Holiday Death Toll Mounts To 400 In Nation

PEEPING THRU THE KNOTHOLE

with BILL MAYES

Nothing on our mind this morning, nothing much in our pocket-book, an old-fashioned stomach ache inside us and a very good Christmas just behind us. As to the stomach ache, like the negro said, "Maybe we et sumthin." Anyway, we are glad Christmas is over for another year, even though we did have a much better Christmas than we expected, as every one seems to have done.

Corsicana has the new state championship football team in the Class A high school division, winning from Masonic Home on penetrations of the 20-yard line in the 0 to 0 game. This was the second contest Corsicana had won in a scoreless tie game which was decided on penetrations. And it was the second year in succession that Greenville had been eliminated by the same route by the state champions. Greenville and Abilene played to a scoreless tie last year as did Greenville and Corsicana this year, Greenville losing both games on penetrations.

The complete schedule and scores of the championship race, if anyone is interested is as follows: In the bi-district Amarillo defeated Ranger 7 to 0; Sweetwater defeated Austin High of El Paso 13 to 6; Sherman won from Vernon 14 to 7; Masonic Home won from Woodrow Wilson 40 to 7; Greenville won from Athens 13 to 6; Corsicana defeated Brackenridge of San Antonio 13 to 0; John Reagan won from Beaufort 32 to 7 and Corpus Christi won from Harlingen 60 to 0.

In the quarter-finals Amarillo defeated Sweetwater 7 to 0; Masonic Home defeated Sherman 20 to 0; Corsicana won from Greenville on penetrations in a 0 to 0 tie and John Reagan won from Corpus Christi 39 to 7. In the semi-finals Masonic Home defeated Amarillo by a score of 7 to 6 while Corsicana was defeating John Reagan by a score of 19 to 7. The state finals, played on Monday at Corsicana, ended in another 0 to 0 victory for Corsicana.

Our guess is that after the trouble that was had in handling the crowd at Corsicana yesterday that all state final games will be played in the larger cities hereafter, either Fort Worth, Dallas or Waco being the site for the games in the future. No doubt the crowd would have been much larger at either Waco or Fort Worth and there would have been plenty of room for all the customers to find a seat and there would have been no trouble in handling the crowd and keeping them off the playing field. All during the game we wondered what the decision would be if someone intercepted a pass and dashed into the spectators around the 40-yard line and snuck through for a touchdown. That would have been a delicate situation for the officials, but it didn't materialize, probably to the everlasting delight of the officials.

Victors in House Vote for Beer

There was real reason for the hearty congratulations you see passing between Speaker Garner, right, and Representative Collier. It was made directly after passage by the House of Collier's beer bill, 230-165, the first anti-prohibition bill to pass the House in more than 13 years. Garner was happy over fulfillment of his pledge to the voters by demonstration of his House leadership.

MASKED KILLER OF BROTHERS IS CAPTURED

By United Press.
TUCUMCARI, N. M., Dec. 27.—A hunt for the masked slayer of two brothers was ended today when authorities whisked Leland Bell, cattleman, from this county to an unannounced jail.

Bell's surrender, late last night, ended a frantic manhunt which led officers far into the "bad lands" of eastern New Mexico. The dead were Everett Fling, 25-year-old cattleman, and his brother, Charles, three years his junior. A third brother, Louis, 17, barely missed death. Everett Fling was slain sometime Christmas Eve. The slayer hid himself in the house after burying the body in the barn. He leaped at the two younger brothers when they entered the front room. Both ran. The masked killer returned to the barn, saddled a horse and again pursued the brothers. Charles was shot as the horseman rode down on him. Louis slipped into a canyon and reached the home of neighbors. He called officers who organized the searching party.

WORLD PROBLEMS SOLVABLE

ATLANTA, Ga.—Three business men from every country in the world, "laying politics aside and sitting down to the same table," could solve the problems of the world, in the opinion of Eugene R. Black, governor of the federal reserve bank here. In a recent address he also said, "We are at the turning point of economic conditions."

ABANDON HOPE FOR 54 MINERS IN MINE BLAST

By United Press.
MOWEAQUA, Ill., Dec. 27.—Moweaqua was a town of heart-break today, all hope abandoned that any of the 54 miners trapped by a blast in the Shafer Mine survived.

The fate of 14 men was still unknown, but rescue forces, grimy and weary from the fight to clear the passage ways of the mine, said chances were less than 1,000 to 1 that any survived. One more body, unidentified, was found late last night when the non-entry of the coal mine was unsealed. Rescuers penetrated only a slight distance. For 100 feet or more a heavy fall of shale and rock blocked the chamber. Several missing men were believed buried under this mass.

Ranger Teachers Get Some Cash During Campaign

A. E. Ringold, school tax assessor of the Ranger Independent School district, stated today that some material benefit had been derived from the campaign of the school board and the Parent-Teachers associations of the Ranger ward schools to secure cash on teachers' warrants before the Christmas holidays.

He reported that several had bought script from teachers and had paid cash and that several other teachers had secured cash on various amounts of scrip they held up to as high as $50.

"There is still need for the work to be carried on," Mr. Ringold stated today, "and the work before Christmas is over, as the teachers will continue to need cash. There is some $7,000 in scrip outstanding at this time and it is likely that a good portion of it will come in within the next month in the payment of taxes. As the teachers still hold a good portion of the scrip there is plenty in the hands of the teachers that can be converted into cash and the warrants issued in payment of either delinquent or current taxes."

U. of T. Professor Makes Seismograph

By United Press.
AUSTIN.—A seismograph of his own making, calculated to eliminate errors of others, is to be installed at the University of Texas by Dr. Arnold Romberg, professor of physics. Old seismographs at the university were little used because of recording errors, attributable in main to the tilting of the instrument caused by reaction of parts of the device to temperature and weather conditions. Excessive magnifications and recording errors resulted from expansion and contraction of component parts under influence of the weather.

Dr. Romberg's seismograph is built on a new principle of "tilt compensation" which eliminates these errors. It has been in various stages of usage and experimentation in the basement of Main building since 1922 and now will be set up in the new Physics building. The new seismograph, to record earthquakes and shocks in the earth's crust, is fundamentally the same as others. Its basic principle is the suspension of a heavy mass by a flexible cord attached to a mast. When the mast is disturbed the heavy mass moves slowly, oscillating in the manner of a clock pendulum.

Recording of these movements is delicate. The instrument is placed in a dark room. A shaft of light passes across its surface to a mirror which moves with the heavy mass. The mirror reflects the light through a spherical condensing lens reducing the light to a point. The light point strikes a drum covered with bromide paper, changing the color of the paper wherever it falls, thus leaving its own record.

The drum turns at a speed of 16 millimeters a minute causing the light to trace a line on the paper. Longitudinal waves are the first recorded. The time of arrival of each set of waves is recorded. The speed of each wave is known. From these two factors the distance of the earthquake from the seismograph is calculated.

To determine the location of the earthquake it is necessary for three stations to record the shock. When each station has computed its distance from the earthquake three circles, with the three stations as centers and their respective earthquake distances as radii, are drawn on a map. The location of the earthquake is at the point where the three circles intersect.

Scout Committees To Meet Jan. 5th At Brownwood

By United Press.
J. E. Meroney, scout commissioner of Ranger, is in receipt of a letter from Guy N. Quiri, scout executive of the Comanche Trail Council, announcing a meeting of the committee, scoutmasters and officials of the council, to be held at Brownwood on Thursday, Jan. 5. The meeting is scheduled for 2:45 Thursday afternoon with a banquet to be held in the evening at one of the Brownwood hotels. Those from Ranger who have been urged to attend are district committee members C. E. May, W. C. Hickey, Rev. D. W. Nichol, H. C. "Andy" Anderson, W. H. Mayes, Jr., and J. C. Smith; troop committee members Clyde H. Davis, J. A. Throuer, R. V. Galloway, Walter Harwell, A. J. Ratliff and Ben Whitehouse; scoutmasters C. G. King and B. S. Lemma and assistant scoutmasters Clyde Alworth, F. M. Hicklin and George L. Bowen.

Man Dies After Fist Fight With His Two Brothers

By United Press.
FORT WORTH, Dec. 27.—Elijah Caraway, died today from injuries received in a fist fight among brothers, Christmas Eve. Officers were told Caraway had been drinking. The brothers did not think Caraway was seriously hurt in their Saturday night scrap. Yesterday he became unconscious and was carried to a hospital. X-ray examination disclosed an eight-inch fracture of the skull.

Man Charged In Death of Father

By United Press.
AUSTIN, Dec. 27.—Murder charges were filed against Carl Anderson, 28, here today, in the fatal shooting of his father, C. A. Anderson. Bond was set at $2,000. Anderson told police he shot twice in self-defense as his father advanced on him when he tried to stop a family quarrel.

VOCATIONAL EDUCATION DECLINES, SAYS DEAN

By United Press.
PHILADELPHIA.—According to Dr. Christian Gauss, dean of men at Princeton university, there will be less and less vocational education during the next 20 years. "The increase in leisure will bring the problem of leisure to the fore," he said, "and those who have had vocational education stressed will find themselves in need of a new education."

TWENTY-SIX ARE KILLED OVER TEXAS

Automobile and Train Accidents Account For Half of Deaths.

By United Press.
More than 400 persons lost their lives during the double holiday, Christmas Day and Monday, in automobile crashes, train accidents and shooting affrays and by poisonous liquor and eke, a United Press survey showed today. More than half of the fatalities were due to automobile and train accidents and almost one-half of the remainder resulted from homicides and suicides. The greatest single catastrophe was the Moweaqua, Ill., mine disaster. In Texas the week and casualties totaled 26 persons. Twelve were killed in automobile accidents, ten others in shootings and six burned to death.

Railroads to Start Campaign to Get Passenger Trade

By United Press.
WASHINGTON.—The railroads are preparing for a united campaign to recapture lost passenger traffic. They are considering three means of luring passengers away from automobile, bus, and airplane competition—reducing fares, providing greater comfort for travelers, increasing train speeds. Representatives of eastern, western and southern passenger traffic associations at an executive session here this week determined to attack the problem from three angles, the United Press learned today. The traffic men later will report their findings to the association of railway executives. The association, in turn, will present to the interstate commerce commission a plan supported by all roads. The executives arguing for lower fares as the best means of increasing passenger travel appear to be in the minority. Opponents, particularly officials of southwestern roads, contend reductions would not increase travel enough to bring a net gain in revenues. A disadvantage to a general plan calling for increased comfort to passengers lies in the cost of remodeling equipment and installing air conditioning apparatus and other features to lessen noises and vibration. But it is from the points of comfort and fares that many executives believe they may meet competition. They also expect some help in this respect if they can succeed in establishing government control over bus companies operating in interstate commerce. Railroad executives are divided on the subject of increasing the speed of their trains. Some contend airplanes are not a major factor in the decline in rail travel and argue that the added cost of increased speed would more than offset the gain in traffic. At the same time, several lines are spending large sums improving rolling stock and road beds for this very purpose. One line is replacing 130-pound rails with 156-pound rails, a move considered desirable if trains are to travel 100 miles an hour or faster. Information prepared for the Coolidge railroad relief campaign by the Association of Railway Executives indicates that interurban motor bus companies in 1930 took 7,000,000,000 (B) passenger miles of traffic formerly secured by railroads. In the same year, railroads reported 34,300,000,000 passenger miles of traffic, and airlines accounted for 100,000,000 passenger miles. The peak of rail passenger traffic came in 1920. Since then there has been a steady decline. Private automobiles have increased from 8,216,000 to 22,967,000 since 1920 and motor buses from 10,000 to 91,800.

Eastland Couple To Move To Austin

Mr. and Mrs. Ghent Sanderford are making their arrangements this week to move their household goods from Eastland to Austin, sometime between the first and eighth of January. They will make their home in Austin, where Mr. Sanderford will enter the private practice of law. The Sanderfords have lived in Eastland about five years, coming here from Austin. The past year Mr. Sanderford has conducted a law business in East Texas, spending the week-ends in Eastland with his family.

Youth and Gayety and Christmas Lights. The home of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Perkins was thrown open Monday evening for a "night after Christmas" party, honoring their charming daughter Betty, and enjoying a party of the exquisite decoration, of southern smilax, in deep waffle frills studded with tiny electric lights; mantel banked in holly and smilax, and lighted with candleabra, draperies wreathed in graceful foliage, and brilliantly decorated Christmas tree shedding its gleams over the three rooms arranged for dancing, to victrola and radio music.

Rugs were rolled back and the polished floors were a veritable invitation to dancing young feet. The girls were in really truly evening gowns in pastel shades, possibly the first in-step length gown several had ever worn, and the refreshing gaiety of these young society buds, was as charming as their surroundings, a real fairy like scene.

Buffet service afforded ice cream, fruit cake, dates and Christmas candies, at close of a wonderful evening, marked by the quaint Virginia reel, and enjoyed by Ann Clark, Fayette Campbell, Betty Stire, Eleanor Ruth Ferguson, Mary Price, Joan Johnson, Mary Frances Street, and young hostess, Betty Perkins; Horace Horton, Parker Brown, Bobby Dwyer, Roger Arnold, Gilbert Clark, Rex Gray, Clyde Chaney, Raymond Pipkin, Bobby Perkins, and the small daughter of the hostess, Dorothy Perkins.

Ball Cards: Reception Book Club Entertainment: Tonight is the night: The Book club ball, cards and reception to-night at 9:30 o'clock, Connellee roof garden, will be a real milestone in the way of entertainment for the support or assistance in supporting the public library of Eastland, and deserves a very large attendance both on account of the splendid entertainment offered in the Red Krause band of Wichita Falls, of nine pieces and the additional attraction for those not dancing, provided in the room reserved for cards and anagrams, to be hosted by Mrs. Milburn McCarty.

Committees from the Book club have been busily decorating the Connellee roof ballroom, which is transformed into a beautiful pagoda in scarlet and green carrying out the Christmas and New Year colors.

Tables have been placed in the cardroom where provisions for anagrams have also been made. A large number of guests are expected from Ranger, Cisco and Breckenridge for the ball according to the statement of Mrs. Neal Day, general chairman of arrangements.

Pretty Home Wedding on Christmas Eve. Mrs. Lucille Pritchard nee Lucille Earnest and Sam H. Johnson, both of Eastland, were united in marriage on Christmas eve at the home of the brother of the bride, J. O. Earnest.

The entire home was beautifully decorated in the warm Christmas colors and evergreen. The beautiful ring ceremony was used by Rev. W. C. Lipscomb, pastor of the First Christian church, of which the bride is a member.

Mr. and Mrs. Earnest were charming in their arrangements for the pretty event attended by only closest friends and relatives. The bride was arrayed in a handsome gray ensemble and donned a heavy twill fur trimmed gray coat and hat ensue when the happy couple left for a short wedding trip.

Mr. Johnson is the brother of J. B. Johnson of the Modern Dry Cleaners and has been here about seven years.

The former Mrs. Pritchard has lived in Eastland the greater part of her life.

Her little daughter, Ruby Lee Pritchard, is spending the winter with her grandparents in Bewille.

Mrs. Pritchard had been a valued employee of the J. B. Cole Dry Goods company.

Following the ceremony, Mrs. Earnest served a dainty refreshment of fruit cake and coffee to Mrs. J. B. Johnson and Mrs. J. O. Earnest, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Pool, the bride and groom, Mr. and Mrs. Sam H. Johnson, and host and hostess.

Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Sam H. Johnson will reside at 211 West Patterson street.

SPEAKING of SPORTS

By United Press. Just a Few Notes From World of Sports. Long Island university gave up football last year. Now they go in for horseshoe pitching in a large and outstanding way. They have held their first tournament to decide the best horseshoe pitcher of all the Long Island University horseshoe pitchers.

Normie Himes, star center of the New York American hockey team, does not like to have the national athletes of the United States and Canada played at the start of National League games, according to popular belief. Normie is not so cold but he's plenty bald and hates to take off his black cap.

Harvard and Princeton are on the verge of patching up their squabble and resuming athletic competition. The sports dove of peace may fly away before its mission is fulfilled, but negotiations looking to an end of the disagreement are now well under way.

The Army-Navy game at Franklin Field, Philadelphia, Dec. 3, is already a sell-out. There have been precious few sell-outs at major games this football season. This is so despite drastic price cuts.

David Lord Burghley, 1928 Olympic 400-meter champion, and finalist in the 100 and 400-meter events of the 1932 games, is expected to retire after competitions he plans for next spring. Jerry Cornes, another British track star, who specialized in the 1,500-meter, already has retired. Cornes was runner-up in the Olympic 1,500-meter this year, trailing Luigi Bealzi, the Italian surprise winner.

Jimmy Foxe might have broken Babe Ruths home run record of 61 homers had it not been for the screen erected in the St. Louis outfield. The screen wasn't there when Ruth made his mark. And Foxe laid half a dozen hits against it.

PARIS STYLES. By United Press. PARIS.—Tiny buttons down the front and big bows down the back is just one of the many interesting ways that Mile. Gabrielle Chanel has of varying the evening gown landscape. This particular gown is made of a light mat-surfaced apple-green velvet from Lyons. It is number 18 of her last collection. The front is the slimmest, simplest thing you ever saw. A rather wide V shapes the décolletage from the depth of which starts a straight row of 12 tiny strass buttons. The back is also V-shaped and very deep but there are three bows across the dorsal surface, one large one extending from shoulder tip to shoulder tip, the next across the center of the back, and the third, very small, just at the tip of the V. Over one shoulder from the top bow is a scarf end which comes forward over the gown and either just hangs down or crosses the throat and returns to the back via the opposite shoulder. With this gown, green velvet shoes and gloves, and small evening purse are the appropriate accessories after the mode. The gloves are loose over the arms and crushed slightly from below the elbow to the wrist. A pale green chiffon handkerchief may be the one "wisp" touch if you like it. For morning wear or for country week-ends is a striped brown and beige tweed skirt with rounded points above the waist line. It has a periwinkle blue Jerseyll blouse and a short tweed jacket in a light chocolate brown. Mrs. Richard Norton and Mrs. George Dixon are among the smart women who have this ensemble.

HERE--- AND THERE

By Elvie B. Jackson

Perhaps not in many years has this nation known such an unselfish Christmas. Such a genuine outpouring of the spirit of helpfulness and such a real observance of the Golden Rule.

For many, many beautiful social affairs and club functions of special holiday brilliance with their attendant expensive gifts or gift interchange have this year been marked by the character and purpose of the gifts which have been of such a nature, that they have had their chance to be acquired and appreciated by the recipient, and then have been re-wrapped and passed on to children to be used as Christmas gifts, children who would have otherwise had no gifts; and to cheer homes, where Santa could not enter this year.

Then there was the great and open hospitality of George Karantons, Ernest Halkias, and Sam Diamond and all the other boys of the Majestic Cafe, who did not let their right hand know what their left hand was doing, and whose widows and guests fared alike with no discrimination as to distinction or in fact knowledge which was the other.

A delicious dinner on Christmas Day in a cheerful setting of Christmas greens and coral strands, and bright red bells. Undoubtedly the minds of the hosts, harkened back to their own sunny homeland, but the loyalty of those citizens of the United States remains unchanged.

And you see the "little kiddies" playing into the morning matinee at the Connelle Theatre Saturday, all of them guests of Mr. and Mrs. Belcher, and the Chronicle, and each little boy or girl as happy as a June bug. For up there on the stage was a fat jolly Santa a beautiful Christmas tree, and dozens of pretty packages in bright red cellophane covering what they received from Santa's own hand. Such delicious candy, nuts and fruits, and toys other little children brought, just for them. It did one's heart good to look over the theater filled with this young, teeming life, and hear their voices as they joy over the exploits of the "Passionate Plumber," a picture they greatly enjoyed.

And then the great baskets of toys distributed by the 3-49 class all Christmas Eve, 50 enormous hampers full, some of the toys going into homes, where grimy, pale children watched for Santa through a dirty window, in which hung a tattered curtain.

The Community Christmas Eve dinner and play evening at the Walter L. Clark home, showed what could be developed along these lines, in community service.

A house full of happy little boys and girls had their fill of delicious Christmas dinner before Santa came, to hand out the big stack of lovely new toys and playthings, the gift of the clubs of Eastland.

Yes, we are learning to be unselfish, but it has taken suffering, fear, and privation as well as a desire to participate to bring us to the point of knowing the actual meaning of the Golden Rule.

That we may all have a happier New Year is the ardent wish on every tongue. The world needs a new year, really new. A year in which selfish actions and motives can be controlled and a gentler thought concerning the worth and value of other people instilled.

STATE FOREST AREA SET

HARRISBURG, Pa.—The area of the Pennsylvania state forests was set at 1,586,358 acres by the Department of Forests and Waters. The forest land was acquired at a cost of $3,856,038, or approximately $3.43 an acre.

BAKERSFIELD, Cal.—The last of the famous wild horros of the Mojave Desert provided Thanksgiving dinners for hundreds of itinerants stranded on the desert after futile search for work at Boulder Dam. It was reported by hundreds of itinerant families, attracted to the Boulder Dam by the hope of employment, were left penniless on the desert when the home failed to materialize. Many of them, reports said, adopted a diet of stewed burro meat while slowly making their way back to the cities.

When elderly AMOS PEABODY falls to his death from the second story balcony of TOM AVERILL'S Long Island home LINDA, Tom's wife, believes it is murder. Peabody was her cousin. Rushing to the balcony, Linda feels something thrown about her throat, almost strangles and faints.

They had stroked for the little ladder and she pulled herself up, feeling that fate indicated it was time to talk to Mr. Statlander. "You don't care much for the water, Mr. Statlander?" He cleared his throat. "Why, yes—as a rule, I'm a little out of practice now. I don't get much time for swimming."

"That," he observed, treading water and puffing alarmingly, "was a swan dive. Perhaps I should rechristen it the watus at play. I'd no idea it would carry me so far, Mrs. Averill. Are you drowned altogether?" "Not entirely," replied Linda. "They had stroked for the little ladder and she pulled herself up, feeling that fate indicated it was time to talk to Mr. Statlander."

"It's time to go in. I was about to swim back to shore myself." (Linda was quite sure he would have gone when he was ready and left her stranded on the raft.) "You're in better practice than I'd like to test my strength yours."

Elks To Entertain With New Year's Dance Merriment and laughter will mingle gaily with popular dance hits Saturday evening when the Elks club entertains with their annual New Year's Eve dance.

The club will be brightly decorated for this affair and serpentine and confetti and noise makers of different kinds will also lend an added effect to the scene of enjoyment which points and promises to be a real success as far as the attendance is concerned.

Clayton Hunt and his seven-piece dance band will play and even the musicians are looking forward with unusual anticipation to this particular dance engagement.

Shortly before the old year fades away and 1933 is welcomed in with many voices echoing "Happy New Year everybody," a wedding of wide spread interest will occupy a period of the hour.

Plan on spending from 9:30 until 2 o'clock at the Ranger Elks Club as you as copy as you can be found in West Texas.

Rev. H. H. Stephens Performs Ceremony Rev. H. H. Stephens, who has been confined to his home, Pine Grove, for the past week suffering from influenza, through a special request from a Ranger couple, performed the ceremony Dec. 24, uniting in marriage Miss Myrtle May McGee and William Simpson, who recited their vows at the home of the pastor.

Mr. and Mrs. Simpson will make their home here, where many friends extend good wishes.

Miss Maxwell To Present Pupils in Colorful Dance Rev. Miss Maxwell will favor the theatre goers with an unusually delightful treat this evening when she presents a group of Ranger pupils in a colorful revue from the stage of the Arcadia theatre, at 8:30 o'clock.

Beautiful costumes of unique design and color combinations will be featured for this occasion. The taps, ballads and robotic numbers will compose the dance program, to be presented by the following well known Ranger children:

Carolyn Ducker, Patricia Young, Virginia Coadwell, Dorothy Henry, Cecelia McDowell, Catherine Jane Conley and Frank Conley.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Barnett visited Mr. Barnett's parents at Merkel Sunday, bringing home with them as their house guest for 10 days Miss Laura Marie Barnett, a sister of Mr. Barnett. Miss Barnett is listed with the out-of-town reliever students at Simmons university.

R. L. McCleskey of Breckenridge spent the week-end at home with his family, Strawn highway.

Mrs. J. F. Lester of Hico is visiting at the home of her grand-daughter, Miss Lois Landtroop.

Miss Josephine Matlock, student at St. Joseph hospital at Fort Worth, was the week-end guest of her sister, Mrs. E. A. Gregoriet and family, Sinclair camp.

Mrs. N. J. Navokich and daughter, Miss Margaret, were Eastland visitors Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Stokes and daughter, Thelma, were Eastland guests Sunday, visiting Mr. Stokes' mother who has recently moved to Eastland from Coleman.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Clarke and family are visiting in Denison, the guests of friends and relatives.

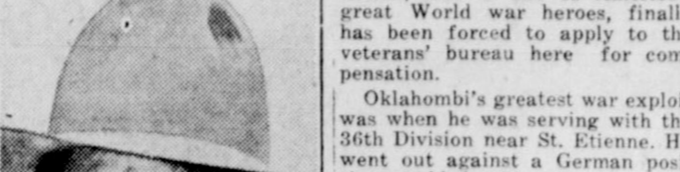

Mr. and Mrs. George Parsons and son, of Ladonia, Texas, are in Ranger, visiting in the home of Mrs. Parsons' parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Plamley.

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Kilgore and daughter were out of town over the week-end, visiting at Fort Worth.

Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Davis and son were the Christmas day dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Smith, Wilson and Summit streets.

Miss Mildred Grant of Fort Worth visited her mother, Mrs. Ora Grant, Saturday and Sunday. Miss Grant was accompanied home by her sister, Miss Lucille Grant, who spent several days in Fort Worth last week.

Jobless War Hero Asks U. S. Aid

Oklahombi, full-blooded Choctaw Indian, who is one of America's great World War heroes, finally has been forced to apply to the veterans' bureau here for compensation.

Oklahombi's greatest war exploit was when he was serving with the 36th Division near St. Etienne. He went out against a German position studded with machine guns and trench mortars, captured the position and 171 prisoners.

The wife over, Oklahombi went back to his own country, lived simply on a small farm with his wife and son. Now, 15 years after his heroism, jobless, he has asked for veterans' relief.

Two Buildings to Be Added to the State's Equipment

AUSTIN.—Called upon by Governor-elect Miriam A. Ferguson to suggest how 25 per cent may be cut from their expenditures with least harm, the state board of control is looking askance at two new buildings that come under its care.

Since the last state budget was adopted the former Travis county courthouse has been remodeled and now is a state office building. A building under construction for the state highway department will be ready sometime in February.

Occupancy of the two buildings in direct appropriations or came out of special funds and did not affect the board of control budget for its own expenditures.

Penney Preparing For Spring Goods

J. C. Penney Company's Ranger store is offering specials in coats, millinery and dresses for a short time in an after-Christmas event that has been designed especially to reduce their stocks in the shortest possible time.

Now that the Christmas season is over the management is looking forward to the arrival of spring goods and room must be made for the large shipments that are expected. For a short time these items are being offered at special prices, marked down for quick sale.

D. Joseph Offers Specials On Coats

In order to make room for new, spring merchandise that will soon be arriving, now that the Christmas season is over, Joseph D. Goods company is offering winter coats at reduced prices.

These coats are the same styles and models for which many paid much higher prices within the last few weeks, but in order to reduce the stock before the spring merchandise arrives these new prices have been made available for a short time.

OAKLAND, Calif.—Susie, who is a gentleman cat despite his name, when chased by three dogs, climbed a 15-foot palm tree and howled by night and day for five days until assembled neighbors, the humane society, Oakland prevention of cruelty to animals society, and a fire department crew succeeded in rescuing him.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BY SISTER MARY, N.E.A. Service Writer IN case you haven't the recipes for some of the more unusual dishes suggested in the Christmas dinner menus, I'm supplying them today.

Yorkshire pudding is far from new but comparatively few home-makers serve it. It's typically English and traditional with roast beef.

Monday's Menu BREAKFAST: Orange juice, cereal cooked with raisins, cream, crisp toast, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON: Creamed oysters on toast, celery hearts, pear and rice pudding, milk, tea.

DINNER: Mold of salt cod-fish and vegetables with egg sauce, jellied cabbage salad, canned cherries, Christmas cookies, milk, coffee.

egg until stiff and dry and fold into mixture, adding nutmeg. Shape between two buttered spoons and bake on a buttered sheet in a moderate oven until delicately browned. The potatoes can be baked and mashed ready for the seasoning and egg the day before wanted for serving.

Here's A B C of New "Allotment Plan" For Farm Aid

Here's the A B C of the "voluntary allotment plan" now before Congress, newest and most discussed proposal for farm relief. It would raise farm prices by the payment of an "adjustment fee"—sometimes called a bonus—on crops grown for domestic consumption, the fee being equal to the import tariff charged against similar food-stuffs imported from abroad.

By vote of 60 per cent of the farms producing a given crop, the federal government would declare the plan operative. The government would then determine the amount of production required for domestic needs, and apportion this figure among the states and counties. Farmers who joined the plan would agree to reduce their acreage proportionately.

DERRICK SHADOWS

Well, again we used the old and much-worn phrase: "It's all over. The relatives who descended so unexpectedly upon us have returned to their homes, the turkey and cake have disappeared mysteriously down hungry little throats and Johnny and Mary are wailing with aching tummies, and we've begun wondering again what we'll give dad next Christmas. It was lovely while it lasted, and now we're back to business again, asking everyone we see the idiotic question: "Did Santa come to see you?"

He sat in a big-armed chair and puffed dreamily at his beloved pipe and told me tales of the western pioneer days, and I found myself getting wide-eyed and open-mouthed at his stories. He has a mental mint of treasures stored away, enough to last him an eternity, and he loves to re-live those days: face a gun, build a bank, establish a county, preach under a brush arbor. He hasn't skimmed along the surface of life, he has dipped into the very pits of experience and come out again... richer and wiser and happier for it. And through it all he has learned to know and understand God's greatest puzzle... man. His life shames the word existence. It is a goal.

I watched them from my back window. There were six of the little birds pecking questioningly among the grass, blissfully unaware of the cat behind the box within a paw's slap away. Somewhere a half block down the street a firecracker popped and, with much muttering and squawking, they flew frantically to a nearby tree for safety. How like us they are, these tiny feathered creatures. Fearing the harmless something with the loud roar in the distance, failing to watch the subtle enemy just around the corner. Again, it's the little that counts... but you've heard all about that.

The news is giving us some more mad men, Mr. Judge who declares there is no sane man capable of committing crime. When divine heroes take it upon themselves to murder, something ought to be done. Fanatics who carry their hobbies into the realm of death are not desired neighbors. Perhaps the men are crazy. If such is true, they are of no earthly benefit to man. Were the states to deal with mad men as such characters have dealt with their own victims it is my opinion America would find a great many of her insane resorting back to normal mentality.

Man is not given the right to kill, but it seems to me a few samples of the "eye for an eye, tooth for tooth" idea should go a long way toward decreasing the crime wave to a mere ripple. The world is afflicted with enough suffering due to accidents over which man has no power without letting supposedly divine killers run loose throughout the land. Is it not enough that homes should be broken and hearts shattered by earthquakes and mine blasts and cyclones? Must we go blindly on allowing fiends to walk through our homes leaving disaster behind them. When such men commit their dastardly deeds I cast my vote for capital punishment.

New York is stealing Chicago's tradition, with gangsters aiming at invisible bull's eyes scattered around over restaurant windows. Since the latter has procured herself a new mayor and declared that gangdom shall become a mere memory, the metropolis must see a chance to break into headlines with effective machine guns. Maybe New York needs a new mayor. And speaking of mayors, that reminds me that some clever editor-in-chief has made his name even more outstanding by making the statement that with Gandhi and Jimmy Walker both in India the place should be a newspaperman's paradise.

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—A new home, in which room and board for women is furnished at $3 a week for those earning less than $10 a week, has been opened here by the Women's Auxiliaries Welfare association.

Liquor Sold "With No Expense"

BOSTON.—Imported wines, choice brandies and rum once were sold and delivered "with no expense" in the cellar of the Old South Meeting House, where Benjamin Franklin was baptized and where the "town-meetings" that ushered in the Revolution were held. The wine-cellar quarters now are occupied by a book shop.

CANON CITY, Colo.—Main street is Main street again in Canon City. Two months ago the city council, as an economy measure ordered every other street light turned off. Now, after an agreement with the power company, the lights have been burned out again and Main street shines out in all its glory.

He Wrote the Greatest Dramatic Hit of 1932!

They Didn't Dare Let Him Stay at Large... He Knew Too Much!

TODAY!

He is Free—Yesterday Behind Prison Bars!

But...

His story goes crashing across America, beating against the doors of emotion in heart of our nation. He was a fugitive, he dared expose—he spared nothing—he ripped the lid off a living hell and stirred the tears and pity of a multitude.

IT'S THE TRUE-TO-LIFE STORY OF A TRUE-TO-LIFE MAN!

Watch the crowds as they come out of this theatre. WOMEN... with tears in their eyes! MEN... ready to fight! Come to SEE THIS PICTURE—if you are BIG ENOUGH TO SEE IT!

The Lash That Ripped Across His Flest Now Tears The Heart of All America!

A great film from a great book! A famous best-seller based on the experiences of its author, Fugitive Robert Burns.

It's tense from first to last and there isn't a minute you won't be living with the fugitive... hiding, fearing, cringing under the lash, sweating under a broiling sun!

SEE IT--LIVE IT!

SEE THE STAR OF "SCARFACE" in an entirely different kind of role—a part that will make you love—not hate him!

CAST OF 40! And hundreds of others including Helen Vinson, Glenda Farrell, Preston Foster, Sheila Terry.

EVERY SWISH OF THE LASH screams the horror of actual present-day conditions that match the terrors of the Spanish Inquisition.

WARNER BROS.' supreme contribution to the talking screen—even greater than their "Public Enemy," "Disraeli" and "Gold Diggers."

MILLIONS have waited for the REAL truth about the chain gang... and Robert E. Burns tells it in his shocking, thrilling best-seller that now lives on the screen!

HERS WAS THE KISS OF JUDAS!
The fury of this scorned woman sent him back to the hell-on-earth which only she knew he had escaped!
