HERE--- AND THERE By ELVIE B. JACKSON

During this Thanksgiving season our nation is standing on the shores of our economic situation, scanning the boundaries and expanse of troubled waters of depression with eager strained gaze.

Just as on that day in November, when our forefathers had struggled through a season of untold hardships, when food ran low, and the harsh soil about the settlement yielded but slender crops.

Women of culture who had left their protected homes in England, to help their husbands, found a new country in America, were coarsened by unusual toil, folded in supplication on her breast.

Dark came, the candle dips were lighted, the flares set aflame on the beach and watch for the ship was kept in the home and from the shore.

At last, a clarion shout goes up! There, on the far distant horizon a ship comes creeping in. The colonists rushed to the shores on that day in November, 1621, with songs and hymns of thanksgiving.

Then, as now, foreign conditions were not in ease and plenty. For Captain Pierce had found there was a dire scarcity of corn, and food supplies had to secure.

Perhaps, as we continue to have the abiding faith that was the metal of those early pioneers, and keep watch, with the conviction that relief will come, this nation may find the ship and its treasures soon sailing over the horizon and stopping at our shores.

Not only the bread of life, but the bread of confidence and trust in a divine power that keeps watch over the destinies of nations.

BUCKAROOS-BULLDOGS MEET AT LILLARD FIELD, 2:30 TODAY

BOTH TEAMS DETERMINED TO WIN GAME

Largest Crowd In Oil Belt Will See Game In Ranger Today.

The largest crowd to witness an Oil Belt football game this season, probably one of the largest in the past four or five years, will be on hand this afternoon at Lillard field when the Ranger-Breckenridge game for the district championship, the outcome of which will mean much to do with the championship of the district.

Much more interest has been shown in the game because of the fact that on it hinges, to a large extent at least, if not entirely, the fate of at least three teams in the district race. A win by Ranger would mean that the Bulldogs would go into the district race with the winner of District 1, which is probably the Rangers. A tie would throw Abilene and Ranger in the running, and a win by Breckenridge will put the Eagles and Buckaroos out for district honors.

Not since 1926, when Ranger won the district championship, has there been as good a chance of a team going into the championship in the district race with the winner, winning nine games and finishing behind both Abilene and Breckenridge to tie for second place.

In 1931, the first year of the team in the district, the Bulldogs did not get started well for some time, though they had a strong season and finished behind both Abilene and Breckenridge, the latter winning five and losing one, while the Buckaroos were losing four and losing one. The Bulldogs lost to Abilene and Breckenridge, tied Cisco and won Eastland and Brownwood to tie for third place.

The tie game last week gave Breckenridge fans and the team some hope as it gave them a chance at the title again, because the Bulldogs only half a game ahead, whereas they had one full game ahead since their defeat of the Buckaroos at the hands of the Eagles.

In the nine games that have been played between Ranger and Breckenridge, Ranger has won six, tied one and lost three. The defeats suffered at the hands of the Buckaroos have been overwhelming, however, one being by a score of 40 to 7, and the other by a score of 25 to 0, which was made at Breckenridge last Thanksgiving.

The record of the two teams in the past nine years follows:
 1923—Ranger 7, Breckenridge 5.
 1924—Ranger 6, Breckenridge 0.
 1925—Ranger 24, Breckenridge 3.
 1926—Ranger 18, Breckenridge 0.
 1927—Ranger 7, Breckenridge 6.
 1928—Breckenridge 13, Ranger 7.
 1929—Breckenridge 40, Ranger 7.
 1930—Ranger 12, Breckenridge 7.
 1931—Breckenridge 25, Ranger 0.

Five Buckaroo Linemen Who Will Play Against Bulldogs Today

Herman Price

"Squint" Williams, star guard and captain of the Ranger Bulldogs, who is playing his last year in a maroon uniform. "Squint" is one of the mainstays on the offense and defense and is equally good in all departments of the game.

PEEPING THRU THE KNOTHOLE with BILL MAYES

So certain are Buckaroo fans of victory that many have reserved seats for the Abilene-Breckenridge playoff for the championship of the Oil Belt.

The playoff can come in only one way—by defeat of the Bulldogs this afternoon at the hands of the Buckaroos.

The Breckenridge American, on its front page Tuesday, ran a line in black type between each item reading "Oh to Ranger." This was not necessarily an indication that the paper predicted a victory, but was probably used as a means of urging the fans to go to the game.

Ticket sales in both Ranger and Breckenridge have been tremendous. The demand still continues with very few reserved seats remaining Wednesday in either town, and these along the 5 and 10 yard lines. These are probably gone by this morning, so general admission tickets are probably all that can be secured at the gate.

A few quotations from the American, to show the attitude of the Buckaroo followers, shows how confident they are of victory. Some of the expressions read:

"We hope those fans who are already reserving seats for the Buckaroo-Abilene game next week and the game the following week between Breckenridge and the winner in District 1 are correct."

The fans mentioned are certain that Breckenridge will defeat Ranger in order that Abilene and Breckenridge can play for the title, with Breckenridge winning the playoff.

Another one reads: "Many Abilene football followers are pulling for a tie game between Ranger and Breckenridge as they say the Bulldogs will be easier to beat than the Buckaroos, although the Eagles topped the Buckaroos at Abilene on Armistice Day by a lone touchdown.

These fans point out that Pitzer was out of the game a good part of the time and the Bobby Wood, another star quarter, was in the grandstand and not on the field."

Still another quotes N. S. Holland as saying "The Buckaroos can beat Ranger and after they do they can trim the Eagles even if the game is played at Abilene instead of Breckenridge. Games in the Oil Belt are played on a game and game basis and if Abilene comes here for the game next week the Buckaroos must journey again to Abilene next year to play the Eagles instead of having them in our own back yard."

To carry this quoting business still farther, we find this "There is a feeling in Breckenridge that if the Buckies can beat Ranger they can take the Eagles to task for a win on the Buckaroo field. What with it not likely that Pitzer will get knocked out again and Bobby Wood now ready to prance in his place or help in scoring touchdowns, it doesn't appear improbable that the Buckies can come back for a few wins to cinch the district title."

All of which may mean nothing to the Ranger fans, but it shows that a very determined and certain bunch of Buckaroos are coming to Ranger for the game and they will be out there to win, and intend to do so. Whether they do or not depends entirely on the brand of football the Bulldogs play.

Eddie Teddlie

Vaurice Russell

Outstanding end of the 1931 and 1932 Buckaroos. He is one of the best.

Veteran guard who may see service in the Bulldog game since Taylor is reported with the mumps.

Berford O'Dell

Knacker who has been showing up well and who will be one of the mainstays in the line.

JAIL CELLS SOUGHT.

FORT WORTH—Mountain Air, N. M., wanted some more jail cells, so the town clerk wrote Chief of Police Henry Lee here to learn if he had any to spare. Fort Worth has plenty of jail cells, but none to spare, Lee answered. Some may be on sale, however, next January, when a police sub-station is discontinued by installation of radio on squad cars.

VET WHITTLES FOR LIVING

DETROIT—A gassed World War veteran, Fred Pilchta, is whittling a living out of old telephone poles to provide for his wife and six children. Pilchta spends 10 to 12 hours a day fashioning wooden ducks, known as decoys, from the old poles. He sells the ducks or trades them to merchants planning a hunting trip in exchange for clothing and food.

Beer may be on the way back, but that still leaves us wondering if the brewers are going to bring back the old-fashioned brewery horses.

Campaign "hoie" must have sounded like the familiar hog call in the field of politics, judging from the herd of job seekers that's crowding around the trough.

Week-end MURDER by GABRIELLE E. FORBUSH

BEGIN HERE TODAY. AMOS PEABODY, elderly cousin of LINDA AVERILL, falls to his death from the second-floor balcony of the Averill Long Island home.

THE doctor studied her closely and she met his eyes with the clearest, brightest look she could summon.

"You're not quite all right, but you are amazingly near it. Wonderful stamina, this new generation. He shook his head wisely.

"The 12 o'clock. That's the first good one and doesn't rush—" "Good, that gives us time. Tom, I must talk to you—it's terribly important—terribly! So, whoever this is coming, get rid of him quickly. Don't worry. I'm all right in my head. But before those men leave—I must see you alone.

"Binks—tell what? And why on earth should I tell—" "Or the doctor or your mother or anyone! Promise!" "Why, Binks—" "Promise! Oh, Tom if you ever loved me—don't talk—promise!"

HE heard her out grimly. Heard the silent approach of the man behind her—the man whom she had trapped there and who, fearing detection, tried to silence her forever.

"That's simple enough. We can say I found Mr. Pratt bending over you." "That's simple enough. We can say I found Mr. Pratt bending over you."

"Dear—there are four men in this house—and four men who may have done it. In fact, you said you saw Mr. Shaughnessy just about the same time and the other two were up, weren't they, by the time you got to the room? How can you be sure which one it was? They'd all had trouble with Cousin Amos. You remember we joked about the 'potential murderers.' Marvin is one of them. He may be the one, that's true—but—"

"Her words reached him but they started another train of thought. "Four of them—and any one of them might—Linda, those men don't wait for the noon train. They get out of here as quickly as they can pack. I'll stand over every last one—I'll tell them it's that or—arrest."

"But, Tom, you were convinced it was an accident. Wasn't everybody?" "Yes, of course, Binks. How could it seem anything else?" "That's exactly. Murder—murder simply doesn't occur to anyone in—well, in our type of home. And anyhow it had every appearance of an accident. You went all over the ground, didn't you?"

"Sure—with Parsons. Into the bedroom, out on the balcony." "And neither of you saw anything?" "What was there to see? An empty bed—an open door—a torn railing—" "And the body of an old man who fell over, headfirst, hit the stones below and was killed. Was the doctor even surprised that the fall killed him?"

"N-no. Of course it was only one story but the old-fashioned balcony is quite high and he did go headfirst. His head was—well, badly crushed."

"A plan that I know will work. Remember they have no idea—the murderer has no idea—that I know it was murder. That's our great advantage. I came hurrying into the room and caught him there. He hid and choked me, but you've all taken for granted that I fainted. Isn't it natural that I think the same thing? So, as it stands now, there's been an accident. I've come to after a prolonged fainting spell brought on by shock. I don't remember anything but a choking sensation before everything went black! Isn't that the proper expression?"

"So you and I are free to act and do the first thing we must do is to make those men stay here. They must finish out the week-end just as we planned it, or as nearly so as possible."

Thursday Club Luncheon A Brilliant Affair.

The Thursday Afternoon club members were complimented with a very beautiful luncheon Tuesday at 1 o'clock at the home of Mrs. James Horton, and which was handsomely decorated in big yellow chrysanthemums, ferns, and autumn foliage for this charming club event.

The house hostess received informally assisted by the committee women in charge of the game luncheon, and entertainment features to follow: Mrs. E. Roy Townsend, Mrs. Leslie Gray, Mrs. W. A. Martin, and the president of the Thursday Afternoon club, Mrs. B. M. Collie.

Seven luncheon tables were laid in exquisite linens and centered with wreaths of delicate, fresh ivy. Amidst the foliage a bronze deer lifted its startled head. Places were indicated by small deer in silhouette with name attached and with easel back an autumn leaf.

The deer meat luncheon plate was accompanied by potatoes in cream dressing with condiment, topping, beans, molded fruit salad, hot rolls, coffee, and second course of apple pastry with cheese.

Those assisting in serving were Mrs. J. M. Perkins, Mrs. Grady Pipkin, Mrs. James Horton, and Mrs. W. E. Staller. Following luncheon a charming revue of the book, "Bandi," story of a deer, was given by Mrs. W. A. Whitley.

Games of dominoes, bridge and contract occupied the members during the afternoon, with favors for high scores presented by Mrs. Horton and Mrs. Collie, to Mrs. Carl Springer, Mrs. Collie, and Mrs. F. M. Kenny, who received handsome books of adventure and travel.

Mrs. J. E. Hickman extended an invitation to the club members to be the guests of Judge and Mrs. Hickman next Wednesday evening when an exhibition of pictures by Texas artists will be shown.

All appointments preserved the forest and out of doors motif, and made a particularly pleasing setting for this club social affair, enjoyed by Mrs. C. U. Connellee, D. L. Childress, A. H. Johnson, W. B. Pickens, R. E. Sikos, M. C. Hayes, W. D. R. Owen, M. J. Pickett, F. M. Kenny, Grady Pipkin, J. E. Hickman, E. Roy Townsend, W. B. Collie, Hubert Jones, J. M. Perkins, W. A. The president, Mrs. J. M. Armstrong, expressed appreciation for the splendid newspaper publicity the P. T. A. is receiving, especially that given in connection with the recent carnival and play sponsored by the association.

The next meeting will be held in four weeks.

The program opened with a reading by Virginia Ferguson.

Mrs. Scott W. Key was presented and gave a fine address, greatly enjoyed, "How to Promote Reading in the Home."

Mrs. B. McLaughlin was most pleasing and informative in an informal discussion concerning the proper use by the public of the facilities of Eastland public library and requested that people cooperate more heartily with the children's story hour.

The new line of books for children's reading was reported and arrangements for children's reading made.

The South Ward school's part in the possible benefit to be gained through labor financed by reconstruction finance corporation was considered, and the association voted to ask for a hedge along the north side of the grounds and for improvements of environments and playground.

Joe Brown Comedy Rib Ticking Hit At Arcadia Today

Never in the memory of the most ardent Joe E. Brown fan has there been such a riot of fun and laughter packed into six reels of entertainment as was unbound last night at the Arcadia theatre in "You Said a Mouthful."

If the enjoyment manifested by the first night audience at Joe's struggles to be champion swimmer is any criterion, it's going to be difficult to get seats at the Arcadia theatre as long as "You Said a Mouthful" is on the screen.

With an inborn timidity about water that amounts almost to phobia, Joe finds himself mistaken by the girl of his dreams—at least, he starts dreaming about her as soon as he meets her—for the champion swimmer of Canada, Joe Holt, who is the favorite in the forthcoming swimming race from Catalina to the California mainland, a mere 27 miles away.

Between his determination to be everything Alice thinks he is, and the relentless coaching of his pick-aninny ward—a darky orphan—Joe somehow manages to get used to the water and learn the rudiments of swimming.

Of course, Joe wins the race—who ever heard of Joe E. Brown failing to do anything he started out to do?—but that's a mere detail. If anything funnier than this swimming match has ever been filmed on land or sea, we've forgotten what it is.

And the race itself is only the hilarious, side-splitting climax to five reels of more of merriment that ranges from audible chuckles to deafening roars and shrieks of laughter. It seemed to us that the only time the audience stopped laughing was when they were out of breath and couldn't do anything but gasp until they got their second wind.

It would be easy to pick out a dozen high spots in Joe's career as a champion swimmer and dwell upon them, but it would equally be a shame to give away any of the delightful twists and surprises of "You Said a Mouthful." It's enough to say that anybody who misses Joe E. Brown in this picture will miss one of the funniest experiences of a lifetime.

"Nature in the Raw is seldom MILD"

THE WAR WHOOP "Nature in the Raw"—as portrayed by N. C. Wyeth... inspired by the blood-curdling yells of war-mad savages, whose barbaric cruelty held America's early settlers in a constant state of terror. "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—and raw tobaccos have no place in cigarettes.

No raw tobaccos in Luckies —that's why they're so mild

WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes. "It's toasted" That package of mild Luckies
