CONFERENCE WILL BE IN WHITE HOUSE

PEEPING THRU THE KNOTHOLE with BILL MAYES

Ten or 12 readers of this column have urged us to remind the Bulldogs that they must play "heads-up" football against Breckenridge in order to win the district and must not let up, even for a moment, during the game Thanksgiving day. We tried to tell them that about the Brownwood game, but they either forgot or didn't read our advice, so we are going to leave that to Eckhardt.

Anyway, the Bulldogs have the best opportunity at the title, though since the Brownwood game they are not rated as "in" by any means. For instance the following, which was clipped from Prexy Anderson's column:

"Thanksgiving week is again upon the Oil Belt, and rarely has it ever brought more excitement to the district.

"The spotlight plays upon the meeting of Breckenridge and Ranger on the Bulldogs' field, with a highly interested non-combatant—Abilene—looking on from a distance, and just as much concerned in the outcome as either of the two teams actually competing.

Abilene will play in Wichita Falls Thursday, a game the Eagles do not care much about winning or losing, but which they probably can take without trying. Brownwood and Eastland will fight it out for last place.

The odds are 2 to 1, if you consider the Buckaroos and the Bulldogs matched, that the game will put Abilene back in the running tied with Ranger or Breckenridge. There are three possible ways for the game at Ranger to end: (1) in a victory for Ranger; (2) in a tie; (3) in a victory for Breckenridge.

DISCUSS PLANS FOR RELIEF AT REGIONAL MEET

The regional directors of the Eastland county relief committee met Saturday afternoon in county courtroom at Eastland with J. E. Spencer of Cisco presiding.

The check for $15,492 for the first half of allotment of $30,984 to Eastland county from R. F. C. for last quarter of year 1932 was apportioned to the regional committee in accordance with agreed schedule.

Cisco, 25 per cent or $3,813; Ranger, 22 1/2 per cent or $3,408.24; Eastland, 20 1/2 per cent or $3,175.86; Rising Star 11 1/2 per cent or $1,781.58; Gorman, 10 per cent or $1,549.20; Carbon, 6 per cent or $893.52; and Desdemona, 5 per cent or $747.60. A uniform wage scale was adopted by regional committee of 35 cents per hour of skilled labor and 25 cents per hour for common labor and a maximum not to exceed 20 per cent of total of local allotment for equipment furnished by laborers.

The object of fund being for relief of needy and unemployed and to relieve distitution of those unable to work.

All future applications for charity of any character heretofore applied for at courthouse in Eastland is to be handled solely by local committee this however does not apply to those regularly receiving aid from county.

A bond for $15,550 conditioned on the faithful administration of the fund was signed by Alex Clarke, W. C. Marlow, Z. O. McHaffey, Dr. H. B. Tanner, E. R. Yarborough, J. E. Spencer, C. L. Garrett, C. A. Kountze, Milburn McCarty, F. E. Harrell, J. C. Elliott, W. C. Hickey, Roy W. Gilbreath, H. D. Stewart, H. Hall and W. E. Taylor.

Eliminating the Tax Burden

At last—one sure way out of the tax problem. Tired of paying taxes, Mrs. Ida Horwitz, 70-year-old boarding house keeper of Paterson, N. J., is having her home torn down as shown here. And how does that help? She is going to convert the site into a cemetery because cemeteries are not taxed in New Jersey.

ARGUMENTS BEING HEARD IN LAND SUIT

By United Press. AUSTIN, Nov. 21.—Arguments that have been allotted three days time were begun in the Texas supreme court here today over boundaries in the Yates oil pool of Pecos county.

More than 50 attorneys representing 200 parties were here for the arguments. The state is interested in the litigation because of oil royalties that go to the public school fund.

Value of the land involved in the litigation has been estimated as high as $250,000,000 and the royalties alone at $25,000,000.

Proper location on the ground of survey lines will determine the case. It is claimed that the Pecos river, one of the boundaries, appears on land office maps at a place different from its actual location.

MORE POLICE TO BE USED ON THURSDAY

Announcement was made today that adequate police protection would be provided at the Breckenridge-Ranger game on Thanksgiving day in order that the crowd, which is already in evidence, can be handled properly.

Additional police are to be hired for the game, with authority to make arrests and to keep the crowd in check. An attempt has been made in previous games to keep the fans from milling around in the area between the playing field and the stands, but lack of help has made this impossible.

With the additional men on the force that day it is expected that the crowd can be kept in their seats and the fences guarded closely enough to prevent anyone from coming over.

Although the police force will be used as courteous as possible, it was announced today that they would be firm in their demands that the crowd remain seated throughout the game and any infractions of the rules would result in arrest, regardless of who is responsible for the infraction of the order.

The public has been urged to co-operate with the police in this matter and refrain from wandering about the grounds during the game.

Fully deputized police will be used and each will have the authority to make arrests of any who do not obey these orders, it was announced, and with the co-operation of the public, everyone will be able to see all the game and at the same time allow other fans to obtain an unobstructed view.

More than 100 millions in commitments to finance 24 self-liquidating projects have been made, but no funds actually advanced as yet.

ROOSEVELT TO DISCUSS DEBTS WITH HOOVER

Garner Is Opposed To Cancellation Or Any Form of Modification.

By United Press. WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—President Hoover's war debt conference tomorrow with President-elect Roosevelt, will take place in the seclusion of the white house proper, it was revealed today in revised plans for the momentous meeting.

The start of one of the most eventful weeks in the nation's history since the close of the World war, found President Hoover today putting the finishing touches on his plan, which he will submit to Roosevelt.

A definite foreign debt policy, which may be expected to extend into the coming democratic administration, was believed in formation.

Governor Roosevelt added to the drama of the coming event by announcing he would stay over in Washington until Wednesday for a conference with democratic leaders in congress.

Wednesday President Hoover also plans to meet with ranking republican and democratic leaders in the house and senate.

By United Press. ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 21.—Unqualified opposition to the modification or cancellation of foreign war debts was expressed here today by Vice President-elect John N. Garner.

Garner, en route from his home in Texas to Washington to attend the conference tomorrow between President Hoover and President-elect Roosevelt, stopped here briefly.

Garner said he believed most of the members of congress are of the same opinion concerning debt cancellations.

Expect Crop Loans To Be Arranged By November 30

By United Press. FORT WORTH, Nov. 21.—The government will expect all crop production loans to be paid or collateralized by Nov. 30, according to James M. Andrews, field inspector.

The loans can be collateralized with cotton at nine cents a pound, the farmer paying the insurance, warehouse and transportation charges.

If the cotton sells for less than nine cents a pound the farmer pays the difference. If it sells for more he gets the surplus.

Eastland Red Cross Drive Starts

The Red Cross Roll Call for Eastland opened on Saturday. Each of the women were allotted a special district in the city for canvassing, being at the headquarters established in the lobby of the Texas State Bank promptly at 9 a. m.

The women will report for the last time Thursday morning to Mrs. McCarty, the drive promoter will close the preceding evening.

Each one canvassing for membership makes a report at intervals through the day and turns over her collections and enrollments to the chairman in the bank building.

Mrs. McCarty reported the roll call is going over fine and meeting with surprisingly good response all things being considered.

Woman Charged In Murder of Her Husband Sunday

By United Press. FORT WORTH, Nov. 21.—Mrs. Estella Wilson, 38 years old, today was under $3,000 bond on a charge of murder in the slaying of her husband, John D. Wilson, 40, at their home here Sunday.

Shortly before he was shot to death, Wilson had entered the kitchen, seized a frying pan and threatened to throw grease on his wife, her elder son, John Wilson Jr., 19, told authorities.

The son said Wilson "drank quite a bit and was fussy and quarrelsome when he was drinking."

Funeral services for Wilson were to be held here late today.

CRAZED YOUTH BOASTS ABOUT KILLING MEN

By United Press. CHICAGO, Nov. 21.—A 17-year-old youth, who twice had been confined in an asylum, sat in a jail cell today and boasted, police said, of the men he had killed and the girls he had attacked.

"Sure, I killed 'em, but the docs say I'm crazy, so what are you going to do about it?" was the remark accredited to James Varcha, accused of terrorizing residents with a series of holdups.

Police said that James confessed killing Frank F. Jordan in a holdup last Wednesday night and to attacking Miss Lillian Henry, niece of former Police Commissioner John A. Alecock.

Lightfoot, also of Cleburne, was wounded here Oct. 12 by a bullet fired from an automobile as he walked down a street. He was accompanied by a woman police identified as Mrs. Ingraham.

The letter received today contained an affidavit from Lightfoot saying he would not prosecute Ingraham.

Union Service Is Held In Ranger Church on Sunday

One of the largest congregations ever to assemble in a church in Ranger was present Sunday night at the union Thanksgiving service, conducted by Dr. E. B. Seaman.

A free-will offering was taken, the proceeds of which will be given to charity and used in Ranger and the Ranger territory.

A Smiling Capone Seeks Freedom

Prison has not dimmed Al Capone's smile, as this photograph shows, although some of his corpulence and immaculate dress seems to have faded.

His clothing was found on the jail roof. The prisoner had been charged with transporting a stolen automobile.

V. Feasel To Be Buried In Ranger

Funeral services were to be conducted at the Evergreen cemetery, Ranger, this afternoon at 4:30 for Valdo Feasel, 65, who died at his home in Ranger Sunday afternoon.

The deceased came to Ranger from Ohio in the early days of the oil boom, working at times for the Prairie Oil & Gas company and the States Oil company.

He is survived by his wife and one son in Ranger and six children by a former marriage, all of whom live in Ohio.

Ingraham May Not Be Prosecuted In Lightfoot Shooting

By United Press. FORT WORTH, Nov. 21.—A letter, received today by District Attorney Jesse Martin, may block the prosecution of Roy Ingraham of Cleburne, charged with assault to murder in the shooting of J. P. Lightfoot.

Lightfoot, also of Cleburne, was wounded here Oct. 12 by a bullet fired from an automobile as he walked down a street. He was accompanied by a woman police identified as Mrs. Ingraham.

The letter received today contained an affidavit from Lightfoot saying he would not prosecute Ingraham.

Predicts Hoover Will Sign Beer Bill If Passed

By United Press. WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—A confident prediction that President Hoover will sign a beer bill, when passed by congress, was made by Representative Britten, republican, Illinois, after a conference with the chief executive today.

Britten said that in view of the mandate of the people who voted wet in many states at the recent election, he believed a beer bill would pass the house in the first week of the coming session of congress.

Doctors Examine Amnesia Victim

By United Press. ASHEVILLE, N. C., Nov. 21.—Alienists examined Col. Raymond Robins in a sanitarium today to discover what ailment the prohibition leader had been suffering from since he disappeared in Sept.

Col. Robins still maintained, according to officials, that his name was "Reynolds Rogers," the name under which, for six weeks, he roamed the North Carolina mountains.

The Colonel, who disappeared enroute to a White House conference with President Hoover, refused to recognize his wife and other relatives.

Unclothed Prisoner Escapes From Jail

By United Press. FORT WORTH, Nov. 21.—An unclothed federal prisoner, booked as G. W. Walton, 24 years old, today escaped from jail by descending past six floors on a flimsy rope made of torn blankets and sheets.

His clothing was found on the jail roof. The prisoner had been charged with transporting a stolen automobile.

You are the American Red Cross. You don't think that in all the distress, turmoil and trouble going on you, yourself, even though tucked away in a little, isolated, forgotten corner of the world, have a wonderful and personal part in bringing comfort and cheer, or alleviation of distress to the suffering, somewhere in this wide world? The beneficence of the American Red Cross, reminds one of the sunshine which spreads its mellow warmth over all alike, over mountain and plain, over rich and poor, just because it is sunshine, and

Week-end MURDER

BEGIN HERE TODAY

The story opens with a prologue in which a murder is committed by a homicidal maniac. Later he boards a train for Long Island, thinking of the pleasant week-end he will have there. The name of the murderer is not disclosed. The scene shifts to the Long Island hotel where LINDA and TOM AVERILL have just arrived. They have been guests for the week-end; COLIN DE VOS, PEABODY, elderly detective, and JIMMY, CAPTAIN DE VOS, handsome Belgian representing a European perfume manufacturer with whom Averill hopes to do business; MR. STABLE, a middle-western manager of the firm Averill works for; MARVIN PRATT, former spoor of Linda and JIM SHAGHNESSY, Irish writer on a lecture tour. Linda Amos immediately makes trouble. He quarrels with Shagnessy because the Irishman holds liberal political views; plays golf with Stalander and infuriates him by criticizing his game; discusses prohibition with De Vos at the Country Club and declares De Vos "a gentleman." It is finally agreed that Cousin Amos will leave early the next morning.

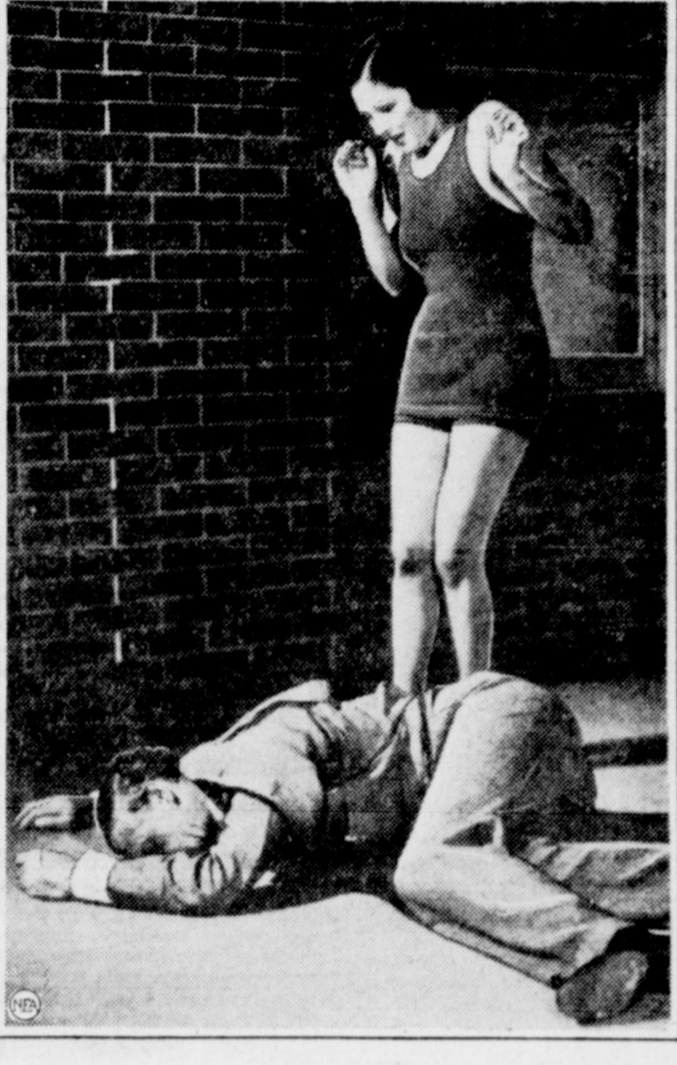

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XI

TOM AVERILL frowned. "Oh, gosh, there we go again talking about the—what did you call them?—potential murderers?" "I wish I never had to see any one of them again," Linda said dejectedly. "Oh, come, Binks! It isn't as bad as that. A few hours of sleep—"

"A few hours? How you do exaggerate! It's almost daylight and I've got to get up in the morning early. Early for him—that's even worse!" "How soon? It's after 5 now." "In about an hour. He gets up about half-past 6 or 7 anyhow and he wants to take a 7-something train that starts at 6 today." Tom whistled silently. Then he began undressing. "Binks," he said, "go to bed. I'll see the old fellow off and tell him you're all in."

"Thanks, but that wouldn't do. It's my job and I'll send him away with a smile. I wouldn't sleep anyhow, Tom. I'd have him on my mind." "Say—here's an idea! Get out of those things and into your bathing suit. This room's an oven and a goodly lot of it'll send him than lying down. If you could find a few clothes and see that he gets breakfast I'll run him to the station and you can go to bed then. I doubt if anyone else shows his face before now." She was already scrambling into the pert little red jersey suit that made her look so boyish and slim. "I'm with you, Tommy! It's a grand idea. Think any of the others—"

"Leave 'em out. Two's company this time and they're all asleep by now, anyhow. Come on!" "Wait—I can't find my cap! You go on—it's here somewhere. I'll be right behind you!" The cap was found and Linda stopped to pick up the sock, a little more widely open and could not help seeing the bed—empty, rumpled, the covers thrown back. Feeling very apologetic, she opened her lips to call him softly. Then, to her astonishment, she heard voices inside the room. Linda stood very still, puzzled. No, they were not exactly in the room. The sudden wrak-wrak-wrak of Cousin Amos' defiantly opened casement giving on the little porch. She relaxed. Evidently her cousin was already about, awakened by the light and idea and having stopped to invite Cousin Amos to join them, called in by the indignant old man to account for the noise and swing of the door. Cousin Amos, of course, would forget entirely his insistence on opening it in spite of her express request that he should not. Well—let Tom bear the brunt of displeasure! Perhaps he could brace it somehow to stop it for the moment. A sudden appalling squeak filled her with renewed alarm lest the sound disturb Marvin Pratt or De Vos. Both of them, she knew, had had all they wanted of Cousin Amos! In fact she had promised that the Belgian, at least, should not even see again the man who had so affronted her. She pulled the door gently to until it all but latched and made her escape unheard, running downstairs rather amused than otherwise at Tom's plight.

But the door on the terrace was open and as she came out into the early sun, she saw a white-backed jersey rising and falling in rhythmic strokes as a familiar figure headed out from shore. Tom, no doubt of it—tired of waiting for her and apparently striking out for distant Connecticut. She prepared to emit the piercing yodel with which she was wont to signal him and checked herself only just in time as she remembered the hour. But if not Tom, who was upstairs with Cousin Amos? A slight scuffle of feet over her head on the little balcony startled her. Could the old man have had a fainting spell—a stroke perhaps? There was something strange about that subdued, shuffling sound! If only Tom, swimming away from her so unconcernedly, would turn so that she could wave him back! Over her head there was a quick jumble of steps, an exclamation, and suddenly a crackling, rending, tearing sound. From above came hurtling a figure—headfirst—turning in the air, not two feet from where she stood, rooted and horrified, under the projecting balcony—to crumple in sickening distortion at her very feet. A white head moved feebly, a face turned toward her. Cousin Amos! A step forward, and she was kneeling beside him, tremblingly smoothing that drawn, white face, breathlessly gasping his name. The eyelids quivered and the blue, childlike eyes looked up at her at first blindly, then with dazed recognition.

"Linda!" She bent down for the painful whisper. "Over—over—"

"Yes, darling—you fall over—"

"No, He... th-threw—"

"No—be—threw—"

There was no answer, nor could Cousin Amos ever tell her more.

HORROR-STRICKEN as she was over the old man's death, Linda grasped the significance of those few broken words. He was trying to tell her something. He had told her—a little. "Over—"

"No—be—threw—"

She started to turn and in that second caught a dark blur moving behind her. Linda had never consciously screamed. Now she could not—yet her throat constricted and her mouth opened in silent, awful pantomime which would have been a scream had breath been there to release it.

A cloth thrown around her neck from behind prevented the sound and, twisted tightly, prevented also her turning head or body to see her assailant. She jerked forward, clutching at the air. As she flung back her head, gasping for breath, she had a vague impression of seeing Tom, miles away, climbing on to the raft. Then water, air and land blurred and darkened and seemed to rush blackly at her with a horrible, dizzy roar. Suddenly, as the roaring grew unbearable, the tension was broken. Air came back to the gasping lungs—yet not quite in time. She swayed, unconscious, on her feet and plied heavily forward into abysmal blackness. (To Be Continued)

LESSON-SERMON GIVEN

"Soul and Body" was the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, for Nov. 20.

Passages from the Bible included this from II Corinthians 3: "Not that we are sufficient of ourselves; but our sufficiency is of God; Who also hath made us able ministers of the new testament; not of the letter, but of the spirit; for the letter killeth, but the spirit giveth life."

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following from the citations from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Whatever is material is mortal. To the five corporeal senses, man appears to be matter and mind united; but Christian Science reveals man as the idea of God, and declares the corporeal senses to be mortal and erring illusions. Divine Science shows it to be impossible for a material body, though interwoven with matter's highest stratum, misnamed mind, should be man—the genuine and perfect man, the immortal idea of being, indestructible and eternal" (p. 477).

DERRICK SHADOWS

By V. MARIE STEPHENS

When masked bandits started to place a lighted candle at her husband's feet, after the bandits already had bound and gagged members of the household, Mrs. George Harrison Frazier, Jr. (above), told the robbers where they could find her jewelry valued at about $9000. Before the robbers started their terrorist tactics they threatened harm to the two children of the socially prominent Philadelphia couple. Shown with Mrs. Frazier is her daughter, Edith.

Every day I am reminded more and more how fast time flies; it seems only yesterday that the schools opened and everyone began wondering what kind of a team Ranger high would have and speculating on the material on the Junior College squad. Here 'tis with the season almost over, Thanksgiving just around the proverbial corner, Christmas looming up ahead, Easter and prosperity not far away in the bright future.

Grace Noll Crowell in her lovely book, "Flame in the Wind," has written a most interesting little poem entitled "God Trusted You With Beauty" (To C. H. R.). The thought that "God trusts so few with beauty—Oh, so few. He must have been so very sure of you."

was a new one to me. Somehow I had never looked upon beauty as a trust, supposing it to be a natural something that came with life and departed with the same. But, looking about at the girls I know, I find it is truly a gift, and a very unusual gift, at that. So few women have real beauty, though the great majority of them may boast of characteristic attractiveness.

This trust, this gift, this thing called beauty lies not only in the eyes, the hair, the mouth, the body... but in the soul and heart.

Ranger's spirit of co-operation shone forth last night when the Rev. Dr. Surface of the Central Presbyterian church of Abilene spoke to representatives of all local churches in a joint Thanksgiving service at the First Baptist church. The several pastors' expressive "amen" in reply to the Rev. Thomas' statement that "this is the largest congregation I've been privileged to pastor in a long time" was somewhat enlightening.

Why do Ranger people not attend church more consistently? Perhaps it is another left-over from the boom days when men were too busy bringing in wells and women too intent on cars and rings and imported dogs.

With every rising sun a new day is born... a new chance extended to a new hope burst in full bloom. If yesterday was all wrong and last week a tangled mess of bitter memories, today is the turning point, maybe. It is time to forget the mistakes you've made, the plans that went awry, the hopes which developed into nothing at all. And it's time to forgive thoughtless remarks and unhappy experiences.

"Nature in the Raw is seldom MILD"

INTO THE VALLEY OF DEATH
"Nature in the Raw"—as portrayed by John Charlton, after the famous painting depicting the heroic Charge of the Light Brigade in the face of a withering fire at the battle of Balaclava in the Crimean War (1854).
"Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—and raw tobaccos have no place in cigarettes.

No raw tobaccos in Luckies —that's why they're so mild

WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.
