A Modern Miracle . . .

Scranton Woman's Son Alive After Being Crushed By Car

By FAYE JOHNSON

In a day when the miracles of the space age continue to astound and the accomplishments of man appear unlimited, Mrs. Boyd James of Scranton tells of a miracle so intricate and delicate that no man would take credit for its performance.

On Saturday, May 23, in Imperial, Calif., Tex James, son of Mr. and Mrs. Boyd James, as working on his Oldsmobile in front of his home at 115 W. 5th St., Mrs. Boyd reported. The car fell off the jack and pinned his head on the tool box, against which he had rested his head as he worked.

His wife, Edythe, realizing that she could not help, started to the house to telephone for help, and as she glanced back she saw a clean but shabbily dressed man by the car. He wore a cap and his

Tex James, with skull crushed and jaw bones broken, told of seeing the same man, and "it was Jesus," said, "standing in front of the He told me to place my hands with palms up against the car, and when I did, the car raised up, and I crawled out from under it.'

Closing cuts on Tex's face with 28 stitches, the doctors gave his wife no hope that he

It was a miracle, they said, that he had not already died. X-rays showed at least nine head fractures, and his jaw bones were broken in several pieces.

A specialist called in from New York decided to wire the jaw bones together, but to his astonishment he found that they had already begun to knit. Instead of the nine pieces shown in the X-ray, Mrs. James said, the specialist found his skull splintered in "a thousand pieces." However, it appeared that a surgeon had been there before him, as the pieces were in place and had also begun to knit back together.

On Wednesday after the accident, Tex James, who had been blind in one eye before the accident, lost the sight of his other eye. But in a letter received by his mother from his wife this week, following her return from California. she was told that he was beginning to see in his eye that had been blind originally.
