FERGUSON CLEARS UP VOTE STATEMENT

'MURDER TRIAL' TO BE HELD AT RANGER TUES.

Ranger residents won't have to leave their town to see and hear a murder trial, for one is to take place at the First Baptist church of Ranger, Tuesday night, Oct. 25.

A young man, Gaston Dixon, will be "tried" for murder, and the whole setting will deal with the "killing" of a man by his friend, whom it is shown, was under the influence of liquor at the time he struck the blow which snuffed out a life, left a widow and a family of fatherless children.

The "trial" is being put on in co-operation of the churches and is a means of pointing out a lesson in prohibition law enforcement. Twenty-five prominent local leaders of this city will take part in this trial.

The cast follows:
Judge, Prof. R. F. Holloway.
Sheriff, T. P. Anderson.
Jack Stiles (bootlegger), J. E. Meroney.
Deputy sheriff, S. B. Baker.
Frank Lloyd (defendant), Gaston Dixon.
Court reporter, F. P. Brashier.
Mrs. French (star witness), Mrs. Alice Truce.
Mr. Cook (coroner), Edwin George Jr.
Mrs. Lloyd (defendant's mother), Mrs. Nannie Walker.
Mrs. Wright (wife of deceased), Mrs. Lottie Davenport.
Counsel for defendant, Lev. Atticus Webb, D. D., of Dallas.
Prosecuting attorney, Judge L. H. Flewellen.
Summoned for the jury: Roy Gilbreath, Charles Bobo, E. L. McMillen, Wallace Wagner, A. J. Ratliff, H. S. Von Roeder, Lloyd Bruce, L. E. Gray, Walter Harwell, H. C. (Andy) Anderson, Dr. W. L. Jackson, C. H. Dunlap.

"FRANKIE AND JOHNNY"

Maybe it's a campaign verse for the famous song that this "Frankie and Johnny" are smiling over, but nobody will ever know, because it wasn't a sound camera that took this picture. Anyway, you see Franklin D. Roosevelt, right, as he listened, in happy mood, to something that John N. Garner, his running mate, told him when Garner visited Governor Roosevelt in Albany recently.

COMMITTEE ADOPTS REPORT OF SUB-COMMITTEE ON THE RANGER FINANCING PLAN

The general committee, appointed by the Ranger city commission to go into the question of re-financing the city and making recommendations in connection with the outstanding bonded indebtedness of the city, met in the offices of the Ranger Chamber of Commerce Monday night at 7:30 to hear the report from the sub-committee. Dr. W. C. Palmer, chairman of the general committee, read the report.

Some discussion of several points was heard, doing chiefly with the ability of the city to operate under the proposed suggestions and the finances of the city in the years to come.

There were approximately 40 citizens present, including the 21 members of the general committee, many of whom asked for explanations of several of the items, which were given by the chairman of the committee and by W. S. Adamson, a member of the sub-committee.

When the motion that the recommendation of the sub-committee be adopted, nine voted in favor of the motion and two voted in the negative, the remainder not voting.

The report submitted by the sub-committee composed of Dr. W. C. Palmer, chairman; W. S. Adamson, E. H. Mills, Walter Harwell, and C. E. May, was as follows:

"We, your committee, appointed for the purpose of studying the proposed plans for the re-financing of the bonded indebtedness of the city of Ranger, beg leave to submit the following report:

"Upon information furnished us by the city secretary, we find the following facts:

Bonded Indebtedness	$ 746,000
Waterworks bonds	191,000
Sewer bonds	42,000
Haganam bonds	24,000
Total	$1,003,000

Warrants, Interest and scrip $ 101,000 || Total | $1,104,000 |

Present Amount Required

Interest on bonds at 6 per cent	$ 58,740
Sinking fund to retire bonds	40,000
Estimated budget	23,000
Total	$ 121,740

Estimated Revenue, 1932:

Taxes for 1932	$ 35,000
Waterworks, net	10,000
Delinquent taxes	7,000
Total	$ 52,000

"We recommend that the general bonds, waterworks bonds and sewer bonds, be re-funded, that that the principal be reduced as much as possible, that the interest be reduced to 1 per cent for the first few years with a gradual ascending scale and that a moratorium of two years be given the city by the bondholders before payments are made.

"That out of the tax levy of $2.50 on the $100 valuation, $1.50 be set aside for the payment of interest on the bonds and retirement or purchase of said bonds.

"That a budget be adopted by the city and placed into effect on Nov. 1, 1932, and that the expenses of the city be further reduced to the minimum and maintained on that basis.

"That every effort be made for the collection of delinquent taxes.

"In view of the fact that only the above proposed plans of re-funding as presented to the city, and the further fact that we do not believe any of the plans submitted are feasible, we suggest that further negotiations be had between the representatives of the bondholders and the city commission for the purpose of working out a plan of re-funding these bonds along these lines.

"Very respectfully submitted,
"COMMITTEE.
"By W. C. PALMER, Chairman."

"Traitors" Ousted By Communists WAS CALLED TO ANSWER TO VOTE CHARGE

Telegram Saves Appearance Before Grand Jury of Webb County.

LAREDO, Oct. 18.—District Attorney John A. Valls "lone wolf of the Rio Grande" today appeared to have made good his promise to call James E. Ferguson before the Webb county grand jury to disclose his sources of information on alleged illegal primary voting.

Valls said the sheriff at Austin had been sent a citation to serve on Ferguson.

If the citation is served two colorful characters will furnish a new chapter in the tangled political record of 1932.

The prosecutor won his title "lone wolf of the Rio Grande" because of his single-handed conduct of ruthless prosecution. He has been a prosecuting attorney for almost a third of a century.

AUSTIN, Oct. 18.—Former Governor James E. Ferguson was served here today with a subpoena to appear before the Webb county grand jury on Friday. Former Governor Ferguson declined to say what he will do about it at this time.

Previously Ferguson denied he had made the charge that there was illegal voting in Webb county. He pointed out that the statement about Webb county was made by attorneys in Mrs. Ferguson's answer to Governor R. S. Sterling's election contest suit.

This afternoon Ferguson was preparing to start a campaign tour which opens at San Antonio Saturday night.

AUSTIN, Oct. 18.—Widespread operations of a group of saddle thieves in south and southwest Texas was revealed here today as search was made for special Ranger W. S. Smith, who, officers fear, may have been killed by saddle rackets.

State Rangers from headquarters at Falfurrias have been detailed on the search.

Smith, a ranchman, had suffered heavy losses from the saddle thieves. Because of his activity in trying to run them down he was given a commission as a special Ranger last May.

The island is a setting for affairs in the lives of both father and son. It was there that the father crossed into the United States on his way to Cleveland to become, years later, a powerful figure in the steel industry. Before his migration here he had worked on a nearby Canadian farm.

It was there that James Jr. met Mrs. Duncan R. MacMartin of Chicago whom he later married. After spending a summer at Dry Island, Mrs. MacMartin wrote a book, "The Dry Fable of a Dry Crowd at Dry Island." After their honeymoon, the couple had little use for the island. They preferred London where Mrs. Corrigan became one of England's most popular hostesses.

Now Valued at $10,000.
At the son's death, four years ago, appraisers of his estate valued the place at but $10,000.

Soon the Canadian and United States governments will start erecting two huge dams at Cryslar and Barhart Island and Dry Island will be the bottom of a huge man-made lake.

With Dry Island another national summer home, also the play-spot of a steel magnate, will sink into oblivion. It is Clark Island, the summer home of David Thompson, president of the Inland Steel Co., of Chicago.

Dam Will Flood Steel Barons Home

CLEVELAND, Ohio.—The huge and once magnificent summer home of the James W. Corrigan, steel magnate of Cleveland, will become but a memory if the St. Lawrence waterway is developed as planned.

The formerly palatial home with its 38 rooms, 12 baths and quarters for servants and groundkeepers, its costly Orient rugs and other luxurious furnishings, stands on Dry Island, a part of the Thousand Island group near Morrisburg, Ont. It was built many years ago and the property descended to James W. Corrigan Jr., at his father's death in 1906.

Today, the estate is overgrown with vines and weeds. A 90-foot yacht, once one of the finest in that part of the river, is slowly rusting away at the dock.

RANGER IS FEARED SLAIN BY BANDITS

Lord's Prayer Is Carved on Pin

BUTTE, Mont.—The Lord's Prayer engraved on the head of a small gold pin is the most prized possession of a pawnbroker here.

Purchased from an itinerant in need of money, the engraving is so minute that it was set under a microscope to permit reading the work. Three years of nerve wracking labor were required for the prayer, which is in 12 lines, has 65 words, 254 letters, and 19 punctuation marks. The scale is .0047 of an inch.

Charles Baker, Spokane, Wash., engraver and sculptor, did the work after determining to outdo another performance of somewhat equal fitness.

Baker literally trained "physically" for the job, dieting, sleeping long hours, and living quietly for three months to steel his nerves for the task.

When ready, he invented a tempered steel instrument fine enough for the undertaking. This tool in itself was a triumph of design and manufacture, and other engravers attempted unsuccessfully to determine how he had made it.

After two failures, he succeeded in completing the job. He estimated that 1,863 strokes were required.

Exports From the U. S. Show Growth

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—A $23,000,000 increase in United States exports during September was reported today by the commerce department. The large increase was attributed to heavy foreign sales of cotton.

ROOSEVELT ON SECOND TRIP OF CAMPAIGN

ENROUTE WITH ROOSEVELT
—Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt left Albany at 9:35 a. m. today on the second major tour of his campaign.

Smiling broadly as a band struck up "Happy Days" the governor spoke to a group of students and then posed for pictures. He wore a top coat but was bare headed.

A driving rain was falling.

"Rain is lucky on all second campaign trips," he said.

Rochester was the first scheduled stop on the trip, which will carry Roosevelt into the middle west and south.

War Officers To Hold a Reunion

LAREDO, Texas, Oct. 18.—District Attorney John A. Valls of Webb county today received an apology from James E. Ferguson for statements about illegal voting. He will not be required to obey a subpoena to appear before a Webb county grand jury.

"I very much regret the occurrence," wired former Governor Ferguson. "I was misinformed concerning the voters in Webb county. I believe the election in Webb county was fairly and legally conducted."

Ranger Masons Will Attend District Meet

Tom A. Downing of Caldo, district deputy grand master of the 73rd Masonic district of Texas, has announced that a district meeting will be held in Caddo tonight at 7:30 o'clock. It is expected that a large number of Masons will be in attendance, including quite a number of Ranger members.

The funeral was held Monday. Professor and Mrs. Bailey will return tomorrow.

Highway Financial Report Completed

AUSTIN, Oct. 18.—The State Highway Department spent nearly $43,000,000 in the last fiscal year and had a balance of $11,468,433 on September 1, a statement of the department's financial condition, issued today, showed.

Construction expenditures for the year totaled $27,854,343 and maintenance $10,416,995.

Bulldog-Eagle Tickets On Sale At Drug Stores

O. G. Lanier of Ranger high school announced today that 729 adult tickets and 316 student tickets had been mailed today to the Abilene school for the Abilene-Ranger game to be played at 2:30 Saturday afternoon at Lillard field.

Tickets went on sale today in the drug stores of Ranger, it was announced, and student tickets will be on sale at the office of the registrar at the high school building. All students must get their tickets at the office prior to the game, Mr. Lanier announced.

The adult tickets, which are on sale at the drug stores of the town, will sell for 50 cents this year, which includes the reserved sections of the stands.

Eastland Little Theatre Group Is Continuing Tests

The Little Theater group is busily engaged pushing the character test work for the play, "The Brat," to be presented in the near future.

About a dozen, including members of the group and those taking tests for character parts, met in the city hall auditorium Monday night. They made their application and tryouts for parts under the direction of the casting committee composed of Mrs. Walter L. Clark, chairman; Mrs. Joe C. Stephen, Mrs. Charles Fagg; K. B. Tanner and Edward E. Freyschlag, who substituted for Loffin V. Witcher, who was out of the city.

Three characters were considered at this meeting and the entire cast will be completed in a short time.

Two Held After Texas Bank Raid

TEXARKANA, Oct. 18.—Two men were arrested here today in the $3,878 robbery of the State Bank of Omaha, Texas, yesterday. Officers recovered $1,578 of the loot.

One suspect identified himself as S. W. McDonald, the second refused to talk. Both were arrested in a truck enroute here. The men were armed but made no resistance.

Crane Will Not Support Ferguson

DALLAS, Oct. 18.—Former Attorney General M. M. Crane, one of Governor H. S. Sterling's attorneys in the recent primary election contest, announced today he would not vote for Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson for governor.

"I have always recognized that any nomination procured by fraudulence of illegal vote does not bind any democrat. I shall not vote for Mrs. Ferguson but I am intensely interested in electing the national presidential ticket," Crane said.

Eastland Man Is Given a Pipe Line Job In The Orient

Howard Parvin, son of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Parvin of Eastland, left last Wednesday on the "Texan" in response to a wire from the Standard Oil of Louisiana, to report for duty in the Far East, in company with 16 men from Shreveport.

The party sailed from New York Tuesday for Asia, in company with about 75 others, and proceed to the country of Iraq to start construction of a pipe line to the Mediterranean sea.

This work crosses Persia, over 900 miles of the Arabian desert, to Beirut on the Mediterranean.

Three years will be consumed in completing the job. The stringing of pipe will be done by samels and elephants in crossing the Arabian desert.

Howard Parvin was born and reared in Eastland and had seven years' experience in pipe line construction with a New York firm.

His wife will join him in a few months. For the present she is with Mr. and Mrs. George Parvin in Eastland.

A BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

GOD'S WONDERFUL WORKS: Many, O Lord my God, are the wonderful works which thou hast done; if I would declare and speak of them, they are more than can be numbered.—Psalm 40: 5.

YES, "AIRMAIL IS SOARING"

An editorial from the St. Louis Globe-Democrat carries the news that "special delivery letters are declining and air mail soaring." Also, that the activities of postal speed competitors are in line with the post office department's newly inaugurated move to widen the use of air mail and further increase its efficiency. Special delivery was instituted many years ago. It is admitted that it served well and prospered through many seasons, being the only method by which a sales message could be passed on from one person to another faster than ordinary delivery could "leap the gap."

ALLRED MAKES IMPORTANT RULING

Attorney General James V. Allred, in an opinion given to Senator J. W. E. Beck, ruled that the legislature has full authority to alter, change or diminish the salary of any officer whose salary, fees or compensations is fixed by statute, whether the office itself be created by the statutes or the constitution. Senator Beck is chairman of the state investigating committee appointed to prepare a general fee bill reducing the salaries of various officials. In the month of January, 1933, the 43rd legislature will begin its grinding. There will be 10 new senators and 79 new representatives. They are fresh from the ranks of the people. There is a rumor abroad in the land that they are going "to cut to the bone."

GENERAL DAWES OPENS NEW BANK

Gen. Charles G. Dawes has opened a new bank in Chicago, taking over the deposits liabilities and banking business of the Central Republic Bank and Trust Company. General Dawes is a mighty personage. He rendered a splendid service to his government under the skies of France while the World war was on. He was made a vice president of distinguished ability. He was ambassador to a foreign nation where his diplomatic achievements were lauded to the sky by the publicity writers of the American world. He was the first president of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, and after organizing its machinery, he resigned the presidency to go to Chicago to look after his banking business. As a financier he is among the high aces. He borrowed $90,000,000 from the Finance corporation which he had organized and placed his financial concern on a solid basis. Now it is announced that only about half of the $90,000,000 was utilized by the general and his associates. As a reorganizer he is a magnificent success. But what would have happened to the Dawes banks if the Reconstruction Finance corporation had not been created and billions placed behind it by the federal government?

Something Should Be Done About This!

Penney's Harvest Values Draw Big Crowds In Week

Thousands visited the J. C. Penney store in Ranger last week to take advantage of the harvest values that are being offered, and this week the customers continued to buy the bargains offered. The store is daily adding new items to the list of low-priced merchandise specials, being sold at low prices in order to clear shelves for winter merchandise. A visit to the store will repay the shopper because of the daily adding of new merchandise to the already large stock being offered.

Pilots Are Giving Motorists Thrills Near Galveston

By Stuart E. Jones, United Press Staff Correspondent. GALVESTON.—Motorists driving along Galveston's broad West Beach at certain times often find themselves flagged to a stop by soldiers and given their choice of waiting 20 minutes or turning back to the city. Those who wait find it worth their while. Pretty soon there will be a roar to the east and down along the water's edge will swoop three airplanes, traveling three miles a minute. They may scare the motorists to death, but they won't hit them. Their business lies a few miles beyond, where cardboard hilhouettes representing marching troops have been set up on the sand. As they approach the targets the planes belch forth a hail of machine gun bullets, kicking up little puffs of mud. In about two minutes they have disappeared, soldiers have rushed out and set up more targets, and three more planes are roaring up. These planes make up the third attack group, stationed at Fort Crockett, the only unit of its kind in the world. To the wary gentlemen in many nations who make a business of conducting the world's wars, the swift biplanes are of major importance. The planes at Fort Crockett—54 men they are all in the air—are the product of 13 years of such planning. Lieut. Col. Horace Hickman commands the group. The groups pilots represent the pick of the entire air corps.

PEEPING THRU THE KNOTHOLE with BILL MAYES

Well, we are glad that nicker-plated circus got out of town last night, because the way things have been going with the Ranger Bulldogs we were mighty uneasy for fear one of them might be stepped on by an elephant or something. Casualties have been so numerous that one more might be disastrous. Here is the way the situation is sized up right now, unless something has happened in the past 30 minutes or so. First, to go back to history, Uedell Duval had trick appendix carved out. He has not been able to play as yet, but may get into the Abilene game Saturday, with a lot of luck, which has been so sadly lacking in the past few weeks. Then Ray Adkins got a cut in his left leg and Aaron Anderson got a nasty gash over his eye that handicapped him more than something, but which did not keep him out of the game. These have been mentioned a number of times, but are given now just to keep the records complete. Adkins may, and then he may not, get into the Abilene game. Buck Blair and Jacoby had an attack of appendicitis. Blair was out for some time, and as far as we know Blair has not been able to play as yet. Jacoby was able to play in the Central and Weatherford games. Then Gray got his leg broken and left Coach Curtis confronting the necessity of developing one of the substitutes into starting lineup material in one short week. The latest, if we have not been misinformed, and we hope we have, deals another blow to the team. Herbert Love, who has been starting at guard, is reported to have a case of mumps. And in the meantime the date for the Abilene game approaches. There are but three practice days remaining, but the Bulldogs, in their never-say-die determination will present a much better team on the field Saturday afternoon than many of the fans would expect from the series of mishaps that have befallen the squad, which was none too large at the start. Reports from T. C. U. say that in the squad dressing room the following sign has made its appearance. It might be well for any team to follow out the suggestion it makes. It reads: Condition: Hostile, A attitude, Manliness, Patience, Intelligence, Obedience, Nerve, Sacrifice. Reports from Dr. Harry A. Logsdon today stated that Cleo Gray was showing up so well that the doctor was well pleased with his condition.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON WITH RODNEY DUTCHER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER, NEA Service Writer. WASHINGTON.—It's a strange business when a multimillionaire such as Secretary of the Treasury Ogden Mills is made the one big gun of the Hoover campaign, assigned almost single-handed to save the president's skin and to follow around behind Governor Roosevelt to undo whatever good the Democratic candidate may have done for himself. Not many years ago it would have been considered virtually suicidal to hand such a job to anyone who symbolized great wealth, Wall Street and the ultra-conservative in politics as Mills does. Today virtually all the members of the cabinet are millionaires and the administration is so frankly conservative that selection of Mills as its chief strategist and tower of strength in this campaign is appropriate. MILLS, however, does not owe his present position either to his wealth or the fact that he is a regular. He has been given high trust and great power by the fact that Mr. Hoover's other advisers and speakers obviously haven't the qualifications for the job and partly because Ogden has proved himself such an able stenographer. It will be interesting to see how it works out as Mills goes tearing around the circle in Roosevelt's robes, dissecting and scoring the

CALL of the WEST

BY R. G. MONTGOMERY

BEGIN HERE TODAY

STAN BALL accuses ASPER DELLO, timber king, of crooked practices and of ordering men shot to check up on his activities. Ball says he is making a speech and Delo tells him he will not attend. Delo's daughter, Donna, is a beauty and she is Stanley Ball's girl. Delo is selling her to Stanley Ball.

WINTER'S love Donna goes with her to Three Rivers to get Delo to give up his claim on Donna. They find Delo has secured a license and Delo has a marriage certificate set to marry Donna. Delo is wounded and wounded to keep him from getting any more near to Donna. Delo is caught by SWERGIN. Delo escapes but believes he is in the country. He meets Ball and tells him Stanley Ball. He tells him that he has stolen from the Delo timber boss and that he has a posse around him. Delo is wounded and Delo is captured. She shoots at him and she takes a wound, capturing her and taking her to the cabin.

Delo learns of her capture and he goes to get her but falls to her feet. Delo goes for water and food. Delo goes to the cave and Delo is captured and taken to a cabin. Delo is shot with him while Swergin is present.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXX

DONNA could not take her eyes from Stan's face. There was something in his cool manner that made her wonder at him.

"Turn about is fair play," he said at length.

"I am doing just what I said I would," Donna unconsciously assumed a defensive tone.

"Right," Stan spoke softly. All of the tone's wariness was gone from his face and his lines had softened.

Donna was expecting a shrewd attempt on his part to persuade her to free him. Of course he would try to talk himself out of his present tight corner! She waited impatiently but he did not speak for a full half hour. When he did it was not to ask for ease for himself but about her.

"You think a lot of your father?" He asked the question while his gray eyes held hers.

Donna was about to cut him off with a short answer when something prompted her to lead him on. "Father is about all I have."

"What's your father doing?"

"He's eyes did not waver. He was sure she was telling the truth. He knew there was something wrong with her marriage though he could never hope to know more of that now. Swergin's gift story protecting him did not carry any weight with Stan. He knew the timber boss was at that instant rounding up his mob for a lynching.

"Why do you ask?" Donna wanted to draw him out further.

"I just wondered how loyal you were. But I am convinced," he hastened to add, as he noted a flush mount her cheek.

"You think father is unfair, crooked, and that mistake will cost you heavily," Donna spoke with simple straightforwardness.

Stan smiled a little and nodded but he did not speak. He had all the information he had sought concerning the Delo Timber Company. He could incriminate Asper and he could make Donna's father almost as black as he himself had painted. He had been of half a mind to tell her everything. Now he made a new decision. He would let Swergin do his worst without a protest.

DONNA could not fathom the lean young man leaning against the wall. He seemed entirely different from what she had expected in the killer they had been hunting.

"What would you do if I loosened the rope at your wrist?" She put the question evenly.

"I would make a getaway if I could," he answered frankly.

"Why do you say that?" Donna flushed impatiently. "A white lie might set you free."

"A white lie would have gotten you free," he countered.

"But I wasn't going to be hung."

Donna could feel her control slipping.

"No, but you might easily have imagined a worse fate." He was not smiling and his eyes were clear.

"There will be a trial and you can hire a lawyer. The Blind River out will back you," she urged at almost to herself.

Stan laughed outright.

"Swear that you'll do it?"

"There will be no trial. Swergin will see to that. Everything will be settled within an hour." His eyes met hers.

"You mean they will lynch you?"

Donna could not meet those steady gray eyes.

"Just that."

"But Swergin came out of his way to hide you," Donna protested.

"Swergin came over here to cache me so that he would have time to get his own gang together." Stan spoke simply.

Horror filled Donna's eyes, then distrust and finally outright dislike. At last Ball was playing the cunning game for which she had been watching. He wanted to work on her woman's tenderness.

"I can't believe that," she said.

"And I don't expect you to. I expect to stay here until Swergin comes with his men." Stan eased his tortured wrists by shifting his weight.

"If I believed that I would set you free," Donna met this eyes fairly.

"And I believe that, too."

Donna gave a little gasp and got up. She was in a position that tore at her woman's nature, but she also had a woman's instinctive sense of protection for herself. Ball was cunning. He had proved that several times. She walked outside the cabin, unable longer to face him as he stood there calmly waiting.

Stepping through the brush that clung close about the door she looked toward the trail. She thought she saw a man draw back into the bushes but could not be sure. Her mind was in such a whirl that she gave the fleeting glimpse but little thought. Probably it was a mule deer feeding nearby.

SHE entered the cabin again and sat down. Stan was looking out of a little window that let in a white band of light. He did not seem to notice her return and she sat for several minutes before he moved. When he did it was to smile at her.

"I'm sorry to be so much trouble to you," he said softly.

Donna moved a little but could not answer.

He seemed to have come to some sort of decision. "I'm really a bad actor and would have wound up this way sooner or later." He paused and smiled, a bit of the old humor coming back into his eyes. "You can always know that I had it coming to me several times over."

His words did not cheer Donna as a confession of this kind should have. Instead she felt her heart catch and rise to choke her. He was confessing, admitting everything and still she could not feel the wave of anger and hatred that she had once felt for him.

Stan watched her through narrow eyes. He was wondering what she might be thinking. He knew that his resolve to make her think him guilty of all the crimes he was charged with had failed. Had he known women better he would never have spoken.

"I can't stand this any longer,"

Donna exclaimed. "I'm going to let you go. I hate you but I'm going to let you go!" She took a step toward him.

Stan shook his head. "It's no use. Swergin has at least two men outside right now. Stan's eyes shifted to the window and he smiled a twisted smile. "The dirty skunk is trying you out for his own purposes. He expects you to let me go."

DONNA'S eyes followed Stan's gaze and darkened with horror. Through the window she could see two men sitting on horses. They had rifles across their knees.

"I'll let you go and give you your gun," she cried.

"It's empty," Stan spoke softly.

"Listen to me. Be careful of that man. Ride straight to camp as fast as you can. Don't let him go with you. Understand?" The sudden fury of his words made Donna start.

"Well, you sure kept him bogged!"

Donna whirled at the rumbling voice behind her. Swergin was standing in the doorway, leaning at them.

"We'll just take him off your hands now. Your husband and your old man want you to gallop right straight to camp. I'll send a man with you." Swergin advanced upon Stan.

White-faced and shaken, Donna held her ground. "I'm going to ride in with the posse," she stated in an unsteady voice.

"You're going to ride on ahead. Ball is walking," Swergin growled.

"I won't go," Donna stated flatly. Her color was ebbing back and with it some of her old fire.

"Sam! Come and get this gal and take her on ahead to her old man!" Swergin bellowed.

Donna looked into the cylinders of the Colt she held. They were empty! She faced Swergin and her words lashed out. "If Ball is injured while you are bringing him in I'll sign a murder complaint against you and your men!"

Swergin reached out and chuckled her under the chin with a thick, dirty finger. "Sam! Get this little spitfire out of here," he yelled.

Sam was a beefy fellow with a matted beard and bleary eyes. Donna had never seen him at camp. Now he thumped into the cabin and caught her roughly by the arm. Half-dragging her, he made his way outside.

Realizing the hopelessness of resistance Donna mounted the black mare and rode away at a trot.

By STUART CAMERON, United Press Sports Editor.

Leonard and Walker Gave Tip to Dempsey.

Wonder what Jack Dempsey thought on the recent evenings when he saw Mickey Walker and Benny Leonard "get theirs" from younger men?

Leonard's prime arrived before Dempsey's, but Mike's era more nearly coincided with that of the former heavyweight champion.

It's difficult to believe that what Dempsey saw in the Leonard-Melarnin and Walker-Schmeling fights had no effect upon Jack's decision regarding a possible come-back attempt. Most of the boxing writers believe that Dempsey, like Tunney, is through as an active campaigner.

Tunney, with plenty of money, comes right out and says he'll never fight again. Dempsey, still in pursuit of the dollar, is smart enough to let the boys continue to guess. Ask him about a possible return and you'll get an enigmatical answer. And there are the fight fans of another day, who profess to believe that Dempsey could lick Schmeling and Sharkey at one time.

But assuming that Dempsey has had any serious idea of trying again against a real heavyweight, it's likely that the sorry beatings absorbed by Mike and Bennah gave Jack fresh arguments against returning to action.

Dempsey saw both of those fights and saw each of the veterans saved from an actual knockout by the action of the referee. Further, he saw each of the "victims" saved from unneeded punishment because their conquerors refused to strike after their opponents were helpless.

The attempted Leonard comeback was, in the opinion of this writer, a senseless undertaking of course, the only reason for it was the money Bennah owed to gain and get. — In that the undertaking was a success. But in his heart of hearts Leonard must have known he could not hope to stand up against a Melarnin or a Pettle.

The Old Grad-Varsity games are never much football. And Bennah was and is very much Old Grad.

government will refund to the borrower the amount over the loan. Upon full satisfaction of the amount of collateralized cotton, the rest of the crop will be released in due course of time to the farmer to use as he needs or sees best.

"It is suggested if one does collateralize cotton that sufficient margin over amount be put up that more funds will not have to be secured if cotton does not bring nine cents and furthermore, any over-payment will go to the borrower. It is better to have a paid note often and full release than speculation because market conditions can go down as easily as up. However, the government has made collateralization possible and government borrowers who insist upon same, may do so by complying with above information released to the press.

"The local banks or field inspector for crop production loan office will be glad to further inform concerning procedure to follow in collateralizing cotton which simply means waiting on the market a little longer and taking cotton off the market right at this particular time.

Correction

CURTAIN discussions of the new football rules have blurred the flying wedge, which has been legislated against this season, for the death of Cadet Richard B. Sheridan of West Point in the Army-Yale game last year.

But it was a flying tackle that caused Sheridan's death. On a kickoff in the last quarter of the Army-Yale game, Sheridan threw himself at Lassiter, who was carrying the ball. Sheridan died by the daring and fury of his own plunge.

No flying wedge, as they call that blocking triangle of players which forms about a ball carrier, had time to organize, as Sheridan was down the field with amazing speed and made the tackle close to the 20-yard line.

The Deaths Begin

THE death of George O. Dunham, 17-year-old high school football player at Minneapolis, makes the second serious accident in Minnesota, the other being the mishap of Myron U. L. University of Minnesota man whose basketball was broken and who was handicapped in his fight against death by pneumonia.

Both of these casualties occurred during practice.

Trying to Make the Team

THE wise fathers of football, the rules committee, can make no rules to restrain the zeal of young men trying out for the team.

The candidates, eager to demonstrate to the coaches their prowess in making tackles, blocking and running with the ball, often battle harder in practice and drive themselves more ardently than during the actual playing of a game.

Almost daily in the reports from the football training camps come stories telling how this or that player was seriously hurt in scrimmage.

Saving the Boys

WISE coaches limit the practice scrimmage after the season starts. Young men in good physical condition do not need scrimmage after their capabilities have been proven. Anyway, it is pretty well known before the season starts which candidates will be scrubs and which will be regulars.

Scrimmage is not needed in the teaching new formations which are meant as special preparation to penetrate the defense of next Saturday's rival or to devise a defense that will stop the opponent's attack.

It was because he wanted to protect his players that Knute Rockne used to do much of his teaching by blackboard work and by "dummy scrimmage," a term meant to denote the actual carrying out of plays with tackling and blocking done only by touch.

Subs Want to Be Rough

DR. JOCK SUTHERLAND, coach at Pitt, told me recently that after the first few weeks of scrimmage for the regulars was a foolish practice, exposing the men to the dangers of overzealousness on the part of the young men regarded as substitutes.

In many of the larger schools, the spring practice season is the time when some of the finer arts of line-play, blocking and tackling are taught.

the truth. To collateralize cotton means to put enough cotton up at stipulated price as security or to stand good for the obligation. The secretary of agriculture is permitting crop loan borrowers to put up enough cotton at nine cents clear of all expense, etc., to cover loan. This cotton must go through the cotton co-operative of Texas, or be stored in a federal bonded warehouse, insured and stored paid six months in advance. Then the warehouse must send receipts to the crop production loan office, 500 Dallas Power & Light building, Dallas, Texas. The borrower who collateralizes his cotton has to order sale at any time the market seems most favorable. After the above date, the secretary of agriculture shall take charge of cotton and sell it.

"Collateralization does not mean payment but rather an extension. If cotton any time sells for less than nine cents at which it was collateralized, the borrower has to pay the difference up to the amount of loan. If cotton brings over nine cents when sold, the

Collateralization of Farm Loans Is Explained

Ed F. Jay, field representative of the federal farm loan, was a speaker in Ranger this morning and announced that he would be at the office of the Chamber of Commerce each Tuesday hereafter, where farmers who had loans with the government might consult with him in regard to their obligations.

"It is going to be natural," Mr. Jay explained, "for some borrowers to want to collateralize their loans to the secretary of agriculture. All loans must be paid by Nov. 30, next, or fully collateralized. The government has ruled to allow farmers who have borrowed crop production loans to put up enough cotton at nine cents clear of all claim and labor expense to cover their loan to the government.

"This plan of collateralization is well understood to be full payment of obligation. This is not

There was a large audience. The session was presided over by Prof. Brothers of the high school faculty.

Former Popular Eastland Girl Is Married Saturday.
Miss Glenna Gillespie of Kilgore, formerly a popular Eastland girl, and Michael S. Hazel, of Kilgore, were married at 11 o'clock Saturday morning by the Catholic priest in the rectory of the cathedral in Dallas.
They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Neal Day of Eastland, and the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Gillespie of Kilgore.
The bride, a very handsome girl, wore a wine velvet afternoon dress, with tulle to match, and carried a beautiful bouquet of bride's roses.
The groom is with an oil company, as their representative in Kilgore and is an eastern man, coming from Pennsylvania.
Mr. and Mrs. Hazel left immediately for Kilgore following the ceremony, and will make their home in that city for the present.

The rooms were beautifully decorated with roses and dahlias, mingled with ferns, carrying out the color motif of rose and green, which obtained in the novel tallies for bridge appointments and in the delicate rose wrappings and ribbon ties of the shower gift tendered the honoree as high score favor in the game.
Second high score favor a dainty green fruit bowl in porcelain, was awarded Miss Jo Wood, and consolation a pair of green candlestick holders went to Miss Maude Dominy.

Mrs. Ayling lived in these countries with her husband several years.
A splendid devotional was conducted by Mrs. James Horton. Announcement was made that the bow review will be presented by Mrs. C. W. Geue at the next meeting with Mrs. M. Q. Taylor, in two weeks.
The hostess served a delicious date nut pudding with whipped cream topping and hot spiced tea to Mmes. J. Leroy Arnold, James Horton, Harry B. Sone, Herron, M. Q. Taylor, Verne Hart, G. S. The Women's Missionary society of the Methodist church, arranged a very beautiful feature in the luncheon preceding the usual meeting of the society, on Monday afternoon, when Mrs. George W. McKinney of Chicago, the house guest of her mother, Mrs. Ed. Graham, was the honoree of a charming attention, at 1 o'clock, when luncheon was had at the lovely home of Mrs. Frank Castleberry, 209 South Oak street.
The many years of companionship with Mrs. Graham, and the respect and love felt for her influence in the church, prompted this special honor extended her daughter, who is a woman of rare culture, and charming personality.

The spacious Castleberry home was thrown open for the day, and spaced throughout several rooms, with 10 luncheon tables, each with an individual hostess and table service for four.
Madera linens, silver and crystalware carried out a delicate color note of pink, white and green, were provided by table hostesses.
