Familiar Scouting activities will be planned by Troops in this area for the 1972 - 73 program year, but new program themes will reflect the improved Scouting program to be launched in September.

The traditional hiking, camping, pioneering, other outdoor activities, patrol-cooking, and first aid are included, according to Vernon Honea, Council Commissioner of Comanche Trail Council, Boy Scouts of America. However, a new program feature is team sports, and another suggestion is communications which has nothing to do with the old skills of signaling by Morse code and semaphore.

As part of the Scouts' decision making process, which is emphasized in the improved Scouting program, Scouts in the troop make their suggestions, and the troop leaders' council - made up of Scouts who are elected officers - determine the final program. Troops often develop their own program themes, Honea explains, or select from the suggested themes which include science fair, Scout field meet, historic trails, find your way, team sports, Americanism, skating, swim meet, backpacking, conversation, communications, fire, patrol cooking, building skills, animals, and jamboree.

Next summer many Scouts will attend the national jamboree with their troops either at Moraine State Park, Pa., or Farragut State Park, Idaho, Honea said.

Other major events in the Comanche Trail Council which local troops will attend include swim meet, Scout - O - Rama, Camporee, and summer camp at the council's Camp Billy Gibbons.

Progress Being Made At FFA Chapter Farm

Progress is being made on the agriculture farm west of the Elementary school building.

Don Griffin, advisor of the local FFA Chapter and several of the students have been working on the farm since school was dismissed in May. The boys are now engaged in pouring cement on the isles of the barn and in each of the pens.

The project of repairing the farm buildings will take approximately five years. When the project is complete it is estimated the FFA boys can take care of some 20 animals. They also plan to build new fences and have already installed a water system on the farm.

Plans call for a storage building to be built near the ag barn and later all mesquite trees on the land will be cleared. In order for the ag boys to complete their project they will need assistance from their fathers, a spokesman of the local chapter said.

"Protective Equipment - Your Defense Against Injury" is the theme of National Farm Safety Week, July 25 - 31. Agriculture is the nation's third most dangerous occupation. In 1971 there were an estimated 2,300 work-connected accidental deaths and 190,000 disabling injuries. As the 1972 theme indicates special emphasis is being directed to the use of protective equipment such as safety glasses or goggles, hard hat and bump caps, ear muffs and plugs for lengthy exposure to excessive noise, filter and cartridge respirators for work in heavy dust and chemicals, protective clothing and safety shoes with metal toe caps and puncture resistant soles. Many accidents can be prevented by eliminating hazards and using protective equipment at work. For example, accidents involving the feet and toes account for about one out of every 10 disabling work injuries. Safety shoes could help reduce farm accidents if more persons would wear them. Farmers and ranchers should become accustomed to protecting themselves from head to toe. Actually, the agricultural worker may need more types of protective equipment than the average construction worker.

Memories Of Home

Curly Maynard brought us this piece from the Houston Post:
Last weekend I went back to my old home town to attend a funeral, which I bet is also the main reason you go back to your old home town. isn't that right?

Anyhow, before starting the return trip I drove around and took a look at all the houses my family rented when we were living in that little town.

The first one was the orange house on Valley Street. It had a big room across the back. A boarder lived there. We came from way out in the country to that house and it was just under the hill from the high school, so I thought of it as a city-type home. But you could walk out the back door and head south and keep walking, and within a few seconds you'd be stomping across a mesquite and cat-claw pasture. And if you walked all day in that direction the most civilized thing you'd hit would be a peanut patch or an old noggin-headed whitefaced bull.

Somebody has rebuilt that orange house and it looks real nice. Got a mulberry tree in the front yard that wasn't there when we left, and it must be 25 feet tall.

The second place was over on West Main. It was only a few blocks from the courthouse, but there was a hill covered with scrub timber just behind it. I've killed rabbits on that hill, within sight of the house.

We had an old Jersey cow when we lived there and a couple of milk goats just crazy as bulbs. It was customary in the summer for people to sleep in the back yard, and one of my chores was to hang around close and keep the goats off the beds. That sounds incredible now but it's true.

That old house doesn't look like it's had a coat of paint since we left it about 40 years ago. It needed painting then.

The next place was a little closer to town on Commerce Street. An old four-unit stucco apartment house. We moved there because my mother made the rent by feeding three full meals a day, seven days a week, to the woman who owned the building. Fed her daughter too. And her son could eat a battleship and never belch.

One of the things I didn't like about the place, my old dog was always getting run over on Commerce Street. I wish I'd counted how many times. He even got so he didn't mind it. Only dog I ever saw that could limp on all four feet at once.

The apartment's still there looking mighty seedy.
After the apartment, things somehow improved temporarily. We moved up on Oak Street, on the town side of the high school. Nice white house. We got our first electric icebox when we lived there, and I had a bedroom to myself, the first one, and I was 15.

Here's what I remember best about the white house: In about October of that year, I was an hour late to school one morning and they made me go to the principal's office. He wanted to know why I was late when I didn't live more than a block from the front door of the school. I told him the truth: "Our milk cow had a calf last night." He nodded, and signed my slip.

Now that's the sort of stuff that was going on in the years when all of us, even that principal, considered ourselves to be city folks. The white house is still there. Somebody has planted walnut trees in the yard.

Only trouble with the white house, you had to pay the rent in cash. So we moved to a big barny two-story place and took in a bunch of roomers and boarders, back down on Daugherty Street. That building is gone. Torn down.

Three new houses take its place. Persimmon trees in the front yard are gone. Elms 15 years old grow in their spots.
Next we moved a block and a half away onto Mulberry. My old dog died there. That animal was enough to turn Methodist and Baptists into Presbyterians. Hasn't it got to be predestination that lets a dog get run over so much on Commerce Street but die of old age on Mulberry?

After Mulberry Street I left home. Came back twice. The first summer I drove a delivery truck for the tailor shop and lived in the old hotel next to the jail.

The other time I stayed with the folks a couple of months when they had the brown house on Plummer Street, there near the creamery. Somebody has bought that old place, and fixed it up inside and out, and put quiet carpet on the floors and hung expensive drapes, and made a funeral home out of it.

"Section 6b. Notwithstanding the provisions of Section 6, Article VII, Constitution of the State of Texas, any county, acting through the commissioners court, may reduce the county permanent school fund of that county and may distribute the amount of the reduction to the independent and common school districts of the county on a per scholastic basis to be used solely for the purpose of reducing bonded indebtedness of those districts or for making permanent improvements. Section 1. That Section 2, Article VIII, Constitution of the State of Texas, be amended to read as follows:
"Section 2. (a) All occupation taxes shall be equal and uniform upon the same class of subjects within the limits of the authority levying the tax; but the legislature may, by general laws, exempt from taxation public property used for public purposes; actual places of religious worship; also any property owned by a church or by a strictly religious society for the exclusive use as a dwelling place for the ministry of such church or religious society, and which yields no revenue whatever to such church or religious society provided that such exemption shall not extend to more property than is reasonably necessary for a dwelling place and in no event more than one acre of land; places of burial not held for private or corporate profit; all buildings used exclusively and owned by persons or associations of persons for school purposes and the necessary furniture of all schools and property used exclusively and reasonably necessary in conducting any association engaged in promoting the religious, educational and physical development of boys, girls, young men or young women operating under a State or National organization of like character; also the endowment funds of such institutions of learning and religion not used with a view to profit; and when the same are invested in bonds or mortgages, or in land or other property which has been and shall hereafter be bought in by such institutions under foreclosure sales made to satisfy or protect such bonds or mortgages, that such exemption of such land and property shall continue only for two years after the purchase of the same at such sale by such institutions and no longer; and institutions of purely public charity; and all laws exempting property from taxation other than the property mentioned in this Section shall be null and void."
(b) The Legislature may, by general law, exempt property owned by a disabled veteran or by the surviving spouse and surviving minor children of a disabled veteran. A disabled veteran is a veteran of the

A deceased disabled veteran's surviving spouse and children may be granted an exemption which in the aggregate is equal to the exemption to which the decedent was entitled at the time he died."
Sec. 2. The foregoing constitutional amendment shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of this state at an election to be held on the first Monday in November, 1972, at which election the ballots shall be printed to provide for voting for or against the proposition: "The constitutional amendment allowing certain tax exemptions to disabled veterans, their surviving spouses and surviving minor children, and surviving spouses and surviving minor children of members of the armed forces who lose their life while on active duty."

Section 1. That Article XVII, Constitution of the State of Texas, be amended by adding a Section 2 to read as follows:
"Section 2. (a) When the legislature convenes in regular session in January, 1973, it shall provide by concurrent resolution for the establishment of a constitutional revision commission. The legislature shall appropriate money to specify the date of the election, the form of the ballots, and the method of publicizing the proposals to be voted on. To be adopted, each proposal must receive the favorable vote of the majority of those voting on the proposal. The conduct of the election, the canvassing of the votes, and the reporting of the returns shall be as provided for elections under Section 1 of this article."
(b) The commission shall study the need for constitutional change and shall report its recommendations to the members of the legislature not later than November 1, 1973.
(c) The members of the 63rd Legislature shall be convened as a constitutional convention at noon on the second Tuesday in January, 1974. (e) The convention, by resolution adopted on the vote of at least two-thirds of its members, may submit for a vote of the qualified electors of this state a new constitution which may contain alternative articles or sections, or may submit revisions of the existing constitution which may contain alternative articles or sections. Each resolution shall specify the date of the election, the form of the ballots, and the method of publicizing the proposals to be voted on.  - 1 apple
 - 1 lb. seedless raisins
 - 3 lbs sugar
 - 1 cup vinegar
 - 1 cup grape juice or other fruit juice
 - 1 tsp. cinnamon
 - 1 tsp. cloves
 - 1 tsp. mace
- Grind pears, orange, lemon and apple. Mix with all other ingredients. Boil for two hours. Pack in hot, sterilized jars and seal.

What better way to learn about your child than with play dough? Play dough acts as a channel of exploring, experimenting, creating, and expressing deep feelings for children two to six years of age. Play dough develops large and small muscles as well as eye-hand coordination. As your child pounds and squeezes the dough, he drains off his angry feelings.

To make your own play dough...combine 1/2 cup flour, 1/2 cup salt, 3 tsp. alum and enough water to hold together. Mix as for dough and bread to the consistency of clay.

Store in a lightweight plastic container. Wrap it in a wet towel and then snugly, fasten the air tight cover.

Play dough is easy to make, inexpensive and fun to play with.

Some people treat you like one of the family - but most have better manners than that.

The younger generation is pretty confusing. Half of them sing the virtues of putting it all together, while the other half is busy taking it apart.

Questions and Answers

Q. Last summer I operated an ice cream stand and earned almost $250. Do I have to pay social security contributions on these earnings?

A. No. Your net self-employment income must be at least $400 before it is covered under social security. If your net earnings from self-employment were over $400, you would be required to pay the social security contributions by April 15 of the next year. You pay the contributions to the Internal Revenue Service when you file your income tax returns for the year.

Q. When I'm 65 next month, I plan to retire and apply for monthly social security payments. However, next year I'm going to visit friends in Norway for a year. Can my checks be sent to me in Norway?

A. Yes. Social security checks can be sent to most foreign countries, including Norway. But be sure to notify the Social Security Administration of your address in Norway before leaving for your visit.
