Brucellosis Program Changes Clarified

Bailey County Extension Agent, Spencer Tanksley issued the following statements in clarification of the Brucellosis Program now in effect: "Previous news articles stated that Sales Barn testing would not qualify for indemnity payments on reactors; however, under the newest program now developed, sales barn testing as well as on the farm testing will both qualify for the indemnity program. Brucellosis reactors will go directly to slaughter after testing."

Tanksley further stated that he "hoped this information will be helpful to livestock producers, and, that should any other changes be made, producers will be notified and kept informed."

Greenbug Infestation Can Be Controlled

An infestation of greenbugs continues to beset High Plains grain sorghum crops. But intensive research, funded by the Texas Grain Sorghum Producers Board, reveals that certain chemicals used in low rates are relatively effective.

Entomologists with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at Lubbock feel the failure of known chemicals to provide control may lie in greenbug resistance.

Jack King, research director for TGSFB and the Grain Sorghum Producers Association, says research indicates Cygon, if available, or Parathion, gives excellent results. Either can be applied effectively at the low rate of a half pint per acre.

King points out, however, that Parathion has a tendency to cause an explosion in the grass mite population, making it less desirable to use than some other chemicals.

"Thimet granular is also giving good greenbug control," King said. "But since it provides good control in mites as well, and since it can be applied only once a year under Environmental Protection Agency standards, it should be reserved for use in areas where the mite problem exists, along with the greenbugs," he said.

"The use of low rates in encouraged since high rates build resistance much faster," King said. "If a half pint will do the job and allow the beneficials to remain, then why use a pint."

The area hardest hit by the greenbug infestation is north of Plainview to the Canadian River.

Cotton Crop Is Cut For Bailey

John Fuston of the Bailey County A.S.C.S. office in Muleshoe has reported that as of August 1 the standing cotton acreage for Bailey County is 45,467 acres. Fuston said "there is approximately three thousand more acres planted which will neither make cotton, nor be harvested."

"Last year's cotton acreage," Fuston reported, "was 86,831 acres in cultivation at this same time. This cuts our country yield by about fifty per cent."

Fuston further advised that "the request for livestock feeders and conservation practice assistance for Bailey county has been sent to Washington for approval. As soon as any news is received on this, it will be released."

City Council Meets August 6

The regular meeting of the City Council will convene at 8:30 a.m. on Tuesday, August 6.

Topics on schedule are the ratification of bid award on the fire department vehicle; and to open and award bids for the paving devise for fire department use.

Also to be discussed will be the passing of a resolution authorizing and instructing Mayor Alex Williams to publish notice of the city's intention to receive bids for relocation of waterworks systems lines and appurtenances; also, to employ a financial advisor.

Other items of the agenda will be the consideration of bid award on garbage containers to Ladd Engineering and to hear a report from City engineer on the water systems improvements.

Bill To Relieve Cattlemen's Plight

In an exclusive interview with Larry Meyers, Agricultural Assistant to Senator Lloyd Benson in his office in Washington, the Journal has received information that the Emergency Livestock Credit Act of 1974 was signed by President Nixon on Thursday, July 25.

Meyers quoted Senator Benson as saying that "Texas is the number one cattle feeding state in the Nation. The State of Texas feed and marketed 4,412,000 animals in 1973."

The Senator further stated, "In the last year our cattle feeders have seen feed costs more than double, capital and transportation costs increase and the prices they receive drop by more than twenty per cent."

Meyers stated that the "loans will be made through regular lending agencies at their own established rate of interest. The only involvement of the government will be to guarantee the loan up to eighty per cent of its value. Also, the loans will be made to bonafide producers only.

The public is invited to participate in the vigil, which will precede the crusade to be held here August 11 through 18.

For purpose of this section, the Secretary shall have the authority to require that the assistance be used for the purpose of the production of livestock.

Bobo Enjoyed USSR, But "Wouldn't Live There"

by Prisca Young

Pat Bobo of Muleshoe recently returned from a trip to Russia and the surrounding areas. He left June 25. Bobo traveled with a group of doctors in a party of 20 including his brother and sister.

Bobo said "I enjoyed the trip immensely and would recommend the trip to anyone. But I could never live in a country where the state owns everything, even the houses, and everyone works for the state. I don't know how anyone could."

He flew from Lubbock to Dallas which he said was "an experience" in the new and very large airport. From Dallas they flew to New York and then to Amsterdam, Holland after which they flew to Helsinki, Finland.

Youth Football Age Corrected

Bob Finney, Board of Trustees member of the youth football program has stated that "the beginning age of any participating boy will be age ten. He must be ten by September 1, 1974 instead of age eleven which was previously stated." Other regulations still stand.

All interested youths are reminded to report for physicals and registration on Sunday, August 18, at the Junior High School Gym.

Their next stop was Leningrad, Russia. Here they were met by a young lady who was to be their guide for the entire trip. Her name was Nadya and she had lived in Leningrad all her life. She showed them the Hermitage Museum with its many famous artists and the famous former Winter Palace of the Tsars in her hometown.

Moscow, the largest city in Russia, was next on the tour. Here they saw the Kremlin, St. Basil's Cathedral which is reputed to be the most beautiful in the world and has been turned into a museum. They also saw the famous Red Square.

Bobo said they went to see a circus also. Each town has a building that is built in a circle and in this building a circus is held. It is the traditional circus with lions, tigers, elephants, trapeze artists, etc. And on July 3 they attended a ballet.

From Moscow they traveled into Novosibirsk then on to Harinsk and Irkutsk.

At Ulan Bator, Mongolia they drank mares' milk. Bobo reported that the food was reasonably good and was served with a good deal of grace. At the table where they ate there was always a United States flag in the center. There was usually five to six courses containing a relish dish, hot or cold soup, meat and a dessert. They didn't get their drink until they were completely through with their meal. They usually had tomatoes, cucumbers, fish fixed all different ways, caviar both red and black, smoked salmon, chicken, cabbage, meatballs wrapped in flapjacks, pastry, ice cream and a lot of cheese.

Tskent was their next stop. In 1966 this city was completely destroyed by an earthquake and they have completely rebuilt it. Bobo said they raise alot

While Bobo was there their school was out and children were at camp. In camp they all dress alike. They wear short blue skirts and pants with white blouses and red scarves tied around their neck. Bobo said "they really go in big for red. They also go heavy on the sports and propaganda."

"Their customs are not a lot different from ours", Bobo said. They work five days a week and are off Sunday and Monday. They put in eight hours a day and bring in an income of 70 to 150 rubles per month.

They manufacture just about everything and therefore don't have to import a lot of things. Agriculture is also an important occupation and Bobo reported that they have a lot of fresh water. Bobo said, "It is a wonderful country but in my opinion, far behind us. But they are progressing very rapidly."

The main transportation are public such as buses, railroads, street cars and they have a "wonderful" subway Bobo reported. A lot of people walk but there are not many privately owned cars.

After touring Samarrand they returned to Moscow, Stockhome, and Bergand, Norway were the last stops before they flew into the United States, July 16.

Bobo noted that he sent his wife one or two post cards a day and she is still receiving a couple every day. She also wrote him but he never received her letters.

Fight Against Heroin Addiction Threatened

By Lloyd Benson

Some encouraging headway has been made in the fight against heroin addiction in the U.S. over the past several months, but the recent decision by Turkey to resume growing opium poppies may seriously endanger that effort.

The United States and Turkey have enjoyed excellent relations for a number of years.

In 1971, as a demonstration of good will, Turkey agreed to impose a ban on opium poppies because the problem of addiction to the heroin derived from the poppies was a matter of pressing concern to America. In turn, this country agreed to provide some $35 million to compensate Turkish farmers.

At that time, our government estimated that about 80% of the heroin on the streets of our cities originated in Turkey.

It is not necessary to recount the destruction and misery that heroin brings to the lives of those it touches. And, in addition to the heartbreak and ruined lives, addiction causes a significant percentage of the crime committed in the big cities of Texas and across our nation. In the 1960's, it also made distributing inroads into medium-size and smaller cities as well.

Illegal heroin trafficking is a big, profitable business. As is a big, profitable business. As of three years ago, the amount of opium required for a kilo of heroin cost only $220 in Turkey -- but by the time it reached the street of New York, it was worth $240,000, TURKISH BAN REDUCED U.S. PROBLEM

When the Turks agreed to enforce a ban on opium in 1971, the source of much of the heroin in this country dried up. As a result, many addicts turned to health and law enforcement officials for help in freeing themselves from the grip of the drug.

The number of addicts in this country dropped by 60%, from an estimated 600,000 to 250,000. In the Nation's Capital alone, the number of addicts fell from about 16,000 to 2,000 and there was a corresponding reduction in the crime rate.

But all this will change when the Turkish poppy fields go back into production and again ship their illicit cargo through underworld channels to this country.

Since 1971, opium has legally been growing in only four provinces of Turkey; and only for legitimate, pharmaceutical purposes. But now the Turks intend to allow more production than ever before. Full scale opium farming is to start up again this fall.

U.S. drug officials say cities in this country will feel the impact within 60 to 90 days.

The Turkish government has given assurances that opium will be grown for legal, pharmaceutical purposes and that illegal smuggling will be controlled. But the expected supply, once full production resumes, will far out-strip the demand by legitimate purchasers.

PRESIDENT AND CONGRESS TAKE ACTION

The President has demonstrated his concern over the situation by recalling the American Ambassador from Turkey, and Congress has taken action to put teeth into the American effort to persuade Turkey to reverse its decision.

The Senate has voted to cut off foreign aid to any country which permits poppies to be raised and allows opium from them to be sold on the illegal drug market.

Down through the years, Turkey has received more than $3 billion in economic and military aid from the United States, and this year that country stands to receive an additional $232 million.

Brucellosis...

brucellosis is outlined in the following quote:

"The Texas Animal Health Commission and the U.S. Department of Agriculture have announced changes in the brucellosis program indemnity payments to be paid to cattle owners. The newest guidelines state: 'The owners of cattle which are destroyed because of brucellosis may be paid an indemnity for each animal not to exceed $40 per head for any eligible grade animal; or $80 per head for any eligible purebred animal.'

"Proof of slaughter is required. A post-mortem report or other satisfactory document will be accepted as proof of slaughter."

"Producers will be able to collect indemnity payments on brucellosis reactors that were bled on or after July 1.

I strongly support the Senate decision to eliminate foreign aid to Turkey and to any other country that profits from the illicit narcotics trade.

We should not hand out millions of dollars in assistance to nations that willingly supply an illegal drug market that costs our country dearly.

For 25 years the U.S. and Turkey have maintained a record of friendship and co-operation. And it is in the interests of both nations to continue their friendship -- but not at the expense of the health and welfare of the American people.

Hensley Says 'Dirty' Movies Bad Influence

CLOVIS, N.M. (UPI)— District Attorney Fred Hensley doesn't like what he thinks "dirty movies" are doing to young minds. He plans to put a stop to it, one way or another.

"It really isn't the movies so much as it is the fact the juveniles can go to them," Hensley said. "I'm very concerned about the juvenile situation in this district."

"I feel if they are allowed to go to such movies it is another way their thinking can be influenced the wrong way."

Hensley recently led a raid on a Clovis drive-in movie that was showing an R-rated movie the DA thought promoted sexual promiscuity and adultery.

He picked up 23 juveniles from the age of 12 to 17 under a state law as "children in need of supervision."

That section requires the parents to come get their children so officers can tell them what happened.

"These children should not have been out there," Hensley said. "They shouldn't have been let in. We found marijuana, alcohol and other things."

Doctor Shortage Critical In Texas

A significant part of our population does not have ready access to medical care simply because there is a shortage of doctors, dentists and optometrists. This is particularly true in rural areas.

In Texas, 24 counties have no doctor practicing within them, and eight of these are in the 13th Congressional District. Some 42 Texas counties have no dentist, of which 11 are within the 13th District. Many other areas are not adequately serviced; for example, while the national average is one dentist for every 2,100 persons, in Hall County the ratio is 1 to 6,600. Wheeler County one to 6,700, Knox County one to 6,800, Hardeman County one to 7,200 and Clay County one to 7,400.

New doctors prepared to begin practice tend to select locations where their work loads will be manageable, where there will be good medical support services, where they will be able to specialize and where they can expect to earn a good income. The prospect of being the only doctor in the county; where a general practice is required, often without full nursing assistance, and where long hours and low income can be expected, often tends to discourage doctors from locating in rural areas.

Yet, good medical care is important in rural areas just as it is in urban areas -- and even many urban areas do not have an adequate number of doctors, dentists and optometrists.

This week I am introducing legislation in the Congress which would encourage new doctors or doctors wishing to move their practices, to locate in the areas where doctors are in short supply. The bill would also apply to dentists and optometrists. I am strongly opposed to any concept of requiring a doctor to locate in a certain area, so my bill provides incentives for doctors to voluntarily choose to work in shortage areas.

The bill offers financial incentives in the form of income tax deductions to doctors, dentists and optometrists who locate practices in areas of "physician shortage" as designated by the Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare. Maximum allowable deductions are: $20,000 the first year, $15,000 the second, $10,000 the third, $7,500 the fourth and $5,000 the fifth. No deductions would be allowed after the initial five-year period of a newly located practice, and the doctor would be required to maintain his practice for at least two years to be eligible for the deductions. Many doctors, encountering heavy expenses for equipment purchases in their first year of practice, would not earn the full $20,000 tax free income allowable.

This is a significant incentive, however, and it should be effective. It should provide a doctor for many of the areas where doctors are simply not now available.

THE PRESIDENT should soon sign into law two major pieces of legislation which I have sponsored and which have been passed by both houses of Congress. These are the Animal Health Research Act, which provides additional assistance to veterinary medical schools and state agricultural experiments stations; and the Livestock Loan Guarantee Act, which will provide credit assistance to cattlemen and feeders who have lost all of their equity. As the originator of the livestock loan guarantee concept, I was disappointed that the Congress would not provide broader credit generating capacity but the act will benefit the industry and, in turn, consumers who desire a continuing supply of fresh meat.

THE CONGRESSIONAL RURAL CAUCUS, a group of some 20 Democrat Members of Congress, has invited me to join them as their first Republican member. I have worked informally with the leadership of the Caucus on a number of important matters of common interest and I am pleased to make this group bi-partisan. The Caucus has demonstrated its interest in rural development and other aspects of the agricultural sector. The 13th District is heavily dependent upon rural vitality and the economics of food and fiber production. Those of us in the Congress who represent rural constituencies must work together in behalf of common goals. ****

Market Report

COLLEGE STATION -- As long as the outdoor cooking season continues in full swing, forequarter cuts of both beef and pork remain the favorite choice for economy, one expert said.

She's Mrs. Gwendolyn Ciyatt, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"Good beef buys this week are on chuck roasts and steaks, round steaks and roasts and ground beef."

"Pork values can be found on shoulder roasts and steaks, picnic, hams, end-cut loin roasts and chops, and pork liver."

"Fryer chicken prices are beginning to climb slightly," the specialist noted.

Frozen turkeys -- including turkey parts and boneless birds -- are readily available in most retail stores.

"Egg prices are low when compared to other protein foods. Grade A Large and medium sizes continue to give the best quality and economy," Mrs. Ciyatt said.

Large supplies of cherries and nectarines are on the market now.

Other good quality and reasonably priced fruits are bananas, peaches, grapes, oranges, pineapples, cantaloupe, and watermelon.

"Potato prices are coming down with the increased supplies of new crop potatoes."

"Tomatoes should cost less as more growing areas come into production," the specialist reported.

Vegetables in good supply at economical prices include squash, cabbage, carrots, purple hull and blackeye peas, dry yellow onions, radishes and green onions.

CONSUMER WATCHWORDS: Santa Rosa plums are in good supply now and prices likely won't go any lower.

Look for ripe plums to have a dark red to purple color and be soft enough to yield to slight pressure.

Store ripe plums in the refrigerator but immature plums may be ripened at room temperature.

Grain Stocks Lower . . . Cotton Popping . . . Screwworms Multiply . . . Auction Sales Down.

TEXAS' STOCKS of corn, sorghum, oats and barley were four million bushels less than at the same time last year, down to 91 million bushels; and the stock of wheat on hand is estimated at 17.6 million bushels compared to 20.2 million bushels at the same time in 1973. Texas has just completed harvest of a wheat crop that was about a third less than in 1973, a loss caused by hot dry weather in North and West Texas. Sorghum stocks in the State were estimated at 60.2 million bushels and at 79 million bushels at the same time last year. Corn stocks were up from 10.1 million bushels on hand last year and 22.7 million bushels on hand this year. The oat carryover also is up, from 5.3 million bushels a year ago to 8.7 million bushels this year. Barley stocks were down from 338 thousand bushels a year ago to 135 thousand bushels this year. Commissioner John C. White has estimated that income this year from all agricultural sources will be $2 billion less than in 1973 because of drought effects.

HOT, DRY weather in the Rio Grande Valley has helped the cotton harvest where USDA reported 8,000 cotton samples were classed at Harlingen before July 19. Only one sample had been classed on the same date last year. USDA has announced that the 1974 loan rates for upland cotton is 25.26 cents a pound for middling one-inch cotton, the same as the preliminary loan rates. The national average loan rate for extra long staple cotton is 49.72 cents a pound.

THE SOUTHWEST Screwworm Eradication Program headquartered at Mission has announced that Texas had 628 screwworm cases in June, the third most cases for June since the program began. June, 1972 was the worst with 15,889 cases and June, 1962 was next with 8,300. There were only 145 cases reported in June, 1973. The Mission lab said that it dropped 920 million sterile flies over screwworm areas in the United States and Mexico. About 546 million of the flies were dropped over Texas and 107 million over Sonora and the remainder over other areas of Mexico. Bee County's 55 cases were the most for any county during June, and Kenedy County was second with 51. Kenedy had only 14 cases in May.

TEXAS' AUCTION markets sold 349,000 head of cattle and calves during June, which was 46 per cent fewer than a year ago and five per cent fewer than in May, 1974, according to the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service. Cattle prices continued down, which may account for the fewer sales, but drought conditions in many pastures may force more sales in August. Sheep sales were 151,000 head in June, one per cent below a year ago and five per cent above the previous month. Hog sales totaled 36,000 head during June, three per cent above a year ago and 10 per cent below the previous month. Texas shipped 225,184 head of cattle and calves out of the State and 53,378 head were shipped into the State from other states during June.

THERE WAS a parallel story for cattle and calves being fed for slaughter. Texas Crop and Livestock Service reported 1,777,000 head being fed for slaughter markets on July 1, a decline of 24 per cent from a year earlier and eight per cent below the number on June 1. "The July 1 estimate is the lowest since October 1, 1971 when it was 1,608,000," says TCLS. Among the 220 large feedlots in Texas (with capacity of 1,000 or more head), 180 reported they had 1,739,000 cattle on feed for slaughter, and the other 40 reported they were empty.

Mike Mansfield, Senate Ma- jority Leader: "Congress is on its way toward compiling an excel- lend record."

AUSTIN, Tex. — Legislative budget planners recom- mended nearly $480 million in pay raises and fringe be- nefits for 116,000 state em- ployees next year.

General revenue cost of the package (which includes a 23.8 per cent salary boost for lower-scale personnel and higher travel allowances) is about $285 million.

Legislative Budget Board gave its blessing to the cost- of - living catch-up proposals to help planning of the 1976-77 appropriations bill.

Assuming the entire plan is approved by the legisla- ture, more than 90 per cent of the anticipated general revenue surplus will be used on compensation and be- nefits of 116,000 state work- ers.

One budget executive con- ceded the action "placed a lit- tle strain" on Gov. Dolph Briscoe's pledge of no new taxes next year, although the comptroller's estimate of a $315 million surplus is viewed as conservative.

Further, existing revenues are expected to generate much more money next fiscal year than they do today.

Many budget requests are running ahead of present ap- propriations by staggering amounts.

Examples are the Depart- ment of Mental Health and Mental Retardation, the De- partment of Public Welfare, the Department of Correc- tions, the Health Depart- ment and Texas Youth Council.

LBB took a sobering look at some of the requests at its last meeting.

Not satisfied with salary raises delayed until next year, state employees said they still want a special legislative session to get in- flation relief now.

CITIES LOSE MONEY — A group of Texas cities got the sad news last week that they will not get federal grants they requested to build sewage treatment plants.

About 204 projects were tabled because of a $27 million federal fund deficit this fiscal year.

A total of $142.1 million in FY '75 money is available to Texas. But Texas Water Quality Board's "project list" includes $169.1 million worth of projects.

Projects are carried on the TWQB list in line with how important they are to water pollution control.

FOOD CRUNCH NEXT — A "food crunch" could make the energy crisis seem mild by comparison, according to Texas Agriculture Commissioner John C. White.

A sudden world demand for better quality food is driving grocery prices up again, White said, and causing Americans to compete with the world markets for their own products.

U.S. PRODUCERS can keep up with the demand if they have time to gear up, White stated. He predicted the United Nations World Food Conference in Rome next November can "make or break" U.S. agriculture. He warned against commitment to "specific deals . . . which would handicap our own ag- riculture marketing system."

FACILITY FATE UN- KNOWN — Future use of Gatesville State School is undecided, according to Texas Youth Council Chair- man W. Forrest Smith of Dallas.

Enrollment has dropped sharply since 18-year-olds and children in need of supervision were removed. Possible uses mentioned are as a welfare facility, De- partment of Corrections unit and continuation as a school for boys, Smith said.

COURTS SPEAK — The Texas Supreme Court held the Dallas Episcopal Diocese and bishop cannot be held re- sponsible for an ex-priest's alleged alienation of an Ir- ving housewife's affections.

In other opinions, the Court concluded:

- A Pasadena civil service commission order dismissing a police patrolman for insub- ordination should be dismis- sed.
- A case involving San Marcos city council's power to set rates for electrical power sold by Lower Colorado River Authority within the city should be heard.
- A moving and storage company that handed furni- ture and other belongings to the wrong person without a proper warehouse receipt must pay the owner for his loss.
- The state has no special right to refuse answers to questions in a suit filed by a prison inmate as the result of losing an eye due to a bas- ketball injury.
- Court of Criminal Ap- peals ordered new trials for two Del Rio men on mari- juana possession charges be- cause of an illegal search of their residence.

AG OPINIONS — Atty. General John Hill invali- dated an appropriations bill rider requiring state agen- cies to insure equal employ- ment opportunity for all through special plans for en- ding discrimination.

He said he favors such a program, but it must be es- tablished by separate law. The ruling does not affect federal legal requirements prohibiting discrimination in jobs.

In other recent opinions, Hill held:

- A teacher's eligibility for sick leave depends on ap- plicable rules and regula- tions and is not affected by concurrent eligibility for leave of absence. Maximum leave of absence for tempo- rary disability may not be set at less than 180 calendar days.

• Public bodies letting contracts for public works may include value of "fringe benefits" in calculating "pre- vailing wage rates" for their locale and type of work.

• Texas Department of Public Welfare can make rules and regulations to aid it in administration of the Family Code.

• The Open Records Act does not give an agency the right to withhold information from a legislator, but his right to access may be af- fected by other statutes.

CONCURRENT ELIGIBILITY for leave of absence. Maximum leave of absence for tempo- rary disability may not be set at less than 180 calendar days.

LOCAL VETERINARIANS and representatives of Texas Animal Health Commission conducted a mass vaccina- tion of all livestock in Falls County and seven surround- ing buffer counties.

DROUGHT RELIEF SOUTH — Texas Water Rights Commission ordered the City of San Angelo and San Angelo Water Supply Cor- poration to begin releasing water from Twin Buttes Res- ervoir to flow down the dry Concho River.

In a two-step effort to re- lieve drought conditions along the Concho and the Colorado between confluence of the Concho and San Saba rivers, the Commission also ordered all irrigators in that section to stop irrigating until further notice. The section borders Concho, Col- eman, McCulloch, Brown, Mills and San Saba counties.

Steps followed a hearing on complaints by domestic and livestock water users on the Concho and that portion of the Colorado.

Pioneer Reveals Net Income For Quarter

AMARILLO, TEXAS. Pioneer Natural Gas Company announced today that the consolidated net income for the second quarter amounted to $4,995,218 compared to $1,841,792 for the same period in 1973. For the first six months of 1974, the consolidated net income was $8,774,260 compared to $5,970,399 for 1973.

In making the earnings announcement, K.B. "Tex" Watson, Pioneer president, said, "Greater income from the company's subsidiaries are responsible for the increase in consolidated net income for the six-month period." He went on to say, "Even though sales of gas for irrigation returned to normal, income for the first six months from the company's gas transmission and distribution operation was less than in 1973, due principally to higher interest rates, delay in recovering increased gas costs and the warm weather early in the year."

Earnings per share for the six months amounted to $1.18 on the 7,453,028 average number of shares outstanding during the period. For the same period last year, earnings per share amounted to 80¢.

The total volume of gas sales for the second quarter of 1974 was an all time high in the history of the company.

Paramount's The Great Gatsby To Open Soon At Area Theatre

David Merrick's Production of "The Great Gatsby," from F. Scott Fitzgerald's classic novel about the Jazz Age, will open Aug. 7 at the XIT Drive In Theatre.

Robert Redford and Mia Farrow head the cast in the lavish re-creation of America in the 1920s and of those to whom wealth is all things. Redford is Jay Gatsby, for whom money means the opportunity to buy back a lost love. Mia Farrow is Daisy Buchanan, the woman who has obsessed him.

To bring to the screen Fitzgerald's definitive portrait of America in the 1920s, director Jack Clayton filmed in Newport, Rhode Island and London, England, assembling one of the largest production units in recent film memory.

Waterston, Bruce Dern, Lois Chiles, Karen Black and Scott Wilson. Producer David Merrick and assistant producer Hank Moonjean made certain that all visual effects of the film were totally authentic, evoking the 1920s era. The fabulous old cars, including Gatsby's yellow Rolls Royce, were loaned by Newport residents. A million dollars in jewels, kept under constant guard, were loaned by Cartier.

Costume designer Theoni V. Aldredge created the "Gatsby Look" for the film, a white, fragile quality to them. A total of 2,000 costumes were used in the film.

The sets were the domain of famed British designer John Box, known for his work on David Lean's films and winner of Oscars for his sets four of the five times he has been nominated.

The screenplay for "The Great Gatsby" was written by Francis Ford Coppola, who won Oscars for his screenplays of "Patton" and "The Godfather" (the latter which he also directed).

The name given to the God of the Brutals, Zardoz was fashioned by the Eternals as a means of exploiting them. It is in the shape of a huge head. For practical purposes, it is able to transport cargo—guns for the Exterminators, grain for the Eternals. It flies by gravitational force and, in flight, resembles a Mount Rushmore carving. To the superstitious Brutals, it is a most awesome sight.

School Entry Requirements For First Graders Stressed

The beginning of school is just around the corner. When the month of August rolls around, thousands of Texas mothers suddenly realize that only a few more weeks remain until school begins.

News of that impending event may surprise most of us, who wonder where the summer has gone; it will delight mothers who will welcome the chance to get the kids out from underfoot; and it will mean the end of summer freedom for thousands of Texas youngsters.

Nowadays going back to school is a major enterprise for those families with school age children. In usually means new shoes and school clothes, the acquisition of pencils and notebooks, or simply getting back into the old routine and habits.

There are certain other requirements that parents need to think about, and they need to think about them early enough to avoid the delays of last minute requests. Children entering the first grade must be able to show proof of age. That usually means a certified copy of the child's birth certificate must be obtained from the city registrar, county clerk, or the Texas Health Department in Austin.

As usual, many Texas families will wait until the last moment to think about securing a certified copy of their first-grader's birth certificate. That means a heavy last-minute demand on officials who keep those records, and a probable delay in receiving the document from registration officials.

Across the state of Texas some two and a half million children will be heading to the public schools this fall. Nearly a quarter million will be first graders, and their birth certificates will have to be searched out of the files of the Texas Health Department's Bureau of Vital Statistics or other agencies at the city or county level which may have copies on hand.

Anticipating the rush of birth certificate requests, health officials have put into effect a fast and efficient service operation at the Texas Health Department in Austin. Requests already are pouring in.

It takes a sizeable staff just to open the thousands of letters received daily, let alone search out a requested certificate, remove it from the thick volume, make a certified copy, mail it out, and then return the original certificate to its proper place in the files.

Years of experience have eliminated nearly every bottleneck. The operation is smooth and fast. Usually the copy is mailed within two or three days after the request is received.

One bottleneck still remaining, however, is the individual who makes the last-minute requests. Parents are urged by state health officials to take time now and write for a certified copy of the child's birth certificate, or contact either the city registrar where the child was born, or the city clerk in the county of birth.

If you prefer to write to health officials in Austin, address the request to the Texas State Department of Health, Bureau of Vital Statistics, 410 East Fifth Street, Austin, Texas 78701. Be sure to include the child's name, place of birth, date of birth, and the parents' name (including the mother's maiden name). The fee is $2.00.

And don't forget. When you're thinking about getting your child ready for the beginning of school, a new state law now requires compulsory immunization for all school children. The immunization program must be begun before the end of this year, so it's a good idea to see your physician or visit a public health clinic early to begin your child's immunization program.

I HAVE SEEN THE FUTURE AND IT DOESN'T WORK.

The Good From It

Whatever the outcome of the effort to oust President Nixon from the White House, the nation has learned a lesson and Congress has reaffirmed its power, to a degree, in the Watergate situation.

Shocked at abuses in the executive branch, lawmakers in both houses and of both parties have condemned them and moved to take steps to prevent such abuses in the future. While many differ on whether the President is involved enough to warrant removal from office (and others on whether his removal would cause more harm than good), practically all agree Watergate has awakened Congress and the nation to the need for reforms.

Many are now proposing a permanent investigator to watchdog the executive branch of government, and others feel the investigator should watchdog all three branches. The Judiciary particularly needs a watchdog, for, unlike members of Congress, federal judges enjoy life terms and are seldom subject to discipline, serious review of their conduct, etc.

One of the good things, then, which is likely to come out of the Watergate scandal is a closer watch on government authority and government officials. Every future President will have Watergate very much on his mind for decades and this will tend to dissuade excesses in the executive branch. This is, perhaps, the best that can be said of Watergate.

back down to earth. The highest interest rates since the Civil War are denying farmers and homebuilders and energy producers the money they need to overcome shortages of food, homes and energy.

*Research and development is an important key to increased productivity. This is particularly true in agriculture, where research has enabled the American farmer to increase production spectacularly, resulting in more income for farmers and cheaper food for housewives.

But, until Congress stepped in this year, the percentage of the Agriculture Department budget devoted to research had decreased steadily since 1955.

*We must find ways to encourage capital investment in manufacturing capacity. Over the past decade, the U.S. has reinvested less of its GMP than any other major industrialized nation. This has led to shortages of capacity in many of our basic industries -- steel, paper, petroleum refining, aluminum, chemicals, cement, and the like. They cannot produce enough to meet the demand. And, the prices of all these products have gone up because of this failure to invest enough to meet growing demand.

*The Federal Reserve Board should help bring interest rates economic policies. The Export-Import Bank, for example, grants low interest loans -- subsidized by American taxpayers -- to build factories overseas which compete with U.S. products manufactured for export by American workers.

*We should invest more in people through education programs, particularly vocational education. Cost-saving productivity, which enables us to produce more with less, is rising much more slowly in the U.S. than in Europe or Japan. I strongly support vocational education and am sponsoring a vocational rehabilitation act to assure a more skilled and efficient work force.

ACTION NEEDED

There are other fields in which we can and should move. But the important thing is that we move, explore these ideas and others.

We must not give way to despair. Inflation is not an incurable disease, and our nation's economy has great resiliency; the American people have great energy.

The remedy lies in policies that stimulate economic growth rather than stagnation and a shrinking economy. Leadership is the key. The people of this nation have never failed to respond to a challenge, but there must be leaders who will challenge them.

*We must also take a new look at some of our international

NEWS REPORT FROM WASHINGTON

To The Senate? Nixon Bows-Nixon's Chances-Fall Trial?

WASHINGTON, D. C. -- Chances have increased in recent weeks for the Senate to catch the Watergate ball from the House and try the President.

This is the aim of Democrats pushing impeachment, though some had expected the Supreme Court decision forcing the President to turn over additional tapes of private conversations to slow the Democratic timetable.

That was the expectation in some G.O.P. quarters because it was felt the odds favor Nixon in a Senate trial (the latest count gave the President over forty votes); additional evidence or damaging revelations in the new tapes might have influenced additional Senators.

But the timetable moves on, though the House Judiciary Committee slowed when members went on national television and seized the opportunity to make televised speeches, one way or the other.

House odds, which were about fifty-fifty a few weeks ago, now favor impeachment forces. (The latest head count as this column was in preparation indicated the pro-impeachment margin was some thirty to forty votes. (Both sides claim time is on their side, that the next day and weeks will change that count.)

President Nixon's speedy compliance with the unanimous court decision, reaffirming the court's power in effect and thus not unexpected, was the only course of action which could hold key Senate votes for the President.

It remains to be seen whether Democrats in the upper body, including at least half a dozen with an eye on the 1976 nomination, will want to oust the President in 1974. That would bring Vice President Ford to the White House for two years--and give him a major advantage in the 1976 presidential campaign. Democrats would then be running against an incumbent President.

There are Dixie Democrats who will not vote to throw the President out, even though they feel he has blundered and worse in the Watergate affair. They feel such action would not only help Ford in 1976 but accomplish little, and create serious divisions in the nation.

They think further punishment can add little to what has been accomplished. The number of Dixie Democratic votes for the President could be crucial.

WASHINGTON REPORT BY

Lloyd Bentsen,

United States Senator

RIISING INFALATION, SHRINKING OUTPUT

Today's economy offers the worst of two worlds: unprecedented inflation and shrinking economic output.

Inflation robs our pockets, making luxuries of necessities. Reduced output leads to shortages of basic goods and materials, ranging from steel to fertilizer, which push prices up.

Inflation is traditionally considered one of those "harmful side-effects" of a burgeoning, expanding economy. But it continues to shoot skyward today, at a rate of almost nine-percent, even though the economy has been shrinking, not growing, for the past year.

The Administration remains unresponsive. In this perilous time, our economic policy is being allowed to drift, leaderless. There is, to be sure, talk of a "no growth" policy using fiscal and monetary tools.

But, this approach is only half-right. Fiscal restraint is certainly called for. We must hold the line on government spending. And while Congress, as of last year, had appropriated $21 billion less than requested in the budgets of this Administration, there is more to be done to keep the lid on spending by the Federal government.

POSITIVE ECONOMIC POLICIES

The other aspects of the Administration's "no growth" policy, though, are wrong. When the economy shrinks and production slows, shortages occur, driving prices up. Instead of "no growth" policies, we need economic policies that will increase production in critical areas and ease shortages.

OUR USE OF LEISURE

None of us can make our best contribution to life unless we take care of our physical selves. The right kind of recreation renews the body, mind, and spirit.

There should be a proper balance and rhythm between work and rest. Our Lord meant for us to enjoy life and intended no man to punish his body with unrelieved work.

Of course our recreation should be of a kind that would actually re-create our spirits and bodies and make us better able to perform our work.

Part of our leisure time should be spent renewing our spirit by worshiping God in His Church. We invite you to attend services this week.

"But they that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings as eagles; they shall run and not be weary; and they shall walk and not faint." Isaiah 40:31.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

ENERGY INDEPENDENCE
We have already experienced some difficulties of over-dependence upon foreign energy sources. Yet, last winter's Arab oil embargo was not nearly as damaging as it might have been had it lasted longer or had we been more dependent. We should learn from that lesson and we should take steps quickly to promote domestic energy production sources which can be fully depended upon.

Earlier this year, a background paper on "Project Independence" was circulated which claimed that U.S. energy supply and demand could come into balance by 1980, if: 1) the annual rate of growth in domestic supply could be increased to 4.7% from the existing 3%; and, 2) the annual growth rate of demand could be reduced from the current 3.6% to a rate of 2%.

Those numbers are easier to calculate than they are to attain.

The Energy Economics Division of Chase Manhattan Bank has projected growth in energy use and population indicating that by 1985 (only a little more than a decade in the future) the U.S. will need 30.2 million barrels of oil every day. Currently, our consumption is about 18 million barrels a day. While we were only about 20% dependent upon foreign oil in 1970, Chase Manhattan says that by 1985 we may not be able to provide even half of our petroleum needs from domestic sources, including Alaska. The bank's experts note that while U.S. industry spent $68 billion seeking new domestic oil production in the 15-year period 1955-1970, the industry will need about $140 billion for domestic exploration in the 1970-1985 period to meet growing demand. Yet, these economists can realistically see the availability of only about $85 billion in domestic exploration capital during that period -- hence the growing dependency upon foreign sources. Chase Manhattan points out that if we are depending upon some 15 million barrels a day from foreign sources in 1985, those purchases will pose balance of payments deficit pressure upon our economy in the magnitude of $25 billion a year.

Clearly, it is vitally important that the U.S. strive to reach the highest possible level of energy self-sufficiency. The Federal Energy Administration's "Project Independence" program is now seeking to coordinate plans for insuring as much self-sufficiency as possible and I am hopeful that a determined effort can somehow reverse the trend foreseen by the Chase Manhattan economists. This will not be easy. It will take the co-operation of every American; the finest traditional spirit of American free enterprise, and the best wisdom of those in the private sector who are experienced and knowledgeable about energy production.

In an effort to gain expertise, the FEA has now scheduled a series of nationwide hearings during August, September and October to gather facts to help determine a successful policy leading to energy self-sufficiency. Much of America's energy production expertise is in Texas and not a little of it is in the 13th Congressional District. The FEA hearing nearest to this area are scheduled for Aug. 6-9 in Denver, Colo., and Sept. 16-20 in Houston, Texas. I encourage anyone who can contribute to these hearings to make arrangements to present testimony by writing Delbert Flowler, Regional Federal Energy Administrator, Room 1700, 212 N. St. Paul St., Dallas, Texas, 75201, AGRICULTURAL DISASTER aid is apparently going to be important this year for a number of farmers in the 13th District. Swisher County farmers recently received USDA approval for the Farmers Home Administration to take applications for 5% emergency loans due to drought and hail damage to crops. Certain other counties have applications for similar aid in various stages of consideration.

Farmers who feel they have suffered natural disaster should make application to their local FHA offices. Small disasters, covering fewer than 25 farmers, may be declared by the State FHA director upon the recommendation of an FHA supervisor. The local FHA supervisor must make his determination on the basis of inspection, so farmers should preserve the evidence of damage until after the survey is made. In cases involving more than 25 farmers, the local FHA supervisor makes his recommendation in turn to the Governor of the State. If the Governor agrees, he may request a disaster declaration from the U.S. Secretary of Agriculture who has the power to declare disasters involving larger numbers of farmers. Upon declaration, farmers will then be eligible to apply for the 5% FHA emergency loans.

ASCS runs a separate disaster program. Under this program, farmers suffering natural disaster contact their local ASCS office and an onsite inspection must be made by the County ASC Committee. The Committee and the farmer determine the disaster payment based on estimated resulting yield as it differs from the farmer's production history. Only eligible farmers with an ASCS history in feed grains, cotton or wheat programs may obtain this assistance. In the case of cotton, any cash crop may be planted and used for grazing, cover or cash without affecting the determined payment. In the case of wheat and feed grains, however, the value of a cash crop produced on farms obtaining disaster ASCS payments will result in a reduction of the disaster payments. Under this program, also, farmers must preserve the evidence of disaster until after the inspection by the County Committee.

John Tower United States Senate

The Senate took a 10-day mid-year break over the Fourth of July holiday period, and I took advantage of the time to visit in as many places in our state as possible. During the recess, I attended meetings and met with various groups of my fellow Texans in Houston, Dallas, Fort Worth, Arlington, Wichita Falls, Plainview, Midland, San Antonio, Tyler, and Galveston. I always use these frequent trips to Texas as a sounding board in a continuing effort to keep current with what most of us consider the major problems facing us today.

Without fail, everywhere I went over the State, the subject uppermost in the minds of the vast majority of Texans is the continuing inflationary pressures and what to do about it. In the Houston area, I visited with groups interested in small business and minority business expansion. In Midland I visited with the West Texas Geological Society, and we exchanged views on problems facing the oil industry, ranging from fears by some oilmen that the government wants to nationalize the industry to efforts on the part of some in the Congress to pass punitive legislation on oil and gas operations. At San Antonio, I spoke to the annual meeting of the Texas State Bar, and we discussed various issues facing the legal profession ranging from no-fault insurance of public legal services.

At Arlington I had a very good exchange with a large group of students and others attending the Taft Seminar at the University of Texas at Arlington. Here, as at other places across Texas, the chief concern is the current economic trauma which has seen us in a major energy crisis, the collapse of values on both the stock and bond markets, and the scarcity of mortgage money for building and construction. What many do not clearly understand is exactly how did we get in the present economic predicament. It seems appropriate that we take this opportunity to look at some of the causes of our problems, and discuss some possible solutions.

Basically, most of the economists point back to the mid-1960's as the birthplace of the current economic explosion when the national policy embraced both "guns and butter". The enormous growth of federal spending for both the Vietnam War and the programs of the so-called Great Society produces a run-away economic boom and an overpowering set of inflationary pressures. This spending was financed largely by deficits instead of increased taxes. Prices began to go up gradually and by the end of the 1960's the inflationary rate was running at roughly five percent annually.

Our economic situation had just begun to stabilize some at the start of the 1970's, but a recession in 1970 coupled with the Vietnam demobilization increased unemployment to six per cent. As a result, there was a widespread movement to get the economy moving again, and a strong expansion was in progress by the end of 1972. Then, the price indexes over the world soared in 1973 due to a series of incidents.

First of all, there was a decline in food production in 1972. Then every industrialized nation in the world experienced strong growth in 1973. World population continued to rise, and these factors combined with the fact that the United States was the only source of grain reserves for the world—put extreme pressures on our own economy. Because of major changes going on in currency parities during this period, the United States suddenly became the most favorable place for other nations to obtain raw materials which were becoming scarce. This put additional pressures on prices in our own country, and forced a devaluation of our dollar. Then, the Arab oil embargo late in 1973 quadrupled the price of crude oil, and we all know what happened to the world energy supply and demand this past winter.

What are we going to do about these soaring prices and shortening supplies of goods? There is no easy remedy. Although there are some suggestions which can definitely help to cure our economic ills, let me first point out a few which will not help.

At one point last year we felt wage and price controls were the answer. The disaster that followed proved to be wrong. General tax cuts were suggested, but this is not the answer since such a move would only feed inflation and drive prices even higher at a quicker pace and will not increase supplies of gasoline, food or basic raw materials.

The first measure I advocate is a check on federal spending. Deficit spending is the major cause of our problem and must be stopped.

Next, the Federal Reserve must continue to keep a firm control on our money supply. And finally, all of us must be diligent in our search for bargains. We must resist higher and higher prices, especially for non-essential goods.

I do not wish to give the impression that the solutions will come easy. But if all of us insist on a balanced federal budget, continued control of our nation's money supply, and increased thrift in our own habits, then we can and we will cure our inflationary problems.
