaganda for an aspiring politician—as he frequently does. He also lacerates the beautiful body of truth when he prostitutes his column to character assassination—as he often does.

Once Col. Pearson has fathered a falsehood, he usually remains faithful to it. Many untrue statements in his column have been pointed out to Col. Pearson, but he rarely has retracted. He does, however, resort to the disarming device of voluntarily correcting trivial untruths, while sticking loyally by his big lies.

It would be impossible, in the limited space allowed me, to recount all the vast mass of misrepresentation Col. Pearson has perpetrated on his reading public. I use the qualifying "reading," because some people have been deceived so many times by Col. Pearson's fairy tales — masquerading as fact—that they have quit reading him.

Pearson has a keen and cunning knowledge of libel law. Libel laws of most states are such that a writer of Col. Pearson's uncanny skill can smear an innocent person's good reputation and yet escape conviction for defamation. Letty Grove could not cut the outside corner of the plate with the precision by which Pearson can ruin a reputation and yet not be prosecuted for libel. With a crafty artifice like Pearson loose in the land, our antiquated libel laws afford little, if any, protection to American citizens.

At the apparent behest of his pet candidate for President, on the 3rd day of June 1952, Col. Pearson sneared me in a column containing a curious congeries of almost incoherent lies. After making a series of untrue accusations against me, Baron Pearson advised the Florida legislature to incorporate his charges into articles of impeachment against me.

Pearson concealed from his readers the recorded fact that the Florida House of Representatives already had rejected and refuted his stale accusations by a vote of 76 to 6. One Florida newspaper, which carries his column, apologized for Pearson's nonsensical suggestion by pointing out that he had warmed over some sour and discredited dregs which already had been thrown out of the Florida legislature.

Space will not permit a detailed account of his journalistic gibberish, but I will cite two of the monstrosities in this Pearsonian piece of propretivation. The Potomac Prevaricator, in an obvious attempt to discredit me to benefit his pet presidential candidate, alleged that under Florida law I swore in an affidavit that contributions to my gubernatorial campaign in 1948 totaled $8,225,000. In 1948, Florida law did not require that I or any other candidate swear in an affidavit what the total campaign contributions were. In 1948 Florida law merely required a candidate to file a sworn statement showing the amount of campaign expenditures known to him.

Pearson further alleged that section 102.62 of the Florida statutes in 1948 limited the total contributions to a governor's campaign to $15,000. This is another Pearson whopper. Section 102.62 of the Florida statutes at that time did not place any limit whatsoever on the total contributions to a governor's campaign fund.

Although I have felt constrained to write this column as a sort of clinical contribution to the cause of truth, I want it known that I am not angry at Col. Pearson. He seems to have a certain benevolence of nature which makes it difficult for me to feel harshly toward him because of his frequent defections from fact and his recurring trappings upon truth. Furthermore, having actively participated in politics for more than a quarter century, I do not easily become indignant at an apostle of Ananias.

Moreover, despite his mounting mass of mendacity, Col. Pearson does some good. On rare and infrequent occasions truth creeps into his column. When it does, sometimes the public weal is served.

Even if I could I would not silence Pearson.

MR. AND MRS. MARVIN ELLIOTT AND NANCY

Newcomers Look Forward To Seeing Real Sand Storm

Two hayfever sufferers are glad to be in, of all places, West Texas. Mrs. Marvin P. Elliott and her daughter, Nancy, 9, won't have to worry about their sniffles, because whatever it is they're allergic to isn't prevalent out here.

Mr. and Mrs. Elliott and Nancy moved here a short time ago from Dallas, where they had lived most of their lives.

They plan to open a trailer sales company.

Nancy has become so engrossed in her western environment that a request for a pony has been put through to the higher command. However, her enthusiasm was somewhat dampened when the Elliotts told her that she must learn not only to ride but to saddle the horse as well.

Mrs. Elliott, who attended Mary Hardin-Baylor College in Belton for two years, was most active in Girl Scout work in Dallas.

But for a time at least her extra moments here will be spent assisting her husband as his bookkeeper.

Elliott was reared in Cisco so the West Texas atmosphere is not new to him. They're looking forward with curiosity to the "sandy season."

Open House Planned To Show Model Home

Open house will be held Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at a model home in Hillcrest addition furnished by Town & Country.

Recently purchased by Mr. and Mrs. Tom Watkins of the home furnishings firm, the home is located at 1513 Sunset, near Howard County Junior College. The home will be open from 2 to 6 p.m. Sunday and from 5 to 9 p.m. on Monday and Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Watkins have planned the decorating and furnishing and will move into the house after the showing, planned as a tie-in with Texas Home Fashion Time.

The contemporary furnishings are simple, modern, light in scale to suit the size and style of the house. Keeping in mind the minimum budget of one-fourth the cost of the home, recommended by leading homemaking authorities as an ideal amount in furnishing a new home, the new owners have selected furniture in a price range to fit this budget.

All the furniture with the exception of one bedroom is from Paul McCobb's "Planner Group" of solid birch in three finishes—natural, tobacco and black. Some of the pieces have black wrought iron rubber-tipped legs.

The second bedroom has been furnished in burnished pine with matchstick bamboo blinds and carpeting of rush squares. The living room and bedrooms are carpeted wall-to-wall, and wrought iron lamps are used throughout the home. The furnishings will be complete to draperies and accessories for the showing.

For something old and borrowed she carried a handkerchief belonging to her grandmother, Mrs. J. R. Parks. She wore a blue garter, a penny in her shoe and her dress was her something new.

Following their wedding trip, the couple will make their home in College Station.

Mrs. Shaffer is a graduate of Big Spring High School, where she was a member of the Sub Deb Club. She also attended North Texas State College, Denton, and has been employed by Tate, Bristol and Parks.

Her husband is also a graduate of Big Spring High School and will attend Texas A&M as a fifth year student in architectural construction.

Three Little Blind Girls Return To School In Style

Three little girls are going back to school in grand style this week, thanks to the generosity of a great many Big Spring folks.

They are Nelda, 12, Peggy, 10, and Jeanette, 8, all daughters of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Dalton, 905 West 7th, who will be in the 7th, 8th and 3rd grades, respectively, at Texas School for the Blind in Austin.

The three sisters have been blind since birth. They had arrangements for their school tuition, but the matter of sufficient wardrobe had been a problem. Their gracious sponsors, members of the Cheerio Circle for the Blind, started small solicitations for garments for the girls. The response grew and grew, until Nelda, Peggy and Jeanette are going to be outfitted in fine fashion for their new school year.

"They got all the clothes they needed," a Cheerio Club member reported. "The response to the word that they needed some help has been wonderful. Please express thanks to everyone who had a part in anyway in helping fix up these girls for the school year."

Seaman James L. Jenkins arrived Friday night to spend a 30-day leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Jenkins, James, who is serving aboard the aircraft carrier, USS Sitkoh Bay, has made 11 trips to Korea carrying men and supplies.

Patricia's Wardrobe Flattens Poppa's Purse

UP IN THE MORNING

... and heading for school. Just because Patricia is small doesn't mean that a small budget will outfit her for the school year. A recent press release says $60 is the minimum that will clothe a child entering the first grade. But Mr. and Mrs. Pat Stasey, Patricia's parents, think the amount will be much more before they're finished.

EVERY LITTLE GIRL WANTS TO LOOK PRETTY

... especially when it's her first day in school and Patricia gives her long brown hair some extra licks with the brush. Her cotton broadcloth slip costs almost as much as grownups', and her pink ruffled panties will be almost as much as those in larger sizes. But, gosh, a girl's gotta have clothes.

BETTER GET PREPARED

... of course Patricia hasn't any assignments from her teacher yet, but it doesn't hurt a thing to be prepared. Her red calico dress with the extra full skirt is just the thing to wear during a reading class. Mrs. Stasey finds that pink-sized dresses range from around $4.98 up and her daughter will have to have one a day.

This Is In Trinidad

The glamorous Rita Hayworth has returned to the screen amid much fanfare to turn out a new mystery piece with sultry romantic interludes. It's called "Affair in Trinidad," and Glenn Ford, who was with Rita in "Gilda," is again her leading man. The picture is at the Ritz Theatre today and Monday.

Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Sun., Aug. 31, 1952

Drama In Frisco

Joe McCrea and Yvonne De Carlo are the principals in an adventure story of the lustier days of the West, "The San Francisco Story." Here they are in one of the action sequences of the picture which is at the Jet Drive-in tonight and Monday night.

Rough Stuff In Kansas

Wild Bill Elliott goes a-see-kin' vengeance in the new Kansas Territory, and there he encounters some pretty rough play. He's victor over his adversaries in the end, though. Bill shows his crashing right in this scene from the film, at the State Theatre today and Monday.

A Romantic Pair

These people in love would be John Garfield and Shelley Winters, co-starring in an adventure love story which opens the week at the Terrace Drive-in, showing tonight and Monday night. The story has mystery, suspense action, along with the romance.

STARRED AT RITZ TODAY

Rita Hayworth In New Glamor Role

The gal you've read about on the news pages—Rita Hayworth, no less—has made a movie since breaking up with Aly, and it's here for showing at the Ritz theatre today and Monday. "Affair in Trinidad" is the title, and it develops something of the same sort of excitement and torrid romance that was found in Rita's latest success, "Gilda." And, Glenn Ford, who was with her in the earlier picture, again is her leading man. Set on the tropical island of Trinidad, the film carries along an absorbing romantic drama which gives Miss Hayworth opportunity to appear in some pretty uninhibited dancing, and to do some torchy singing. She's a night club entertainer who does what she loves and loves what she does. Murder and international intrigue enter her life when police link the death of her artist-husband to the conspiracy they suspect is being hatched in Trinidad. Into the girl's life comes Ford as the brother of the murder victim who is suspicious of the girl, too. He learns, at long last, that Rita is playing up to the villain in order to help the police. There's thus some brooding violence as well as some sultry love making. Miss Hayworth is the lady who brings considerable glamor before the cameras again. Alexander Scourby is the principal conspirator; Valerie Bettis and Torin Thatcher are other featured players. Vincent Sherman directed.

Theatres Open Collection For Texas Polio Center

Your theatres this week offer you an opportunity to help the cause of polio treatment in Texas. Today marks the beginning of a special week-long effort on the part of Texas theatres (with the local showhouses joining in) to solicit audience contributions for the Gonzales Warm Springs Foundation.

It's a special project, just for the Warm Springs institution, which offers therapy for every race, color and creed, and whose facilities have been jam-packed because of the terrible polio toll being taken in Texas this year.

Movie men of the state call attention to the fact that Texas is hardest hit of the states in the polio wave, and that Texas citizens must respond to help the major treatment center of their own state. This is the third year that Texas theatres have sponsored this enterprise. The appeal is built around a special film which stars glamorous Joan Crawford, and a little Texas girl who has had treatment at Gonzales, Beverly Mills of Smiley, Miss Crawford, a native Texan herself, makes a dramatic appeal for assistance. Local residents may contribute through the Big Spring theatres, or they may send checks directly to the Texas Theatres Crippled Children's Fund, 1209 National City Building, Dallas.

John Wayne Is Starred In New Action Drama

The king of the boxoffice, husky John Wayne, goes into more action than ever before in "Big Jim McClain," an action drama at the Ritz for three days beginning Thursday.

Nancy Olson provides the romance and James Arness also stars in this rugged outdoor drama, a modern motion picture filmed in Hawaii and featuring Dan Lie, head of Honolulu's police department. As a trouble-shooting special agent assigned to the investigation of a world-wide terror ring headquartered in Hawaii, Wayne has a twofold role. He learns from informants the names of the top terrorist leaders, and sets out to prove their guilt. He has to dip deep into his bag of sleuthing tricks to smash his adversaries amidst crashing action. The picture is notable for its fine Hawaiian backgrounds.

Joan Caulfield, David Niven In Gay Romance

Comedy romance with the light touch for summer fare is offered in "The Lady Says No," playing at the State Theatre Tuesday and Wednesday.

Comely Joan Caulfield and David Niven are co-starring. She has the role of an authoress who has written a book sharply criticizing the male of the species. Niven is a magazine photographer assigned to get a picture story on what the bitter authoress is like. You can take it from there, as for the conflict between the two.

Lenore Lonergan has a major supporting role, and others in the cast include James Robertson Justice and Frances Bavier. Miss Caulfield comes forth with an eye-catching wardrobe designed by Orry-Kelly.

Programs Planned At Vet Hospital

Lubbock, Odessa, Midland and Big Spring groups will help provide the entertainment for local veterans' hospital patients this week.

First on the schedule is the Disabled American Veterans Chapter of Lubbock which will present a variety show at 2 p.m. today.

The Odessa American Legion Post will take over Tuesday for a stage show at 7 p.m. The Legion Auxiliary from Midland will be on hand at 7 p.m. Thursday to sponsor a bingo party.

Friday at 7 the local Eagles Club will present a variety program.

Movies are sandwiched into the week's entertainment calendar. "Across the Wide Missouri" is to be shown at 2 and 7 p.m. Monday, "Double Dynamite" at 2 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday, and short features and newsreels at 7 p.m. Wednesday.

The Week's Playbill

Judy Canova's Comedy Antics On Lyric Screen

Judy Canova, the hillbilly girl with the bounce, comes back for a starring role in a comedy piece called "Honeychile." The picture is at the Lyric Theatre today and Monday.

It's all about a big mixup in some song writing. Judy is a cow-girl who wrote a ditty, only to have it assigned by the music publisher by mistake to another writer. When she wants the song withdrawn, there's trouble to pay. There's lawsuits, and some ebullizers on the side, with a great deal of Canova whoop-te-do.

Eddie Foy Jr. is co-starred, while Alan Hale Jr., Walter Catlett, Claire Carleton, Roy Barcroft, Fuzzy Knight and Gus Schilling are others in the cast. Judy offers four top tunes: "Tutti Frutti," "Honeychile," "Rag Mop," and "More Than I Care To Remember."

Guardsmen Will Not Meet On Labor Day

Big Spring's National Guardsmen will observe Labor Day as a holiday, as far as their regular Monday night drill is concerned. There'll be no drill for members of the local unit this week, Capt. T. A. Harris, commanding officer, has announced. Guardsmen will make up the training period with an extra drill this fall, probably on a Sunday afternoon.

The period from July 20-26 has been designated as National Farm Safety Week. Every rural family should, during the week, check or recheck the entire farm for accident hazards and remove all those found.

Use Storage Units To Fill Vacant Areas Along Walls

By ELIZABETH HILLIER
 Why waste wall space, when there's little of it in the room? And why limit storage space, when more drawers and shelves tuck up the extras and keep the room neat? S-t-r-e-t-c-h the furniture, assign left over square feet to duty - the trick will also step up the good looks of the room. Newest storage furniture can almost be bought by the foot. Even a new sideboard needn't stand haughtily and alone as sideboards used to, regardless of the area of the wall. It can take a matching extra unit, or two of them or three, to stretch put-away space smoothly and handsomely as wide as the wall. Show-off shelves make higher-up space count and add finishing touches to the decoration of the complete wall, and as new as the idea is, the furniture style can suit either a contemporary or a traditional room. Here perry banding outlines door panels while drawer fronts and shelves are plain (Sketched at Chicago's American Furniture Mart.)

REPORT TO PARENTS

Strict Regulations Needed In Adoption Of Children

By DR. MARTHA M. ELIOT
 Chief, Children's Bureau
 What is a good adoption program? A number of citizens in California began to ask this question when they heard stories of what had happened to children in their own state. Some children had been placed in undesirable homes. Some mothers who had first agreed to have their children adopted had later tried to have them returned. Couples who wanted to adopt a child were unable to get one. There were complaints also that institutions in the state were simply bulging with children available for adoption but who were not being placed with adoptive parents. In an effort to get at the facts on existing adoption practices, and to see how those practices could be improved, a Citizens Committee on Adoption of Children in California has been at work now for nearly three years. The state committee, working with eleven local county adoption committees, has been trying to get clear cut answers on what is involved in an adoption: Who is the child in need of adoption services? Where is he and how can these services be made available to him? Are the child, his natural parents and his adoptive parents getting the necessary protection and security in adoption proceedings? The Citizens Committee has not yet completed its work but it is getting some very definite clues on where more adoption services are needed, and some answers to criticisms of present practice. For instance, a study of children in institutions or foster homes has indicated that a very small number of such children are now available for adoption. They might be adopted if there were more adequate child welfare services available to help them, the Citizens Committee found. These are children who are older, or of minority or mixed racial background or children with physical or emotional handicaps. The study has made citizens aware that such children do need child welfare services to fit them into homes in which they and the adoptive parents can make good adjustments. The Citizens Committee also is encouraging community action to give more help to mothers, both married and unmarried, who may need financial, hospital, medical, counseling and maternity home services. One of the findings of the committee was that at the time its study was begun, only 15 per cent of children placed for adoption in California were going through agencies licensed to place such children. So local committees have been taking a look at these independent adoptions, to see whether enough protections are offered to the people involved and how these protections can be strengthened. One of the positive results of the work of the Citizens Committee has been to bring greater public understanding of some of the factors which go into good adoption practice. Communities need to know what constitutes sound adoption and good child care services in related fields. More studies and research into adoption practices are required to find out how successful current practice is in terms of babies and children themselves and their long-time development. This public understanding can go a long way to lessen the chances that individuals may suffer through the activities of those who want to profit through a "black market" in babies. Independent placement of babies for adoption, even when they are made by well-meaning doctors or lawyers, have not so far proved to have the safeguards that placement through licensed agencies do insure.

TARZAN

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

SOON THE APE-MAN CAUTIONED HIS COMPANIONS, FOR THE SCENT OF THE LION FILLED HIS NOSTRILS. THEN, QUICKLY, HE TWIRLED TWO STICKS TOGETHER, PRODUCING A WISP OF SMOKE!

JUST AS A LOUD BLEATING PIERCED THE SILENCE-- NUMA HAD STRUCK THE BAIT! INSTANTLY TARZAN FIRED A BUNDLE OF GRASS. "HURRY!" HE YELLED. "THE BARRELS--"

THE NATIVES LEAPED TO HIS BIDDING, DUMPING THE BARRELS-- AND SOON THE RIVER'S SURFACE WAS COATED WITH GALLONS OF OIL!

THE APE-MAN SHOUTED A FINAL WARNING, THEN HEAVED HIS TORCH-- AND, IN A MOMENT, THE BLACK LIQUID BURST INTO FLAME!

THE STREAM'S FAST CURRENT SWEEPED THE FLOATING, BURNING OIL TOWARD THE ISLE. THE LION SENSED DANGER, BUT TOO LATE! THE RIVER OF FIRE SWIRLED TOWARD HER!

AND SO THE DAY ARRIVES WHEN CASEY AND CHESS FACE THE MINISTER TO EXCHANGE VOWS! EVERYTHING GOES AS EXPECTED...

BUT THE MINISTER CONTINUES UNPAUNTED, AND AT LAST RAISES HIS HAND TO PRONOUNCE THE WORDS--

...AND WHAT CASEY TURNS TO TAKE HIS BELT IN HIS HANDS...

...AND STOPS! THE SMILE OF GLADNESS DRAINS FROM HIS FACE... HE STIFFENS!
