President Calls In Ashurst And Summers To Discuss Method Of Putting Proposals To Congress; Committee Study In The House Slated To Begin Tomorrow

DISCUSSION—Rep. Hiram W. Johnson (left) chairman of the house judiciary committee, and Speaker William B. Bankhead are shown above as they conferred immediately after President Roosevelt's message to congress on reorganization of the federal judiciary.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8 (AP)—Sen. Hiram Johnson of California returned to the capitol today and immediately took a leading position in the battle to defeat President Roosevelt's court reorganization program.

In a formal statement, Johnson said: "The issue, stripped of its verbiage, seems to me plain: shall the congress make the supreme court subservient to the presidency?"

He thus aligned himself with Senator Borah (R-Ida) and others who are preparing to take the president's program to the nation.

Johnson is one of the little band of republicans who supported Roosevelt for the presidency in 1932. He did not, however, take any part in the president's re-election campaign.

The Californian issued his statement just before Chairman Ashurst (D-Ariz) and Summers (D-Tex) of the senate and house judiciary committee went to the White House for a luncheon conference with the president to discuss the court reorganization proposals.

"The implications of this are so grave and far-reaching," Johnson said, "I can do but one thing, and that is, to the limit of my capacity, oppose this extraordinary legislation."

Johnson has been in Florida recuperating from a long illness.

High officials interpreted submission of the question to congress at this time as due to a desire on the part of the president to achieve what he described as judicial reform before recommending legislation on wages and hours and farm production control.

These authorities argued it would be unwise and poor strategy to attempt revival of the principles of

STRIKE STILL IN DEADLOCK

State Funds For Hospital Recommended

Strange Back From Austin Where Leaders Contacted On City's Bid

Back from Austin where he had gone in the interest of Big Spring as a site, W. T. Strange, Jr., chamber of commerce manager, today expressed satisfaction that the board of control had included an appropriation for $224,000 for an eleemosynary institution in West Texas.

The board made a recommendation for a West Texas institution to house 540 patients and to cost $224,000, in its report today on appropriations for the biennium starting Sept. 1, 1937.

Strange had contacted legislators from this section in behalf of the bill and of Big Spring as a location for the proposed hospital for insane.

Appropriation First He said that outlook for both was good, and that the first thing to be done was to get through an appropriation to cover necessary expenditure.

Lubbock and Sweetwater were represented in Austin, both making determined bids for the hospital. Strange said he anticipated several other cities from this section entering the race for location of the hospital.

Confident that Big Spring could acquire the hospital if it is provided for by the legislature, Strange said that it would take the "wholehearted co-operation of the entire citizenry."

Land, Water Needed

Among other things which the hospital will require will be a tract of tillable land in connection with the grounds site. It will also require water facilities.

While preparing a brief for the Big Spring case, Strange indicated that options on several pieces of land would be obtained. He had been working quietly on the case for several months.

Board Sets Up Total Figure Of 14 Million

AUSTIN, Feb. 8 (AP)—The board of control recommended today appropriations totaling $14,225,299 for eleemosynary institutions in the biennium starting Sept. 1, 1937.

The recommendations, 24 per cent more than appropriations for the current two-year period, provided $2,029,000 for construction of inmate buildings and $807,000 for plants, storerooms and equipment.

Salaries of physicians and employees would be increased an average of 10 per cent.

New inmate buildings recommended for the insane included: Austin state hospital, two ward buildings for 270 patients, $230,000; Ruak state hospital, two buildings for 300 patients and renovation of old buildings, $348,500; San Antonio state hospital, six buildings for 810 patients, $674,500.

Other institutions: Austin state school and farm colony, eight buildings housing 650, $480,000; Abilene state hospital, two buildings for 150, $115,000; state tuberculosis sanatorium near San Angelo, one building for 72 patients, $110,000; girls training school at Galveston, one building for 60, $60,000; state orphan home, one boys' cottage, $12,500.

Texas Argue Court Issue

Resolution Offered In Senate To Denounce FD's Proposals

AUSTIN, Feb. 8 (AP)—President Roosevelt's proposal to reform the supreme court evoked caustic criticism by resolution and debate in the Texas senate today.

Action on the resolution, which was introduced by Sen. T. J. Holbrook of Galveston, white-haired dean of the wholly democratic upper legislative chamber, was temporarily deferred to permit a joint session with the house of representatives on another matter.

Holbrook was joined in denouncing the presidential proposal by Sen. Clint C. Small of Amarillo, another senate veteran and former candidate for governor.

Some other senators counseled further study of the proposition while Sen. Claud Westerfield of Dallas said he was "ready to go along with the president."

Sen. Weaver Moore of Houston offered a substitute resolution for that by Holbrook toning down the language but recommending to Texas members of congress that they do their best effort against the presidential request for additions to the supreme court personnel.

Declaring the senate should express itself on a matter of such importance to the nation, Senator Small asserted "this is the beginning of actual destruction of our government."

"The supreme court is one thing left in this country in which the people can take a great deal of pride," he said. "It is efficient and courageous, well up on its work and there is no necessity for more members. I cannot think of a single reason for increasing the membership. It is one of the greatest tributes the country ever has had."

EDWARD TAKING A LITTLE MORE TIME ON WEDDING PLANS

VIENNA, Feb. 8 (AP)—Carefree and affectionate, the Duke of Windsor took his sister Mary to browse among the Hapsburg art collections in Schronbrunn palace today—seemingly not so anxious as before to make haste in wedding Wallis Simpson.

It was reported authoritatively the Duke, after several intimate fireside chats with the princess royal, now was inclined to more deliberation in making the wedding arrangements, and might decide on a civil ceremony in Hungary.

However, all authoritative quarters said they were "completely in the dark" as to rumors, circulated in London, that the princess royal was trying to persuade Edward not to marry the woman for whom he abdicated the mightiest throne in the world.

Terror Grips City As Rebel Units Advance

Anarchists Seize Malaga; Fascists Move In With Little Resistance

WITH THE FASCISTS ON THE OUTSKIRTS OF MALAGA SPAIN, (2:30 a. m. Spanish time, delayed in transmission), Feb. 8 (AP)—A thousand armed anarchists and communists crowded Malaga today, refugees reported, as fascist insurgent troops closed it methodically on the city proper.

Two hours after midnight the Malaga front was a semi-circle with both ends of the sea, with the besieged port as its center and a radius of less than two miles.

(The Italian cable station at Malaga reported to Rome that fascist troops marched into the city's streets at 1 p. m. local time—8 a. m. Eastern Standard Time.)

City Blocked Off

All sides of Malaga were blocked off long before dawn by the fascist columns, a modern, unified army of Spanish regulars, foreign legionnaires, fascist volunteers and carlists.

Eastern and western columns had driven, with almost no resistance, along the coast to the doorstep of the port.

The population, with all land and sea exits blocked so escape appeared impossible, was panicky.

Bands of anarchists roved the city, left virtually unprotected by the sudden crumbling of its defenses, and the blazing fire from fascist guns, the observers declared formed an equal menace to civilian inhabitants.

Defense Collapses

The strategic shipping center's defense collapsed yesterday before a sweeping drive of the insurgent southern army.

Co-ordinated columns from the north and east, aided by concentrated fire from the insurgent fleet, drove into the suburbs, capturing position after position that had been abandoned by the socialist defenders in their flight.

Crack regular army troops smashed feeble defenses and isolated barricades in houses and barns as the socialist army seemed to melt before the onslaught of the fascist war machine.

The number killed in the advance was estimated by fascist officers as only a few hundred as most of the towns and villages the insurgents occupied had been completely abandoned.

Lindberghs Fight Storm

Reach Sicily Safely After Being Unreported Several Hours

PALERMO, Sicily, Feb. 8 (AP)—Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh landed at Palermo at 3:10 p. m. today (8:10 a. m. C. S. T.) after fighting a 65-mile-an-hour gale in their flight from Rome.

Their flight from the capital took slightly less than five hours with an average speed of only 60 miles an hour because of the heavy wind blowing near the island of Ustica.

Shortly before their orange and black monoplane was sighted over Bocca di Falco airport, officials ordered emergency landing fields to be on the alert for the American fliers, whose ultimate destination was believed to be Cairo, Egypt.

Regional air squadrons had been ordered to be ready to give assistance to the Lindberghs if they were forced down.

United States Vice Consul W. E. Scotton and a group of Italian air officials breathed deep sighs of relief when the plane finally flashed down to a landing.

They had been waiting for three hours, in increasing anxiety.

Colonel Lindbergh, swinging his long legs out of the cockpit, told them he ran into the storm almost as soon as he left Rome.

Then, he said, he gave up the idea of flying a beeline across the Tyrrhenian sea to this Sicilian city and, instead, followed the coastline down to the tip of the Italian "boot" before crossing to the island.

MOVE TO ADVANCE CORPORATION TAX MEASURE DEFEATED

AUSTIN, Feb. 8 (AP)—An effort of Rep. Herman Jones of Decatur to bring up his bill increasing the corporation franchise tax approximately 700 per cent failed in the house today by one vote. The vote was 90 to 61.

The bill was recommended, 11 to 7, by the revenue and taxation committee. It would boost the levy to five per cent of net income or one-tenth of one per cent of gross assets, whichever was larger.

Conferences May Break Down On Bargaining Issue

GM And Labor Representatives In Separate Meetings; Green Seeks To Bring AFOL Into Parley At Detroit

DETROIT, Feb. 8—Nearly two hours after they gathered for another effort to reach a settlement of the far-reaching General Motors strike, representatives of both the corporation and the United Automobile Workers were still in separate group meetings today.

A development today was the disclosure from an informed source that requests by telephone and telegraph from William Green, American Federation of Labor head, for recognition as party at interest in the conference had brought a threat from John L. Lewis, Committee for Industrial Organization leader, to immediately walk out of the meetings. The A. F. of L. has suspended C.I.O. unions.

Request Rejected

Green, it was learned, telephoned Governor Frank Murphy Saturday and sent him a telegram Sunday.

Eastern and western columns had driven, with almost no resistance, along the coast to the doorstep of the port.

The population, with all land and sea exits blocked so escape appeared impossible, was panicky.

Bands of anarchists roved the city, left virtually unprotected by the sudden crumbling of its defenses, and the blazing fire from fascist guns, the observers declared formed an equal menace to civilian inhabitants.

Rain, Cooler Weather Break Season's First Duster

Lower Temperatures Recorded In Panhandle After Day Of Swirling Dust; Storms Harass Oklahoma Sector

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The first dust clouds of the season, buffeted by a strong southwest wind, subsided in the Texas Panhandle today as a light rain fell and cooler weather replaced unseasonably high temperatures.

Dust blew into Amarillo early yesterday as the temperature climbed to 69 degrees. Late in the day the storm abated and after nightfall rain fell to clear the air. Wind velocity ranged from 38 to 50 miles an hour.

Commercial airlines cancelled stops at Amarillo, making the trip over the storm with limited loads west from Wichita to Albuquerque but with full loads eastbound.

The wind carried a trace of dust as far as Wichita Falls.

GYMNON, Okla., Feb. 8 (AP)—Farm wives' brooms brushed aside today layers of the earliest dust storm ever to harass the loose-soiled Oklahoma Panhandle. They don't like it but they are getting used to it.

"I'm going to weather it through," declared George Wiggins on the doorstep of his weather-stripped farm house five miles east of Guymon.

Court Delays Its Decisions

Women's Wage And Gold Bullion Tests Still Are Undecided

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8 (AP)—The supreme court deferred today for at least another six weeks decisions on the two major pending controversies.

These involve the Washington law establishing minimum wages for women and whether the 1933 congressional resolution barring payment of obligations in gold applied to bullion as well as to coin.

The justices gave no indication that President Roosevelt's proposal for reorganizing the court had made them the center of stormy debate.

In the court orders the justices agreed to hear arguments March 8 on the right of Texas to start litigation designed to determine the legal residence of Col. Edward H. R. Green, son of the wealthy Hettie Green, at the time of his death last June.

It also refused to pass on constitutionality of a provision of the railway labor act prohibiting railroads from deducting from employees' salaries payments to labor organizations.

At 6 p. m. over station KBST Aureliano Clinio, troop No. 7, will give his experiences as a tenderfoot scout while Alton LaVelle, troop No. 5, will give his second class experiences.

Jack Hodges and his troop No. 3 will hold a banquet at 7 p. m.

Early-Day Sheriff Of County Dead

H. G. "Colonel" Dearing, 51, Early-Day Sheriff Of Howard County and Brother of Mrs. W. C. Barnett of This City Died at Home in San Antonio Late Saturday Evening, According to Word Received by His Sister. Death Was Believed to Have Been Caused by a Heart Attack.

Dearing served as sheriff of this county in the early '90s and after expiration of his term moved to San Angelo where he was engaged in the cattle business. He later made his home in San Antonio where he was dubbed "Colonel" by intimates due to his likeness to colonels of the old south.

Funeral services were to be held today in Fort Worth where he will be buried by the grave of his first wife.

ADDITIONAL FARM BENEFITS RECEIVED

More benefit payments from participation in the federal soil building and conservation program continued to be received here for distribution to farmers today as M. Weaver announced arrival of $4 additional checks.

Payments totaling $8,698 were received in a block of 82 checks and two others brought $225.72. The payments brought the total received from the 1936 program to $159,779.96 in 1,113 checks.

Weaver said that all applications, with the exception of one, had been completed, thus, to all intents, clearing the program for 818 farmers who were found in compliance.

Program for the annual meeting of the Texas Chamber of Commerce Managers association was arranged Saturday at Marlin, W. T. Strange, Jr., local chamber manager and member of the program committee, said today. He took part in the meeting.

Annual convention of the association will be held June 3-5 at Kerrville.

Levees Hold Flood Water

Unwarranted Predictions Of Disaster Draw Criticism

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Feb. 8 (AP)—Record flood crests apparently tamed by the river's sturdy levees pushed slowly down the Mississippi today while a civic group charged "official blundering" in the valley's high water battle.

The weather bureau gauge at Memphis showed 45.4 feet today, a rise of .2 of a foot in 24 hours. Meteorologist F. W. Brist said the high wind was responsible for half the rise because it held back surface waters, and that the crest was at hand.

The Greenville, Miss., Rotary club deplored "the reckless manner" in which unwarranted predictions of disaster have been made by a few of those charged with the duty of our protection and resolved "to fix later on the responsibility therefor to the end that it shall not happen again." It said "panic" created by high water predictions "has now happily been mostly allayed" in Washington county.

Specific references was made to a Washington order calling for the army high command to mobilize for the evacuation of as many as 500,000 residents within 50 miles of the Mississippi river from Cairo to New Orleans, if it became necessary.

"We especially deplore the blunder in Washington about enforced evacuation of the Yazoo basin among other areas," the club said. "That a feasible attempt at correction later was made does not minimize the original error."

Army engineers made no comment. Meanwhile, engineers continued battling sand boils and seepage but reported they had "no adverse reports from any point" in the levees line from Cairo south and that tributary conditions showed steady improvement.

Townsend Men Plead Guilty To Contempt

Draw Fines, Suspended Sentences For Refusal To Testify

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8 (AP)—Two former regional directors of the Townsend old age pension organization pleaded guilty in federal district court today to charges of contempt of the house.

They—Dr. Clinton Wunder of York and John B. Kiefer of Chicago—were given suspended sentences of one year in prison and $100 fine and placed on probation for the year by Justice Peyton Gordon.

Both ignored subpoenas to appear before a special house committee investigating old age pension organizations last spring.

Dr. Francis E. Townsend, founder of the movement, was to have been arraigned with Wunder and Kiefer but failed to appear.

Townsend To Fight Leslie C. Garnett, United States attorney, said Townsend's absence was the result of a misunderstanding. Garnett said Townsend would plead not guilty tomorrow morning and requested his trial be set for Feb. 23.

Townsend also is under an indictment for contempt of the house for walking out of the committee hearing and refusing to testify further.

Garnett informed the court both Wunder and Kiefer had made written apology to the house last week for their action.

Before imposition of the sentences, Wunder and Kiefer told the court they desired to "clearly establish" they had not been associated with Dr. Townsend or his organization for the last six months.

Justice Gordon said in view of the fact they had "shown their contribution" for disobeying the subpoenas, he had decided on the suspension of sentence and probation.

Estate Case Before Court

Texas Part In Green Litigation Will Be Argued On March 8

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8 (AP)—The supreme court consented today to hear arguments March 8 on the right of Texas to start litigation designed to determine the legal residence of Col. Edward H. R. Green—son of the fabulously wealthy Hettie Green—at the time of his death last June.

Texas contended Green's domicile was in Dallas and sought to collect an inheritance tax on the estate estimated at more than $50,000,000. William McCraw, Texas attorney general, estimated his state's levy would approximate $10,000,000.

The Texas motion for leave to file a bill of complaint was directed against New York, Massachusetts and Florida. Hettie Green Wilka, sister of Green, and Mabel Harlow Green, his sister.

The Texas brief said Green claimed that state as his domicile ever since 1922. The other states also claimed him as a resident.

Massachusetts and New York both filed motions to dismiss the Texas bill of complaint on the ground there was no justifiable controversy between any states involved.

PONIES OUT TO CLIMB S'WEST PENNANT

TEXAS A&M HOLDING 2ND PLACE

By FELIX R. McKNIGHT
DALLAS, Feb. 8 (AP)—Unless Texas A. and M. or Rice Institute heads them off this week, Southern Methodist's Mustangs, the South-west conference's surprise bundle, can start mathematical title talk.

Only three more home games remain on the Pony schedule, Texas A. and M. tonight, Rice Institute Friday night and the season's finale against hapless Texas Christian university, but they are favored by having only single dates to fill with Texas A. and M., University of Texas, Baylor and Rice on foreign courts.

The Methodists have the second place Texas Aggies, winners of a chilling, two-period overtime battle against Texas Christian 45-43, Saturday night, to overcome in the first of two games this week. Rice, only four games on its records to date, will attempt to better its .500 average in a trip to the Mustang coral Friday night and at Saturday night encounter with T. C. U. at Fort Worth.

Deep in the conference dungeon flourished once mighty Arkansas, all but slight mathematical hopes of retaining its championship knocked spinning by two reverses handed them in a disastrous weekend at Austin.

The Longhorns used early leads to overcome the Porkers, 43-31, and 39-28. Coach Glen Rose's Porkers, odds-on favorites at the outset of the season, are practically out of the running with their four losses and two triumphs.

Texas Threat Texas, however, after a feeble start, has risen as a threat, and is not figured to harm itself in a Saturday night scrap at Waco with Baylor's hard-to-figure Bruins. Last week the Bruins, the "hot" and "cold" team of the circuit, were cooled by Southern Methodist, 26-15.

Now running second, Texas A. and M. goes on a journey that could either establish them as a team to figure or slide into the shadows of the race. After the S. M. U. tilt at Dallas, the Farmers have two engagements with Arkansas booked at Fayetteville Friday and Saturday night. Three of Arkansas' four losses have been suffered away from their own floor.

SPRING GRIND TO TELL FATE OF GREENBERG; MEYER SEEKS COMEBACK AS SLUGGING CHAMP

NEW YORK, Feb. 8 (UP)—Several former American league stars will attempt to regain lost prestige and win regular berths with their respective teams during the coming season.

Foremost among these is Hank Greenberg, the most valuable player in the American league in 1935. Greenberg, who was out almost all of last season with a broken wrist, was one of the season's most adamant holdouts, but Hank will not sign a contract this year until he has successfully gone through the spring training grind.

PATE BELIEVES WEST TEXAS LEAGUE WOULD BE SUCCESS

MIDLAND, Feb. 8—Joe Pate, an introduction of him to baseball fans would be like introducing Roosevelt to democrats, as you know, is out in this area now trying to rouse the interest of enough towns to organize the old West Texas league.

Organization of a six-club or eight-club league composed of Midland, Odessa, Hobbs, Big Spring, San Angelo, Sweetwater, Abilene, one other town to be selected from McCamey, Iraan, Del Rio, Texas, Pecos or Ozona. Should an eight-club league prove unavailing then a six-club composed of cities named above.

The league is to be Class-D with a salary limit of $1,000 per month to more than $2,000. And that is counting spring training, estimated to cost $1,000 and all traveling expenses of the club during the season. As a member of the NBA, each club would be required to post $500 at the beginning of the season as a guarantee for players' salaries. This would be returned at the end of the season unless they had gone defunct during the season. If so, it would have been spent on salaries.

Commenting on tie-ups with clubs of higher classification, the erstwhile Cat flinger said: "Hell, the larger clubs are after players. If they put a man on your club that shows any promise, they are liable to reach out and grab him at any time, thereby wrecking your club. The way to do is to keep control of the club at home, then if you develop any players all money made from their sale is clear profit if the club is paying expenses. If the club is losing money the sale of one man will more than likely make up the deficit."

Pate advocated a 40-cent admission as a method of killing a couple of birds with one stone. At that price the amusement tax is circumvented and at the same time the figure is low enough to cause many people to come out who would not do so were the figure higher.

Whether or not the league becomes a reality, Pate is certain there is a demand for the league in parts of West Texas. A trip to Odessa Friday that ended with conferences with a group of Odessa men convinced him that the Ector capital is ready to go. He was assured by Joe Pycro, George Elliott and others that Odessa was waiting only on the "go" signal to start assembling a team and playing a park. Enthusiasm in Abilene is also high and Hal Hayes, Abilene scribe, is confident a club can be organized there.

Pate went to Hobbs yesterday to question prospective backers of a club there. Results of his trip have not yet been reported but Tom Orntstead, Hobbs scribe, is all for a club and Hobbs made more than a slight effort to get into the new Texas-Arkansas league.

One of the greatest bars to organization of the league is lack of playing fields. Midland, fortunately, does not have to contend with this. They already have a grandstand capable of handling any but an opening day crowd. No doubt a fence could be put around the field with the money that could be taken in for advertising on the fence.

Abilene sportsmen are considering selling stock in the club to raise money for a grandstand and park. No doubt Odessa, Big Spring and others in the same boat could adopt some such similar system.

Conditions are vastly different to what they were a few years back when Midland had organized ball. Money was one thing that failed to matter to officers of the club therefore they lost money despite having a championship club. The salary limit then was what they desired to make it. Now they must stay within the league's salary limit and breaking the ruling of the league places their club in the hands of the national association. Moreover, all players become property of the association and can be disposed of as it sees fit.

Fate has announced he would ask prospective franchise holders to meet here next Sunday, for the first step in what may lead to organization of the league. J. He's Plenty Fast, This Glenn---

Up to this time, Flavio Nurni's indoor standard of 8:58.2 was considered almost unapproachable, and 9:15 or thereabouts was fast running for an American. Ray Sears held the native American record of 9:07.4.

Now, since Lash has demonstrated a home-bred runner can travel eight furlongs in less than nine minutes, a new crop of athlete steadily is approaching that mark and taking some of the edge off the mile, despite the feats of durable Glenn Cunningham.

In the Sugar Bowl meet at New Orleans Wayne Rideout of North Texas Teachers college, virtually an "unknown" then, turned in the second-fastest two miles ever run by an American 9:03.5 to defeat Lash.

Saturday night in the Millrose meet another Hoosier, Tommy Deckard won in 9:07.6 while Lash jockeyed with the Rideout twin.

Cunningham's decisive victory his third in four years in the Wanamaker mile, led no doubt of his supremacy despite the comparatively slow time of 4:14.4.

Suso Oye of Japan, vaulted 34 feet, 3 inches to turn the tables on the Olympic champion, Earle Meadows of Southern California. Move To Land Soldier Field For Title Bout

Soldier Field Governing Body To Meet Tuesday To Discuss Terms

CHICAGO, Feb. 8 (AP)—The Chicago forces seeking to bring a world's heavyweight title battle here next June began their "big push" today toward their current major objective—Soldier Field.

Acquisition of the huge stadium on the Lake Michigan shore, with a rental rate reduction, as a site for the 15-round battle June 15 between champion James J. Braddock and challenger Joe Louis was seen as a final clincher in solving the dizzy heavyweight battle puzzle.

Lowly Worm-Fisherman Defended By Youngster

By DAVID A. CHEAVENS
WACO, Feb. 8 (AP)—A tall, slowly-speaking young printer who has won every distance fly-casting event in Texas since 1930 came out in measured phrases today to defend the lowly worm-fisherman.

Jack (McFish) Sparks, one of the Southwest's leading exponents of artificial fishing, stopped whipping 130 feet of line long enough to draw out the pronouncement that it takes more skill to present live bait properly to a hungry or indifferent fish than it does to entice the game with a cunningly-made imitation bug or minnow.

"The use of artificialis must have been a lazy man's contribution to the art of fishing," Sparks said. "He did not want to bother with catching live bait, and so he made himself a fraud and caught fish on it. Nowadays artificial bait resembles anything from a cucumber to a banana, and it gives a fellow a lot of satisfaction to fool the wisest old bass with a clever imitation, or irritate him into striking at something that lands in the water over his head."

"Today some anglers frown on the fellow who uses minnow, worms and the like on game fish. They call it a lowly practice. But it actually takes more real skill to catch them with live bait than it does with any artificial bait ever conceived."

Despite this startling thesis from such a confirmed scientific angler, he does not intend to desert his fly rod and casting reel. Instead, he is going out after the national championship.

"McFish," a youngster just out of knee-pants in 1933, hitch-hiked to Chicago to a national tournament to watch the experts in action. What he saw there brought him to Milwaukee in 1935, when he placed second with a heave of 130 feet, four inches. Prior to that, he had set a new world's record in Dallas with a cast of 151 feet, seven inches. In practice, he has cast 171 feet and plans to enter the next national tournament with the idea of setting a new mark.

Sparks, who is not above going out in a boat with a bucket of minnows after bass and crappie, fishes throughout the winter or close season, will not permit fishing, he uses his own flies. He makes a minnow that actually has gilt covers and fins, and his dragon flies have transparent wings on the theory that the more natural the bait, the more likely fish are to grab for it.

"I get a big kick out of making them," he observed, "but the thrill is filling a stringer with fish I've landed with them."

WOULD LIKE TO BE BACK AS MANAGER

By ALAN GOULD
NEW YORK, Feb. 8 (AP)—It appeared today, in the wake of the New York baseball writers' annual frolic, that fresh impetus had been given to the idea, at least, of restoring Babe Ruth to a spot in major league baseball.

Whether the club owners develop any new thoughts on the subject remains to be seen. Their attitude is doubtful but they hardly can have any doubts about the Babe's continued popularity, after observing the spontaneous tribute to the one-time home run king last night by a record gathering of 900 at the scene's fourteenth annual dinner.

Ruth, celebrating his forty-second birthday with the aid of the writers, virtually stole the show. The Babe gave a 20-minute speech that indicated his longing to re-enter the baseball picture he left nearly two years ago, and, with a characteristic touch of Ruthian oratory, summed as follows:

"I gave the best years of my life, 22 of them, to the big leagues, but just when it seemed to me I was at the top, why, I was dumped out.

"I've got to admit baseball has been fair to me and Colonel Ruppert, in particular, has always been my best friend."

Tributes to Ruth's achievements and places in the game's history came from Postmaster General Fawcett, former Mayor James J. Walker and others.

Ruth shared the evening's honors with two other veteran players, Tony Lazzari of the Yankees and Travis Jackson, who closed his career with the Giants last season. Lazzari was awarded the New York chapter's "player of the year" trophy. Jackson received another award, for meritorious service over a period of years.

CINCINNATI'S VETERANS LEAVE FOR OTHER TEAMS

CINCINNATI, Feb. 8 (AP)—When the Cincinnati Reds sold 33-year-old Tommy Thevenow, veteran utility infielder, to the New York Giants, Cincinnati was left with only two 10-year men on the roster. Perhaps neither will start the 1937 season in a Reding uniform.

The Giants have more than a passing interest in Virgil (Spud) Davis, the 4-foot-1 catcher Cincinnati bought from the St. Louis Cardinals in December. The Reds are willing to entertain any offers that might be made for Floyd (Babe Herman, 23-year-old outfielder whose salary disputes annoyed club officials no end last season.

Manager Bill Terry has made numerous bids for Davis' contract but the Reds' General Manager Warren C. Giles has refused to part with the husky backstop except in a deal that would bring Outfielder Hank Leiber to Cincinnati. In any event, it is not likely that any trade will be made until the spring training starts.

Hasen (Kiki) Cuyler, veteran outfielder who had one of his best seasons at centerfield in 1936, will join the 10-year fraternity in the approaching campaign. He signed his 1937 contract and, while Giles didn't say he got a raise, the Reds' boss did remark about Cuyler's steady play during 1936 and let the fans draw their own conclusions.

Check Shows Coaches Favor The Offensive

Rule Changes Suggested By Mentors In Annual Confab

DETROIT, Feb. 8 (AP)—Sympathies of football coaches, as reckoned today from their annual post-mortem on the late season favor the offensive.

The coaches' week-end huddle over grid rules left the impression the offensive got the large share of any "breaks" in the tutors' attitude toward revamping the rules.

The coaches recommended reduction of the illegal shift penalty, enforced for violation of the "one second halt" rule, from 15 to five yards; favored the return of the ball to the offensive eleven if a forward pass strikes an ineligible man or behind the line of scrimmage and suggested if a team downs its own punt in an advantageous position, it would not be forced to kick over in event the opposition had committed a violation on the play.

Golfers Say Goodbye To West Coast

Youthful Sam Sneed Leads Money Winner As Pros Head For Tex.

DEL MAR, Calif., Feb. 8 (AP)—Touring golfers of the nation said goodbye to California's winter tournament trail today and headed for Texas with youthful Sam Sneed in the lead as the latest money winner.

Sneed, 24-year-old pro from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., chalked up his second tournament victory of the golden state campaign when he captured the $3,000 meet staged here by movie star Bing Crosby yesterday. Ten days ago he won the $3,000 Oakland Open.

Clipping four strokes off par with a 58, Sneed finished ahead of George Von Elm of Hollywood with 72 to take $500 first prize and $262.50 for a tie in the pro-amateur best ball competition.

Von Elm, former national open champion, collected $350 for the second lowest gross score.

Rain shortened the two-day hole program to one day and 12 holes but there were 135 starters yesterday despite chilly weather and soggy fairways.

With Sneed the only player to break par and Von Elm the only one to equal it, four pros trailed with 73 and won $181.25 apiece. They were Henry Picard, Hershey Pa.; James Fogarty, Boston; Fay Coleman, Culver City, Calif.; and Leonard Dodson, Springfield, Mo.

Semi-Pro Status Of Players Is Studied

CHICAGO, Feb. 8 (AP)—The semi-pro baseball status of players suspended by organized baseball was studied today by Hon. J. Wagner of Pittsburgh, high commissioner of the semi-pros.

Raymond, president of the national semi-pro baseball congress, following a meeting of state commissioners last night, said Wagner would confer with Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, czar of organized baseball and announce a ruling within two weeks.

Wagner announced the spit-ball is banned in the semi-pro unless the pitcher practiced it when it was allowed in organized baseball.

The meeting voted to hold an international semi-pro tournament at Chicago, Sept. 1-5, 1938 with champions teams entered from each state of the union and from Cuba, Canada and Mexico. A first prize of $5,000 is guaranteed. Dumont said.

Dumont said national tournaments will be held this year at Mexico City, Montreal and Havana. The dates for the United States final at Wichita, Kas, were set for Aug. 31 to 15.

Twelve state tournament assignments were approved by Wagner, including Waco, Tex.

Speaking Of Shoes---Perforations And Many Colors Accent Newest

PARIS UP—"Porthole perforations" open up the subject of 1937 shoe styles in Paris.

More perforations are crammed into each square inch of shoe leather this season than have ever been used before.

All shoes are climbing up in front. Bands, straps, high lacing and tall tongues are among the frontal approaches made by designers.

Colored pipings and colored stitching continue to be popular. A black pump is stitched in yellow, while a navy blue shoe is piped with royal blue.

Several striking three-color shoes have also come to the fore. Flat-beeled sports models have white suede fronts and navy backs or quarters with the third color worked in on red and white stripes.

White velvet calf shoes are scalloped at the top and overlaid in back with green box calf. The leather being run through the scalloped top is white on one side and green on the other.

Punchwork Accents Punchwork on afternoon shoes comes in kitchen strainer effects in which smaller perforations make rings and spirals around larger ones.

New rules and sandals use a transparent material to cover the toes. Greco also shows sandals made of orange linen strips tied together with white leather lacing.

White linen boots are displayed for beach walkers who prefer to have the sand remain outside of their shoes rather than slip down through their toes.

Black-Draught High In Quality Without Being High In Price

Black-Draught is "easy to pay for" because it is so economically packaged and so reliable.

But as to quality, there's nothing "cheap" about it. For instance, its principal active ingredient is the leaves of a certain species of plant that are brought 10,000 miles from where they grow to the factory where the medicine is made.

These leaves from far-far away, help to give Black-Draught its well-known laxative reliability. They could not be left out, or substituted, without real loss of good medicinal quality.

For a good, purely vegetable laxative, insist on Black-Draught. About 25 doses in each 25-cent package.

Roosevelt's hand forced in court move.
Originally planned to await coming decisions.
Labor found unable to advance wages, hours, policies.
Congressional backfire also spurred action.
Timing
WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—President Roosevelt's decision to repack the supreme court was made rather hurriedly.
Four weeks ago, he did not intend to move as soon as he did or in the way he did. His opening message to congress, for instance, was framed as an invitation to the courts to correct the situation in coming decisions. He confided in several persons that, if the Wagner and holding companies decisions failed to present the constitutional loopholes he wanted, he would try to get legislation on hours and wages. After that, he figured, popular opinion might be ripe for packing the court.
What caused him to revise his plan within the last two weeks was his own growing impatience with the trend of events and alternative prospects. The plain, unvarnished fact is his hand was forced by tumbling developments.
Weakness
A dominant consideration was the failure of labor leaders to show any ability to handle wages and hours policies themselves. That became obvious after the message to congress. The sit-down strike turned out to be decidedly unpopular. In fact, the efforts of John Lewis to organize auto and steel seemed to be really unwinning public opinion for the Roosevelt purpose.
Then congressional authorities got wind of the fact that he planned to move by indirectness, and started an advance backfire. Powerful Senator Borah went to the radio, started a debate in both houses about tyrants who seize judicial power. Opinion was being built up against any subterfuge moves and in favor of a direct constitutional amendment, which is what congressional leaders really wanted. Similarly, the congressional attack on federal Judge Clegg proved to be a rather weak failure and no help to his cause.
It is quite possible that, if Mr. Roosevelt had waited a month, the situation might have been taken beyond his control. He hit before the iron got cold.

TAXES TO BE PAID
Apparently sidetracked now, the proposal before the Texas legislature occupying headline space last week was that calling for remission by the state to counties of all ad valorem taxes. The matter may not be given serious consideration again.
If it is revived, people who read the newspapers must not get the idea that their tax bill will be lessened by such a program.
Most people understand remission to mean the taking off of something, but in this instance it has been used to mean that the taxes will be collected, just as always, but instead of sending the money to Austin, to help pay the state's expenses, it will be allowed to go into the county treasuries, to be used for various public works, such as the county commissioners may desire to enterprise—roads, water control, bridges, soil erosion prevention and the like.
As this tax brings the state around nine million dollars a year, other taxes would have to be levied to produce that amount, in addition to other millions declared needed for payment of pensions and increased salaries for officials and education and many other purposes. There would be no decrease in the taxes paid by the individual on his property, real or personal, but a decided increase in the total.
There has long been a demand for abolition of taxes on real estate and in fact for the taking off of all state ad valorem taxes. This has been answered in part by the exemption from state taxes of three thousand dollars valuation of homesteads, but these are still taxed by counties, cities and school districts. Incidentally, there is a bill in the legislature, which has not yet had any hearing or discussion, to raise the tax limit of independent school districts from one dollar to two dollars, with fifty cents of the amount to be used for buildings.

Whitney Bolton came out of the North Carolina mountains to become the Beau Brummel of drama reviewers. Ernest Haycox is without question the country's finest writer of western novels.
Fannie Hurst, Gertrude Stein and Pearl Buck are three authors who are continually being besieged by managers of lecture bureaus. Almost all of Jim Tully's writing is autobiographical. Before incorporating any of it in her books, Thyra Samter Winslow took an extensive course in slang. Verne Porter has used more non-de-plumes than any modern author. Before becoming a literary agent he was editor of Cosmopolitan, Blue Book, and Red Book magazines.
People still mispronounce Paul de Kruif's name. When his book, "Microbe Hunters," was made into the drama, "Yellow Jack," he was variously hailed as de Kroff, de Kriff, de Kreuitt. Finally he tacked this little couplet on the bulletin board:
Paul de Kruif
Rhymes with life
Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Norris are expert novelists. "What I admire about Charles," says his wife, "is the way he can spell." Harold Matson, brother of the short story specialist, Norman Matson, is a literary agent. His most famous client is Sinclair Lewis.
Guy Gilpatrick devotes himself almost exclusively to sea stories. Verdi's last writing was a poetic farewell to "Falstaff." He was then 80 years old. Max Brand is known as the Million-Words-a-Year-Pulp-Writer. Only when writing for upper-bracket magazines does he use a nom de plume. My favorite authoress continues to be Katherine Brush.
William Rose Benet and Stephen Vincent Benet are brothers. Octavius Roy Cohen has decided not to abandon his negro dialect stories, although in recent months he has been working on mystery novels. Magazine editors now consider Richard Sherman the literary find of the moment. Ever since he wrote "To Mary With Love" he has been flying high. Robert E. Sherwood is tall, sharp-featured, gentle-humored. His favorite breakfast dish is kidney stew.

did not deliver in person. The reason is said to be that he was not sure of the reaction. The proposal was framed to be more popular with the people than the lawyers, and fully 50 per cent or more of the new congressmen are lawyers.
Solitaire
A rumor has been circulated that the supreme court will now recommend to congress that the president be enlarged to three persons, because the duties are too arduous for Mr. Roosevelt.
Hollywood
Sights And Sounds
By Robbin Coons
HOLLYWOOD—Film factory: Fred Astaire dances even when dancing is not required. For a scene in "Stepping Tops" the star has a walk-off role, leaving the spotlight on a comic exchange between Edward Everett Horton and Eric Blore.
The scene is taken three times, and always, as soon as he is out of camera range, Fred breaks into a humorous mincing step to the sidelines.
The Horton-Blore scene, not unlike many these two have done in previous Astaire-Rogers films, is funny as always because it represents the meeting of two masters of what Hollywood calls the "take." This can be described as "a serene countenance ruffled suddenly by delayed perception," but "take" is a handier.
After the scene, the slightly blushing Mr. Blore betakes himself to his dressing room, and sits there studying his lines while he plays a phonograph record several times. It is a song, he explains later, that he wrote during the war. Only recently he picked up the record.
Ship Scenes In Tank
Out in the "tank" the big ship of "Souls at Sea" is foundering, and Gary Cooper and Frances Dee are doing what their roles demand as the vessel, obedient to mechanical devices, slowly rolls and sinks and rises. The only way to see what they are doing is to wade out, and this is pneumonia weather.
Even distant observation is soon impossible, however, because I am now surrounded by a bit player in distress. The poor fellow, who can't talk English but excels in gibberish and gesticulation, thinks I'm a make-up man and insists on help. But what he wants, exactly, it is hopeless to learn. My face gets redder as crude bystanders, with no hearts for his plight, break into unfeeling laughter. This only heightens determination to help.
I draw diagrams, make signs, finally suggest he go see Zukor, see anybody else. By now I'm desperate, eager to flee.
And this is the moment he reveals himself: Sid D'Albrook, Hollywood "ribber." It's much more fun, I find later, when the victim is someone else.
'Spontaneous' Snake-Dance
On the "Escadrille" set the French aviators are having an informal banquet in a tavern, and at the end they break into a spontaneous snake-dance around the table, singing "Madelon" to Miriam Hopkins, who has entered with Paul Muni.
All the boys grab kettles, pots, lids, chairs, hammers to simulate musical instruments as they march. It is all to be very gay and spontaneous—and what seems to hold up the proceedings is deciding who shall grab what, and in exactly what manner.

Technicalities
Two weaknesses in the president's message were obvious to his critics.
First, he founded his appeal for judicial reorganization on the ground that the poor cannot afford lawsuits, but he forgot to recommend anything to reduce costs. Appeals, lawyers and suits would cost just as much under the reorganization as before.
Second, he based his recommendations for enlargement of the courts on the ground of physical inability of courts to handle the business, but his bill would enlarge only those courts containing judges past the retirement age. In other words, the test of enlargement is not to be the volume of business, but the age of the justice. And if all judges beyond the retirement age would retire, there would not be a single additional judge appointed under his plan.
Sympathetic lawyers suggested the brief he presented for his plan might be thrown out by most courts because the grounds do not fit the case.
Compromise
The president followed his usual policy of asking congress in the judicial message for twice as much as he needed. He requires only three more votes to change the lineup of the supreme court and will insist for that, according to those insiders who usually reflect his opinion.
Three additional votes would enable him to constitutionalize every move he has made, except NRA. The court was against him on that one, nine to one.
Diplomacy
The judicial message is the first important one which Mr. Roosevelt

Seek Slayer Of N. Y. Girl
Thousands Of Men Questioned In Effort To Clear Mystery
BUFFALO, N. Y., Feb. 8 (AP)—Police pressed an intensive house-to-house search in South Buffalo today for the slayer of 18-year-old Mary Ellen Babcock.
Saying detectives would question 22,000 men by Wednesday if the slayer is not caught in the meantime, Assistant Chief of Detectives Frank J. McCarthy announced that nearly 4,000 families already have been interrogated.
Indiana State Veterinarian J. L. Ashby says wide prevalence of swine influenza point to a short 1937 spring crop of pigs in the state.
Since 1912, seven nations besides the United States have attempted to enforce national prohibition, without success.

ESCAPE IF YOU CAN
BY FREDERICK JACKSON
Chapter Three
"Do You Know Vronski?"
Bigelow refilled their glasses.
"You think they will like me in New York?" Karsanoff asked eagerly.
"I am sure of it. You will have an enormous success and make more money than you have ever made before," he promised.
"That is good." She nodded her head gravely. "A dancer has not so very long. Actresses—singers—they can go on forever. But not a dancer!" She sighed, and setting down her glass on the floor, relaxed, clasping her hands behind her head and staring moodily into space. It was as though the thought of the future cast a shadow over her. "But I shall be bored in America, bored, no?... The people?—One hears they are very good and pure and quickly disappear. One must avoid scandal. It is not like Paris where one can live as one chooses. Is it not?"
"Oh, New York is quite cosmopolitan," he answered. "There are people of all races and nationalities there. Even scores of Russians who will quickly claim you. And that reminds me—do you know Count Anton Vronski?"
She sat up abruptly and looked at him. "Count Anton Vronski?" she repeated.
"Yes, a Russian exile. He used to live in Paris. I understand, but he is in New York, now."
"... is a name very well known in Russia," she answered slowly, "but the man you mean I feel quite sure I have never met. What age is he?"
"I can't tell you that. I've never met him myself, but he is a friend of some friends of mine. I should think he'd be fairly young."
"Anton Vronski," she said.
"Long after he had left her, Bigelow wondered what had been in her mind then. If she hadn't met him, she had certainly heard of him and knew something about him. That was obvious. There had been a guard look in her eyes; something tense in her manner. He made up his mind before he went to sleep that somehow he would contrive to bring Vronski and Karsanoff together.
Dinner With the Dancer
The next day, when she appeared on deck in the afternoon, Bigelow introduced her to Australia. And to the astonishment of the rest of the passengers, the three of them dined together that night. Woody Taylor, she told them, had apologized most humbly for his unpardonable behavior the night before and had been forgiven, but he was not included in her little party.
She was in white satin and wore pearls and looked incredibly soigné and lovely. And she put herself out to be charming to them both. They talked about the various cities of Europe that they all knew and a few acquaintances that they had in common. But although Australia spoke of Russia she had little to say about her own country, explaining that she had left home as a small child—just after the revolution—and had never been back there. Vronski's name was not mentioned, although Bigelow had confided to Australia the fact that she seemed to know something of the man she was disinclined to tell.
Before they parted, Karsanoff told them she planned to go to the Carleton and asked them to come to see her there. They both promised.
They had been so delayed by fog that although they were due at dock at one o'clock, it was after eight before they finally got in. As one of Bigelow's trunks was misplaced, he did not reach his hotel until after ten. However, he had called ahead for rooms and a suite in the tower was awaiting him.
"They are at the floor desk on your floor," Mr. Bigelow said to the reception clerk, when he registered.
A bell boy with his bags conducted Bigelow to the elevator.
On the thirty-second floor, as they approached the desk, Bigelow saw a girl in conversation with the floor clerk. And as she advanced toward her, he thought her quite the loveliest girl he had ever seen.
She had thick tawny hair with gold lights in it, and skin of creamy tan. Under her dark coat, he caught a glimpse of a gold brooch, and gold slippers peeped out as she turned for an instant on their approach. Her eyes were blue with very thick lashes and delicately arched brows, and her finely modelled features had distinction. There was something arrogant about the tilt of her head—and in her eyes as they met his casually, a sudden flash of something like defiance.
"Yes, miss," said the floor clerk, and handed out a key. The girl turned then, without another glance at Bigelow and moved off down the hall.
Who Was The Girl?
Bigelow saw the bell boy who was waiting with his bags wink at the woman behind the desk, who smiled slightly and discreetly lowered her eyes. Then Bigelow's key was produced and the bell boy led the way to his room. But Bigelow was conscious of a hot feeling of resentment as he followed. What these hotel employees thought about the girl who had so interested him was plainly apparent, and he was annoyed that she had been so indiscreet as to create such an impression. He was holding to him, really, because he did not know the girl. But she hadn't looked the type to be going alone to a man's rooms. There had been something very fresh about her—the direct, candid eyes of a girl who had nothing to hide.
"Could one ever tell about girls nowadays?" he asked himself rather wistfully.
The bell boy opened the door for him, raised a window, accepted his tip and departed. Bigelow crossed to the window and looked out at the myriad lights of New York far below him. He had got the impression of a dream city as his ship lay in the bay, but he had thought that was due to the fog.
His mind went back to the girl as his stood there whistling below his breath. Who was she? What was she? Who was the man in whose rooms she intended to wait? "Oh, damn the girl!" he thought in swift irritation as he turned from the window and opened a suitcase.

California Dam Menaced By Flood
PARKER DAM, Calif., Feb. 8 (AP)—A two-million dollar investment in Parker dam, intake for the 300-mile aqueduct to Southern California, was endangered early today by the Colorado river, swollen eight times normal size by a cloudburst flooding an upper tributary.
The Bill Williams river, draining the Williams mountains in Northern Arizona where torrential rains fell yesterday, was spilling 35,000 second-feet of water into the Colorado's normal 5,000 second feet above the upper cofferdam for Parker dam.
Two diversion tunnels, which carry the Colorado's flow around the excavations for Parker dam, were reported by E. A. Moritz, U. S. Reclamation service engineer, to be handling a substantial share of the flood.
Moritz said the water level at the 80-foot high cofferdam was 61 feet and there was large reservoir space above. Barring another sudden rise in the Williams tributary, Moritz said he was confident the cofferdam would withstand the flood.

THREE TO TRIAL IN WENDEL KIDNAPING
NEW YORK, Feb. 8 (AP)—Three men indicted on charges of kidnaping and torturing Paul H. Wendel, former Trenton, N. J. attorney, forcing him to "confess" kidnaping of the Lindbergh baby, went on trial today.
The state charges that Murray Hiefield, 28, Harry Welms, 28, and Martin Schlossman, 27, abducted the former Trenton, N. J. attorney and forced a false confession from him admitting the kidnaping of the Lindbergh baby.

Jewels Taken In NY Holdup

TWO Women Returning From Party Victims Of Bandits NEW YORK, Feb. 8 (AP)—Holding up six persons returning from a hotel party in a taxicab early today, three robbers snatched an estimated $25,000 in jewelry from two women. They escaped in a car. Mrs. Maxwell Shapiro and Mrs. Harold in front of whose home in West 51st street the cab was stopped, reported loss of the gems to police. With their husbands and Dr. M. Eichhorn Lang and a woman companion they had attended a party at a hotel given for Harry Hirschfeld, the cartoonist. Mrs. Shapiro said she lost two diamond clips, three rings, and a bracelet. From Mrs. Harold the bandits took two bracelets, a

England, France Menaced By Floods

LONDON, Feb. 8 (AP)—Torrential rains deluged France and England today and spread menacing floods over large areas. The threat centered in southern England where more rain fell in the past seven days than normally during the whole month of February. Coming on the heels of earlier gales and blizzards, the downpour sent rivers on a new rampage. In Dorset, on the English Channel hundreds of persons fled villages and farm lands. Rail, automobile and air travel was suspended in many sections. Shipping schedules were disorganized. A fisher protection cruiser battled heavy seas to carry supplies to 60 inhabitants of lonely Fozzles Island in the Orkneys, stormbound since Christmas. Besides Dorset, the hardest hit counties were Kent and Essex, neighboring London. The Thames river flooded the famed playing fields of Eton and the private grounds of Windsor castle. The Thames was steadily rising. The rain-swollen Moselle river in France overflowed at Metz, cutting off numerous roads and transit lines, while the week-end rains winds and floods continued unabated. Despite night-long efforts of firemen to clear Saint Jans Cypel, near Ham-Brouck, of water which reached the second floors of houses, the floods continued to pour in. A fisher protection cruiser battled heavy seas to carry supplies to 60 inhabitants of lonely Fozzles Island in the Orkneys, stormbound since Christmas. In recent months robbers have been preying on women wearing valuable jewels to night clubs and the robberies led Police Commissioner Lewis Valentine to put a special squad of detectives on duty.

Galveston Casts Aside Cares To Observe Mardi Gras

GALVESTON, Feb. 8 (AP)—Galveston today cast dull care aside and gave her undivided attention to the celebration of Mardi Gras as King Frivolous XX arrived to begin his brief but merry reign over the treasure island. Frivolous was given a noisy greeting by thousands of loyal subjects this morning. He moved through the streets in an impressive military procession to the new federal building where he was welcomed by Mayor Odrian F. Levy and other officials. Tonight the genial potentate will review a spectacular street parade composed of many elaborately decorated floats. A street frolic in the business section is scheduled for Tuesday night. The identity of King Frivolous as this beautiful queen will be revealed at the coronation ceremonies and masquerade ball at the city auditorium. Scores of lovely young girls from all parts of the southwest will appear in the royal court at which the splendors of imperial Rome will be duplicated.

phy, have been virtually settled. The governor told newsmen he had communicated with the White House Sunday.

Gov. Murphy said the stalemate centered on the issue of recognizing the UAW as the sole collective bargaining agency for all General Motors workers in 20 of the corporation's 69 plants in the United States.

In the partly-militarized strike center of Flint, Mich., where sit-down strikers hold three General Motors plants—two of them in defiance of an injunction—two-thirds of the Michigan national guard was ready for emergency duty. Twelve hundred began their second week of patrolling an area which includes two of the strike-held plants and several other General Motors factories.

the NRA and AAA—held unconstitutional by the supreme court—before congress acts on the judicial reorganization proposals.

In congressional circles the president's move continued to be a prime topic of conversation. Representative Fish (R-NY) announced he would speak over the radio tonight on "the president's plan to pack and control the supreme court."

Even before the administration measure was officially before it, the senate judiciary committee talked it over at a morning session that attracted 14 out of 18 members on the committee.

Comments of some members showed the committee was divided on the president's recommendations, particularly on his proposal that an additional justice be named to the supreme court whenever a member over the age of 70 did not retire. Mr. Roosevelt suggested 15 as the maximum membership.

Chairman Ashurst (D-Ariz.) said he would offer a bill to carry out Mr. Roosevelt's suggestions in the senate today.

It was introduced in the house Friday by Representative Maverick (D-Tex.), and the house judiciary committee will begin studying it tomorrow.

Mrs. Lloyd Wasson and daughter, Sue Caroline, are visiting in Hale Center with Mrs. Wasson's grandmother.

FUNDS SOUGHT FOR RIO GRANDE STUDY

AUSTIN, Feb. 8 (AP)—Four representatives from districts along the Rio Grande introduced a bill today to appropriate $35,000 to the state board of water engineers for a scientific study of the waters of that stream.

Information obtained would be furnished the United States government for its use in negotiating for a treaty with Mexico on an equitable distribution and storage of the river's waters.

The bill was by Augustine Celaya of Brownsville, Arnold J. Vale of Rio Grande city, Harold M. Hankamer of El Paso and B. J. Leyden-decker of Laredo.

Stronger Drivers' License Measure Sought By Allied

AUSTIN, Feb. 8 (AP)—Governor Allied advocated today a strict uniform drivers license law and more effective regulation of trucks and buses.

Addressing the initial conference of a statewide safety committee, the chief executive said uniform legislation necessarily must supplement the program to be evolved by the group of 100 citizens.

The program, he said, should be founded on engineering, enforcement and education.

"The road to traffic safety is neither blind nor unmarked, Allied asserted. "Other states have reduced their motor death toll in the face of a rapidly advancing national death average. I think that with the safety ammunition which will be passed out, combined with your own knowledge of state and local safety problems, you can return to your respective communities effectively armed for this state wide war on traffic accidents."

Hobbs Child Dies After Long Illness

Sylvia Ann, 5-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Low of Hobbs, N. M., lost a long desperate fight for life at 2:20 a. m. today at a local hospital.

She had been suffering from pneumonia and serious complications. Critically ill for two weeks, she was rushed here by plane on January 10. Half of the time since then, she has been under an oxygen tent as physicians sought to save her life.

Her parents have remained at the bedside almost constantly.

The body was taken overland from the Eberley funeral home today at 2 p. m. to Hobbs. Services will be held there Tuesday at 10 a. m. with Rev. Clark, pastor of the Methodist church, in charge. Burial will be in the Hobbs cemetery.

Move For New Courthouse And Jail For County Is Urged By Attorney

Action looking toward construction of a new courthouse and jail for Howard county is urged in a communication to The Herald from Garland A. Woodward, local attorney. His letter follows:

"To the Editor:

"Considerable favorable discussion has been gained and with popular favor is being made for the construction of a new courthouse and jail in Big Spring, and may I briefly use the columns of your good paper to endorse and recommend this greatly needed movement with the following suggestion:

"That Howard county dispose of three-fourths of its present valuable courthouse and jail site, which would likely sell for something around $100,000, and obtain a government grant for something like $100,000, which I believe would increase our present bonded indebtedness and would enable us to construct a modern courthouse and jail so badly needed by the general public including jurors and public officials, which are now crowded into quarters not commensurate or sufficient with the business entrusted to them.

"We cannot criticize jurors in their complaints of grossly inadequate accommodations that they are entitled to while serving as jurors. Howard county is one of the most populous and wealthiest counties in West Texas and is far behind in courthouse and jail facilities. My humble suggestion would be to combine a courthouse and jail on the south center portion of the present courthouse block. It is not necessary to have a courthouse in the exact center of town as it was in former years and this property is too valuable to be held as vacant property.

"Practically every county seat in West Texas has a modern courthouse and jail with the exception of Howard county and now while the government is willing to aid us and the property is valuable, I suggest some action be taken on the part of the people of Howard county to awaken to this much needed problem and express themselves as favorable toward a new courthouse and jail.

"Respectfully yours,
(Signed) "GARLAND WOODWARD."

Total fines paid during the 10-month period amounted to $4,858.

The figures for arrests did not include 156 traffic charges, most of which drew the conventional $1 fine for the first offense.

CHURCH RALLY DAY SET NEXT SUNDAY

Rally day for the Mount Bethel Baptist (colored) church will be at 4 p. m. Sunday instead of Feb. 7 as was erroneously announced, Rev. J. Y. Dixon, pastor of the church, announced today.

Several white visitors came to the meeting site yesterday expecting to hear the services, it was reported.

The principal address for the rally program, which is to be the opening activity of a drive for funds to rebuild the church which was destroyed by fire Dec. 20, will be delivered by Rev. R. E. Day, pastor of the First Baptist church. Special features are being arranged for the meeting.

November and December are months for storing Irish potatoes, turnips, pumpkins, squashes and citrons.

ORDER INQUIRY INTO OIL PRICE STRUCTURE

AUSTIN, Feb. 8 (AP)—The legislature today ordered an investigation of alleged price discrimination against West and North Texas crude oil.

Action became final when the house of representatives approved the investigation resolution without dissent. The inquiry would be conducted by three members of the house and two of the senate.

Rep. Penrose Metcalf of San Angelo sponsored the resolution in the house. He and other proponents said the recent crude price rise in West Texas was considerably less than the average 12-cent increase in other sections.
