Agricultural Meeting Slated In Muleshoe

Area agricultural producers in the Muleshoe area will have an opportunity to hear five important topics discussed in Muleshoe on Monday night, March 18, at 8 p.m. in the Mary DeShazo Cafeteria during a Commercial Agricultural Seminar. The topics for this meeting were developed and is being sponsored by the Extension Field Crops Committee headed by J.G. Arm of Bailey County. This meeting is open to the general public and is free of charge.

As we try to meet the expanding needs of the commercial agricultural problems of Bailey County, we find solutions from time to time that need to be discussed and covered that will help producers realize more net profit. This meeting has been designed to help meet the needs of the commercial producer of this area.

The following topics and speakers have been secured for this meeting:

"Cotton Varieties and their Characteristics for the Muleshoe Area", by Dr. Robert Metzger, Area Agronomist in Cotton at Lubbock.

"Micro-Nutrient Problems associated with Grain Sorghum and Corn", by Dr. James Supak, Area Agronomist at Lubbock.

"Low Rate Spraying for Insect Control", by Dr. Robert McIntyre, Area Entomologist at Lubbock.

"Factors Connected with Logging in Grain Sorghum", by Dr. Robert Berry, Area Plant Pathologist at Lubbock.

"Crop Budgets for 1974 Year", by Marvin Sartin, Area Economist at Lubbock.

Anyone regardless of race.

Nutrition Month

March is Nutrition Month and a good time to let good nutrition practices help you save money.

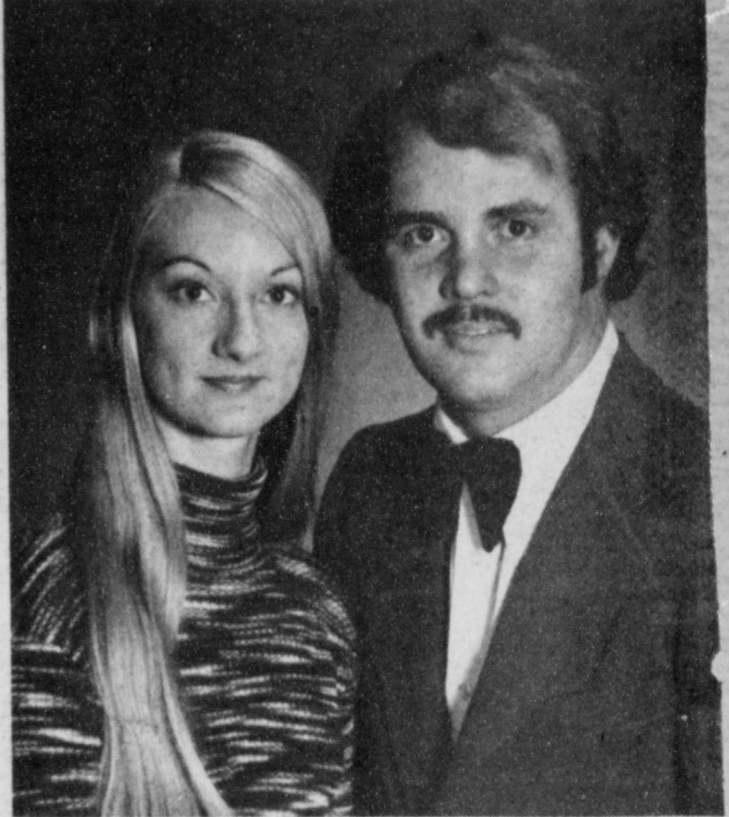

Scientists have helped by developing a guide, the Four Food Groups, to help consumers choose wisely. When foods are chosen from these four food groups it is possible to get all the nutrients necessary for good health without knowing about amino acids, or polysaccharides or any of the complicated chemical reactions that go on in the body. The foods within a food group are similar in the nutrients they supply, so you can choose many different foods each day and still follow the four food groups. Since there are many foods in each group, consumers can follow the guide and save money by choosing lower cost items in each group.

The meat group includes pork, lamb, veal, poultry, fish, beef and meat substitutes such as eggs, peanut butter or dried beans. Everyone needs two servings of meat group foods each day. Less popular cuts of meat, variety meats, fish, poultry and dry beans can be nutritious money savers.

The milk group is a favorite with time and money conscious consumers. The milk, cheeses, ice-creams, and custards found in this group are usually quick to fix, moderate in cost and always nutritious. Everyone needs at least two servings from this group each day but children, teenagers, pregnant and nursing mothers need more than two servings each day. Instant non-fat dry milk and processed cheese are two economical choices in this group.

The fruit and vegetable group also gives the consumer many choices. Wise consumers will choose canned or frozen forms of fruits and vegetables that are "out-of-season" in the early spring. For example, canned tomatoes or frozen strawberries might be better choices than the fresh produce. Cabbage, carrots, sweet potatoes and grapefruit should be "in-season" in the early spring and make good choices for consumers who want fresh produce. Everyone needs four servings of fruits and vegetables each day.

The bread and cereal group also offers many choices for the penny-wise consumer.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED . . . Mr. and Mrs. Lindal L. Murray of Muleshoe announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Patricia Ann Murray to Stanley Eugene Black, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Black of Muleshoe. LOUISA'S LETTER

Dear Louisa,

My sister has one child, a daughter four years of age. They idolize this little girl and it is easy to understand why. But I think they are doing her harm by the way they act.

The whole house revolves around this child. She has to have the attention of the family at all times. No matter who is present or what needs to be done. It has to be stopped if she interrupts. She is an adorable looking child but she is not being taught proper manners.

I am afraid to say these things to my sister because she will resent it. What should I do?

Sister--Conn.

Answer: (Handwritten)

An attitude such as you describe will probably make adjustment to others in the world a very great problem for this little girl when she goes out into the world.

That is one great trouble with so many young people today. They have been catered to and given everything without having to contribute their time or energies in helping.

I believe in giving a great deal of time and opportunities to our young people but there must be some discipline. They must know and realize the rights of others, old and young.

The child who with kindness and understanding, has been taught to be courteous, will find life later on a much better one than does the selfish child.

Louisa.

The Sophomore Class met Thursday, March 7, 1974, in the cafeteria. The purpose of the meeting was to select an alternate for the beauty pageant.

Nominations were Eddy Mardis, Dan Ellis, and Bryan Nickels. Elected was Bryan Nickels. The beauty pageant will be held Saturday, March 9, 1974.

BRENNAN & LAYOFFS
Labor Secretary Peter J. Brennan has asked employers to help soften the impact of the energy crisis on workers by giving the Government advanced notice of layoffs. This information would help the Labor Department project job cutbacks so that measures could be taken to aid the unemployed.

ON GETTING REFUNDS
The Government has published rules under which a consumer could get his money back if he was stuck with a product that had been banned as hazardous. The new rules are effective March 6.

Clerical Employees Wanted By FBI

The Dallas Office of the FBI, through its Special Agent in Charge, Mr. J. Gordon Shanklin, has announced it is again in urgent need of clerical employees to fill the positions of Clerk and Typist at Bureau headquarters in Washington, D.C.. These positions present an excellent opportunity for young people, male or female, who are at least 16 years of age, United States citizens, and have at least a high school education, provided they can pass a rigid investigation of loyalty, reputation, and character, and are in good physical condition. No previous experience is required. Future vacancies are also anticipated in the Stenographer position.

The entrance salary for a Clerk is $5,682 (GS-2) per year with a raise in thirty to ninety days to $6,408 (GS-3) per year, if their work is satisfactory. A twenty word Spelling test must be passed to qualify for the Clerk position.

A Typist starts at $6,408 (GS-3) per year. Applicants for the Typist position must pass a five minute typing test of 40 words per minute and a twenty word Spelling test.

As openings occur, applicants for the Clerk and Typist positions who are interested, are considered for the Fingerprint Clerk position which starts at $6,408 (GS-3) per year. Successful candidates are considered for promotion to $7,198 (GS-4) per year after six months; to $8,055 (GS-5) per year after one year; and to $8,977 (GS-6) per year after two years experience in fingerprint work.

A Stenographer starts at $7,198 (GS-4) per year. To qualify for the Stenographer position applicants must pass a three minute dictation test at the rate of eighty words per minute; pass a five minute typing test at the rate of forty words per minute; pass a twenty word spelling test; and a twenty word vocabulary test. Qualified stenographers must be willing to accept a Typist position until vacancies for the Stenographer position exist.

The FBI is only interested in above average young men and women. Many FBI clerical employees continue their college education on a part-time basis in the Washington, D.C. area while working at these full time clerical jobs. Young men and women who obtain a four year college degree from an accredited college and who have been employed in a clerical capacity with the FBI for three years and meet the other requirements are considered for the Special Agent position at a starting salary of $13,379 (GS-10) per year. It has been necessary to temporarily discontinue active consideration of qualified Special Agent applicants, but the FBI is most interested in attracting highly qualified Special Agent applicants, including minorities and women for future consideration.

The FBI provides counseling services to its new employees to assist them with housing, transportation, and other needs. If close friends or young married couples apply at the same time and are found acceptable, every effort is made to afford them appointments at the same time.

The FBI does not come under Civil Service in that the FBI has its own application form, tests, investigates, and hires its own employees rather than draw them from a Civil Service list or register.

An application and detailed information can be obtained by calling or writing the Special Agent in Charge, FBI, 200 Mercantile Continental Building, Dallas, Texas, 75201, telephone Area Code 214-741-1851, or by contacting the nearest FBI Office whose telephone number will be listed in the front of your telephone directory.

Completed applications should be sent to the above address as soon as possible as processing of such applications can be instituted as much as six months prior to an individual's availability. Upon receipt of a completed application, the interested applicant will be contacted promptly and arrangements made for personal interview and appropriate tests at a time and place convenient to the applicant.

Vacancies for the position of Clerk, Typist and Stenographer occasionally exist in our Dallas Office for which interested and qualified applicants may be considered. However, we have a long waiting list for Clerk and Typist positions in our Dallas Office.

The many benefits of working for the FBI such as annual leave, sick leave, health and life insurance, and retirement benefits should be thoroughly considered when choosing a career.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Bill Boykin
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN, Tex. — Many delegates to the Constitutional Convention think it is now virtually impossible to wind up their revision job by April 7.

President Price Daniel Jr.'s 90-day timetable for the historic task went out the window when debate on the education article dragged over 11 half-day sessions.

Even Daniel conceded as the education article debate droned toward a close that the convention is off schedule. He said he still feels, however, that there is a chance to make up for lost time by speedy action on relatively non-controversial (if any) sections.

More pessimistic delegates are stating now that the whole convention assignment is in jeopardy due to strong feeling on many issues.

At root of the problem, many now acknowledge, is the basic difficulty of getting elected officials to agree on monumental decisions during an election year.

Pressure is mounting for recess until after the May and June primary elections.

Daniel hopes to keep the delegates plugging away at decision making until early April. If it is then obvious that the job is a long way from complete, he probably will go along with motions to take off until after the elections, although he isn't ready to commit himself to that.

Some delegates would like to move up the recess date to March — and head for home as soon as all convention committees have handed in their reports.

NIXON POLL NOTED — An informal poll on the question of impeachment of President Richard Nixon at the January Texas Press Association convention drew the attention of the White House.

According to Margaret Mayer, Dallas Times Herald Washington correspondent, "A call from the White House communications office recently directed the attention of the Times Herald Washington Bureau to a story that, in the opinion of the White House, merited more attention than it had received.

"Publishers of Texas daily and weekly newspapers attending a January meeting of TPA in Austin were asked how they would vote on impeachment of President Nixon if they were members of the House," Mayer added.

"Eighty-nine would have voted against impeachment; one, for," Mayer's story pointed out.

GASOLINE ALLOCATED — The Rio Grande Valley and the Midland-Odessa area, which reported severe gasoline shortages, have received additional supplies through the State Emergency Fuel Allocation Office.

SEFAC ordered 200,000 more gallons sent to the Valley and 869,000 gallons to Midland-Odessa.

The total emergency allocation routed to the Valley now comes to about 925,000 gallons.

Shipments are made from the state's set-aside for emergencies and hardships. SEFAC operates in conjunction with the Federal Energy Office to administer the federal fuel allocation program.

The state's set-aside amounts to three per cent of all fuel marketable in Texas on a month-to-month basis. SEFAC determines where it is to be delivered based on need.

Other emergency allocations include 120,000 gallons to Laredo, 195,000 to Corpus Christi, 8,000 gallons to San Antonio, 90,000 to Longview and 60,000 to Dallas.

INSURANCE COMPANY "SUPERVISED" — The state's second largest insurance company has been placed under supervision by the state insurance commissioner pending an April 29 hearing.

Commissioner Don Odum said it appeared Republic National Life Insurance Company of Dallas had exceeded its powers and "failed to comply with the law in regard to the acquisition of certain investments."

Republic National has been in business since 1928 and has more than $10 billion in policies in force. Odum said there is no change in the company's obligation to pay claims.

AG OPINIONS — Meetings of governing boards of special districts (including hospital districts) and their committees must comply with the open meetings law, John Hill held.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:

Constitutional Convention delegates under common law have legislative immunities from arrest and freedom from being held accountable for remarks during debate.

Filing a complete list of a lobbying group's membership does not satisfy the legal requirement that a lobbyist register and identify all those contributing $500 or more to his work.

A written recommendation by a regional supervisor of the Texas Air Control Board to a permit engineer regarding a construction permit is a public record.

Veterans returning to positions with school districts have re-employment rights.

Venue in Texas Water Safety Act prosecutions rests exclusively in appropriate justice or county courts and in some cases municipal courts have concurrent subject matter jurisdiction.

Files of a licensing agency containing routine information concerning status of a licensee, including whether or not his license is current, are disclosable under the open records act.

COURTS SPEAK — A 1973 act permitting cities to issue revenue bonds to promote new industries has been, in effect, held unconstitutional by the Texas Supreme Court in a McAllen case.

High Court held Tyler's Peoples National Bank and its officers not at fault in jailing of a man who guarded his property from foreclosure sale with a shotgun.

Representation of a Dallas detective that a confession by a murder trial defendant might benefit the man on trial resulted in reversal by the Court of Criminal Appeals of a death penalty.

A Jefferson County boy with low intelligence won a new trial on robbery charges after appeal to the Court of Criminal Appeals.

APPOINTMENTS — Ken Clapp, formerly of Killean and Uvalde, resigned his job as special assistant to the governor to serve as Governor Dolph Briscoe's campaign manager.

Mike Willatt of Houston will head Attorney General Hill's environmental protection division, succeeding Robert Davis.

Agriculture Commissioner John C. White will serve as chairman of the Democratic party's Affirmative Action Committee to stimulate voter participation.

George Baker of Fort Stockton is acting director of Legislative Property Tax Committee.

William B. Blakemore of Midland is new chairman of the Texas Public Safety Commission and Capt. Bill Wilson of Austin will succeed Capt. Clint Peoples as senior captain of the Texas Rangers.

Dr. Nym L. Barker of Paris, Dr. Robert D. Moreton of Houston and Royce E. Wisebaker of Tyler were reappointed to the State Board of Health.

John L. McCraw Jr. of McKinney was named to the Civil Judicial Council. James

D. Dannenbaum and Johnnie Glenn Jennings of Baytown were reappointed to the Coastal Industrial Water Authority.

Rep. Leroy Wieting of Portland was reappointed to the Gulf State Marine Fisheries Commission.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Proving Poverty

How poor does an accused person have to be in order to qualify for free legal counsel? This question is arising more frequently now that the courts have broadened the rights of the indigent to have a lawyer provided at government expense.

To begin with, he need not be absolutely penniless. Take the case of a man arrested on a felony charge. He had $100 in cash, but no other assets or income of any kind. A court ruled that he was entitled to have a lawyer appointed for him.

"It is not necessary that an accused person be utterly destitute," said one judge. "Indigence is a relative term, and must be measured in each case by the service to be furnished. It connotes a lack of resources which, in the light of every-day practicalities, prevents the employment of competent counsel."

However, cash on hand is not the only test of poverty. In another case, a man charged with drunk driving had just $50 in his bank account. But he also had a steady job, two cars, and an equity in a house.

Rejecting his demand for free counsel, the court said "it stretches the imagination" to think he could not find a private attorney ready, willing, and able to take his case.

"The Constitution does not require," added a federal court,

"that gratuitous services should be extended to persons who can afford to pay."

Suppose the accused himself is broke but has friends or relatives with money. In most cases, that won't matter. Thus:

A college student, arrested on a charge of theft, had no financial resources. He did have a married sister who could afford to hire a lawyer for him, but she refused to do so.

The court thereupon decided that the student was entitled to have a government-paid attorney. The court reasoned that money in someone else's pocket did not make him any richer.

The Church PLANTS and WATERS...

The church plants the seed of faith, waters and tills the soil. These are the things that a church can do, and no more... then God provides the love and life-giving essentials. The growth then depends on the type of soil... is it barren... mediocre... or fertile. Your life with God will grow according to your will and desire.

"Blessed is the man that walketh not in the counsel of the ungodly, nor standeth in the way of sinners, nor sitteth in the seat of the scornful. But his delight is in the law of the Lord; and in his law doth he meditate day and night. And he shall be like a tree planted by the rivers of water."

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Library News

by Anne Camp

February was a short month but circulation records show that the library checked out 3,051 books; 1,105 paperbacks 87 record albums; and 83 magazines and pamphlets. Also 10 filmstrips were used by Laz-buddie school class. We welcomed a visit from this school class in the Library last week. The boys and girls did research work on a History project.

Since paperbacks, and record albums are gaining in popularity—the library would be happy to have donations of used paperbacks and records. The value of books and records is deductible as a contribution, and a receipt is given anyone who donates such items.

March 16 is the date of the dedication and open-house of the new Lubbock Public Library. It has been named for U.S. Representative and his wife—George and Helen Mahon. It is reported to be very beautiful, and anyone would enjoy a tour through it—the address is 1306-9th St. It is the first public building in the Memorial Civic Center, which is located on land ravaged by the May 1970 tornado.

Congratulations and best wishes go to our own Bookmobile staff on their brand-new custom-built four-county bookmobile!

John Tower United States Senate

I have just completed a two week tour of Western Europe visiting United States military commands and installations and observing field operations. In addition, I had discussions with North Atlantic Treaty Organization officials and participated in the annual Wehrkunde Conference on Western European defense at Munich.

As a result of my findings during this period, I am strengthened in the conviction that we cannot and must not make substantial unilateral force reductions in Western Europe at this time. Basically, such reductions would heighten the apprehension in Europe that we are slipping into a policy of isolation. It would doom the mutual balanced force reduction negotiations to failure and would leave our remaining forces in a perilous situation should hostilities break out.

After visiting with a dozen or more military units and their commanders in Europe, it appears to me that our state of readiness is satisfactory there. Indeed, it perhaps is better than it has been in recent years. Our leadership from the top command down to the senior non-commissioned officer level is dedicated, competent and steadily improving.

Individual unit esprit seems generally to be high and performance commendable. Inofed genuine efforts to reduce administrative fat and non-essential support functions to increase availability of human and material resources for the enhancement of combat capability. In addition, general troop morale seems to be good.

There is a continuing problem of drug and alcohol abuse, but it appears to have diminished somewhat in proportion from the immediate past. I believe our leadership is managing this problem in the best way that it can. There is an ongoing program of education and rehabilitation that must be continued at present levels. I consider this to be of paramount importance.

I have returned from Western Europe somewhat less skeptical about the chances for success of the volunteer army. I believe that recent experience suggests that with a virtually all-volunteer force, performance is better, morale higher and discipline improved. It appears to me that there is a singular determination on the part of our senior officers to make the volunteer concept work.

Turning to our naval forces in that area, I believe that present Soviet posture on our flanks in the North Sea and in the Mediterranean makes it essential that we proceed at once with modernization of and expanded capability for our Navy.

Despite some recent stresses between the United States and our European allies, I found that the North Atlantic Treaty Organization remains a viable organism for the conduct of mutual defense and as a counter-poise to the power and discipline of the Warsaw Pact nations. At this point, some European leaders seem dissatisfied with their own performance during the Middle Eastern crisis of last fall. Many on reflection take encouragement from the positive and prompt American response to Soviet build-up in the Middle East, and the threat of unilateral Soviet intervention.

Many of our friends across the Atlantic are impressed with our capacity for crisis management. They wonder if such crisis management techniques could be extended to NATO. Some regard this as a matter of urgency.

Europeans are sensitive on matters of consultation by the United States prior to taking unilateral action on matters that impact on their own interests. They generally believe there should be an improvement in the timeliness and depth of such consultation. They are concerned about the possibility of bilateral arrangements and agreements between the United States and the Soviet Union that do not take into consideration their vital interests. They are concerned that a force reduction agreement might leave an imbalance of power between the Warsaw Pact of the East and NATO of the West.

Present economic conditions in Europe and the related improvement of trade balance on our side between the United States and the Common Market has done little to help shift any additional significant burden sharing of the cost of military forces in Europe. Only the Germans can be considered to be capable of any significant improvement in burden sharing, but their position, too, is difficult and must be viewed in the light of realistic domestic, political and economic situations as is the case in other countries in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Briefly, these are some of my findings from my tour of our Armed Forces in Western Europe. The situation generally is good from our standpoint, but again, we cannot afford to let our guard down.

Piggly Wiggly is pledging total cooperation during this critical period of energy conservation. In support of this pledge we are implementing the following minimal activities throughout our company:

- All thermostats will be reduced 6 degrees for heating purposes and raised 6 degrees for cooling from their usual operating temperatures.
- We will eliminate all unnecessary lighting during and especially before and after normal working hours with due consideration to security and employee and customer safety.
- We are encouraging fellow employees to participate in car pools to and from their jobs and any other company activities.

Piggly Wiggly is dedicated to helping our nation work itself out of our problem. Please help us.
