

'After The Thin Man,' Sequel To Earlier Success, Opens At Ritz Theatre Today

William Powell And Myrna Loy Again Co-Starred

That mixture of comedy and drama which went into one of the most popular of mystery pictures, "The Thin Man," is concocted again for a sequel to the production, an epic called "After The Thin Man," which plays at the Ritz theatre Sunday and Monday. William Powell and Myrna Loy, co-stars of the earlier success, appear again as Nick Charles, amiable detective, and his wife, Nora.

"After The Thin Man" is truly and frankly a sequel—one which, most reviewers assure, is on a par with its forerunner. The story takes up where "The Thin Man" left off. It has the same principal players; it has the same director, W. S. Van Dyke; the same author, Dashiell Hammett; and follows the same brand of thrilling mystery, deft comedy and light marital romance.

The supporting cast includes James Stewart, Elissa Landi, Joseph Calleia, Jessie Ralph, and Asta, the wire-haired terrier which was another attraction of "The Thin Man."

Returning from their New York venture—that of the earlier story—to their home in San Francisco, Nick and Nora crash, much against their will, into mad excitement in San Francisco. Nora's husband is concerned about a missing husband and as Nick endeavors to find the man, a couple of murders occur. The solving of these crimes convinces him and his attractive wife into all manner of exciting and amusing situations.

The story goes from the aristocratic atmosphere of historic Nob Hill to the maelstrom of dark Chinatown. The identity of the killer, or killers, of course, remains a deep secret until Nick unravels the whole mystery at the end of the play.

TEMPERATURES IN CALIFORNIA STILL ARE SUB-NORMAL

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 23 (AP)—The record-breaking cold wave receded a little further on the Pacific coast today, but "overcast weather" still prevailed in the alleged strongholds of perpetual summer and temperatures remained subnormal virtually throughout the West.

Moderating factors had little effect in frozen southern California, however, and the $500,000,000 citrus industry loaded up its 4,000,000 smudge pots for another fiery overnight battle against expected damaging temperatures.

Unofficial sources said the loss to the citrus industry might be $60,000,000—more than half the value of last year's $112,000,000 crop.

Seven California deaths were attributed directly or indirectly to the long siege of cold.

Joan Crawford In A Dramatic Role At Lyric

Robert Taylor, Lionel Barrymore Also Seen In "The Gorgeous Hussy"

Hailed as one of the most emotionally appealing and dramatically effective as any of Joan Crawford's many film productions, "The Gorgeous Hussy," which comes to the Lyric screen for three days beginning Sunday, Miss Crawford has the support of a number of able men players, including the popular Robert Taylor, Franchot Tone, Melvyn Douglas and James Stewart. Lionel Barrymore has a co-featured role.

The picture is a dramatization of Samuel Hopkins Adams' story of a girl who started out as the daughter of a Washington innkeeper in the tumultuous and picturesque period of American history in which Andrew Jackson was elected president of the United States, and who ultimately became a powerful figure in political and society circles of the capital, becoming, at the same time, the topic of every wagging tongue in the city.

Summed up, "The Gorgeous Hussy" tells of the attractive Peggy O'Neal, who throws Washington into an uproar during the fiery period of Jackson's fight for the presidential nomination. In love with John Randolph of Virginia, she marries "Bow" Timberlake, a naval officer, because Randolph's political beliefs differ with Jackson's—and it is Jackson who is the girl's father-confessor, guardian and patron. Timberlake is killed and Peggy ultimately marries John Eaton, minister to Spain, sacrificing her real love in an attempt to aid Jackson in his political practices.

Miss Crawford is given ample opportunity to display her dramatic talents as the tempestuous Peggy. Barrymore appears as the gruff President Jackson, Taylor is the dashing naval officer who becomes Peggy's first husband, Tone the foreign minister who wins her later, Melvyn Douglas plays the part of John Randolph, Stewart as a Washington reporter who befriends the girl.

DALLAS MAN TO GET FEDERAL POSITION

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23 (AP)—Sen. Tom Connolly of Texas said tonight he had recommended Tom C. Clark, Dallas, Texas, attorney, for appointment to a post in the justice department.

Department officials said no appointment had been made.

SOMETHING MYSTERIOUS HERE

William Powell and Myrna Loy assume quizzical expressions in this scene from "After The Thin Man," mystery-comedy picture which is featured at the Ritz Sunday and Monday. The film is a sequel to the success, "The Thin Man," in which the same players were starred. Powell again is the amiable detective, Nick Charles, and Miss Loy, is Nora, his comely wife.

Stockmen Ask More Laws To Curb Thefts

New Series Of Bills Introduced In The Texas Legislature

AUSTIN, Jan. 23 (AP)—Depredations of modern rustlers have brought demands from Texas livestock raisers for changes in laws to give additional protection.

A series of bills have been introduced in the legislature by Rep. Clyde Bradford of Grandfalls to make the transportation of stolen cattle, sheep, goats, hogs and domestic fowls more hazardous.

"The situation is bad," commented Representative Penrose Metcalfe of San Angelo, who will support the legislation. "It has resulted partly because of the higher prices for sheep, goats, wool and mohair."

Sheep and goat raisers especially have been victimized.

"The modern rustlers," Metcalfe explained, "will drive sheep or goats into a fence corner, load his truck and be 200 miles away by daylight. It is easier to steal sheep or goats because most are branded with paint, instead of the traditional cattle firebrand. Many sheep and goat raisers, however, are turning to the fire-brand."

Anonymous purchasers of the stolen animals are frequently disposed of to innocent purchasers, including ranch men, far from the scene of the theft. A few days ago several hundred stolen sheep and goats were located in South-Central Texas and ranchmen for miles around came to identify their property.

One bill would give counties authority, under local option elections, to levy a tax on cattle, sheep and goats for the employment of additional officers.

Another would require operators of motor vehicles transporting cattle, sheep, goats, hogs or domestic fowls to obtain a permit from the sheriff of the county where the load originates.

The other bills would increase maximum penalties for theft of sheep, goats, cattle and hogs from four to 10 years.

New Programs Offered On KBST Religious Features Today; 'Man On The Street' Novelty Starts Monday

Sunday sees the inauguration of many new weekly programs over KBST, with the religious type predominating on today's broadcasts.

At 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon, the Church of Christ will present the first in a series of half-hour services to be offered each Sunday afternoon. The services will be conducted from the studios. The minister, Forrest Waldrop, will speak, and quartet numbers will be offered.

Another church service will be introduced with Sunday's program. The new feature, scheduled for 8:30 o'clock, bears the title, "The Bible Class of the Air." It is sponsored by the Seventh Day Adventist church, and Rev. Jonathan W. Hughes, pastor, will conduct the class. It will be a regular weekly feature, and special musical programs will be offered later. Today, Rev. Hughes will conduct an introductory program, speaking on "The Four Supreme Elements of Effective Bible Study."

KBST is co-operating in advertising the annual Birthday Ball for the president, to be staged in Big Spring next Saturday night. Each day, well known local business and professional men will be introduced for a brief talk urging attendance at the balls as a means of contributing toward the campaign against infantile paralysis. Some of the speakers were presented last week.

Monday evening at 8:45 o'clock will see the start of a program that has enjoyed consistent popularity with radio audiences throughout the entire country. At that time, KBST will present "The Man On The Street." The announcer stops passers-by and asks them questions on topics of the day, along with questions of fact and fiction. This program will find the same popularity as the already established "Lobby Interviews," presented each morning at 9:45 o'clock.

Each week-day afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, alternating studio programs of universal appeal will be presented by staff artists of KBST. Monday, Wednesday and Friday, "Rhythm and Romance" is presented, bringing musical examples of rhythmic and romantic music Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, at the same time, the program is titled "Aesop's Fables." With this program, song titles of tunes played will illustrate the fable chosen for the day.

"Odds and Ends of An Old Love Affair," which enters its third week Tuesday at 4:15 p. m., is enjoying increasing popularity. This program of nonsense and song is a burlesque of the love affairs of Anthony and Cleopatra, Julius Caesar, Helen of Troy, and many others of that era. Dorothy Doan, Margaret Gurnea, Jimmie Wilson, Pete Shaw, Gene Reynolds and Doug Doan are among the staff

Amendment On Wages, Hours Is Completed

Proposed Constitutional Change Made Ready For Congress

NEW YORK, Jan. 23 (AP)—The first draft of a proposed constitutional amendment empowering congress to regulate hours and wages of labor was completed today for presentation to congress.

As drawn by a group of constitutional lawyers headed by Dr. Joseph P. Chamberlain, of Columbia university, it was worded:

(1) ... delegate definitely to congress the right to set limits hours and wages in industry.

(2) ... specifically bar the 14th amendment—which says no citizen shall be deprived of life, liberty or property without due process of law—from being applied, to prevent such regulation.

(3) ... prevent the action of the above No. 2 from destroying or weakening civil liberties guaranteed under the 14th amendment and under the bill of rights.

The proposal was drafted in connection with formation of a national committee to clarify the constitution by amendment, a group of liberals which will organize at Detroit on February 1.

The amendment in its original form was included in a report to be made by the lawyers—Dr. Chamberlain; Dr. Noel Dowling, Columbia professor who acted as consultant in the case TVA won before the supreme court; Dr. Herman Gray, of New York university; and Dr. Lloyd Garrison, of the Wisconsin school of law—on Monday to a committee of which Charles C. Burlingham, former president of the American Bar association, is chairman.

providing for a revised schedule of automobile tag taxes with the "in lieu" clause of the present law stricken to permit counties to tax cars on an ad valorem basis also.

Marland warned that "unless the oil industry comes in and convinces the legislature that figures placed by an oil association before the Texas legislature on the amount of tax paid in that state are untrue, 'all hell can't stop the legislature from increasing the gross production tax.'"

DAMAGE SUIT FILED $35,000 Asked As Result Of Automobile Crash

COLUMBIA, Mo., Jan. 23 (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Anderson of Chicago filed suits in circuit court today totaling $35,000 against L. L. Gray of Marshall for injuries received Thursday in an automobile crash near here.

Mrs. Anderson, returning with her husband from a wedding trip to Fort Worth, Texas, received deep cuts and bruises when the Anderson car met head-on with Gray's machine.

Mrs. N. E. Thrash of Fort Worth, mother of the young bride, was expected to arrive here by plane today. Physicians reported Mrs. Anderson's condition as satisfactory.

COMMITTEES OK ON RELIEF REQUEST

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23 (AP)—Some representatives said tonight that President Roosevelt's $780,000,000 relief request won the approval of a house appropriations sub-committee this afternoon.

Mr. Roosevelt requested the fund recently to carry on relief for the next five months. The sub-committee assigned to consider the request heard demands from some groups, in congress and out, for a much larger amount. But after it acted upon the question at a closed session today, word spread that the president's figure had won.

Chairman Buchanan (D-Tex) had called a meeting of the entire appropriations committee for Monday morning and officials said the relief bill would be sent to the house at noon.

MARLAND TO OFFER REVENUE MEASURES

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 23 (AP)—Governor Marland declared today that since the legislators had failed to advance any new plans for raising "necessary" revenues in the state, the administration would begin introduction next week of a series of tax bills.

Two bills will be introduced Monday, Marland announced, one providing for a two per cent sales tax with a broadened base, the second

Blum Ready To Aid Germany If Arms Program Dropped

PARIS, Jan. 23 (AP)—Premier Leon Blum tomorrow will offer economic help to Germany if the Reich will drop its rearmament program, it was said today.

His proposal will be made in a speech at Lyon, when he will appeal publicly to Reichsfuehrer Hitler to co-operate in a general European settlement designed to reduce Europe's armies, authoritative persons asserted.

His address will be the opening move in France's effort to obtain a "Pan-European Locarno" to quiet turbulent Europe, they declared.

Hitler, informed-persons predicted, may reply to the socialist premier's proposals when the Reichstag meets next Saturday.

Economic negotiations already under way between representatives of France and Germany, which has a shortage of food, raw materials and cash, Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, the Reich's economics minister, is expected to confer with French officials next month.

LAMESA MAN HURT Officers Investigate Highway Collision

Officers Saturday were investigating a traffic collision which occurred Friday night about 10:30 on the Lamesa highway approximately two miles north of Big Spring, and in which Doc Aldridge, 33, of Lamesa, was injured.

Aldridge, driving a truck northward, was knocked unconscious, and told authorities he couldn't remember just what happened. He was given treatment in the Big Spring hospital for lacerations and bruises and later released. He was brought to the hospital by passing motorists.

There was no trace of the other machine figuring in the collision.

ARMY SPEEDS UP AIR BOMBING PRACTICE; SECRECY SURROUNDS FORCE'S MANEUVERS

HAMILTON FIELD, Calif., Jan. 23 (AP)—Bombing practice is being geared up to 18 hours a day by the first wing of the army's general headquarters air force. More craters are being blasted in the California desert and more splashes raised in the calm Pacific than ever before.

Flares at Hamilton field, across the bay from San Francisco, are raining 9,000 bombs a year on land and sea targets, and at least as many are being dropped by their comrades at March field, near Los Angeles.

The "G. H. Q. Air force" is Uncle Sam's aerial striking unit, organized in 1935 and quite separate from planes attached to ground troops.

Sights Kept Under Cover
Considerable secrecy attends the maneuvers. The explosions and shell craters are photographed by batteries of cameras that cost up to $7,000 apiece and no one except the technical staff sees the pictures. By rigid order, the pilots with which the airman aim their bombs are hidden under canvas before the planes touch ground.

Although both fields are on a war footing, their full forces ready to move in 24 hours, the intensive maneuvers do not mean that the army expects war. It merely is racing to keep abreast of aviation developments.

Increasing efficiency of aerial killing has forced home the conviction that there's no way to stop a bombing raid. Your best bet is to stage one yourself.

Madrid's Case
"We teach that when a bombing attack once is launched it cannot be intercepted," says Major Clarence P. Talbot, a Hamilton Field executive. "That is the teaching in all countries, I believe. It is the reason planes are able to keep on bombing Madrid, even though the defenders know with certainty the raids are coming."

The military problem of charting the approach of an attacking air fleet has been worked out. It requires a phone and operator every eight miles over a band 100 miles wide.

"Anti-aircraft guns can be effective but there are not enough of them. I recently worked out a theoretical defense of San Francisco against an air raid. It took more anti-aircraft guns than there are in the whole world."

The United States has developed bombers that will carry one 2,500-pound bomb or multiples of smaller bombs at nearly 200 miles an hour. Such aircraft—the giant Martins now in commission—have two motors developing 750 horsepower each.

Greater claims are made for the four-motor Boeings now being turned out, and another company (North American Aviation) has a 10-passenger, two-motor craft, with engines rated at 1,250 horsepower each, ready for the army competition at Dayton next March.

The army believes "the best protection against aircraft is aircraft." In line with this principle, the G. H. Q. air force has pursuit planes that can do up to 250 miles an hour and use machine guns on big opponents. But bullets won't stop a bomber unless they make a direct hit on the pilot, motors or—by sheer luck—a control wire.

France Tests "Trailer"
Time bombs dropped into an attacking air fleet are being experimented with. France is testing an aerial mine, dragged by a plane as a sort of trailer.

A third major group of striking planes is the attack division, carrying machine guns and small bombs and directed against anti-aircraft guns and ground troops. Army airmen are prepared to see the next war start with amazing suddenness in the air.

International law requires that the world at large must be notified before one country starts hostilities against another," says Major Talbot. "All right, what's to prevent a nation starting several waves of bombardment planes toward another's border and then declaring war by radio broadcast, just five seconds before the first wave crosses?"

LOADING UP
Here's a 2,000-pound bomb being loaded into a Martin. It's about half explosive matter and half metal.

COMING DOWN
The bomb is hurtling into California desertland while the plane zooms on at nearly 200 miles an hour.

HIT OR MISS?
Bombs cost money; this kind of practice is cheaper. The big camera enables the man inside of it to trace the plane's movement. The radio man at the left is informed when an imaginary bomb is dropped. By comparing notes, these two groundmen can tell whether a pilot's theoretical shot was a hit or a miss.

REBEL SHELLS HIT CENTER OF MADRID

MADRID, Jan. 23 (AP)—Fascist artillery shells dropped into the center of Madrid today, firing buildings and scattering the frightened populace in the heaviest bombardment that section has undergone since the siege started. For two half-hour periods the insurgents rained at least 30 projectiles into the area, using larger shells than in previous attacks. Some were nine inches in diameter.

Thoroughfares thronged with Saturday crowds quickly cleared as the roar of the exploding missiles mingled with the clang of fire-engines rushing to blast in shattered structures.

Funeral Services Today For Former B'Spring Resident

Funeral services for Miss Eva Lee Williams, former resident of Big Spring and sister of Mrs. E. D. Hatch of near the city, will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the Eberly Funeral chapel, with Rev. P. Walter Hancock, rector of the St. Mary's Episcopal church, officiating. Burial will be made in the St. Oliv. cemetery beside the graves of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Williams. Miss Williams, about 32, died Saturday morning at Hallinger. The body will be brought overland from there, with arrival scheduled about noon. Miss Williams formerly lived with her parents here, and later had resided in Austin. Survivors include three brothers, Monroe Williams of Lubbock, J. D. Williams of Monahan, and Lane Williams of San Antonio; and five sisters, including Mrs. Albert Mawrick of Washington, D. C.; Miss Susan Williams of Oklahoma City; Mrs. Drew Dixon and Mrs. Hatch. LOUISIANA'S OIL PRODUCTION PARED

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 23 (AP)—An increase for South Louisiana but a decline for the state was ordered in the allowable production for oil fields by the Louisiana conservation department for February.

South Louisiana may increase its daily output by 6,000 barrels of crude. Production in North Louisiana was sharply curtailed, with the Rodessa field's allowable cut from 62,500 barrels to 50,000 barrels of crude daily in the ensuing month. This curtailment was designed to curb gas wastage in the rich, Rodessa area, according to the conservation department. The February order authorized 235,700 barrels daily for the entire state. This compares with 240,600 barrels daily this month. LaFitte field in Jefferson Parish and the Garden Island Bay field in Plaquemine Parish were two sections permitted to step up production in February. P-R-I-N-T-I-N-G whicificated to such an extent that committees from the chamber of commerce and Federated clubs frequently obtained promises from the board to investigate. Nothing came of it until 1925 when E. A. Kelley's official census showed 5,500 "home side" residents. On July 17 of that year a charter proposal carried, but it was a slow process and not until January of 1927 did the city go under the present city manager (or commission) form of government.

Bonds for the city's first paving were voted in 1927—20 years after incorporation. All the city's paving, noticeably lagging in comparison to other progress, has been accomplished in the last ten years.

Toward the close of the twenties, the city park was born and at once became a community center. In 1932 the $200,000 city hall and auditorium was constructed.

Now a Big Business Solvency became the issue during the depression days but with better times ahead, the city took over the airport and cemetery in 1930 and started on a street paving campaign in conjunction with WPA.

Now, on its 20th birthday, it looks back on the rise from a mere corporation with no particular assets to a big business with $1,600,000 assets and an annual revenue around $200,000 from taxes, water sewer and other sources. From a paid staff of one worker—the city marshal—the city has grown into an extensive organization demanding the time of more than 40 persons. It has in 30 years, graduated from an institution for the initiation of regulatory measures to one for the propagation of service.

Wally Warned Against 'Cranks'

Detectives Advise Her To Remain Out Of England For Own Safety

CANNES, France, Jan. 23 (AP)—Mrs. Wallis Warfield Simpson has been advised by the Scotland Yard detectives who guarded her during her first weeks at Cannes not to return to England.

The detectives, assigned to her because of their experience in guarding high personages and their knowledge of the ways of cranks, told her that only by keeping out of Britain can she have absolute security.

There is no possibility of a popular demonstration against her—the British are too phlegmatic for that and want only to forget the affair which resulted in the abolition of Edward VIII, the detectives said. They were thinking, they said, only of cranks.

The views they expressed were their own and not the official stand of Scotland Yard. They did not represent any desire of the government to keep her out of England.

The detectives said that to many people in England Mrs. Simpson was a symbol rather than an individual, just as the king is largely a symbol.

The resentment of a certain part of the British population was shown in abusive letters which came to her at Cannes. They were studied carefully by the detectives.

JOB INSURANCE ACTS UPHOLD BY COURT

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Jan. 23 (AP)—Judge Walter B. Jones of Montgomery circuit court ruled tonight the Alabama and federal unemployment insurance laws are constitutional.

He sustained demurrers filed by Attorney General A. A. Carmichael to a suit brought by the Beeland Wholesale company of Greenville.

An immediate appeal will be taken, attorneys said, to the Alabama supreme court. A recent decision of a three-judge federal court holding the Alabama law unconstitutional is en route to a United States supreme court on appeal.

"No government can long ignore these social effects of unemployment which, when it becomes chronic and widespread, threatens the stability of government itself," Judge Jones said.

Angelo Singers In Free Programs On Monday Evening

Another of the free "auditorium night" programs is scheduled for 7:30 Monday evening at the municipal auditorium, with entertainers coming from the San Angelo junior college. The college chorus and soloists will be assisted by San Angelo high school girls glee club. A variety program will be offered, including classical, semi-classical and popular music, numbers from opera, negro spirituals, ballad, sacred music, humorous songs and folk tunes.

There will be several fun features, also.

The choruses, under direction of J. Clark Rhodes, appear in attractive uniforms and present their program from specially designed stands.

The public is invited by the chamber of commerce sponsoring organization, to attend the program.

der known to be in furlough in the vicinity, they were surprised and he and another companion fled during the confusion.

Following the Civil war, he settled in Weakley county Tennessee and in 1871 was married to Miss Lou Dixon. Ten children were born to the union.

Mr. Pickle had been active as a member of the Baptist church since a young man, having served many years as a deacon. He attended services here, despite his age, until falling health confined him to home. He had been here since October.

Short services were held for him Saturday evening at the home of his son, and the body was forwarded this morning for burial Tuesday at Mount Maria church near Fulton, Ky., beside his wife, who died in July, 1934, and two daughters.

Surviving are six sons, J. B. Pickle, Arthur Pickle and Gus Pickle of Big Spring, Lon Pickle and Dyas Pickle of Fulton, Ky., and Herman Pickle of Detroit, Mich. He also leaves 20 grandchildren, among them H. R. Pickle, Mrs. Miller Harris, and Joe Pickle of Big Spring, and seven great grandchildren, including Joan and Don Pickle, and Jimmie Harris Big Spring.

week, all those attending were giving the one time to buy a better chance. As Dille Webb, assistant to the president of the T.A.P., put it at the banquet session, they are "building bridges for boys to pass over" pitfalls which they encounter.

Back from Austin where he attended a joint conference of city and county officials, City Manager E. V. Spence brought news of a proposal to authorize counties to levy a 10-cent tax for civic purposes. The municipal division at once endorsed the idea but county representatives delayed. Crust of the situation is that the county tax would impose the responsibility of administration upon counties. Cities would like to see this happen, counties would rather not.

Program planning reports by the county agricultural committee disclose the tendency to shift the bulk of increased production to feed and legumes rather than to cotton. The 1936 soil conservation and building program was responsible for that. In Martin county the trend is toward more cultivated acreage. Although it is not yet in effect, the Green Bond, Martin county agent, says tractors are also at the root of it.

Monday there will be a joint council meeting of women and men farm organization representatives to nominate a "master farmer." This is a title which might be better explained by saying that such a farmer is "one who has industriously and intelligently applied himself so as to conduct his farm on a sound and successful business basis."

The city may lead an interested car to proposals to operate a bus line within the city. Just what quality equipment, service, and rates can be offered will determine how interested the city is. It is a safe wager that a substantial company with modern equipment offering reasonable rates and operating on a conventional schedule would get a franchise.

Big Spring's underground water supply not only has Big Spring people puzzled but the state board of water engineers as well. This fact may work to the advantage of the city for it now appears that the board is accepting the problem as a sort of challenge and may do further research work soon in an effort to secure data as well as water.

Work is being done toward a road to Andrews. This road, meeting with approval of the Andrews county commissioners court, would cut off approximately 30 miles to Andrews. With this in mind, it is not hard to visualize why the chamber of commerce is anxious to have Harry Hines, state highway commissioner, as principal speaker for its banquet.

You now have one more week to pay your current taxes without incurring an eight per cent penalty. If allowed to remain delinquent to July 1, the taxes start drawing an interest charge at the rate of one-half of one per cent per month until a maximum of six per cent is reached. So pay your taxes now and give your pocketbook a break, and in so doing, give your fellow citizen's wallet relief.

46 Will Enter High School

Mid-Year Graduating Program For 7th Graders Slated Monday

Certificates denoting their graduation from elementary grades to the high school will be presented to 46 mid-year candidates, at a program to be held in the municipal auditorium Monday afternoon. The exercises are to start at 4:15.

Principal speaker will be Pascal Buckner, director of the apprentice training department in the high schools. An official will present certificates to the graduates.

First semester will be concluded Monday when last examinations are given for high school students. They have been instructed to report Tuesday morning at 8:30 to get grades for the semester and to arrange schedules for the second semester.

Junior high and elementary school students will report Monday afternoon to receive their mid-year report cards.

DEALEY FUNERAL SET FOR MONDAY

DALLAS, Jan. 23 (AP)—Funeral services for Dr. James Q. Dealey, editor-in-chief of the Dallas Morning News and allied publications, will be held here Monday afternoon.

Bishop John M. Moore of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, will officiate. He and Mr. Dealey had been close friends since they were faculty members at North Texas State Teachers college at Denton in 1890.

Dr. Dealey died yesterday while at his desk.

GANGRENE DANGER THREATENS POPE

VATICAN CITY, Jan. 23 (AP)—The danger of gangrene in his left leg threatened still further the life of ailing Pope Pius XI tonight.

He was given injections to check possible infection in an open sore on the leg, caused by the breaking of a varicose vein.

The 79-year-old holy father took less nourishment than during recent days. Droopiness overcame him after the injections.

Vatican physicians have given up hope for his complete recovery, but hold that if the threatened gangrene could be averted, the 79-year-old holy father might live for some time.

AN EXTRA DOLLAR Police Recover More Money Than Was Stolen

HUTCHINSON, Kas., Jan. 23 (AP)—Police returning two men accused of robbing the Haven State bank Thursday recovered more money than was stolen.

The men's pockets yielded $1,064. They said they had no money of their own and had spent some in their flight from Haven to Nebraska. The bank announced its loss at $1,983.

WILDCAT TEST TO BE SPUDDED FOUR MILES EAST OF B'SPRING

Location Made For Graham No. Great West, Nine Miles From East Howard Pool

Interest turned this week to the Dick Graham No. 1 Great West, wildcat oil test four miles east of Big Spring near the Cosden refinery.

Operators planned to spud Monday 330 feet from the west line and 297 feet north of the T&P tracks, property line for the Great West 80-acre tract in the northwest corner of section 48-32-1n, T&P. The test is to be drilled to 3,500 feet of pay or sulphur water at a lesser depth.

Nearest production is nine miles east in the East Howard pool. Several years ago a test was drilled a few miles to the northeast without shows. Dick Graham, of Amarillo and Big Spring, is promoting the test, and according to reports, Roy Westbrook, Fort Worth, has bought half interest.

After setting six inch casing at 2,770 feet, the Gartz No. 3 Post estate, section 5-5, K. Aycock survey, Garza county was drilling plug at 2,782 feet and expected to bring the well in late Friday. The No. 3 is an offset to the Gartz No. 2 Post estate, which although a comparatively light producer, is the heaviest in the area.

Completions for the week included the Continental No. 2-A Overton, section 8-32-2n, T&P, Howard county, for 1,699 barrels and the Continental No. 21-S Settles, section 159-29, W&NW, for 350 barrels. The latter is a shallow sand test bottomed at 1,232 feet. On the basis of its showing on pump, the Merick and Bristol No. 8 Hooks appeared to be good for about 100 barrels a day. Thursday it pumped 70 barrels on its initial test. It is located in section 140-29, W&NW and was shot January 15 with 500 quarts from 2,145-3,250 feet.

Merick and Lamb No. 2 Clay, section 139-29, W&NW, was running tubing Friday for a test after cleaning out following a 500 quart

Start 2 New Wildcat Tests In Jones Co.

Three Completions Gauged, Five Other Wells Near Verdier Depth

ABIENE, Jan. 23.—Two Jones county wildcat tests were spudded this week as three completions were gauged and five field wells looked as producers. One of the highlights of the week was the increase obtained by the second acid treatment of the Merry Brothers & Ferini and Forest Development Corporation No. 2 J. H. White, pool opener west of the Sandy Ridge field.

Ungren & Frazier No. 1 J. J. Steele, five miles northeast of Hawley, was spudded on a 965-acre block acquired from the Shaboen Oil company and Plains Production company on which a well had been started. Location of the scheduled 2,500-foot test is in the northwest corner of the south half of the southeast quarter of section 11-15-T&P survey.

UPTON LEASE SOLD Over $100,000 Involved in Deal On 120 Acres

SAN ANGELO, Jan. 23.—Principal oil sale in the West Texas Permian Basin during the week was that by J. W. Ellis and other San Angelos and Julius C. Peters of Great Falls, Mont., of the lease on 120 acres offsetting production in the McCaskey field in Epton county to the British-American Oil Producing Co. of Tulsa. The consideration was $50,000 cash and $55,000 to be paid out of one-eighth of the first oil produced, the starting of a test within 60 days and continuous drilling until development is completed. Ten-acre spacing will permit 12 wells on the property, which is the northeast quarter of section 4, G&S&P Ry. Co. survey, excepting the southwest quarter.

State's Revenue On Oil Taxes Has Increased 439 Pct. In 15 Years

(BY H. J. STRUTH)
(Petroleum Economist)

The degree to which Texas has benefited from oil developments is shown by the fact that current revenues in taxation from this industry yield $5.39 for every dollar collected from this source in 1922, according to studies just completed by the Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association.

The accompanying chart shows that the state has obtained in oil tax revenue a relatively greater appreciation in monetary returns than has been recorded by the oil industry of the state itself. In terms of the 1922 dollar, oil taxes increased to $5.39 while the oil production dollar is now worth $2.47 in comparison with values prevailing in 1922.

Taxes And Value

Facts upon which the chart is based include annual tax collections on Texas oil production, as recorded by George H. Sheppard, state comptroller of public accounts. The relationship between oil taxes and value of crude oil production was established by using 1922 figures for each as base factors of 100 per cent and obtaining subsequent annual changes in per cent of each base factor. Today's tax revenue from Texas oil shows an increase over 1922 of 439 per cent while the value of current crude oil production has increased 147 per cent from 1922. Actually, Texas oil producers are now paying to the state and its counties nearly $35,000,000 in taxes, which represents an average tax per barrel of 8 1/2¢—and this is substantially higher than any other oil producing

Second Pool Is Opened In Loving County

Important Wildcat Strike As Mason-Kyle Makes 250 Barrels

SAN ANGELO, Jan. 23.—Heading naturally, then flowing 250 barrels of 39.8 gravity pipe line oil the first 24 hours after being shot, Mason Oil company No. 2 Minnie Kyle this week opened Loving county's second pool, both from the Delaware sand, and became the first wildcat strike of note in the West Texas Permian Basin this year. All-time record for the number of locations staked in one week was established in the listing of 61 in nine counties.

Higher pay and heavier initial production—725 barrels daily—was obtained by a diagonal southwest offset to Fields, Cherry and others' No. 1 Lum Daugherty, northern Winkler county well two miles north of the Leck pool and near the New Mexico line. Younkum county's second producer obtained an increase upon deepening to 6,230 feet and Cochran county's lone well, the farthest north in the basin, responded to recidivating with a production gain from 303 to 400 barrels daily.

Bottomed At 3,911 Feet

Mason Oil company No. 2 Minnie Kyle in west central Loving county showed oil at 3,901 feet, began flowing up at 3,906 and was still in the pay sand when it stopped drilling just short of 3,911 feet. Oil rose 3,000 feet in 36 hours and the well headed 54 barrels in 52 minutes Tuesday. It was shot Wednesday afternoon with 120 quarts from 3,853-98 feet and flowed 250 barrels the first 24 hours. Only a tall 500-foot practice of shooting the Delaware line at its contact with the sand is common in the Wheat pool in Loving county nearly 20 miles southeast of the Mason producer.

Flow Increased

Relief, Work-Relief Cost In Texas During 1936 Was Over 94 Millions

Test Flows After Shot

SAN ANTONIO, Jan. 23.—Expenditure of $94,429,120 provided relief and work relief in Texas during 1936, according to H. P. Drought, state director of the national effergency council.

Drought based his statements on an official report by the president of the United States to congress regarding expenditures under the emergency relief appropriation acts of 1935 and 1936. From April 8, 1935, to December 31, 1936, Works Program expenditures of $120,804,928 in Texas were reported. Total allocations by the president to Texas during this period were $188,460,374.

During the week ended Dec. 12, 1936, employment was provided on the Works Program for 1,000,000 men, of which 77,336 were employed by the Works Program Administration, 22,188 by the Civilian Conservation Corps, and 21,995 by other federal agencies.

The $180,804,928 was expended for the following general types of work: Highways, roads and streets, $39,508,312; public buildings, $9,827,790; housing projects, $296,443; public recreational facilities, $5,835,342; conservation work, $25,744,063; electric, water and sewage systems, $3,883,942; transportation facilities, $209,129; educational projects, $8,880,148; miscellaneous projects, $12,533,966; administrative expenses, $4,906,349; rural resettlement and direct relief, $12,598,696; grants to states for relief, $25,874,689.

These expenditures, classified by object of expenditure, reveal that $54,884,368 was spent for personal services; $12,173,007 for supplies and materials; $2,651,127 for rent; $1,553,779 for construction, maintenance and repair; and $58,698,423 in grants mainly for direct relief.

In addition, $653,985 was spent in the purchase of land; $12,926,733 was loaned, and smaller amounts were expended in the purchase of equipment and in the payment of employees' accident compensation.

No. 1 E. R. King, southern Andrews county wildcat one mile west of Humble No. 1 Walker, a small producer, and two miles northwest of the Fuhrman pool, is 660 feet out of the southeast corner of section 10-A42-psl.

PAY THE POLL TAX
Poll tax-paying time is drawing to a close—there is only this week left—and midnight January 31 will close the list of voters qualified to cast a ballot in elections during the year.
Most people, or at least most of those who own no real estate, pay poll taxes generally for the privilege of voting. A what is called an "off year"—a year in which there are no state and county officials to be elected—the payment of poll taxes usually fall below the previous year. Then comes along an election in which the non-payer desires to cast a vote, and he is unable to do so.

Planting
WASHINGTON, Jan. 23—TVA Chairman Arthur Morgan read in his breakfast paper the other day that he was resigning. Newsmen caught him later and discovered he had never thought of it. Said Mr. Morgan: "I know the source of the rumor."
So did the newsmen. They said nothing about it. The unbroken rule of their profession requires them not to divulge sources of information. But some are beginning to weary of protecting sources using them for inaccurate propaganda purposes. One or two are getting around to the point where they might be willing to swear, if necessary, that the Morgan resignation rumor came from one of Morgan's subordinates in TVA who may have been desirous of getting him out.

Man About Manhattan
By George Tucker
NEW YORK — Almost everybody knows Dave Farley, the newsstand man, who has been handing out magazines and periodicals from the same L-shaped booth, in the Times building, for 26 years.
Dave is one of the land-marks of New York, just like Billy the Oysterman, or Oscar of the Waldorf, and he is well acquainted with the reading preferences of the proletariat and celebrity worlds as Billy and Oscar are with foods.

Wriggling
Mr. Roosevelt gave his new power policy committee only two weeks to recommend a government power plan. The reason was the president knew just about what he wanted, and so did his new committee-men.
He neglected to mention it, but he already had a power policy committee when he named this new one. He appointed it a year ago. On it were nearly all the men named on this new one, with a remarkable exception. TVA Commissioner David Lilienthal was omitted.

TEXAS PAPER MILL
New Firm To Begin Operation In February
HOUSTON, Tex., Jan. 23 (AP)—The $2,500,000 mill of the Champion Paper and Fibre company will begin operations here before the end of February under present plans of the company.
While continued rains have slowed work on the new mill, officials said most of the heavy construction had been completed and the next few weeks would be occupied with installation of machinery.

Method
What is behind the whole scrap is simply this: Lilienthal wants to use an administrative machine gun on private power interests. So does Senator Norris. They do not trust any power company anywhere. To them, there are no good ones. They want the government to build transmission lines and put the private companies out of business.
Dr. Morgan is not opposed to the machine gun, but would try a black-jack first. He suggests the government make an agreement with the private companies to split the power distribution business, and kill them off later, if necessary.
While these principals are getting the headlines, the McNinch-Manley school of new orders seem to be quietly running the show. They do not like machine guns or black-jacks. Chloroform is their dish. They would make their policy plain—less and legal. They would break up the TVA administrative dynasty and put the power problems under themselves as chairman and No. 2 man on the federal power commission. They seem likely to win.

Wings For Sally

by BAILEY WOLFE

Chapter 29 "BLACKMAIL THAT'S SERIOUS."

Dennison was too well trained to look surprised, but Sally knew that he was wondering what she was about. She was almost as shocked as Dennison at her own boldness. She crossed the hall and went down a corridor to the left. The lights were subdued, but far down the hall she could see a light beneath a door. That would be the study. She paused to listen by the door and finally nerved herself to knock.

"Come in," said a deep, gruff voice. Sally felt almost hysterical. She opened the door and stepped inside. Mr. Morris was seated at his desk, a cigar in his hand and a sheaf of bound reports in front of him. He rose immediately and placed a chair for Sally near his own.

"This is indeed a surprise," he said, staring at her keenly. "I'm not often favored by a visit from my daughter's friends. I thought you had left us for good."

"I have gone back home to stay," said Sally, seating herself on the edge of the chair. "I came to see you on business."

"I see," Mr. Morris rustled the papers before him.

"It's about a man who used to work for you," Sally plunged in boldly. "A man named McDonald."

"And what has a girl like you to do with McDonald?" Mr. Morris frowned.

"I've been interested in the family for a long time," said Sally. "He has a wife and several children. They're very hard working people and we've been trying to help them."

"But what has this to do with you?" demanded Mr. Morris impatiently. "I'm afraid I can't subscribe to charity for the McDonalds just now."

"It's not charity they need—it's justice," said Sally. "McDonald is innocent of the crime he's accused of. I've been interested in the case for a long time and I—we are certain he's not to blame for the burning of the Palace theater."

To Sally's confusion, Mr. Morris threw back his head and laughed heartily. He took out a handkerchief and wiped his eyes while Sally, crimson with embarrassment, looked on with angry eyes.

"I beg your pardon, Miss Warren," he said at last. "I couldn't help that. I suppose you're not to blame for coming here. Doubtless the man you work for, Philip Page, sent you on a last resort."

"He did nothing of the kind," said Sally. "He would have forbidden me to come."

"Very sensible of him," said Mr. Morris. "As you probably know, I have had a detective working on this case for some time. I doubt if you can tell me anything he doesn't know already. At any rate, the case is before the court. Surely you can rely on the court to get at the truth."

"But suppose your detective is not honest," said Sally, eagerly. "Suppose he gets a high salary for finding and convicting someone, anyone, of burning the theater—especially someone who has been leading a demand for better working conditions and higher wages. Wouldn't it be possible for him to build up a case against his man? A case that was false?"

"Possible but not probable," said Mr. Morris, looking displeased. "But why should he? His being paid to get the guilty man. If he can't find him, he's paid anyway."

"But not as highly paid," urged Sally. "Isn't that true?"

"What are you driving at, Miss Warren?" demanded Mr. Morris crisply. "Let's get to the point."

"It's simply this," said Sally desperately. "There's a strong case against Mr. McDonald, but every bit of it is circumstantial evidence collected by—by Mr. Benton. I—we have reason to believe that Mr. Benton is not worthy of the responsibility you gave him. I—I came to beg you to stop the prosecution until you can look into the case yourself."

"Why, Miss Warren, you amuse me! The evidence against McDonald was adjudged sufficient for prosecution by persons other than myself or Mr. Benton. If you actually have any proof of McDonald's innocence, the best place to take it is to the defense lawyers."

"Sally rose to go, feeling thoroughly miserable and ashamed."

"I'm very sorry to have disturbed you," she said, mustering what dignity she could. "I shan't bother you again. Goodnight."

"Goodnight, Miss Warren," said Mr. Morris kindly, as if he were speaking to a child.

Sally gritted her teeth with rage as the door closed behind her. She had been a fool. Both her father and Philip Page would be ashamed of her. Blinded by angry tears, she fairly rushed out the great front door and bumped squarely into two people who were just stepping on to the porch.

"Good evening, Miss Warren," said Giles Benton.

"Good evening," said Sally. She saw that his companion was the Mrs. Picard she had met at Hillcrest. So these were the visitors Mr. Morris was expecting. She hurried past them to avoid further conversation.

The dark driveway was a refuge and she paused to cool her hot cheeks before she went on down the street. Giles Benton and Mrs. Picard had gone in. How she wished she knew why they had come!

She remembered suddenly the evening she and Mary had stood outside the study window, flattened against the wall of the veranda, listening to the interview between Philip Page and Morris. Why not go back and listen now to what Giles Benton had to say? It was surely about McDonald. It might be of great importance to McDonald.

Sally stepped off the gravel path onto the grass where her footsteps added Sunday story. . . . A very noiseless walk around the house until she was directly beneath the light in the study window. It was only a step from the terrace to the veranda, but the shrubbery was thick. The branches scratched Sally's face and hands as she parted the bushes and wormed her way through.

She edged close to the window, where she could see half the room and hear the voices within quite plainly. It was not difficult to hear old Mr. Morris, for he was talking in a loud angry tone, like the one he had used to Philip Page.

"Get Out, Both of You!"

"Blackmail!" said Mr. Morris. "That's a serious charge, Benton! Suppose it never occurred to you that I would prosecute you on the charge of blackmail?"

"It's an ugly word, Morris," said Giles Benton in his smooth voice that Sally hated so. "I advise you to stop using the word."

"You're through advising me, Benton," said Mr. Morris. "Now get out, both of you!"

"You won't get rid of me so easily, Joe," said Mrs. Picard. "I have the letters with me here—in your own handwriting. I came to make a settlement, although, if you refuse to be reasonable, we can take the matter to court."

"I'm quite sure you prefer to settle the matter out of court, in a friendly way," said Giles Benton. "Mrs. Picard is asking very little, considering the case she has against you. Fifty thousand is nothing at all to you. McDonald takes the rap, you get the letters. Mrs. Picard plans to live abroad and you will not have to see her again."

"Not so fast, Benton. I'll see neither of you again. You'll see my lawyer in the morning."

"With the McDonald case in court, you'll find it very awkward not to be agreeable to my proposal. If McDonald is freed of the blackmail charge, you will appear guilty of framing him on both the arson and the blackmail charge."

"Are you trying to tell me that you framed the arson charge against McDonald?" demanded Mr. Morris.

There was a moment of silence, and Sally held her breath, straining to hear the answer. It came in level tones from Giles Benton, an answer that sent cold chills down Sally's spine.

"When I came here, you told me to get McDonald out of the way so he wouldn't be a trouble-maker, you said."

Allred Will Offer Recommendations On Liquor Control, Betting Repeal

By RAYMOND BROOKS (Herald Austin Correspondent)

AUSTIN, Jan. 23—Liquor control and repeal of race track betting will be included by Gov. James V. Allred in a message to the legislature early in the week, submitting his second group of recommendations for laws at this session.

He will make specific suggestions toward changes for better control of liquor sales and better enforcement. Governor Allred said he will withhold discussion of the measures until they got to the house and senate.

It is known he will urge the legislature to repeal outright the law which now permits betting on horse races. He also will ask penalties against operation of greyhound races, now operated untaxed, under court rulings that they are not prohibited by law.

The state gets from $600,000 to $1,000,000 a year from taxes on racing. Governor Allred has asked other tax levies that would replace this and meet other deficiencies in state income. Governor Allred has asked that approximately $14,000,000 new taxes be raised for the fiscal year starting September 1, and approximately $10,000,000 a year thereafter above present revenues.

Governor Allred said Gov. E. W. Marland of Oklahoma has not yet consulted him on proposed cooperation for increasing oil, gas and natural resources taxes in both states uniformly, but that he stands ready to talk about the matter whenever Governor Marland wishes. His comment was on a newspaper report from Oklahoma City that Marland proposed two-state cooperation, and planned to consult with the Texas chief executive.

"Get out before I call the police and have you both thrown out," said Mr. Morris thickly.

"You can reach me at the Gray Inn, Hillcrest, any time before noon tomorrow," said Giles Benton. "After that I shall feel free to communicate with Mr. Philip Page."

State Unable To Aid In Campaign On Rabies Menace

The state health department is powerless to aid the city in its fight against rabies, City Manager E. V. Spence was advised Saturday by Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer.

Extent of the department's assistance in curbing the menace which flourished for the last two months of 1936 is confined largely to offering advice.

The sanitary livestock commission may impose a quarantine if deemed advisable, Dr. Cox said. However, there was nothing in his letter to indicate that the commission would consider the local problem of sufficient intensity to warrant such procedure.

Dr. Cox suggested a line of action similar to the one in practice here now, that of requiring the vaccination of all dogs issued a tag and the disposition of stray animals.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICE
Room 1, Settles Hotel
"Truth" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist on Sunday, January 24.
The Golden Text is: "As Lord is good; his mercy is everlasting; and his truth endureth to all generations" (Psalms 100:5).
Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Thou art great, and doest wondrous things; thou art God alone. Teach me thy way, O Lord; I will walk in thy truth." (Psalms 86:10,11).
The Lesson-Sermon includes also the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Material sense never helps mortals to understand Spirit, God. Through spiritual sense only, man comprehends and loves Deity. The various contradictions of the Science of Mind by the material senses do not change the unseen Truth, which remains forever intact." (page 481).

Leaf Knit Collar Set

By RUTH ORR
Pattern No. 227

Are you one of those people who love hand made collar sets, but are always cheated out of them because you can't crochet? Here's your salvation, for this charming set is entirely knit. It's a lovely, lacy pattern that will grow in no time from a pair of skilfully handled needles. And even if they aren't handled so skilfully, you will find no trouble in following the instructions.
Dainty little cuffs match the collar, so you can have a whole set in the same pattern.
The pattern envelope contains complete, easy-to-understand illustrated directions, with diagrams to aid you; also what needles and what material and how much you will need.
To obtain this pattern, send for No. 227 and enclose 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to cover service and postage. Address Big Spring, Texas, Herald, Needlework Dept., P. O. Box 200, Station D, New York, N. Y.

Evangelist Will Conduct Revival At Fourth St. Church

REV. C. Y. DOSSEY

A two weeks' revival meeting at the Fourth Street Baptist church, beginning next Sunday, January 31, has been announced by the pastor, Rev. W. S. Garnett. Speaker for the series will be Rev. C. Y. Dossey of Dallas, state evangelist working under the Baptist General Convention of Texas.
Services will be held twice daily during the meeting, at 10:30 each morning and 7:30 each evening.
Music for the revival will be under the direction of Herbert Findley, educational director of the church. He will be assisted by Cecil Floyd, choir director. Pianists will be Mrs. John Reeves and Miss Frances Satterwhite.
The delegates decided to meet next year in Oklahoma, the exact place to be decided later.
Speakers included Frank Junell of the Texas College of Mines at El Paso and Beaty. A paper by Felix McKnight, Associated Press sports writer, on the covering of college sports was read at the afternoon session.

Marie Prevost Is Found Dead

Death Of Movie Actress Is Held Due To Natural Causes

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Jan. 23 (AP)—Marie Prevost, who graduated from the famous Mac Sennett bathing beauties to become a leading actress of the screen, was found dead in her apartment today.

Detective Lieutenants Le Roy Sanderson and Joseph Filkas said death apparently was due to natural causes. The officers said several empty bottles which had contained alcoholic liquor were found in the room.

Discovery of the body was made when attention was attracted by the mournful howls of a dog which was shut in the room with Miss Prevost's body. She had been dead two or three days, the officers said.

Miss Prevost, the former wife of Kenneth Harlan, film actor, recently had been ill. Shortly after signing a Warner Brothers' contract she suffered a breakdown. She had been dieting, her friends said, in an effort to reduce her weight.

Born in Sarnia, Canada, Miss Prevost was sent to the United States for her education and attended a convent school. She started her film career at the old Mack Sennett studios as an extra in a mob scene. Within a short time she became a famous bathing beauty. She had many leads in later films as a comedienne.

Miss Prevost gained her greatest recognition in the silent days of the films, but had important roles in talking pictures.

Among films in which she appeared were "Goddess Girl," "The Racket," "Within the Law," "Hands Across the Table," "Parole Girl," "Three Wise Girls," "Good Bad Girl," "Reckless Living," "War Nurse," "Easiest Way," and "Party Girl."

Police found a note pinned to the door of Miss Prevost's apartment which read: "Please do not knock more than once, as it makes my dog bark. If I am in, I will hear you, as I am not deaf."

Miss Walling Is Bride Of Lynn Edwards

Couple Married By Rev. R. E. Day Left Today For Carlisbad Trip

In a ring ceremony performed at the home of Rev. R. E. Day Saturday evening, Lynn Edwards and Miss Martha Walling were married with only intimate friends present.

Miss June Howard attended the bride and wore a navy wool suit with matching accessories.

The Mrs. Edwards chose an ensemble of black crepe and with it wore black accessories.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. Frank Walling and is a native of this city where she is a student in the high school. For the past year she has been employed in the G. F. Wacker Store in this city where she met the man to whom she was married.

Mr. Edwards is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Edwards of Polkville, Mississippi, and is a cousin of Bill Edwards of this city. Having completed high school work in White Oak, Mississippi, Mr. Edwards later joined the employ of the Wacker store in Hobbs, N. M., and was transferred to their store in this city last September.

The couple left this morning for Carlisbad, N. M., where they will spend several days before returning here to make their home temporarily at the Settles Hotel.

Gas Is Worth More Than It Costs

INSTANT HEAT
Where You Need It
When You Need It!

Light a Gas-Radiant Heater. Immediately it sends glowing, healthful, warmth through the room. To chase away the cold-brooding discomfort of a chilly morning. To make a wintry evening warm and cheery. To supplement your present heating system on bitter cold days. To make that hard-to-heat room livable. Remember it's a long, long way to Spring, so don't delay.
