BAITING A WATER HOLE WITH SOURED MAIZE FOR CARP, BUFFALO AND CATFISH

The J.M. Cooper Method

1. Get 2 large tubs. Put out and keep in full sunlight in the back yard.
2. Pour 20 to 25 pounds of maize (milo) into each tub.
3. Put one yeast cake or one package of dried yeast in each tub.
4. Fill with water, several inches above grain. The grain will swell and take up a lot of water. You may have to add more water in 5 or 6 hours.
5. At the end of 72 hours with the temperature in the 80's or 90's or above it is ready to take up. The length of time depends upon several factors such as the complaint of the wife, friends and neighbors about the smell especially if the wind is right. To an old carp fisherman though it is a nice mellow smell and not offensive at all.
6. Put the soured grain, without measuring, into 8 different tow or gunny sacks.
7. Use one of the tubs or several buckets to haul the sacks in the back (turtle back) of the car. Never put the sacks directly onto the floor of the car. If you do you will wish later on you hadn't. The smell has a lot of staying power.
8. Take down to the creek, waterhole, lake or river or where ever you want to bait. Put several rocks the size of your two fists into each sack. Tie the top of the sacks. Throw out into the water as far as possible. The rocks are to keep the fish from rooting the sack of grain far away from its original position.
9. Begin to fish with dough or stink bait 24 hours after immersion of the grain.
10. Be sure to save a couple of pints of the water off of the grain for use in making the dough bait.

BASIC DOUGH BAIT

- 1 1/2 cup of flour
 - 1/2 cup cornmeal (white or yellow)
 - 1/2 cup sugar
- Enough water to make a thin paste
- Sift in enough cotton seed meal to make a stiff dough.
- Roll and knead (with loving care) for several minutes.
- Wrap in aluminum foil and leave in refrigerator over night (preferably with wife's permission)

Methodist Father's Day Speaker

The Father's Day speaker at the First United Methodist Church in Eastland will be Rev. Bert Afflect, McMurry College Campus Minister, Abilene.

Being associated with youth, Rev. Afflect knows the mind of youth. Being a father, he also knows something of the "Generation Gap" and the lack of communication between parent and child.

Members of the church and all who do not attend church elsewhere are invited to hear Rev. Bert Afflect Sunday morning, June 18, at 11:00 a.m.," states the pastor Rev. Cecil Ellis.

The S.O.S. group will meet next Friday at 1:30 in the First Methodist Church. We had a real good crowd last meeting and hope to have more this time.

DOG GONE: DOG FOUND - Lobo, a 100 pound Alaskan Malamute Huskey, had a visit in Eastland Tuesday and is shown here with Ronnie Maston, who with his brothers Terry and Jerry helped locate the dog. Lobo's owners, Mr. and Mrs. Milton J. Buck and their three daughters had a tearful leave - taking in Eastland after they stopped at the Dairy Queen for ice cream, and their pet wondered off. Mrs. Donna Brown of the 3-D Bride Shop assisted in the search, and agreed to keep and return the dog to the family if and when it was found. The Bucks were enroute to their home in Shelton, Wash. and the dog was found about three hours after they left town. Mrs. Brown Wednesday morning was waiting to hear from the family, which had to be on their way home. (Lobo is doing pretty good here: Mrs. Brown treated him to three pounds of hamburger Tuesday

Appointed County Commissioner

Eastland County Judge Scott Bailey has announced the appointment of L.T. Owen, Rising Star, Texas, to the office of County Commissioner Precinct 3. This appointment to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the late L.J. Collins. In making the announcement, Judge Bailey said, "Mr. Owens is the Democratic nominee for the office, and it is customary to offer the appointment to a vacancy to the nominee in as much as the people have expressed a majority vote for their choice." Judge Bailey also said, "It is customary for a newly appointed official, who is filling out the term of a deceased official, to allow the current employees the opportunity of continuing employment, provided their work is satisfactory." In this connection Judge Bailey also said that since the vacancy occurred at this particular time of the year, many of the Precinct 3 employees have not had an opportunity to take their vacation time and personnel records will have to be checked to determine their eligibility for vacation. Judge Bailey commented on Mr. Owen's appointment, "The voters of Precinct 3 and the Rising Star area have expressed their confidence in Mr. Owen's ability to discharge the duties of County Commissioner, and it is my feeling that this vote of confidence justifies his appointment to this very important county office."

Invitations are extended and the welcome mat is out for Eastlanders to attend a party at Ringling Lake Saturday.

will meet at the lake north of town starting about 8 or 9 and spend the day cleaning and clearing, he said.

Others are invited to join in the spruce-up project.

The following Saturday, the club members will converge on Eastland's City Park Hill for a clean-up and pat's project as a temporary measure to get the park in as good a shape as possible before the major renovation program, which is now on the planning boards.

Rollins said that the playground equipment will be tuned up and brightened to make the park as attractive as possible this summer.

In other activities, the busy Eastland Jaycees are even now

The Informed Consumer

... Planning a vacation? Up, up and away - make sure it's you and not your money! Many travelers have fallen victim to phony travel promotions.

The most common scheme is promoted through extensive advertising or direct solicitation of groups, such as teachers or government employees, and especially students. The offer may include round trip fare, accommodations, and additional services at bargain rates. The fraudulent promoter requires a deposit or even the total price in advance. He accepts only cash and rarely gives you a receipt. Once he has collected from a sufficient number of victims, he'll disappear without a trace. And you're stuck - no vacation and no money!

Be careful when taking charter flights! While many are true savings for group tours, some turn out to be nothing but gyms, one travel agent booked flights resulting in the stranding of 1,100 passengers and a loss of nearly $500,000! Check with several travel agencies before making final arrangements.

Vacations offered in connection with property selling are also popular schemes. An all expense paid weekend in Florida is hard to pass up. The promoters assure there's no obligation to buy. They just want you to "take a look" at some newly developed land, which they'll sell at extremely low prices. Be careful! Your tour guides are really expert high pressure salesmen and may talk you into buying property you never wanted. Another trick is gimmick advertising, which proves to be more misleading than actually fraudulent. Even legitimate agencies carry such pamphlets and brochures. For instance, you may see this headline: "$169 to Greece!" It sounds pretty good, but as you read on, you discover this price carries many stipulations: it includes only one-way fare, the flight leaves from Chicago, the offer is good only if you're 26 or younger, etc. If by any chance you're able to follow these limitations, is it really worth it to you?

To avoid being stranded at the airport, dockside, or train station, deal only with reputable travel agencies or group tour promoters. Be certain your contract for passage states that you can get a refund of your money if the flight is cancelled for any reason. Make sure you understand exactly what the price covers - and what it doesn't.

You can relax and enjoy your vacation if you've taken a little extra care planning it!

'Tune' Tires First To Save Time For Summer Fun

Motorists' chances of truly enjoying the lyrical "lazy, hazy, crazy days of summer" are a lot better if they bone up on warm weather tire care.

These maintenance and safety tips to drivers preparing for summer vacation trips or, traditionally, just more time on the open road:

-- Make sure you have enough tread on your tires to last on long trips. If you're near the minimum safe tread depth of 1/16 inch in two or more grooves you may want to make replacements before you take off for isolated areas.

-- If you buy any new tires remember the law requires the seller to register them if they were made after May 22, 1971. In the unlikely event a recall is necessary because of possible safety defects the manufacturer will notify you directly.

-- Check for proper inflation when tires are "cold", before starting out. Follow the car manufacturer's recommendations in your owner's manual, or posted in the glove compartment or affixed to a door pillar. Add up to four pounds of air per tire for long periods of highway driving at high speeds, but never exceed the maximum pounds per square inch (example: 32 p.s.i. max.) marked on the sidewalls.

-- Use your own air pressure gauge if possible. Studies have shown station air towers are often inaccurate up to plus or minus four pounds per square inch.

-- Vacation trips often mean heavy loads. Make sure the weight is distributed as evenly as possible, including weight in any towed vehicle. Check your owner's manual or a tire dealer for the maximum load limits of your tires.

-- Driving on snow tires for any prolonged period in warm weather is poor economy. Abnormally high heat buildup in these thicker tires can wear down the tread faster than in regular tires. It may also cause sudden disablement.

-- When the rain comes, beware of skidding on "summer ice". Water mixes with oil and gas films already on the road to form a slick surface. The risk of losing control is five to ten times more likely on wet pavement.

-- Check front end alignment frequently, especially if you notice uneven tread wear or "pulling" to one side while driving. Back roads or a few solid bumps on any surface can throw alignment out, even if it was recently adjusted.

-- Check for debris such as stones and glass embedded in the tread and in the grooves before starting out.

-- Rotate your tires according to the recommendations in the owner's manual. If you notice abnormal tread wear or seem to be getting a bad ride, this is a good time to have your tires balanced.

-- Let experts check your tires for proper inflation, cuts or other damage. You'll like the folks at

Whitetops Go To Mineral Wells For Tournament

The city women's softball team has again been organized and is preparing for a good season. The Eastland Whitetops are presently engaged in concentrated practice, making ready for a tournament in Mineral Wells this weekend June 15-17. As yet, a tournament bracket has not been received but the Whitetops are not expected to play until early Friday night, June 16.

The roster of little ladies this season is as follows: Thelma Humphrey, Jo Ann Greenwood, Nina Wallace, Sis Wesley, Billie Mahaney, Terry Dudley, Cindy Harbin, Diane Mahoney, Sandy Tarno, Nancy Maynard, Deb Keith, Lita Baker, Shirley and Brenda Norton. Serving as manager and coach are Richard and Carol Senkel with Mac Mahaney assisting.

The team is really looking forward to a lively season and it is our hope that the people of this city will come to see some of the action. Check by anytime we usually have games on Tuesday or Thursday and remember the home tournament June 22-24 (last weekend of month).

B.J. Conservation District, and the Soil Conservation Service, will take place at the Lucky Ranch, 6 miles south of Albany on Highway 380. The Lucky Ranch is owned by H. R. Stasney.

"More than fifty people have traveled from across the State," Parker said, "to see this High Intensity-Low Frequency Grazing System which, along with a range improvement program, has nearly doubled the stocking rate in three years' time on this ranch." High Intensity-Low Frequency systems on the Lucky Ranch and others at Throckmorton, San Angelo, Water Valley, Sonora, and Barnhart that have been in for two or more years have drawn statewide attention because they are showing such benefits as lower operating costs, easier livestock management, rapid increase in grass and beef production, reduced internal parasite problems, and improved wildlife conditions. Because of the strong interest developing in HILF grazing systems this program has been planned to give an in-area look

About George McGovern

By Ben A. Butler.

Speculation during the current presidential primaries has come to hinge upon the question -- certainly surprising in retrospect and somewhat anguished in quarters: "Can George McGovern be stopped short of a nomination, at Miami?"

One can well appreciate the horror of the democratic party's professional cadres as this remarkable Don Quixote of the Black Hills comes charging down upon the windmills of their long dissension. But at the same time one may wonder: "Why, indeed, should he be stopped?"

Of immediate concern is a question of who would replace him. For the real woe of the democratic party now is lack of leadership that is well enough known or qualified in the agonies of significant decision making rate the presidential label. Such as might be have shown negligible appeal in pre-convention voting; and the advisers of Ted Kennedy, who alone of the remaining possibilities seems to have the essential charisma, are too well aware of the formidable entrenchment of Richard Nixon and of a personal stain that hopefully could fade to be much less damaging in 1976.

For another and even more important reason, in the historical view, the possibility now clearly exists that George McGovern could do for the democratic party in 1972 what Barry Goldwater did for the republican party in 1964. This he could not do if the "establishment" should succeed in brushing him aside and substituting a candidate of more moderate views.

The effect of such a defeat upon the mass of new young voters associated in the hard core of the McGovern phenomenon could be disastrous; it could create deep and even violent resentments. This new vote is real, for the most part it is having its first experience with the American political system. The democrats are going to need it; it could become the chastened elements of future party strength. Between the "Georges" exists a broad area for effective party rebuilding. But it is going to take the sobering mandate of a truly national voice to force a practical and enduring synthesis of party idealism and policy. It cannot well be done within the arbitrary management of a political convention where management and direction are largely professional.

The base upon which McGovern rests his hopes of a nomination is much more fragile than it appears; it has much more of ideology than common practical interest. It is going to test the persuasive skills of the South Dakota senator no end to keep it reasonable intact among the damaging realities of a national political campaign. It will be something to see.

Not that he isn't adroit. There was nothing quixotic in the strategy -- only in its content -- by which he escaped political the remoteness of South Dakota onto the broad opportunity of a national candidacy. He put together a Cinderella's coach of dissident hopes, minority aspirations, social "justice" and the unpopularity of an undeclared war, harnessed to the idealism and enthusiasms of youth and gilded with as remarkable a fantasy of welfare voter appeal as was ever daubed from that discredited but always appealing palette of "soak the rich".

But his truly remarkable achievement lies in the advantage he has shrewdly enough to take of the new party primary rules, largely of his own designing, the organization and direction of his forces, and the timing that enabled him to "git that fustest with the mostest" (to quote the illiterate genius of a Southern general) while the rest of the field practically sat on their hands.

While his success does credit to unsuspected ability, it also argues the inherent defects of the presidential primary system. I think it does much more; it points up a question of credibility. At the Governor's meeting in Houston, McGovern is quoted as admitting that the welfare reforms proposed by Cong. Wilbur Mills, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, were a better plan than his own. If that is true one is compelled to question why he does not adopt the Mills proposals instead of his own highly extravagant program. It might not get as many votes, but it would certainly encourage more respect for and confidence in an offer of leadership. If what I have said suggests little prospect that McGovern can defeat Richard Nixon if nominated, the suggestion is admitted. There is a lot of difference between a presidential primary and a national election. And there is the disturbing -- for McGovern -- fact that George Wallace, although running far behind the South Dakotan in delegates, yet outpolled him in popular voting. The worst thing that could happen to McGovern would be an end to the Vietnam war; I think he would have little else to stand on. But regardless of any probable outcome, I think the McGovern advance has earned him, his party and the nation the right to a national decision, not so much upon what he proposes, but as respects the ideology underlying it. The electorate spoke with unquestioned authority when Barry Goldwater confronted it with the challenge of the far right in 1964, and it moved the republican leadership to a broader and better defined base of national support.

We need now to determine just how far we are willing to veer to the opposite. It could be healthful for both party and nation.

Grazing Tour Set June 22, Albany

A grazing system which has resulted in increased grass production, more efficient harvest, and increased livestock production will be demonstrated on a range tour to be held near Albany on June 22, 1972, at 10:00 a.m., according to Lendon Parker, District Conservationist for the Soil Conservation Service at Albany. The tour, which will be sponsored by the Texas Section of the Society for Range Management, the Lower Clear Fork Soil and Water Con-

Mrs. Mae Harbin Is Hostess For Friendship Class

On Thursday June 8th at 9:30 a.m. the Friendship Sunday School Class at First Baptist Church met in the home of Mrs. Mae Harbin for a class meetin.

After a short social visit, the President Mrs. Mary Hood called class to order. Opening prayer was given by Mrs. Ruth Layton. With a request for the safe return of our beloved pastor and wife, Rev. and Mrs. Brewer from the convention and for the continued success of our Church Bible School Devotional was given by Mrs. Lorene Crawford, centered around a lovely poem a dear friend had given her a number of years before. It was enjoyed by all.

Refreshment of coffee, punch, cookies, and fig nut bread was served to the following: Mrs. L. Crawford, Mrs. M. Richardson, Mrs. T. Reed, Mrs. Ruth Layton, Mrs. D. Fambrough, Mrs. G. Beene, Mrs. R. Owens, Mrs. M. Hood, Mrs. Jeri Powell, L. Furr, and our music director, Wylie's Peebles mother, Mrs. Peebles from Rockdale who is visiting Wylie at his home in Cisco and the hostess, Mrs. Mae Harbin. The next meeting will be a continuation of July and August to be announced at a future date. Closing prayer was by our teacher Mrs. D. Fambrough. A good time was had by all.

From the MONAHANS NEWS:

Mrs. Guy Patterson of Eastland, came to Monahans for the graduation exercises of the Class of '72.

Nine years ago we were under Mrs. Patterson's instruction as third-grade students. We remember her as a teacher with kindness personified, yet firm in her demands.

She always tried to see to it that we did our lessons and paid attention in class to the best of our ability. She also expected good personal behavior, self control, honesty, teamwork, and respect for other students from each of us.

She was always loving and patient with us, and she made us feel that we were important and that each of us had a very special place to fill in life.

As a teacher, Mrs. Patterson ranks among the world's greatest for us: Although she was much older than us physically, her heart was as young as any teacher's could be, and she was forever coming up with new ideas to make us enjoy school.

We would begin every morning by saying the Lord's Prayer; then we would do exercises led by one of the students. We would keep up to date on what was happening by turning in current events and making special reports for extra credit.

Every day after lunch we were allowed a short rest break, during which time she would read to us from the many books she thought necessary to our education.

She taught us about many things which are not required in school; she taught us about God and patriotism for our great country.

We'd like her to know that we really appreciated her unprejudiced treatment of her students; we'd also like to thank Mrs. Patterson and her husband for coming to our graduation.

Lovingly,

Dear Editor:
Thought you might like to know this about Mrs. Guy Patterson. Thought it was such a nice compliment. As I spent my first 21 years in Eastland, I am still so proud of such accomplishments for anyone from my Home Town. Sincerely,

Rep. Joe Hann To Austin for Rules Meetings

State Rep. Joe Hanna left for Austin Thursday to attend a meeting of the Committee on House Rules and Procedure, and said he hoped to continue the program of reform started during the last special session.

Drastic changes in house rules were made during the brief but important session in Austin in March. Hanna said the committee of which he is a member will review all procedures of the house, and will consider changes in the ethics bill as well as rules changes needed to improve the house and state government in general. The special Session will begin June 14
