He said that figures showed that most automobile accidents occurred on Sunday and that Tuesday was the safest day on which to drive a car. He said that the greatest number of accidents occured between the hours of 5 and 6 in the afternoon and the most serious accidents occurred between 1 and accidents occurred between 1 and 6 in the morning. He pointed out that out of every 20 accidents, humans were responsible for it and mechanical defects were responsible for only one.

Every state, he said, has laws o protect their wild animals, 38 of the states have laws to prevent and check forest fires and nine have highway laws which give adequate protection to the pion, told the writer that his fail-ure to compete in the British tour-nament, like that of many of his brother pros, was due in part to the depression and in part to the duty owed their respective clubs.

"We were all away much of last summer," he said. "This year we will stay fairly close to the home layouts. I'm hoping to be able to go to Europe next year, however."
Sarazen appears to constitute the chief "foreign threat" to the British hopes. He's been a consistent performer for many years and is now playing some of the best golf of his career.

Armour and Mac Smith are the States contingent. Armour's play in the Ryder Cup and U. S. Open last season, showed a distinct reaction to his triumph in the British feature. Even his closest friends

CHAPTER I

THE green roadster cutting its way, sleek and ribbon-like, down the boulevard came to an abrupt. jolting stop at the intersection with Twenty-fourth street.

Cherry Dixon's chin rose to meet the sweep of the cold wind. Flutter ing ends of a coral scart escaped from her throat to do a mad dance over one shoulder. It was one of those days in early April when bril liant sunshine showered down on the world without warming it. The pale gold radiance seemed almost to make the air more biting. But was spring sunshine, spring air and the combination was irresisti-

Cherry crooked her wrist for a quick glance at a watch dial. Only 1:10 now. She was not due for 20 minutes. There was plenty of time -oh, plenty to reacl the Wellington for her 1 30 engagement.

She had known all along there was time enough. Little danger that today of all days she would be late! Another halt for traffic lights and then on again. Cherry's impatience was gone. What a day it was to be 19, to know the beige suit was as becoming as it was new, to be on her way to meet an exciting young man and to know-at least to know almost-that he cared as much about the meeting as she did!

It had been the greatest luck in the world, surely, that for the secoud time in a week she was to see Dan Phillips. Oh, it had been sim ple to manage, telling Mother about the Guild committee meeting and arranging to drive into town alone There had been a committee meeting-until Gretchen postponed it For that matter, what other girl of 19 would have to explain where she was going and with whom if the notion to take a drive at midday happened to strike her?

THE roadster reached the viaduct and was swept into the slow stream of east-bound travel. At Twelfth street-Wellington's busiest thoroughfare, boasting three buildings 20 stories high-the flash of green was almost lost in the crash of taxicabs, trucks, limousines and small, wheezing vehicles.

"Then it's all right. Of course the three clocks each keep different time and I couldn't be sure excuse me, Miss Dixon, but I've got to stop right here and tell you that of all God's fairest creatures you are the prettiest, the most utterly devastating-!

"Please, Mr. Phillips!" The cheeks were crimson but the girl's eyes were laughing

"Mr. Phillips? I thought it was going to be 'Dan' from now on?" "Well, then, Dan, stop it. You're making fun of me!'

"If I ever heard blasphemy-! Covotes and cuttlefish! Why, my dear young woman, I'd as soon cut off my right arm. What I really meant to say was that the prettiest girl in the world is looking prettier than she has any right to look. What's going to come of this? You can't keep it up, you know. These old eyes won't stand it. You can't keep getting more beautiful every time I see you!"

Cherry rose to meet the teasing She said demurely, "Sorry, sir, You can always look away, you know.'

"But that's just what I can't doand don't want to! Say, are you as hungry as I am?"

The abrupt change of subject made the girl laugh. "Perishing." she said. "Positively perishing!" "Then let's find food!" Phillips snapped two fingers together with a resounding crack and was on his feet. Cherry arose and for an in stant they stood there, the girl's head only a little above the youth's shoulder. Her eyes held a dancing light of happiness. The young man's face sobered. He touched her arm and together they moved toward the stairs.

GIVE minutes later they faced each other across a narrow table in the hotel's ivory and blue dining room. Phillips had finished giving

"Sure, it's hard on the parents Nice goople, too. But it's been a week and there hasn't been a single clue that led anywhere."

THE waiter set glass-domed plates before them. Sweetbread patty and asparagus for Cherry. A roast and vegetables for Dan.

They decided to have the coffee later. The girl broke a bit of Melba toast and buttered it.

"When you talk about the places you go and people you see," she said, ".'m so envious. It must be wonderful to be at the center of things, always right there when something exciting is happening! It must be rilling.

Campbell's Eastland Band is a musical organization that is a prideful possession and a most tuneful and decided success in assisting in entertainment of visiting delegations on public occasions for speakings, rallies, opening and dedicating of buildings, summer-time concerts and what not.

Eastland is looking forward to the delightful band concerts, during the coming hot months. Countless people, who cannot afford to leave the city, will seek the square to have an evening of pleasure from Campbell's band program, heard beneath the stars, and cooled by Texas night breezes.

There is no greater civic advantage to any city than a w organized band.

Professor Campbell has responded promptly with his organization to every call from women's clubs, from committees, from churches, men's organizations, chamber of commerce and individuals, who seek his assistance in providing music, for any special occasion. This band was spoken of favorably on the floor of the sixth district convention of Texas Federa-tion of Music clubs, held in Gladewater, and was compared with advantage, to student bands in much

BOSTON. — The five-masted sailing ship, "Spirti of New England," will make a good-will voyage this summer, calling at 39 ports in 19 countries, to establish new markets and foster better trade relations. The ship, under the direction of Lieutenant-Commander Frederick C. Melville, who commanded the bark, "City of New York," on Admiral Richard E. Byrd's Antarctic expédition, will exhibit American products and carry on a sales promotion campaign.

Ranger Masons Hold Washington Memorial Service

The Masonic lodge of Ranger celebrated the Washington bicentennial at an impressive and inter-esting meeting held in Ranger last night. The meeting was originally scheduled to be held in February, but was postponed on account of illness and bad weather. The celebration of the 200th anniversary of the birth of George Wash ington was held at the request of the grand master of the grand lodge of Texas Masons, who urged each order to hold fitting cere-monies between Feb. 22 and Thanksgiving for the first president of the United States and the greatest Mason of all time.

Rev. E. S. James, pastor of the First Baptist church of Cisco, delivered the principal address of the evening, taking as his subject, "What Washington Has Done for Masonry," which was an interest ing and educational feature of the

Attend Rural Demonstration Classes

Miss Ruth Ramey, county home demonstration agent, accompanied by Mrs. Joseph M. Perkins, Eastland County Better Homes chairman, yesterday attended the Elm Rural club, held in their own clubhouse, situated between Carbon and Gorman.

Miss Ramey demonstrated the F. making of hooked rugs to an interested gathering of 26 women.

Rug-making and rug-weaving has brought the rural clubwomen Guy all over Texas quite a nice sum of money from their sales.

A display of this class of rugs was held in Dallas a short time ago and not only was greatly admired but found ready purchasers.
