Criminal Complaint Filed By Nuessle Against Utley

Road Block Turns Into Legal Battle

A criminal complaint against T. A. Utley, charging that he "willfully obstructed a county public road by erecting a fence across it" was filed this morning by District Attorney Joe Nuessle.

The complaint, which was signed by V. L. Rowe of Ranger, charged that Utley illegally fenced off the old Ranger-Staff road leading to Lake Leon.

The complaint came unexpectedly following several weeks of controversy.

Nuessle said the complaint was filed in County Court and a warrant would be issued for Utley's arrest following which he would be brought before the Court to enter his plea of guilty or not guilty. In event of a not guilty plea the case will automatically be transferred to District Court for trial, since the County Court has no jurisdiction over disputed criminal cases.

Remodeling At Hamner's Store Is Completed

Considerable remodeling has taken place recently at Hamner Appliance Store, located at 205 S. Lamar street in Eastland.

A brand new, highly polished hardwood floor has been laid down and the entire store re-arranged so as to give the maximum in display space for the big stock of appliances featured by the store.

The store handles Maytag and Philco appliances and is at present featuring a full new line of Philco refrigerators that are being offered at special prices.

Service Stores Do $1,650,000 In Year

Receipts of 205 service establishments enumerated in Eastland County in the latest Census of Business amounted to about $1,650,000, according to a preliminary report covering service trades, published by the Bureau of the Census, U.S. Department of Commerce. The combined yearly payroll of the country's service establishments was $361,000. They reported 211 employees of whom 192 worked fulltime in the pay period ending nearest November 15. Proprietors actively employed

Dallas Radio And TV Man Is Rotary Speaker

Bill Mercer, of Dallas radio and television stations KRLD was guest speaker Monday at the Eastland Rotary Club.

Mercer, who was introduced by Hugh Neeld, program chairman, spoke on "National Radio Week." He pointed out that KERC, Eastland radio station, is participating in the national event and will hold open house all week.

He said commercial radio is beginning its 37th year. "We have seen radio climb from nothing to the top and some think all the way back again," Mercer declared.

He said since television's development in the 1940s, a great change has come over radio. He said station's couldn't just go on the air every day any more without good planning as they could "in their heyday." He pointed out that today there are more radios in automobiles than there are in homes.

Mercer concluded that there is still a place for radio and men who believe in radio, but said, "We miss the old days."

Rotarians also heard a report from Frank Sayre that Jeanne Pittman, club sweetheart, would resign in June and that Betty Westfall would replace her.

Moore... School Re-Union Will Be Held In Eastland

ABOUT Eastland
By Virgil E. Moore

Roy Turner, pastor of the First Christian Church, came in scratching his head Monday. Seems The Telegram tried to push him over into the Methodist ranks. Our mistake, folks. That headline just got in the wrong spot.

This week-long wind we have been having has long since worn out its welcome. The wind, has certainly taken a lot of moisture out of the ground and besides that, has ruined fishing and boating at Lake Leon.

Seems there is a lot of trapping going on in this county. Besides the government trapper, there are a number of individuals reporting wolves and bobcats killed. The County pays by the head to get rid of the stock killers.

County Commissioners Monday were again confronted with the county hospital question. The problem comes up at least once a year and usually more often.

We don't want to put ourself into the position of running the county government, but it looks like to us that the temporary relief measures which are given from year to year to keep the hospital open have gone on long enough.

If the county is to sponsor the hospital, we feel that it should be done in a businesslike manner. Seldom, if ever, has the hospital even been considered when budget time rolls around. That looks like the time to figure the situation out to us. We believe that the county has to keep the hospital open. Then our citizens who

The first homecoming for all former students of EHS will be held at Eastland in June, 1957. The reunion of EHS Alumni will be sponsored by the Class of 1928. The Class of 1928 held a "highly successful" reunion in Eastland in May, 1953, celebrating their twenty-fifth graduation anniversary. Since the class is well organized and has had experience in promoting the reunion, they voted to undertake the project in lieu of no EHS Alumni organization to carry out this initial rally. One of the aims of the group is to perfect a permanent EHS Alumni organization.

Garrett Gets P-TA Life Membership

A life membership in the Texas Congress of the Parent and Teachers Assn was presented to H. R. (Pop) Garrett, Eastland County School Superintendent at a called meeting of the Eastland County P-TA Council held in the home of Mrs. James Whitting in Eastland recently.

Poe Announces New Size Cokes Go On Sale In Eastland County Area

Eastland this week will help launch two new bottles that may well go round the world eventually. The king-size and the family-size Coca-Cola bottles, now going on sale here, are "big brothers" to the present 6 1/2-oz. bottle, which is known from Boston to Bangkok and back again.

Colored Masonic District Meet Is Announced

Some 500 colored people from all parts of West Texas are expected to be in Eastland on Friday and Saturday of this week attending the colored Masonic District meeting that is to be held in Eastland.

Delegates from all Masonic Lodges in this district will attend, together with members of the Eastern Star and the Heroines of Jerico.

At 3 o'clock on Sunday afternoon a program will be given at the Eastland High School (white) auditorium at which the general public is invited. It is said that some of the finest colored singers in the state will take part on the program.

A barbecue has been arranged for all the lodge delegates and visitors by Eastland's Oil Field Lodge No. 479 of which Ed Oliver is W. M., and Willie Speaker is Secretary.

School Board has campaigned some time for this homecoming. Tanner has signed more EHS diplomas than any other person connected with EHS. He will be one of the main workers called on to serve on this project.

Terrell Coleman, who headed the 1928 class reunion will again serve as general chairman. Coleman, from his home in Waco, predicted this will be the largest convention ever held in Eastland.

"We are planning this thing one year in advance in order to make it the most successful reunion the group will ever hold," he said. "We want the first to be the biggest and best. We expect to fill every hotel in Eastland, Ranger and Cisco. Why, we had 112 at our class banquet in 1952. We will top the crowd that saw the unveiling of Old Rip. Planning this a year in advance will also enable the former students to make their plans now to attend the homecoming."

A roster of all former students by classes will be compiled and "Operation Manhunt" will get in action at once. Locating and getting the mailing addresses of the exes will be the biggest job. Class agents for each graduating class will be appointed to assist in this work. Newspapers and personal contact and all other means possible will be used to locate former students throughout the nation.

"We will mobilize a hundred workers to perfect this homecoming," Coleman stated. Former students living in Eastland who will volunteer their services are asked to contact Lowell Snyder. "We will give you a job and plenty of work to do," Coleman assured.

A staff of general officers will set up and committees for housing, transportation, finance, program, etc., will be appointed.

How old is EHS? Who was Superintendent of Schools in 1924? Football captain of 1932? Who was the only state champion mile runner ever produced by Eastland? Eastland's most famous graduate? Did Eastland ever win a state champion in any sport? Beat Cisco the first time? Who was author of the famous gossip column "Cracked Ice"? What sport did E. B. and D. B. win nationwide acclaim in?

These questions and a thousand more will be answered during the next twelve months in a series of articles to be written about the history of EHS. All time EHS athletic teams will be picked and many other interesting highlights will be published in The Eastland Telegram and also in a small newspaper to be printed and mailed to all former students. It is requested that relatives and friends of exes secure additional copies of this issue of The Telegram and mail it to them in order that they may read the announcement of the homecoming plans. Extra copies may be had by calling at The Telegram office on the south side of the square.

Details for the two day weekend homecoming will be worked out later.

Members of the '28 class living in or near Eastland who are expected to lend yeoman duty to reunion are: Lowell Snyder, Mrs. Jewel Carter, Jim Golden, Bucky Harris, Ray Laney, Mrs. Linda Mae Forney, Sox Miller, Milton Hunt, Jimmie Mathews, Mrs. Don Russell, Mrs. Fred Scott and Mrs. Bruce Butler.

Mrs. Rhodes told the Court that the hospital has been spending money which should be paid for salaries and bills for capital expenses and expenses for maintaining the building. Asked by Judge John Hart how much money they would need to "keep the thing going," Mrs. Rhodes replied, "Any support would help."

She declared that during the first three months of this year the hospital has treated 48 charity patients a total of 804 patient days. "For which we have received no money from the county."

He pointed out that from 1942 until February of 1954 the county did not pay anything towards the upkeep of the hospital. Last year, from February through September the county paid $250 a month.

County To Aid Hospital

Eastland County Commissioners Monday voted unanimously in favor of paying $200 a month for the remainder of this year to Ranger General Hospital for the care of county charity cases.

The action came at the regular meeting of the Commissioners Court following an appeal by members of the Hospital Board and Mrs. K. Rhodes, superintendent of the hospital.

Morris George, spokesman for the group, told the Court that, "We cannot go on maintaining the operation of the hospital without some help from somewhere."

George said that if a solution can't be found "the Board feels it would almost be an impossibility for us to continue in our appointed jobs."

He told the governing body of the county that an estimated one-third or one-half of all patients treated at the hospital are now charity cases.

"No where else could services be given at such a nominal cost," George declared.

Mrs. Rhodes told the Court that the hospital has been spending money which should be paid for salaries and bills for capital expenses and expenses for maintaining the building. Asked by Judge John Hart how much money they would need to "keep the thing going," Mrs. Rhodes replied, "Any support would help."

purpose would have to come from the general fund. C. H. O'Brien, county auditor, told the Court this general fund was the only county fund in bad shape. He said it now has only about $9000.

On motion from J. B. (Tip)

Herman Fitts Outlines Platform Asks Support In Senate Campaign

Herman Fitts, of Mineral Wells and candidate for the State Senate from the 22nd Senatorial District, this week pledged a battle against the rising tax burden in a formal announcement concerning the position he seeks.

In the announcement, Fitts said, "Recently I announced my candidacy for State Senator from the 22nd Senatorial District composed of Callahan, Clay, Denton, Eastland, Jack, Montague, Palo Pinto, Parker, Stephens and Wise Counties."

"I am 39 years of age, married, and have lived in Mineral Wells nearly all of my life. After graduating from Mineral Wells High School I worked my way through Texas University Law School by waiting tables, doing janitor work, delivering papers and doing various other odd jobs. I have practiced law in Mineral Wells for almost ten years during which time I was three times elected City Attorney without opposition.

"I am a veteran of World War II with service in the Southwest Pacific and in the Japanese Occupation Forces. I am an active member of the Christian Church, of the American Legion, and a number of fraternal, service and civic organizations, and have always been active in the civic affairs of my home city.

"It is my belief that taxes are already too high, and if elected, I will work to hold down your tax burden. Our States' Rights are being threatened, and I would oppose further encroachment by the Federal Government on the rights of state and local governments."

"As to the Veterans Land scandals, I believe that a further investigation should be made and legislation passed to prevent fraudulent sales of lands to the State, and to insure that veterans get the land purchased by them at a fair value. It is a good program if honestly and efficiently administered. There is an urgent need for a complete revision of our in-

Eastland Bank Announces New Banking Hours

The Eastland National Bank will join other area banks in observing new banking hours effective June 2, it was announced today.

Tom Wilson, president, said that the bank would trade a number of holidays observed in the past for the privilege of closing on Saturdays. The bank will also open from 4 p.m. until 6 p.m. each Friday to give Eastland citizens a chance to do their banking.

Monday through Thursday the bank will be open from 9 a.m. until 2 p.m. and on Fridays from 9 a.m. until 2 p.m. and from 4 p.m. until 6 p.m.

The bank in the future will close only on those holidays observed by other Eastland businesses. Holidays will be Christmas, New Year's Day, Labor Day, San Jacinto Day, Thanksgiving and July 4th. That will mean that the bank will be open on eight holidays they previously observed.

Wilson said, "We feel that we can offer this area even better banking services under our new banking hours."

insurance laws to protect policy holders and investors from further losses. I would favor a small loan law to outlaw excessive interest rates and charges, and to put the "loan sharks" out of business. I believe that our school teachers should be adequately paid and that our aged citizens are entitled to adequate pensions.

"I also believe in an even-tempered approach to the problems facing our state and nation. A lawmaker in Austin must first have an understanding of the legislative process and have the ability to analyze the bills introduced, and then apply common sense and good judgment in voting. He must be honest and diligent and willing to represent the people of his district without being influenced by pressure groups and without granting favors to special interests.

"If elected I pledge myself to honestly and diligently represent you in Austin according to the above principles, and without favoring any special interest, but with the interest of the people of my district in mind.

"In this campaign I need the help of all of you who desire an honest, efficient and economical administration of the State's affairs. I will be grateful for your vote in the July Primary and I pledge if elected to do my very best to serve you well."

Free Road Maps Make Life Easier for Motorists

By Mary Lou Chapman

Have you heard this one? A young couple got lost on a motor trip, and stopped to ask their way of an old man by the roadside. The old gentleman paused, scratched his head, and said, "You go up here and turn to the right . . . No, that's not it. Let's see, you go down that way and turn left. No, that won't do it. Try taking the road by the bridge yonder . . . No, that's no good." Then he thought a little more and said, "You can't get there from here!"

Miss Chapman

The free road map is largely peculiar to the United States and Canada. Giving them away is a $10 billion annual business, with oil companies providing about half of the estimated yearly total of 300 million maps.

Cars Created Demand

The advent of the low-wheeled "safety" bicycle in the late 1800's caused the first big demand for road maps. "The Cyclist's Road Map of Connecticut" issued in 1888 was one of the first of its kind. But these early maps were not so accurate. When the motor car appeared at the height of the bicycle craze, demand for easy-to-read and accurate road maps mushroomed.

Early route books which preceded road maps sound a little like our old gentleman above. Here is a quotation from a book issued by the Automobile Club of America in 1900: "Go straight out to where the way ahead is blocked by irregularity of cross streets, where you bend left and follow Shore Road. . . ." Some of these books included maps, but there were no standard highway markings in those days, so that it still must have been pretty confusing. The first major highway numbering job was not done until 1917 in Wisconsin.

Since then, highway numbers and road maps have made touring in unfamiliar parts of the country much easier and pleasanter for the motorist.

(Fashion writer, artist, and TV personality, Miss Chapman is a native of Detroit and has spent the last several years working with automobile stylists, designers and engineers at Chrysler Corporation.)

Crash Slightly Injures Truck Driver Monday

S. W. Lord, 21, of Lamesa, was slightly injured at 4:30 Monday morning when the truck he was driving slammed into a dirt embankment on U. S. Highway 80, now under construction, within the east Ranger city limits.

Lord was thrown from the cab of his truck, which was a total loss, and onto loose gravel. He was treated at Ranger General Hospital for bruises and lacerations about the left arm, leg, hip and shoulder. He was released after treatment, however.

Lord, bound for Dallas with more than 18 tons of dried beans on his 30-foot trailer, missed the detour around the embankment that had been dug for a bridge foundation.

The truck belongs to the Britt Grain Co. of Lamesa.

Palo Pinto County Annual Rodeo To Be Held May 30 Through June 2

MINERAL WELLS (Spl.) — Action aplenty, thrills galore for thousands of eager spectators is due on the hoof-scarred turf of the Palo Pinto County Livestock Association's Rodeo Arena east of Mineral Wells, when rough and rugged cowboys contest for top cash prizes in the PPCLA's 19th Annual Rodeo May 30-31, June 1-2.

Performances will be held nightly at 8:15 and the four day event will be dramatically opened with a long and colorful parade in downtown Mineral Wells on Wednesday May 30, at 5 p.m.

Wild and wooly rodeo stock, including many new, wild and untamed broncs and savage bulls, is being furnished by Goat Mayo of Petrolia. Mayo, one of the nation's veteran rodeo producers, has top animals this season and has booked some of the outstanding rodeos in the Southwest during the coming months.

Emory Birdwell, well known Palo Pinto County ranchman, former rodeo performer and vice president of the PPCLA, will be arena director of this year's show, which is due to attract the largest attendance in history.

Arena events will include bareback and saddle bronc riding, wild bull riding, double mugging, calf roping, wild mare races, cutting horse contest and girls' barrel races. The PPCLA Rodeo is an open show, and more than $3,000 in prize money will be offered contestants.

Announcer for the performances will be well known Nat Fleming, popular rodeo mickeman of Wichita Falls. Laughs for capacity crowds will be provided by the arena antics of clever clown Lewis Blair, of Munday, Texas, another top-notch performer who enjoys solid booking every season.

All Palo Pinto County, as well as Millsap and Perrin 4-H Clubs and PFA chapters will be admitted free each night. They will sit in a special reserved section of the grandstand.

No Nails Mar Face Of Shadowvent Siding

A NEW kind of siding that has no visible nails to mar the surface, that has even, trim lines and a clearest shadow line, and that holds its painted surface far longer than comparable materials may be obtained at lumber yards under the name of Masonite Shadowvent siding.

It's a combination of a familiar product, Masonite Tempered Preswood, and a specially-formed aluminum strip, which holds the panel and is vented to prevent the condensation of moisture inside the wall.

How the panel fits into the aluminum strip without nailing is shown in the upper detail. Only the aluminum strip is nailed to the studs. The siding itself "floats." The system holds the panels in perfect alignment.

Pre-packaged panels come in widths of 10" or 12", sizes that are popular in ranch-style houses and which are available in these widths at no premium in cost. Shadowvent is easy to paint, and paint on this material lasts much longer than on the conventional siding because it is so smooth and has no knots or grain.

Mother-Daughter Banquet Held By Sarah Henley G.A.

The Sarah Henley Girls Auxiliary of the First Baptist Church had a Mother and Daughter Banquet Friday night in the Fellowship Hall of the church.

The theme of the banquet was "Stars" with Olivia Holliman as North Star (toastmistress). Mrs. Howard Jones, co-counselor, introduced the Radiant Stars (special guests) and each GA introduced her mother.

The Singing Stars sang the GA song "Ice A Story To Tell To The Nation." "Mae in the Moon" was Rev. Harvey H. Kimbler. Star ideas were given by the GAs as "Stars of Gleams." Heavenly Singing" was provided by Gayle Bowen on the piano.

Julia Lynn Inzer presented a toast to the mothers titled "Steering Stars."

Mrs. Ralph Perkins (The Star That Shines Around the World) of Ranger, was the speaker for the evening. She is president of the Associational Women's Missionary Union.

"Goodnight" was presented by Mrs. Jim Hardwick, counselor, at which time she read a letter from Sarah Henley who is now a missionary in Nigeria.

Mrs. Harvey Kimbler gave the invocation.

The banquet table was covered with a white cloth centered with a green runner featuring gold stars and white candles carrying out the GA colors of green, white and gold.

The menu consisted of Moon-

There's a New 'Art' to Patching Up Small Fry

BY EDNA MILES

MOTHERS who must stop daily in the midst of such "tiny" tasks as cleaning the entire house or doing the family laundry to patch up minor injuries suffered by the small fry know what it means to try to quiet a frightened child.

And even minor accidents frighten small children. But once the fear of pain and the slight sense of shock are gone, they love showing off. A bandage is a fine device for getting attention from other kids and the whole neighborhood. It's a conversation piece in the same sense as the latest charm on mother's banic bracelet.

Knowing this, one manufacturer has produced colored adhesive first-aid bands illustrated with clowns, animals, toys and storybook characters. The bands are, of course, sterile, water-resistant and protective.

Aside from keeping a small wound clean, which any adhesive band will do, they are intended to quiet the child and divert his attention from a cut finger or bruised knee. And this, in turn, will take the weight from mother and allow her to get back to the vacuum cleaner or the family laundry hamper.

"Doctor" tapes up mommy's finger with one of the new, illustrated adhesive bands. They're designed to switch a child's attention from painful aspects of a hurt to "prestige" advantages of wearing a bandage.

Quail Hunters Get Big Chance

AUSTIN — Quail hunters have their chance this year to knock down the age-old contention that hunters are interested only in bag limits and shooting dates, observed the executive secretary of the Game and Fish Commission.

"Now is the time for the quail hunters to prove their genuine interest in habitat and general restoration phases," said the secretary.

"Frankly the individual hunter's attitude could go a long way toward stimulating the overall habitat program.

"Any such cooperative indication at this time certainly is pertinent because conservation forces are working hard and are working together to restore quail habitat since that concededly is the primary means of solving the problem.

Visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Garner last week-end were their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Garner, Jr., of Colorado City.

Poe—

ing the Potsdam Conference.

Poe said definitely the "big brothers" would not replace the standard-size bottle, designed in 1915 at the recommendation of a bottling official who urged: "We need a Coca-Cola Bottle which a person will recognize even if he feels it in the dark. It should be so shaped that, even if broken, a person could tell at a glance what it was."

Although about 80 percent of all the Coca-Cola sold is in bottles, the man who invented the drink never intended it to be more than a soda fountain beverage. In 1886 John S. Pemberton, a druggist, prepared a soft drink syrup in his back yard in Atlanta, using a three-legged iron pot heated by a wood fire.

He took a jug of the syrup to Jacobs' Pharmacy at the historic Five Points, where soda water was added and the new drink put on sale.

The first year only 25 gallons were sold, bringing in $50. Of this, Pemberton spent $47 on advertising. Most of it consisted of oilcloth signs pinned to drugstore awnings.

When Pemberton died two years later, rights to Coca-Cola were bought by a 37-year-old wholesale drug salesman, Asa Candler. "Back in Candler's day The Coca-Cola Company changed offices several times," Poe said. "One time when it moved, a one-horse wagon carried all the firm's equipment and furniture.

Candler was a keen merchandiser. He originated the Coca-Cola poster and calendar, using Lillian Russell's picture on one of them.

He was the first to use the slogan, "Delicious and Refreshing," which appeared in 1889. And to get the public acquainted with the new drink, he gave away millions of tickets for free Cokes.

"They tell me in Atlanta," Poe said, "that even today someone comes across one of these tickets in an attic. If they send it in, they get a free case of Coca-Cola."

It was 13 years after Pemberton invented Coca-Cola before the drink was bottled. A young Chattanooga lawyer, Ben Thomas, who had come across a locally bottled soft drink in Cuba during the Spanish-American War, hit upon the idea. He and another lawyer, Joseph Whitehead, went to Atlanta and asked Candler if they could bottle Coca-Cola.

Candler, busy with his soda fountain sales, gave them the bottling rights to practically the entire country. This was one of the most amazing contracts in history—Thomas and Whitehead didn't pay a cent. And the man who had given them a letter of introduction to Candler didn't think enough of the product to ask for even a single share for himself.

Poe pointed out the early bottling equipment was far different from today's. "Bottles were washed by dropping buckshot in them and swirling it in water. They also used those old-fashioned sewing machines, equipped with a brush to scour the bottles."

Coca-Cola was the first soft drink company to use coolers. "The early ones were actually wooden tubs, sawed in half," said Poe. "The first electric cooler came out in 1933."

Poe thinks the secret of Coca-Cola's success is best summed up in the way the trademark is phonetically translated from Chinese. In China, where Coca-Cola is a popular drink, it means: "Make a man mouth happy."

County—

a small fee when they are able to pay, the Court ruled that no such vote would be needed, but all commissioners agreed that such a plan would be good if worked properly.

Road Block Again
Following payment of regular monthly bills, the question of the Lake Leon road block was again brought up by Commissioner Arthur Arther called for immediate action, and suggested the Court name Seaberry and Seaberry, Eastland attorneys, to represent the County in a civil suit against T. A. Utley.

A "price tag" on the service was discussed and Arther said that Virgil Seaberry was out of town and had not quoted a price. The group voted to meet again Wednesday morning at 10 a.m. with Seaberry to ask him what charges would be for handling the civil suit.

All commissioners were present and the meeting was presided over by County Judge Hart.

Criminal—

county attorney is principally charged with prosecuting criminal cases and acting as adviser to county officials. He said he offered to accept a criminal complaint against Utley at that time but no one offered to sign it.

Punishment in such a case in the event of a conviction is by fine not exceeding $200, and following conviction the trial judge may issue an order directing the sheriff to remove the obstruction.

The 1956 Cadillac Coupe de Ville in the dramatically beautiful lobby of the new Styling Section at the General Motors Technical Center

We cordially invite you to visit our showroom this week to celebrate the formal opening of this great institution—and to see and drive the magnificent 1956 Cadillac.

We hope that you will visit our showroom to help us celebrate this historic opening . . . and to see, inspect and drive one of the most brilliant examples of General Motors progress in styling and engineering—the 1956 Cadillac.

In beauty . . . in luxury . . . in performance . . . in everything that makes a motor car a joy to own and to utilize . . . it is unmistakably the "car of cars."

We will be happy to see you at any time—to give you the keys for a personal demonstration drive—and to acquaint you with some news about cost and delivery that we think you will find difficult to resist.

We'll be looking forward to seeing you!

The opening of the fabulous new General Motors Technical Center in suburban Detroit heralds a new era of automotive advancement. No ordinary manufacturer's laboratory, the Technical Center is the world's largest establishment devoted to research in the industrial arts and sciences. More than ten years in the building, it occupies over 330 acres and employs four thousand engineers, scientists, researchers and stylists.

TURKEYS MAY PAY EASTLAND BOY'S WAY THROUGH COLLEGE

(Editor's Note: The following story appeared in Sunday's Fort Worth Star-Telegram.)

"They will pay my way through college unless the market falls out."

Eighteen-year-old Jerry Sims was talking about turkeys, his main project in the Eastland FFA chapter.

It wasn't hard to see that they were his primary interest in life this spring as he told of feeding, disease and management problems he had faced since acquiring his first bunch a few months previously.

You wouldn't know — unless someone had told you — that he had never lived on a farm. His statements were those of an experienced poultryman as he discussed his entry into the turkey raising business when a junior in high school.

It all started when his former employer sold his feed store. Jerry had been working afternoons, Saturdays and summers there since his eighth grade graduation exercises.

The feed store owner, Luther W. Wilson, who now lives in Cleburne, offered Jerry a third of the net profits on 1,200 birds he was feeding out at the time, if Jerry would take care of them until they were marketed. Previously Jerry had been looking after the young poults in the afternoons, and after consulting his father who consented to help out with the morning chores, he agreed to the arrangement.

His part of the net profits from this first bunch of turkeys paid for the necessary equipment to handle his own flock, and by entering into an agreement with one of the major feed companies to finance him, he was able to start 1,140 more young birds in December of 1955.

Despite a loss of more than 100 of the poults after they had almost reached market weight — a loss Jerry chalked up to inexperience — he made $265 net profit on this bunch.

He paid 42 cents for each bird, fed 7,800 pounds of turkey starter, then finishing them on broiler feed, selling them as broilers.

The feed company agreed to finance another bunch, and he had just one week to clean out, disinfect and get his building ready for 1,500 birds he ordered immediately. He was still going to school, and was working for the new owners of the feed store afternoons and Saturdays, but by putting in a few hours late at night he had everything ready on time.

He had cleaned the old litter off, washed the walls and floors with a hose, disinfected and put new litter down. He uses cottonseed hulls for the latter. "They're a lot cheaper and do just about as good a job as higher priced litter," he said.

He lays corrugated paper over the litter until the young turkeys learn to eat, taking it up when they are about a week old. Chick scratch is used to attract their attention to the feed.

He puts up dividing pens and rounds the corners to keep the young turkeys from smothering.

These are left up for about two weeks. "After that it's a matter of keeping the building around 70 degrees and keeping a sharp eye out for disease," he said. He waters them twice a day until they're three or four weeks old, then starts using automatic waterers. His father does his morning chores when he is in school.

Careful, Safe Night Walking Habits Urged
"Playing peek-a-boo with motorists is a deadly game!"
In these words, E. C. McFadden, vice president, Employers' Casualty Company, Dallas, Texas and president, Texas Safety Association, Inc., urged walkers not to obscure their vision with parcels or umbrellas as they cross streets.
"These and other careless walking habits have cost many pedestrians their lives," Mr. McFadden said.
Mr. McFadden reminded walkers to do everything they can to make themselves visible to motorists when walking at night. He advised them to wear light colored clothing when possible and to carry a flashlight. He also recommended the wearing of the new reflectorized garments which make a pedestrian visible in the path of a car's head-lights from a distance of several hundred feet.
