FARM PROGRAM IS OUTLINED TO CONGRESS

WASHINGTON Feb. 19.—The administration placed before congress today the broad outline of a long-range farm program intended to stabilize farm income, protect consumers and conserve the nation's land resources.

President Roosevelt has given the program his endorsement. It calls for a five-point legislative farm aid and control program providing:

- 1. A granary to store food in years of plenty for use in years of scarcity.
2. Crop insurance to protect farmers and consumers from "disastrous effects of crop failures."
3. Legislation to "improve the intolerable conditions" of 3,000,000 farm tenant families.
4. Protection against floods and droughts.
5. Amendment of the soil conservation act to expand federal powers of production control.

Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace said it is "doubtful" if the supreme court "as at present constituted" would hold all of the program constitutional.

SIT DOWNERS IN A BATTLE WITH POLICE

WAUKEGAN, Ill., Feb. 19 — Strenuous peace efforts were made today after 120 police had battled unsuccessfully for two hours to dislodge 100 sit-down strikers from the Pansteel Metal Corporation plant near Waukegan.

Two sheriff's deputies were injured seriously, one by explosion of a tear gas gun in his pocket, and the other by acid hurled from the besieged building.

One sit-down striker, ill, ran from the plant, but the others smashed windows to let out the dense clouds of tear gas and remained inside the $1,500,000 factory, which they have held since Wednesday.

U. S. Labor Conciliator Robert Pilkington arrived to seek a peaceful settlement, and Conciliator John O'Connor was en route from Chicago. Mayor John Dromeo of North Chicago, where the plant is located, said, "I hope the sheriff will delay attacking again until we can reach an agreement."

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 19 — A sit-down strike by about 60 workers at the Chevrolet and Fisher body plants here was ended today and employes returned to work.

Say Contract For Buying of Lumber Yard Violated

Breach of contract is alleged by Pete Cooles and Charles Sandler, operators of the Cisco Lumber and Supply company, who have in 88th district court sued Eastland County Lumber Company, which they claim they were to have purchased.

Prior to January 7 this year, the petition filed by the lumber men state, they had contemplated opening a lumber yard at Eastland. Charlie Bartlett of the Higginbotham Bartlett Lumber company at Eastland came to Cisco, Jan. 5, it is alleged, and suggested they cooperate with him in purchasing the yard and land for the Picking Lumber company of Eastland and the building and stock of the Eastland county lumber.

The petitioners also claim E. L. Kurth, president of the Eastland County Lumber company, on Jan. 6 made a verbal agreement with them to sell the land, building and stock of his organization. The agreement was confirmed by mail Jan. 8, Sandler and Cooles claim, to buy the property for $3,500 and that Frank Crowell be associated with them.

The Cisco men claimed they were later advised that Kurth that their financial worth did not justify credit on the purchase although they had shown possession of about $36,000.

The court was asked to render judgment for the amount of loss sustained by the cancellation of a contract for purchase of lumber and material for a yard they contemplated opening in Eastland and specific performance of the contract with Eastland county lumber company, or in the alternative, $3,500 for the failure of the defendant to comply with the contract they declare in effect.

Dizzy Doings Make One Fear for World

It is impossible to read the newspapers these days without having dreadful moments of fear that the world is fast going completely insane.

Two little news items hit the eye on the same day, recently. They came from opposite sides of the Atlantic and they had nothing whatever in common—except that they mirrored a human society which, in at least some of its aspects, seems to need nothing so much as a quick trip to the boyhatch.

The first one came from New York, as do so many such items. It told about five boys who left their homes to move in on a night club, remaining there in defiance of their parents and of the night club manager, basking gleefully in the attentions which chorus girls and befuddled patrons showered on them, and remarking, "Boy! What a party!"

These lads, it seems, came from good families. Their parents were the sort whom the newspapers describe as "socially prominent," whatever that mean.

And the spectacle which the youngsters made of themselves—sending home for pajamas, sleeping in the club, hiding in the chorines' dressing rooms when irate parents came to hale them forth, luxuriating in the limelight which the tabloids promptly threw upon them, reeling into the bar to sing their college songs (most amazing of all, they actually had gone to college)—all this, to repeat, was enough to make one fall on his knees and pray for another deluge.

Now the other item was much less sensational. It came from London, and it read thus:

"Hundreds of women will wear gas masks at an 'at home' to be given on Friday by Mrs. G. Farquharson, mayor of Wimbledon, a London suburb, to interest women in air defense. The government is co-operating by lending respirators and a lecturer. Tea and cake will be served before the masks are donned."

When you stop to think, you can see that these two stories do have something in common in spite of their apparent dissimilarity. Neither one could conceivably have arisen in a world that was not more or less punch-drunk and out of its head.

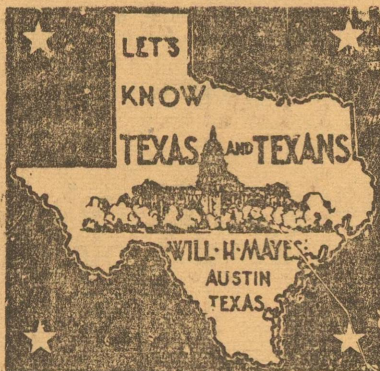

And if the five youthful New York nightclubbers reflect youth at its dizziest and most inane, it can only be said that the gasmasked London tea party reflects an adult world that is simply groveling stupidly in the face of approaching catastrophe.

In a world whose grown-ups can offer to the menace of coming war nothing better than the defense of 300 women lifting their gas masks to sip tea and listen to a lecturer from the chemical warfare department, it is hard to blame wet-nosed youngsters over much for their own follies.

The world really isn't quite so insane as these two stories seem to indicate. But there are moments when the day's news is mortal hard to read.

Revelation of the U. S. child-marriage trend doesn't disturb Canada, as the quin who got that marriage proposal hasn't given it another thought.

Q. How early was cotton grown in Texas?

A. Cabeza de Vaca reported that he saw cotton growing wild in Texas in 1528. Some cotton was grown about the old San Antonio missions as early as 1775, but not until the Austin colonists came to Texas was there any effort at commercial production. When Moses Austin presented his application for a colonization land

Former Cowboy Quarterback Now Makeup Expert

ABILENE—From Cowboy quarterback to Hollywood, make-up man is the record of Layne Britton, who when interviewed in a Los Angeles paper last week recalled his student life in Abilene.

Britton is now one of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's veteran beauty experts but followed Greeley's advice to go west in the hope of silver screen stardom. The off-stage fascination was more appealing than acting, and eight years after barking signals for Hardin-Simmons, he is making up M.-C.-M.'s stars.

Britton, a graduate of Stephenville high school, received all-American honorable mention for his work in the Cowboy backfield in the late 20's.

"It's not such a far cry from pigskin to picture make-up. There are times when the director calls me to lunch on the star's make-up that I have to make my way through hundreds of extras. That's when my experience in crashing the line comes in handy," Britton told his Los Angeles interviewer.

Ranger 4-H Club Boys Have Fine Demonstrations

The Ranger 4-H club boys have some fine demonstrations planned for the year of 1937.

H. O. Woods, Jr., has a Hereford calf which will weigh about 380 pounds. He is one of the new members and he has a nice demonstration for the year. He has a nice pen built for his calf and he said he was going to do his best to win some prizes for the year.

S. S. Faircloth also has a Hereford calf, and it weighs about 550 pounds. Faircloth and Woods have been talking about each other's calves and they certainly are proud of their demonstrations. The boys are feeding shorts, bran and hay to their calves.

Edward Giedon has a registered cow which he bought last summer with nine other boys from the county. Edward's cow gives about 1 1-2 gallons of milk, not counting what the calf gets.

Jo Don Meroney also has a registered calf which he bought from Mr. Montgomery. Jo Don won a prize at the county fair last fall and he is feeding the calf very heavy now so he may win another prize this spring at the "Spring Dairy Show."

The following boys have demonstrations but have not yet reported about them: Richard Cox, Harden Hadin, Edward Eastland, Jack Watson, Bill Hood, Lee Greer, Ross Hodges and Howard Hinman. Marlin Sneed has constructed a hotbed for his demonstration to

They are the best plants that a person can get around this part of the country. Marlin does not know what kind of pepper seed he will plant yet, but he will be putting them into the ground in a few days.

Mr. Ringold, the club sponsor, is proud of the way the boys are progressing since he came into the club. Mr. Ringold says that the Ranger club will be the best in the county this year.

The Ranger boys are doing better because they have a good early start, which will help them a lot.

All 4-H club members that wish to go to the Fat Stock Show on March 15, should report to the next meeting at the Chamber of Commerce on Friday, February 19. Every member is urged to be present, as Mr. Barnhart has a special talk that he would like to give at that time.

San Francisco Is Planning 2 Years Of Celebrations

By United Press

SAN FRANCISCO.—Starting Feb. 10, with Chinatown's celebration of the Chinese New Year, San Francisco will inaugurate a series of celebrations that will continue almost without cessation for the next three years.

The Chinese celebration is participated in not only by the 20,000 residents of San Francisco's Chinatown, and an additional 15,000 Chinese from other California cities, but by hundreds of thousands of San Franciscans and Californians in general. It is regarded as one of the most exotic festivals celebrated in the United States and attracts visitors from afar.

Immediately following the week's celebration of the Chinese New Year, comes a number of other Chinese celebrations that last throughout the year, the two most important of which are the annual Feast of the Lanterns and a Jade Festival.

Then on May 1 San Francisco will have a four-day celebration in honor of the opening of the new suspension bridge across the Golden Gate. The bridge is hailed as "the greatest water span on earth" and the celebration is to be made as much of a Pan-American affair as possible with invitations to high officials of Canada and Mexico to attend as well as all state governors.

Other festivals are planned for next year to bridge over the time until 1939, when San Francisco launches its Golden Gate International Exposition which will continue for the greater part of the year.

Army engineers have succeeded in creating a new island in the middle of San Francisco bay with the Golden Gate bridge just in front of it and the new San Francisco bay bridge behind it, which will be the site of the exposition. Later the island will be converted into a municipal airport.

Dallas Man Heads Safety Committee

AUSTIN.—C. J. Rutland of Dallas, as chairman of the Governor's Traffic Safety Committee, will direct the statewide war on traffic accidents which has been declared by Governor Alfred.

Mr. Rutland was elected by the committee at its meeting in Austin last week when one hundred members gathered from every section of Texas to organize and plan a state safety campaign which will end the reign of Sudden Death on Texas highways and streets.

The chairman is an outstanding authority on traffic safety, having served as regional director of the National Safety Council and as chairman of the Dallas Citizens' Traffic Safety Commission. He is a graduate of Texas A. & M. College and of Cornell University.

The safety program adopted by the Governor's committee will be built around the three "E's" of safety — engineering, education and enforcement—a tried and proven program of safety endorsed by the President's National Conference on Street and Highway Safety as well as by the National Safety Council. Supplementing the three "E's" of safety will be the legislative work of the committee which urges the adoption of a stricter driver's license law and other safety legislation now pending before the legislature.

The membership of the Governor's committee is composed of representatives from women's clubs, civic clubs, parent-teacher associations, churches, chambers of commerce, automobile clubs, boy and girl scout organizations, the press and radio. In addition, public spirited citizens and public officials charged with safety responsibilities comprise this non-partisan, non-political traffic safety committee.

In the words of Governor Alfred, "the committee will be the super safety salesmen of the state who will spread the gospel of safety throughout Texas in this relentless warfare on traffic accidents."

CONFIDENTIAL REPORT

CRIME FILE ON BOLITHO BLANE

LEARN HERE TODAY Investigating the murder of BOLITHO BLANE, British banker, aboard CARLTON ROCKSAVAGE'S yacht, Detective Officer KETTERING runs into a maze of conflicting clues.

seven years ago (1929), whereas he does not now deny that he met Blane in France in 1917.

Blane's letter shows that there was some strong tie up between the two. It now seems certain that this was in connection with the unsavory army scandal.

LADY WELTER: Strong motive, owing to the fact that it looks as though she would have been completely bankrupt if the Rock-savage companies had gone under and no longer in a position to finance the group of papers which are her principal life interest.

MR. HAYASHI: Strong motive. It now appears that he stood to lose a considerable sum of money if Blane and Rock-savage had ever got together.

MR. JOCELYN: Strong motive. Lady Welter's bankruptcy would have thrown him back into the precarious existence which he was leading between 1923 and 1931, with the additional burden of a wife to support.

HAVING re-examined all the parties, I proceeded to a new analysis of the situation and composed a fresh draft of possible motives.

(POSSIBLE MOTIVES No. 2.) 9-1-37.

MRS. JOCELYN: Nil, as far as is known at the moment but she is in collusion with her husband, supporting his statement that he was in his bath at 7:45, when we know that he was not, and she may or may not have been in her own cabin at that hour.

COUNT POSODINI ALIAS "SLICK" DANIELS: A motive, in that he admits that it was through Blane's agency that he was sent down for his first term in Sing Sing, and that Jocelyn brought him on board with the deliberate intention of giving him the opportunity of getting even with Blane.

It is even possible that Jocelyn may have paid him to do the job, or that they did the job between them. His alibi depends on his being able to prove that Mrs. Jocelyn was in his cabin from 7:45 till 8:10, and in this she denies.

MR. ROCKSAVAGE: Strong motive, and it is now proved, owing to his capability of changing in under four minutes, that he had ample time to commit the crime between 8:10 and 8:30.

THE BISHOP OF BUDE: Strong motive. In the Bishop's previous statement he said that he had only met Blane casually in an English country house once about ways travels with him, and in the presence of the doctor, Detective Officer Neame and myself, he made the following voluntary statement.

As a man who is responsible for many millions of other people's money, I have been subject to bouts of acute worry at times, when my affairs have not been going well. In consequence, a few years ago, I took to the habit of administering drugs to myself by injection; their purpose being not to allay nerves but to key me up for further efforts at times when I was suffering from severe strain.

Dr. Ackland has always prepared these injections for me and, on the night in question, I brought him down to my cabin with me for this purpose, as I anticipated having to enter into a strenuous conference with Blane that night after dinner. It was customary for me to rest for a quarter of an hour after the injection, in order that the drug might take effect. I did so on this occasion. Dr. Ackland remained with me until I had changed and went up to the lounge for dinner.

DETECTIVE OFFICER NEAME'S SHORTHAND NOTES OF DETECTIVE OFFICER KETTERING'S EXAMINATION OF DR. FRANK ACKLAND, Ph. S. D., F. C. S. B.

K. Doctor, you have just vouched for this statement of Mr. Rock-savage, that you went below with him at 8:10. You are quite certain that is correct?

A. Yes. K. But you weren't in the lounge with him?

A. No. I was sitting just outside, enjoying the evening air on deck. As Mr. Rock-savage passed the deck entrance of the lounge he saw me and beckoned. I knew at once what he wanted, so I got up without a word and followed him down.

K. You had to come into the lounge to follow him down the companion-way though.

A. Yes. A few steps, that's all, as the companion-way is within a couple of yards of the deck entrance.

K. No one in the lounge seems to have noticed you. Don't you think that strange?

A. Cane, the lounge steward, saw me. Ask him if you doubt my word, and Mr. Jocelyn, too. Mr. Rock-savage and I passed him in the passage-way below.

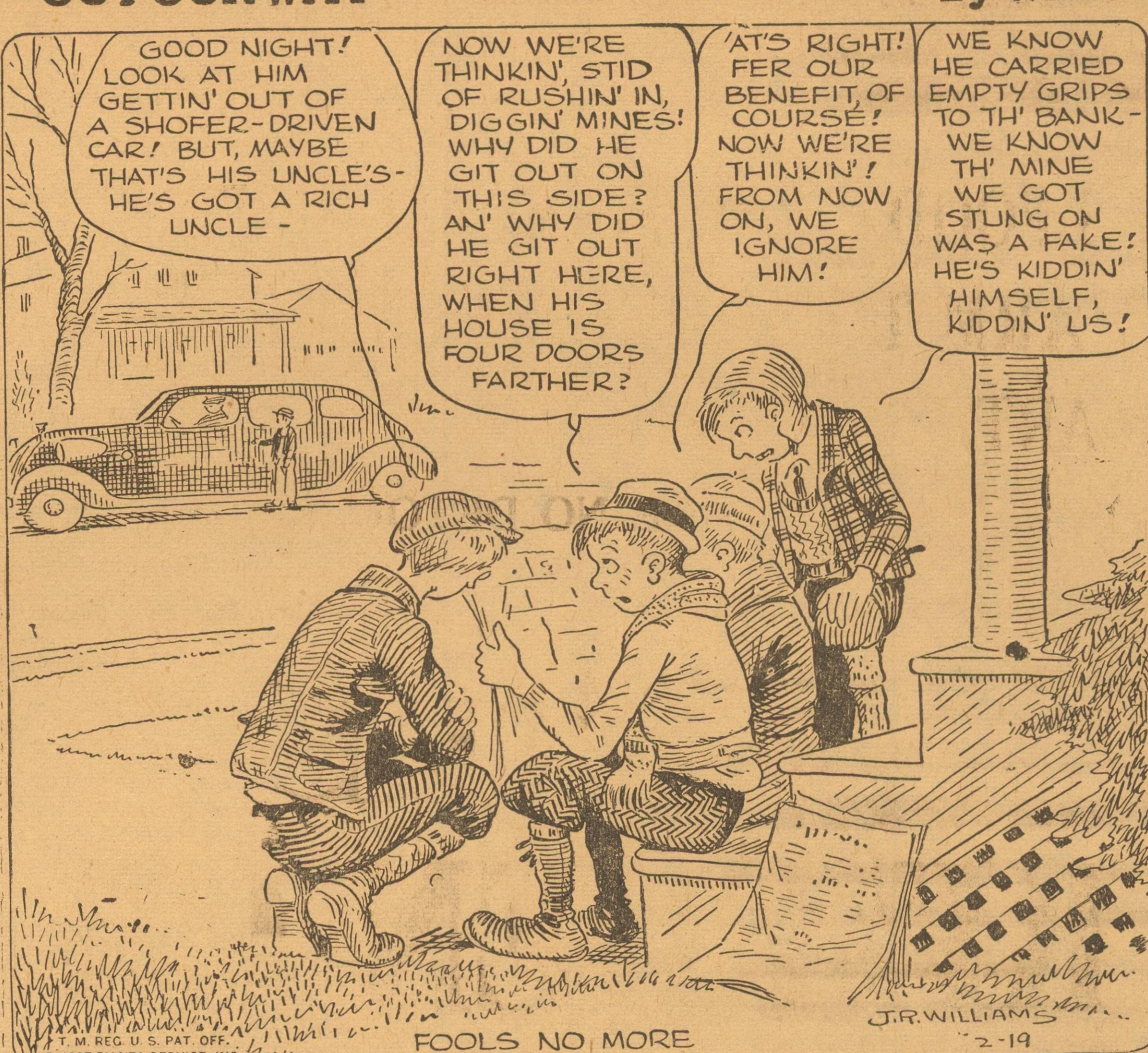

K. Thanks, doctor. If the lounge steward saw you I guess that will do.

Mountain Music Brings More Milk Dairy Hand Says

FORT WORTH.—If you're one of those who wonder what good are string bands, let H. L. Coggins, dairy foreman, tell you that the good old mountain music is bringing a full milk pail.

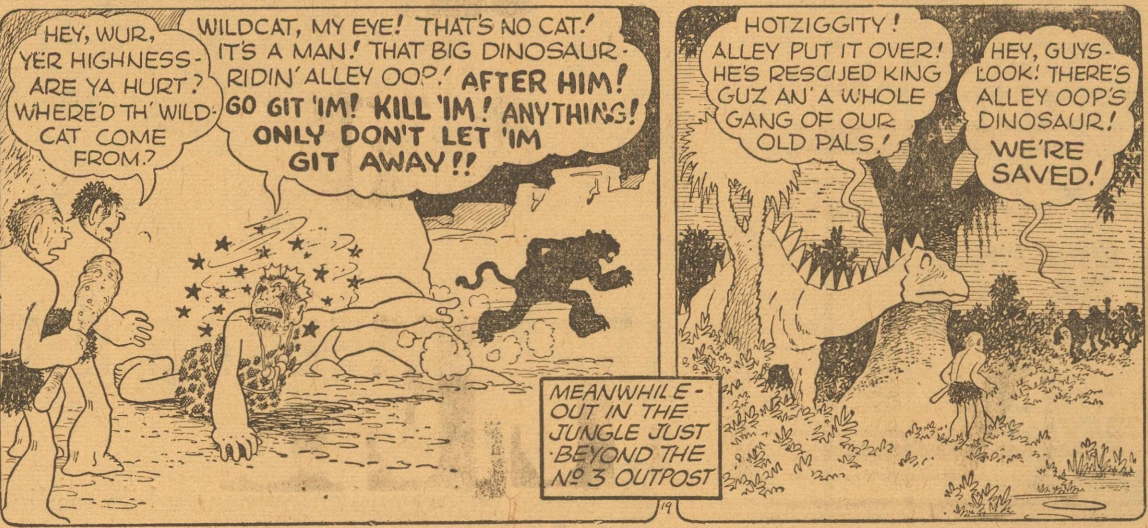

But that's only a start. The Nored producers have gotten so interested in the music that they don't eat as much; and the job of milking has become safer because irritable heifers no longer raise a hoof in anger.

That's my job, milking the kickers," confided Coggins. "I can tell you in all truth, that none of them have kicked once since we started having milking with the music a few weeks ago. The whole herd has become much easier to handle than ever before."

MYRA NORTH, Special Nurse -- By Thompson and Coll

ALLEY OOP -- By Hamlin

IN being placed in command of Iowa's gridiron forces, Ira In Tubbs gets his first big break in 20 years of coaching.

The most remarkable thing in connection with the little Kansan's switch from Miami (Fla.) University to Iowa City is that the Hawkeye board's frantic search for a successor to large Ossie Solem ended in the appointment of rather trying conditions.

ACCUSTOMED to a paucity of material, Tubbs long ago learned to fit his teams' play to the athletes at hand.

He had to install a new system into a Miami squad of only 30 men in 1913, yet he marshalled his forces to win the last four and most difficult games of the schedule.

Last year the Hurricanes enjoyed their greatest campaign and attracted national attention. They played a tough schedule with a squad never exceeding 28 men, winning six engagements, one from Georgetown, tying two, and losing two.

Tubbs, 49, is a graduate of William and Jewell College. He tutored high school clubs in Missouri for a couple of falls before moving to Superior.

He has won 80 per cent of his games throughout his long career, the greater part of it spent under rather trying conditions.

AT Central High of Superior, Tubbs nursed Ernie Nevers along from a gangling kid into the man whom Pop Warner described as the greatest football player of all time.

Others brought out by Tubbs in their preparatory days include John Hancock, Iowa end, now head coach and director of athletics at Colorado State Teachers; Scott McIntyre, Iowa guard of the early '20s; Putty Nelson, Wisconsin tackle; Pat Boland, Minnesota end; and Leonard Walsh, Minnesota end.

Tubbs' inventions in football equipment have made him independently wealthy.

He is the inventor of the laceless football and basketball. Those stripes of elastic which you see running up the flanks of football players and the elastic backs of football pants which hold them close to the players' thighs are Tubbs'. His patent football cleats have carried many a college hero over the goal line.

Iowa is supposed to be a tough place to coach, but I have an idea that the folk of the corn belt will like Ira Tubbs.

Those who like big names call him a "high school" coach, but, as someone recalls, so was Bob Zuppke when Illinois went to Oak Park High School, Chicago, for a coach in 1913.

THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON WITH RODNEY DUTCHER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER NEA Service Staff Correspondent WASHINGTON.—If Roosevelt wins what he calls "the fight of my life," to revamp the supreme court, he will win with the aid of the liberal members of Congress and with the aid of many other members who are not progressive but are Democrats and for one reason or another will decide to stand behind the president.

Madrid survivors are above the Spanish average in health, it is reported. It must be because of all that fresh air coming in from where the windows were.

"A Pennsylvanian sought a button for 10 years." If it was a collar button, he might have tried tramping about in the dark in his bare feet.
